

IDAHO MINE INDUSTRY MAKES GAIN OVER '38 PRODUCTION

MONTANA LEADS ALL STATES FOR BOOST IN OUTPUT

By LLOYD TUPLING

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 9 (U.P.)—The mining industry of Montana and Idaho enjoyed an increase in production at higher prices during 1939, according to a report issued today by the U. S. Bureau of mines.

Montana led Idaho with an increase of 45 per cent in the value of recoverable minerals produced over 1938. Valuation of mineral production in the two states was $79,956,700 compared with $57,124,849 in 1938. The division of economic and mineral production announced that Idaho increased 4 Per Cent.

Idaho's increase for the year was only a net, brought about by expansion in gold, copper and zinc. Production of silver and lead operations lowered the average for all production.

The Sunshine Mining company in Idaho again in 1939 was the largest producer of silver in the United States. Idaho silver production during the year declined nearly 10 per cent in quantity. The quantity of copper decreased 9 per cent in quantity. Of the total state production of $1,192,000 the Sunshine company produced 933,000 ounces.

Gold Production Up

Idaho showed an increase of nearly 10 per cent in gold production over 1938 with a total of 114,000 fine ounces. Production from placer operations decreased but success in the regular and lead operations showed sizeable increases which raised the average state total.

Copper output of Idaho is about 670,000 pounds valued at $494,000. More than half of the state total was recovered from silver ore from the Sunshine Mining company.

Puzzle: Does District Own Armory Site?

The National Guard association is questioning the property the National Guard association owns at a site for its proposed $30,000 armory—and the Twin Falls school board is in receipt of mood—but both groups were still temporarily stymied over the transaction.

Reason: The school board doesn't own the property the National Guard association wants. So the guardians were investigating abstract records and plots of the "purpose" addition to find out who owns what and where it's located.

The National Guard association formally organized last night and promptly sent a three-man delegation to see the school trustees, with Lt. Col. H. G. Lauterbach, Hans, as spokesman, the delegation included Capt. J. H. Seaver, Jr. and R. E. Leighton.

Lauterbach advised the board that an armory here is "needed badly" because present quarters in the basement of the Legion hall are inadequate. He said that the National Guard association formed as an official sponsor. WPA funds are virtually assured for the armory.

"The site we've selected," he said, "belongs to the school board. It's on Second avenue east and just across Lakes boulevard. We'd like to acquire it."

But examination of a city plat and of sprinkling tax records paid by the school district showed to the surprise of the national guard delegation and the trustees, that the district's title in purpose addition is apparent on the corner location selected for the armory.

The records seemed to show that the school land never used for anything except horse barns in the days when the district used horse-and-wagon transportation—is an intact lot a block away from the chosen site. It's 100 feet by 335 feet. The corner location desired by the guardians is 100 by 400.

Both lots like 100-foot frontage faces on Lake Lakes boulevard.

Mr. Leighton advised trustees that the school board actually owns the district actually owns the larger corner property. He asserted he believes the horse barns used to be located there.

So, pending a search of all possible records, the matter was held in abeyance. Asked if the association would deal with the school land as a last resort, although it is not on the corner, Lt. Col. Lauterbach and Capt. Seaver replied in the affirmative. They said that alterations could be made in the armory design.

Supt. Homer M. Davis asked Lauterbach whether the guard association had thought of including a basketball floor in the large central part of the armory, since such facilities for other than school groups are practically nil in Twin Falls.

"The armory is primarily an armory," replied the commanding officer. "But if the large room became in demand, we can't say just what might be done."

MISTAKE

Reported as stolen, last night, a 1934 pickup was discovered today parked in the city lot.

The machine, parked in the 100 block of Third avenue north last night, had been placed in the Union Motor company car lot. Employees, seeing it parked nearby at about midnight, figured it was just one of the vehicles that hadn't been put away. So they put it away.

Discovery of the matter eased the mind of D. W. Holt, the owner, who said he needed that truck.

Women's Clubs Began In Writer's Defense

Refusal of New York newspapermen to permit Mrs. Jennie Croly, woman journalist, to attend a banquet in honor of Charles Dickens, back in April, 1868, in New York City, because she was a woman, started rolling a snowball that eventually became the General Federation of Women's clubs.

In her swift-moving portrayal of the history of the education of women in the United States, and the development of culture influences among the feminine residents of this country, Mrs. Thomas introduced her subject, "Design for Living," with the following comment:

"It seems to me the only fitting that we should pause at the beginning of the new year to look backward many years to contemplate our heritage today, which is built out of those years. Our design for living developed because certain people lived before us."

Augmenting the spirited program were the animated table settings, miniature replicas of Sun Valley, with caricatures of men on axis that will bring to mind the special pine-dotted snow banks, or skirting around mirrored ice ponds. At the speaker's table a huge artificial snow mass stood guard as a frosty centerpiece.

Particularly appropriate to the afternoon's subject were the musical selections. Wilton Peck sang "Frolics" from "Cycle of Life" by Sir Landon Ronald, accompanied by D. L. Altmeyer, and Miss Helen Greig sang "I Love Life," "Mama Zuzu," accompanied by Mrs. O. P. Duvall.

Alexander arranged the musical program. Mrs. Virgil Lesell, sketching the characteristics of the natives of Finland, gave the international relations report. Mrs. J. W. Newman presided at the business session.

American Women's Pattern Speaking of the development of the American woman's "way of life," Mrs. Thomas said: "Our Pligrin faith dreamed of a world made new, and the dreams they dreamed came true. One of the most distinctive and far-reaching movements of the last century was that which made new about higher education for women."

Women began to be aware of their intellectual deficiencies and utter lack of self-development. All this led to the forming of groups of study clubs in literature and art, and other fields, in a collective quest for culture."

Then she related the intensely interesting story of "If I were Jennie Croly asked for an invitation to attend a dinner in honor of Charles Dickens. Mrs. Croly would learn that she was denied the right to attend because she was a woman. Mrs. Croly at that time was a well-known journalist, and the affair was given by members of the New York press."

Sorials Organized This sex-discriminatory act so incensed some of the women that they decided to start a club of their own, and within 48 hours after the banquet, the Sorials club came into being.

When the Sorials club celebrated its 21st birthday, Mrs. Croly asked that the occasion be marked by a convention of all women's clubs in existence. On March 20, 1890, delegates from 61 clubs assembled. The ratification convention was held a year later, and the General Federation of Clubs came into being."

In conclusion Mrs. Thomas said, "Living in this present age, and having accepted the pioneers' fulfillment of dreams is a direct challenge to us. What kind of a heritage are we leaving for the coming generations?"

"Let us realize that we, too, are living lives for our children and our children's children. We are each one leaving our design for living."

Johansens Feted On Wedding Date Mr. and Mrs. W. Johansen, who were married 21 years ago in Salt Lake City, were honored at a surprise anniversary celebration last evening.

Dinner was served by the group of friends who arranged the affair in their honor. The courtesy was in celebration of the marriage of the couple Jan. 2, 1919, at the Latter Day Saints temple.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wright, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Guest, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hyde, and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Freeman.

Games were the diversionment of the evening.

Idaho B. P. W. to Meet At Boise May 19-21

Mrs. Kregel Speaks Mrs. C. H. Kregel, guest speaker, in her discussion "Our Economic Opportunities in a Democracy," defined a capitalist democracy, such as ours as being "a competitive society on the disposal over private property."

The blessings of such an economic system are the development of individual initiative; the acquiring of ability to take risks; to assume and carry out responsibility, and to meet present national difficulties.

Listing as the cause for the present unemployment, the last World War; the gambling debauch of wild speculation and the consequent unemployment resulting from the replacement of men by machinery, Mrs. Kregel said that the solution to present national difficulties, was the necessity of a moral revival, and the exerting of honesty from the top down. "People must demand honesty from government and business alike," she concluded.

Verse Telegram Tells Bride-Elect of Gifts

Mrs. Robert H. Warner and Mrs. Lloyd W. Collier entertained at a smartly appointed pre-nuptial courtesy last evening at the home of the former, 706 Third avenue west, in compliance to Miss Elizabeth Dennis McCleery, Jerome, whose marriage to Horace S. Geas, Idaho Falls, will be solemnized Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Ascension Episcopal church.

The event took the form of a buffet dinner and miscellaneous shower. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock, followed by an evening of bridge and conversation. At a pre-arranged hour, a messenger arrived, handing Miss McCleery a telegram in verse, which gave a clue to the hiding place of her gifts.

She was directed to a tea wagon in the dining room, the lower section of which was heaped high with lovely gifts for her future home. Yellow button chrysanthemums formed the floral decor, and a yellow color motif was also emphasized in the decorations.

Honorary at contract went to Mrs. George Larson and Miss Hazel Newman.

Present in addition to the hostess, the hostesses and the prize winners were Mrs. E. D. McCleery, Jerome, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. H. O. Tomlinson, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, Twin Falls, formerly of Nampa; Mrs. Lois Kauffman, Mrs. Tom Alworth, Miss Margaret Kennedy and Miss Gladys Coiner.

Mrs. Tomlinson and Mrs. Johnson are intimate friends of the McCleery family. Mrs. Tomlinson is at present the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Johnson, following a week-end visit spent at the McCleery home in Jerome.

Local Pair Weds In Elko Ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bates, Twin Falls, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anne Bates, to Owen Z. Keefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Keefer, also of Twin Falls.

The marriage took place Tuesday, Jan. 2, at Elko, Nev. Both are graduates of the Twin Falls high school.

HEAVY FIRING STARTS IN H. S. CAGE CIRCLES

12 Contests to Be Played in Region Tonight

The heaviest firing of the young 1940 basketball season will get under way in south central Idaho high school ranks tonight when 24 varsity teams clash on 12 floors, while the same number of second-string or girls' clubs will act in preliminaries.

But that competition is just a small percentage of what is to come during the week—for in the four-day span from Tuesday to Friday, inclusive, a total of 27 varsity games is scheduled for both A and B class schools.

In Class A ranks tonight Coach Ap Burt's Gooding Senators will invade Twin Falls to take on the Twin Falls Bruins. The game will mark Coach John M. Foster's first appearance in a regularly scheduled conference game before a Twin Falls audience.

Bruins Favored
The Bruins will be slight favorites to take this game—although the Senators are reported to have a surprisingly strong array of talent. Twin Falls still will be without the services of Bill Johnson, veteran leader, who is expected to return to the lineup by Friday. However, Chuck Thomas, striding guard, will probably be in the starting lineup.

Wendell
That concludes the evening's Class A play, although Wendell of the Class B ranks will invade Filer to take on the Wildcatters in a game that will probably be nip-and-tuck. However, Coach Cleo Shorttonight will play the Wildcatters at Filer.

High School Cage Schedules CLASS A

(Tonight)
Gooding at Twin Falls.
Burley at Oakley.
Wendell at Filer.

CLASS B

(Tonight)
Haley at Dietrich.
Heiburn at Declo.
Richfield at Bellevue.
Shoshone at Fairfeld.
King Hill at Glenns Ferry.
Mauriough at Hazelton.
Paul at Acquia.
Castledorf at Gooding State.
Eden at Hollister.

Friday Schedule
The Friday schedule is even heavier than that of tonight. Class A major engagements will bring Gooding at Burley at Twin Falls on the Bruins' home court. This is expected to be one of the most attractive here in pre-tournament play.

Buhl will visit Jerome, Filer goes to Gooding and Oakley takes on the Gooding State school five.

Class B schedule for Friday reads like this: Dietrich goes to Fairfeld, Bellevue visits Valley and Shoshone, entertains Glenns Ferry.

CHAMBERLAIN RALLIES EMPIRE TO INTENSIFY FIGHT

ENGLISH LEADER HOPES TO SLASH LENGTH OF WAR

By WALLACE CROMBIE.
LONDON, Jan. 9 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain rallied the British empire to more vigorous prosecution of the war today in a speech warning that "grim" warfare has begun, applauding the attitude of President Roosevelt toward international relations, and forecasting some future form of European collaboration or federation.

"The powers of darkness will fight in vain," he said, against the strength of allied arms, the unity of the allied resolutions and the determined spirit of the British people that therefore of civilization is bound up with the conflict.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech marked the beginning of the general campaign by government leaders to arouse the new sense of fighting at present in order to step up production and to "show the way" to intensifying its prosecution.

U-Boats, Marching Men Steal Thunder From Hitler, Chamberlain and Daladier

By JIM ALLEN.
LONDON, Jan. 9 (U.P.)—The British press today has brought many surprises. It has shattered many preconceptions. Perhaps most significant of all it has shattered the towering personalities who dominated the pre-fighting period of today's struggle.

The press has not only shattered the image of Hitler as a man who would change the course of world history, but it has pushed aside by more powerful forces.

A year ago the people of many lands were told that the future of the world was in the hands of a few men. Today the press has shown that the future of the world is in the hands of the people.

The press has shown that the future of the world is in the hands of the people. It has shown that the future of the world is in the hands of the people.

But so far this has been and fundamentally is likely to be war on the well-substantiated theory that in modern times economic weapons not only decide the outcome of a military struggle but achieve the far more important goal of totally destroying the enemy as a favor in return.

That rather than the costly military victories of the first three years of the World War, the goal of both sides in western Europe, and it is a "total war" that sooner or later will reach every family in every belligerent country.

The effects are not yet strongly apparent. Months may pass before they begin to emerge—before the pincers of economic desperation or even confidence of successful military blow prompts one side or the other to seek a decision.

There is today no immediate prospect of a successful effort toward peace among Europe's present governments. On the contrary, the evidence piles up day after day that total warfare across the face of Europe will bring changes incomparably greater in the results of a mere military triumph than burned in the mind of an old man named Chamberlain when he dozed at the conference table at Versailles.

6 P. M. CLOSING NOW EFFECTIVE

Store closing at 6 p. m. weekdays except Saturday, now effective immediately for all establishments which have heretofore been open later than that time, Chairman B. J. Vallon of the merchants' bureau said this afternoon.

The bureau voted yesterday for the 6 p. m. closing and for 8 p. m. shutdown each Saturday in January, February and March. The action came after grocerymen agreed to the proposal. As a result, Chairman Vallon said, food stores should close at 6 o'clock today. Other retail establishments already close business at that hour.

Authorized by the bureau to select a committee to outline the 1940 program, Mr. Vallon today had selected R. P. Robinson as chairman; Charles Shirley, R. M. Kinzie, Harry Vogel, Grant Thomas, Guy Hudson and Frank Cook, Committee members and Mr. Vallon met at noon today in the Rogers hotel to begin the work of drafting a suggested program.

Activities finally designated by the committee will be submitted to the full bureau next Monday noon for approval.

Idaho Democrats Hear Praise for Senator Wheeler

BOISE, Jan. 9 (U.P.)—A campaign to elect Burton K. Wheeler, Montana senior senator, to the presidency of the United States was opened last night in Idaho by Thomas Stout, Lewiston, Mont., publisher and farmer congressman, in a Jackson day dinner address before 900 Bourbon leaders.

"Should the lists be thrown open by the word of our President as I believe they will," Stout said, "Montana will be proud to present the name of Burton K. Wheeler to the Democracy of the nation."

Congressman Liberal Stout praised Wheeler as a liberal of courage and vision. He said he was associated with Wheeler for 30 years.

The remainder of Stout's talk was confined to a discussion of foreign affairs.

Stout's lobby discussion among the scores of Democratic leaders present for the Jackson dinner were concerned mainly with speculation as to the next Democratic candidate for Idaho governor. Prominently mentioned were J. W. Taylor, present attorney general; Ben Davis, Focella, state Bourbon chairman, and Chase Clark, mayor of Idaho Falls.

All three men, however, refused to comment as to whether they have intentions of candidacy.

The Idaho Democrats unanimously voted strong belief that the governorship fight this year will be a vigorous one with the party holding at least an even chance to recapture the top spot from the Republicans.
