

CHRISTMAS SALES SHOW BIG ADVANCE OVER 1938

SURVEY DEPICTS MORE GIFTS FOR CITIZENS OF U.S.

By GEORGE C. STEVENS
CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (Special).—Christmas sales have increased sharply in reaction to general business improvement and indications today that Santa's sleigh will bulge Christmas eve with at least 10 percent more — and better — presents than in 1938.

A United Press survey showed shoppers throughout the nation have spent from five to 15 percent more than last year, in some sections as much as 20 percent. Stores in a few southern and western cities reported their biggest sales in history.

Extra dividends and larger pay checks resulting from business improvement were credited for the increase. In addition, unseasonably warm weather, although injurious to sales of winter specialty lines, brought out shoppers in record numbers.

Department of commerce economists estimate that the Yule buying would equal, if not surpass, that for 1937. Practically all sections of the country reported purchases this year of better quality than in 1938.

New York Sales Decline

New York was the only large eastern city which failed to report better Yule business than a year ago. Late buying there was expected to lift volume slightly above 1938 levels.

Through the deep south and extending to the west coast, principal cities reported excellent business, running as high as 20 percent over last year and in many cases expected to reach the best levels on record.

Clashes in the principal grain belt states felt the effect of the worst drought in history which checked buying to some extent, but all reported heavier sales than last year.

Practical gifts—refrigerators, electrical equipment, furniture, wearing apparel and luggage—were the first choice of the majority of shoppers. Luxury items sold better this year, particularly in eastern cities, but even in these areas the staples remained on the practical side. Sales of food and delicacies were higher in many cities, reflecting the larger amount of money people had to spend.

Boom in Music

One new factor in Yule buying this year was a boom in pianos, records and music.

War toys sold in greater volume in a few cities, but most reports said public sentiment was against them. "Made in America" tags took most of the market away from previously popular Japanese and German-made playthings.

Attending to the big increase in purchases, post offices reported handling the largest volume of mail in 10 years.

Stockmen's Club Leased by Bonin

KETCHUM, Dec. 22 (Special).—The Stockmen's club, for a considerable period operated by Carlos Barriochena, has been leased by Pete Bonin, and the place has been thoroughly overhauled, the living quarters converted into other use, a partition removed and the bar re-equipped, though the facilities of stockmen will be retained. They are burned in the woodwork.

Bonin is well known throughout the district, and was formerly manager of the St. George hotel, which burned out some time ago, the wreck of the building not having been cleared owing to litigation over matters of insurance.

History of Bells Related at Club

CASTLEFORD, Dec. 22 (Special).—Mrs. Ed Conrad gave a talk on the "History of Bells" recently at a meeting of the Everywoman's club at the home of Mrs. Ed Brackets. She also named the most famous bells in the world today and gave a short history of each.

Marilyn Heller played a clarinet solo, "Traumerei," accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Quinn and the high school brass quartet, composed of Alvan Hield, Wayne Stearn, Marvin Olmstead and Ralph Roberts, played "Nearer My God to Thee."

ENDOWMENT FUND RULED INVIOLEATE

BOISE, Dec. 22 (Special).—The Idaho supreme court ruled late yesterday the state endowment funds totaling more than $15,000,000 are held in trust and must be inviolate.

The high tribunal ruled the statute of limitations does not bar foreclosure proceedings on a mortgage given to secure a loan made from the endowment funds.

The opinion sustained one of Federal District Judge C. C. Cavanaugh of Boise recently on a similar question. It reversed a state district ruling of Judge Charles E. Winstead of Boise, who sustained a demurrer entered by Otto F. Peterson of Boise on a state action to recover on a $4,700 loan made to Peterson.

The 129 legislature adopted a resolution for a constitutional amendment to prevent loaning endowment funds on farm land. A legislative investigation disclosed many of these loans totaling thousands were delinquent.

The sacrament of work was presented by Mary Ware, Hazel Nole and Barbara Mann. Paye Estelle Russell gave the Creed and Corinne McClanahan the closing prayer. Caps concluded the council fire. Following the ceremony many were caroling.

Edelia girls enjoyed games and refreshments at the home of their guardian, Miss Halbert, at the close of the evening.

Alaskan Roulette Device Purchased From Tex Rickard

KETCHUM, Dec. 22 (Special).—Low Hill, owner of the Alpine club, has been remodeling or repairing an old roulette wheel which is something of a center of interest aside from that displayed by the turn of the wheel.

It was formerly part of the equipment of a resort in Alaska and was purchased some time ago from Tex Rickard, of national note at one time.

It is an old relic, made of the finest of wood, and was a costly contraption when first built, and valued at a high price today, for that matter.

STORY LEADS TO PURSE RECOVERY

The daughter of Mrs. F. Shillingburg, 134 Taylor street, today had her purse back because the finder read in the Idaho Evening Times that the article was missing.

It was reported to police that the purse, containing a wrist watch, was stolen from the girl while she was shopping in the downtown section yesterday.

After reading the account of the story, a person whose name was not given, returned the purse to the officers. It was found, intact, some distance from where it disappeared. R. J. Vallon, store manager, said the purse had not been stolen but had been left lying on a counter.

Year's Hunting Review Shows Need for Change in Duck Season

By CHARLES G. SUMNER
KETCHUM, Dec. 22 (Special).—When the season for hunting ducks opened last fall, the hunters, as a rule, taking stock of the season, as well as counting the ducks for the fall. There were so many bluebird days that ducking would virtually have been a novelty had it not been for an occasional small. At times there was a plentitude of ducks, but it was very late in the season the northern varieties began to appear. Mallards were fairly numerous on some of the puddle systems and open waterways. But the sentiment prevailed that the season plan could easily be changed that Idaho might get a better break.

The last day of the season ended bright and warm, but by diligent scouting and following the ditch lines some very fine birds were recorded, entirely of native ducks, mallards prevailing. One party of three scored the limit for two days in succession for largely through luck in finding them and ability to shoot straight. One string consisted of greenheads straight, while another was composed partly of the same choice mallard drakes. This shooting developed on the District 12 hole at the corner of the canal resumption of the flow of water, a signal for ducks, thousands of ducks to gather at favorite spots.

Oddly enough the day following the last date of the open season was ushered in by cloudy and stormy weather and proved ideal for shooting. But the chockers had been stewed away from the shooting sloughs and at the reservoirs likewise brought good returns.

Present shooting throughout the district comprising Lincoln, Jerome

NEW YORK—Clark Griffith's race preventing championship American league clubs from scouting players inside their own loop except via the waiver route is as silly as the Yankee management has made most of its rivals appear for the better part of 20 years.

After all, a sound Yankee might be lured out of G. D. Barrow and company now and then.

Wasn't Charley Keller offered for Jeff Heath of Cleveland only a year ago?

The pitchers, Charley Ruffing, Monte Pearson and Steve Sundra, are the only healthy Yankees who came from other American league outfits, and Ruffing the Red Sox obtained from the Red Sox in 1930, before the opposition made up its mind that the Manhattan set-up was no menacing.

The Yanks gave Cleveland an accomplished pitcher, Johnny Allen, for Pearson and Sundra.

The only other Yanks obtained from other A. L. clubs are outfielder Jake Powell and infielder Bill Knickerbocker and they are extras.

Yankees Outbid Others
New York outbids members of both major leagues for minor league standouts such as Joseph DiMaggio and finds and develops its own.

Ed Barrow, president of the club, thought so little of the Griffith legislation that he finally voted for it after placing his objection because it placed a penalty on success.

The Yanks have the finest record in baseball in the minor leagues in Kansas City in Gerald Priddy and Phil Rizzuto.

By HENRY McEMORE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22 (UP)—As far as I can remember Horatio Alger, Jr. never wrote a story about a horse. But if he had, I bet my new western drawl against a fourth edition of "Sink or Swim" that it could cause his jaw to drop.

There would be only one choice—Seabiscuit.

Alger would have loved the fat-topped, Howard Hughes, lot of riches tale in the raw. The Blurred, everything in common with Alger characters, came up the hard way, out of the ranks of the east-offs, to humble the millionaires of the world.

It was a hard luck horse and every possible obstacle has always been in his path. Had he been as richly endowed as Jimmy Durante or the neighborhood gossip, he would now be the biggest money winner ever heard of. But he wasn't—so he isn't. Twice he missed the $100,000 jackpot of the Santa Anita handicap by the margin of a snubbed Irish hound he lacks $35,000 of Sun Beas's $378,744 mark.

Not until last year, however, did one of those obstacles stop him. Trying a third time for the Santa Anita, he snapped an ankle ligament, and, receding a year, thought he was finished then and they sent him into his stall for a vacation to become permanent retirement.

But now the Howard stable is ready to roll the barrel-bolled one out for a final golden gallop in the sixth Santa Anita next March 2. And had Alger been present in the racing secretary's office when wrinkles were assigned for that race he would have rubbed his hands in satisfaction. One of his boys had made good again.

The secretary, Webb Everett, and a first fourth race, three thousand dollars. There was Chicago 1939 "horse of the year," top money winner and conqueror of everything in the race of the year, Kayak II, winner of the Santa Anita last year and the fastest horse ever exported from South America. There were Run Lover, Bepity, Wilshire, Oak's Walt, Dasher and many another good one.

Finally there was the "Blacut." Seven years old, knees wobbly and ankle weak, Seabiscuit has been on parade since February. He is only one of this year and his condition is questionable. He may not even come through his first hard drive with his knees solid and his ligaments intact. But everyone knows as long as he's in there running.

That knowledge was enough for Seabiscuit and here is how he assigned the weights.

Seabiscuit 120; Kayak II 120; Chaldean 120.

The boys can carry more than 120 in the Santa Anita, so "Blacut" got the works. Each extra pound of weight is a length in a race a mile and a half long.

So top weight was the greatest tribute any racing secretary could pay any great handicap horse.

Czechs Plan Conscription to Assist Allied Nations

GENERAL NAMED TO HEAD FORCES AGAINST NAZIS

LONDON, Dec. 22 (UP)—A Czechoslovak government in exile, now recognized by Great Britain and France, intends to embark at once on a campaign to force the mobilization of all Czechs and Slovaks in Britain, France and the British dominions to fight with the allied armies, it was understood today.

Gen. Bergele, who commanded a Czechoslovak army corps during the mobilization of 1938 before the Munich conference, was named today as commander-in-chief of a new Czechoslovak legion.

President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia has formally called the Czechoslovak national committee.

The committee actually constituted a government in exile which would be prepared to take control of Czechoslovakia in event of an allied victory over Adolf Hitler.

Great Britain's recognition of the committee was announced today. France had recognized the committee Nov. 17.

The first step for the committee was to constitute a Czechoslovak army in France. Britain and France will cooperate with the committee in decreasing compulsory military service for all Czechoslovaks in their countries.

Treth would be put into the committee's decree in the form of a warning that men who failed to respond to a call for army service would be liable to punishment, as deserters, upon the future constitution of a Czechoslovak government in Czechoslovak soil.

U. S. TAKES YOUTH FROM JAIL HERE

Boyl Sullivan Reynolds, Jr., 21, was in jail at Mountain Home today awaiting trial in federal court on charges of violating the Dyer act. Reynolds' home is in Los Angeles.

The youth, arrested by Twin Falls police, assisted by Burley and state policemen at Burley on Dec. 11, had been held in the city jail here since that time. He confessed theft of an automobile in California, which he drove into Idaho, and also confessed several burglaries and petty thefts in Twin Falls. He appeared before United States Commissioner H. M. Holler yesterday afternoon and on failure to secure bond of $1,500 was turned over to Deputy U. S. Marshal John Glenn who immediately took him to Mountain Home.

Another youth, James Holt, 17, Port Angeles, Wash., is still being held in county jail. Reynolds' confession implicated him in several local thefts including one in which an automobile was taken from the Union Motor company used car lot. He will probably be turned over to juvenile authorities if the age he gave officers is correct.

LINCOLN SCHOOL UNIT ORGANIZED

JEROME, Dec. 22 (Special)—At a meeting of Parent-Teacher association Monday at Lincoln school, members voted in favor of organizing a separate organization for the Lincoln school. At a recent meeting at Washington school, members also favored similar action for that school.

Winter Starts As Scent Snow-Trickles Down

It wasn't much—but it snowed today in Twin Falls—on the first official day of winter.

Those citizens getting up early enough this morning were greeted with a few more or less "dry type" flakes while those getting out of bed just before dawn found that the fall had stopped but slight evidence of the "first snow" was still on the ground.

Yesterday, weather records showed, was the shortest day of the year. From now on, an official of the bureau of entomology explained, the days get longer as summer nears.

But then, the official added, "who cares about summer with winter just starting?"

Today's snow was the first of the winter, and probably because of this fact didn't see fit to remain on the ground for any length of time.
