483 Die in Week-End of Accidents, Shootings, Fires Gigantic Bombs Set Homes Afire In Viipuri Area

33 Commit Suicide, 347 Meet Death in Crashes on Highway

Sudden death cut short Christmas festivities in hundreds of homes during the week-end. At least 483 persons died violently at Yule celebrations, in automobile, airplane and railroad accidents, in shootings, fires and by drowning. Traffic accidents killed 347, nearly three times as many as the total killed by other causes. Thirty-three persons committed suicide, 26 died from burns, and 87 died from miscellaneous causes.

California led all states in the number of violent deaths with 46—29 of them from traffic accidents. Illinois and Pennsylvania had 39 each, Michigan 36, and Texas 35.

At Collegeville, Minn., St. John's abbey was afflicted in observance of Christmas eve, brother Walter Biedner shot and killed brother Stanislaus Savarick, then shot himself twice. County authorities said they had not learned his motive or where he obtained the gun.

Family killed. Five members of a family—two children, their parents and their grandmother—were killed at Chicago last night while making a round of Christmas visits when their automobile was struck by a Wahash railroad passenger train.

John Slavick, 54, shot and killed his wife, wounded his daughter and committed suicide at his Ladington, Mich., home Christmas day. At Worcester, Mass., Benjamin Jacques, 46, a plain hospital attendant, entered a room where her estranged husband was eating Christmas dinner with six other persons and opened fire with a pistol. Her husband and his host were wounded seriously.

Groom Goes Berserk. At Princeton, Ill., a groom-to-be went berserk Christmas eve, shot and killed his parents, seriously wounded his brother and then killed himself.

One of the most unusual deaths occurred at St. Paul, Early Angel, 35, was run down and killed by the automobile he was crashing.

The engineer and fireman of a Rock Island freight train were killed near Chocoma, Okla., Christmas day when the boiler of their locomotive exploded.

At San Francisco, an aged couple died in a hotel fire which, for a time, had threatened to trap 350 guests. At Pierre, S. D., a man arranging Yule decorations on the roof of his home, slipped, fell to the ground and was killed. At Los Angeles, an aviator, flying low to wave to some friends, crashed into a radio station transmission tower and was killed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt today received assurances from Pope Pius XII, that the President's newly-designated personal representative, Myron C. Taylor, will be cordially received at the Vatican to add in working for world peace.

Few Protests On Taylor as Vatican Envoy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Secretary Stephen T. Early said today there were only four critical messages out of 400 week-end telegrams to the White House about President Roosevelt's appointment of Myron C. Taylor as his personal representative to the Vatican.

FOUL PLAY FEAR ENDED FOR MAN

Fear that a Twin Falls young man might have met with possible foul play was dispelled here today after his parents received a Christmas telegram and letter assuring them he is in good health.

The young man is Donald Turner, who was 26 years old Dec. 2. Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, his parents, had solicited aid of police officers to find him last week after the son's absence became prolonged in the face of what might have been clues to violence or death. His wife was found near the highway at Kimberly, Ore., and his car had disappeared. Since he had worked at various mining camps, the parents feared some chance acquaintance might have done away with him.

The telegram and letter, however, dispelled that chance and advised the parents today that Young Turner was at Wallace on Christmas day. It was the first word received here from him since last Sept. 12.

The elder Mr. Turner is a Twin Falls carpenter.

Rumor Here Says Mayor "Fired" Chief Gillette

If persistent street rumors are true, the big question in Twin Falls today is whether Howard "Gillette" will be or "won't" be the chief of police.

Such rumors, which spread widely over the city last night and continued to be "thoroughly talked over" today, have it that Mayor Joe Koehnle Monday night, following a brief council session, discharged Chief Gillette, such action to take effect immediately.

From the "new angle" however, the chief of police cannot be discharged without a vote of the council the mayor and four councilmen and then in order to release him the chief must have three members vote against his retention.

Continued today by the Idaho Evening Times to meet the basis for such action. It was taken as the rumors have it, Mayor Koehnle said: "The weather was awful fine yesterday. California and Florida had nothing on us."

As to the chief of police matter he added that he had "nothing to say."

Chief Gillette likewise said nothing for publication. But observers of the "incident" are of the opinion that if anything comes of anything it will come to light at the council session which is set for Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the city hall.

Beet Average Soars To New Mark Here; Plant Closes Friday

With the Twin Falls tract showing the greatest average yield of sugar beets per acre since the industry was established here, the "end of the processing" run for the Twin Falls plant of the Amalgamated Sugar company neared today, and work will be completed next Friday night, it was announced here this afternoon by Harry Kleck, Idaho manager.

HOPKINS CLAIMS IMPETUS NEEDED TO AID INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Harry H. Hopkins in a year-end analysis of business conditions, said today that consumption and capital investment must be increased to maintain or accelerate in 1940 the existing high rate of industrial production.

In most respects, he said, 1939 was a better year than 1938 but it still fell short of 1937, peak of the New Deal recovery movement.

"While foreign trade may provide a stimulus to our domestic economy in 1940," Hopkins said, "such prospects remain highly uncertain under existing circumstances, and the outlook must be supported largely in the light of domestic conditions. The recent high rate of activity has created additional consumer purchasing power and the capital expenditures initiated during recent months have been a constructive development."

Secretary Hull Would Welcome Probe of Pacts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today he would welcome an investigation of the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program.

The program has come under increasing criticism since the government began to negotiate a proposed agreement with Argentina.

Hull said friends of the program would welcome an investigation "provided it is undertaken in an earnest desire to secure information."

The statement was made in response to an assertion by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., that the Senate finance committee of which he is a member, would study results of the program.

He said, "The program has been established. The present act expires next June."

Favors Probe. "The press of yesterday quotes a leading legislator as insisting upon an exhaustive investigation of the administration's reciprocal trade agreement policy," Hull said.

The more comprehensive and searching an examination is made, the more pleasing it will be to friends and supporters of the program. (Continued on Page 3, Column 6)

Late FLASHES

WITH FINNISH ARMIES, KARLJAN ISTHMUS, Dec. 26 (AP)—Novel airplanes today dropped bombs on Fervo, about 20 miles from Helsinki, killing nine persons and wounding several others. Only two of the bombs exploded.

WITH FINNISH ARMY AT VIIPURI, Dec. 26 (AP)—Finnish officials ordered a further precautionary evacuation of Viipuri tonight after a long and heavy bombardment by Russian "Big Bertha" guns.

FINNISH ARMY GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, Viipuri, today if a bombardment which started Christmas evening and showed no signs of ending.

Through the night the shells, crashing onto homes and buildings in twos, threes and fours from the Russian lines 25 miles away, and the roaring fire engines on their way to put out fires had made a pandemonium of the city.

The city was now under an almost continuous air raid alarm. Planes swept over Viipuri, dropping bombs, during the daylight hours yesterday and the first alarm came today just before 9 a. m. Anti-aircraft fire at once started.

At midnight, the Russian "Big Berthas," a new development, began firing with increasing intensity. They seemed to carry higher charges of explosive than had the first ones, and they were smashing down, adding new ruins and scars in the frozen earth.

In parts of the city the bright sun was obscured by a heavy pall of smoke from burning houses.

Gas, Water Cut Off. All services such as gas and water had been cut off. Restaurants and shops were closed and there was no food for hotel guests.

The constant air alarms delayed telephone communications. Some of the lines were cut off for hours at a time, and calls were often interrupted after a connection had been established.

All through Christmas day the planes had bombed the city, and all through the night the shells crashed down, adding new ruins and sending new families out into the streets at temperatures of 15 degrees below zero.

But out of the fighting lines, the Finns say they are winning new victories. They say that now, following up a Russian retreat, they have cut their way across the frontiers north of Lake Ladoga to take the war, for the first time, onto Russian soil, and to threaten the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad which is the vital artery of supply to the Russian far north army.

Russian Tanks Cut Off. Three Russian tanks have been destroyed, two field guns captured and two companies of Russian infantry routed in latest operations, Finnish officials announced today. Finnish coastal batteries have shelled the Russian 23,000-ton battleship Marat.

A few weeks ago Viipuri was a bustling, prosperous city of 60,000 people. About 7,000 remain—the rest having fled.

The first of the Christmas air raid alarms came yesterday morning and from then on, the city in relay, the streets were deserted. Puffs of thick smoke from the burning shells popped around the city, and the sound of the planes and the sound of the shells were heard from the land and the sea.

The city normally has a population of about 60,000 but it has been reduced previously to 7,000 persons.

STOCK SHOW SET FOR FARM YOUTH

and western slope Colorado are advised of the fourth annual Inter-mountain Junior Pat Stock show which will be held in North-South Lake City June 4, 5 and 6, 1940. J. H. Manderfield of the North-South Lake City stockyards and chairman of the 1940 show, said in a pronouncing the coming event.

This annual show is open only

Future Farmers of America and 4 club members, said Mr. Mandel. It is sponsored by the Big Lake City Chamber of Commerce and the county commissions of Big Lake and Davis counties and will offer premiums of more than $2,000. Special prizes totaling upwards of $500 will be added to this list.

Emphasis is on quality, not quantity. Only stock meeting the strictest requirements as to flesh will be allowed to enter the ring. A judging committee will go over all the animals before show time and those that do not measure up to specifications

Departing from the procedure followed in previous shows and signifying a change requested by county agents, Smith-Hughes teachers and cattle buyers, a grand champion will not be selected this year. Instead, all champions in the various classes be chosen. All cattle entered in the show will be graded by the judges as either high choice, 1 choice, high good, or low good. H and sheep will be judged, prime choice, or good.

A complete record must be kept by each producer as to the gains made and feed costs. These records must be submitted at the time of animal's entry to the show. All cattle must be purchased by Jan. 1940.

Mr. Manderfield announced a new feature of the show when he told that prizes would be given stock breeders for the best animals shown. This is to encourage breeders to supply junior producers with

ICKES POINTS TO SALE OF POWER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (U.S. News)—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes said today that the government's 20-year contract with Aluminum Co. of America for of Bonneville power "is a fact answer to those skeptics who claim there is no real demand for power from government plants on the Columbia river."

Negotiations for the contract were concluded last week-end. It was the first sale of Bonneville power for a 20-year period and was the first sale to an industry moving to the project site. Alcoa plans to establish a plant at Vancouver costing several millions of dollars for purifying aluminum ore and its reduction by electrolysis.

WALLACE PLOTS TAX ON CONSUMERS TO AID FARMERS

PLAN PROPOSES CERTIFICATES TO HELP IN SUBSIDY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (U.S.)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's plan to siphon a minimum of $300,000,000 yearly directly from consumers to help finance the farm program was described in detail today in an official statement.

The statement was prepared by Assistant Administrator J. E. Nelson and distributed to all agriculture department heads, with approval of Wallace. Officially distributed the statement as a "guide sheet" for discussion of the plan. The proposal faces an uncertain future, having met with a cool reception from the treasury.

It combines the "certificate plan" for raising direct revenue and the "domestic allotment" or two-price system whereby the tax would be collected only on that portion of agricultural products consumed in the American market.

Still Tentative

The plan still is tentative as to details, but Wallace has committed himself publicly to its major provisions.

The officially-approved statement said principal features of the plan would be:

"Prior to the beginning of a marketing year for each commodity, the secretary of agriculture would estimate the quantity of the commodity required for domestic consumption during the marketing year. This quantity would constitute the certificate allotment, that is the quantity for which certificates would be issued."

The secretary would determine the price to be fixed for certificates during the marketing year. One suggestion is that the price be equal to the amount by which the current farm price for the commodity is below the parity price.

Farmers Get Certificates

"Each farmer would be given certificates amounting to his individual share of the American market in each commodity. The remainder would be sold at whatever it would bring for export. Farmers in order to receive certificates would have to deliver with A.A. and other farm products."

"Farmers to whom certificates are issued would obtain the cash value of the certificates by selling them at the fixed price. One suggestion is that the first purchaser of the product be required to buy the certificate. The cost would be passed on directly to the processor who would have to show that he had purchased the certificate for the commodity he sells in the domestic market."

"Another suggestion is that a pool be established to buy the farmer's certificates. This pool would sell the certificates to processors. No certificates would be required in connection with the sale of articles for export."

IDAHO SPUD ADS WILL COVER U. S.

BOISE, Dec. 26 (Special)—More than 70,000,000 printed advertisements of Idaho potatoes will appear in newspapers of 24 major market centers of America during the current potato marketing season.

The figures were released by Win Cline of Boise, advertising adviser of the Idaho advertising commission, who said:

"These advertisements have been prepared under the supervision of expert writers and home economists. Every advertisement features one or more unusual recipes and explains to housewives that Idaho potatoes are as superior for boiling, mashing and frying as they are for baking."

Must Tell How

"In many markets where housewives are accustomed to a different type of potato, it is necessary to explain in detail how to boil and mash Idaho potatoes, and the commission feels that real progress is being made toward getting a more diversified use of Idaho potatoes and better recognition of their all-purpose qualities."

Cline explained that a reduction in the commission's budget, brought about when the excise tax growers pay was reduced by the 1939 legislature from one cent to one-half cent a hundredweight of potatoes, had forced curtailment of the program started last year, adding:

"Last year the Idaho advertising commission conducted its advertising and promotion program on a shoestring; this year it is possible to carry on an adequate promotion program in only 21 major cities."

"But the effect of last year's advertising in the 80 cities is still being felt, and many factors of the trade combine to cooperate in Idaho on the basis of last year's program."

"The commission recognizes that this year's budget is not adequate to do a complete promotion job for the industry."

Two Field Men

The number of field men has been reduced from three to two—Tom Walker and C. C. Rice, whose jobs are extensive in connection with distribution of information, publicity and information to jobbers, wholesalers, brokers, retailers, cooking schools, restaurants and newspapers.

"There is plenty of evidence that the trade throughout the country remembers last season's advertising program," said Cline.

"Copies of coupons clipped from newspaper trade magazines issued last year have been received by the advertising commission office this season, requesting Idaho Russet dis-

It's Chairway to Stars, This Huge New Ski Lift!

BY LISA MOLONY
SUN VALLEY, Dec. 26 (Special).—The Bald Mountain ski lift is truly a chairway to the stars, a phrase coined by Neil Regan of Sun Valley. It is two miles in length and the longest chair ski lift in the world.

Made up of three separate lifts because of the steep course it follows up the face of Baldy, the first portion starts just south of and on the Ketchikan side of Wood River. From here we could see the strange towers with steel crossbars supporting the one-inch steel cable which the chairs are hung.

Before us the heavily timbered face of Baldy rose to its majestic height of 9,200 feet.

Easy To Board

It was easy to settle ourselves in the brightly painted chairs as they came slowly by and then swing in front of us the steel bar to which is attached a foot rest for our skis. A heavy wooden blanket attached to the ground but secured to the chair and we were as snug as bugs in a rug on our way to the top.

The chairs are hung about 20 feet off the ground but because of the ruggedness of the mountain we sometimes found ourselves as high as 30 feet. Tapering rubber sleeves, molded around the cable, at the chair arm knuckles, absorb any possible jolt and allow the lift to operate almost noiselessly. Just a gentle whirling sound disturbs the stillness and we expected at any minute to see deer and snowshoe rabbits.

It seemed no time at all and we had traveled 3,702 feet to the end of the first lift and were ready for the second leg of our journey. This center lift is easily the most spectacular part of the trip. The chairs move up at an almost vertical line over a very rugged part of the mountain. We glimpsed portions of a very narrow ski trail—the Pfeifers and the Durances can have it!

CAR, PEDESTRIAN ACCIDENTS SOAR

Bearing in mind the old saying "three's a charm," Twin Falls police today were hoping that the "epidemic" of auto-pedestrian crashes which put three persons in the county general hospital here over the week-end is now at an end.

Third man to suffer a broken leg when struck by a car within the city limits of Twin Falls was Sam Caves, about 65, who was struck at the intersection of Shoshone street and Second avenue south shortly after 8 p. m. yesterday.

Condition Good

Police said that Caves, who resides at the Arlington cabins, was struck by a car operated by Leonard Langman, 246 Van Buren. He suffered a broken left leg and eight head injuries. Attendants at the hospital today said his condition was "good."

E. S. Martin, 51, who was struck by a car driven by H. H. Mann, Twin Falls, Saturday night today was reported still to be in a "critical condition" at the hospital. Aside from a broken right leg the man also received a severe head injury.

W. O. King, Hollister, who was also struck by a machine Saturday evening when he started out for his day as "good." He suffered a broken leg. The machine which police said struck him was operated by Larry Arnes, Twin Falls.

Three of four persons injured in a two-car crash here Sunday had been released from the hospital today. Those released were Miss Lucille Birch, 17; Cecil Eubank, 21; and Miss Mabel Snow, also 21.

Girl in Hospital

Retained at the hospital is Miss Ardith Valentine, 17, who is suffering from a fractured ankle and collarbone as well as shock and bruises.

Condition of Gerhard Klunder, 33, who resides near Glover, was termed "satisfactory." He has a fracture at the base of the skull which he received when the car he was driving toward the church at Glover left the highway and struck a power pole Sunday morning. Attendants at the hospital said he is conscious at times.

PROBLEM OF YOUTH AND AGE

To the Editor:

I wish to express my deep appreciation of the editorials appearing in the Times, editorials of vast importance to the average citizen, dealing plainly, fearlessly and convincingly with conditions as they actually exist today. I trust these are being closely read by young and old. They contain cold stern facts that should be understood by all that we as individuals may be able to do our part intelligently in finding the way to a brighter era of prosperity for this grand and glorious country of ours.

Particularly would I call attention to the editorial of Dec. 6, "Make Room for Youngsters." The facts contained therein are of such significance, especially to the youth of our land that I would ask permission to quote in part as follows:

"Payroll indices throughout the nation have generally gained over last year."

"Nevertheless there are still some 10 million persons without jobs. It is estimated the nation's industries at peak will use about 1,000,000 less than they did in 1929 and so this group must be added the 2,000,000 who were unemployed in 1929, and the 5,000,000 workers who are unemployed today. That is a total of 8,000,000 each year who have come upon the scene within the last 10 years."

In the same issue of the Times appeared a report of the conference on youth problems at that time being held in Twin Falls. The report mentioned briefly talks being made by an NYA official, a justice of the Idaho supreme court, a leading banker, a child welfare consultant, a local business man, the chief of police and others. From the brief reports of their talks I gathered they are all fully conversant with the pitiful and disgraceful conditions as they exist today not only among youth but for age as well, yet as I understood the report it remained for the last speaker, Judge O. P. Duval, to point out to the youth as well as the general public just who is responsible for and must assume the blame for the present deplorable conditions when he said "It is up to the citizens to solve the problem of youth unemployment."

The statement of Mr. Duval's is right in line with that of Owen D. Young, acting chairman of the youth commission, when he placed responsibility for this condition squarely on the government and insisted jobs of

NEW HERD WINS GOODING PRAISE

GOODING, Dec. 26 (Special).—Gooding county cattlemen are being very complimentary these days about the new Hereford herd at the Fields Hereford farm, owned by Ernest E. Fields and sons, of Gooding. Stepping into the ranks of southern Idaho's major breeders, the farm has a splendid foundation for production of top Hereford cattle. The herd was founded with purchases of 12 thick, deep, mellow heifers from Lester H. Thompson, of Boise, and returned with the sire Beau Beauty 55th, son of Beau Beauty 55th. Gooding from the Hereford Journal of Dec. 1, 1939, referring to the "Ponderosa" sale, "The Hereford Beauty 55th, out of a daughter of Bright Domino, second dam a granddaughter of Foster Ansel."

Herd Sire

It is headed by one of the extreme tops of the Foster farms sale—the $1,000 Beau Beauty 55th, son of Beau Beauty 55th.

After Wesley Fields, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fields, had joined the 4-H club of Gooding, and became interested in feeding better cattle, he and his father decided it would be better to raise good cattle than to go away from home to buy them. They then called on the county agent for assistance and immediately began correspondence with leading Hereford breeders of the county. As a result of this correspondence and after visiting several of the leading herds of the northwest, Mr. Fields accompanied by the son, Wesley, and the county agent selected 12 two-year old heifers from the Lester Thompson herd of Boise, and one yearling heifer for Wesley's Future Farmer project in addition to the three feeder steers which he had raised for his 4-H project. The project is being supervised by Mr. Fields.

Then in order to complete well established foundations, Mr. Fields and family selected the sire Beau Beauty 55th, son of Beau Beauty 55th. Gooding from the Hereford Journal of Dec. 1, 1939, referring to the "Ponderosa" sale, "The Hereford Beauty 55th, out of a daughter of Bright Domino, second dam a granddaughter of Foster Ansel."

FDR STUDIES ON ANNUAL MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (U.S.)—President Roosevelt was working on the final draft of his annual message to congress today. It will detail neutrality and budget problems.

Among the items of major interest in international affairs, President Roosevelt was expected to inform congress of his decision to send a personal representative to Vatican city to work with Pope Pius XII for peace and alleviation of suffering caused by war.

Over the Christmas weekend Mr. Roosevelt announced he had assigned Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of the United States Steel corporation, as his representative to the Pope. Simultaneously, he sought a unified peace program by soliciting the support of Protestant and Jewish faiths in his efforts to bring all peoples worldwide to a common God, into a movement for ending the war.

As the president formulated his annual message to congress and the 1st budget, he was faced with settling the following important problem:

The amount to be spent in strengthening defenses. The national defense budget for 1941 has been unofficially estimated at $2,100,000,000, a figure of about $100,000,000 (M), but still considerably below the estimates submitted by the war and navy departments.

The imposing special national defense tax to raise about $800,000,000 per year. The domestic budget for regular governmental services, which according to reports, the president has been parsing severely.

play material that was offered to restaurants last year. "Disposals to cooperate in trade paper this year have tripled over last, indicating a hearty response to this year's advertising program, because of the success of last year's."

Now That It's All Over—

All in all Pot Shots had a very fine Christmas. We got more gifts than we had any right to expect, including several new pipes. I hope to have given in soon if my tongue holds out.

We got no ties so weird in color we can't wear them. (Mrs. Pot Shots says that would have to be pretty weird, anyway, but we took a test proving we aren't color-blind.)

We got only one gift that might show malice aforethought. Our sister back in Chicago sent us a pair of ice skates. She neglected to enclose a comfortable pillow.

We finally broke into the toy class, too. We became so enamored of a certain shooting game we bought for a small boy of our acquaintance that we mentioned very pointedly to Santa Claus we'd like one too. Some great men read detective stories for relaxation; why shouldn't we have a shooting toy? Santa heard and now we've got a pistol that shoots sticks capped by those rubber suction cups. The target is an affable, studded with things, age, etc. And we are good at plunking off those jungle animals.

We got 18 Christmas cards addressed to Pot Shots himself, aside from the big pile on the buffet at home. Of those 18, not one said a thing about the column being lousy in 1936. This is very cheerful to us, providing it doesn't simply indicate that the "jo men" spirit overhauled the ordinarily critical eye of yads and lasses.

Oh, yes, we ate too much turkey but managed to reach the bicarbonate of soda before it was too late.

We're not the same.

SECRET OF THE KNITTED CHRISTMAS GIFT:

Dear Pot Shots:
Among the unique Christmas presents you better have your detective instincts. I received a little knitted number of very fine workmanship. I can't disclose what it was but you might have your sleuths ask him about it. They might also ask who was around when he was made.

DILEMMA DEPT.

There's a dilemma at the residence of those sterling citizens, Edna and Hec (Cecil) to you.

They ordered 100 Christmas cards and had only 50 of these with names printed. Figured they could write the other 50, thinking somebody made a mistake and printed names on the whole batch. Mrs. Hap blithely mailed the 100.

Which means quite a scattering of folks got cheery greetings from those 200 sterling citizens but didn't know it.

WE SAY THANKS (OR SHOULD WE?)

Pot Shots received a half-colored and hand-printed Christmas card this morning. Three-cent stamp, 50c of this one and a half-cent stamp.

The card was signed by "Four Quarter Notes."

What are some letters we're going to study the implications of that signature? We have a vague feeling about it.

However, here's what the hand-printed card had to say:

Merry Christmas, Pot Shots. The snappers of whoops. You put the fear of God into many shift-stuff groups. Greetings of the season, Pot Shots. From all of Magic Valley. Your health will be the best—unless.

We meet you in an alley!

FIGHTING EDITOR NERVEN WOUNDED THUMB!

As one of the civic luminaries of Kimberly, I feel that the human reputation of our town should be given attention in the Pot Shots column.

What I mean specifically is that the world should know we have a fighting editor in our midst, and it wouldn't pay to go in and bother the Kimberly paper happens to be the name of the town. Because, as part of his Christmas celebration, Editor Harold Hove engaged in a merry scrap.

His letter in Jerry list. One sprained thumb. —Karl Kender

SERIAL STORY

SANTA CLAUS BROWN

BY MILDRED GILMAN
COPYRIGHT, 1936, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER X

ALICE BANKS entered the Carter living room with her gifts for the children's Christmas. She stopped, amazed at the outlay of toys, even more amazed at the sight of Jerry.

Jerry went to her, took her in his arms under the mistletoe, and kissed her, tenderly. He spoke in a low voice, only for her ears. "I almost killed Santa Claus—I've been trying to take his place ever since. I finish up his job for him. Alice, he gave me a wonderful Christmas present—he brought me to my senses—he gave you back to me. God bless Santa Claus Brown!"

Betty stared at them, open-mouthed with astonishment. "My teacher and Mr. Donaldson love each other! Mother, look!"

Mrs. Carter tried to divert Betty's attention back to her toys. The boys, derisive of love-making, paid no attention to the couple.

Jerry was so full of enthusiasm that he didn't as well have been alone in the room with Alice.

"Alice, when I take that job in dad's basement, will you struggle along with me? Furnish a little bungalow on installment—furniture from Donaldson's Palace Royale. Begin right at the bottom with me. We'll have to—pop's set on it."

"You're forgetting," Alice laughed, "I'm not social register crowd, Jerry, my mother."

Jerry kissed her again. "It's time all of us took more in hand and taught her a few plain facts about living," Jerry said. "She'll be so tickled having her little boy Jerry behaving like a human being again—she'll forget to be a mother."

"You're forgetting," Alice laughed, "I'm not social register crowd, Jerry, my mother."

Jerry kissed her again. "It's time all of us took more in hand and taught her a few plain facts about living," Jerry said. "She'll be so tickled having her little boy Jerry behaving like a human being again—she'll forget to be a mother."

"You're forgetting," Alice laughed, "I'm not social register crowd, Jerry, my mother."

Jerry kissed her again. "It's time all of us took more in hand and taught her a few plain facts about living," Jerry said. "She'll be so tickled having her little boy Jerry behaving like a human being again—she'll forget to be a mother."

There was a soft knock on the door and Mrs. Brown entered slowly. Everyone greeted her. "How's your husband, Mrs. Brown?" inquired Mrs. Carter. "He's—just fine," Mrs. Brown replied, with a far-away look. "You mean, he'll live?" cried Carter, and looked relieved. "Oh, yes," nodded Mrs. Brown, "he'll live," and added, half to herself, "always."

"I'm glad Santa Claus Brown is all right," said Betty. "Daddy said he got hurt bad."

Mrs. Carter walked over to Mrs. Brown and put an arm around her. "My Frances is coming in on the moon plane," Mrs. Brown told her.

"If Santa Claus Brown is all well and isn't going to die, why doesn't he come here?" Betty demanded with childish insistence. "He always came here first thing Christmas morning. I want to see him all my presents. I never did get much wonderful presents before."

"Well, you see, dear," Mrs. Brown said softly, "he had to make a trip back to the North Pole."

"But Daddy said Santa Claus Brown was in the hospital!" Betty began, and stopped short. The sound of sleigh bells drifted in from the street outside.

Betty ran to the window and looked out. She peered up and down the street. She couldn't see Santa Claus, but she knew that must have been his sleigh bells.

She knew Santa Claus Brown must have gotten up from his hospital bed, put on his Santa Claus uniform, and, once more his usual happy, jolly self, ridden away in his sleigh drawn by reindeer.

She was almost sure that she heard him call back, as his reindeer galloped north.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL AND TO ALL A GOOD NIGHT!

(The End)

ALICE and Jerry ran out laughing, hand in hand.

Betty went to the window and looked out.

"I wish Santa Claus Brown was here," she sighed wistfully. "He always comes in Christmas morning and looks at our presents and shows us how to work things, and fixes 'em when we break 'em, and—"

"He's hurt," her father told her. "He had an accident. He had to go to the hospital."

"You're forgetting," Alice laughed, "I'm not social register crowd, Jerry, my mother."

Jerry kissed her again. "It's time all of us took more in hand and taught her a few plain facts about living," Jerry said. "She'll be so tickled having her little boy Jerry behaving like a human being again—she'll forget to be a mother."

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Attorney General Murphy's investigation of the activities of foreign agents in this country is expected in some quarters to be a counter-weight to the activities of the Dies committee.

To put it mildly, Mr. Dies has not endeavored himself to the administration. The President has been represented as determined to drive out of public life, whether or not that is so, there is no doubt that the administration would be happy to see the committee's work.

Early this fall, a number of influential people in the administration suggested that the wind could be taken out of Dies' sails if J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, were to take on a full-dress investigation of Communists and their creed.

The suggestion was that the G-men have such a reputation that the country at large would accept their report as complete and final.

It was expected, this report should show that the "Communist menace" was much less extensive than the Dies group was saying it was. It was also expected that in a bad light and congress could be persuaded to refuse it an extension of life this winter.

FBI COLD-SHOULDERS COMMUNIST INQUIRY

This proposal was not too cordially received at the justice department. It was pointed out that the G-men couldn't very well make a straight investigation of Communists and their creed.

Now Attorney General Murphy reveals that a preliminary investigation has been going on since last fall and will come to a head in a short time.

It is not an investigation into Communism or into the party; it is a study of the work of foreign agents in this country, and is concerned with law violations—illegal use of passports, entry without proper papers to register under the foreign agents statute, and so on—rather than with the extent and activity of any one party or group.

WOULD HALT MORE DISSEMINATIONS

Nevertheless, the anti-Dies group in the administration is hoping that out of this investigation will come material that can be used to build up the work of the Dies committee to an end when its appropriation expires at the end of this year.

It is banking on the chance that this sort of argument can be made to congress:

The Dies committee has done a useful job, but the preliminary work has been done now. We have enough general information to make the committee's work a waste of money. It is time to let it go.

Alice Peavey, Charles E. Greif Wed at Double Ring Ceremonies

Miss Evelyn Alice Peavey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Peavey, pioneer Twin Falls residents, was married yesterday afternoon in a Christmas day ceremony to Charles Elwyn Greif, New York City and Mountain Lakes, N. J. Mr. Greif is the son of Mrs. Charles Greif and the late Mr. Greif of Mountain Lakes.

The candlelight ceremony, which was followed by a reception, was performed in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends by Rev. C. L. Clark, pastor of the Presbyterian church, using a double-ring ceremony. The Peavey home, 160 Seventh avenue north, decorated in the Yuletide theme, was the scene of the nuptials.

Nuptial Music
At 5:30 o'clock Mrs. Tom Peavey, sister-in-law of the bride, sang "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah." She was accompanied by Miss Louise Kregel, who began the strains of the wedding march from "Tcherepnin" as the bride procession came down the stairs.

Miss Ann Peavey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a floor-length frock of burnt gold, and carrying an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Frank Peavey, brother of the bride, was best man. He is from Holbrook, Ariz., for the holidays.

A yellow and white theme was used during the reception hour. A beautifully appointed table, centered with mistletoe, jasmint, and amulax, illuminated by white tapers, and covered with a lace cloth, bore the bride's and bridegroom's cakes.

Friends at Reception
Presiding at the silver services were Mrs. E. W. Carpenter, Twin Falls, and Mrs. John Thomas, Gooding. Assisting in the dining room were Mary Gent and Martha Ostermer, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ostermer.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Greif motored to Sun Valley for a wedding trip. They will live at home in New York City after Jan. 1.

The bride was graduated from Twin Falls high school in 1927, and from Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., in 1929.

Mr. Greif was graduated from the school of electrical engineering of Cornell University in 1927, and since then has been associated with the Bakelite corporation. He is a member of Theta Xi, social fraternity, and Eta Kappa Nu, honorary engineering fraternity.

Gooding Couple Weds on Holiday

Miss Lois Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Walter, and Warren Seckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Seckman, all of Gooding, were united in marriage here Christmas day.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Jones, 222 Third avenue west, by Rev. H. C. McCallister, pastor of the Methodist church. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Jones.

The bride wore a gold crepe dress with matching turban, her ensemble completed with a shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Seckman are graduates of Gooding high school. The bridegroom is associated with the Bell Telephone company. The couple will be at home in Salt Lake City.

B. P. W. Is Host To 206 Children At Holiday Event

BUHL, Dec. 26 (Special)—Bright eyes, expressions of true happiness, and ohs and ahs, and squeals of laughter, expressed the gratitude of the 206 west end children at the annual Christmas party given Saturday in the city hall.

Each child received a special invitation with an entrance ticket to the party given by the Buhl Business and Professional Women's club, with the help of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the newly organized Jaycees.

Santa arrived promptly at 1:30 p.m. to distribute the packages from the huge mound around the brilliantly decorated Christmas tree. On each gift package was the name of the child for whom the new toy and a pair of hosiery had been personally selected.

Each child also received an orange and candy.

Dr. Helen Pitts and Miss Bertha Huppel were in charge of preparing the toys for the party. Mrs. Martin Yeller and Mrs. L. J. Johnson arranged the program of songs and Christmas carols, and Mrs. Nell Boring arranged the treats.

Yuletide Motif To Be Featured At O.A.O. Dance

A motif of silver, green and red will form a colorful background for the Christmas formal at which the O. A. O. Dancing club will entertain Wednesday evening, Dec. 27, at the Elks ballroom.

Additional decorations will be placed tomorrow afternoon, amplifying those which were set up at the beginning of the holiday dance season.

Two special dances will be featured during the evening. Mrs. R. J. Schwendman, general chairman of arrangements, announced today.

Will Wright's orchestra will play throughout the evening, and dancing will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

Taperlit Dinner To Precede Dance

The W. A. Van Engelen home, Blue Lakes Boulevard north, will be the scene of a formal dinner party this evening prior to the Yuletide dance at Radolind. Members of the Yuletide Camp Fire group are arranging the event, assisted by their mothers.

Dinner will be served by taperlit, and a Yuletide decol will prevail. Miss Beth Cryder was chairman of the special place card committee.

Miss Lois Pickett, Portland, Ore., holiday visitor in Twin Falls, will be present from out-of-town. Her partner will be Bob Norton.

Covers will also be marked for the following couples:

Miss Mary Jane Shear and Dick Saladay; Miss Janet Pitt and Bob Jones; Miss Erna Lee Skinner and Ed Chapin; Miss Doris Ann Sherwood and Bob Ryan; Miss Julia Ann Ryan and Forrest MacMillen; Miss Beth Cryder and Ted Becker; Miss Helen Tinker and Alvin Jenkins; Miss Gwendolyn Helfret and Tom Carney; Miss Barbara Randall and Otto Florence; Miss Dorothy Van Engelen and Paul Taber.

MAROA WOMEN ENJOY GIFT EXCHANGE

A novel gift exchange was enjoyed by 35 members of the Maroa Women's club at their annual Christmas party at the school house.

The group sang "Silent Night," and "My Last Santa Claus" formed the roll call response. Mrs. Jennie Hill and Mrs. Ethel Park were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Anna Bandow won high honors in the contest, and Mrs. Howard Tegan, low. A pot-luck luncheon was served, and the club will meet next week with Mrs. Lester Fender and Mrs. Florence Cobb as hostesses at the schoolhouse. Mrs. Lettie Albee was in charge of the program which included carol singing and original Christmas poems as roll call responses. Mrs. Pearl Campbell won roll call honors. Mrs. Lillian Filmore won the prize elephant.

Mrs. Ray McCain was accepted as a new member. Two guests, Miss Betty Bandy and Miss Jean Olmstead, were present. Small lighted red candles in green gum drop holders with life saver hand aids were favors for the tray luncheon.

Next regular meeting will be Jan. 11 at the Community church with the annual pot-luck dinner for members and their families. Mrs. Josie Griffith will be hostess.

COUNTY FARM DWELLERS REMEMBERED

As part of their holiday observance, members of the Addison Avenue club took fruit to the county farm for Christmas. The project was planned when the group met last week at the home of Mrs. A. H. Wainman.

Gifts were distributed from beneath a lighted Yule tree, and Mrs. Albert Wegner and Miss Barbara Wainman assisted the hostess in serving refreshments. Mrs. Wegner will entertain the club at the next meeting.

Mrs. Rose Willis, Hollywood, Calif., guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hawthorn, and Mrs. Nell Kimerly, were present in addition to the members.

MeT and Tri-C Clubs Preside at Formal

Employing extreme secrecy, members of the MeT club have selected a novel theme for the holiday dance at which they will entertain this evening at 9 o'clock at Radolind in honor of the Tri-C club, alumnus of the MeT club, many of whom are home from college for the holidays, and a group of ninth graders.

Mrs. Mrs. A. S. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel T. Campbell will be patrons of the evening, and sponsors of the Tri-C, Red Knights, Zui Zim and Sigma Delta Psi clubs and their husbands and wives have been invited to attend.

Moose Arrange Yuletide Party

Children and adults share in the merriment at the annual Christmas parties of the Twin Falls Moose lodge, and this year's holiday event was no exception.

An imposing Christmas tree, loaded with presents for all, was the center of attraction at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening when approximately 50 guests attended the holiday event.

Christmas songs, recitations by the children and games formed the program. A generously donated Santa Claus appeared later, distributing gifts of fruit cakes and nuts.

Mrs. Harry Wallace and Mrs. C. C. Woolly arranged the program.

California Pair Exchanges Vows

Miss Margaret Zeigler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Regan, Pollock, Calif., and Leslie Williams, Voorhees, son of Mrs. Lucien W. Voorhees, Twin Falls, exchanged marriage vows at 7:30 o'clock Christmas night at the Voorhees home, 104 Lincoln street.

Forty close friends and relatives attended the ceremony, the wedding service being read by Rev. G. L. Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, while the bride stood before the fireplace, banked with Christmas greens and decorated with lighted crimson tapers.

Frank L. Stephan, friend of the Voorhees family, and father of Bob Stephan, best man, gave the bride in marriage. Miss Margaret Voorhees, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor.

The bride was gowned in a white satin train model, styled with long sleeves. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and narcissi.

Her junior attendant wore a gold chiffon gown and carried Tallman roses and narcissi.

The bride was escorted from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, where she is attending law school, to be best man. Both were members of Beta Kappa Phi while attending Stanford University.

Miss Barbara Young played the piano. Pelletions and good wishes were extended the couple at the reception which followed the ceremony.

The table on which the bride's and bridegroom's cakes were placed at either end, had as a centerpiece an arrangement of white carnations flanked by lighted white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Voorhees returned this morning to Pollock, where Mr. Voorhees is associated with the Bank of America.

Portland Guests Feted at Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Pickett and daughters, Miss Jean Pickett and Miss Lena Pickett, Portland, Ore., were honor guests at a Christmas dinner party yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Engelen, parents of Mrs. Pickett, and the W. A. Van Engelen family. Mrs. Pickett is the sister of Mr. Van Engelen.

In addition to them and the members of the W. A. Van Engelen family, Mrs. Ella Rosecrance, Burley, was guest at dinner.

The Henry Van Engelen family of Burley joined the group Christmas afternoon.

CHILDREN GIVEN TREATS BY SANTA

All children present at the Christmas party given last week by the Highland View club at the home of Mrs. Lena Heath received gifts from Santa Claus and two helpers.

Mrs. Margaret Eckert, Jerome, and "Ole Santa" Puller, two guests, were former members, were guests, as were Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Raymond Routh and Mrs. L. W. Routh.

Mrs. Stella Heintz won the club prize and Mrs. L. W. Routh the guest prize. Sunshine palm gifts were exchanged. A tray luncheon was served following the Christmas program.

Holiday Vacationers Attend Bride's Party

Seventeen girlhood friends of Miss Virginia Smith, many of whom are holiday vacation guests in Twin Falls, were bidden to the luncheon in honor at which Mrs. William S. Hill entertained this afternoon at the Hill home, 203 Seventh avenue east.

Miss Smith, who is here for the Christmas holidays, the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McElwain, will be married in January to Andrew Spears, Long Beach, Calif., the ceremony to be performed at Stanford University chapel.

While carousals, crimson tapers and fern were combined in the centerpiece for the bride's table, and the other luncheon tables featured Christmas trills.

Contract was the afternoon's diversion, honors being awarded for the game. Miss Smith received an attractive gift from the hostess.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Margaret McAtee, here from Ogden for the holidays, the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. McAtee; Miss Beth Bothwell, Blackfoot, the guest of her parents, Judge and Mrs. J. R. Bothwell; Miss Mary Priebe, Rock Springs, Wyo., who is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Priebe; and Miss Millicent Eldridge, Chubbuck, midwinter vacation guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eldridge.

Also among the guests were Miss Margaret Magel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Magel, who is here from Oakland, Calif.; Miss Ruth Taylor, San Francisco, who is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart H. Taylor; Miss Betty Peavey, home from Prineville, Ore., the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Peavey; and Miss Katherine Colwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Colwell, here from the University of Idaho, Moscow, and Miss Ann Peavey, home from Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., for the holidays.

A gift exchange followed. Mrs. E. O. Cain won the white elephant. Holly, Christmas greens and lighted tapers with tapers were favors, and sprays of holly were tray favors.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

NEW YORK — While Joe Jacobs tells intimates he has a contract calling for a return match between Tony Galento and Joe Louis next summer, John W. Rothenberg writes the dirty backdrop out of the program.

"I don't think Galento will ever figure in the picture again," says Louis' spokesman.

"The Thomas scandal hasn't helped him. His eye is bad... so bad I doubt that he'll ever want to box again." Perhaps this is why Michael Strauss Jacobs is personally supervising the feeding of young Billy Conn.

Turns Down $75,000

Samuel Braden asserts that he rejected a $75,000 offer for a Cardinal pitcher... probably Morton Cooper.

"I told the owner making the offer that the pitcher wasn't worth that kind of money," explains Braden. "That he was a cap to offer that much, and that maybe I was a bigger sap for refusing it."

But Braden declares that 1940 is to be the Cardinal's year, and that he won't let anything interfere with their winning the pennant. In any other year he would have grabbed that $75,000 offer without thinking twice.

Braden believes that Mike, Medwick & Co. have it in their net only to grab the gonfalon, but to extend the Yankees to more than four games in the world series.

He's counting on $200,000 from that end.

Baseball Misery

With the Red Birds shooting again, the Browns will suffer more than ever in St. Louis, which reminds me of an amusing conversation between Walter O. Briggs and Donald Barnes.

Briggs was telling the Browns' chief how ashamed he was of the Tigers during one of their low afternoons in Detroit before 44,000 people.

"I told my son, Spike," related Briggs, "that I felt like going out and getting a sign, 'Barnum was Right' and sticking it right out in the center of the diamond."

"I suffered more than anybody there."

"Well, Mr. Briggs," replied Barnes, "there are degrees of baseball misery."

"I frequently have to do my suffering in the presence of only 44 people."

Pay Own Freight

Emil Denmark is one racing owner who makes money. The Chicagoan says that his horses have never failed to win from $50,000 to $100,000 in purses each year for the last 15 years... more than enough to pay their way.

He has shown a profit every year.

The trick, explains Denmark, is to have good horses and to run them where they belong. If you do that, he adds, racing is just as profitable a business as any other, and it is a more pleasant.

Denmark never bets on horses.

Long ago he observed that there are more sellers than there are cashiers at every track.

And if that isn't the tipoff that you can't win betting on horses, he'll like to know what.

Layden Flies Trojans

Elmer Layden likes Southern California over Tennessee in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 1.

Notre Dame's Thin Man can't see how George Gage, the Volunteers' great tailback, possibly can be much good after being out practically all season with a knee injury.

Layden considers Greenville Lunsdale of the Trojans a better back than Nile Kinnick of Iowa.

He adds that the Hawkeye hero, while good, probably got credit for the ability of teammates.

Right Down His Alley

Johnny Crimmins, nationally known Detroit keeper, who authors this season's "The Art of Bowling" series, starting tomorrow.

Great Bowler to Conduct Column for Evening Times

Johnny Crimmins, anchor man of the Detroit File Electric, now the Goebel Beers, the 1939 Bowling Congress five-man team champions, is writing this season's "The Art of Bowling" series for NEA Service and the Idaho Evening Times.

In 25 articles, Crimmins tells how to organize a team and takes readers through a complete course in bowling. He is one of the finest instructors in the game.

Crimmins' bowling record is an enviable one. Few match his record for all tournaments down through the years, his average having ranged from 204 to 216.

As anchor man of a team he has few peers, if any. In the five-man of the A. B. C. for the last nine years he has averaged 209 with such series as 618, 600, 642, 638, 652, 588 and 653.

The series starts on the Idaho Evening Times, sports pages tomorrow.

Winter Sports Show Big Increase in U. S. National Parks

By O. H. KNIGHT
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP). — The national park service's annual report discloses that winter sports have increased in the parks, while listing 13 major accomplishments for the year.

The report also criticized "selfish" interests which it was charged acted as a deterrent to incorporation of the Kings Canyon region of California into the park system.

Park Director Arthur H. Combs reported that support for the Kings Canyon project has increased rapidly, however, despite "opposition from various selfish interests."

Creation of a national park in the area has been authorized by the nation's representatives and reported favorably by the senate committee on public lands and surveys. Efforts to bring the wild Kings Canyon country under federal supervision were begun in 1931.

Five Monuments Added

Combs' summary of the most important 13 accomplishments:

1. Addition of three new national monuments and three national historical shrines to the system: Fort Laramie national monument, Wyo.; federal hall memorial, New York City; Akela battlefield national monument, Miss.; Homestead national monument, Neb.; Bandelier national monument, N. M.; Santa Rosa island national monument, Fla.; Hopewell village national historic site, Penn.; and the old Philadelphia custom house, Penn.

2. Acquisition of the historic Chappaqua and Otis canal, which will be administered as one of the recreational areas of the national capital parks.

3. Average increases at Carlsbad caverns; Dinosaurs national monument, Utah; Arches national monument, Utah; and Glacier Bay national monument, Alaska.

4. Successful culmination of a long effort to acquire the Carl Inghram tract of giant sugar pines for addition to Yosemite national park.

5. A strong upward trend in winter sports use of the parks, with skiing leading in popularity.

6. Agreement between the park service and the forest service to cooperate in joint protection of the Appalachian trail, leading through the eastern mountainous areas, from Maine to Georgia.

7. Establishment of a 10-year low record of fires in the park system.

8. Completion of the new Pikes Peak lodge in Handliner national monument, N. M.

9. Cooperation of Yellowstone and Yosemite park operators in an effort to design a satisfactory minimum cost prefabricated housing unit for visitors.

10. Provision of a new type winter accommodations at Fort Jefferson national monument, Fla., by the acquiring of a houseboat off the historic fortresses to furnish meals and rooms.

11. Revision of existing national park laws and establishment of new laws of a more uniform nature in line with the governmental policy to establish the national parks more nearly on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

12. Accomplishment of necessary and important work projects through continued use of civilian conservation corps labor. Outstanding was the assistance in timber salvage and clean-up activities for fire protection, following the September, 1938, hurricane and floods in New England.

13. Continued cooperation with states.

No. One Ballerina Wants to Be Actress With No Dance Parts

By PAUL HARRISON (NKA Service)

HOLLYWOOD—Irina Baranova, who at 20 has become probably the world's greatest ballerina, is a movie actress today and would like very much to remain one.

"I want to be a dramatic actress," she sighed, easing her short tulle skirt and one chair and putting her tired feet on another. "Not a dancing one."

A woman came over to Miss Baranova and said, "You have an hour. The girls' feet are so hot they are putting them in ice water. Would you like some ice water?" The ballerina said no, but she untied the strings of her slippers and removed them gingerly. On both heels were large, broken blisters. I wondered how a toe dancer gets blisters on her heels, but I didn't ask.

She and a corps de ballet which had been assembled right here in Hollywood had been dancing all day for a sequence in the Imperial palace at Vienna. The picture is "Florian," and the emperor is Reginald Owen in rubber nose and mustache. Josef Shrubbery. The dancer has given command performances before British, Rumanian and Danish royalty, but this one is the toughest.

War Ended Her Job

Even if she does want to be just an actress, it was natural that she should make her movie debut as a ballerina, because she is one. She was dancing in London's Covent Garden when the war closed it and after that she became available to Metro and Producer Winfield Sheehan, who have been wanting her a long time. A relay of airplanes, including an ocean clipper, brought her to Hollywood and she was rushed into her first picture scarcely knowing what it was about. The first scene, a dramatic one, was okayed on the first take. She considers it a friendly scene.

For a star of the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe and one who has been called successor to Pavlova, she made a surprising admission. She said, "I never did like to dance. Not at first, anyway. My mother made me study, and I began at 7 and Bradley, Twin Falls, and Miss Lois Anderson, Piller.

New Issues Menace Demo Harmony

FOREIGN POLICY IS EXPECTED TO CAUSE TROUBLE

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP) — The Democratic legislative program established to enact President Roosevelt's special session neutrality bill is expected to be a controversial issue awaiting Congress.

Presidential politics will be a major factor in Congress' 1940 deliberations which begin Jan. 3. Apart from the questions of nominees and party platforms, grave issues of public policy will have to be disposed of.

The regular session of Congress which adjourned last Aug. 5 left unfinished business which is likely to disturb both Democratic and Republican party lines. Hotly disputed legislation and presidential authority expires next year unless Congress can be persuaded to continue them.

Center of Discussion
Mr. Roosevelt's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements without congressional consent of advice already is the center of political discussion in which Republicans and a group of Democrats from agricultural states proclaim determination to prevent its extension. That authority will expire June 12, 1940. The reciprocal trade program was sponsored by Secretary of State Cordell Hull rather than by Mr. Roosevelt, but the President announced this month he would press for its extension.

Particular significance attaches to the trade agreement dispute because of Hull's position as a likely compromise Democratic presidential nominee if the President does not seek a third term. Selection of the Hull trade agreement plan practically would eliminate him from 1940 consideration, whereas its extension would materially boost his campaign stock.

Expiration Dates
Other notable 1940 expiration dates include:
Fraser-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium act—March 4.
Municipal bankruptcy act—June 30.
Central statistical board—July 25.
Chandler railroad reorganization act—July 28.
Guffey coal act—Dec. 31.
1937 sugar act—Dec. 31.

20 Actors Claimed To Be Communists

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP) — Dies committee investigators have prepared a report based on eight months' investigation of Communism in Hollywood which names at least 20 prominent actors have been Communists, committee members said today.

It was indicated the committee soon would be called to decide whether to make the report public. The committee's authority expires Jan. 2, but Chairman Martin Dies, D-Tex., has an extension resolution pending and expects it to be approved.

Here's a Unique "Christmas Card"

One Christmas-lighted home display which will catch the eye of judges as they tour the city from now until Jan. 1 is this unusual arrangement at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert I. Shaw, 291 Fillmore street. The front of the home is virtually a "Christmas card" for the entire city. Although this night photo does not show the wording of the lights clearly, the display offers this scheme: "Mrs. Mr. Miss Shaw Wish Merry Xmas." The lighted doorway and the brilliant Christmas tree inside the home (visible through window shown at right) add to the general effect.

Borah Terms Foreign Policy Crux of Presidential Battle

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (Special) — Sen. William E. Borah, veteran Idaho Republican, said "I venture the opinion that our foreign policy and foreign questions will be the most thoroughly discussed and debated questions in this campaign."

The senator's statement came in the form of a letter in reply to a statement by Allen W. Dulles, member of the American delegation to the Paris peace conference in 1919 and now said to be adviser of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, Dulles, before a luncheon meeting of the executive committee of the New York state Young Republicans club, was reported to "have advised against a campaign on foreign policy and favored eliminating foreign policy questions as issues in the campaign."

Warms of Retreat
Borah's letter to Dulles under date of Dec. 13 contained the following in part: "I venture the opinion that our foreign policy and foreign questions will be the most thoroughly discussed and debated questions in this campaign. If an effort were made to eliminate such issues, or to minimize them, the only result of the effort, in my opinion, would be a humiliating retreat for this side of the middle of October. Any such effort would be a frightful mistake from a purely strategic standpoint and would be worse than a mistake from a moral standpoint."

"Only yesterday I observed that a large gathering of students in the middle west met for the purpose of discussing and considering America's foreign policy. And wherever you go, with whomsoever you may talk, you will find that subject among the first for discussion. It seems to me that any political party, under the present circumstances and conditions, is under the gravest obligation to make clear and unmistakable its position on every phase of our foreign policy."

People Should Know
"It is the thing about which the people have a right to know, and furthermore, it is a thing about which they will know, because they will make the issues. In our foreign policy, in fact, is wrapped up and involved the whole question of security of our people. But, in addition to that, how can you intelligently discuss and weigh such problems as the budget, as taxes, as public expenditures and all other questions of importance, as the world now stands, without having a sound and well understood foreign policy?"

"There will be no issues overlooked in this campaign by the voters. They have passed through a period in which they have lost their homes and there are now millions of them out of work. They know the effect of the creeping paralysis of taxes and expenditures. They have not forgotten the propaganda which led us into sacrifice in a foreign war. They are fully advised and fully alive to all the varied phases of the political and social conditions of this country. They expect their leaders to have the ability and the willingness to grapple with the problems which are of such vast concern to them—and there are none of more concern than that of our foreign policy."

Senator Borah led the fight through the special session of Congress to retain the arms embargo which was defeated and the "cash and carry" enacted.

Council Session Here Wednesday

Approval of applications for renewal of various licenses to sell beer, as well as other business, will come before city council members at a recessed session which will be held at the city hall Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Although it was Christmas, councilmen gathered last night long enough to scan a dozen beer license applications and approve them. They then recessed until Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Acequia Names Room Mothers

ACEQUIA, Dec. 26 (Special) — At a recent P-T. A. meeting program the appointment of room mothers for the schools was announced. Mrs. Vernard Comstock for first and second grades; Mrs. Victor Dalsoglio for the third and fourth grades; Mrs. E. L. Dalsoglio for fifth and sixth grades; and Mrs. John Hong seventh and eighth grades; Mrs. Adrian Falls, for the high school.

This is a new feature in the school system, but was considered an added improvement. Through the cooperation of the P-T. A. plans for a state traveling library have been effected, and three cases of books have been received.

An address by Rev. E. Leslie Rolis, of the Presbyterian church, Rupert, was one of the features of the P-T. A. program.

Henry G. Beall Paid Last Honor

GOODING, Dec. 26 (Special) — Funeral services were held Wednesday at the L. D. S. church for Henry Grady Beall.

Blahon Christenson, in charge of the services, read the obituary. Talks were made by Bishop Emerson Pugmire, Hagerman, and by Lynn Burman, Jerome. Branch Britton sang a solo and other music was furnished by the double mixed quartet of the church choir.

Pall bearers were Leo Rice, Kelly Perkins, Charles Deering, Frank Jeffries, Ed Osburn and Walt Willis, all fellow employees of the Leo Rice Motor company.
