

FARM SOLONS MAP FIGHT TO REGAIN SLASHED FUNDS

CONFERENCE OF HEADS WILL BE HELD THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Farm state senators may hold a conference early this week to discuss strategy for their fight to restore several hundred millions for partly payments and surplus commodity funds to state agriculture department appropriation bill.

"A conference of that kind undoubtedly will be called," Sen. Scott Latta III, said today.

Lucas and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D. Ga., will lead the senate fight to boost the $722,001,606 bill, passed by the house Friday, to point near the total appropriation for the current year—more than $1,000,000,000. The house cut the 1941 farm bill $66,253,283 below President Roosevelt's "bed rock budget."

The senate tomorrow will consider a $1,138,693,283 independent offices appropriation bill which was cut $2,000,000 below the house cut. That would be $19,500,000 below budget estimates.

To date, economy-minded congressmen have trimmed $15,529,283 from various supply bills.

Despite pressure from the farm bloc, Democratic and Republican leaders doubted that the senate, which is in an economy mood in an effort to prevent new taxes or an increase in the $45,000,000,000 national debt limit, would vote for the restorations.

Near Final Passage
The first of this session's appropriation measures—the emergency deficiency bill—nearly final passage as senate and house conferences agreed on a total of $51,200,000. That would be $19,500,000 below budget estimates.

—And It Was All Caused By Amateur Press Agents

By FREDERICK C. OTTIMAN
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Association for the Prevention of Amateur Press Agents, Inc., of which we are founder, and of which Miss C. Lombard and Mr. C. Gable are charter members, collapsed today from lack of sleep.

The association's troubles started a week ago when a couple of sailors appeared in harbor aboard actor Eddie Albert's yacht, with word he had disappeared in the wilds of lower California. The telephone lines and at Ensenada, Albert presumably was wandering among the mountains, Lucas, a couple of hundred miles south of here.

At a fine being, maybe the poor guy was dead. His mother was frantic. He still was missing when Clark Gable and his bride drove to the Halite Hamilton ranch, 115 miles below Ensenada, for a brief vacation. The road was a Mexican cow path, but they hadled it to the top.

Their studio figured it would be nice to get some pictures of them relaxing in the Mexican sunshine. So it dispatched Otto Winkler, press agent, and Eric Carpenter, photographer, to make the photos. The Messrs. Winkler and Carpenter were in a hurry. They traveled by plane.

When they arrived at Ensenada they asked gas station proprietor whether he'd seen Gable and Lombard. He hadn't. Winkler and Carpenter proceeded.

The gas station man phoned newspaper at San Diego. Gable and Lombard were missing, he said.

Officers Assist Forgetful Nurse To Return Baby

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 5 (AP)—Police today had reunited Barbara LaGrange with her parents after a strange adventure in which the child was kidnapped, held in a rooming house, and taken to a nearby town.

Mrs. Miller and LaGrange were old friends. They met on a bus for the first time in years. She went home with him to meet the family. They opened some bottles of beer to celebrate the reunion.

The LaGranges were going out for the evening and Mrs. Miller insisted she be allowed to take Barbara home. She was accompanied by Mrs. Miller and LaGrange.

Mrs. Miller was released on her own recognizance, still facing an indecent exposure charge, but the LaGranges insisted they had no complaint.

BUHL CONTINUES HOUSING PROJECT

BUHL, Feb. 5 (Special)—The Buhi city administration, with the unanimous endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce, is seeking to obtain a $100,000 federal grant to set up a U. S. housing authority in Buhi. The general plan calls for the ultimate construction of approximately 400, three and four room houses to be rented at the cost of $10 and $11 a month to families with low incomes. The government will put up nine tenths of the money and bonds.

The housing authority will be governed by a five-man local board which will serve without pay and make all decisions concerning the unit. This board was appointed at the recent city council meeting by Mayor C. G. Voeller.

Members are Fred Harting, chairman, five-year term; George T. Likness, four-year term; Olin L. Smith, three-year term; Gary Buckner, two-year term; Henry McKinnon, one-year term. The board is not a charity provision and tenants must pay or move out. The experience in other localities shows a rental loss of only one per cent. The unit is exempted from taxation and consequently can keep its cost low.

The city plans to tear down a shack for each new house constructed, but to build gradually so that the project will maintain a bolstering effect on other localities during a period of time, rather than to construct all the houses at one time.

According to all reports, Buhi will be the first community in the state to complete a housing survey. This was done three years ago under the supervision of Tom D. McDougall, Buhi, who took pictures of every shack in Buhi and environs.

The state legislature at its last session passed legislation permitting U. S. housing units to be exempted from taxation and otherwise making it possible to qualify for part of the federal funds amounting to $200,000,000 for this purpose. The Buhi survey was used in obtaining the state law.

Important Items Pertaining To Natural History Museum

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—What will worry about taxes and war and whether the coal in the bin will last until March, you've probably forgotten. If you ever knew, that the poisonous tentacles of certain large jellyfish serve as a refuge for young butterfish.

Well, they do, the American museum of natural history said today, and a good thing for the butterfish is, too.

When threatened by larger and hungrier fish, the museum said, young butterfish "slip quickly beneath the tentacles of the jellyfish and take up a position safe from harm."

The museum called that and other nature notes from the February issue of its monthly magazine, Natural History, and passed them along as follows:

ANT-MOUSE DETECTORS
The ears of the short-eared, or marsh owl, act as super-sensitive microphones. These owls, flying high in the air, can hear the squeak of a field mouse on the ground.

FRIGHT THAT PARALYZES
Tigers scare monkeys to death. The tigers growl, the monkeys get so frightened they fall out of trees, the tigers eat up the monkeys.

MOBE TO BE FITTED
The shark is always taking the rap for the barracuda, which is the "real tiger of the sea." Barracudas attack people and the sharks get blamed.

JOB FOR GLYDE BEATTIE
Say "tiger" to a villager of Amoy, China, and you're likely to start a panic. Man-eaters are a grim reality in Amoy. Hunters tracked a tiger into this cave, just outside of town, and found the human skeleton.

SMALL WONDER
The Wa-Kingdas of British East Africa build no huts. In dry weather they live under trees, in caves when it rains. They are almost extinct.

BLIND FLIERS
Bats have extremely sensitive sense organs in their wings. Blindfolded, a bat can fly through a room closely strung with wires without touching a one.

JUST LOOKS MEAN
The hogsnout snake's habit of flattening its head after the manner of the cobra when alarmed, carried it a reputation as the deadliest snake in the United States next to the rattlesnake. As a matter of fact, it's harmless.

INGENIOUS TRENCHERMAN
Bats catch insects in a trap formed by a web between their hind legs and tail. They can eat one insect while catching another.

RABBIT'S JUMP SCRATCH
Fraculose all wild animals except the common rabbit will bite if you pick them up.

GODOY GIVEN 'GOOD' CHANCE AGAINST LOUIS

Joe Jacobs Claims Chilean Is Hard Fighter to Hit

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—While practically everybody else believes Joseph Louis Barrow merely is resuming his condemned man series in his 16-round match with Arturo Godoy at the Garden, Feb. 9, Joseph Jacobs says he would not be surprised if the Chilean won the championship.

What makes this worth printing is that there is no better opinion than that of Joe Jacobs when the little man with the big cigar is a disinterested party.

"The muscle takes considerable pride in his pugilistic prognostications, which rarely turn out to be incorrect. Jacobs is well qualified to speak.

He twice seconded Tony Galento against Godoy, saw the Jersey barker out-roughed and out-punched on each occasion.

"High Recommendation. "This Godoy guy," asserts Jacobs, "can take a wallop as good as anybody I ever put my bulbs on, and that goes for Johnny Heko, Paulino Uzcudun and other famous shock absorbers.

"He smacks pretty good, too, and we all know Louis can't take a sock any too well.

"I wouldn't go out on the limb to the extent of picking Godoy to win, but I have an idea that the American is going to get the Brown Bomber a real tough battle for seven or eight rounds, and I wouldn't be at all surprised if he wins in front, and I don't mean on his face.

"Anything can happen in a heavy-weight fight.

Awkward Style. "Godoy has an awkward style which makes it difficult to hit him squarely.

Here Jacobs has a pleasant thought.

"Louis may break a hand on Godoy's head," he concludes.

Michael Strauss, the promoter, and the Louis camp do not appear greatly worried, however.

Plans already have been completed for Louis to tackle Johnny Paycheck, the sparsely-thatched corner of Doc Holmes, at the Garden in March with the Finnish Rebel, and the Infante Paralysis foundation sharing in the proceeds.

Louis likes to keep busy and there is one round in which he can get one huge chunk.

But to get back to Godoy, the Chilean admits he is no stranger to these shores. He has appeared in New York, Detroit, Chicago and Miami. He is 27, now, six feet tall and weighs 204 pounds.

Good Record. He broke in as a middleweight for eight years.

His record is more than passable. It is a chance of a lifetime to him. He is absolutely unafraid.

The San-Andreas Club in an Aracuan Indian from Ipouire, He comes from a family which earned its living fighting sportsmen. He is an all-around athlete . . . an excellent soccer player.

Arturo Godoy may not respect Joe Louis, but he surely can be placed in the sturdy-bum or semi-heavy class in which a move of the kind that Desnoyers's opponents belonged.

Mac Puts His Ear to the Ground And Hears Useful Information

By HENRY McLEMORE
PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5 (AP)—It isn't every reporter who will literally put his ear to the ground to gather information for his readers. But I did yesterday afternoon at the Phoenix Country club. For two hours I kept my ear tucked in a divot back of the 18th green and there are some of the things I heard as the big gallery followed the players in the open tournament.

The best football player in the country last year was Tom Harmon of Michigan, but he wasn't a great deal better than Amby Schumder of Southern California. The critic who expressed this opinion was Bob Zuppke, poet, painter, monologist, dilettante, pianist, and all-arounder of the University of Illinois. Tom and Amby, I heard Zuppke tell a friend, were the only two players he saw last year who "filled me with awe."

Ellsworth Vines was the next man to place my ear in jeopardy.

He passed so close I overheard him answering a friend's question as to why he abandoned tennis for golf. He gave a bored answer for the reason: "There is little or no money in tennis," Vines said. Golf, Vines went on to say, is just the opposite. You can play the same course every day for a year and never have identical shots to make.

A little old lady who all but pierced my ear with a shouting stick emphatically stated Jimmy Thompson was the longest hitting golfer I have ever known. I have watched Mr. Thompson play many times and he always hits the ball 40 yards," she said. "Putts too," someone asked. "Yes, puts too." From the way Jimmy pitted in this tournament the little old lady was quite an expert. When Ed Oliver came up to the eighteenth green needing a four for a 29 for the last nine holes, Gene Hales, president of the club, and the man who discovered such theatrical stars as W. C. Fields, Eddie Cantor, Will Rogers, Helen Morgan, Marilyn Miller, Bert Williams and Ed Wynn, suggested Oliver be handed over to a taxidermist, stuffed and sent off to the museum of natural history.

"Any man who can shoot that sort of a score should be preserved for posterity," Buck said. At this point Mr. Buck went into a graphic description of the 138 strokes he had needed for the same nine holes the day before. It was at this point that I took my ear from the ground and got up. Having lost a two dollar bet to Mr. Buck on the round he was describing, I didn't want to listen to his open, shameless bragging.

Sammy Burt, who quit baseball to become a golf professional, was being questioned by a reporter when I walked by on the way to the clubhouse. "Why did you give up baseball for this game?" the golf writer wanted to know.

"Because I started hitting 250 in the majors," Babe Burt's former understudy answered. "I figured I could get around a golf course in less than that."

Landis, Terry Targets of Writers' Skit

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, his secretary, Leslie O'Connor, and William Terry, manager of the New York Giants, were main targets of the feature skit at the 17th annual dinner staged by the New York baseball writers last night.

Highlighting the program was a newsworthy speech by public figures such as President Roosevelt, King George of England, Adolf Hitler and Heile Selassie pleading fervently to "stop the Yankees" from making the final play, saying "Confucius say: 'Stop the Yankees.'"

There were songs titled "The Great Big Man Who Wasn't There" and "Right Down the Alley and Over the Fence," referring respectively to Eric Lombard of the Cincinnati Reds and Luke Hamlin, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, who had been named for pitching home run balls last season.

One sketch, with a baseball writer wearing Terry's uniform with No. 29, parodied "I never knew trouble till I lost Carl Hubbell."

There was an entire skit devoted to Landis and his secretary called "The Great Landis and 'A Quiet Day With Landis.'"

Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, and English call Commissioner Landis' suggestions for a substitute for farm chains at a socialist, which is what is usually done by the Browns and Phillips would be just as well off as the Yankees and Cardinals. The skit would refer to the fact that he held years ago, when the big leagues were not so topheavy.

As though he required further proof that he is an Tom Man, Eddie Shore at 37 is closing out his illustrious hockey career by playing with both the New York Americans and Springfield Indians.

The greatest of all defense men owns the latter franchise. He is still such an attraction that National League owners refused to let him step down gracefully.

Victory Morn, Earl Baudie's new 3-year-old hope, is the smallest thoroughbred in training. Roger Altman of St. Paul put the national intercollegiate short race for 100 yards broke from 100 to 200.9.

Churchill Downs Plan Col. Matt Winn plans to make an amphitheater of Churchill Downs by 1942. Alterations now being made to increase the Louisville track's seating and standing capacity for this year's Kentucky Derby by 15,000.

Don't attempt to make impossible split and scuffle pins as result. One pin has won many matches. A split usually may be traced to a poorly controlled front ball. Even a pretty good ball leaves a split.

Take a 6-7-10 split as an example. The front ball should be the most difficult split carefully, which is the wrong way to view it. It can be made, but not by a bowler who considers it split on the split.

A straight ball, shoving a real thin, will topple that pin across and
