German-American Bund Leader Sentenced to Prison Tank Traps, Guns Disrupt Attacks By Soviet Troops

21-2 to 5 Year Term Given to Fritz Kuhn For Forgery, Theft

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (UP)—Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund, was sentenced today to two and one-half to five years in prison today for stealing $1,217 from the treasury of the organization.

The maximum sentence which could have been imposed on the 42-year-old "bundesführer," who was convicted on five counts of grand larceny and forgery, would have been 15 to 30 years.

General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace, however, sentenced Kuhn on only three counts, suspending sentence on the others. The sentence was 2 1/2 to 5 years on each count but Kuhn ruled that the terms should be served concurrently.

Three Counts

The three counts on which Kuhn was sentenced were one of grand larceny and two of third degree forgery in connection with a $500 legal fee raised by the bund for Attorney James D. C. Murray, retained by Kuhn to represent the organization in a Nassau county case.

Never Received Money

Kuhn said the money was paid to the attorney but Murray and his associates denied receiving a cent.

The counts on which Kuhn was suspended dealt with $121.03 of the bund's money which Kuhn spent to pay the moving costs of Mrs. Florence Kuhn, his wife, from the bund camp, California, where the bund leader called "my children."

Kuhn was convicted by a jury of 12 business men last Wednesday night.

HUNT CONTINUES FOR WINNIE JUDD IN ARIZONA AREA

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 5 (UP)—The hunt for the maniacal murderer, Winnie Ruth Judd, gained impetus today when a Shubert resident, historically reported to the sheriff's office that she awoke to see Winnie staring at her through a window.

The woman, too excited to give her name but who gave officers an address not far from where yesterday Winnie Ruth Judd apparently stole a slab of pie, said the Tiger Murderess fled after leering through the window.

Squad cars immediately went to the neighborhood and began a systematic search. The home where Winnie Ruth supposedly made her most recent appearance is about two miles from the state jail which she fled Sunday night.

Fear Heightened

It is in the district that was the crazed killer's "hide-out" during her first six-day escape in October.

Fear was heightened among residents after hospital attendants said they believed Mrs. Judd carried a stolen car with her when she escaped.

Citizens had slept little behind locked doors. Winnie Ruth, at large for a second time in six weeks, was believed roaming a top floor of bloodhounds, hungry and subject to recurring "spells" of homicidal impulses, somewhere in or near the city.

Hounds from the state prison at Florence had followed her trail at night late yesterday to a street corner within five blocks of the main Phoenix business district. Last night they ran by through back alleys and over vacant lots in residential districts.

Hospital officials believed the "crazy woman" had taken the razor, slashed only last night from the prison barber shop where she often worked, to frighten householders.

Mrs. Judd spent seven quieting years in the asylum after killing her roommates, Freda Samuelson and Agnes Le Roi, and shipping their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in two trunks and a mailbox. Later, however, she has been sentenced to a life term in the state prison for a second time.

BRITISH, FRENCH START BLOCKADE OF NAZI EXPORTS

LONDON, Dec. 5 (UP)—Foreign Secretary, Viscount Halifax, today in the house of lords that Adolf Hitler had "bartered" away the liberties of the Baltic states.

Send Tankers

British and French financial powers started the new drive—to knock Germany out of markets she was accessible to her. They planned to break the Nazi economic structure by buying goods of countries neighbor to Germany at prices Germany could not pay, and supplying goods to those countries at prices lower than Germany could offer.

France started the drive by sending a fleet of tankers to seek cargoes of Rumanian oil which Germany desperately needs. It was reported the ships already had left for the Black sea.

The cost of the drive to Britain alone will be, it was estimated unofficially, upwards of $300,000,000 a year.

Both Britain and France sought to capture markets of which Germany has been deprived in South America.

Shatter Business

British financial interests sought also to shatter the business of 102 German firms doing business in neutral countries, including the biggest reinsurance company in the world, The Munich company.

British authorities recognize that damage must be suffered by neutral interests as the result of the export blockade. They expect, however, but take the view that Germany forced the war.

Tank Traps, Guns Disrupt Attacks By Soviet Troops

HELSINKI, Finland, Dec. 5 (UP)—Stormy weather aided Finland's fighting forces again today in holding back the Red army and semi-official dispatches reported Finnish successes in military operations on two southeastern fronts.

Finnish tank traps, supplemented by quick-firing anti-tank guns were described as disrupting the Soviet attacks on the Karelian Isthmus, where north of Lake Ladoga and on the Karelian Isthmus, where Russian troops were reported pushed back into some isolated sectors after suffering high casualties.

Official sources reported that Finnish troops and volunteers also were making a strong stand on the Arctic coast but communications with both Karelia and the Petsamo district were broken, and the government information usually lagged behind frontier reports relayed through Norway telling of renewed fighting in both sectors.

Messages from Svanvik, on the Norwegian border, said that Soviet bombers were attacking the town of Svanvik and that Red airplanes were ranging over the Arctic coastal area, reportedly bombing Svalbard and Koloboki but official sources here lacked confirmation of these developments.

Show Falls

Snow fell intermittently all along the southern coast and the cloudy ceiling was too low for successful sorties.

On the eve of the 31st anniversary of Finnish independence the streets of Helsinki were almost empty and workmen were covering windows with boards in the main streets because of fear of a Russian aerial onslaught when the weather broke.

Despite assertions in authorized Russian mediums that only military objectives were attacked by Red planes, the rumor spread through the capital that a gas attack from the air, first in world history, had been launched.

British consular officials were alarmed that the rumor that they used the telephone to warn all British subjects to leave the city at once. Many had to be advised by courier.

Less than 7,000 people remained of the city's normal 300,000-odd. The Red army was attacking from the north and south, and the city was in a state of panic.

The snow, which had blanketed the country and impeded all air landers, was now but intermittent.

The clouds were heavy still, and the Red army was now being met by the Russians to operate in safety.

At the front, from the Karelian peninsula, the Red army was attacking the Petsamo area on the Arctic sea. Finnish troops and untrained volunteers, many of them fighting on skis, were reported to be holding back the Russian hordes.

PROBE IS OPENED IN BUS ACCIDENT

BOISE, Dec. 5 (UP)—The state department of law enforcement and education today opened a joint investigation of the death of Ruth Marie Schultz, 11, killed when struck by a car while leaving a school bus near her home last yesterday.

Harry M. Rayner, director of law enforcement, said he believed a state law against passing a school bus in either direction was violated. Rayner said he would hold the bus driver responsible for failing to have the child pass in front of the bus instead of behind it in crossing the highway.

The school bus is required to carry two students mandatory to flag a bus at a railroad crossing and escort children across the highway, always in front of a standing bus. W. Condie, state superintendent of public instruction, said.

The accident could have been avoided, Condie said. "We hope it will be a warning to school districts to set up regulations along the lines of school bus standards drawn up by state officials recently."

WILLIAMS, HALE TAKEN TO PRISON

Daniel Williams, 19, and William D. Hale, 22, were taken to jail this afternoon for the Idaho state prison at Boise to begin serving life sentences for the murder of Patrolman Craig Taylor Bracken last May.

Deputy Warden E. K. Corbin and Lou Crum, prison guard, arrived in Twin Falls this morning to take the two prisoners to the penitentiary. They expected to leave sometime this afternoon with the two ex-convicts who were sent from the Boise when a district court jury was unable to reach unanimity as to the death verdict.

Judge J. W. Porter, with the choice laid on the shoulders by the jury's guilty verdict without recommendation as to punishment, decreed a life sentence yesterday for both the men.

Williams, who was charged with the killing of Taylor, was also taken to the penitentiary today. He was charged with the killing of Taylor, was also taken to the penitentiary today.

Japan Will Compensate U. S. for China Losses

TOKYO, Dec. 5 (UP)—Japan has promised to compensate, where justified, for damage done to American property in China and has agreed to make greater efforts to avoid damage to American property and interests in the future, it was said authoritatively today.

The gesture was made yesterday by Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, foreign minister, in a long talk with American Ambassador Joseph G. C. Grew, it was said.

Admiral Nomura said Japan had no intention of trying to oust Japan from the Pacific, but that she was not prepared to accept the Japanese-American trade pact next month, for alleged anti-American acts by Japanese forces in China.

Newspapers reported that Admiral Nomura expressed regret that the Japanese navy forces in the Pacific were being strengthened. Informants said later, however, that Admiral Nomura did not mention the American fleet.

U. S. WOULD OIN IN RAP AT REDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (UP)—State department quarters said today that the United States is prepared to join in a hemispherical denunciation of Russia's invasion of Finland.

State department quarters said that the attitude of the United States on the denunciation of Russia had been communicated to other American republics. It followed suggestions from several Latin American capitals that such a statement be issued.

The advice sent to other American governments made it plain that the United States would be willing to sign such a declaration only if all the other American governments likewise participated, thus giving an indication of hemispherical solidarity on the issue.

It was emphasized that the proposal for a declaration was distinct from the message which the governments of Argentina and Uruguay have sent to the League of Nations demanding action by that body. Since the United States is not a member of the league, officials here felt they were not in position to comment on the proposed league action.

DEFENSE COSTS THREATEN FARMS

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (UP)—Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, today said that rising national defense costs threaten the farm program.

In an address at the organization's 20th annual convention, he warned that a heavy demand on the national treasury for defense needs might cripple the present program of farm benefit payments.

"I don't think the farmers will run up the white flag now," he quickly added. "It's the best program they've ever had."

Earlier the convention heard the federation president, Edward A. O'Neal, conclude a review of the organization's "20 Years of Progress" with a demand for farm parity.

ANILAND, Ore., Dec. 5 (UP)—A story of 10 years of imprisonment, during which she was forced to marry the man who has confessed kidnapping her, was unfolded by 21-year-old Alice, Vestal Miner from the protection of her mother's home.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (UP)—David Whitmore, 27, who says he used to play football at Georgetown university, was arrested today in the lobby of a swank apartment house of Central park early today.

He started at 3 a. m. when he spotted Nils Anderson, a doorman, standing just inside the doors of 128 Central Park south. Anderson hesitated about letting him in and he kicked a hole through the plate glass. The doorman retreated.

"Take me up to the Waters apartment," he directed when they reached the top floor.

Anderson said nobody named Waters lived there.

"Isn't this No. 1 Fifth Avenue?" he asked.

The doorman said that was 28 blocks south. Whitmore then said: "You and I are going to play football. Here I come."

Anderson fled to the basement and locked the door, as Whitmore closed the plate glass.

He picked up a chair and passed it across the room. He said he was positive that he was in a "swank" place. He said he was in a "swank" place.

School Refuses to Take Children Who Won't Salute Flag

CANONSBURG, Penn., Dec. 5 (UP)—Although the U. S. circuit court of appeals has upheld the right of Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect members to refuse to salute the American flag, the Canonsburg school board last night refused to reinstate two expelled Jehovah's Witnesses.

The school board also ignored the appeal of Grace Ebley, a teacher, also a member of the sect, who requested the removal of the Pennsylvania teachers' tenure act. She was dismissed in 1935, allegedly without explanation.

Public response has been unanimous on the need for an iron lung for this part of Idaho, and the lamit club committee acknowledges the many contributions and encouraging remarks. If the club is to achieve the goal of "An Iron Lung for Christmas," it is necessary that everybody redouble efforts to raise the necessary $1,500 to purchase the life-saving apparatus.

Revised Annexation Ordinance Underway

RESIDENT GROUP WILL CONFER AT COUNCIL SESSION

Members of the council today had once more taken the first step necessary toward annexation of a large adjoining territory to the city of Twin Falls.

The action was taken by members of that body last night at regular session as they placed on first reading a revised annexation ordinance.

Conference Next Week

Next Monday night the council will confer with a representative group of residents of the area which it is proposed to annex to the city and the "entire proceedings" will be gone over in detail. R. P. Mallon, a resident of the area, was at last night's session and councilmen asked him to bring a committee of 10 or 12 residents of the area to next week's session.

Reason for the committee, it was pointed out, was because "nothing can be accomplished, or anybody understood, when a mass meeting is held and everybody is talking at once."

The new annexation ordinance is much as the one presented earlier this year with the exception that some sections have been left out of the present one. The complete area which would be annexed to the city under the law, should it be adopted, is published in this issue of the Evening Times.

Stresses Consent Need

Mallon protested the annexation last night as he appeared before the council. He said that such action, without consent of the property owners, "is not an American attitude in my estimation." Under the law the council has the power to bring the area over the property of the property owners. However, it was announced at the session last night that council members have no idea of doing so in the present case.

Mallon pointed out that if the move could be worked out to the mutual advantage and we could be assured of various guarantees, then the residents affected by the move would, in all probability, be willing to come into the city and in all probability giving Twin Falls enough population to become a city of the first class after the 1940 census is completed.

Discussion at one time turned to cows, chickens and the like which are kept by many residents of the outside area. Mallon expressed the fear that these residents, should they come into the city, would be deprived of the right to keep live stock and chickens. Mayor Joe Koehler said that this would be done for by zoning the city districts, thus enabling the residents to continue "just the same as they are doing at the present time."

No Zoning Change

"Under our plan, zoning, mode of living will not be changed," Mayor Koehler told Mallon.

Thus the matter left last night will be continued next week when the committee, including Mallon, meets with the council members.

Annexation was not the only problem discussed by the "city fathers" at the session. A goodly portion of the three and one-half hour meeting was taken up with a study of the proposed liquor ordinance and the coal ordinance.

The liquor law has been asked by Chief of Police Howard Gillette to give members of his department "something to stand on" in closing various "private" clubs of the city which, he said, are now selling liquor over the bar.

The coal ordinance is sponsored by a group of local dealers who seek to eliminate competition from truckers that "do their business on wheels" and against whom the "legitimate dealers, who pay taxes and aid in supporting the community, cannot compete."

Prepares Liquor Ordinance

Benoit was ordered by the council to prepare a liquor control ordinance for presentation to it next Monday night.

As Convicted Pair Awaited Life or Death Decree

Handcuffed to a pair of deputy sheriffs, two men convicted by a jury as murderers of a Twin Falls patrolman and father heard themselves sentenced yesterday to life imprisonment at hard labor. The jury, deadlocked over the question of hanging or life in prison, left the penalty to Judge J. W. Porter. Above, at left, Deputy W. Lowery, guarding Daniel Williams, 19, who sits next to him. At right, William D. Hale, 25, handcuffed to Deputy Edward Hall, not shown in picture. The state had demanded the death penalty. (Times Photo and Engraving) some of you fellows in business, then go ahead and pass it (the ordinance) and we'll comply with it."

Sturgeon McCoy, another dealer, declared that the local dealers are entitled to the "protection of the town in which we operate, pay taxes and aid in supporting."

Such discussion will continue next Monday night after Benoit has prepared an ordinance along the lines of the one originally suggested by the dealers.

Taxi Proposal

Councilmen also heard arguments for adoption of another ordinance, this one regulating taxi cabs and setting the minimum fare at 25 cents.

P. A. Cargill, spokesman for the taxi men present with three of the four local companies represented, declared that by charging a fare of only 15 cents it was impossible for a "man to live" and as a result, young, inexperienced and "dangerous" drivers would have to be hired because "a man with a family cannot live on what he makes at 15 cents a trip."

To this Mayor Koehler replied: "This thing of trying to intimidate the council by saying they will drive recklessly doesn't register with me."

This proposed ordinance will be discussed at a future meeting of the council after more subject matter is obtainable from other communities.

Electrical Law

Still another ordinance—now in effect—came up for discussion at the session. This was the electrical law.

Claude Dzwawler, local businessman, spoke to the councilmen. He objected to the present law which requires that only licensed electricians can do electrical work. His objection was made in connection with installation of electrical appliances.

MORGAN RETAINS ROAD BOARD JOB

Since there was no formal opposition to the candidacy of W. E. Morgan for reelection, the Twin Falls rancher had been named today to succeed himself for a four year term on the Twin Falls highway district board.

With Berger precinct unreported, a total of 124 votes was cast for Mr. Morgan and two write-in ballots named Robert Rayl, former county commissioner whose residence from the road board six years ago first brought selection of Morgan.

Voting was so light throughout the district that Hansen had no ballots and Hollister only six.

The highway board will canvass returns Dec. 14 and will reorganize by naming officers. J. E. Winans, Twin Falls, chairman, and W. T. Combs, Kimberly, are Holdovers.

Guarant. H. Taylor, Twin Falls, is secretary.

CITY DADS BUMP INTO ARGUMENTS

Why do councilmen get gray hairs? Well, perhaps there's a reason for it and the following "schedule" which members followed during their business session last night may give some indication as to the reason.

- 7:30 to 7:50 p. m. Councilmen signed regular bills.
- 7:50 to 8:05 p. m. Proposed tax ordinance, setting a minimum rate, discussed. (Much argument.)
- 8:05 to 9:10 p. m. Proposed coal ordinance discussed with representatives of dealers. (Much argument.)
- 9:10 to 9:35 p. m. Discussion with Claude Dzwawler over electrical ordinance. (Much argument.)
- 9:35 to 9:40 p. m. Building permits approved and letter read backing move of Chief of Police Howard Gillette for liquor ordinance.
- 9:40 to 9:50 p. m. Council members retired to private office for private discussion.
- 9:50 to 11 p. m. Discussion of proposed annexation ordinance. (More argument.)

MERCHANTS WILL BALLOT ON HOURS

Three ballots were mailed out to Twin Falls merchants today to decide on matters important to the Christmas shoppers. Plans for the ballots were announced at Monday's session of the merchants' bureau at the Regency hotel.

The ballots will be these: (1) As to the days on which stores will maintain late shopping hours just before Christmas; (2) As to whether merchants would consider closing their places at 8 p. m. on Saturdays during January, February, March and the last week of the current month. Closing time now is 9 p. m.; (3) As to the holidays to be selected for closing of stores in 1940.

Name Over Chairman

The bureau, under the chairmanship of Mr. Anderson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, decided to appoint its own chairman for the coming year. The custom has been for the chamber president to select the bureau leader.

Anderson announced the meeting at which Oong, Henry C. Dvorak will speak here Dec. 12, and said that the meeting will be held at the Regency hotel. The meeting is open to the general public.

Discussion of parking regulations brought this action by the bureau. Merchants will advertise the one-hour ordinance to acquaint out-of-town visitors with the city provisions. Chairman Jack Clark will appoint a committee to look into feasibility of parking lots exclusively for out-of-town shoppers.

Thanks Committees

Chairman Clark extended thanks to the committees which arranged Christmas decorations and the Christmas opening.

"Mademoiselle from Armentieres" Grandmother Now, 49 Years Old

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Dec. 5 (UP)—Mademoiselle from Armentieres, glimmer girl of the soldiers of the World War, is here in a village behind the present lines—49, a grandmother, with a care-lined face and a wrinkling cough, which is the legacy of a gas attack when the Germans captured Armentieres in 1917.

The woman of whom millions of British and American soldiers sang in the 1914-1918 war was petite, brunette Marie Lecon; lively and courageous, when she inspired "Mademoiselle from Armentieres," most famous song of the war. When war broke out in 1914, and her sweetheart went to the front, she worked in the Cafe de la Paix, in the Rue de la Gare in Armentieres. I met her today, in the cafe of a village well behind the lines where she now lives, and she told me how the famous song about her was inspired.

"It was a nice song when it was first written," she said. "But I am told several unauthorized versions came afterward."

Marie married her sweetheart, named Marceau, on his first leave from the World War and her daughter, Pauline, was born during the war. Now she has two grandchildren.

It was a quiet job at the old Cafe de la Paix, in 1914, until the British Tommies came. Mme. Marceau said. Then, in October, the Germans got within a few miles of the town.

They began shelling and the first one hit the cafe Oct. 13, 1914, she said. "Sheila roared, but we took our chance with the soldiers and lived through it."

"I was gassed on the night of July 27, 1917. I still cough from it, but sometimes it's not so bad."

She said "Red" O'Flaherty, the British expeditionary force, believed now to be manager of a London movie studio, "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." While organizing a concert for troops he heard troops talking about the Cafe de la Paix and the girl there. "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." He composed a song about her within an hour.

2 Divorces Give New 'Slant' for Sun Valley Lure

SUN VALLEY, Dec. 5 (Special)—That Sun Valley may become a divorce center as well as a "winter resort" was indicated last week when two New York socialites obtained marital freedom in the fourth district court at Hailey, 12 miles from Sun Valley.

On the same grounds Mrs. Mimi Richardson Smith was granted her final decree and was freed from Earl E. T. Smith, of polo-playing fame.

In closed hearings in the chambers of Judge Doran H. Suthphen, the two women obtained their final decrees.

The divorce suits were filed at the Sun Valley, 12 miles from Hailey, 12 miles from Sun Valley.

Property settlements were arranged previously and the four-day encampment at the McCloskey Memorial health camp.

Known to New York's "400" as "Cookie," Mrs. Bacon was married in Warrenton, Va., April 5, 1939, after a long courtship.

Mrs. Smith was married Dec. 28, 1938, in New York.

STUDENTS VIEW PLAY EXCERPTS

Short scenes excerpted from the story of "Tish," senior class play which will be given Thursday and Friday at the high school auditorium, were given in high school assembly today.

The story takes place in the Eagle hotel, in the southwestern United States somewhere near the Mexican border, at the present time. Tish, the middle aged sister of Mary Roberts, Rinehart's many stories, has informed her two boon companions, Lizzie and Aggie, that she is determined to get close to nature, "to lead the simple life."

Together they have started out in the second-hand car which Tish bought for the southwest, with Tish driving—for the first time in her life.

Before they reach the Eagle hotel where the play starts, they have had car trouble, and Aggie getting out to see what was wrong. Lizzie and Aggie were left by the roadside when the car suddenly started off with Tish in it.

From there through the arrival of the three at the hotel and their interest in everything that goes on there, including the search for the person who looted the hotel safe, the story involves Tish in more and more complications until finally she unexpectedly soars off in her nephew's airplane. The rest of the story brings her back and brings a happy ending for the other characters in the play.

Kenneth Thompson, secretary of the screen actors' guild, obtained from movie studios today a list of the names of the stars who are expected to appear in the central casting bureau and virtually eliminate the time-lag in the "star" player in film.

Werner Janssen, conductor-husband of actress Ann Harding, will appear in the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra today. It is a benefit performance for Finnish war victims. The program will include only compositions of Jan Sibelius, the famed Finnish musician.

VANDENBERG DEMANDS BREAK OF SOVIET RELATIONS

REPUBLICANS ASK FOR RUPTURE OF TIE WITH RUSSIA

By LYLE C. WILSON

Developments in the past 24 hours brought considerably nearer a spectacular political dispute here on the issue of President Roosevelt's recognition of Soviet Russia.

Senate officials said Vandenberg's administration was discredited at this time either to break with Moscow or to recall Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt in protest against Communist propaganda or invasion of Finland. Officials felt recall of Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson from Berlin had served merely to make worse relations between this government and Germany.

Recall
But a general Republican movement is apparently developing for recall of Steinhardt or even rupture of diplomatic relations. Observers believe Vandenberg's recall of Wilson was a "test" link in Roosevelt foreign policy and at that point they are concentrating their attack.

Vandenberg, in a statement here, held Mr. Roosevelt personally responsible for Soviet recognition on Nov. 16, 1933. He called for formal presidential inquiry to determine whether "pledges in the Roosevelt-Litvinoff correspondence have not been reduced to a travesty." "We should determine," he said, "whether recognition should not be permanently withdrawn so that we no longer tacitly condone sinister purposes operating through American pawns to destroy constitutional America."

He said his proposal had nothing to do with neutrality policy.

Recalls Pledge
Recalling that Mr. Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia on the basis of written pledges made by Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff who came here in 1932, Vandenberg said: "In my opinion, this contract is no longer on the paper. It is written on sand and has not been since 1938 when Rear Admiral J. C. Tausig said to the house appropriations committee:

"Members of the Third International are very active in the United States in furtherance of their plan for world revolution which includes the overthrow of the present form of government."

Administration strategy, now, it is understood, is to keep the ambassador in Moscow primarily to maintain expert observation on what transpires there and, secondly, to avoid an offense to the Soviet Union which might diminish United States influence in ultimate peace discussions—It and when.

'ANGEL' ASKS TO RECOVER FUNDS
NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (Special)—Mrs. Veranda Brown, once an "angel" but now a plaintiff, filed suit today in New York supreme court today that Father Divine, Negro cultist, once told her that he was "God" and a "free gift" to humanity.

She found out otherwise, added Mrs. Brown. She was the first victim of the cult to sue for recovery of money and liquidation of the Divine Enterprises, into which she charges she poured $4,478 of her husband's wages in belief the cult leader was a deity.

In his opening statement, William Lowell, counsel for Mrs. Brown and her husband, Thomas, asserted that Divine actually owned all of his properties under fictitious names. Kevin Frankel, counsel for Divine, said he would prove the Divine cult was "one of the five major religions of the world."

Mrs. Brown testified that she had visited a Divine "heaven" at the insistence of her friend, and had become interested, she said she was impressed by the luxury of the dining room, the "mountains of chickens" and other food displayed there, and particularly in Father Divine's revelation that he had three private railroad cars.

They were married respectively, she said the cult leader told her, "Father," "Son" and "Holy Ghost."

Col. Hubert Julian, Harlem flier known as the "Black Eagle," appeared as the trial opened to report that Divine had rejected his offer to settle Mrs. Brown's suit with his own money.
