Investigation Opens in Fatal Plane Crash of Two Idaho Fiers Coyote Hunters Die When Craft Smashes Into Mountain Side

ARCO, Ida., Feb. 3 (UP)—Idaho Aeronautics Director W. H. Hill opened today an investigation of a plane crash in which two men were killed six miles north of Arco yesterday while hunting coyotes.

Bodies of the men, Verne L. Oliver, 38, pilot, and Guy Givens, 33, marksman and trapper, were prepared for return to their home city of Nampa for burial.

A preliminary investigation disclosed the light cabin plane either had motor failure or the accident occurred when the pilot became confused in a sudden mist.

Hired Crash

Ronald Babcock, D. R. Taylor and Tom Young, ranchers, said they heard the crash but did not see it. There was a conflict in their stories over whether or not the motor sputtered and stopped before the plane hit the mountain side.

The motor of the plane was crushed into the fuselage. The right wing apparently struck a rocky ledge and the ship dove into the side of the Lost River range peak.

Oliver was thrown clear and his body was found near Givens, who was pinned in the wreckage. A rescue party headed by Sheriff Adrian McLerrin, Butte county, failed an hour to extricate him, only to fall when he died en route to a physician's residence.

Givens remained in the plane an hour before he was rescued but the sheriff said he was unconscious and felt no pain. The lower part of his body was crushed by the impact.

Hunting Coyotes

The men were hunting coyotes for the Idaho Woolgrowers association the weekend of Feb. 1-3. They had shot 17 coyotes and were planning to leave late Friday.

Oliver was piloted by a pilot with an instructor's rating. He had been hunting coyotes for more than two years. He formerly resided in Butte county. He is a former U. S. Army aviator. He is now in the employ of his widow and seven children.

Givens was formerly employed by the U. S. biological survey. Givens was a member of a prominent family that operates the Grand Hot Springs Hotel in Idaho. He is survived by his widow and three children.

The roaring motors and the clanking tractor treads of these Russian motorized units are stifled—and stuffed in death lies the body of a Soviet soldier. These tragic relics of the destruction of the 44th Red division by Finns on the Suomalainen front were pictured by Eric Cairns, MFA photographer.

SHELLS FALL BY U.S. AMBASSADOR IN CHINA STREAM

SHANGHAI, Feb. 3 (UP)—Several shots were fired today near the U. S. Luzon, flagship of the United States Yangtze patrol, a few miles above the river port of Wuhan. Japanese planes were believed to have fired at the American gunboat. It was recalled that last month Japanese official circles in Shanghai warned that a Chinese vessel carrying the U. S. ambassador to China, was aboard.

It was not definitely established whether the shots were fired at the Luzon or whether they were aimed at a Japanese merchant ship on the Yangtze river near far from the American gunboat. It was recalled that last month Japanese official circles in Shanghai warned that a Chinese vessel carrying the U. S. ambassador to China, was aboard.

200 Russians Killed in Mannerheim Drive

HELSENKI, Feb. 3 (UP)—New heavy Russian attacks against the Mannerheim defense line, especially in the central Summa sector, were repulsed yesterday with heavy Red army losses, an official Finnish communique said today. The communique said more than 200 Russians had been killed and 70 were captured. The Finns said they had captured 25 tanks and three Russian guns northeast of Lake Ladoga.

In fighting the strongly fortified Finnish Ladoga islands yesterday 150 Russians were killed, the communique said. For weeks the Russians had been attempting to capture Mantsi and adjacent islands, chief obstacle to Russian penetration of the northeast shore of Lake Ladoga, from which they hope to turn the Mannerheim line.

Destroy 11 Tanks

In the Kolomo region the Finns claimed to have destroyed 11 Finnish tanks and three guns. These were captured in large quantities of war materials in this area.

Yesterday's attacks on the Suomalainen front were repulsed after intensive artillery preparation, the communique said.

The Finns claimed also to have repulsed a Russian attack in the Sella area of the central front. Two hundred Russians were left dead on the field of battle.

Finns aviators shot down 12 Russian raiding planes yesterday. It was announced officially and it was reported without confirmation by all well informed.

Aim at Civilians

Russian planes rained all over southwestern Finland. An official statement reported more than 100 persons were killed. It charged the attacks were aimed at civilians and that a church and a hospital were bombed and another hospital machine gunned.

Ten persons were reported killed at Fort and one at Raumo. These reports were not confirmed. The Kuovola, Kotka, Kiipio, Pirkankangas, Uusimaa and Sastola areas were among those bombed, the statement said, and several fires were started in Pirkankangas.

Rumours were the diplomatic center of the conference.

Reports were denied that Helsinki had threatened to swing into the German-Russian pact unless the little Baltic nations, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece, supported her against claims by Hungary and Bulgaria for territorial concessions.

But there were reports that Helsinki had made an extraordinary personal overture to Germany in return for German aid in retaking Warsaw pressure. It was known that Helsinki had contracted to (Continued on Page 3, column 1)

TURKEY MAY GET ENGLISH TROOPS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Feb. 3 (UP)—Unconfirmed reports were circulated today that Great Britain might send troops to the Turkish Dardanelles to lighten up its blockade and aid Turkey in protecting the vital strait.

No substantiation could be found in official quarters for the reports, but they intensified an atmosphere of nervousness among delegates to the conference.

It was suggested in diplomatic gossip that any allied and Turkish troop activity in the Dardanelles region might cause some Balkan nations to increase their armies—and thus cut down to an appreciable extent the amount of foodstuffs and perhaps other goods from southeastern Europe to Germany.

AIR VICTIM GAVE BURLEY TRAINING

Verne Oliver, aviator and one of two persons killed yesterday in an airplane crash near Arco, was well known among fliers of this section of Idaho, having resided at Burley over a period of several years, leaving there only recently. He is mentioned today by Leon C. Martyn, president of the Idaho Pilots Association.

Known as a "bad weather" flier, being one who could "find his way in pea soup fog," Oliver took part in the annual observance of the centennial of the United States in May of 1938. At that time he carried the mail from several isolated communities in weather so foggy that many pilots on the ground at that time came to him for help.

In Burley Oliver was active in civic affairs and a member of the Commercial club. He was an important role in the first air meet staged at the Burley field.

SITE NAMED FOR AVIATION SCHOOL

Location for the fliers' ground school which opens here Monday will be the rear quarters at the Chamber of Commerce offices. Chairman Milton L. Powell of the aviation committee announced this afternoon.

The ground training will get under way at 8 p. m. Monday with Jack Wise, Twin Falls aviator, as instructor. Chamber headquarters are located in the office of F. C. Graves and Son Realty firm, 150 Main avenue north.

Five Nights Weekly

The classes will be held five nights a week for the time being. Mr. Powell said, and will be two hours in length. During weeks in which less than five sessions are held, the sessions of the separate classes will be lengthened since the ground course under the government non-college aviation program calls for a total of 72 hours and must be completed by April 1.

Students who have been accepted for the preliminary training should bring note paper, according to instructor Wise.

Expect Maximum 30

There were 43 paid-up applicants at noon today but seven more are expected to bring in their fees by tonight to make the maximum total of 50 if fees are not paid by the time the class opens Monday. The delinquent applicants will forfeit their entire tuition and "overload" applicants on the list will be permitted to enroll.

Ten out of the total group will rate actual book scholarships provided they pass the necessary tests.

LENENT SERVICE PLANS OUTLINED

MANUFACTURERS CRAP TRADE PACT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (UP)—The National Association of Manufacturers registered a vigorous protest with the house ways and means committee today against the proposed trade agreements program.

The committee ruled 15 to 23 days ago that it is not to extend the program three years with testimony of Mr. John L. Coulter, consulting economist for the M. A. Coulter charged that the government's own figures proved the proposed agreements injured both agriculture and industry.

"The Feb. 1 figures of the department of commerce," Coulter said, "show that agriculture imports have increased 30 per cent since 1934 when the trade treaty was passed."

He said commerce department figures showed agricultural exports during that period had decreased 100 per cent.

"The unfavorable trend of both imports and exports has decreased farm income and thereby decreased farm purchasing power," he has charged. "The demand for American manufactured articles and prevented greater industrial re-employment," Coulter said.

You Can't Carry Concealed Sling Shot—Or Milk

A Cow on Twin Falls Sidewalk, Lawbooks Reveal

Nobody in Twin Falls, except a police officer, can carry a sling shot, and nobody, except a milkman, can carry a milk can. These are just two of the oddities that are the subject of a new book, "You Can't Carry Concealed Sling Shot—Or Milk," a cow on Twin Falls sidewalk, Lawbooks reveal.

any dinner, and so-called "sling shot" and "milk" cases should be prohibited.

The above are the basic law books and other antiquated notions, some of them follow:

1.—Each member of the fire and police departments works a 24-hour shift. Law declares that they "shall devote" their "entire time" to the municipal affairs of the city.

2.—When the fire alarm blows all tenants must be turned off and all extinguishing of lawn and garden hose shall be turned on and the fire be out. It is also unlawful to sprinkle lawn or garden after 11 p. m.

3.—You can't throw stones from your street or stone into any alley or street, according to local law.

4.—In backing an automobile, the driver must be careful not to injure those in the rear.

5.—Your trim name may be written upon a hotel register.

You can't let any chicken, cock, turkey or goose, or happen to own "run at large, or happen upon any public or private property within the city."

7.—You can't disclose an address in the city limit, nor can you know a "dipper."

8.—If two or more persons engage in a fight it is unlawful, although apparently if one man wishes to fight himself there is no limit.

9.—You can't cheer at a game of chess, but you can acquire yourself "any sum of money or anything of value or representative of value."

10.—You can't wash your windows (down town) when snow is on the roof, unless you throw the used water in the gutter.

TWO INITIATIVE PROPOSALS SET

HOPE, Feb. 3 (UP)—Two initiative proposals, for a two per cent sales tax and for a two per cent wage levy, were prepared today in petition form for presentation to Idaho voters.

The sales tax measure is drafted by Frank Keefe, R. W. who said he would bear the initiative until there has been a change in the committee. The entire controversy, Keefe particularly objected to Hunk's refusal to concede that the documents were forged.

The Idaho initial civic forces filed with the secretary of state an initiative petition providing for a two per cent sales tax to support educational activities. Roy McLaughlin, state change executive committee member, directed the motion of the initiative.

BRITISH PLANES WIN OVER GERMAN INVADERS IN AIR FIGHT

NAZIS DEFEATED IN ATTEMPT AT COAST BOMBING

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—British Royal Air Force fighters blasted down two and possibly three German Heinkel bombers in a series of fights off the northeast coast today.

At least one German plane was severely damaged in the air battle. German planes resumed their attacks on shipping off the east coast this afternoon. A German plane dropped six bombs on a steamer which had been attacked by another German plane an hour earlier.

The air ministry was able to announce that one German plane had been shot down over the sea and another was "very seriously damaged."

There followed soon that there was a third fight—officially a second interception—and a second enemy plane had been shot down over the sea.

One German plane crashed on the Yorkshire coast, narrowly missing a British fighter plane which went up, raved out to sea, and engaged them.

It was the most successful return since the first of the year. The bombing, dash-dropping, machine-gunning German planes which have preyed on ships along the coast.

Witnesses aboard watched fighters in the sky. One of the British planes dived about a German plane. They chased it back and forth. Smoke began to billow from the German plane. The smoke grew thicker and thicker as its crew tried desperately to escape.

These Brothers Set a National Record for Grangers

Three Brothers Preside As Masters of Granges

Three out of four brothers are Grange masters—and the fourth is a Grange executive committee man. That is the unique record boasted by the Jones brothers, members of the national and both state and national Grange publications are expected to give the achievement of the Jones brothers mention in forthcoming issues.

Eric E. Jones, Kimberly, is present master of the Twin Falls county Pomona Grange. Charles V. Jones is master of the Mountain Rock Grange. L. C. Jones is master of the Bistacine Grange, at Honolua, Idaho.

But the record-breaking phase of this Grange achievement is only a part of the family's activities in the Grange organization. Consider these: Mrs. Jones, mother of the brothers, is a veteran member of Kimberly Grange and would have been a charter member if she hadn't been away at time of formation.

We bought our new Frigidaire without even seeing it because we knew that we could depend on the national reputation that Frigidaire has built... then, too, Frigidaire offered us this nationally known refrigerator at no higher price than other lesser known makes."

Newcomer—

Mrs. Milo Cook Says:

"While we had seriously considered other makes of refrigerators we felt that being newcomers to Twin Falls we would be better satisfied to deal with a well established dealer. One we could rely on to be in business during the life of our refrigerator. We were well acquainted with the national acceptance of Frigidaire and were more than glad to learn that our Frigidaire would cook us no more than many inferior makes."
