HOUSE COMMITTEE MAKES HUGE SLASH IN FARM AID MONEY

DRIVE TO BOOST FUNDS WILL BE MADE ON FLOOR

By FRANK McNAUGHTON WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (U.P.)—The house appropriations committee today approved an unprecedented slash in farm aid funds in the face of a declaration by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace that the economy drought imperils agricultural well-being.

When the committee got through, the agriculture bill for 1941 amounted to barely half of 1940's for the same appropriation.

A strong drive in both the house and senate to vote additional farm funds was certain today.

The measure called for $669,390,256 for the fiscal year starting next July 1—a reduction of $611,841,659 below the current year's $1,281,231,915.

When the committee got through, the agriculture bill for 1941 amounted to barely half of 1940's for the same appropriation.

The committee brought savings in five supply bills placed before congress so far this year to $277,000,000—more than half the $460,000,000 the economy advocates are trying to chop from the budget so as to avoid action on Mr. Roosevelt's request for new taxes.

Among the bills... 1. Contained no funds for farm party payments despite Wallace's recommendations of $100,000.

2. Made no provision for Wallace's separate plan for financing farm benefits.

3. Carried no funds for the disposal of surplus commodities.

4. Provided no funds for operation of the sugar act.

5. Carried no funds for the disposal of surplus commodities.

THOUSANDS DANCE AT PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY FETES

STARS OF FILMS AT CAPITAL FOR SPECIAL EVENTS

By T. F. REYNOLDS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (S.P.)—President Roosevelt observed his 68th birthday today while the nation celebrated the anniversary with a series of birthday balls to raise funds for the fight against infantile paralysis.

Hundreds of thousands will dance at birthday balls tonight in virtually every major city, while other birthday balls have already been held.

Nearly seven years after he entered the White House on March 4, 1933, Mr. Roosevelt showed few physical signs of the pressure of the "toughest job in the world." His hair is grayer and thinner than it was at his first inauguration, and the lines of his face are deeper. But Dr. Ross McIntire, White House physician, said the president was in superb physical condition.

IDAHO HIGHWAYS RELATIVELY SAFE

The pedestrian is safer in Idaho than in many other states of the union, local police officials pointed out here this afternoon.

The announcement was made after "facts and figures" had been received by the local department from Harry M. Rayner, commissioner of law enforcement, Boise.

During 1938, for the whole country, 35 per cent of all traffic fatalities were pedestrians; in Idaho, 22 per cent. In 1939 Idaho's figures were reduced to 18 per cent. Last year there were 182 fatalities, 29 of them pedestrians.

The pedestrian was in greater danger during winter months, especially in rainy weather it is difficult for the motorist to see anyone walking on the road, especially if no white clothing is shown.

Children know the rules for safe walking and generally observe them. Local police point out, but adults are careless or ignorant. This is especially true in urban centers, at the edge of town.

Seventy-five per cent of Idaho's pedestrian traffic deaths occurred on the highway, in 1939.

During 1939, the pedestrian killed in Idaho ranged in age from four years to 85 years or over. It was shown that 71 per cent of the pedestrians killed were over 65 years of age while only five per cent were from 15 to 24 years.

Auto Plunges 20 Feet—Five Riders Unhurt

Five persons plunged down a 20-foot embankment in an overturning motor car—and not one received a scratch.

That was the untoward report made today by Lieut. A. E. (Perk) Perkins, state police officer, after investigation of an early-morning Sunday wreck 12 miles northwest of Burli near the Salmon river bridge.

Mrs. Emma Celaya, Castleton, was driver of the machine. She told Lieut. Perkins that lights from an oncoming auto blinded her. As the driver lost control, the sedan swerved off the road, over the adjoining embankment, once and a half times and ended up on its side.

The five occupants climbed out, shaken but unhurt.

They were taken to the hospital, owned by Felix Celaya, totalled about $200.

The occupants were returning at 2:10 a. m. Sunday from the Masque dance at Hagerman.

"Very lucky to have caught you," Dan said, plucking Marie through the burrowing along 67th Street. When he met her at Varner's trade entrance he had automatically taken her arm and turned east.

"But I don't understand," she objected, as soon as she could get a word in. "I'm going home."

"No, you're not," he said. "You're coming with me to Larsen's for a cocktail."

"You're coming with me to Larsen's for a cocktail?" she asked, looking at him with wide eyes. "I don't want to go to Larsen's for a cocktail."

Washington, Jan. 30 — Sen. Gerald Nye of North Dakota probably will get the foreign relations portfolio in the senate. ANSWER TO What Is a Wife?

MURTAUGH

A party was held in the school play room last week by the sixth grade hobby club with their teacher, Miss Mona Ballew. Clark Kinkaid acted as emcee. After games and refreshments, the group attended the movie.

Mrs. Stanley Merrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Hoover, who was operated on for gall bladder at the L. D. S. hospital in Salt Lake City Saturday morning, is reported in fair condition. Her husband, Stanley Merrill, sister, Mrs. Howard Haywood, Yakima, Wash., and her mother were with her at the time of the operation.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Biel, members of the Adult Bible class of the Community Church, a social gathering was held for the class study and organization. Officers elected were Mrs. J. R. Boylston, president; C. A. Benar, vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence Biel, secretary-treasurer. The class will meet twice a month for study.

Economics or Government?

A contributor to the Public Forum has requested that this newspaper comment on the theories of Dr. Frank Bohn, widely traveled economist, who recently addressed the Town Hall organization in Twin Falls.

The contributor disagrees with Dr. Bohn's theory that the farmers' problems may be solved by state sponsored cooperatives, and questions the feasibility of the economist's recommendation that congestion in the cities be relieved by moving people onto farms divided into 10-acre tracts.

With large surpluses of farm commodities already clogging the markets, this contributor cannot understand how state-owned cooperatives could dispose of the additional surpluses that would result from additional hundreds of thousands of city residents becoming productive farmers.

Economics is a tricky factor, one that is seldom analyzed satisfactorily by the economists themselves. But even the lay mind, if sufficiently discerning, can sense in such theories as Dr. Bohn's, a deeper significance than economics itself. Such theories extend beyond the ordinary realm of "supply and demand" and dip into the very fundamentals of government.

Our American form of government was conceived as a democracy in which all individuals would have an opportunity to exercise their ability and initiative. That such a principle has its merits is best borne out by the fact that the United States maintains the highest standard of living in the world and has demonstrated progress that no other country can match.

In recent years that principle has been undermined to a certain extent. The government has usurped powers not entirely in keeping with our type of democracy, and this disarrangement of our governmental machinery has naturally had its effect upon American economics.

If we are to adhere to this fundamental principle of Americanism, then it is questionable whether we should permit any portion of our people to be regimented under either direct or indirect government control. We cannot deny that such theories as those proposed by Dr. Bohn call for bringing the government still further into the picture. And as those theories become actual practice, we cannot help but ask ourselves the question: Is ours strictly a government by the people, or are the people becoming more dependent upon government?

Generally speaking, there are only two kinds of government, one in which the people are in control and can live pretty much to suit themselves; the other in which the government is in control and makes its people bow to its bidding.

Obviously, each has its own set of economic laws. Under a democracy, the people maintain their government through the fruits of their voluntary efforts. Under totalitarian rule, the government maintains itself with the labors and revenues it demands and exacts from its people.

The best answer to some of these theories might be the question: Are we talking about economics or different types of government?

We have seen how some of these theories work when put into practice in other countries, and we know what underlies many of such theories. If that's what we want, we're not talking about what we have known as American economics.

Fighting an Old Taboo

Syphilis is still talked about in whispers. Because it was taboo for so long, the word still sounds slightly indecent. And because of the evil connotation that has grown around the disease itself, medical men are still hampered in their efforts to combat it.

No one knows clearly how many persons may be infected. The spread of compulsory tests as a preliminary to issuance of marriage licenses has aided the fight against this disease a little. Most recent estimate, reported by the American Social Hygiene Association, Inc., indicates 5 per cent of the population in this country is affected.

Other estimates have varied from 1 1/2 to 10 per cent. None can be considered accurate. There is no conclusive way of arriving at a figure. At least not until victims are less reluctant to submit to treatment. And until people, unaware that they may have the disease, permit examinations.

To prevent the dangerous later stages, most people, whether they believe they are infected or not, would do well to visit a doctor. There need be nothing more disgraceful about getting treated for syphilis than for diphtheria or measles.

A chiropractor advises housewives to pile up their dishes and do them all at one time. We know—when the old man gets home from the office.

Answer to What Is a Wife?

Dear Third Row:
Taking up the second of the two important matters I told you I have finally reduced to simple terms, although wise men through the ages haven't been able to do it, we come to: What is a wife?

My explanation of a husband, I am glad, is now under consideration by the Pulitzer prize committee. But I can't help but offer you my services only for the good of mankind.

A wife is the other portion of the married couple. She is the other half. Because she has the majority vote except in matters peculiarly constituted for decision by the husband.

Nobody has yet discovered such matters.

Every husband should have a wife. She helps keep him on the straight and narrow path in this life.

My explanation of a husband, I am glad, is now under consideration by the Pulitzer prize committee. But I can't help but offer you my services only for the good of mankind.

HISTORY OF Twin Falls City & County

The Family You May Not Know That—

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Among children and young people in this country, rheumatic infection is chiefly responsible for heart disease. Figures show that a greater number of clinics indicate that 10 per cent of heart disease cases in this age group can be traced to rheumatic infection.

Another 10 per cent is due to a variety of miscellaneous causes. This means that fully 80 per cent of the cases in childhood and adolescence is related to rheumatic infection. Deaths from rheumatic infection are not uncommon, especially in children under five years of age, and such deaths are not here considered.

Deaths due to rheumatic infection of the heart have tended to decline in recent years. It is interesting also to observe that the incidence is now higher in the middle Atlantic and in some of the north central states than in New England, states in the south, and the states of New York, Colorado, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Maryland. This is the probable reason why there is a puzzle for the epidemiologist. We have always believed that rheumatic heart disease occurs most frequently in cold, damp climates and at low altitude, whereas Utah is not especially cold, or damp or low.

Situations like that in Utah indicate how much more research is needed before medicine can attack effectively the problem of rheumatic heart disease. Actually, we do not know the cause of rheumatic heart disease or of rheumatic fever. The disease is not presently controllable by any of the new drugs of the sulfonamide type, but it can be treated by penicillin, which is used in the treatment of rheumatic fever.

Nowadays it is possible to diagnose the disease earlier and with greater certainty than in the past. That means it is possible to set the patient to rest quicker which helps to save a few more lives.

Experts, like G. F. Hedley, of the U. S. public health service, have not been able to say with any certainty whether there has been a decline in the death rate from rheumatic heart disease among young people. They suggest that the disease may be getting milder, but that it is better, that widespread removal of tonsils during the last 20 years may have helped the disease. The cause of the preceding one, and that one changing idea may have had something to do with it.

Planners which low tide advertising banner did it likewise to make a quick retreat in order to get the tide back in. The banner is laid in front of the plans in a position to suddenly be whisked off the ground when the tide leaves the field.

Twin Falls Garden Club Offers Proposal to Sponsor Library Planting

This is the way the front of the Twin Falls public library building will appear. If the library board accepts the proposed landscaping plan which the Twin Falls Garden club will submit to it at its next regular session, broad-leaved evergreen and conifer planting predominates in the proposed landscaping arrangement planned by members of the recently organized club, in cooperation with W. E. Hawley, landscaping architect. The community will be invited to have a part in the financing of the project, and an excellent opportunity will be afforded groups that might be interested in planting memorials to outstanding leaders. Mrs. F. R. Lawson is president of the club. Miss Jean Fraser, of the library staff, has been invited to attend sessions of the group when the preliminary outlining was being done.

Satisfactory Sum Raised for Fund by Women's Club

The President's birthday card party, sponsored by the Twin Falls county Democratic Women's Study club, last evening at the Elks hall, was a gratifying success, between 40 and 50 tables having been sold, the sponsor group reported today. Proceeds go to the infantile paralysis fund.

Taking the part of "Gramps," who was finally convinced of the effectiveness of school today, was Don Martyn. Introducing the group of speakers was Mrs. G. W. Goss, an exponent of the club, who sketched the work of the different departments.

English Department
First speaker was Jim Powell, representing the English department. He stated that Idaho ranks fourth in literacy in the United States and that only one-fourth of the persons were illiterate, in a talk in which he described English as the most used and the most abused part of our lives. Don Martyn and George Garter, O. C. F. not and Mrs. William Baker, the concert prize.

All-out prize went to Mrs. Jack Leander and the door prize to George Carter.

Public Invited to Join Garden Club in Landscaping Library

The Twin Falls Garden club, one of the most energetic of the newer organizations in the city, will sponsor the landscaping of the Twin Falls public library grounds, Mrs. F. R. Lawson, president, announced today.

Proposed architectural plan of landscaping, as formulated by members of the club, in cooperation with W. E. Hawley, landscape architect, will be presented to the library board for consideration at its next meeting.

After weeks of careful study and planning, the group has determined that this public enterprise, which will enhance the appearance of one of the city's proudest possessions.

Color contrast
Broad-leaved evergreen and conifer planting predominates in the proposed landscaping plan, with berry-bearing pyracantha, trained up on either side of the central doorway as the chief point of interest.

Pyracantha grows to an ultimate height of 15 to 20 feet and is loaded with red-orange berries throughout the fall and winter months.

Blue-green, gray-green and yellow-green evergreens have been selected as border materials, with plantings of red and purple to mingle, forming an ideal contrast to the bright color of the fall and winter months.

The architectural design, in addition to arbor vitae and evergreen, calls for barberry, Pfitzer juniper and a featured specimen, such as Daphne coronata, a broad-leaved evergreen, bearing clusters of sweet-scented flowers in the spring; also retinosis and Waukegan juniper.

The border planting would extend in gentle curves from the steps to the corner of the front of the edifice.

Awail Board's Decision
If the library board approves the landscaping plan, arrangements will be made at once to proceed with the project. Nurseries will be asked to submit bids, and planting will begin as soon as the season permits.

C. Claude Stewart, city parks superintendent, will supervise the actual planting of the grounds.

Throughout the preliminary outlining of the project, Miss Jessie Brown, secretary, has been invited to "sit in" on the various sessions of the club.

"The Garden club wants to do this job well, and is depending on the cooperation of all citizens or individuals to carry it through," Mrs. Lawson said today.

Present landscaping plan considers only the front of the grounds, but the Garden club hopes later to have an accent on the Fifth avenue side, which a Colorado blue spruce, 10 to 12 feet high, would be planted in the front corner of 531st avenue, using either conifers or Koster's.

Memorials Suggested
Money received in the flower arrangement class last fall, under the sponsorship of the Garden club, will be appropriated to the purchase of appropriate plantings. However, the total cost of planting exceeds the money the group now has available.

An excellent opportunity will be afforded groups that might be interested in planting memorials to outstanding leaders. Mrs. F. R. Lawson is president of the club. Miss Jean Fraser, of the library staff, has been invited to attend sessions of the group when the preliminary outlining was being done.

Decorator Tells How to Balance Home Interiors

Balance is the most important factor in arranging or remodeling a room, Mrs. Milton Powell told members of the Milong-Gly club last evening when she addressed the group on "Upfit in the Home."

The session took place at the home of E. L. Rayburn, with Miss Jean Gilmour, hostess, and Mrs. Kathryn Goff presided at the business session.

Conventionally and simply are the two qualities which tend to add to the length of a room or increase the good taste in decorations, Mrs. Powell emphasized.

She told of interesting ways to remodel furniture; the proper way to hang pictures, and stressed the importance of color and correct contrast.

Plans were completed for the Colonial banquet in honor of the girls mothers, to be held Feb. 22 at the Rogerson hotel banquet room.

The club voted to contribute to the Finnish relief fund.

Mrs. Emma Clouet, club sponsor, was present.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

MACK BUYS 'COY AND PLANS PENNANT BID

Athletics Put Out $45,000 2-Year Contract to Youth

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Even at 77 a pennant can still beckon a long, lean old gentleman in a blue serge suit and a hard collar hiding weary-bent wrinkles.

That's why Connie Mack, one-time winner of the Bok prize, outbid nine other major league clubs for Benny McCoy, prize of the 91 baseball slaves freed by Commissioner K. M. Landis. Mr. Mack traded for wants to build one more pennant-winner and even the "Old Judge" couldn't sidetrack him.

Signs With A's

McCoy and counter-bids were met and topped until the zero hour arrived and even the others who second McCoy in his bid for his future would best be served by signing with the grand old man.

Signs Near Goal

With the year, installing McCoy to play second base, the Athletics have made one step toward the shimmering goal Mr. Mack seeks in the quest of his life. McCoy can hit and he can knit together an infield that creaked around the key-stone Mack long league club—the Reds, Dodgers and Pirates—went the limit for McCoy but they would not go as far in each of promises as Mr. Mack. They all had their chances but $45,000 and a two-year contract at $10,000 was too much for them.

Heart Set on Pennant

But it wasn't too much for Mr. Mack who has his heart set on another pennant even if he has to climb from seventh place. McCoy is his ideal of a second-baseman, a second "Eddie Collins" ready to be felled who can carry the middle burden and swing a lusty stick.

With McCoy in his camp, Mr. Mack's club has to be bought off. He has punched in his outfield with Bob Johnson, Wally Moses and the up-and-coming Sam Chapman. Frank Hayes is the No. 2 catcher of the league behind Bill Dickey. Stealer Newsome at short is a fielding marvel. Joe Gantner can handle third. First base is still a problem. The A's pitching staff is "strong" and the bullpen is "strong" come up with a couple of strong-arm pitchers, the A's might create some fun around a circuit that is still calling "break up the Yankees."

O'Doul Says Dominic DiMaggio Cinch for Regular Big League Play

BY HENRY McLEMORE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30 (Special)—A brotherly pep in his hands and youth aware he was a young protegee but on the trail of a brocade (talia) truffle.

Set him in a library and you'd think he was an ancient. Put him deep in research for his thesis.

Put him in a baseball suit, shove a bat in his hands, and you'd bet he'd hit and hit behind the pitcher in a decadent (talia) league, deep in Arkansas.

He would be wrong—and definitely. Because the young man speaks of Dominic DiMaggio, the young outfielder for the San Francisco Giants and this winter, to the Boston Red Sox for a sum that made even Tom Yawkey get up the back to see if his balance was in good order.

He'll be on center field when the Red Sox open the American league season this spring. Tom Yawkey would have found him, developed him, and said him—Lafy O'Doul—says he will be in there when the season starts. Hitting, sliding and running bases with the touch of his celebrated older brother, Joe.

If O'Doul is right, and there are few better judges of baseball talent in the country than the manager of the Red Sox, then looks certain are domestic. Dominic is about to build. He couldn't stand much more than five feet nine and 170 lbs.—a two-toner in his white, hair-wearing glasses, foot and he never takes them off. O'Doul says he never had his attention to his glasses that after seeing him a few times the Boston fans will forget that he wears them.

O'Doul says, "either to adjust them or wipe them off. He hits the dirt on head but slides, as if he didn't know he has them on."

On look at Dominic, and if you know anything at all about baseball your first question is certain to be: "How tall is the big leaguer?"

O'Doul says he can—that despite his age has enough power to belt the ball in the majors.

He hit 200 in the Pacific Coast league, and there isn't enough dirt

Hostak Breaks Hand, Loses to Tony Zale

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Tony Zale, an artificial young veteran with a jaw every bit as tough as the finest steel ever turned out at the mills around his home in Gary, Ind., removed all hope of a quick settlement of the middleweight middle today by his unanimous decision over Champion Al Hostak of Seattle.

Hostak now is confirmed as a champion with brittle hands. He injured his lethal left in the fifth round last night and the fight went out of him so quickly he looked like a different man.

One minute he was a raging tiger of the sort Dempsey once was. Before him was a reeling, shell-shocked Zale, his jaw twisted from pain and the steady rain of left hooks. In the next, the dynamic had flizzed out, spent against Zale's steel jaw.

Campolo Looks Unimpressive In First Bout

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 30 (AP)—The promoters will give Valentin Campolo, the Argentine giant, another chance in Laurel gardens on Feb. 12 because this "lured ball of the Panama" made such a questionable United States debut at the Laurel arena last night.

The promoters have not announced Campolo's opponent for a second unveiling, but doubtless they will be more careful than they were in arranging last night's disappointment in which big Jim Robinson of Philadelphia almost licked Campolo, but finally suffered a technical knockout in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

Campolo, a very tough looking fellow in civvies, was not the least impressive when he took off his robe. His shoulders seemed narrower than his hips. And he seemed to pack plenty of unhealthy blubber, although registering 234 pounds on a six-foot four-inch frame.

Robinson, the Irish horse, actually was winning the fight until stopped in the ninth. Big Jim, who was only slightly less in stature and poundage, was ahead five rounds to two, with one even, when the bout was halted at 1:25 of the ninth round.

Robinson, who stands six feet three inches and scales 218 pounds, forced the fighting during most of the battle before 2,500 cash customers, and so discontinued Senor Campolo that he lost two rounds on fight because of low blows.

Play Starts Wednesday in City Ping-Pong Tournament

57 Players to Compete in Annual Event

Play will get under way Wednesday in the annual city ping-pong tournament. It was announced today by Miss Vernie Richards, city recreation director, handling the meet.

The deadline for entries closed last night and a total of 57 ping-pong players will compete for the trophies in the Idaho Evening Times and Twin Falls News.

A schedule has been drawn up and play for the junior boys' division will start at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and for the round play in the men's division will be completed by Friday night.

If participants are unable to keep the scheduled times in the following list, they are asked to get in touch with Miss Richards at the recreation center (room 215) to make arrangements for rescheduling the match. Consolation play will get under way after the second round for men is completed.

THE PAYOFF

by HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Sports Editor)

On the run: Joe DiMaggio will collect for a salary close to $40,000 than to the $30,000 which it is believed the Yankees offered him. . . . Hank Luisetti is the latest victim of stupid A. A. U. officials. . . . He has been declared a professional because he appeared for pay in a basketball motion picture. . . . So are members of the North American Aviation team of Los Angeles with whom he played the other night, and its opponents, the Ontario Y. M. C. A. outfit. . . . Luisetti, incomparable Stanford forward, has been on the courts following his graduation last year. . . . Herbert M. Woolf still considers himself his best Kentucky derby prospect. . . . That adds the Kansas City merchant, "If I don't win with a filly called Inco Lass, I don't want to tell you." . . . Woolf prevailed at Churchill Downs two years ago with Lawrin, also an inco. . . . Guisav Killian and Heinz Vogt, former six-day riders, are back in this country because some athletes, professional and amateur, are exempt from military duty in Germany. . . . The relch came to the conclusion that they could better spend the Fatherland playing football on foreign turf. . . . Joe Platak, five-time national singles handball champion, fell for a long-time advertisement as a kid. . . . The Chicagoan exercised so hard at one time that he developed muscles so big he could hardly move. . . . Handball helped him attain speed. . . . so he decided it was the game for him.

Handball helped him attain speed. . . . so he decided it was the game for him. . . . Kimball, large right-hander, obtained by the Dodgers from Milwaukee by the Cubs in the Al Todd transaction, will be of considerable help if he pitches as well as he golfs. . . . Kimball won the southern California baseball players' tournament this winter, qualified for the Los Angeles open, earned a handicap of 4 and was runner-up for a Santa Monica club championship. . . . Herbert Hoover and James A. Farley will speak at the New York baseball writers' dinner, Feb. 4. . . . Minnesota's hockey team has averaged 7.6 goals per game for 10 contests this winter. . . . Professional scouts are inspecting Babe Paulsen, the Gophers' leading scorer, with 19 goals and eight assists. . . . Jack Chevigny, the old Notre Dame halfback, is among applicants for the football coaching job at St. Louis university. . . . Babe Young, up from Knoxville, is the third first baseman for whom the Cubs will try out this winter. . . . Memphis Bill was thoroughly impressed by Johnny McCarthy in '37 and on the whole a year ago. . . . Some one with a nose for statistics has come up with figures indicating to him that next term conference basketball officials are "homers." . . . In 20 Big Ten engagements this winter, 277 fouls were fastened on visitors. . . . 227 on home guards. . . . This is in keeping with records of the last two seasons. . . . The Chicago Cubs played second base for the world series Red Sox in 1912, is the new freshman baseball coach at Yale. . . . where he joins an old classmate, Smokey Joe Wood. . . . Edwin N. Atherton, the former G-man, made athletic commissioner of the Pacific Coast conference, insists that actual subsidization and propeyting is going to be stopped. . . . Quick boy, the half-column cut of the bull.

High School Probes Baseball Possibilities

Possibility that baseball would be added as a major sport at Twin Falls high school was being considered today after a meeting of the student council.

A committee composed of John Mills and George Davison was appointed to look into the possibilities of taking up the diamond sport in the spring and to investigate chances for a high school schedule in south central Idaho.

SPARKS from the HOT STOVE LEAGUE

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30 (UP)—The National league champion Cincinnati Reds, thwarted in their bid to acquire Benny McCoy, had to content with the signing of two other emancipated Detroit Tiger-owned players today.

The two players declared free agents by Judge K. M. Landis recently, the Reds came up with pitchers Lloyd Diez, who was with Toledo in the American association last year, and Eugene Harbick, 22, lefty from Henderson of the East Texas league.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30 (UP)—Ed Welland, 18-year winner for the Henderson club of East Texas last year, was signed to a Chicago contract today following his recent release from the Detroit Tiger farm system.

Chicago University Pays Most to Help Athletes

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (UP)—Committee John I. Griffith revealed today that the University of Chicago, the only of the Big Ten football roster, led all western conference universities in giving athletes the only form of assistance which they are permitted—scholarships, loans and campus jobs.

His report was submitted by the university's athletic director, who had spent $24,000 on athletes during the school year 1939-40 and $41,000 during the 1937-38 term.

CITY WILL FIGHT "BOOTLEG" MILK

City commission today has taken the first step toward providing the community with a new milk ordinance, following the revelation that 70 per cent of the milk consumed here at the present time is of the "bootleg" variety.

The ordinance, passed on Tuesday, following the reading and discussion of the ordinance was more than a dozen local dairymen and also Dr. E. R. Price, city meat and dairy inspector, and representatives of the district health unit.

Explains Why In explaining reasons why the ordinance should be adopted, Dr. Price declared: "Half the milk supply in Twin Falls at the present time is of the bootleg variety. It is unwhipped, although much of it bears the grade A stamp.

Now Is the Time for Every Good Man to Wrestle With Income Tax!

EVENING TIMES ENGRAVINGS

HA! THIS IS EASY!

OR IS IT?

GUESS IT ISN'T!

GIVING UP THE GHOST!

1—Well, well, folks—it's that time again and so the Evening Times reporter-photographer decided to see what people were doing about the "idea of March" situation. As luck would have it, the first house the reporter checked into was that of Richard Hunt. Hunt was found glancing over the rules and regulations for the federal income tax payments. He's going to get his job done. With adding machine in front of him, a pencil hanging over his ear, the regulations in his hands and a full meal in his stomach, he feels at ease with the world. "Shuck's there's nothing to this," he says to himself.

2—And so he starts to figure the whole thing out. "Let's see now," he sighs. "I add this to this and get that and then subtract that, and I still have this." The minutes wear on and the tape starts to unwind from the adding machine. He has already filled in his name and address. Really this income tax stuff is simple if you look at it the right way. But say that last figure doesn't sound right, because "I really couldn't have made that much in only 12 months," he muses. But then figures don't lie. Anyway, figuring up these things yourself saves on the budget and, thinks he, if you have on the budget you will have enough left over to pay the tax.

3—Two hours have passed since picture No. 2 was made and we find Mr. Hunt in trouble. The first adding machine just couldn't take it and so he went over to the neighbors and borrowed another. As seen by the "mess" in front of him, Mr. Hunt has accomplished a lot of figuring during the two hours. Now he's stuck. "Where in the devil could I have misread that exemption I planned to take?" he asks himself. There is no answer—only deep thought. Still he struggles on. Maybe this filling out income tax blanks isn't so easy after all.

4—Mr. Hunt has herewith given up the ghost. Even an outdoor man can't take a six hour beating and come up with flying colors. His fingers are sore from operating the adding machine. His ear is drooping from providing a resting place for the pencils he wore out. His legs are tired from pecking the floor and his head is sore from constant scratching. The family bed proves a haven—and he takes to it. The income tax? Oh, well, he still has until March 15 to get around to that. In the meantime rest is what he wants and rest is what he intends to get.

HIGHWAY PARLEY PROGRAM FIXED

Local conferences to be staged in each county for the purpose of mapping highway programs which may be followed during the years 1941, 1942 and 1943, will be inaugurated in the near future. It was announced here by Mayor Joe Koehler. The mayor made the announcement in this effect after receiving word from J. D. Wood, executive secretary of the Idaho state planning board and H. R. Flint, director of highways, that this procedure was being considered.

Long Range Plans

"It is contemplated that conferences will be initiated by the state highway district engineers for the purpose of preparing long-range programs. These conferences, if agreeable to the local officials, will be participated in by the county commissioners and local planning boards in each county. Subsequently, the programs will be reviewed jointly by the state planning board and the department of public works for submission to the public works administration.

"We believe that this method will result in a more satisfactory understanding regarding the priority projects essential to the development of our highway system and will result in a more equitable local, state and federal highway expenditures. This should also prove valuable to the state legislature in determining administrative and financial policies for highways and other public improvements."

The communication from the state officials also pointed out that the "final information" which the local mayor presented at the meeting held at Boise Dec. 5 to 8, 1939 "proved beneficial in compiling our 1940 program, and will be given consideration in outlining a tentative program for the years 1941, 1942 and 1943, which is now being undertaken at the request of Gov. Bottelosen."

The program outlined last December was participated in by various local committees, the state planning board, the public works administration, the U. S. forest service and the department of public works. The projects considered were federal aid projects on the primary system, federal aid projects on the secondary system, grade acquisition and forest highways.

The status of the 1940 program must remain tentative until the same has been reviewed and approved by the public works administration in Washington, D. C. The final outcome is dependent upon the federal highway appropriation which is being studied by the state in March or April. For this reason the current programs are not published.

However, it is desirable that highway officials and local planning bodies proceed with their programs for the years 1941, 1942 and 1943. This three-year program should, at the discretion of the reporting unit, include projects completed in the six-year program and submitted during 1939. It will afford a means whereby the local units may revise the programs previously submitted, and as a whole should be more complete and representative of the public needs than was the previous program."

Idaho Valuations Are Small, But State Finances 12 Institutions

MOSCOW, Jan. 30 (Special)—Although Idaho had an assessed valuation of only "one thirtieth or one fourth of that of other industrial middle western or Atlantic seaboard states" in 1939, she financed the operation of a dozen institutions typical of her sister commonwealths. This one of the many interesting features in an Idaho survey conducted by Dr. C. J. Brown, head of Idaho's University of the American History Department, to the 1940 Britannica "Book of the Year."

This is the second consecutive year Dr. Brown, author of an Idaho history textbook and biography of Jason Lee, has contributed the section on Idaho for the "Book of the Year," compiled under the direction of Walter Yust, editor of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

"Last year Idaho's assessed valuation was less than $400,000,000—that of a middle-sized American city," Dr. Brown's report states. "This revenue-producing fund, of necessity, finances the operations of a dozen state institutions typical of those in the other 47 states. The 1939 assessed valuation was real and personal property, $273,927,783.61; public utilities, $107,148,543.96; total with subsequent personal property valuations was $385,353,540.57."

SOLON REVEALS GOP'S KEYNOTE

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 30 (AP)—Republicans saw today in a speech of their congressional floor leader the keynote of their 1940 presidential campaign.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican house leader, told a Kansas city banquet and a nationwide radio audience that the GOP must maintain neutrality eliminate unnecessary public spending and revise the federal tax structure.

The banquet, celebrating the 79th anniversary of Kansas' admission to the union, was attended by National Committee Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and the 1939 presidential candidate, Alf M. Landon.

Also present were representatives of the clubs boosting Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan for the Republican presidential nomination.

Both hope to swing Kansas' national convention.

Martin, a "darkhorse" possibility for the nomination, said the Republican program in event of victory in November should follow the recovery program suggested by minority house members last spring.

He called for "less government spending and lower taxes, fewer government employees and more efficiency" and said the solution lies in "common sense economy in the administration of public business."
