Ruddy Face and Million-Dollar Nose Drop in For Brief Twin Falls Visit

A round ruddy face and a million-dollar proboscis dropped in on Twin Falls yesterday afternoon.

But not one "My little chickadee" popped out of the cheerful face.

Putting the proboscis and the chickadee together, you get the idea.

W. O. Fields, hitting comically in the rear seat of a long black sedan of exclusive domestic make, Hollywood's inimitable comedian wasn't in town more than a few minutes, just long enough for his business manager, Charles Meyer, to walk down Main avenue to make a purchase.

From his parking spot in the driveway of a service station at Main and Third street north Fields gazed cheerfully around between remarks to Leo Miller, his chauffeur.

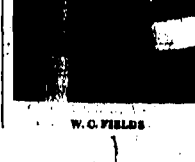

"How the devil did you find out so fast that we were here?" he chuckled.

Leo Miller, his chauffeur, replied: "I know," he grinned. "It was this big nose."

Fields evidently isn't too sure of this Idaho country.

"I thought it was a hold-up," he said the evening Times reporter who had opened the car door without benefit of invitation.

The chuckle known to millions as "The Great Dictator" was in evidence when Fields said: "Wonderful," said Meyer.

IDAHO MEDICAL STUDENTS LEAD

MOSCOW, Feb. 29.—One hundred three University of Idaho students who went on to medical schools from 1930 to 1939 fared better during the critical first year than their classmates from the other largest colleges and universities in the northwest.

Report received by President H. O. Dale from the Association of American Medical Colleges shows that 76.9 per cent of students admitted from the University of Idaho came through the first year of medical school with clear records; only 9.8 per cent failed and 13.3 per cent withdrew for non-scholastic reasons such as inadequate finances, illness, dislikes for medicine, and unstated causes. All three figures quoted are above average.

The report covers 491 colleges and universities which had taken on more students in freshman classes of American medical schools from 1930 through 1939. During the nine-year period, institutions in Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington had a total of 1,283 former students involved in the study.

Extra Day of Year Finds Thousands Celebrating Short Birthdays

FEBRUARY 29TH IS LAST ADDED DAY UNTIL 1944

NEW YORK, Feb. 29 (UP)—Today was the big day of the extra day, or leap year, the extra day bestowed every four years (with certain exceptions) on a lengthening posterity by Julius Caesar's astronomers.

Today John J. Shelton, of East Orange, N. J., celebrated his 22nd birthday, and A. J. Rohrer, of Maplewood, N. J., his 20th, though they are 92 and 84 respectively.

Caesar's astronomers figuring out a calendar more satisfactory than the one based on the moon which the Romans then used, devised a year of 365 days and six hours, coinciding with the sun's movements, but to avoid bothering with the six hours every year they added an extra day every fourth year.

Falls Out of Step

But even so, the sun and the calendar would fall out of step were it not for a more precise mathematical formula governing the occurrences of leap year. The formula: "Every year the number of days which is divisible by four is a leap year, excepting the last year of each century, which is a leap year only when the number of years which is divisible by four; but 4,000 and its multiples, 8,000, 12,000, 16,000, etc., are common years."

Thus 1900 was not a leap year and this is the root of an error which caused thousands to celebrate today the 21st birthday of Frederick, an apprentice pirate, and his consequent freedom to marry a maid named Mabel—who was young and beautiful in 1870 when Frederick had lived 21 years.

Operative Hero

Frederic was the hero of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Pirates of Penzance," from which came the melody but not the words "Hail, Hail the Guy who lives here." His parents told his governess when he was a child, to take him out and apprentice him to a pilot. She misunderstood and apprenticed him to a pirate. At 21, in love with Mabel, he asked to be released from his indenture. The pirate king pointed out that since he had not been born on Feb. 29 he would not be released until he was 21, on Feb. 29, 1940.

Back in 1878 when the opera was first produced, 1940 was a long way off and the audiences yawned when Frederic and Mabel assured one another they would wait with their love unabated. Tonight the American Gilbert and Sullivan association presents a substitute of their happy union and countless pianos and amateur tenors will recall Frederic's love. But Sir W. S. Gilbert forgot about 1900 not being a divisible by four. Actually Frederic will not be 21 until 1944.

FORESTERS STUDY BLAZE FIGHTING

ODGEN, Utah, Feb. 29 (UP)—Discussions of the "one lick" method of fighting forest fires over large areas continued today at the attention of the regional foresters fire control conference here today.

The "one lick" plan, long used successfully in Oregon and Washington national forests, prescribes certain small portions of the large job of building fire lines to each man, who will move on to another post when his "lick" is finished, the foresters were told.

Preventive and methods of backing ahead of uncontrolled forest blazes was heard by the conference.

Contracts between earlier years of fire-fighting and the methods now in use show the rapid development of transportation facilities for backing fire crews from their camps to the fire lines.

The airplane, as a means of getting to a fire as soon as it is spotted, is no longer an unpractical vision but is in use more during each fire season, foresters were told.

Band Fights School Board to Get Trip to Colorado Event

BLAOKFOOT, Ida., Feb. 29 (UP)—A fight to the finish loomed between members of the Blackfoot high school band and members of the school board of trustees over the quashing of the band's long-planned trip to Grand Junction, Colo., music festival May 12 to 17.

The board turned the trip down as impractical. The band had already raised $100 to finance the trip and had plans to get the rest of the $800 required.

The students expressed themselves as determined not to let the board's "no" for an answer.

Youths Rewarded for Energetic Work

The winners and the "boss" could easily be the title of this picture, taken in the offices of R. S. Toftennire, publisher of the Idaho Evening Times and the Twin Falls News. It shows Mr. Toftennire presenting Edward Blevins, Hansen carrier, with a special school portfolio. Bob Meigs, Twin Falls carrier, looks over the one he has just received from the "boss." Meigs secured 16 new orders and Blevins 15 new orders during the week Mr. Toftennire was out of the city. The subscription campaign was staged without knowledge of the publisher and, when he returned from the trip, 262 new subscription blanks were piled on his desk.

"When Boss Is Away"—These Newspaper Lads Work Hard

"When the boss is away, workers will play."

But not so among the Idaho Evening Times and Twin Falls News carriers who surprised their boss, namely R. S. Toftennire, publisher, by placing 262 new subscription orders on his desk as he returned from a 10-day trip to the coast.

With Mr. Toftennire out of town, the carriers decided to put on a subscription campaign during that time. Prizes for those youths getting the most new subscriptions were offered by officials of the circulation department.

Meigs, Blevins Win

And, after the week's race had been run, Bob Meigs, Twin Falls, was "on the top of the heap" among local carriers with Edward Blevins, Hansen, held the same position among outside carriers. Final tabulations, made today, show Meigs secured 16 new orders during the week and Blevins, 15. Because the race was so close between the two youths, officials decided to award them a special prize.

Other merchandise awards went to the following carriers: Jim Muffley, fieldman for AAA. A motion picture, "The River," financed by the Mississippi river, was presented by the Mississippi river.

FARM LOAN UNIT LEADS 4 STATES

J. W. McDowell, secretary-treasurer of the Twin Falls National Farm Loan association office, today was informed that the unit here is handling a larger volume of business than any of the other 71 similar units in the four Pacific northwest states.

The information was given to Mr. McDowell as several officers of the Federal Land bank of Spokane traveling from Boise to Great Falls, Mont., visited here. The officers are en route to the Montana city to attend conference with national leaders.

Over Five Millions

Records show that more than $5,500,000 in federal land bank and land bank commissioner loans are serviced from the Twin Falls office. These loans have been written since the first National Farm Loan association was established in this country in 1917.

At present, five associations are serviced from the local office. They are the Bull, Castleford, Hollister, Kimberly and Twin Falls units. Presidents of these associations are George Leith, Bull; A. E. Heller, Castleford; John M. Pierce, Hollister; C. Bruce Requa, Kimberly; and E. McChubb, Twin Falls. Mr. McDowell is secretary-treasurer for all five groups.

Cooperatives

National Farm Loan associations are cooperative organizations through which federal land bank loans are made and serviced. Mr. McDowell said these associations are also stockholders in the federal land bank, holding a total of $218,320 in this stock. This figure is the same as the capitalization of the local associations, which stock was subscribed by members at the time advisory reclamation committees at any similar site on the Boise river, expenditure of $700,000 for reclamation in the Payette division, and beginning construction on the $1,000,000 Grand valley dam on the Upper Snake river.

WORK OF WATER BOARD OFFICIAL

BOISE, Feb. 29 (UP)—The federal bureau of reclamation will consider recommendations of the Idaho advisory reclamation committee as "official for the state," James Spoford, commissioner of reclamation, announced today.

Spoford received the assurances on a recent trip to Washington. In creating the official state program, the committee gave approval to the Case-Wheeler act providing $5,000,000 for a national small reclamation program, asked for reappropriation of the 1939 Twin Springs dam fund to make it available for construction at any similar site on the Boise river.

PLAY GETS 4 Tilts Scheduled For Opening Day Play at Wendell

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor
WENDELL, Feb. 23 (Special)—The outstanding basketball teams, accompanied by coaches, students and well-wishers from the small towns of south central Idaho, were congregated here today as play got underway in the annual Class B district tourney to select a representative from this district in the state meet.

On hand early for the opening game festivities were the teams representing Glenns Ferry and Kimberly, who started the tourney in the first round at 2:30 p. m. The River Pilots, defending district champions and winner of the Western sub-district, are favored to annex their opening contest.

HERE and THERE

In the SPORTS WORLD

Two Hot Shots
However, they will have to contend with a pair of the finest little hot-shot forwards in the basketball business of south central Idaho—regardless of classification. These two players are Murray and Aldritt—both on the same side, but spectacular enough on their shooting ability to bring the Kimberly team into the district meet as runner-up from the South Side sub-district.

At 3:30 the runner-up Heyburn Panthers, generally regarded as the team to beat in this meet, came with Glenns Ferry, who will take an underdog Hailey Wolverine quintet. Coach Dick Stevens' club is favored to win this one without too much trouble. However, the Hailey club, coached by Don Johnson, the former University of Idaho star, came through to win over a tough State school club to gain the Wood River title and may have something on the ball that will favor the big Heyburn lads.

Two Games Tonight
Tonight's session will feature two games. In the first the Edna Grizzlies meet Shoshone—both clubs being champions of their respective areas. The Indians look like one of the standpoint teams of the district, but Eden may surprise with some outstanding work by Lance as scheduled in the first round. If Eden is hot, then the Grizzlies may be hard to beat.

If Warner's Horse Wins Santa Anita Handicap, He'll Collect $600,000

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 23 (UP)—If a horse named Kantan wins the Santa Anita handicap this Saturday look for Warner Brothers-Fox National Studio to produce two or three hundred super, colossal, tremendous, gigantic epics in a row.

And in the third place, a win by Kantan would undoubtedly mark the sudden (and welcome) demise of brother Offutt. Can you picture Offutt's feeling if he had to stand in the clubhouse and watch Kantan pound into the stretch a length ahead and pulling away? The chances are, however, Offutt won't have to watch such a deheartening sight. Not even the defeat of a feather impetus of 150 pounds or the presence of Nickie Wall on his back figures to help Kantan a great deal. All that Kantan seems to have in the way of thoroughbred equipment, outside of big ears, a mane, four legs and a mouthful of large teeth, is consistency. And his consistency is of the wrong sort.

THE PAYOFF

by HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

CHICAGO—If they can keep from working themselves into an unmanageable fever over the point in question, the nation's basketball coaches may clear up the sport's biggest bone of contention at the annual coaches meeting in Kansas City late in March.

The problem which is certain to come up for consideration and probable action is the "out-of-rules" rule.

Nearly every instructor in collegiate ranks admits the need for a standard interpretation but getting them all to agree so far has been a tough job.

By way of preliminary explanation, the out-of-rules rule is interference without bodily contact, except of course where a man gets his enthusiasm set away with him, or misses his timing.

Using himself as a screen, a player allows his teammate to shoot or break for the basket by getting in the path of the shooter's defensive opponent.

The maneuver is perfectly legal if not carried to extremes or if it doesn't result in contact. If it does, the degree to which it is employed, and it has risen to the various sectional interpretations by officials.

It is seldom called in the Midwest where the game probably is played more than in any other part of the country. Practically all midwestern offenses are built around the screen play and there is a lot of it in its use. Because of its wide-spread popularity however, officials don't mind calling it in.

Other teams are forever pointing to the Big Ten as the league where you have to draw blood in order to see a throw.

The east is militantly against the block. This sector stresses the short passing, fast ball-handling style and nine times out of 10 the officials will call a foul on an attempt at a pick-off.

Naturally, this seriously handicaps a team from another sector which goes east to play. Deprived of the screen means playing without its most effective offense.

"Ground Rules"

The matter became most serious at Madison Square Garden double-headers which usually feature two eastern teams against two outsiders. Several requests for coaches and officials to go into a huddle and attempt to establish some sort of "ground rules."

The coaches want to do away with. Fans have been clamoring for standardization for years but the tutors can't agree on a principle.

The Rocky Mountain section and far west adopts pretty much the same policy as the Midwest, possibly because many of the leaders in these sections have come from there. There are a few easterners who would prefer their game elsewhere than along the seaboard.

The south, which probably is least advanced in basketball because of its inadequate playing space and the accent on football, is divided.

Mouthing scores indicate the game has been fiercer than ever before. And the reverse, horse style of play has only served to call attention to the screen even more strongly.

The powers-that-be agree that standard interpretation is a vital necessity but officials have a merry time of it at the Battle of Kansas City.

The decision as to how a legal screen differs from an illegal block is a delicate one.

10-Bout Ring Card Set for Albion Normal

ALBION, Feb. 28 (Special)—A 10-bout card featuring some of the outstanding boxers in southern Idaho will be staged here on Friday night under sponsorship of the Albion Normal athletic department. One wrestling match is included on the evening's entertainment.

The boxing division nine Normal boxers are slated to tangle with nine independent fighters from Pocatello. Opening the program will be Clare Ruden, 120 pounds, Pocatello, and Jack Boden, 120, Albion. Ray McBeth, 140, Pocatello, will scrap with John Thomas, 141, Albion. Fred Taylor promises to be one of the big thrillers of the evening will be the match between Neal Armstrong, rugged 140-pounder from Pocatello, and Fred Taylor, 148, runner-up in his division at the Idaho golden gloves tournament last year.

Champions Meet

Woody Erickson, 149, Pocatello, will battle Darrel Jones, 152, hard-hitting Albion boxer. The fight between George Gillet, 144, Pocatello, and Carl Richardson, 142, Albion, will be the meeting of two golden gloves champions. Gillet is intramurain champion and Richardson is Idaho junior champion. Dick Dickerson, 162, Pocatello, will fight Lowell Udy, 162, Albion. Bob Hansen, 160, Pocatello, is matched with Oate Moon, 160, Albion.

Also on the meeting will be the boxing of Eldon Scott, 168, Pocatello, Idaho golden gloves middle-weight champion, and Al Harshbarger, 170, Albion. Idaho golden gloves 175-pound division champion, Dean La Monte, 190, Pocatello, will box Don Rouse, 190, Albion.

Wrestling Bout

In the wrestling division Ron Hawkins, 174, well-known matman from Paul, is slated against Cliff Nutting, 171, Albion Normal grapple. They will wrestle 10 minutes.

A one-night decision between A.A.U. rules will prevail for all boxing matches. All fights will be for three two-minute rounds.

His 117 was top single for both teams.

Pa Kirschner got a nice 555 total. This was his second bowing for the 800 team.

Mr. Cox was the one and only 500 bowler on the Studesbaker team. His total was 507. He had high single also for his gang with a 183. Some of the Studes boys were "way down."

In the City League match, Jimmie Mottler had the top all the rest on either team. Jimmie had a 210 his last game, which was the Perrine hotel's best single.

Top single for the night went to Mike Rieks—223 his first game. Mike had a 259 total, which was his best.

Mike's 223 just beat Bob Gaster's single by one pin for the weekly singles prize.

SEC PREPARES "DEATH SENTENCE" ON HOLDING FIRMS

HEARINGS TO BE HELD TO DECIDE UPON OPERATIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 (Special)—The securities and exchange commission prepared today to invoke the "death sentence" clause of the 1933 utility holding company act against nine major holding company systems.

The SEC notified two of those companies last night the $2,500,000 Electric Bond and Share company and the $373,000,000 Enterprise Public Service company, both of New York—that it had ordered hearings April 26 on findings that the companies had "appeared" to have confined their operations to a single integrated public utility system.

The SEC's order was the first of a series of proceedings it will institute in an effort to integrate the sprawling utility industry from a geographical standpoint and to simplify the corporate structure of holding systems.

Seven Other Systems

The commission announced hearings soon would be ordered for seven other systems: the Midwest-west corporation, the United Gas Improvement company, Cities Service Power & Light company, the Commonwealth & Southern corporation, Standard Power and Light corporation, the North American company and the United Light and Power company.

The so-called death sentence clause provides that holding company corporate structure will be so simplified that not more than two are superimposed on operating companies. A holding company could control a holding company, but further pyramiding would not be allowed. The second section of the clause refers to geographical integration.

Compels Compliance

The SEC invoked the SEC's compulsory compliance with the clause "as practicable after Jan. 1, 1938." The SEC has deferred compliance for two years.

Both companies notified yesterday were given until April 6 to file replies to the SEC's formal charges. Hearings were tentatively scheduled to begin April 26.

The commission has attempted for more than two years to induce large utility systems to comply voluntarily with "death sentence" clause requirements and it was frustrated the SEC's action was taken after it had decided the large systems were waiting for forcible measures.

Largest Country

The SEC described Electric Bond and Share as the largest utility holding company system in the country. It said its electric utility subsidiaries include American & Foreign Power Co., Inc. and its subsidiaries, American Gas and Electric Co., and its utility operations in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Its gas companies include the two companies mentioned above operating in Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin.

Among Electric Bond and Share subsidiaries listed in the SEC's notice were Utah Power & Light company.

STATE MENTAL HOME CALLED ONE OF BEST

BOISE, Feb. 29 (Special)—General improvement in conditions at the state mental hospital, south, was reported by Emory Afton, commissioner of public welfare, following a routine inspection of the institution.

The retreat, for voluntary commitment cases, drew laudatory comment from the commissioner during his visit.

"While the facilities of this retreat are limited, there should be a wider knowledge spread among the physicians of the state of the splendid work that is being done here," Afton said, "and I know of no private institution in the west that can equal it for care of these special cases."

A decided improvement in many of the patients was of particular interest. Afton said, and the presence of a well trained occupational therapist to filling a long felt need, he stated.

Continuation of the program now in force was recommended by the commission.

M. H. KING FIRM SHARES PROFITS

Subsidiaries of the M. H. King company stores were more than pleasantly surprised this week as they received a bonus totaling up to one full month's wages.

The bonus came as a result of company officials' decision to share profits with the employees. Although the plan went into effect for the year 1939, the employees knew nothing about it until they received their extra checks.

Heretofore the subsidiaries had been paid only straight salaries and a Christmas present. The bonus is shared as follows: All those who have worked for the company six months get one-half share of the bonus and all those who have worked a year get a full share.

Havel H. Jensen, manager of the Twin Falls store, points out that the cash received amounted to the equivalent of one-half to one month's salary.

The bonus plan has been put into effect in all 11 company stores, including those in Twin Falls, Burley, Tropic, and the regional and local A. per cent of the company earnings will reach out to get a share in the distribution of the bonus.
