U. S. MOURNS AS LAST RITES HONOR BORAH

U. S.-Japan Trade Treaty Expires; No Renewal Seen

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The treaty which has governed trade relations between the United States and Japan since 1911 expired for all practical purposes today.
There were no indications that a new treaty or a modus vivendi would be forthcoming soon. Congress appeared willing to let the matter rest with the state department.
The state department's only formal statement, issued several days ago, was that future trade relations with Japan will remain uncertain pending "developments" in the far east. That was interpreted to mean relations would continue as at present, but any future Japanese discriminations against this country or its interests in the far east may result in retaliatory action.

At the nearly 30-year-old treaty died, the two governments whose disagreements on Japan's policies in China led the United States to terminate it. It differed on yet another, though technical, point—the exact time of the treaty's demise.

Two Views
The state department contends that it expires at midnight, EST, Friday. Japan considers the treaty terminated at 10 a. m., EST, today. The state department's decision is based on the contention that the treaty ends six months after the close of the day on which notice of termination was given. The Japanese place the time at the beginning of that day. The remaining difference—a four-hour time difference—between Tokyo and Washington.

Most congressmen were reluctant to alter the treaty's expiration, but almost all agreed that before any future action is taken the state department's advice should be thoroughly studied. There is pending in congress a bill that would impose an embargo on shipments of war materials to Japan. The state foreign relations committee is expected to consider it soon.

Chairman Elston, R., of the house foreign affairs committee said a new treaty should not be considered until there is a feeling here that there will be no more.

NO RELIEF SEEN FROM COLD WAVE

(By United Press)
New waves of cold air swept down from the Canadian north today, dropping temperatures still lower than the sub-normal levels around which the mercury has hovered for more than a week.
The U. S. weather bureau at Chicago related its forecast of every day since the wave struck Jan. 14: "No relief in sight."
Forecaster C. A. Doumel said there would be some moderation but no return to "winter normal" temperatures during the next 24 hours.
The cold extended from the Canadian border to the foot of the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic coast.
Up in northern Montana, where the new cold mass entered the United States last night, the mercury dropped to 27 degrees below zero. Northern Montana police reported readings around 16 and 20 below zero. Central plains states, where there had been a moderation during the week, once more experienced temperatures from zero to a few degrees above. Dismal dead air, with Alabama highways closed by hazardous traffic conditions and temperatures down to a few degrees above zero.
The cold threatened severe damage to 1940 crops. It imposed below-freezing temperatures upon the Florida and the Grande winter wheat belts. It may have caused "almost a total loss" of the Illinois peach crop which has been valued at $2,000,000 for the last three years. Florida oranges are being ruined in the Allagany, Monticicola and Ohio rivers which would overflow the banks in the event of a sudden thaw or rain.

U. S. Airplane Building Facilities Overworked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., today cited airplane production as a potential "bottleneck" in the aircraft manufacturing industry.
His statement was circulated with reports that shortage of engine manufacturing facilities may compel Britain and France to reduce conventional production as a potential "bottleneck" in the aircraft manufacturing industry.
Morgenthau, head of an inter-departmental committee to coordinate production, said that domestic and foreign buyers, said engine production was sufficient to meet current needs but not to take

As Borah Funeral Train Reached Idaho Today

Snapped at Pocatello early today as the Borah train made its only extended stop in southeastern or south central Idaho, these pictures show: Top, U. S. Marine officers keeping military guard at the Idaho center home; middle, part of the Pocatello throng which braved swirling snow early today to pay silent tribute to Idaho's beloved statesman on his last journey; below, part of the official delegation aboard the funeral train, left to right, Gov. Henry C. Doolittle, Mr. Venable, secretary of Senator Borah for 12 years; Cong. J. A. Throckmold, Postmaster; C. A. Anderson, Boise, and Sen. H. SOLON APPROVES ENVOY TO RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Majority leader Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., told the house today he was opposed to withdrawal of the United States ambassador to the Soviet Union in severance of diplomatic relations.
He made the statement after Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., urged such action. Fish had urged withdrawal of the ambassador or severance of relations several times since the Finnish crisis.
Rayburn said he did not like to refer to Fish's position as "sensible," but could not think of a better word.
"I doubt," he said, "whether the Russian government an presently conducted is enjoying any ambassador there. We have a bargaining post in Russia, and I'm in favor of keeping it. I cannot understand how it would help the United States in the Pacific to sever relations. We would have no way of knowing anything about what's going on in Russia."

Thousands Crowd Boise as Final Services Are Held For Veteran U. S. Senator

By WILLIAM McMENAMIN
BOISE, Jan. 25 (AP)—William E. Borah, the Lion of Idaho, was laid to rest today by the friends who saw him rise from an obscure young attorney to a statesman of international renown.
Burial in the snow-covered ground of Morris Hill cemetery took place after a military funeral in the state capitol rotunda. Thousands of citizens he represented in the senate for 33 of his 74 years of life filed past the bier to pay him homage before the simple service.
Mrs. Borah, Cora Rubin, his secretary for 25 years, family friends, state and national dignitaries, were present at the funeral services, conducted in the flower-banked rotunda by the Rev. Frank A. Rhea, dean of the Episcopal cathedral in Boise.
The oratory which marked Borah's life was absent at his funeral, distinguished by its solemn simplicity.
The brief service opened with organ music played by Mrs. Ross Bates of Boise. The burial office came next followed by a mixed quartet singing Borah's favorite hymn, "Lead Kindly Light."
Dean Rhea delivered a funeral address in which he likened Borah to the Idaho mountain which bears his name and extolled his virtues of simplicity, integrity, individuality and sympathy for the common people.
"The heart of the world is sad today because a great soul has ceased its participation in the affairs of men and of nations," Dean Rhea said.
"A great voice was stilled in death which more than any voice in several generations has made articulate the deep yearnings and aspirations of countless masses for liberty and justice in the political and economic world."
Close friend
"Men differed with Mr. Borah, but they knew in their hearts if he were wrong, he was honestly wrong."
The clergyman, who was one of Borah's closest friends, said the senator's great love for Borah and his anguish during a recent illness were etched in his mind.
"May he through the mercy of God rest in peace, and may light perpetual shine upon him," Dean Rhea intoned in his address.
An honored guard of military officers dressed in blue uniforms lifted the gray steel coffin from the bier and carried it, together with six truckloads of floral offerings, to the Morris Hill cemetery.
Burial took place in a special plot set off by the Boise park board. Dean Rhea delivered the grave-side eulogy.
The pallbearers were John Thomas, former U. S. attorney; Oliver O. Hagg, Boise attorney; District Judge Charles F. Koelich, Boise; Judge Joseph Bell, Boise; Attorney Marsters, Meridian attorney; I. E. Rockwell, Bellevue, former state senator; Ray McKays, manager of the Boise Post-Register; President, and Ed Dewey, Nampa.
Flag-Draped Train
The state supreme court, state elective officers and Federal District Judge C. C. Cavanaugh were honorary pallbearers.
A flag-draped special train of seven cars brought the funeral cortege from the state capitol to the Morris Hill cemetery at 7:25 a. m. A military escort of national guardsmen equipped with rifles, surrounded the cortege and carried it to a waiting hearse.
All traffic halted as the funeral procession moved slowly to the more reverent silence to the capitol. A crowd of thousands gathered at the station to mourn Borah.
The funeral services were held in the center of the capitol second floor rotunda, on a bier, to lie in state until the funeral services at 3 p. m. Hundreds of floral offerings were banked about it.

BORAH'S WIDOW THANKS NATION

BOISE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the deceased senator, thanked the nation today in a press interview for the sympathy and consideration extended her in her bereavement.
"Slight-built and fragile in appearance, 'Little Borah' as his friends called her, bore up well under the strain. It showed only in her eyes and the uncertainty with which she viewed the future."
"Everyone has been so kind," Mrs. Borah said. "I can't begin to express my gratitude. I want to thank the press for the generosity with which they treated me during the services in Washington."
Patiently Bore Rose
Mrs. Borah said she was most touched by a rose sent her by the senator's great-grandson, who accompanied her to the funeral with whom she visited frequently.
"She said her plans were indefinite but she would return to Boise tonight to Washington, D. C., to settle her husband's affairs there. She will return to Idaho in the spring, she said."
Mrs. Borah spoke of her husband's devotion to duty and said she was glad that he kept his respect for the office instead of retiring years ago.
To Meet Borah
She had an appointment for late in the day with Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen who was known to be consulting the appointment of her to the remainder of the senate term vacated by Borah. She declined to discuss the suggestion that she take the appointment.
Meanwhile, Republican leaders scheduled a conference on the appointment of a successor to be held tonight. Those expected to attend included Gov. Bottolfsen, State Sen. Tom Heath, Republican state chairman, Vice-Chairman Mr. Carlisle Smith, Ezra Whitfill, Coeur d'Alene national convention, and Mrs. Emma Choucriek, national committee woman.
Former Senator John Thomas also was considered strongly for the appointment.

NEW PLEA SEEKS END OF CONFLICT

THE HAGUE, Jan. 25 (AP)—A new plea for European peace was made in parliament today by Foreign Minister Dr. E. N. Van Kierffens. He also urged Belgium to respect Dutch neutrality and to avoid hurting Dutch trade or territorial integrity.
"We are not the right to wonder whether at least the time has arrived for a just and sensible regulation of the affairs of Europe," he said. "They say the time for peace has not come yet but what is the use of fighting if both sides fight the moment they cannot destroy in the long run?"
"I believe such words may be said at this time in a neutral country thought of being linked with the central and western Europe in poverty and holocaust."
"It never has appeared that regulation based on reason and justice with mutual respect for the rights of other peoples guaranteeing peace for a long time, can be reached."
After calling on the Dutch to ensure neutrality and increase their efforts through Belgium to ensure peace was regarded as a warning to possible aggressors in Europe and indirectly to Japan.
"As long as the nation is willing to give up everything for the integrity of its territory and its independence in the future, we shall stand to see our efforts in other lands in Europe as well," Kierffens said.

Senator Links Idaho's Lion With Webster

BOISE, Jan. 25 (AP)—William E. Borah, the Lion of Idaho, died not only a man but an institution in the death of Sen. William E. Borah, his colleague, in Arthur E. Vandenberg, R., Mich., told the House today.
"One of the great pillars of the republic has fallen," Vandenberg said. "He was a man of the highest caliber and one of the greatest of our time."
The Republican leader said the 20 members of congress who came to Idaho to pay tribute to the senator in an "inadequate symbol" of something infinitely wider and deeper.
"Idaho cannot over-estimate our national debt to her for having given us this statesman," Vandenberg said.
"Four great American statesmen, in the last century, have failed the Presidency and yet outlived and often out-weighted their more successful rivals. They were Daniel Webster, Henry Clay, James G. Blaine and William E. Borah."
Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, R., Mass., and Sen. J. C. McMillan, D., Wyo., also addressed the national dead.

Moscow, Idaho, Not Linked With Russian Capital

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—The city of Moscow, Idaho, named at the time of being linked with the Soviet capital, has sent a check for $176.40 to the Finnish relief fund, it was announced today.
"We here in Moscow, Idaho, want the Plains to know that all Moscovites are not against them," Mayor Henry C. Doolittle said. "We are in a note accompanying the check."
The fund announced that Wednesday was a "banner day" for collections for the relief fund. Total collections for the day were $189,000.

Twin Falls Tribute Lauds Senator Borah

By O. A. KELKER
"Old friend, goodbye."
With these words J. H. Blundford, local attorney, today spoke for the citizens of Twin Falls and the Alpine Valley in a tribute paid to the late Senator William Edgar Borah who was buried at Boise this afternoon.
On behalf of citizens of this area, Blundford spoke over the local radio station at 3 p. m. One hundred and thirty-five people were present and declared the period from that time until 4 p. m. as an hour of reverence and asked that incense and radios installed in order that homes close down over the state and that business, generally, be suspended.
Work suspended
In Twin Falls, as in other communities, city employees suspended work for the hour. The county court house employees likewise observed the period and many local schools had radios installed in order that the tribute by Blundford might be heard.
"I doubt," he said, "whether the Russian government an presently conducted is enjoying any ambassador there. We have a bargaining post in Russia, and I'm in favor of keeping it. I cannot understand how it would help the United States in the Pacific to sever relations. We would have no way of knowing anything about what's going on in Russia."

JAPANESE HOPE FOR NEW TREATY

TOKYO, Friday, Jan. 25 (AP)—The fourth day of the treaty talks between the United States and Japan was a "confidently hoped" a new commercial accord with the United States would soon be arranged to replace the expired 1911 trade agreement. The statement was made by the Japanese ambassador to the United States, who said the talks had proceeded with increasing momentum and speculation on the possibility of future economic measures on the part of the United States. The Japanese ambassador appeared determined to solve questions in China.
The statement also made relations in general would remain unbroken as a result of the treaty expansion, but that a situation in which there is no treaty was not to be desired by either nation.
Confidence was expressed among Japanese officials that the talks would lead to a new treaty with the United States. There is no intention on the part of Japan to discriminate against American goods or vessels.

FARM BUREAU PRESIDENT BACKS RECIPROCAL TRADE

LEADER STATES ADMINISTRATION PLANS AID U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (UP)—President Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau federation strongly endorsed President Roosevelt's reciprocal trade agreement program today and urged its continuance in behalf of the nation's farmers.

In a statement before the house ways and means committee, which is considering a resolution to extend the program beyond a June 12 expiration date, O'Neal said:

"The federation feels that substantial progress has already been made under the trade agreement program and, if world conditions permit, much greater progress can be made."

Administration leaders considered his testimony as "most impressive" in view of the bitter criticism leveled at the program by Republicans who charge it works a hardship on agricultural interests.

Clash on Testimony

O'Neal's testimony came after George N. Peck, former New Deal administrator but now a vigorous administration critic, clashed heatedly with Rep. John W. McCormack, R., Mass., at last night's hearing over his assertion that Secretary of State Cordell Hull and other administration leaders have advanced false premises in urging extension of the program.

"You mean to say," McCormack interjected, "that Secretary Hull was guilty of fraudulent and deceitful methods?"

"Peck began," Hull is obsessed—

Answers Own Way

"That's not what I asked," the congressman interposed.

"You ask the questions," snapped Peck, "and I'll answer it in my own way and you'll never know it."

McCormack then asked if the witness believed Mr. Roosevelt had been guilty of fraud and deceit.

He replied that "those responsible" were guilty.

"Your evasion is highly offensive," McCormack snapped, "and your testimony is highly reprehensible."

"That's your opinion," Peck shot back.

Cromwell Completes U.S. Gold-Plated Envoy Staff

Joseph Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Cromwell, Anthony Biddle.

By NEA Service

When James H. R. Cromwell was appointed minister to Canada, the United States rounded out a $200,000,000 set of gold-plated ambassadors the like of which has never been seen before on land or sea.

Cromwell, himself wealthy as the son of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, is married to the former Doris Duke, who a few years ago inherited the $30,000,000 remnants of what was once her tobacco manufacturing father's $100,000,000 fortune.

Anthony Drexel Biddle, who had such hair-raising experiences as ambassador to Poland when that country was conquered by Germany, can match him. Biddle had two very rich wives. His first was Mary B. Duke, heiress to a $100,000,000 fortune. His second inherited much of the $85,000,000 estate of her father, the late William Boyce Thompson.

The personal fortune of Joseph W. Kennedy, built up in the movies, law, and Wall Street, was estimated as high as $25,000,000 when he became the ambassador to Great Britain. And Joseph E. Davies, now retired from posts in Russia and Belgium to help out at the state department, was wealthy before he married Marjorie Post. Close Helton, whose inheritance from the breakfast-food fortune was around $20,000,000.

Comparatively poor in such glittering company is William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, whose share in the $18,000,000 fortune of his Philadelphia father must have been considerable. At least, Bullitt is known to spend around $75,000 a year on his job in France, which pays only $17,500.

Balancing this sort of financial background in the diplomatic service is the vast experience of the "career men" who make up in experience what their colleagues lack.

Thirty-two years in the diplomatic service is the average of these "career" diplomats: Joseph G. Grey (Japan; 30 years), Nelson T. Johnson (China; 21 years), John Van A. MacMurray (Turkey; 33 years), and William Phillips (Italy; 35 years).

Five men with 164 years of experience, and five more with $200,000,000! The diplomatic service has everything.

2 DIE IN CRASH OF NAVY PLANE

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 25 (UP)—Two occupants of a small scouting plane catapulted from the deck of the destroyer U. S. S. Detroit were killed in a crash landing today, navy officials announced today.

Ensign Edmund E. Severna, 25, naval reserve pilot of Pasadena, Calif., and Ensign A. Rouscher, 22, aviation mechanist mate of Hornell, N. Y., were killed in the crash about 20 miles south of here, a few miles off the coast of lower California.

Cause of the accident, which occurred during maneuvers of destroyer division 11, was not established.

CAREY

At the L. D. B. Belter society meeting Tuesday Vincent Olson had charge of the literary program and gave a review of about eight of the books in the "Les Misérables." Mrs. John Burkhardt led the discussion on "The American Poetry Thought in Our Schools."

Mrs. Roy Leto entertained Wednesday afternoon bridge club this week. Mrs. Albert Albrecht received high prize and Mrs. Albert Bluff traveled prize.

The ski lift is now in use on Picabo Hill.

Mrs. Everett Dix, who fell and injured her back two weeks ago, is much improved.

Carey Progressive Woman's club met with Mrs. James Turnbull last week with Mrs. Alf. Billingsley, vice-president, presiding. Mrs. La. Your Coates had charge of the program. She read the speech by Gov. Bolton on Idaho's golden anniversary date. This was followed by a talk by Milford Sparks as to what the Commercial club and the Woman's club accomplished at the skating rink and ski lift. Last number on the program was a tap dance by Dornie Farnsworth with Lennox Adamson at the piano. Mrs. L. Cronin and Mrs. Paul Coates were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tulloch and sons, Don and Hugh, and daughter, Mrs. Morris Newton, ladies attended the funeral of A. O. Whitaker at Twin Falls last week.

Snow-Covered Roads Force Eagle Leader to Cancel Visit

Because heavy snows prevented his reaching Twin Falls in time for a scheduled tri-city luncheon today, John A. Abel, Martin O. grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, went from Nampa to Idaho Falls by train after dispatching a message to local Eagle leaders.

The luncheon, which was to have been attended by Burley, Hatley and Twin Falls members, was cancelled. But Abel's message to William A. Daly, worthy president of the Twin Falls Eagleserie, emphasized the major goals of the organization—including the right of the workman to a steady job at a saving wage.

"Under the constitution," Mr. Abel's message said, "each one of us—rich or poor, young or old; has the right to the pursuit of happiness. Yet this right is now denied millions of American workmen. That man isn't happy who goes to bed at night wondering whether the morning will find him at his job in the factory or pounding the streets in search of work."

"An economic system that subjects such drastic ups and downs as ours is a direct violation of human rights—the right of a man to find work and pay him enough to support himself and his family in decency and comfort. Eagles believe that our economic system can be effectively safeguarded from these ups and downs. On the strength of this belief we have formulated a plan to stabilize employment."

The Eagle's plan for stabilizing business and eliminating unemployment assumes the maintenance of established intervals and these lines came into being only through accurate observations of their records.

People look up to the man who looks for this signature

When you say "Make mine Old Taylor," you immediately identify yourself as a whiskey connoisseur. For Kentucky never produced a finer bourbon than this time-honored brand, which has stood for whiskey quality for more than fifty years.

The fraternal, a pioneer in the old age pension field, has been disappointed in the turn these pensions have taken recently, declared Mr. Abel.

"Disastorous administration of the law has given rise to deplorable conditions in certain states," he said. "Absurd pension proposals are cropping up in almost every corner of the land. In judging the soundness of these proposals, we should keep in mind what the original advocates of old age pension legislation had in mind when they espoused the cause of the needy aged.

"First of all, Eagles did not intend that old age pensions should be a convenient substitute for family responsibility. Neither did we intend that pensions should destroy the incentive to save. We have always insisted that pensions be paid only to the aged who are in need."

Lewiston Council Votes Installation Of Parking Meter

Engineer William P. Hughes was authorized to draft a call for bids.

Autos Collide on Slippery Paving

Jerome, Jan. 25 (Special)—A car belonging to Willie Larsen, Jerome resident, was damaged approximately $200, as a result of an accident which occurred here at the intersection of Lincoln and Third streets Saturday night at about 11:15 a. m.

Cause of the mishap was termed due to icy pavement and occurred when a car being driven by Nick Maddish, Jerome, crashed into the middle of the Larsen car.

Larsen was traveling north on Lincoln and Maddish was proceeding west on Third street. Skid marks indicated that Maddish had attempted to stop at the sign before he entered the intersection but icy pavement caused him to skid into the Larsen machine. No one was injured. The Maddish car was damaged approximately $5, officers said.

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 25 (Special)—Elliott McDermid, music teacher in Castleford high school, and Pauline Buckley, Marian Darrow, Thelma Taylor, Wynne Ekrem, Clinton Quiley and Jim Cook, high school students, left Sunday for Logan, Utah, to compete in the intermountain music clinic.

The music clinic will last four days, with students entering from several western states in this division. The clinic band will be composed of several hundred of the best high school music students in the west.

The Castleford group had an accident at Kimberly, while on the way to Logan, but no serious damage.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pints of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels, gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel weak, sick and the world looks black.

It takes, these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel up and up. Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name, 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbly refuse anything else.

SENATE VACANCY PUTS INTEREST INTO AUGUST PRIMARIES

GOP AND DEMOS SEARCHING FOR GOOD CANDIDATE

By WILLIAM McMENAMIN
BOISE, Jan. 25 (UP)—The spotlight of national interest was thrown today on Idaho's August primary and November final elections when the state must choose a successor to the late dean of the United States senate, William E. Borah.

The election campaign will revolve about the senatorial race and competition for the post of governor. Anticipated pressure will be removed from gubernatorial election because of the unexpected senate vacancy.

Democrats look upon the senate vacancy as an opportunity to re-coup the blow to their prestige suffered in 1937 when they lost the governorship, by placing a member of their party in the senate seat.

Republican state leaders looked about for the most likely successor to Borah in their ranks. They all admitted freely no one could hope to fill the gap he left. The successor chosen by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen to hold the senate seat until after the election might well hold an advantage in the minds of the voters. This did not prove true, however, in 1938 when John Thomas of Gooding was appointed to replace Sen. Frank R. Gooding, deceased. When he ran for reelection he was defeated by Sen. James F. Pope, a Democrat.

Strong Possibility
Thomas was named as a strong possibility for the Republican nomination. Pope, now a Tennessee valley authority commissioner, since his defeat for the senate seat, had been nominated by D. Worth Clark, now Idaho's senior senator, was a prospect for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Other Democrats considered included Atty-Gen. J. W. Taylor; Secretary of State George Curtis; former Chief Clerk of Idaho Falls, Mayor E. T. Terrell, Pocatello; Ira Masters, former secretary of state; Sen. George DeLoach, Washington county; Sen. Charles Erb, Nez Perce county; State Committee Chairman B. W. Davis, Pocatello; former Gov. Barzilla Clark, former Gov. C. Ben Ross.

Republican Possibilities
Other Republicans considered included Congressman Henry Dworshak; State Sen. Don Callahan, Wallace; Thomas Heath, state senator and party state chairman; Ezra Whitla, Coeur d'Alene, national committee man; Jesse Hawley, Boise attorney; E. H. Sandport, former American Legion state commander.

Any other candidates have not been talked of extensively in the capital. From the above listed leaders must also come nominations for the post of governor. How they will be divided is the big question mark in Idaho politics.

Civic Club Plans Special Meeting

HAUSERMAN, Jan. 25 (Special)—An all-day Civic club meeting was held last week in the club rooms. Mrs. Dorothy Nell Stevens, district home demonstration agent, Boise, taught the members to make seven baskets. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon.

In the business meeting two committees were appointed. Mrs. Gus Conrad and Mrs. Jack Woodhead were put in charge of selling tickets for the dinner. The dinner which will be held at the next regular meeting of Civic club members, who are sponsoring a meat cutting demonstration Feb. 1 in the club rooms.

Dr. D. E. Brady of the University of Idaho will be the cutting and explain how to use the cheaper cuts to the best advantage in the home. Miss Marian Heyworth, Moscow, and Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, Boise, home demonstration agent, will prepare and cook the meals using lamb and veal. Dinners will be sold on three dinners at the club.

Mrs. Elias Condit and Mrs. Henry Clark were put on the advertising committee to advertise the special meeting. The public is urged to attend. Regular Civic club meeting will begin at 1 p. m., this giving the full afternoon for the meeting and demonstration.

JUST A FEW REPORTS ON WEATHER IN 1940

BY JOSEPH L. MYLER
NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (UP)—Most of the nation today is following Mark Twain's advice. The weather's the thing everybody's talking about. It. Little can be done about it, but plenty can be done with it. For instance:

LONG WAY AROUND
HAWESVILLE, Ky.—Beatrice Couch finally got to her teaching job here—but a few hours late. Beatrice lives in Cannell, Ind., just across the river, Hawesville. When she went to take the usual ferry today, a jam of river ice had caused the ferry to suspend service. So Beatrice drove 120 miles through Evansville, Ind., and Henderson, Ky., to get across the river.

WHY???
FORT WORTH, Tex.—At the peak of the unseasoned cold spell in Fort Worth last night, a burglar stole the refrigerating unit from a mechanical ice box.

CRUELTY
LONDON—George Bennett was excused from military service today because he is a real conscientious objector, even protesting against killing vegetables, cutting them raw. He says he thus absorbs the vegetable's life because they aren't killed by being cooked.

MR. ROOSEVELT REGRETS
WASHINGTON—White House Secretary Stephen Early reports President Roosevelt won't be able to attend a Lincoln's birthday Republican rally at Nashville, Ill., but is sending a check for two dinner tickets costing 25 cents each. Early thinks the Republicans are covetous, declaring they got their idea from the Democratic invitation to Republicans to attend Jackson day dinners here at $100 a plate.

BUBBLE SINGING
LOS ANGELES—The superiority of bubble writing—to the warbler—is upheld by three U.S.G. professors. One said the hard surface of the bathroom does not absorb sounds, as they are reflected with greater resonance. Another says sounds bounce more quickly from the surface of the water. The third attributes the bubble singing powers to the invigorating effect of the water—and the unsurpassing loneliness of the bathroom.

LEROY C. BOYER PAID LAST RITES

HAUSERMAN, Jan. 25 (Special)—Funeral services were held Tuesday for Leroy C. Boyer in the Legion hall with Rev. Roy Herbig, minister of the Assembly of God church, in charge.

A mixed quartet, Bill Moore, Eloise Billard, Ella Mae Fallon and Bud Christian, sang three numbers, "Old Bushy Crown," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Sometime We'll Understand," accompanied by Margaret Jean Bennett. Scripture was read by Rev. Herbig, who also read the obituary.

Leroy C. Boyer was born Feb. 12, 1885, at Kansas, Ill., and died Jan. 21 in Boise. He was married to Miss Corithia Jane Padgett. With his brother, Lee, and wife, he came to Idaho in 1900 to make their home in Hauserman valley.

To this union were born 11 children. Five predeceased him in death. They were Otto, Clarence, Ivan, Bruce and Jane. Those survive: Frank, Lone Pine, Colo.; Myrtle and Wayne, Boise; Josephine, Emmet; Ted, Grass Valley, Colo.; Florence, Hailey, and 20 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

He was an active member of the Christian church. He was the first appointed deputy sheriff in Logan, which is now a logging camp. He drove the stage from Bliss to Clear lakes from 1906 to 1910. His wife, Corithia Jane Boyer, preceded him in death Aug. 20, 1920. At this time he retired from the ranch and has been living with children in Idaho and California.

Murtaugh Council Sponsors Dinner

MURTAUGH, Jan. 25 (Special)—Approximately 60 people attended the oyster and chili supper Friday at the school dining room, given by the losing side of the Community council. The four long tables were decorated with painted plants. William Ebert returned thanks. Clark Kleinkopf was postmaster and announced the program.

Clifford Tolman led the group in singing several hymns. A chorus of seven girls sang two numbers, accompanied by Betty Jane Bassler. Doris Peterson sang a reading, Miss Aunt Cunningham conducted a question box. The questions given by Maude Kleinkopf, L. E. Turner, Clifford Tolman and Ernest Brown were on "The Betterment of the School."

L. S. Turner gave a talk on the school library and asked for books and magazines to be given to the school. Clark Kleinkopf gave a talk on the results of serving milk to the small children in the forenoon. During the seven weeks the children have gained from one to 7 1/2 pounds.

Mrs. Fay Perkins, president of the council, gave a short talk on business, and stated that last week when the health officers were here they stated that the kitchen was the outstanding one in the state of Idaho.

Beehive houses were primitive dwellings in Scotland and Ireland. They were conical and constructed of stones without mortar.

New Simile

So you think that one-armed paperhanger was busy? Regard fan dancer Marguerite, Jacksonville, Fla. Due to perform at a benefit program for needy children, she broke her left hand. But with the injured member in a sling, as seen above, she danced anyway—with one hand, one fan.

The kidneys are the body's chief waste disposal organ and should be kept clean and active. They are the body's main filter and should be kept clean and active. MIGRANTS BOOST COSTS OF RELIEF

BOISE, Jan. 25 (UP)—Dust bowl migrants, driven from their homes in the west by the specter of water shortage and choking clouds of pulverized dirt, descended on Idaho in record numbers to add to the relief burden, welfare officials said today.

Many of the transients who arrived from the mid-west found places in the rich farming areas of the state and settled down to work. But even greater numbers found only seasonal employment and have added to the relief burden.

Their nondescript hovels and unsanitary living conditions proved a menace to the health of Idaho communities. Several counties where they have concentrated reported a dangerous increase in the crime rate.

The federal government stepped in to aid the state in handling the problem through the farm security administration. Completed this week near Twin Falls was Idaho's first standard farm family labor camp, designed to provide minimum housing, sanitary and social facilities for transient farm families and for many resident Idaho families.

Utah Man Hits Wrong Car; It's Owned by Chief!

PHOENIX, Jan. 25 (Special)—Louis J. Monter, Salt Lake City resident, appeared Saturday, Jan. 20 before Probate Judge Heber N. Polkman to plead guilty to charges of assault with a dangerous weapon. Monter was accused of striking Chief of Police Thomas Harman, and then failing to stop to investigate the damage done. Monter was assessed a fine of $10 and $5.40 court costs.

On charges of passing a school bus while it was transferring passengers last Jan. 10, Frank Hohmhorst, Hazleton, was assessed a fine of $5 and court costs of $10.40 after he appeared before Probate Judge Heber N. Polkman. The complaint, charging Hohmhorst with the offense was school bus driver, Gordon Newbury, Fern. Hohmhorst pleaded not guilty to the charge, but after hearing of testimony of witnesses on both the defendant's and plaintiff's sides, Judge Polkman found Hohmhorst guilty.

MILNER DINNER
MURTAUGH, Jan. 25 (Special)—A hotel dinner was enjoyed recently at the Milner school house by members of the Sunday school with E. A. Rimbold, superintendent, in charge. Sam Biggerstaff gave a talk on "The Plan of Salvation." Several musical numbers were sung by the audience of 85 people.

Hobby Horse Riding, Sideshow Offerings Feature O.A.O. Dance

The biggest little show on earth, turned into a superb production, an entertainment triumph for the host committee arranging the County Fair dance of the O. A. O. Dancing club last evening at the Elks ballroom.

From the time the "harkers," A. S. Gilbert, Ralph Pink and John Sorenson, "upheld the show" with the circus of the midway, calling attention to the gyrations of "Little Egypt" and the bulls dancer, during the musical hour, until the band of Charles Shirley led the orchestra in such old-time favorites as "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and "Let My Cat Go Somewhere" as the crowd sang out the pace was hilariously swift.

Twin Falls Flags Pay Borah Honor

Mule testimony to the genuine loss felt by Twin Falls and Magic Valley in the death of Sen. William E. Borah, official flag hung limply at half-mast this afternoon as this whole area observed a day of mourning. Top, the flag over the casket; below, the flag in front of the courthouse.

THOUSANDS VIEW TRAIN'S ARRIVAL

BOISE, Jan. 25 (UP)—A flag-draped funeral train bearing the body of Sen. William E. Borah accompanied by a cortège of mourners headed by his wife, arrived in Boise today.

The train of seven cars pulled into the snow-covered depot at about 7:25 a. m. It was met by a military escort. The soldiers of the honor guard held the casket, and carried it to a hearse.

Police Halt Traffic The hearse, traveling slowly over packed snow on the street, and followed by several motor trucks carrying troops, forged through the crowd and rolled slowly to the capitol. Police along the route halted all traffic.

Mrs. Borah was whisked away in a large sedan together with Borah's secretary, Miss Cora Gibson, taken to the home of C. C. Anderson, a close family friend, to await the funeral at 3 p. m.

In the funeral party were John Hay, cousin of Borah, who boarded the train at Cheyenne, Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. O. Anderson, Boise, and an honor guard composed of Hqs. Gen. M. G. McConnell, Col. F. C. Humphreys, Col. B. D. Hays, Capt. Col. Vaughn, Capt. and Capt. (Class) O. Hays, military aide to Gov. C. A. Holtzosen.

The coffin was taken from the car and placed on a hearse truck. The honor guard formed about it and stood at attention along a path leading to the legislature building. The temporary pallbearers, all national guard officers, then carried it to the waiting hearse.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Jan. 25 (UP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley predicted his address before the local Chamber of Commerce last night would be interpreted as a political speech.

It was in many quarters it was regarded today as the formal opening of Farley's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

TOWNSEND MAPS PENSION CHANGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, head of the old-age pension movement, bearing his name, proposed a revised $500-a-month pension plan today to be submitted to congress soon.

His latest proposal, which would reduce the much-criticized flat two percent transaction tax with a gross income levy on persons and corporations earning $250 a month or $3,000 a year and over, was announced at a dinner he gave last night to five senators and more than 80 representatives.

The plan, like other Townsend proposals—including the one defeated by congress a year ago—proposes repeal of the social security act's old-age pension features and would provide a $200-a-month payment to all persons over 60 who were retired from their jobs.

Among those attending Townsend's dinner were Sen. Henry P. Aldrich, D., Ark.; Lynn J. Frazier, R., N. D.; Rufus C. Holman, R., Ore.; Sheridan Downey, D., Calif.; and Hugh D. Holt, D., W. Va., and Usher Heckler, R., N. D.; John Coffey, D., Wash.; Charles Lewis, D., Wash.; Wilburn Cartwright, D., Okla.; Homer Angell, R., Ore.; Martin Smith, D., Wash.; and James W. Mott, R., Ore.

It was in many quarters it was regarded today as the formal opening of Farley's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 25 (UP)—Police Magistrate W. D. Conway who offered to perform long year marriages free on Feb. 29 got an early ring today. "It'll be the last ring I ever give," he said.

He received a letter from Evelyn F. McKelitt, Upper Sandusky, O., who proposed to Conway, a bachelor, in approved long-year terms.

"Who knows what may come of it?" Conway wrote.

Conway answered that one sum— "Present but not future."

PLOT REVEALED ON U. S. ENVOY

BIANCHI, Jan. 25 (UP)—A Japanese diplomat's spokesman said today expeditionary precautions had been taken to assure the safety of United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson because of an alleged assassination plot.

TRIBUTE PRAISES SENATOR BORAH

(From Page One) "He had the understanding of great intelligence, cultivated by wide reading and enlightened by deep human sympathy. He had the ability to translate his thoughts into speeches of power and beauty."

"Senator Borah had a deep understanding knowledge of governmental and foreign affairs. Unquestionably he has been the greatest defender of the constitution of the United States since the days of the men who framed it. Now that he has gone we feel lost; we feel we have lost our leader."

Before his election to the senatorship, Mr. Borah gained prominence for his part in the prosecution of Haywood, Pettibone and Orchard for the assassination of Governor Steunenberg in 1902. His address to the jury in that case is one of the finest of literary masterpieces. It is included among the great orations of American history.

"In the days preceding the entry of this nation in the World War, Senator Borah's voice was raised against our participation in a conflict which would settle nothing but would cast this nation and the world into sorrow and delirium."

"The passing of the years has not dimmed his courage in the senate to champion the cause of the prosecution of a cause of you who read his address against repeal of the neutrality law save in a re-statement of his address on the floor of the senate 25 years ago."

Loved Nature "As a man he loved nature, the woods, the mountains and the sea. He was devoted to his wife, Mamie McConnell Borah, the pioneer daughter of William J. McConnell, Idaho's first United States senator. He loved his associates, his comrades, his people."

In closing this tribute to our heads to the west as a gesture of gratitude and respect for that great man who is now being borne to his grave in California, we bid a wave of our hands we say to you—"Old friend, goodbye!"

In Memory of SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH of Idaho Everlasting life evolves from the bourne Of sombre death. Though vital shell be worn In bending at hard tasks from year to year. Memory enshrines the virtue of a brave career. Within the ailes of Time none is so great As him who dwells within that font estate Of remembrance. Born when shone the sun of Fate. He humbly grew exalted, and all the world could see Fulfillment of Time's pledge of Destiny. Eulogy could express, chant loyally invoke Of worthiness that was all his own. Words but mildly could impart A tribute to that soulful heart. That stairway front, that wealth of mind. Which left no duty undefined. Dwell his life beloved of fellowmen, Unblemished purpose a cycle of his time, and then When his widowed all the world had thrilled, Destiny called, his wondrous voice was still: But, in the mystic of Life's unfolding dawn, His days will live—his work go on and on.

PROPOSAL SEEKS BORAH MEMORIAL

BOISE, Jan. 25 (UP)—Proposals for a Borah memorial fund and erection of a Borah memorial auditorium in Boise were announced today by the office of Gov. C. A. Bottolfo.

L. A. Price, Jamestown, N. Y., and an anonymous donor from New York, started the Borah memorial fund with contributions received today by the governor.

M. W. Metzlan, Moscow, architect, offered to donate his services for the erection of a W. E. Borah memorial auditorium to be used as a forum for public discussion and a place for meetings of the Borah foundation speakers.

ADDRESS

BOISE, Jan. 25 (UP)—A letter addressed only with a diagram of the street and house drawn in purple on the front of the envelope, was received recently at its correct address by J. S. St. Clair.

The letter was from D. A. Peterson, a man who met St. Clair when he hitch-hiked through Boise two years ago on his way to his home in Broxton, Ga.

BORAH MEMORIAL HELD AT MOSCOW

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Jan. 25 (Special)—The University of Idaho paid tribute to William E. Borah Sunday afternoon in memorial service held in the university auditorium.

The career of the late senator was reviewed briefly by Claudius O. Johnson, Washington State college professor, author of "Borah of Idaho," the best known biography of the distinguished Idahoan.

Other speakers included President Harrison C. Dale, of the University; Curtis A. Hagan, personal friend of Borah's for over 50 years; and Judge W. F. McNaughton, member of the board of regents.

"Borah has long been a friend of the university," said President Dale, "ever since he addressed the first graduating class in 1886 up until the present."

The services were broadcast over radio station KPXY in Spokane.

HOUSE APPROVES FUNDS FOR DIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (UP)—The house today voted $75,000 by unanimous consent to continue the Dies investigation of un-American activities during 1940.

The house called on executive departments and agencies to aid the committee in its work. Chairman Martin Dies has repeatedly complained of lack of cooperation by other branches of the government, especially the department of justice.

The house action came as Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes called on Dies to resign as chairman of the committee, charging the Texan had made a "travesty" of the investigation and was employing it for his own political aggrandizement.

FRESHMAN

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 25 (UP)—The editors of Paragon, Wichita university's student yearbook, made an exception to the rules today so the picture of Molly, a dog, could appear among those of the freshman class.

Clesta Blakeziez of Leon told the editors: "Molly's always with me. If Molly's picture isn't in, mine won't be."

Molly is blind Miss Blakeziez's seeing-eye dog.

Utah Pays Tribute To Late Sen. Borah

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 25 (Special)—A tribute by the state of Utah to the late Sen. William E. Borah will be paid tonight in a program released through the facilities of radio station KSL from 10:30 to 11 p. m.

Gov. Henry H. Blood of Utah and Gov. H. H. Wood of Utah and Rep. J. Glad, associated with Borah's Republican campaigns, will deliver the tributes. The special memorial program will include an outline of the highlights of the senator's career.

HOSIERY UNIONS WOULD BACK FOR

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25 (UP)—Two leaders of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers union began a draft-Roosevelt movement today, despite a prediction by President John L. Lewis of the CIO that a third-term campaign would end in ignominious defeat.

Joseph P. Kline, vice-president of branch 1 of the union, a CIO affiliate, sent an open letter to 500 members urging them, however affiliated, to forget differences and join in a united front behind Mr. Roosevelt.

HAMMERIN' HENRY SLAUGHTERS MONTANEZ

Here's Action in Kimberly-Jerome Fistic Battle

There was action aplenty in the squared circle at Kimberly last night as battlers from Jerome attempted to duplicate a feat they performed last year by downing the Bulldog fighters. However, they didn't fare so well and here you see some of the reasons. At top, en route to the canvas, is V. King of Jerome, who was the victim of a second round technical K. O. from the hands of Frankie Stanger, 116-pound bulldog sensation. In lower left are Keith Shewmaker of Kimberly and Bill Barnes of Jerome mixing it up. This bout ended in a technical K. O. for Shewmaker and this photo shows why—Keith landing a right to the solar plexus and Bill missing a swing at the head. At right we have what looks like one of those "wait a minute again Willie" photos, but in actuality it's a knockout blow being delivered by Richard Quesnell, Kimberly, in the first round of his fight with Vaughn Hudspeth of Jerome. It wasn't a clean-out K. O., but Hudspeth was so such had shape that the fight was stopped. Note his relaxed muscles, arm hanging down, compared with winner Quesnell's tense legs and arms. 1,000 Flock to Kimberly to See Tiger-Bulldog Fights

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

KIMBERLY, Jan. 26 (Special) This village today was definitely the fight center for Twin Falls and surrounding territory after an 11-hour card here last night attracted nearly 1,000 customers into the high school gymnasium for a Kimberly-Jerome boxing match.

Jammed to the rafters, the small gymnasium was full of boxing fans who didn't care particularly which team won, just so there was lots of action—and that's exactly what they got.

On the statistical side, the Bulldog won eight matches in three for the invading Jerome Tigers, as coached by John Robertson of Jerome. Of the 11 matches, six ended in technical knock-outs when the coaches threw in the towel to halt further punishment to their men. Of these, Jerome scored two and Kimberly got four.

Few Knock-Downs

There were few knock-downs during the card as the youngsters waded in with the heavily padded gloves—following the new rules set by the state athletic commission. However, the rule barring cheering during the rounds was disregarded as the yelling became so intense at times that the bell could not be heard at the end of the round.

Some of the evening's action of the final bout in which Frankie Stanger, Kimberly, scored technical knockout over V. King, Jerome, in second round; 116 pounds.

Willbur Butler, Kimberly, won decision over Holloway, Jerome, 125 pounds.

Richard Cole, Jerome, defeated Richard Wheeler, Kimberly, 140 pounds.

Gilbert Hall, Jerome, scored technical knockout in first round over Ray Butler, Kimberly, 133 pounds.

Rogues Morgan, Kimberly, scored a technical knockout in second round over Bill Barnes, Jerome, 125 pounds.

Keith Shewmaker, Kimberly, scored technical knockout in second round over Morris Swanton, 121 pounds.

Wayne Kirby, Kimberly, defeated Clarence Bishop, Jerome, 150 pounds.

The spectators loved the decision favoring Kirby, but the Times sports editor gave all three rounds to Kirby. The two judges and referee all voted for Kirby. The Holloway-Butler bout was a split decision after with Judge Ted Wexler of Twin Falls voting for Holloway and Judge Owen Watson of Boise and Referee Bud Travis favoring Butler.

Welterweight Title Holder Scores K. O. in 9th Round

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (UP)—Hoist the storm warnings, for Hurricane Henry is blowing death and disaster again. Hammerin' Henry Armstrong, a human gale of flying fists, retained his world welterweight championship last night when the storm finally passed by Madison Square Garden and men crept to pick up the pieces they found a broken, bleeding fighter—Pedro Montanez.

He had shaken his fist at the lightning and the hurricane had wrecked him.

For 24 minutes and 47 seconds Montanez stood up against Hurricane Henry. Punches landed on him from the right, from the left, from above, from below and from somewhere over the rainbow. They stung him, they dazed him and, worst of all, they cut him until the right side of his face was a red smear and the blood that he blinked out of his eye rolled to his shoulder and on down to his wrist.

After 27 seconds of the ninth round Referee Billy Cavanaugh commanded the hurricane to stand still and Montanez dropped helplessly on the stool in his corner, eyes glassed over and legs turned to rubber.

50 Pounds of Heart

Montanez weighs 14½ pounds, but at least 50 of it must be heart. Maybe some other fan has made a name stand in Madison Square Garden than Pedro made in the fourth round last night, but if so this deputy was not among those fortunate enough to see it.

In those brief three minutes in which he hardly threw a punch, Montanez rammed down the throats of everybody the shy rumor that he is what the leather slingers call a "greaser"—a guy with no guts. The hurricane was roaring and ripping and early in the round Armstrong drove Montanez to the ropes. A jolting left knocked Montanez's head east and a right sent it back west. Then the hurricane really struck—rights and lefts bounced off Montanez's head and slowly, with a kind of sick look on his face, he went down into the ropes.

Stands and Takes It

He was too far gone to have sense enough to take a count of nine and rest. His fighting heart told him to get up and up he came, unable to lift his arms. So he just stood there and took it for a minute and 50 seconds. Armstrong's right hit smashed into his chin and he staggered again. The left landed like a trip hammer on the right side of Montanez's face and sent the blood up in a crimson fountain.

Down Montanez went again in a tangle of ropes and rain. For two, three, four, five, six seconds he pawed helplessly at the canvas with his gloves and then, as 19,157 witnesses are prepared to swear, he got up again.

The hurricane blew again. Montanez, unable to get his arms up to punch or defend himself, just clamped his teeth tight down on his rubber mouthpiece and took it until the bell rang. Armstrong's right hit bloody, uncertain way across the ring to his corner the wild roar of

Skiers Discuss Plans for Game Ends When Rival Centers Get Too Eager

With discussion centering around development of an area up Rock creek as both a winter and summer playground, establishment of a ski library and the study of first aid information, members of the Twin Falls Ski club met last night at the Rogerson hotel.

Approximately 35 persons attended the session at which it was decided meetings would be held once each week. Date for next week's gathering will be announced through the press, it was explained.

Ross Present

Principal speaker during last night's meeting was Forest Ranger Elmer C. Ross who told of the possibilities of development in the Rock creek area, 40 miles from Twin Falls. He also discussed various phases of the forest work, dealing especially with skiing.

Development of the area as a winter playground would include installation of a ski lift at a particular point which would be suitable to all concerned.

On Committee

During the evening Dick Heppner and Gene Shirley were named as members of a committee to check on possibilities of a ski library; Ed Turner, Dr. Frank McAtee and Bud Kilmes were named to study procurement of films which would aid in ski instruction; and Bob Goodnight was named to head a committee which would gather first aid information and study the best methods of passing such information on to other members of the organization.

Regional cooperation was stressed in development of the area for winter use. Outlets which now stand in the way of the program were also discussed.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 25—Opposing centers for St. Lucy's and St. Vincent's high school leaped high to capture a rebound under the mesh. Both caught their hands in the net, ripping the entire basket away from the backboard. The game was ended right there and a replay scheduled.

Joe DiMaggio Satisfied With Contract

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25 (UP)—Joe DiMaggio today received his contract from the New York Yankees and said the offer was "not far from my expectations."

He would not divulge the figure but he had hinted that on the basis of last year's record he expected a raise above the $27,500 he received in 1939. Experts close to Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager, believed DiMaggio's 1940 contract was for between $30,000 and $32,500.

He batted .381 last year and was voted "the most valuable player." He indicated today he expected no difficulty in coming to terms with the Yankee management.

Nampa Will Bring Scrappy Cage Quint Here Friday

Twin Falls Bruins get their first intersectional test of the year on Friday night when they tangle on the local floor with the invading Nampa Bulldogs.

Coch John Flatt's quintet, showing improved form in every game, is now nearing the condition that was expected earlier in the year and the Nampa contest is expected to be in the nature of a test that may decide just how far the Bruins can be expected to go this year.

Star Bulldog

Coch Harold White of the Bulldogs, whose gridiron club lost to Hank Powers' team in the championship game at the end of the football season, brings a fine bunch of athletes to the local floor. The team has a good record so far this year, including a 27-11 victory over Boise in the win column.

However, on a road trip this week, the team got bumped at Pocatello in red-hot game by a score of 20-19. The team is scheduled to play at Idaho Falls tonight.

From the gridiron squad, White has such players on the team as Christenson, DeCoursey, Abbott and Simmons. The first string center is Howard Clark—tallest man on the squad at 6 feet, 11 inches—holding down one of the forward berths is Reid Faylor, a sophomore, who leads as one of the brightest stars of the future for the Stampus. He scored nine points against Boise.

The Bulldogs are going to be handicapped in height when they face the Bruins if all the men are under 5 feet, 11 inches. Bill Folsom, Bryce Evans, Ira Cartney and George Dawson are all near the six-foot mark or better on the Bruin first team and Chuck Thomas isn't much shorter. Folsom is six-three, and Dick Randall, reserve center, is six feet, five and one-half.

Gooding Quint Trips Redskins

GOODING, Jan. 25 (Special)—Gooding Jayces, handed another defeat to the invading Snake River Redskins here last night by annexing a 26-22 victory over the invaders. The game was hard-fought and closely guarded all the way through with the Redskins ahead 11-11 at the half.

In the second half the home club started to click and held Shoshone to seven points in the last 20 minutes of play.

Gooding honors for the evening went to Ward Judewine, Gooding guard, who collected 10 points. Bob Haddock topped the losers with nine.

Gooding—Johnson (6) and Bohlman (3), forwards; Prince (2), center; Judewine (10) and Vaughn (9), guards; substitutions—Palmer (4), Shoshone—Haddock (9) and Crowther (3), forwards; Thomason (2), center; Smith (2), guard; substitutions—Chess and Bishop.

Elks Defeat Sport Shop

BURLEY, Jan. 25 (Special)—Hurling toward their first Snake Valley Outlaw league pennant, the Burley Elks last night trounced the Burley Sport Shop by a comfortable count of 45-20 in a regulation league contest.

The Elks were in front all the way and at wide 24-5 advantage at the intermission.

Scoring honors went to Marquess with 12 and Anderson with 11 for the winners while Fremsted led the Sport Shop with six.

Action by Landis Blamed for Yanks Quitting Chiefs

WENATHEE, Wash., Jan. 25 (UP)—Judge K. M. Landis, czar of organized baseball, today was held responsible for the quitting of the controlling interest in the Wenatchee Chiefs baseball club and the likely cancellation of a working agreement with the New York Yankees and the Chiefs.

Predicting the sale and cancellation of the present franchise, Charles Chubb said both would result from Judge Landis' recent "crackdown" on baseball farms.

The Chiefs won the Western International league pennant last year.

Drake Track Coach Goes to Stanford

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 25 (UP)—FRANK PHIPPS, who coached for 12 years track coach at Drake university, will become head track coach at Stanford university next fall, it was announced today.

The Stanford athletic control board said Johnson had signed a five-year contract.

Bill Ellington had served as acting coach after resignation of Robert L. (Dink) Tompkins last fall.

Fighter Scores K. O. in 13 Seconds

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 25 (UP)—Law Jenkins, the hero of Sweetwater, Tex., who is a leading contender for Lou Ambers' world lightweight title, scored one of the quickest knockouts on record last night to average a loss he suffered a year ago to Chino Alvarez of Cuba.

Two punches one to the body and one to the head—put Chino on the canvas in the three second round of the fight. Jenkins then administered 10-rounders, and Chino didn't wake up until his seconds slung water over him with a bucket of ice water.

Firestone and Elks Swamp Rival Keglers

Firestone bowlers took two out of three from Perrine Hotel and the Elks knocked away Schilz's fourth row in the City and Commercial league bowling last evening.

High honors for the Firestone crew went to Al Fillmore with a 500 total, but top single went to Ray King with a 222 his last game. For the losers, Jimmie Mullins was the only man over 500—he had 515 his single of 214 was also tops.

Commercial loop-play was led by J. Ford of the Elks, who rolled a 507 series. George Hof had the top single of 302. For the losing club, W. Bertach got a 233 to annex top honors, while Corby Carlson's 188 last game was top single.

STRIKES to SPARE with Fred Stone

The Firestone club likes that free bowling it had this week so it looks like there might be a repeat again next week. The team was twice out of four from Perrine Hotel and the pin total was 2,512.

Al Fillmore, with 550, was tops, but Ray King crowded him right along with 547. Ray's top single was 222, which looks like the weekly prize for this week.

Jimmie Mullins, with 512, led the hotel crew—the only 500 bowler for that team. Jim's 214 middle game was also their best. Quint Switzer got a 202.

No open season on the Elks in the Commercial league.

The Elks took everything in a night from Schilz. High three games, high single game, all four points—in fact, everything.

High honors went to John Ford of the Elks with 507. Bill Towan was right after him with 539. George Hof had the high single by beating out John Ford by one pin—202 to 201. Hugh Boone got an even 500. Orv Coleman didn't get nearly as many as the others.

Starting lineup of the Elks against W. S. C. would be composed of Hurlis and Ramey, forwards; Rook Hillis, center; Chick Atkinson and either Kenneth Lynn, Bill English or Irving Hopkins at the guard posts.

Lynn, a sophomore from Algona, Ia., has improved all season, and English, a senior from Wallace, was rated on a par with the regular Vandal guards.

The Vandals dropped two straight to the Oregon elite Beavers, leaders of the northern division, Pacific Coast conference, last week-end, by scores of 40 to 28 and 20 to 18. They put up a strong fight in the second encounter and showed marked improvement.

Seven Netbacks. The defeat totaled seven conference setbacks for the Vandals and buried them deeper in the division cellar.

Irving Hopkins, Pocatello, usually a find, may be used at a forward berth during the remainder of the season. Twogot indicated. The Idaho coach was forced to admit the betterman guard following the Washington State game on Jan. 19, when Merlyn Anderson, Ada, Minn., outplayed a broken wrist.

Anderson suffered the injury in a head-on collision with a Cougar player.

Harris, a star forward from Idaho Falls, still was bothered with an injured knee. He bumped it in practice drill and aggravated the trouble. The injury was suffered in football. Injuries out the Vandal squad to 10 players.
