LEGISLATOR HITS INSPECTION QUIZ ON SPUD GRADES

W. H. Detweiler, state representative from Jerome county, today branded the recent investigation of the federal fruit and vegetable inspection service in Idaho as "neither fair nor impartial."

"The investigation conducted in Idaho by W. E. Paulson, assistant marketing specialist, bureau of agricultural marketing service, Washington, D. C., was supposed to be for the purpose of learning the facts concerning charges of discrimination against the growers of Idaho potatoes," said Rep. Detweiler.

Minds Made Up

"Conclusions contained in the report were stated by W. G. Mehl, head of this bureau, last February when he was in Idaho, months before the investigation was started. That is one of numerous reasons why in my opinion this investigation was neither fair nor impartial, their minds having been made up before they got here."

"Numerous persons who had made complaints against the inspection service in Idaho were not even interviewed, and the statements of some of those interviewed were disregarded in order to justify what I have good reasons to believe were acts of discrimination in the inspection service."

Cites 5-Car Lot

"For instance, I know of one five-car lot of potatoes having been purchased by an Idaho grower, U. S. grade requirements and then reversed by another inspector, thereby breaking the contract between the grower and the dealer. The farmer was told by the inspector that he could not ship those potatoes unless he branded and sold them as culls. Five months later these same potatoes were sold and delivered as U. S. No. 1's."

"Grades and standards of Idaho potatoes must be maintained on a good quality basis," Mr. Detweiler emphasized. "This was intended to be the purpose of the investigation in 1938. However, Idaho law does not permit a bureau in Washington."

"I am with Commissioner Pettigrove, wherein he stated that in effect, the bureau in Washington has abandoned our Idaho law as to grade requirements."

"It's Off to Work We Go"—On Last Lap of Christmas Rush

If anybody in Twin Falls decides to take a walk just for the exercise on next Sunday or Monday, needs a companion, warning is hereby issued that any one of the seven men pictured above wouldn't appreciate such an invitation. They're city mail carriers, shown rounding the postoffice here as they start out on their routes to deliver packages and letters which are pouring into the city by the thousands as Christmas nears. Shown in the picture (front to rear) are Herb Smith, route one; J. A. Phillips, route two; Richard Segn, route three; Harry J. Taylor, route four; Glynn Smith, route five; W. H. McDonald, route six, and Ernest Starr, route seven. All admit that they "really get a workout" during the Christmas rush. (Times Photo and Engraving)

Red Air Force Celebrates Stalin Birthday With Big Offensive on Every Front

REPORTER WITNESSES GREAT AERIAL FIGHT

By WERN MILLER.

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY ON THE MANNERHEIM LINE, Dec. 21 (UP)—I spent the entire day yesterday afternoon the most spectacular aerial dog fight I have seen in any war. It went on for half an hour just above our heads as six Finnish planes engaged 11 Soviet planes, most of them bombers.

It was a wild melee of planes diving, zooming, side-slipping and spitting machine-guns.

In zero weather, exhaust from planes leaves white, comet-like streaks of smoke, lying behind them, sometimes as far as 10 or 15 miles.

These streamers crossed and crisscrossed against the sky, leaving vast "figure eights" and circles sharply outlined like sky-written advertisements.

Excitement Tense

Our group of correspondents huddled in the pine woods beside some bare craters, tense with excitement.

Often we thought one had been shot down as it plunged toward the earth ahead of a streamer of smoke. Anti-aircraft gunners did not dare fire into the whirling mass, fearful of hitting their own planes.

Gradually, the planes paired off for duels, the outcome of which we could not see. Now and then a plane would quit the fight, either having been damaged or out of fuel, and streak for home.

This continued until they were all gone.

The battle convinced me that the Finns have some extraordinarily fast pursuit planes and skillful and courageous pilots. Several times I saw Finnish planes gang on Soviet planes, even while zooming upward in a climb.

Start Bombing

Shortly after daybreak the Russians commenced bombing and reconnaissance flights.

The Finns are acclimated to the bitter cold, and are warmly clad and housed. Russian prisoners, most of them from central and southern Russia, say they are unaccustomed to such weather. The Finns go for more.

As the battle of the Mannerheim defense line draws into its third week, the Finns believe the Russians attach the greatest importance to this front and regard the battle as a crucial one. Finns say the Russians throw their men and machines into the battle in huge numbers, and that Finland's smaller army and then reaping the effect of the almost insupportable Russian reservoir.

ONLY 3 KILLED IN BOMBING OF LARGEST CITIES

By NORMAN S. DEUTZ.

HELSINKI, Finland, Dec. 21 (UP)—Soviet airplanes roaring in three waves along the southern coast of Finland today, machine-gunning two towns, Finnish officials said, and bombed principal Finnish cities, including the Helsinki hospital district.

As the Red air force opened against a night attack, the Finnish armistice reported that they had marked the birthday of Russia's Josef V. Stalin by repelling powerful new Red army attacks on the Mannerheim line, a counter-offensive on the eastern front and regaining some lost ground on the far northern front.

More than 90 bombs fell within the city limits of Helsinki, an official statement said. Some of the bombs damaged an emergency Red Cross station, a nurses' dormitory, a hospital building containing a children's playroom and operating room and several other structures in the hospital zone, most of which previously had been evacuated.

Officials lacked information regarding reports that one or two Soviet planes had been shot down. They said only two persons were wounded in the capital. Three persons were reported killed elsewhere.

Two persons were reported killed near the capital, but again in another.

During the last four hours, a plane shot down by the Finnish air force near the capital, but again in another.

About 15 houses were set afire at Abo, (Turku) and two at Tammerfors, both on the south coast. These bombs are factory towns, known as the "Finnish Manchester." Most of the bombs fell on the workers' districts near Helsinki, where the Finnish armistice said four days earlier that Abo by the blasts and ten bombs were dropped at Hanko (Hanko) but caused little damage.

Two persons were reported killed at Abo and Tammerfors.

Three or four different raids were made on each city of the Russian (Continued on Page 12, Column 2)

IDAHO'S POTATO YIELD ADVANCES

Seamen Claim U. S. Cruiser Was Escorting Nazi Craft

Stories From 3 Spokesmen All Conflict

By JAMES C. ADSTEN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (UP)—Seamen from the United States heavy cruiser Tuscaloosa which brought to port the 377 survivors of the scuttled, 32,000-ton German liner Columbus said today the Tuscaloosa escorted the Columbus and moved away with a British destroyer.

This was one of three versions of the Columbus incident circulating on the waterfront as immigration officials opened a hearing to determine whether all the survivors are "displaced seamen" and entitled to 50 days of freedom here, or whether any are military agents and shall be interned.

Another version was that of the Columbus' master, Capt. Wilhelm Darheim. He said American warships had "convoys" for at least 100,000,000 of new tax revenue to come from Vera Cruz, Mexico and that the last of them, the Tuscaloosa, had just returned. He said the British destroyer came up on the Columbus' trail.

"Purely Accidental"

The third version was given by Capt. Harry A. Bacht of the Tuscaloosa. He was neither conveying nor trailing the Columbus, he said; "It was purely accidental we came upon her," just about the time the Columbus crew started to scuttle and burn her.

The Tuscaloosa seamen, talking off the record on shore leave, said two United States destroyers had "convoys" the Columbus from Vera Cruz, from where she sailed Thursday, and that the Tuscaloosa, which left Norfolk Saturday, had taken over the "convoy" Monday.

Billion Dollar Tax Boost Looms in 1940

By LYLE C. WILSON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—President Roosevelt was represented today to be considering a request that congress increase selected income, estate, and manufacturers' excise taxes next year to provide $500,000,000 for emergency national defense measures.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference this week that he would present again to congress what he termed Jan. 3 tax plan for $500,000,000 of new tax revenue to come from the treasury for farm subsidy bill.

The combined tax increase to be proposed therefore would aggregate $1,000,000,000, if plans now said to be under consideration were adopted. It was understood Mr. Roosevelt would not suggest specific rates to be imposed to pay the farm subsidy bill.

But the United Press was informed there was consideration of a specific program to raise $500,000,000 for national defense.

An increase of middle bracket estate taxes.

A factor in the estate-income-exercise tax increase would be that income from estate taxes would be available to pay the farm subsidy bill.

An increase in selected manufacturers' excise taxes.

Corporation income taxes would remain as they were fixed at the last session of congress.

DEWEY WILL ASK RACKETEER CASE

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (UP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today asked for a writ of habeas corpus for Louis (Al) Capone, charged with federal narcotics law.

Dewey and J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, filed for the writ today at the federal court in New York.

After being a fugitive for more than two years, Dewey insisted he had enough evidence on Capone to send him to prison for 500 years.

The federal government still has a writ of habeas corpus pending against him. Dewey's charges involve his activities in the fur and other industrial racket.

A lot of eight women and four men convicted Capone last night of conspiracy to violate the narcotics laws in operating an international dope smuggling ring believed to have involved $100,000 a year. Max Schmukler, a co-defendant, was indicted but not charged. A third defendant, was acquitted.

Capone faces a sentence of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine. He was indicted by the grand jury in 1935.

His attorney indicated he would have decided whether to plead guilty or go to trial on the other indictments which threaten him with total of 18 years and fines of $100,000.

10,000 Go to Finnish Rally In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (UP)—Twenty thousand persons paid from 50 cents for a rally held at 100 for a box last night to attend a "Let's Help Finland" rally staged by the Finnish Relief Fund, Inc. at Madison Square Garden.

The rally was heard former President Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the drive, and others appeal to the nation to help Finland with money and living necessities in its struggle against Russia's "primitive savagery" unleashed upon the country.

Hjalmar Procope, Finnish minister to the United States, expressed Finland's appreciation for United States sympathy and support.

Other speakers were Sen. Robert F. Wagner, Mayor P. H. McGowan, Charles Wall, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist.

It will be Larry's first Christmas at home since he entered the hospital Aug. 21, 1937, a victim of infantile paralysis.

British Ships Lie in Water Near Florida

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 21 (UP)—Three submarines and at least four warships were reported clustered today in the Atlantic near Port Everglades, where a German freighter sought refuge after escaping a British cruiser Thursday.

The three submarines were visible from shore. M. J. Kennedy, an American collector examining coast, and a group of other observers sighted the undersea craft from the tower of the municipal bathing complex. Nationality of the submarines could not be determined.

Kennedy and the others estimated the submarines were about three or four miles from shore.

Earlier, Ted Thompson reported after a flight over the Gulf stream that he saw two German submarines and two destroyers about 10 miles offshore.

One of the destroyers was believed to be the Philin, from the U. S. naval base at Key West and one of the cruisers was thought to be the Orion, which fired a shot across the bow of the German freighter. Thompson also reported seeing a submarine on the surface about 20 miles out.

Outgoing officials meanwhile had been collecting information and passed it into Port Everglades Tuesday after the Orion fired a warning shot across her bow, moved into a shipyard where they are laid up for long periods usually are docked.

MORGAN SEEN AS FINANCIAL HEAD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—Members of the federal monopoly committee contended today that their two-week investigation of 18 leading financiers had disclosed concentration of financial power in J. P. Morgan and company.

The committee was in recess until Jan. 2, when it will investigate other phases of the investment banking business. Its hearings for the year ended yesterday with the testimony of investment banker J. P. Morgan.

It was Morgan's income tax return, showing income from 1938 of $1,000,000, that was the focus of the investigation.

Youngster, 4, Receives His Black Kitten

Years in his eye, one four-year-old Twin Falls boy hugged a black Persian kitten today and felt that Santa Claus came four days early.

And Bob Dickard, co-chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Christmas drive project, knows why Santa thinks the boy is the finest in the world.

His request for Christmas was that Santa bring him a black kitten because "somebody wrote" him one he had. "No black cats," he said, "because they are bad."

That stamped the Junior Chamber, but a heart-interest story in yesterday's Evening Times solved the problem. The boy's name was Robert. He wanted a four-year-old cat. So this morning Chairman Dickard drove out to the farm where Robert's father kept ten and took it straight to the home of the little boy.

The youngster's mother was so happy that she had a black kitten that she named it "Blackie."

But what was the boy's name? He wanted a four-year-old cat. So this morning Chairman Dickard drove out to the farm where Robert's father kept ten and took it straight to the home of the little boy.

Here Is What Kettle Girls Think of Job

Attracted by the incessant ringing of a hand bell, an Evening Times reporter decided yesterday while roaming around to stop and talk to a Salvation Army "kettle" keeping guard at one of the kettles located in the downtown district, just to find out what it's all about.

"Must be pretty cold standing here all day," the reporter asked.

"Well," she answered, "it's cold but we don't stand here all day."

Here's Procedure

It developed that, in most cases, one kettle is in the downtown section from 10 a. m. until 1 p. m. when two more kettles are placed, all three remaining in position until 5 p. m.

Two "kettles" work the lone kettle in the morning in 10-minute shifts. After serving 10 minutes, then one girl walks around for the same period while another girl takes her place.

Starting at 1 p. m. four girls "take over" and each is relieved every 20 minutes, giving each a 10-minute rest period every 30 minutes.

They Enjoy It

But, though it may seem like "clockwork" to most people, the Salvation Army girls enjoy it. For instance this particular one told the Evening Times reporter that there are always persons who want a complete explanation as to where their money is going when they

Business on Good Behavior

American business has been behaving remarkably well during the course of the European war, and Uncle Sam is openly pleased. It is true that the government, long before the war actually began, took a number of precautions to nip in the bud any tendencies toward profiteering; and it is also a fact that there are other devices ready just in case. But these additional restrictions against enterprise may never need to be imposed.

On the whole, after three months of war, the attitude of business has not changed much. For a little while after Britain declared war on Germany, there was a spurt in activity and a rise in prices. But the boom never took shape. It simply resolved itself into a process of slow, sane progress.

No blood-sucking has been uncovered — no instances of excessive profits or unseemly conduct in the face of death and destruction. Production has generally increased, but in a more or less normal manner. Some business men are increasing their inventories, not because they want to realize huge profits later, but because they want to feel protected against the possibility of a bottle-neck market if foreign demands become too heavy.

Like everyone else, business lived through the years of the first World War. It hasn't quite forgotten — not any more than it has forgotten that desolate day in the fall of 1929 when the post-war chapter came to a sudden, explosive finish. Long before 1939 the government started figuring out means of forestalling the disastrous results of another war boom. But business was doing its own planning, making its own vows that never again would it snap at the bait of quick and fabulous war profits.

Twenty-five years ago, industrialists in the United States had no precedents to fall back on. They had to make their own experience. When war orders began rolling in, business men grabbed at them. The orders began to increase. New plants had to be built, more men hired, new machinery purchased, new processes developed. Without flinching, business went ahead and expanded. Things looked satisfactory until suddenly the orders stopped, and industry found itself trying to maintain inordinately large production units against a reduced demand.

Today, there is no immediate prospect of business expanding beyond the limits of its normal production. Even though orders for materials might suddenly start pouring in, it would be a long time before most industrialists found themselves cramped. A great many of the facilities set up during the last war still exist; a great many still lie idle. It would take some time to get industry back to full capacity.

Business men have repeatedly asserted they don't want war again. They don't want it for the sound reason that it's expensive. Neither they nor the American people can afford to have another war. After all, hitting the jackpot doesn't mean very much if you have to put it all back into the machine.

Presidential Fever

There's an old American game — a hangover from Horatio Alger days — that every boy can aspire to become President of the United States. It's beginning to look as if everyone wants to be.

Every citizen above the age of reason who dares to hope publicly that he will be among the living in 1940 is pegged as a candidate for one of the nominations. Only a few have formally announced their intentions of becoming candidates, but the unofficial list is almost as complete as a roster of Who's Who in America. Next summer all but two of the aspirants will turn back to their own affairs — but until then it is pleasant to be regarded as a possibility for the nation's highest office.

The nice thing about it is that there is a perfectly good chance for any of those mentioned to win the nomination of either party. No one needs to put on a quaint uniform, pledge himself to principles in which he doesn't believe and obtain express permission of a granite-hearted dictator before he may assume a public office. In this country, the people are still the only judges.

The tattooing business is booming, with orders for American flags coming in fast. This is an age when no American wants to be mistaken for an enemy gunboat.

Russia still insists she's not at war with Finland. Any similarity to living nations is purely homicidal.

A Carnegie corporation official assails the "preposterous" number of academic degrees awarded. They're almost as easy to get as driver's licenses.

Interference with a Finnish radio appeal for help from the rest of the world was probably engineered by Russia who doesn't like tattletales.

Letters to Sandy Claws

Dear Sandy Claws:

I am a little fellow who feels he got a nice Christmas present earlier this year. But I know you are such a fine old fellow that you will also bring me some things when you come down the chimney at Christmas.

First off, Sandy Claws, I want you to bring some kind of a silencer and leave it at the house of the boys who keeps arguing with me about why I can't get over how I feel about Uncle Jerry. I give them good arguments but it doesn't seem to do much good, especially with fellow who can't seem to get over how I feel about Uncle Jerry. I give them good arguments but it doesn't seem to do much good, especially with fellow who can't seem to get over how I feel about Uncle Jerry.

Next off, Sandy, you might bring the same kind of a silencing thing to the houses of guys who keeps telling me I am willing to leave off the first grade part of "conservation of matter," first grade, if it will do any good.

Also, Sandy, if it would not be asking too much, I would like you to do something about the fellow who can't seem to get over how I feel about Uncle Jerry. I give them good arguments but it doesn't seem to do much good, especially with fellow who can't seem to get over how I feel about Uncle Jerry.

YESTERDAY, after months Jerry Donaldson, realizing she is still in love with him, was waiting for him to get away from the office. She was waiting for him to get away from the office. She was waiting for him to get away from the office.

CHAPTER IV
MR. DONALDSON and Jerry stood glowering at each other in the Donaldson living room. Jerry was the first to speak.

"Fine show you've made of yourself," Mr. Donaldson said. "I listened to your mother, gave in to her, let you study law."

"Jerry reminded him. 'I didn't want to.'"

"Then what in blazes do you want?"

Jerry shrugged. "You would understand," he said. "You think you got to be a lawyer. You want to be a lawyer. You want to be a lawyer."

"That's just where you are going to work, young man, right in my clerical store," Mr. Donaldson said. "I don't want anything except no."

"That's just where you are going to work, young man, right in my clerical store," Mr. Donaldson said. "I don't want anything except no."

"I hope you won't be cold in here," Mrs. Carter said. Betty wanted me to put out the fire," she smiled.

"I don't think you could," Mrs. Brown said. "Don't let it worry you."

They sat down before the fireplace, getting what warmth they could from the family glowing embers.

"Papa had to go to some kind of party," Mrs. Brown said. "The Donaldsons' were here."

to be long in a few minutes, and I mustn't keep you any longer. Alice and I have a few little things to do. We'll bring them over in the morning. Good night!"

When Mrs. Brown had left, Mrs. Carter slowly went upstairs. She stopped to peep into the children's bedroom. The snow had ended and Betty round about snow in the bedroom window, lighting the sleeping face of little Betty. Mrs. Carter gazed at her youngest fondly for a moment, then quietly shut the door.

Betty stirred in her sleep and awakened. She sat up in bed, full of excitement, and looked out the window. A knock came at the door. A voice called out: "Come in!"

Betty opened the door. A woman came in. "Come in!" she called. "Come in!"

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
Resident, Twin Falls, Idaho
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Behind current efforts to transfer to foreign registry eight ships of the United States Navy, the state department, written by John Franklin, president of the ship line, to Chairman Knutson and the U. S. maritime commission.

In this letter, Mr. Franklin withdrew application to transfer the vessels to Panama registry, a scheme which was blocked by the state department. He proposed instead that the eight vessels be transferred to a foreign company under either the English, Canadian, Irish or Belgian flag, with United States lines holding the shares of the company.

Final decision of the state department would be selected would be made in the state of the actual belligerent or of a European neutral.

Behind this letter is not a formal application for transfer but constitutes a step to get maritime commission approval of the transfer in advance of formal application.

Third, the letter was drafted when the approval of a high state department official before it was to Admiral Land.

Having objected to the Panama transfer, the state department is now reliably reported to be supporting a similar transfer to British, Belgian, Irish or Canadian registry.

GERMANS PROTEST INTERNMENT OF GRAF SPEE CREW

ARGENTINA CAN NOT DETAIN MEN, SAYS NAZI CHIEF

BERLIN, Dec. 21 (AP)—Germany has protested to Argentina against the internment of the crew of the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee on the ground that they were shipwrecked mariners, it was announced today.

The official news agency said it was believed the German ambassador at Buenos Aires, Baron Edmund von Thiermann, had made the protest in person to the Argentine foreign minister.

"The Argentine government announced by decree that the German crew of the Admiral Graf Spee would be interned," said the agency.

"Against this decision the German government has formally protested, pointing out that shipwrecked men who are neutral country citizens should not be interned. In similar circumstances the Netherlands government released the crews of the Aboukir, Hogue and Creasy."

Sank Three Ships
(A single German submarine, U-9, sank these cruisers in the North Sea Sept. 17, 1914. Bad weather had deprived them on their destroyer guard. The U-9 sank the Aboukir first, then torpedoed the others as they went to the aid of men in the water. There were 1,400 deaths. Some survivors reached Holland.)

News of the suicide of Capt. Hans Langsdorff, of the Graf Spee, swept through Berlin today after the brief formal announcement in one morning newspaper of a formal naval high command communique.

German Press
Afternoon newspapers published both the naval high command communique that the navy understood Langsdorff's motive and honored him, and a five line official news agency communique on the Columbus scuttling.

To the ordinary German the news of the suicide was at once shocking and confusing, after believing the Graf Spee won a victory over the British cruisers.

ZONE VIOLATION PROTEST LOOMS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—Reports that a British destroyer fired two shots across the bow of the German liner Columbus before her master, Capt. Wilhelm Dahne, ordered her scuttled and fired, indicated today the incident might be considered a new violation of the western hemisphere's safety zone.

Reports of the German freighter Arauca, pursued into Florida waters by a British warship, were too incomplete for Early to make a statement whether that might be a zone violation. Informal circles, on the basis of preliminary reports, believed both incidents might be mentioned when the American republics formulate a note protesting the naval battle between the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and three British cruisers off the coast of Uruguay. The note probably will be sent to belligerents late this week.

Stove Gas Fatal To Young Mother And Small Son, 3

PAUL, Dec. 21 (Special)—Mrs. Henry Manning received word Friday of the sudden death last week of her nephew's wife and baby, Mrs. Jenness Chitt Stimpson, 22, and three-year-old son, Stanley Boyd Stimpson.

Death was caused by carbon monoxide gas, from a coal stove which had been disconnected while still hot, to clear the flue in the floor in Stimpson's new home in Riverdale, Utah, for the laying of linoleum.

Boyd B. Stimpson, 26, survived the poison, and was taken to the De hospital where he was released Friday afternoon, and was reported Saturday to be out of danger.

Mrs. Manning and her mother, Mrs. Ida Bentley, left Friday for Riverdale to be in attendance at the funeral held Monday at Riverdale.

Christmas Takes on New Meaning For Young Guests of Camp Fire

Fifty little three-to-five-year-olds were able to sing lullabies of "Rockabye Baby on a Tree Top" to as many dolls last night, because 76 Twin Falls Camp Fire Girls, in their interpretation of the Christmas carol, "Joy to the World," had considered "the littlest of these."

The dolls, most of them new, were distributed by Santa Claus at the annual less-chance party of Camp Fire Girls yesterday afternoon at the Frazier party house. The majority of the dolls were contributed by the Twin Falls chapter, American Association of University Women, and Zeta Pi chapter of the Delphian society. They were beautifully dressed, many of them sleeping dolls, and quite a number had additional items of apparel.

Enjoy Auto Rides
Thrills were in store for the children before they even arrived at the party house which Mrs. George Frazier had generously opened to the young guests and their young hostesses for the occasion, for the automobile ride was a miracle in itself. Several local women dispensed with Christmas shopping for the afternoon to aid the Camp Fire girls in making that phase of the party a success.

Eyes widened and smiles broadened as they entered the hallway of the Frazier home, to be greeted with a replica of the manger scene, bathed in a glow of light. The girls eagerly welcomed the Camp Fire girls, who helped them remove their wraps and then took them on a tour of the spacious rooms, pointing out the Christmas decorations. Santa Claus and his reindeer, garlands and wreaths of Christmas greens, and lastly the brilliantly decorated and lighted massive Christmas tree in close proximity to the fireplace.

One little girl, awed by the "tree from fairyland," would not move from the site of the tree all afternoon, not even to join the other girls toward a crimsoned Santa Claus when he made his appearance. The fireplace was a wonder to many of the children, who admitted that they had never "seen Santa come down before."

Stales Get Dressed
Two little girls, three and four years old, came to the party wearing their brothers' overalls, rolled up at the legs, and lightweight sweaters. They went home with dresses tucked under their arms, in addition to the big dolls and Christmas stockings filled with popcorn and candy, the "lot" of all guests at the event.

One youngster went up to Santa Claus and asked him to see if he was real, or just a "mirage." He replied with a smile, "I am real, and I am here to see you." He then offered during the progress of the party, Camp Fire girls scrambled for the children, the hostesses outnumbering the guests.

Yesterday's event was doubly significant to Lona Francis, one of the guests, it being her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Beth Snively, Santa's helper, told the children a Christmas story and Rev. Mark C. Cronenberg, pastor of the Christian church, told the story of the Christ Child and offered a child's prayer. David Wilson, high school senior major in dramatics, was Santa Claus for the affair. Miss Florence Rees, dramatics instructor, made him up for the occasion.

Mrs. Edward Rogel, Mrs. W. A. Van Engelen, Mrs. H. O. Schutt and Mrs. M. M. Byler were in the committee to secure the names of the guests. Mrs. Gordon Day, Mrs. Van Engelen and Mrs. W. Bowman issued the invitations. Mrs. Rogel was in charge of the music and presided at the piano with Mrs. Jay leading the singing. Mrs. Floyd Campbell and Mrs. Powell were in charge of the candy and stockings, and Mrs. Schutt and Mrs. Byler were in charge of the refreshments.

Furnish Cars
Transportation was provided to and from the party by Mrs. Wilbur E. Hill, Mrs. Ralph Pusk, Mrs. John E. Hayes, Mrs. R. R. Spafford, Mrs. J. P. Thomas, Mrs. A. D. McIlhenny, Mrs. C. V. Hinkley, Mrs. Frank Warner, Mrs. W. J. McFarland, Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. H. O. Hayes and Mrs. Walter Dine.

Announcement was made today that any girl who had been invited to the party and was not called for by one of the committee members yesterday afternoon, should call at the Camp Fire Girls office where a doll and stocking would be given to her.

Demonstration Shows 'Iron Lung'

Practically everyone in southern Idaho has heard of the "iron lung," artificial respirator, but few, with the exception of members of the medical profession, had seen one until J. H. Emerson brought his to Twin Falls Tuesday. According to Mr. Emerson, his apparatus is the first diaphragm type of respirator to be approved by the American medical association council on physical therapy. He is shown above demonstrating the mechanism to Fred Gehring, Twin Falls, rear, and Vernon Boyce, Kimberly.

Iron Lung Inventor Exhibits Device in Twin Falls, Buhl

John Haven Emerson, Cambridge, Mass., who in the spring of 1931 entered the medical picture as a designer and manufacturer of artificial respirators, demonstrated a model of his improved device to members of the medical profession and interested individuals at Twin Falls and Buhl this week, en route to Boise and Portland.

He expects later to demonstrate the apparatus to members of the local club, sponsors of the project to secure an "iron lung" for the Twin Falls county general hospital, and for the use of southern Idaho residents. He was unable to contact members of the club on short notice during his brief stop.

Only State Minors One Idaho is the only state in the union without a machine to assist patients whose respiratory organs have become affected. Emerson is taking the iron lung on a tour of inspection of the west's principal cities.

In the summer of 1931, during a wide spread epidemic of infantile paralysis in the east, the need for respirators was so general that the supply was not sufficient to fill the demand.

"The Emerson respirator was designed with the purpose of designing a machine so simple in construction that the price would be within the reach of a large number of hospitals," according to Emerson. "The development incorporated a number of improvements never before available. These included: a regulated air variable over a wide range; quiet operation; quick insertion and removal of the patient being treated; and a means for rapid shift to emergency hand operation in the event of current failure."

First in Rhode Island The first Emerson respirator was installed and used in the treatment of infantile paralysis at the Chapin Memorial hospital in Providence, R. I., and the machine was so satisfactory that Mr. Emerson was urged to show his respirator at the meeting of the American Hospital association in Toronto, Canada.

Emerson is a son of Dr. Haven Emerson of Columbia university.

Luncheon Honors Woman's Birthday

RUPERT, Dec. 21 (Special).—A courtesy to Miss Ora Joe Hanks on the occasion of her birthday, Mrs. Charles Goff entertained at her home Saturday at luncheon. She was assisted by Mrs. Bill Lambing, Hansen, who was formerly Miss Helen Avery and who is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Morley Gould.

Covers were laid for eight at one large table which was centered with a lighted birthday cake, surrounded by sprigs of holly. Sprigs of holly were also used with the place cards as favors for the guests.

The afternoon was spent in Chinese checkers with high score prize going to Mrs. R. A. Whitley and low to Mrs. Lambing. A special gift was presented to the honoree by the hostess.

Duo of Brides-Elect Feted at Courtesies

Sharing honors at an informal dinner party this evening at the home of Mrs. L. L. Breckenridge, 137 Seventh avenue north, will be Miss Virginia Smith, whose marriage will be solemnized in January, and Miss Alice Peavey, a bride of Christmas day.

Other guests will be intimate friends of the honorees who are home for the holiday vacation. Covers will be marked for seven at a single table, the Christmas season being reflected in the holly and crimson tapestries.

Mrs. Breckenridge will present gifts to the honorees.

Original Dances Mrs. Milton L. Powell entertained at a luncheon for eight this afternoon at her home, 321 Fifth avenue east, in compliment to Miss Peavey.

A gleaming red and silver Jack Horner pie centered the center of the table, from which each guest drew a gift.

It was fashioned of a bandbox wrapped in red and silver Christmas paper, from which extended silver streamers of varying lengths, tipped with red blown glass Christmas balls of various sizes. Antique glass compotes of Christmas candies and nuts were placed on either end of the mirror base on which the central decoration rested.

Mrs. C. F. Coggriff entertained at dinner last evening for Miss Peavey and Miss Ann Peavey, who will be honor attendant, the affair taking place at the Park hotel. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Peavey and Miss Ann Peavey.

Lilies of the valley and white sweet peas, flanked by lighted white tapers in silver holders, formed the striking dinner table decor. Miss Dorothy Reed won honors at contract.

Miss Smith was the inspiration for a novel kitchen shower yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Cooper, 151 Seventh avenue north. Mrs. Tom Peavey was co-hostess.

Shower gifts were placed in a large container, and before the honorees opened them, each guest drew a gift from the group and wrote a verse describing what she thought was in the package. Mrs. C. A. Bailey won honors at the contract bridge game.

SYRINGA CLUB HAS HOLIDAY PARTY

Members of the Syringa Home Demonstration club met this week at the home of Mrs. E. A. Little for the annual Christmas gift exchange and party. Mrs. David Gathorn was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Leslie Anderson, Mrs. G. H. Little and Mrs. Hugh Reed were present. Mrs. L. J. Miller read Christmas poems and a Christmas commemoration, "Crowded Out," was presented.

Refreshments were served.

Lions Entertain Wives at Lunch

As an interlude to last-minute Christmas shopping and holiday visiting, members of the Lions club will entertain their wives and women guests at the annual Christmas luncheon Friday noon at the Park hotel.

There will be gifts for all, according to H. G. Hayes, distributed by none other than Santa Claus himself.

Partners will be a "match-em mix-em" proposition, members and guests matching pictures upon arrival at the hotel.

Wilfred Peck has arranged the luncheon program, which will consist principally of musical numbers. Stanley Phillips is in charge of the novel decorations for the affair.

Twin Falls Pair Weds in Arizona

Mrs. Snowhill, for many years a resident of Twin Falls, had been employed for some time as bookkeeper for H. K. McDavit, potato buyer.

Mr. Anderson, one of Twin Falls' first theater owners and managers, has in recent years been active in mining development, and is principal owner of the Vulcan property in Nevada.

B. Y. U. GUNS FOR VICTORY IN SECOND GAME

Oregon State Club Outpoints Utah Team in 1st Tilt

South central Idaho basketball fans will flock to the Twin Falls high school gymnasium tonight for their last chance to look at two fast-moving collegiate basketball teams in their second and last appearance of a two-game series.

In the opener last night, the Beavers of Oregon State looked like much the better club as they scored at will to chalk up a 57-30 victory over the Provo, Utah, quintet. However, the BYU crew is known for its ability to take a beating and then come back and administer the same dose to its opponent the next night—as the University of Idaho, southern branch, can testify.

As a preliminary tonight the Burley Bobcat high school quintet will get its first taste of Class A basketball this season when it takes on the Oakes Hornets. This game is expected to draw many fans from Oakes county and will get under way at 7:30 p. m.

Hero of last night's contest was Paul Valenti, a 19-year-old sophomore from the Beaver squad who hailed from Mill Valley, Calif., and looks as one of the future stars of coast conference basketball play. Maybe last night was just an exception—but everything he did appeared to be just about perfect. He handled the ball nicely and in 19 minutes of play scored 15 points, which is a nice piece of scoring—to say the least.

Out on Fouls
His lone foul was over-guarding and as a result he left the game after serving over a minute of play in the second half—having had four personal fouls called on him.

However, the seasoned veteran, Al Hunter, was in reality the mainstay of the Beavers and he was the steady influence that drove the Oregon State outfit to victory. He played consistent ball all the way through, scored 11 points and was the outstanding defensive man on the floor.

Take Early Lead
Coach Stille's outfit moved into an early lead and was never out of it, although the Cougars came back strong in the mid-stages of the first half to make a game of it. After the Beavers had pulled a 7-0 and 11-3 lead, Coach Eddie Kimball's team came to life and ran the count to 11-8. But that was as close as they ever got and then there on out the western lead pulled steadily ahead. Score at the half time was 33-19 for the Beavers.

High scoring honors for the losing club went to Nielson, guard, who connected for three field goals and a pair of free throws for a total of eight points.

Both coaches used their full string of players and substituted freely throughout the game. However, Coach Gill left a full complement of substitutes in the contest for the last 12 minutes of play.

Here's Bit of Action in College Cage Tilt

Oregon State college cagers did most of the scoring in last night's collegiate contest on the Twin Falls high school gymnasium floor, but here's some when a Cougar counted for Brigham Young University. Leaping in the air to stop a shot, and facing the camera, is Mulder, Oregon State, forward; making the shot is Nielson, BYU guard, who led his team in scoring. No. 4 at left is Weimer, BYU center; and No. 23, right center and back to camera is Romano, OSC forward; under Romano's outstretched arm, is back center, is Al Hunter (No. 13), OSC guard; at the left of Hunter is Overly, BYU forward; and at the right is Allen, another BYU forward.

Idaho Bengals Set to Meet Oregon State

POCASTELLO, Dec. 21 (Special)—Three games under their belts, basketball stars of Idaho Southern University meet a worthy foe 8 p. m. Friday in Oregon State college, first of the big teams to appear locally this season. The game, first college competition in the new local high school gymnasium, is expected to attract a record pre-season attendance at the 2,500 capacity building.

Oregon State began its tour of this section by losing out to Utah State in two games and then went against Utah university and Brigham Young, both recent opponents of the local school which lost one game to Utah and split a two-game series with BYU.

Bengals Promising
While Idaho Southern isn't a polished team at this time it gives more promise than in several seasons with more big men on the squad than at any time in the history of the school.

Opposing the locals is Ed Bradley of Malad, reserve center who stands at just two inches under seven feet. Next in line is Ray Turner of Twin Falls at 8 feet 4 inches, and following him in height are George Steele of Iona, and Tom Rauch, Pocastello, both two inches over six feet.

Loren Eaton of Shelley is one and one-half inches over six feet, and the following six are just six feet tall: Merle Iaham, Pocastello, George Knoff, Markato, Minn, Carl Anderson, Fairfield, Lyle Scott, Shelley, Tom Tootson, Burley, and Leno Sepp of Lava Hot Springs.

OSC Big Outfit
Bolstering them are others just short of six feet and who will find much time in play because of ability to shoot unusual high or perform brilliantly in some other capacity.

Oregon State is no midsize outfit with three men of six feet four and one-half inches, three of six feet four inches, four of six feet one inch tall while the shortest man of the group is just two inches under six feet. Seven intermen grace the Oregon State squad which is considered a certain competitor in the dash for championship honors in the Coast conference.

PANTS!

There was that final stillness that usually precedes the calm before the storm in a basketball game at the Twin Falls gymnasium last night.

The players of the Twin Falls and Jerome high school clubs were busy removing their sweat suits in front of the players' benches.

And then came the embarrassing moment. Bruce Evans had forgotten to put on regular playing shorts under his sweat-pants. Boy, was his face red!

They held up the game for a minute or so while Bruce retired to the dressing room to get the rest of his apparel. However, the situation didn't appear to bother him much, because he came back on the floor and proceeded to play a while of a game while chalking up 11 points for the winning Bruins.

Ski Instructions Start at Resort

STUN VALLEY, Ida., Dec. 21 (U.P.)—A staff of 20 experts headed by Friedl Pfeiffer, Austrian ski ace, began giving lessons in skiing yesterday to open the winter sports season at Sun Valley, famed winter resort.

The resort was able to open its season despite the lack of snow elsewhere because of a new $200,000 lift, the longest in the world, that carries skiers to the top of Baldy mountain, a 9,200-foot peak where snow remains the year around.

Proctor ridge, Dollar and Round mountains and the valley remained bare of snow.

Redskins to Meet College of Idaho

SHOSHONE, Dec. 21 (Special)—The undefeated Shoshone Redskins will play the College of Idaho at the Shoshone gym, Friday evening, Dec. 29. Playing in the Snake River league the Redskins have won all games by an impressive score.

The College of Idaho has an excellent team this season and is expected to furnish stiff competition.

Jerome Jaycee Club to Meet C. of I. Quint

JEROME, Dec. 21 (Special)—A touring College of Idaho basketball quintet will meet the Jerome Jaycees of the Snake Valley Outlaw league on the Jerome floor Wednesday, Dec. 27. It was announced here today by Maury (Rock) O'Rourke.

The visiting club, coached by Glenn Parberry, former Gooding college mentor, boasts several south central Idaho stars who are making good in collegiate ranks and the Coyotes use one of the better small college teams in this section.

Manager O'Rourke has not yet announced his starting lineup for the Jaycees.

Albion Cagers Defeat Paul

ALBION, Dec. 21 (Special)—Albion high school cagers took two out of three games with invading Paul hoopers here on Tuesday night.

In the finale the Albion boys won a 17-13 thriller, with Merle Hephworth leading the scoring with 13 points.

In the semi-final, Albion girls drubbed the Paul feminine basketballers by a 22-10 count. Carmel Bate was high point getter with 18 counts.

In the preliminary the Paul freshman squad annexed a 11-9 victory.

YANKS DOMINATE BASEBALL'S CENTENNIAL

Brooklyn Dodgers Lead All Clubs For Attendance

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Baseball's centennial year was another Yankee year. Again the Bronx Bombers were the class of the diamond, winning their fourth straight American league championship and world series and dominating the all-star game.

Although the National league took it on the chin when it challenged American league supremacy in the mid-summer all-star game and the October world series, the senior circuit, with another ding-dong race right down to final week of the season, outdrew the Harbridge loop by nearly 1,000,000 spectators.

Night baseball made tremendous strides in popularity, with the American league introducing the Mazda mainline in its circuit for the first time. Cleveland, Philadelphia and Chicago drew slightly over 500,000 customers for seven games in each city, enabling the junior circuit to keep pace with the 1938 attendance figures for the entire season. Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Philadelphia won seven games each in the National league, entertained slightly fewer than 500,000 at its night games.

Dodgers Lead Attendance
The amazing Brooklyn Dodgers, who rose from seventh to third place in the National league race, outdrew all other major league clubs at home with 1,007,122. The biggest single crowd was 74,743 for the Yankee-Indian game at Yankee stadium Aug. 6.

The year's outstanding achievements may be summed up as follows:

Team of the year—New York Yankees, who became the first club to win four consecutive world championships.

Player of the year—Joe DiMaggio, Yankee center fielder who led the American league in batting with an average of .381 and won the American league's most valuable player award.

Walters Best Hurler
Pitcher of the year—Bucky Walters, Cincinnati Red's right-hander who led both majors in victories with 27, led the National league in earned runs with 239 and topped the American league's most valuable player award.

Rookies of the Year—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox string-bean outfielder who hit .344 and led the American league in runs batted in with 145.

Manager of the Year—Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox who handled a range of misfits as cast-offs so successfully that the only American league club able to win the season's series from the Pale Horse was the Yankees. As a result the White Sox climbed from sixth to fourth.

Hit of the Year—Joe DiMaggio's single in the fourth game of the world series which he turned into a "home run" by alert base-running and Ernie Lombardi's nap at the plate.

Saddest Event of the Year was the ending of Lou Gehrig's baseball career and consecutive game record (2130) by a strange malady whose effects are similar to infantile paralysis. The Yankees' first baseman was voted into the hall of fame at Cooperstown by the baseball writers—only man who'll receive that honor in 1939.

Russian military experts have determined, from the wars in China and Spain, that to bomb a railway station requires an average of 10 tons of bombs, while 10 to 15 twin-engine bombers, each carrying between 120 and 200 pounds of bombs, can sink a ship.

Most of the transport companies in the United States keep de-icing units on their planes all year. It is not unusual for pilots to encounter frost in the middle of the summer at altitudes of 15,000 feet or higher.

THE PAYOFF
by
HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—The quality of best busters is on the upbeat. It's about time. At Hottel and Pety Solko take my word for it. Improve the class of two divisions.

They are smackers from Smackerville. Cefirino Garcia would not, in my humble opinion, go for more than a round or two with Hitter Hostak. Neither will any other middleweight who is around at this time. It would take a whale of a light-heavyweight to whip Hostak.

Billy Conn would have to start much quicker than he has in the past to survive the Seattle fight early.

In betting out, Joey Archibald and Albie Stoltz and in other stars, Stoltz looked like the finest featherweight since Johnny Kilbane.

And now out of the tropics comes a new and colorful figure to try for the world 126-pound championship. His name is Simon Chavez, who flaunts the vast amount of confidence he has in his own ability by tackling Scalzo in his American bow.

Unwounded Champion Chavez bid for the title is pretty well along. Indeed, he may well be called the unwounded ruler inasmuch as he has taken a decision from Scalzo, who, as related in the foregoing, knocked out Archibald, and recognized him in one of those above-the-weight fights.

But Soccer Scalzo contends his own seven of 10 rounds from Chavez and was the victim of one of those old-fashioned home town decisions in Caracas, Venezuela.

I wouldn't know about that, but I am picking Soccer Scalzo to spot Chavez's New York debut.

The former New York newsboy is likely to stiffen anybody especially a charger like Chavez, especially one sticking along with him for 10 rounds is bound to be pretty well punched around.

Chavez will stir up plenty of trouble, however. He is built for war and tear like jarring jolla.

He has been boxing seven years. He repelled Kid Chocolate, the one-time Cuban Negro luminary, in Caracas in 1934. He appeared in Paris and London the following year.

Venezuela's King Rex Chavez, the past year in his native Caracas, Chavez has twice repelled Freddie Miller, the ex-champion, as well as turned back Archibald and Scalzo, Archibald's title protected by the scales of course.

Chavez' blood is a mixture of Occident Spanish, Negro and Jew. Indian, with the Indian predominating. His people go all the way back to the pre-Spanish settlers. His Indian ancestors lived in the mountains of Venezuela. They were a hardy type and Chavez is the kind who can turn 10, 15 or 20 rounds at a fast pace. It is his speed and buoy style which bring him so many victories.

Chavez is accorded the same homage in Venezuela as Jack Dempsey is in this country. He has

Redskins Nip Jerome Club By 49-29 Count

SHOSHONE, Dec. 21 (Special)—The all-conquering Shoshone Redskins handed out a 49-29 beating to the invading Jerome Jaycees in the Snake Valley Outlaw cage league to remain undefeated in conference competition last night.

With a large crowd on hand for the contest, the Redskins were in front all the way and held a 26-14 advantage at the half-time. The fighting layed worked hard all the way through, but couldn't overcome the big Shoshone advantage.

High scoring Jerome club winners went to Bob Haddock, who collected 15 points for his team. Behind him were Thompson and Butts, each with 11 points, while Hollibaugh led the losing team with nine points.

First special game on the Redskins schedule this season will be a contest with the College of Idaho here on Friday, Dec. 29. An attempt is being made to bring a school opponent for the Shoshone Indians—preferably the Twin Falls Bruins.

Rupert Outlaw Cagers Win

RUPERT, Dec. 21 (Special)—Rupert Lions, playing their best game of the season, annexed their victory of the Snake Valley Outlaw league season here last night by handing the Burley Sport Shop quintet a 52-37 lacing in the local gymnasium.

Both Rupert and Burley showed a big improvement over early season play and the battle was exciting from start to finish.

High scoring honors for the winners went to Page, who collected 18 points for his team. In second place was J. Myers, who annexed 11 for the Sport Shop team.

Wendell Cage Clubs Win Over Dietrich

WENDELL, Dec. 21 (Special)—Opening the basketball season here last night, the Wendell Trojans won a doubleheader from the invading Dietrich boys.

Wendell girls won 24-20 and the Trojans won 21-17.

Taking the lead in both games, the Wendell players were never overcome. Half-time scores for the girls was 14-7 and for the boys, 13-8.

Williams of the Wendell Helens was high individual with 13 points. With nine points, Finchman of Wendell was high for the boys and Watson was high for Dietrich with eight.

Here's a Treat: Kelland Does McEmore's Column

EDITOR'S NOTE: Once a year, the readers of this column are treated to a masterpiece. Because once a year, Clarence Kelland does my column. (Signed) Henry McEmore.)

By C. K. KELLAND
PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 21 (U.P.)—Now that the season is here when sports writers go bawling as a culprit, and pick All-American football teams, all-American fops, all-American pitchers and goalkeepers, I would like to pick with discrimination and expert knowledge, an all-American team of guests.

I have unusual facilities for studying this form of athletic because my place is a sort of a cross between a non-paying dance ranch, a non-paying parking space and a non-paying cafeteria with meals at all hours. I love guests. I am gregarious.

Mac At Quarter
For captain, quarterback and signal caller I unhesitatingly put the finger upon Henry McEmore, itinerant proprietor of this column. He is in his senior year as a guest. He is especially good at picking unhandy times to arrive. Unhappily he puts in his appearance when every bed is full of other guests that I have hastily invited. This never deters him. He sneaks his suitcase under his arm, hooks 90 yards through a broken field and makes a touchdown in the bedroom nearest to the dining room and the liquor closet.

As fullback I select Grantland Rice. His technique differs from McEmore's in that he always telegraphs the date of his arrival. He wires he will come Tuesday, whereupon you meet early morning trains every day until Friday.

At left half I pick Frank Crane who does not come—he comes in. But it is difficult to persuade him to come out again.

At right half my choice falls upon John Kieran, the sage of "Informative, Please" who knows the answer to every question except, "when are you going home?"

At left end I have selected Jimmy Gagney, the dove of peace of Hollywood. Mr. Gagney does not meaned you by getting up too early in the morning not by over-eating or asking for temporary loans as do some of the previous selections. But he does setting-up exercises on the front lawn neatly dressed in the lower half of a suit of abbreviated underwear.

At right end goes Edward McEmore, one-time thrash but now occupying the legitimate stage in New York. He comes upon invitation but departs only after a court order.

Center to Kibbes
Without question the position of center goes to Guy Kibbes. He dotes on his friends and wishes them to have as many of the good things in life as he obtains himself—if it can be done with no expenditure of either trouble or money. Therefore he never arrives alone to be my guest but always with a phalanx.

It will be noted I have picked neither guards nor tackles. This is not an oversight. It is because, with the center and backfield herein disclosed, no other players are necessary. This team, unaided, can wreck old southern hospitality itself.

Gifts For Men Are (Shhh) Supposed to Be Flattering

by MARIAN YOUNG
(NEA Service)

NEW YORK — Gifts that will make him have the pampered, oh-so-precious-to-someone feeling that he manages to bestow on the rest of the family during the year are first choices among Christmas gifts for fathers.

In fact, for men of all ages, the present that's a little special, pretty rich-looking if not actually "de luxe" is recommended. One of the holiday slogans seems to be: "Let's spend as much time and thought in the selection of presents for men as they do in choosing gifts for us."

If he has a hobby, by all means consider a gift which will let him know that you take his hobby seriously. If he goes in for a sport, how about something to foster interest in it and make him feel for once, at least, like the hero of a story built around that sport?

Gifts to Match a Hobby

The golfer might like to carry his clubs in one of the new two-wheeled bags. These actually are made of twine, are preceded to be as durable as leather. The fisherman certainly would be pleased with a workman-designed belt with silver buckle which may be monogrammed.

(Don't think for a moment that men, too, aren't pretty crazy about monogramming.)

A pipe with a special stem which prevents tar or bits of tobacco from getting into the mouth comes in a new shape. Also new is an evening pipe in a black silk moire case. The man who loves to smoke a pipe will be pretty happy about having one which is perfectly appropriate to use when he's wearing a dinner jacket.

Among the practical but handsome bathrobes are those of sheerest flannel, bathed with frogs as well as a belt. A black program silk dressing gown, lined with flame satin is beautiful. A natural tan, wool challis robe, for travel, is cut like a trench coat. For the invalid, a short, double-breasted coat in flannel, terry cloth or silk faille would be a nice thought. You might send an "arm chair" cushion to match. This makes reading or eating in bed much pleasanter because the cushion can't slide around as do ordinary pillows. Besides, it has arms.

Double-Fit Gloves

Creating a stir are the gloves which fit either hand. These come in pigskin, pony, goatskin and the old reliable cashmere — all durable leathers, of course, since the gloves are intended for driving, sports and other casual day wear. They may be bought singly or in pairs, so if one is lost, replacement is no problem.

Among other items to make the man in your life feel that Santa Claus is a dandy old man are a leather-covered desk and with clock just above the calendar; a generous gift order on his favorite tobacco and pipe shop; a cashmere sweater with suede front and leather buttons; an unfitted travel case for toilet articles; a leather "catch-all" bag with drawstring top for carrying a change of clothes to the golf club or to hold odds-and-ends which simply won't go in the regular luggage for a trip.

A box of gadgets to delight the heart of any fisherman. Every thing needed to keep his tackle in repair, plus a handy scale to weigh the one that didn't get away.
