FDR Leaves for Vacation Cruise Without Announcing 3rd Term Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (UP)—President Roosevelt departed today for a southern fishing vacation apparently content to let third term developments take their course in Illinois and other states where his name has been put up for professional primary consideration.

He did not know a thing about it, he told press conference questioners yesterday when asked whether he would withdraw his name from the ballot in Illinois and Wisconsin. In Illinois he has until Feb. 24 to request that his name be stricken.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 14 (UP)—The battered Prohibition Democratic organization that once dominated Missouri politics was crushed today by a wave of reform votes which threatened to sweep the last vestige of prohibition control from city hall.

Court Contempt Order Erased, Then Restored for Man; Fine Suspended

The score read today like this for Cloyd Elson, Twin Falls service station operator:

In contempt of court, order of contempt of court; in contempt of court; fine or jail sentence suspended.

Elson appeared before District Judge J. W. Porter to answer to contempt claim in assertedly neglecting to pay his wife $10 every two weeks in a pending divorce suit she filed.

The husband was found in contempt yesterday morning by Judge Porter when he did not appear for his hearing. Today, after it developed that the notice of hearing had not reached Elson, the jurist vacated yesterday's contempt order. He promptly adjudged Elson in contempt once more for failure to comply with the temporary order, and decreed a fine of $10 to be served out in jail at the rate of $2 per day if not paid.

The contempt, announced that in case the payments to Mrs. Virginia Elson, and continues for six months he will be purged of the contempt order.

The divorce hearing has not yet been held.

Germans Claim Right of Torpedoing U. S. Ships

BERLIN, Feb. 14 (UP)—An authorized Nazi source said today German submarines have "a theoretical right" to torpedo United States ships if those en route to the Mediterranean enter Gibraltar, either voluntarily or under compulsion.

The source said German submarines could treat such ships as having lost their neutral status.

German quarters added, however, that whether such torpedoing would occur "naturally" would depend on individual circumstances.

The declaration was made during comment on the torpedoing last Saturday of the Holland-American line vessel Burgardijk, 6,000 tons, by a German submarine.

Authorized sources claimed sinking of the Burgardijk was justified because the vessel, at the time it was torpedoed, was en route to the Dovers (off Dover) for British contraband inspection.

German quarters charged British warships "without any right or justification whatsoever" are compelling neutral ships to enter British waters instead of searching them on the high seas, "thereby creating a new British right for themselves."

An authorized source said British alone should be held responsible for any damage which neutral ships may suffer as result of German attacks on them when they are en route to allied harbors or contraband control bases.

DEWEY ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION SILVER POLICIES

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 14 (UP)—The administration's policy of trying to keep the price of silver up was described as "a dismal failure" today by Thomas E. Dewey, New York racket-busting district attorney and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"When the administration started its policy of buying silver four years ago the price was up to 45 cents, and now it is down to 35 cents," Dewey said. The problems of silver and other mining interests were described as "just a single part of the whole picture" of things going wrong in the federal government.

The fact that "nine million men can't get jobs" will be the biggest sin of the campaign, Dewey said. The government policy of spending which has taken the place of private enterprise was described as "a private enterprise was described as the reason for the inability to take up unemployment slack."

Reciprocal Trade
Dewey said one thing he learned on his western trip is the intensity of feeling over reciprocal trade agreements. He said he has met with the most active subjects discussed, he said, but he declared he was only taking the complicated problems over party, agricultural and industrial leaders during his western swing.

Dewey referred to the changes proposed for the Wagner act and said the labor situation in general is in need of a "thorough housecleaning."

He repeated his statement made already on his western swing as to the national defense needs of the United States. He said the United States must have a "heavy capable of defending both shores."

With Rep. President Roosevelt's declaration that he would run for a third term if Dewey is a candidate, Dewey said he is "gladly" said, "Well, I'm not a mind reader."

Dewey and his party arrived in Salt Lake City from Ogden this morning nearly an hour behind schedule. Speeches made from the train platform along his route were responsible for the delay.

Dewey and his party will be met by civic leaders and representatives of agriculture, livestock and mining industries in Ogden today. Dewey attended the organ recital at the LDS tabernacle at noon.

A public reception at his hotel tonight will be held by the city and his group will leave for Boise tonight.

2 Troopers, Farmers Hurt in Fight Over Custody of 2 Women

STOCKTON, Md., Feb. 14 (UP)—Two state troopers and several farmers were injured today in a furious half-hour battle between 25 troopers and 200 members of a mob which had taken a Negro woman and her daughter from the Snow Hill jail.

Maryland state police said Sergt. W. H. Weber and Charles Disney were injured during a hand-to-hand battle in which clubs, stones and bottles were wielded. The mob dispersed after the battle, taking its wounded with it.

Set. Homer R. Baker said several members of the mob were hurt. Although one member of the mob had been reported shot in the leg, Baker said he heard no shots. Most of the mob members were armed, Baker said.

Warden Asks Full Pardons For Prisoners

BOISE, Feb. 14 (UP)—The Idaho pardon board took under advisement today a proposal by Warden P. C. Meredith of the Idaho penitentiary that straight pardons instead of conditional releases be granted prisoners.

Meredith told the board that expenses of the institution were running high because of the extra cost of returning parole violators from other states. If straight pardons were granted, the state would be spared the cost of transporting them back to the institution.

The board asked Meredith to check the list of conditional pardons granted and submit a list of those for whom he recommended a straight pardon.

The prison population now stands at 408. There are 10 prisoners remaining on the list of parole cases still up for consideration.

The Negroes were being held in the Snow Hill jail for "investigation" in the slaying of Philbrick and the critical wounding of his wife at their farm home Sunday night, Baker said. Collick believed hiding in a swamp near here.

The board also recommended that the Negroes and he did not believe it intended to lynch them, Baker said. After information as to where Collick might be hiding, he said.

JAPAN EMBARGO ACTION DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (UP)—The senate foreign relations committee checked the delay in imposing an embargo against Japan.

The committee discussed Chairman Key Pittman's bill to authorize the president to embargo Japanese American shipments to Japan. It will meet again next week.

Pittman said the delay did not mean that such time as he was occupied with the embargo at this session is unlikely, although public news shows a majority of the committee at present opposes such an embargo.

"A bill will be reported out of this committee," he added. "You can bet on that. Naturally, I can't predict what the senate will do with it."

The chairman said the proposal is "new to about four-fifths of the committee," and "no way they want a chance to study it."

SUGAR BEET MEN GATHER IN UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 14 (UP)—Representatives of the Utah sugar beet processors of the country, members of the United States Beet Growers Association, met here today to discuss their plans for the coming season.

RUSSIANS PUT BENT IN FINN LINES, ON KARELIAN ISTHMUS

DEFENDERS FALL BACK AS SOVIET TROOPS ADVANCE

HELSINKI, Finland, Feb. 14 (UP)—The Red army has retreated today to have denied Finnish lines in the center of the Karelian isthmus, but to have fallen short of gains affecting the general strategic position of the Mannerheim line.

The Russian advance was understood to have been made east of the Suoni sector, where the main force of the powerful 13-day Soviet offensive has been concentrated.

The Finnish line is holding firm, the pounding Red army attack and captured several fortified positions.

Finns said, however, the general strategic situation is that is, the Mannerheim line is holding firm.

Today, it was said, the Russian pressure was less severe than it was yesterday.

Offensive slackens

The slackening of the offensive, according to Finnish information, may be due to weariness of the Russian troops which have suffered an estimated 40,000 casualties during the drive, or to transport problems.

Today, war communiques said the Russians had succeeded in capturing a few Finnish advance gun positions in the sector east of Summa during yesterday's fighting, but said the attack was halted before the gun positions further back had been endangered.

The communiques did not admit that the Red army had made a real "dent" in the Finnish lines, but said thousands of dead and dozens of destroyed Russian tanks remained in the no-man's-land section in the front and that the battle continued.

The seriousness of the situation was illustrated, however, by posting of notices on street corners calling for men of the class of 1917—those 43 years old—to report to the colors by Feb. 20.

Fall in Kuhmo sector

The communiques said in addition to the terrific Soviet artillery bombardment of a 10-mile stretch near Summa, the Russians had failed in an attempted operation in the Kuhmo sector of the central front yesterday. A Russian battalion was reported broken up and several machine gun nests captured. Russian forces north of Lake Ladoga also were reported repulsed.

Seen out of several hundred Russian airplanes over Finland yesterday were shot down, the communiques said.

At Kolytalo, on the gulf of Finland coast, the Finnish batteries shelled Russians attempting to advance over the ice of the gulf. Several tanks were sunk by the Finnish guns, which were understood to have dropped explosives on a high angle in order to break the ice around the Soviet forces.

JEROME HEALTH ROUTINE RELATED

JEROME, Feb. 14 (Special)—In the monthly report as released recently by Miss Harriet Russell, Jerome county public health nurse, plans for the month of February include Schick tests for grade school children to determine their immunity to diphtheria. Miss Russell pointed out that these tests are to precede the vaccination in all schools in the west end of the county. Details of the program will be made later, she said.

In her report, it was announced that there will be numerous home calls made on children absent from school in order to control the scarlet fever present in this community. If there is extra time, it will be given over to make nursing inspection of school children.

Miss Russell reported that there were 10 cases of diseases in this county during the last month, being infantile paralysis, several cases of scarlet fever, measles and a suspected scarlet fever case.

During the month of January two families here were quarantined because of diseases. In the tuberculous cases, calls were made and 116 children, mostly freshmen of the high school, took the T. E. Schick test administered by Dr. L. C. Kroehler, at the Jerome high school. There were 26 children vaccinated against measles and 33 immunized against diphtheria. Immunizations, Miss Russell said, were available to all schools and to school children in the east end of the county. Immunizations were given by Dr. C. M. Gaven, Edin; Dr. Simpson S. Hopper, Haxton.

All schools throughout the county were visited according to schedule. There were 35 home and office school calls made, four crippled children's calls, with five crippled children attending the crippled children's clinic at Twin Falls; six maternity calls were made; five calls were made on infant and pre-school children, nine on ill persons, adult and children for illness other than contagious; 87 calls on teachers, doctors and other community residents interested in the improvement of better health in this district.

He turned the varieties of trees best suited to this climate, telling something of each and stressing the desirability of black locust trees for posts and windbreaks in this section of the county. He said a wood lot on each farm would pay dividends.

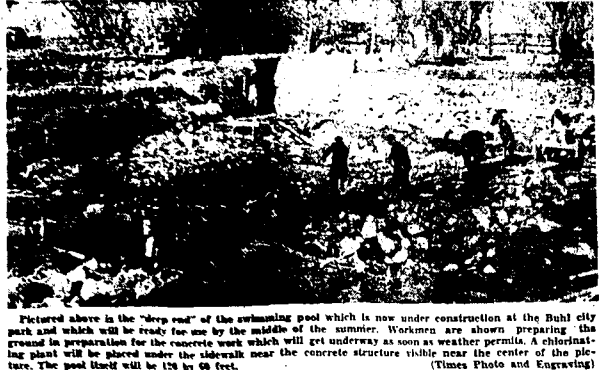

He showed a movie, "Trees and Men," which showed every step of the lumbering industry and the proper care of forest lands. Another movie, "The River," showed the Mississippi and its tributaries in flood and the damage done by indiscriminate cutting of forests which would have held back part of the flood water.

The high school girls' quartet, composed of Thelma Taylor, Norma Jean Darrow, Dorothy Clement, Marjorie Darrow and Lenore Wheeler, sang "Dark Eyes" and "When Day Is Done." Dorothy Clement sang "Trees" and Dorothy Brown played a march on the piano, "Ben Hur March."

Albert Heller, Roy Haley, T. A. Reed and John Thomas arrested jinx and water to the crowd at the close of the meeting.

Farm Plan Sheets Must Be Endorsed

JEROME, Feb. 14 (Special)—Secretary of the Jerome county ACA office, George Bennett, said today that all farmers who were unable to attend the meetings as scheduled for their respective communities last week in order that 1940 farm plan and estimate sheets on their places might be figured, are requested to come in and contact the Jerome ACA office as soon as possible, in order to sign their plan sheet.

Mr. Bennett pointed out the importance of having the plan sheet figured and signed and stated that such work must be done on every farm before the farm will be checked for compliance or any benefit payments expected for 1940.

Buhl Pushes Work on Big New $30,000 Swim Pool

BUHL, Feb. 14 (Special)—A completely modern swimming pool this summer will take the place of the "park pool" where west enders formerly went to "cool off" during hot weather.

The new pool, being constructed by the city with cooperation of the WPA, will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, including the $10,000 which is being advanced by the city of Buhl. It will be concrete throughout and will be 120 feet in size, the depth ranging from three to 10 1/2 feet.

At the deep end of the plunge, two springboards will be placed near the center, and under the sidewalk, a chlorinating plant will be placed. City filtered water will be used, the pool being treated it a second time to meet all requirements of the health department.

Bath Houses

One feature of the new pool, when completed, will be adequate bathhouses for both men and women. These will be on the west side.

An eight-foot wide concrete walk will be placed around the entire pool.

On the southeast corner of the pool, and as a separate unit, a wading pool for small children will be constructed. This pool will be at least 50 by 50 feet.

Waste water, which formerly emptied into the pool site, will be diverted around the structure by means of an unusual spray under the park bridge and also concrete pipe. By diverting this water so it will flow in pipes and not by the pool, freezing in winter will be eliminated.

KIMBERLY SCANS INSURANCE SHIFT

KIMBERLY, Feb. 14 (Special)—Action toward revision of fire insurance policies to cover emergencies such as occurred at Twin Falls Saturday had been taken under consideration today by the Kimberly school board.

The trustees took no definite move but conferred with John B. Robertson, Twin Falls, their fire insurance adviser. Robertson was asked to submit his recommendations in writing at the next meeting.

The move aims to eliminate the danger of fire insurance voidance as result of windstorm damage and similar accidents. A provision now in all standard policies carries that voidance feature to apply from the time of such damage until 18 1/2 minutes after the buildings are again in the shape they were at the time fire insurance was written.

Supl. L. A. Thomas will be sent to represent Kimberly at the national school executives' meeting in St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 24-29, the trustees voted. Mr. Thomas will leave Kimberly about Feb. 22 and after the St. Louis party concludes will probably go to Chicago and other school board meetings in the intervals of school business.

The Kimberly board decided to affiliate itself with the Twin Falls County "Trustees' association and the group was represented today at the trustees meeting in Twin Falls.

Students comprising the remainder of the group are Peter Duester, dean, Caldwell; Elmer Shalinger, Piler; Angus Knudsen, Glenn Perry; Grady Rowley, Challis; Fred Hofer, Nampa; Bill Estimer, Jordan Valley, Oregon; and Joyce Whitmore, Moscow, Colo.

Our policy for

Due to the returning popularity of phonograph records, the year 1940 finds us adding extensively to the selection we already offer in Bluebird and Victor records. In addition, you may now select from Decca, Columbia, Vocalion and Brunswick releases. No matter what your taste in music, we are sure that it can be fulfilled with a selection from this assortment.

The year 1940 will reveal many changes in what we believe is an already progressive, successful organization. These changes are designed to bring to our customers a better, more complete service and a more attractive selection of products . . . to the end that a greater satisfaction may be derived by every person who trades here.

The fourth improvement noted in our policy for 1940 is one that will bring an actual dollars and cents savings to our customers. We are now able to offer a substantial reduction in finance rates. This is of a permanent nature and will materially benefit those of you who are contemplating major purchases in 1940.

Outstanding is the addition to our organization of Mr. Ed Soules, a completely qualified, first-grade electrician. In the past, our service work has been conducted by Mr. John Yaple, partner in our firm. Henceforth, service work, installation and repairs will be handled by Mr. Soules, who is licensed to do any and all types of electrical work and is available at all times. This change will permit Mr. Yaple to devote the major part of his time to sales.

And . . . it might be well to remind every reader of our basic, standard products . . . products upon which our business has been founded. Included in these are Westinghouse refrigerators, ranges, water heaters, washers, ironers and appliances; Stromberg-Carlson and RCA radios and equipment; Stokol stokers — and last, but not least, the only completely automatic washer, the Bendix Home Laundry.

Besides this important addition to our personnel, we are pleased to announce an addition to our already popular line of appliances. In 1940 you will find a complete selection in our store of Hot Point appliances — featuring the Hot Point Range and the Hot Point Hot Water Heater.

We shall continue to sell and service the Westinghouse Line of appliances which has been outstanding in popularity with our customers . . . but we sincerely feel that the addition of the Hot Point line will give our customers an even greater range of selection. The fact that we are in a position to render complete service on these lines gives us the opportunity to completely protect your investment and to give you the satisfaction intended by the manufacturer.

We, as an organization, are enthusiastic about these additions and changes . . . we feel that they will greatly interest every resident of this community. And because they are important, we sincerely invite you to inspect this stock, visit with us and let us tell you about the advantages and qualities of each of our products. The reputation of the manufacturers represented in our stock plus our ability to render a complete service on each, places this organization in a position to serve you best.

Game—For Such As Feel Goofy

Dear Potale:
 This may sound kind of silly to you guys and gals who are immune to such things as being away from church and occasionally going so far as to drink two cokes in a row.

But did you read about the game of "Garbage"?

It's like this:
 You get together a group of your closest friends (if any) who are apt to have some money in their pockets. Get 'em all sealed around in a little paper (stapled), and suggest not more than one cent per chip if you don't want the husbands and wives gazing at each other too much.

Then: One man holds the deal until he has handled the following: "You've been a black jack (unless there's a black jack to stop the rounds); dealer's choice on some of the plain deals; a round of five cards where-in the player calls whether the next five cards will be red or black against the dealer; then using the same cards, a hand of put-and-take."

And you top this off by playing bingo on the last round with the same cards you used for put-and-take.

If anybody's got any money left after that, you pass the deal to the next guy—and so far into the night—and morning... or until somebody is hailed away to the mythos.

Try it some time—it's fun if your pocket book can stand it.

No More Reds

The American Civil Liberties Union became the first liberal organization to take definite action against Communist and Fascist influences when the union's governing committee and board of directors both voted to bar persons belonging to organizations "with obvious anti-democratic objectives or practices."

Many Stalinist sympathizers will shortly set up a howl. But by its gesture, the Civil Liberties Union has won the applause of thousands of Americans, whose approval is more important than that of Reds and Fascists.

The name of the organization clearly states its objective. Anyone subscribing to tenets of the Civil Liberties Union, and, at the same time, upholding either Stalinism or Hitlerism, is the clearest kind of hypocrite. No organization, professing to safeguard American rights and liberties, can afford to encourage that type of member.

• SERIAL STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

PEOPLE stared at Marie as she walked through the streets. She had left Varnet's in tears, not so much because she had lost her job but because she had hurt Dan. She was caught in a web she saw no way of breaking.

But she would not have minded so much the cold herself, had she been the only one to be hurt. But the droop of Dan's shoulders, as he stood in Varnet's, told her he was suffering, too. This was almost more than she could bear. Blindly she walked down the West Side subway steps and boarded a southbound train.

Force of habit prompted her to go home. She tried, vainly, to keep back her tears. A sympathetic woman, imagining that only a dear child could be so grieved, moved aside to let the girl into a corner seat.

"I know, I've lost dear ones, too," the woman said. "The first shock is the hardest."

Marie wiped her eyes. Dan might as well be dead. She would never see him again. She recalled her last glimpse of him, standing alone and bewildered in the salon. After Varnet had screamed at her that she was fired, Marie had put on her street clothes, prepared to go. Before she left, she took one last look at the salon. It was then that she had seen Dan, trying to understand why she refused to see him.

Fate seemed to be closing in on her. Even the children associated her with Tommy. She saw her

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
 Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. In spite of the experience and troubles of the Alaska rural rehabilitation project, the government stands to lose $3,000,000 from the Matanuska valley experiment in Alaska. Plans are afoot in Washington to start two additional resettlement colonies there.

The new colonies will benefit from the experience and troubles of the famous Matanuska co-operative through two significant changes in the government's policy.

They will be straight commercial ventures without any of Matanuska's depression time features, and persons admitted will not be relief clients but will be farmers on a straight sink-or-swim basis.

The government made plenty of mistakes in Matanuska. It operated on too large a scale. It took to Alaska a number of people who simply couldn't make a go of farming.

CAN SUPPLY THEM OF ALASKA'S FOOD

At the future, Col. O. P. Ohlson, chairman of the board of directors of the Alaska rural rehabilitation corporation, says "there can be no question as to the ultimate success of this project."

Matanuska, he thinks, can supply about 30 per cent of the $6,000,000 worth of foodstuffs imported annually into Alaska.

Alaska's population will soon increase by about 3,000 persons, says an army air and base area report, and the demand will grow.

Looking ahead to that time, the government has tentatively picked sites for the two new colonies on the Kenai peninsula and one in the Tanana valley.

MATANUSKA GIVEN GOVERNMENT STORE

Matanuska is almost on its own, now.

In December the Alaska rural rehabilitation corporation turned over to the colony cooperative a general store with $116,000 worth of stock, and various facilities—a cannery, a creamery, an abattoir, a hatchery and so on—with a book value of $600,000. Direction of the colony store is being handled by a manager named by the corporation.

The co-op thus starts life with a debt to the corporation of $600,000. This is being repaid by a scaled down something soon with the corporation's consent.

The 101 families in the colony owe the corporation, on an average, $5,000 apiece on a 30-year-payment basis. The corporation stands to get back, therefore, around $1,500,000 as compared with total investment in the colony of $4,000,000.

The 101 families are originally taken to Alaska, $1,000 each have come back to the states. Most of the replacements to date are Alaskans.

ALL FAMILIES MUST JOIN CO-OP

All families must belong to the cooperative and must market their products through it.

This arrangement has caused some friction. One thrifty farmer, for instance, buys his own grain, and various facilities—a cannery, a creamery, an abattoir, a hatchery and so on—with a book value of $600,000. Direction of the colony store is being handled by a manager named by the corporation.

These Buhl Pioneers Have Colorful Stories

REV. PHILO E. BARTLETT (Times Engravings) MISS MARY HINCKLEY

Valentine's Day Marks 84th Birthday For Two of Buhl's Earliest Pioneers

By Mrs. OLIN SMITH — St. Valentine's day is especially significant for Miss Mary Hinckley and Philo E. Bartlett, two of Buhl's earliest settlers and oldest pioneers, who are celebrating their 84th birthday anniversaries at their respective homes in Buhl, the town they were instrumental in helping to develop. Both outstanding pioneers came the "new town" of Buhl within a few months of the same time, and have remembered each other on their Valentine's day anniversaries for the past 30 years.

Buhl's "first lady," Miss Hinckley came to the west and with her brother, John Hinckley, Jan. 20, 1856 from Steamboat Springs, Colo., on a wagon drawn by four horses and Philo E. Bartlett, who operated the "back hotel" which was the first building near the Buhl townsite, set to the wagon, across the street from the present Oregon Trail Service station near the Burley corner.

Phil E. Bartlett, retired Methodist minister, who preached the first church service in Buhl in one way or another, walked from the saloon, walked from his homestead, five miles north of the townsite, on a hot July morning in 1866 to preach that historic service, carrying a black cotton umbrella, as protection from the hot desert sun.

"The men who boarded with Buhl's 'first lady' were John E. Hayes, Twin Falls, engineer, and his assistants, who were laying out the town of Buhl. They moved one row through the sagebrush to designate the streets and lay out the blocks. Brother Hayes Water Boy, who was no laughing matter in those days," she remarked, "Brother John painted all over the early morning hours, and for dish washing from the Cedar Draw creek six miles east, on the present highway. Two trips a day over the early roads with barrels of water was a good day's work for any man."

Miss Hinckley invited Bartlett when she recalled the story of her first meeting. She said she was drinking for their team of horses, and it was very interesting to meet the pioneer who had just arrived for the opening of the townsite. Brother Hayes hauled many barrels of water to supply both the rooming house table, the out-casting place, this side of Twin Falls and the new Hotel Buhl.

Very clearly Miss Hinckley recalled the date of the official opening of the townsite and remembered that Clarence Peck, father of the late Peck family, had sold the land and water company. It was the lot where the present Farmers National bank stands on the corner of Broadway and Main street. Many jobs were as being cold and rainy. They stopped at a shepherd's camp en route and warmed themselves over the small camp fire.

Desert Miracle — Father Bartlett has all the dates on the tip of his tongue. The first water was turned into the laterals for farm use and came foaming through the miles of sagebrush first on July 20, 1866. He recalled seeing "white something" advancing toward him as he walked in the lateral toward town.

On discovering its identity he shrieked with excitement. "Water, Water, the WATER is here" as he ran to tell one of the settlers working in the field with his team. He called again and waved to his neighbor laboring in the dust and the "white something" advanced toward him. "WATER, it has come."

Mr. Bartlett was born in LeClair, Mont. county, Ia., Feb. 14, 1856. His great-grandfather fought in the Battle of Bunker Hill and his mother was a second cousin of H. C. Peck, the multi-millionaire coke magnate.

Looking back over the 80 years he spanned from his earliest recollection to his 84th birthday with St. Valentine recalled the completion and the opening of the canal carrying the first water into the town. "My it was dirty. We had to put alum in it to settle the dirt so we could wash dishes," she said. She also recalled the completion of the railway into town in the summer of 1908. "That was another real event, and raised for celebration."

Miss Hinckley was born near Lansing, Mich., Feb. 14, 1856. When asked if she was lonesome during those first trying years of pioneer life she quickly remarked, "Oh no, no. I was too busy cooking and washing dishes in those days to be lonesome."

From his pastorate in Lulu, Wash., Rev. Bartlett came to Buhl with his son in May, 1905, and filed 40 acres near Kimberly and two separate 40-acre lots at Buhl. At that time the town of Twin Falls was being surveyed and laid out and a line from the town of Kimberly was being graded and built.

Has a Famous Son — The pioneering son of the late Mrs. Bartlett who "paved" up the Kimberly farm and one of the first here, is Dr. Edwin Hartlett, an outstanding physician and surgeon of St. Paul, Minn.

Father and Mother Bartlett came from Washington in 1865 to make their home at Buhl. They were out of the train in Twin Falls by their son, Edwin, with a team and wagon, the journey to Buhl requiring considerable time over roads that could not be traveled to a walk, so they decided to stay at the Peck hotel over night, and get an early start the next day, which he remembered.

BRITONS GRANTED LICENSE TO FIGHT IN FINN ARMY

RECRUIT SERVICE ESTABLISHED FOR LONDON SECTION

LONDON, Feb. 14 (UP)—A general license has been granted to British subjects to enlist in the Finnish army forces. It was announced in the house of commons today.

The announcement was made by Major Robert Penke, home office undersecretary, in response to a question by Laborite Denis Nowell Pitt.

Penke said a license also had been granted to a recruiting organization which had been established in London.

Penke said the government had decided to give Thursday and Friday evenings in the high school auditorium, starting at 8:15 p. m. Left to right they are Mary Lee, wife of Jake Lee, superintendent of the airport, portrayed by Margaret Chevalier; Buzz, radio operator, played by Earl Jordan; Jake Lee, portrayed by Bob Fenner. In the parachute (a real one), and flying tops is Dixie Davis, pilot, taken by Bob Bayless, and smiling up at him in admiration for a real pilot is Tommy Thomas, who has just made her first solo, portrayed by Lois Louden. All characters except that of Margaret Chevalier are from Thursday night's cast. This scene occurs in the first act, shortly after Dixie Davis arrives at the airport.

"It would in their (the government's) view be inconsistent with the terms of the resolution that British subjects who wish to volunteer for service in Finland should be hindered by the provisions of the foreign enlistment act, seeing that the act contains power to grant dispensations," Penke said in a reply to Pitt.

The government, it was learned, had been considering the decision to permit Britons to serve with the Finns for some time. One major consideration was the effect of the decision announced by Penke today on Soviet-British relations.

SCHOOL'S HEALTH SYSTEM PRAISED

Health service in the Twin Falls city schools is "probably as good as that in any school system in the entire country," says Hon. W. M. Davis said today in announcing a summary of the work here from reports through the year.

The health setup is handled through the county unit, with Mrs. Elizabeth Smith as full-time nurse for the school year. Mrs. Smith has "given us unusually fine service," the superintendent said.

Significant feature of the health status in the public system is shown in the report on the tuberculin skin test carried out by the health unit and the Anti-Tuberculosis association. Students tested numbered 300. Out of that group, Mr. Davis said, only 23 had positive reactions and X-rays for the 23 showed not one possible case of tuberculosis.

Immunization work in the schools found 245 pupils inoculated against diphtheria and 220 against smallpox.

Dramatic Theme Marks Junior Class Tale of the Airways, "Ceiling Zero"

By MARGARET ELLESWORTH

Friendship of three men for each other and their love for the air service to which they will give their lives, will be graphically shown in the Twin Falls high school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights when the junior class presents "Ceiling Zero," starting at 8:15 p. m.

Prevailing throughout the play is the idea of pioneering in the air, and the part the early pilots and airman played in the development of the industry to the peak it has reached today.

First Act. In the first act Dixie Davis, a pilot, has just arrived at the operations office of the Federal airlines, eastern division, at Newark, N. J., after having spent four years flying in the western division, from Cheyenne to California. He meets two old friends, with whom he has shared many experiences, during his pioneering of the airways, one now manager of the air field and the other a tractor of younger student pilots.

During the second act one of these gives his life when he is unable to bring his plane down through a fog after his radio has gone dead, and in the third act Dixie himself loses his life while testing a new de-icer for the wings of planes.

Romantic Leads. Romantic leads are Tommy Thomas, an air hostess, and Tay Lawson, who plays Dixie takes on his last flight, "Heaven's" part is that of Jake Lee, superintendent of the airport.

Author of the play, Frank Wead, writes, and is fully experienced in pioneering in the air. Among his many accomplishments was breaking five records for duration and speed during one flight in 1924.

He was a lieutenant commander in the United States navy aviation corps when he retired to wife of the air of which he had such an intimate personal knowledge.

During the World war he was on duty in the North sea, laying a mine barrage. In 1923 he was captain of an American team which for the first time won the Schneider cup in aviation from France, Italy and England.

Author's First Play. After his retirement he wrote a history of aviation, magazine fiction and screen plays and stories. "Ceiling Zero" was his first stage play.

Adding to the airport atmosphere of the production will be the stage setting, including radio equipment to send and receive messages from pilots who are in the air, and a radio switchboard equipped with lights. A loud speaker amplifier will carry the voices of men speaking from distant airports and airplanes to the audience. Among the sound effects, some of which were imported from New York, are telephone bells, sirens, an airplane motor as the plane roars overhead, and an airplane crash.

Included in the 25 members of the cast, which will be duplicated the second night, are pilots, mechanics, hostesses, and other persons connected with an airport in many ways.

Costumes include pilot uniforms of khaki for mail pilots and dark blue for passenger pilots, flying outfits, mechanics overalls, business uniforms and civilian dress.

Costume committee is Betty Thompson, Zelma Thomas and Billie Kaufmann. Properties are in charge of Helen Thomas, Helen Brown, Melba Holmes, Marjorie Cook and Bobbie Karnas. Advertising was in charge of a committee, Mary Egan, Gail, Phyllis Greenwood, Barbara Butler, Virginia Allen and June Daniels.

JANITOR WINS CHAMP PRIZE

LORAIN, O. (UP)—A prize offered at a "charin school" lecture limited exclusively to women was won by a man. It. Brian, janitor of the building, had obtained a ticket and dropped it in the box. The women would give him his prize out of bread and a package of cheese.

When he came in he was as nervous as a golden glove. He didn't know what to do with his hands, and when he was getting the instructions from the judge he fidgeted at his dressing gown, shuffled his feet, and rolled his shoulders like a young duck.

The odds on him immediately dropped, and it was 2-1 and even he wasn't last of the three (outs).
 "He's faster than Jack the other ever was, and Jack won the title."
 "It wasn't the only one named by the similarity of the name Woodcott and Woodcott. Mike Jacobs, the New York promoter, had sent me out with a contract to sign up the heavyweight who was getting so much publicity in Los Angeles and Hollywood."
 When Woodcott made his first appearance in a wheel chair, and wearing glasses, the woman's cry of "diamond" could be heard all over the theater.

Woodcott fought gamely through the first act. He was champion or challenger who couldn't eat, and that Woodcott or Woodcott of whatever his name is, didn't get those ribs for "diamond" for the hour club, while Cliff got the hour club, while Cliff led the winners with seven.

Final count of the girls' encounter was 22-10 in their thriller. Barbara Bradburn, of the winning King Hill sextet in scoring with 10 points, but Bryn got 14 for Bliss.

Kimberly Wins Over Hollister

KIMBERLY, Feb. 14 (Special)—Kimberly won the annual sub-district tournament here last night by taking a double bill from Invading Hollister.

The varsity encounter between the club came through with a 27-26 victory after taking a wide margin in the first quarter and 21-7 at the half. Third period count was 31-12. Murray led the home team in scoring with 10 points, while Cliff got the same number for Hollister.

The preliminary went to the Junior Frosh-soph team by a score of 14-8.

New Option Order Will Aid Ball Player Held In Minor Loop Bondage

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 14 (UP)—All the shooting is over. The old gray-haired judge who rules as baseball czar and Larry MacPhail were walking arm in arm down the corridors of the Bellevue-Biltmore hotel. It was "good morning, judge" and "top of the morning to you, Sam" when Commissioner Landis and Sam Breadon met in the breakfast room.

For the bitter battle between Commissioner Landis and the chain store operators such as Larry MacPhail, of the Dodgers, Sam Breadon of the Cardinals and others, has ended in a temporary truce.

The farm system is going on much as before, Commissioner Landis has agreed to a new amendment to cover protection of the players' interests and all is quiet once more after the baseball front.

After a four-hour meeting yesterday of Commissioner Landis, the two league presidents, five major league officials, and Judge W. C. Brannan, president of the minor leagues, they all came to an amicable agreement about the manipulation of ball players. Landis agreed to suspend the two paragraphs of the new rule in his seven-point bulletin of Jan. 15 pending the subsequent passage of a new amendment drawn up at yesterday's session.

Reconsider Action

"Warning about what would happen to baseball if Landis refused those two paragraphs caused the judge to reconsider his severe interpretations last month and listen to the pleas of the club owners."

It was conservatively estimated if Landis had not relented at least 10 minor leagues out of 41 would have collapsed.

The new amendment, which will be submitted to a mail vote of the major and minor leagues, and to the players, has been insisted he must have if the farm systems continue to operate, according to Landis.

"This new amendment removes 99 per cent of the commissioner's objections to working agreements and to the players' protection. The commissioner is satisfied this rule will take care of the player and prevent him from being mis-handled."

Aid for Player

The main effect of the rule will be to take away the incentive to keep a ball player tied up under option and various other ways in a chain store system for a long period of time. If, on the other hand, the new amendment is passed, it means that if the New York Yankees sign a ball player and send him to a minor league club, they automatically lose one year's option, and then they can only keep him under option in the minors three more years. After that they have to bring him to the Yanks and can option him two more years.

Under the old conditions, which Commissioner Landis objected to so bitterly, it was possible to extend the periods which a player could be kept under contract for an unlimited time through working agreements and ownership of lower clubs.

The amendment doesn't mean a thing as far as outstanding ball players who are headed for the majors are concerned. Its main effect will be on players who are destined to stay in the minors.

Mac Goes to See Joe Walcott in Action—But Finds Instead Alexander Woolcott

By HENRY McLEMORE
 LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (UP)—Under the impression I was going to see Joe Walcott, the water-weight champion, in an exhibition match, I went to the Belmont theater last night. There is no need to tell you I was tremendously surprised when I discovered it wasn't Joe Walcott at all who was on the exhibition, but a heavyweight named Alex Woolcott.

I don't know anything about this Woolcott, and he might be a better name, but just to let you all see he is the worst conditioned "white hope" I ever saw. He made his first entrance into the ring in a pair of slippers, and a man who has to fight in that sort of a condition has a prayer against Joe.

When he came in he was as nervous as a golden glove. He didn't know what to do with his hands, and when he was getting the instructions from the judge he fidgeted at his dressing gown, shuffled his feet, and rolled his shoulders like a young duck. The odds on him immediately dropped, and it was 2-1 and even he wasn't last of the three (outs). "He's faster than Jack the other ever was, and Jack won the title." "It wasn't the only one named by the similarity of the name Woodcott and Woodcott. Mike Jacobs, the New York promoter, had sent me out with a contract to sign up the heavyweight who was getting so much publicity in Los Angeles and Hollywood." When Woodcott made his first appearance in a wheel chair, and wearing glasses, the woman's cry of "diamond" could be heard all over the theater.

Woodcott fought gamely through the first act. He was champion or challenger who couldn't eat, and that Woodcott or Woodcott of whatever his name is, didn't get those ribs for "diamond" for the hour club, while Cliff got the hour club, while Cliff led the winners with seven.

Final count of the girls' encounter was 22-10 in their thriller. Barbara Bradburn, of the winning King Hill sextet in scoring with 10 points, but Bryn got 14 for Bliss.

Kimberly won the annual sub-district tournament here last night by taking a double bill from Invading Hollister.

The varsity encounter between the club came through with a 27-26 victory after taking a wide margin in the first quarter and 21-7 at the half. Third period count was 31-12. Murray led the home team in scoring with 10 points, while Cliff got the same number for Hollister.

The preliminary went to the Junior Frosh-soph team by a score of 14-8.

STRIKES to SPARE With Fred Stone

Those new pins didn't bother the teams nearly as much last night in fact, all scores were fairly good...

I don't remember when a team ever had as even scores as the Perrine Hotel club. Their scores ran like this: 40-40-47-47-47-47...

Ken Smith's 211 topped both teams for night. Fred Stone did quite well, also, but his low man was a little lower and the high man a little higher...

Max Eppor led the Elks to victory in the match with the Studebaker quint. He had a 541 three-game average and made a top single with a 201 in the middle game...

For the Studebaker boys the only other Elks score over 500 was 411, turned in by O. W. Cox was tops. He also shot in the anchor position...

Bob McCracken's 189 was the best single. E. J. Tanner's 201 led for high single for the commercial league so far this week...

URGES CLEANING OUT OF "LEECHES"

Editor, Evening Times: So many things have happened the past few years in our government and out of our government which is un-American that I feel I would like to raise my voice in protest of some of them, for I feel that there are thousands of Americans who feel as I do.

We have the greatest government in the world, a government built upon the firm foundation of our constitution.

Our constitution calls for a government of three branches, each branch with limited powers. Our constitution grants to each person the right of religious liberty, freedom of the press and freedom of speech. It makes our homes free from being entered or our loved ones seized unless by due process of law and no one may take them away from us; our fathers fought and died to make it so and it makes my blood boil when men in high positions of trust, put in these positions by the vote of the people and sworn to protect the constitution, men try to change the constitution.

The world trend today is away from freedom of the people, and people are being robbed of their freedom in other countries. Every vestige of individual liberty and individual opportunities and thrift are taken away, ruled by dictators who care no more for the common people or not as much as a farmer in Idaho cares for his pigs and chickens.

In the United States of late there have been incessant borings from within by political bureaucrats and crooks who have double-crossed the voters who put them in power and office. These very men are trying to destroy the very thing that permits them to be in office, the constitution.

BANKERS ADVISED TO KNOW FARMS

Knowledge and understanding of farming and its problems is essential to good banking in agricultural communities. D. H. Otto, Madison, Wis., director of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association, declared here last night.

The declaration was made during Otto's talk given before 170 bankers and farmers attending a meeting of the Idaho State Bankers' association at the Presbyterian church here last night. Farmers were guests of the bankers.

Aid Farmer In carrying out his discussion, the speaker declared that the banker must aid the farmer to "keep going" when times become difficult. He added that a banker must know livestock land, must know the type of agriculture common in his district and likewise must know good farming practices. His relations with the farmers should be pleasant ones and he should "get out among them" as much as is possible.

He further declared that farm loans are usually highly satisfactory and "the loss is small." He discussed farm records and budgets and termed them as highly valuable when loans are being sought.

Other Speakers Other speakers heard during the evening's program included Ralph J. Comstock, Jr., vice-president of the First Security bank, Pocatello; D. T. (Bert) Bollingbroke, county extension agent, Fred Otto, Bush, who told of his 4-H club dairy project, and Jack Farrar, Twin Falls, representing the Future Farmers of America.

Presiding at the session was George J. McConigal, Burley, vice-president of the Idaho Bank and Trust company. He is also chairman of the agricultural committee of the banking group.

Comradely singing of "Idaho" ended the meeting.

ing to destroy the very thing that permits them to be in office, the constitution. It is a disgrace to the nation and the people when an alien from another country who does not care a snap for our constitution but who likes the freedom it grants can come into our land and obtain so much power under the present government that he can dictate the closing of all of our mail harbors from the Atlantic to the Pacific and throw thousands of men out of work who cannot afford to be idle. This happened last summer and everyone knows the name of the man, Harry Bridges, who has such a hold and protection that he could not even be deported.

A thing of this kind shows that we have been betrayed and sold down the river and this is just one of many things happening all the time. A more recent happening when the President made a speech before a Red organization in Washington and condemned the action of Russia against little Finland was hissed and booed until he could not go on speaking; the same thing happened when the President's wife spoke to the same meeting.

What can we do about it? Plenty. We can by vote, pen and our voices this fall change it and change it plenty. The time has come when we should clean out the cowboys of all the men that have collected in our government against our constitution. Why should we import a lot of cheap farm produce from other countries at the expense of the farmers in our own country and a lot of other ways that the American people have a right to ask. It is up to us, the voters, to arouse ourselves and see to it that this fall men are put into office who will neither be bought or sold but who will restore honesty in government. Let us clean out the leeches in government who have collected in our life blood of our nation. Let those who prefer Russia under Stalin and Germany under Hitler and other forms of dictatorship leave our shores of liberty and freedom and return to the lands and governments of their choice. We do not want them here. Long live the land of the free and home of the brave. F. H. McNEEL, Twin Falls, Feb. 12
