FINNS AND RUSSIANS REJECT PEACE TERMS

FINNS, RUSSIANS "FEEL OUT" PLAN TO END CONFLICT

By PETER C. RHODES
 STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 8 (UP)—Finland counter-demands had said today efforts were under way to "feel out" the prospects for ending the war in Finland as an alternative to intensification of fighting in northern Europe.

Authoritative sources representing both governments confirmed the preliminary negotiations which the Finns said were based on direct contact between the two countries. Russian sources said they could not confirm that direct conversations were in progress between Moscow and Helsinki. Both sides said efforts were still in a preliminary stage.

The peace movement appeared to have been given additional impetus as a result of reports that the Swedish parliamentary foreign committee had reaffirmed the government's determination to use all force and an attempt to send foreign troops through Swedish territory to aid Finland.

Prospects Confused
 The progress and prospects for restoration of peace in Finland—where fighting continued furiously and the Finns reported 2,400 more Russians killed yesterday—were confused as a result of a flood of reports and rumors. Blatant official denials and tightening of Scandinavian censorship added to the complications.

Today's developments included a number of significant but non-conclusive reports.

Finland sources in Stockholm said they feel from Russian reports based on direct contact between the two countries but that no definite demands or counter-demands had been formulated as yet. They said, however, that Russia's attitude toward an honorable settlement of the war was "not very encouraging."

Prospects in Stockholm said negotiations were in an "early stage," that no specific new demands or counter-demands had been formulated as yet.

Asked Honorable Peace
 Neutral sources said the Finns were expected to make "no compromising" demands by Russia and there might be a question whether the Finnish army would agree to Russian peace terms. At that event, they said, there would be intensified hostilities and greater danger to the Scandinavian countries would be involved.

The quandary of the allied powers, which fear the end of the war would mean a Russian victory, has led Russia to send increased aid to the Finns, which was emphasized in Paris, where it was stated authoritatively that the British and French were prepared to send still greater aid to Finland if war continues.

Nails May Intervene
 Finnish sources, which had indicated unofficially that reported Soviet terms for ending the war were unacceptable, said "Shin-lin" (Foreign Minister of Finland), arrived by airplane in Berlin, arousing speculation on whether the Neutral Powers would intervene with Russia for moderation.

Messages coming through the Finnish censorship said reports had been received that the British and Finnish representatives might meet at Tallin, Finland, but that lacked official confirmation.

The possibility of mediation by some neutral powers appeared unlikely at present, neutral diplomatic sources here indicated.

Finland's position in the current negotiations in which Sweden acted as a go-between.

Here's New British Super-Liner

Great Britain's huge new liner, the Queen Elizabeth, sister ship of the Queen Mary, today was docked on the Hudson river at New York. Far away from the threat of German bombs, the ship, now the largest in the world, will remain in U. S. for the duration of the war. She made the trip from Scotland with a skeleton crew of 378 men and no passengers.

New 85,500-Ton British Ship Docks in U. S. for Rest of War

NEW YORK, March 8 (UP)—The Queen Elizabeth, new and gloomy mistress of the seas, presided today over a flood of luxury liners tied up at the Hudson river slips awaiting the end of war.

Built now from German bombs, whose perils had driven her from a Scottish shipyard in a secret, zig-zag maiden voyage before she had even had a trial run to shake her down, the 85,500-ton Cunard White Star super-liner's only dangers now were sabotage and souvenir hunting. To guard against these, 20 more policemen were detailed to the waterfront and all visitors were barred from the ship for her entire stay.

Brought for Safety
 Capt. John C. Towley, the Queen Elizabeth's skipper, had cleared up several points of the super-liner's crossing. The ship had been brought to New York "for safety," he said. Much of her interior decorations had been completed. The lighting system was not installed and wasn't needed anyway, because she was being "run out" at night on her maiden voyage.

She sailed from Greenock, Scotland, at 8 a. m. last Saturday. A skeleton crew of 378 had been called aboard ostensibly for boat drill. Capt. Towley had been given sealed orders. He didn't know himself where he was going until the liner from that came aboard. The British warships escorted the liner out of the water.

Met No Ships
 They didn't meet a ship all the way across the Atlantic. The strange looking double cable gridding the ship is Britain's new anti-magnetic mine device. It was invented by a Swedish professor named Guus. The cables are electrified and the principle on which the device works is that the electrical current in the cables neutralizes the magnetic force present in the ship's hull—the force which attracts mines.

The proud new addition to the fleet is the largest moving object ever built. Tied up next to her is the Queen Mary, a sister-ship and next to that, the French liner Normandie. These are the three largest ships in the world. They are the British liners Mauretania and Seydlitz. All are guarded day and night by 117 policemen ashore and in boats. The ship is surrounded by members of the alien and sabotage squad.

PEACE CHANGES REST IN HANDS OF RED LEADER

By WEBB MILLER
 LONDON, March 8 (UP)—The possibility of "peace without victory" in the Finnish war appeared today to rest on Josef V. Stalin's willingness to abandon military subjugation of the Finns and to withdraw support from the Terjoki regime set up under protection of the Red army.

The Finns consider themselves by no means militarily defeated, yet they would be receptive to peace terms if the Russian territorial demands were moderated enough to permit Finland to consider her independence.

These conclusions are based on conversations I had with high officials at Helsinki in the last few weeks as Finnish leaders repeatedly stated their willingness to negotiate on "honorable terms."

Casualties High
 Finnish officials estimate that run into tens of thousands, the nation's military power is now as great or greater than at the start of the war and could for a long time continue to inflict heavy losses on the Red army. But it appears that the Finnish leaders have been forced reluctantly to conclude that, for political and geographical reasons, they cannot obtain enough man power and materials from abroad to stem the Russian advance indefinitely.

Stalin's reported peace offensive came as no surprise to the Finnish government leaders, who repeatedly said they expected such a move since if the Red army achieved a victory such as the capture of Vilpuri.

No Recent "People's" Aid
 It is not a recent development that for weeks nothing has been heard of the so-called "people's government" which the Red army set up at Terjoki at the start of the war.

Heavy foreign pressure obviously has been brought on both the Finns and the Russians to end the war. The strongest pressure on Russia comes from Germany, because Adolf Hitler knows that the capture of vital supplies from the Soviets would Russia is engaged in war.

For powerful reasons of self-interest, Eveready is intensely anxious to see an end to the war.

No Sympathy
 The British and French find themselves in a highly unpleasant quandary. Despite their great sympathy for the Finns, they cannot help but and enthusiasm the prospect of Russian supplies now used in Finland being diverted to Germany.

Nor can the allied powers find a force which attacks military material with sufficient man power and material to continue the war effectively over a long haul.

Just Rolling Along Without a Care

Telephone Store in harbor at Treasure Island in San Francisco bay after a stormy voyage some 200 miles down the Sacramento river, the Plymouth Rock has been deflated at the world. She apparently was washed from her home during the recent floods that ravaged the Sacramento valley, but survived a rough voyage on a debris raft. On one leg was an aluminum band marked "X-11—Marysville."

Defenders Would Fight to Finish; Ask Foreign Aid

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, Jr.
 HELSINKI, Finland, March 8 (UP)—Finland is prepared to fight to a finish rather than accept peace terms dictated by Russia, it was indicated today.

Finns looked to their Scandinavian neighbors and to the allies to give them the aid which would enable them to hold off the Red army. They commented bitterly the Russian terms were harsher than those the rejection of which last fall brought on the war. The government's position was it had always sought an honorable peace but that peace "offered" by Russia was not an honorable one. If Russia cared to make proposals a free country could accept, it was said, Finland would welcome them.

Reports Russia had demanded from the southwest coast of the Karelian Isthmus and the Lake Ladoga region were received here from abroad and were declared to be unacceptable. The cession of Hango, particularly, was said to be impossible in a negotiated peace. It is more than 200 miles from the Russian frontier. To turn it over to Russia, it was held, would be to make a puppet state of Finland.

Reds Hold Initiative
 It was realized the Russians would have the initiative in the war, said Vilpuri must fall. But it was said the Finns were holding the Russians on all fronts except the "Winter War" and the winter offensive was taking a terrible toll of Russian lives.

The only official word of the Russian demands had come in a communication which said: "According to information in possession of the Finnish government the Russian government is believed to have planned the presentation of demands to Finland more far-reaching by character than those presented last autumn. Details, however, of these demands are so far lacking."

Details Inacceptable
 However, the details of the Russian demands were regarded as unacceptable. Cession of the entire Karelian Isthmus, it was said, would leave Finland in a state of emergency, without natural frontiers, and cession of Hango would be a foothold for Sovietization of the Gulf of Bothnia.

But it was said if the Russian demands were more diplomatic talking points, subject to moderation in the future, the Finns would accept the prospect of peace. A peace at any price they did not seem ready to accept.

A high Finnish official told me:

Need Foreign Aid
 "If we do not get the men we need from abroad we may end by putting guns to the heads of our people. Finland is too small to have to decide between that and Bolshevism."

It was not clear whether Finland had actually rejected any specific Russian proposals. It was reported in reliable quarters several prominent Finns including the Foreign Minister, had been in Moscow just before the war, were in Stockholm today.

Many Finns believed Germany had actually been the initiator of the peace proposals. It was argued would unquestionably be in German hands at the end of the war. Finnish war so that her northern trade ships would be free.

Senate Rejects Plan To Extend Hatch Act For States' Employees

WASHINGTON, March 8 (UP)—The senate today turned back 49 to 28, an attempt to prevent extension of the Hatch "clean politics" act to state employees paid from federal funds.

The action came when it defeated an amendment by Sen. Francis T. Maloney, D. Conn., which would have dealt a death blow to the pending bill to extend the act to such employees. Maloney proposed to strike out the section of the bill that would bring federally-paid state payroll clerks under the act, and also the section under which the civil service commission would administer the act.

Defeat of Maloney's amendment virtually insured passage of the extension program.

Proponents of extension led by Sen. Carl Hatch, D. N. M., argued that the government has a perfect right to set up standards governing the use of money it furnishes to states. Opponents, including a sizable bloc of southern senators, branded it unconstitutional and a violation of state's rights.

Knifing of the Maloney amendment gave proponents of the extension program a fresh victory. Earlier this week they had administered an important string of defeats to their opponents.

First, they beat down 41 to 44, an attempt to repeal the section of the original act banning political activity of federal employees. This effort was sponsored by Sen. John E. Miller, D. Ark. It was followed by another initiated by Sen. A. H. Adams, Colo., to delete only the original act on political activity. It failed, 33 to 42, yesterday.

The section which would have

CHAMBER VOTES TO STEER CLEAR OF POWER FIGHT

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce board of directors, shortly before 2 p. m. today, voted to recommend to Southern Idaho, Inc., that it withdraw its action as regards the power development situation, and added the further recommendation that it permit the law to determine the issue.

Following the suggestion of Carl N. Anderson, president, that the matter be sidetracked "presently" if possible, members of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, which had previously tabled a motion Idaho, Inc. in favor of permitting the Idaho Power company to develop three Federal power sites along the Snake river. The action was taken shortly after 1:30 p. m. after directors had discussed the matter for more than an hour. They had heard Harry E. Maloney, Idaho manager of the Emmet county sugar company, urge that the power company be permitted to develop the sites, and had also heard R. S. Tortelero, local publisher of the Twin Falls Enterprise, urge on the part of the power company "unless they can prove that the move is necessary."

Tabled Overwhelmingly
 Members of the board, by an almost unanimous vote, decided to table the resolution after it was offered by Mr. Brock. Brock urged that a vote be taken on his resolution in order that a report might be made to the Southern Idaho Chamber of Commerce. The vote was taken after the report might be made to the Southern Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Exempted from its provisions are governors of states and mayors of cities, officers appointed by governors with the consent of state legislatures, and all elected officials.

Extension of the act to the states principally would affect state highway and education departments, and social security and child welfare work.

Scheduling of Mr. Taylor brought to three the number of major speakers booked for the meeting tomorrow. Emory Alfson, state welfare commissioner, Don C. Casland, Federal Credit Union representative, also are scheduled to talk.

Death Claims Famous Poet At Age of 87

NEW YORK, March 8 (UP)—Edwin Markham, the bearded "Ed" who wrote "The Man With the Hoe," died last night at his home on Riverside street in New York City. He was 87.

He had been bed-ridden since Tuesday and in virtual retirement since 1936, when he suffered a stroke that ended his work as a columnist. Three years ago he was declared incompetent "by reason of old age" because of memory and understanding of his own affairs.

Predicting a vote of 200 to 100, he said the bill would seek to delay action until the fourth congressional session.

President Roosevelt kept the administration's reaction to the Smith bill out of himself, but was refusing to discuss the subject at the press conference. He said that he conferred Wednesday with Smith and that he had approved the amendments the committee proposed to present to the house.

Jimmy Stewart Dubbed Best All-Around "Leap Year Bet"

By PAUL HARRISON
 (By a Staff Writer)

HOLLYWOOD here it is Leap Year and I haven't done anything about playing against the bond market, but I have decided to try to play to change blossom, but I don't think that when an actor dies he gets into the column of martyrs, a unique wife in his life but it would be difficult to classify the best movie catches of the flicker screen because they're all too handsome and—by any normal standards—rich. Some have blue eyes, some the complexion, some are in bed—details like that are the principal distinctions but they all fit good parts for film nights.

From any angle, Jimmy Stewart seems to be the top award in any Leap Year sweepstakes. You realize this better if you could see the way the beautiful blonde of Hollywood had herself at him. Stewart just says, "Fardon me" and dodges.

Usually considered a nice and fun-loving fellow, Mr. Stewart probably is the smartest guy in town. He already owns a fabulous wage, and it is safe to predict that he will be tops in character stardom 30 or 35 years from now. He is an amusing off-stage actor, but his films around the house and his wife's only worry will be his passion for flying.

Best in Book
 A more vulnerable prospect but mainly in Great Romance. He is 32 now, has been spotted out of his mind, and is likely to be re-established as the Great Kill Her a good dancer, boxer and football player, an athletic conversationalist, and is liked by everybody.

Best of the young Leap Year prizes is Robert Stack, the new arrival off-stage actor, but he is an amusing off-stage actor, but his films around the house and his wife's only worry will be his passion for flying.

He Still Pays—After 68 Years A cheering testimonial in the solidity of the American home is the story of Horace G. Smith, 75-year-old property owner of Denver, Colo.

Several days ago, Mr. Smith went down to Denver's city hall and paid $21.50 in taxes on his home. Thousands of other citizens came down to pay their taxes, but Mr. Smith's appearance was remarkable inasmuch as it was the 68th time he and his father before him had paid taxes on the same house.

The Smith house was built in 1873, after the family decided to tear down the log cabin in which they were living on the same site. In 1875, the house was valued at $3,000. Today it is worth $520. During the years, the Smiths have paid a total of about $2,000 in taxes.

It is good that there are people like the Smiths—people who value all the things for which home stands. They keep the nation anchored. They are the folks who maintain a stolid faith in the future of their country.

JEROME'S LEGION SEEKING ARMORY

JEROME, March 8 (Special)—Tentative plans for a proposed armory for the Jerome American Legion post here were discussed at Boise this week with WPA officials when several Jerome Legion members, Ward O. Howard, secretary of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, and L. W. Sanberg, gathered there. Nothing definite has been arranged by the delegation stated following the meeting at Boise, but further information regarding the outcome of the meeting is expected, according to Mr. Howard.

According to the proposed plans, the building will be approximately 56 by 111 feet, with a gymnasium and auditorium floor of 54 by 86 feet which will seat more than 1,000 for athletic meets and nearly 500 for banquets and other social gatherings. There will be two rooms at each side of the building measuring 30 by 86 feet, one for the armory room for the 11th ordnance company headquarters for the national guard and the other to contain a library, reading room and a kitchen. Plans contain also adequate space under the auditorium floor for a basement with facilities for storing tools, traps and equipment, an shower rooms, heating plant, etc.

It is proposed that the structure will be erected with concrete and the total cost will be approximately $35,000. Of this, the WPA labor and materials would amount to $20,000, leaving $15,000 to be raised locally. The Jerome post of the Legion has approximately $2,500 in the treasury which will be pledged to this project.

Funds aggregating $147,407.93 were collected for the state.

JEROME GUARDS TO HAVE TRUCKS

JEROME, March 8 (Special)—Six fully equipped army trucks, having an estimated value in excess of $100,000, are expected to be received in a few weeks by the 112th ordnance company of the national guard, stationed at Jerome. It was announced this week by Captain Ward O. Howard.

The trucks made up complete shop facilities for maintaining all the ordnance material of the 41st division.

These machines all have four-wheel drive cab-over-engine chassis. They are manufactured by General Motors and they consist of the following: One artillery repair truck, one small arms repair truck, one spare parts truck and one welding truck. The machines are the most modern in type designed for such use and most of them are equipped so that they have drop sides which can be used for work benches. They are each equipped with special racks, chests, fitted drawers, special tools, portable kits and also are equipped with generator power take-off and control panels for transmitting power to or from other vehicles. This group of machines is the first equipment of its type to be received at the west, Captain Howard states.

He added that within the near future there will be openings for two more men in the national guard here.

SON APPEARS AFTER 31 YEARS

LONDON (AP)—Although Mrs. Nelly Gardner of Gosport, Hants, hadn't seen her son Leonard for 31 years, she said: "That's Len" when she heard a truck on her door the other night. The door opened and into the room strode a man in the uniform of a Canadian soldier. And he was Leonard.

The leaves add flavor to soups and stews and dressings.

FBI OPENS PROBE OF LABOR BOARD LOBBYING WORK

JACKSON ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF GROUP ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The federal bureau of investigation is investigating charges today that national labor relations board officials violated federal statutes by lobbying against proposed amendments to the Wagner act.

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, it was learned, ordered the investigation last month before he declined to advise Chairman Howard W. Smith of the special house committee investigating the board whether alleged activities of board officials were illegal.

The FBI's investigation was revealed as battle lines formed in the house over drastic changes proposed in the board and the labor act by a majority of Smith's committee. Those amendments—including one to establish a judicial board to hear cases prosecuted by a new labor act administrator—were sent to the house labor committee which will meet next Wednesday to consider them.

The proposed changes were assailed as "emasculatory" by defenders of the Wagner act and praised as "a pretty good bill," said Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D. N. Y., author of the labor act, who would make an extensive statement soon.

The FBI's investigation of alleged labor board lobbying followed several days of controversy at Smith committee hearings when Committee Counsel Edmund M. Toland read letters and communications indicating board officials had sought to stimulate opposition to proposed changes in the act.

Labor board officials denied they had violated the law.

CONTEST OFFERS $2,600 IN PRIZES

Prizes totalling $2,600 in value will be distributed to 105 residents of the Snake river valley in the "I. Q. cookery test" which starts next Monday and ends Saturday, May 4.

The contest is sponsored by the Electrical Equipment Sales association.

Leaders of the EESA in Twin Falls explained that each week for eight weeks—ending Saturday, May 4—the association will give away 13 prizes of electric appliances for the 13 best answers to the I. Q. cookery test. Grand award, a $200 electric dishwasher and sink, will be given at the end of the eight weeks for the best entry submitted during the entire contest.

Entry blanks in the 1940 competition make the test easier than in past years, it was pointed out. The blanks may be obtained from participating dealers who handle electric ranges.

First prize each week will be an electric range. Four food mixers will be given every week as second awards; four combination sand-wich grills and coffee makers will go as third prizes, and four $25 bills will be the fourth prizes.

Entertainers at "Hawaiian Paradise" Pleasure Spot

Hawaiian Dine-Dance Rendezvous to Open

Termed one of the most unusual pleasure spots in Idaho, the Hawaiian Paradise will open its doors in Twin Falls Saturday night, it was announced today by Manager Harry Doyle.

Located above 120 Main avenue north, the dine and dance establishment will provide hitherto unavailable facilities in this area, including a five-piece orchestra featuring Hawaiian melodies. Manager Doyle brought Roy Kealoha, prominent Hawaiian musician, direct from Honolulu. Kealoha and four American colleagues will provide the music at the Paradise.

Special attraction with the orchestra, Doyle said, will be "Pualani," attractive hula dancer.

The Hawaiian theme is carried out in decorations at the pleasure rendezvous.

Celebration will feature a six-act floor show presenting Kealoha and his steel guitar and Pualani in authentic hula dancing.

"We are bringing to Idaho one of the finest pleasure places and most unique Hawaiian clubs in the entire west," Mr. Doyle said. "We've spared no expense to bring the most authentic Hawaiian atmosphere that it's possible to achieve, and to offer the best music and food obtainable in Idaho."

The Hawaiian Paradise will be available for banquets, conventions, entertainment, private parties, social gatherings and floor shows.

Museum at Boise Gets Borah's Desk

BOISE, March 8 (AP)—The first desk acquired by the late Sen. William E. Borah when he started law practice here in 1890 will soon have an honored spot in the state-house museum.

Mrs. Borah presented the desk to the Idaho Historical society in a letter received today by Gov. C. A. Botteldeen. The letter also said that Borah's bound copies of the Congressional Record would be sent to the University of Idaho. His personal letters will be sent to the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., but photostatic copies will be sent to the University of Idaho for filing in the Borah memorial.

SEVEN REDS HELD AT EL PASO, TEX.

EL PASO, Tex., March 8 (AP)—A Dies committee investigator was flung here today as officials held seven alleged Communists. Incommunicado, refused to answer charges against them and promised "more replies to come."

Sheriff Chris P. Fox said two were Miguel Oaxaca and Guadalupe Pedraza, Mexican citizens and Juarez labor leaders. A third, he said, was Frank Seres, alias Sanders, a "national and international communist organizer" who did not claim American citizenship. The others were not identified and Fox said more would be arrested.

Fox said he found a Congress for Industrial Organizations card on Seres and Oaxaca was a CIO organizer in El Paso.

The seven men were locked in the county prison.

George P. Hurley, agent for the house committee investigating un-American activities, of which Rep. Martin Dies, D. Tex., is chairman, was expected to arrive late today.

Grover C. Wilmoth, district director of the U. S. treasury service said he had a warrant for Oaxaca's arrest on charges of illegal entry. He promised his office would take "necessary action for deportation" on any who were undesirable aliens. All were understood to be of Mexican descent.

Boys Accused of Petty Burglaries

Two very-worried Kimberly youths, both about 14 years of age, were in custody of the probation officer and the sheriff here today on accusation that they staged a series of petty thefts and minor break-ins recently in the east end community.

John A. Brown, probation officer, questioned one of the boys and Deputy Sheriff Warren W. Lowery grilled the other youngster.

Both officials said "there is no doubt" that the accused boys were involved in the burglaries. Any formal charge against them, however, was still undecided by early afternoon.

Just a String

This is a piece of string. String is used by storekeepers to tie up packages. It can be woven into pretty patterns. Small boys sometimes use it to trip people. Guy de Maupassant even wrote one of his most famed short stories about a piece of string. Forgetful folk tie it on a finger to jog their memories. Sometimes a bit of string isn't always handy in this bustling, mechanized world. So perhaps you'd like to stick your finger through the space indicated in the picture—to remind yourself that March 15 is the deadline for income tax returns.

NO REQUEST FOR U. S. MEDIATION

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that the United States, as yet, has received no request to mediate the Russo-Finnish war.

Asked about the possibility of mediation, he countered immediately with a statement the subject is of a type which it is better not to discuss. When pressed with direct questions, however, he said no mediation request has yet come to this country.

Idaho Asked to Continue Exhibit At Frisco's Fair

BOISE, March 8 (AP)—Idaho business organizations will be asked to cooperate and submit ideas for continuance of the state's exhibit at the San Francisco fair, J. A. Stewart, Blackfoot, chairman of the exposition commission, said today.

San Francisco fair officials have offered free rent to Idaho for this year.

A total of $2,000 remains from a legislative appropriation for fair expenses, but another $5,000 will be needed to continue the exhibit, Stewart said. If Idaho businessmen show sufficient interest, the exhibit and Idaho Ike, the talking machine, will open with the fair on May 25.

Twin Falls and Burley Are Only Teams Unbeaten

There will only be four teams left in the running for the district championship tonight when the curtain falls on the third day of play—and of these only one team will be undefeated.

This afternoon, at 3:30, the only game on the day side will be played between Oakley and Filer, with the loser going to the sidelines. Tonight, Gooding and Rupert tangle in an elimination contest at 7:30, and at 8:30, Twin Falls and Burley meet. Both the latter teams are undefeated.

In the morning, Oakley put out Omer 26-23 after fighting an uphill battle all the way. Filer eliminated Burley 46-25. Twin Falls handed Gooding its first loss 23-11, and Rupert suffered its first defeat at the hands of Burley, 35-27.

Couch Noris' quintet led its second tough battle in a row after leading most of the game, as it did in the first. Oakley couldn't convert on any kind of shots during most of the game, but it wasn't until the last minute of the third frame that Coach Dale Gray's quintet could get into the lead.

Gray took a 4-1 lead in the first quarter and at the intermission the count was 14-11 for the Tigers. Oakley came back to tie the third frame as they started clicking with their long shots and occasionally adding a short one. Third period intermission found the Hornets in the lead.

The Oakley attack continued through the last frame and with just a minute and one-half to go the Tigers trailed 20-21, but three John Stelle, still playing a stellar game for the losers came with a short basket after striking the ball, but missed the free throw after he had been fouled on the play.

The Jerome club kept in the game by sinking nine left tosses out of 12.

Work and Play in District Tourney

Top photo shows how Rupert attempted to cover up the towering Ernie Millard in the final game of last night's play in the district Class A tournament here. At left is Schenk, then Millard with the ball, and in front of Millard is Helis, Rupert guard. Coming in fast in distance is Wilson, see Rupert forward. The "covering-up" tactics came to naught as Millard collected 13 points for his victorious Burley club. Below is the prize pile-up of the meet, which the Times cameraman "shot" without blinking an eye. Just about every member of the Gooding and Twin Falls teams is present in this picture—although some of them are pretty well covered. At center left Umpire Willard Morton is just picking his head into the play, and that's Tra Carney accompanying him—each with a hand sticking out. On floor (No. 22) is Pat Wallace of the Hornets. Standing next is Nitchon (No. 6) of Gooding and on one knee is Hobley of Gooding. No. 7, looking away from camera, is Johnson of Gooding and lying on his back is Thompson (No. 3) of Gooding in a log of war. The boy with the ball and hanging on with both hands and both legs for dear life is Chuck Thomas. (Times Photos and Engravings)

For the most ardent basketball fans, the adults, no less! They came early for choice seats and sat through each session in rapt interest. We noticed Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thorpe there after an especially early dinner; Joe Price (retiree) and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Larsen, Seattle, filled with parental pride, and the evidence of real interest in the closely contested game. That catch in the throat of meeting manager Ed Rodel is worth something. He pronounced the word "gals" in about the sixth row could be heard to sigh. To more professional ears it sounded like a hicough.

To many the bands, the cheering sections and the yell leaders run the basketball a close second in interest. Watch Chuck McConnell as he directs his band in the crowd as the Hornets and in contrast the director of the Oakley band, McConnell spurs the use of the balloon—waves his hands, blows a whistle and says, "Oakley performs practically without gestures, but that doesn't mean there isn't some fine direction behind the scenes."

There is always one who is a little confused at every session—the gent who weaved in through the crowd as the Rupert-Burley game was drawing to a close. Obviously feeling the white out-of-bounds line was the admission of an official, he gave his all for Rupert. His all was a lightly cast "collegiate" model hat which threatened to descend in the middle of the playing floor as he held his precarious balance.

Do clothes make the man? According to some feminine fans the Burleys are scheduled for a complete win on account of their white silk warm-up suits. It was only after tedious explaining by a few male fans that the tents resigned themselves to the fact that a basketball player might sweat the name and play as well—in some dirty woolens.

Some mysterious alchemy of crowds, the cheering sections, the same for each game. Without any apparent shifting, Burley took over where the Gooding crowd had held forth and Rupert shifted into the Bruin section.

Bill Powers' Wildcats look to be the roughest squad although the starting line-up only used one of them. Schenk's Piler's height was a decided advantage in its game against the Burley youngsters.

We've certainly taken a fancy to the veteran group of yell leaders so far displayed at the tournament—the girl spectators from Filer, the jitterbugs from Oakley, to say nothing of the trio jitterbugs from Burley.

Did you ever see so many "bum" knees displayed at one time as was evidenced in the Buhl-Filer match? Two meg, Hamilton of Buhl and Kennel of Filer had to be taken out of the game, and so on.

According to the rules set up by the state committee no championship bouts will be held when less than two participants have entered in any one weight division.

Medals will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in each division and a trophy will be given to the school capturing the team championship.

All receipts of the tourney will be divided among the competing teams after the meet expenses are paid. All entries must be postmarked not later than March 14 and mailed to Orville Hill at Albion, Mich. manager.

Greenberg Looks Good In Outfield Workouts

LARELAND, Fla., March 8 (AP)—The tall guy loped back to the left field fence and picked off a line drive with all the skill of a Tris Speaker.

Riding the crest of a great career, Hank Greenberg has switched from first base to the outfield—the most daring experiment of the 1940 baseball season.

But players who have started in two positions are rare. Harry Walters, a 30-year third baseman, developed into a great pitcher to tin Charleton Reid, Jimmy Fox, a natural left fielder, would be a star at first base, third base or behind the plate. There are a few others, but any manager who takes an outfielder into the field is taking a bold gamble.

Manager Doc Baker of the Detroit Tigers took that gamble in an attempt to make a place in his lineup for Hank York, the betting favorite, a natural left fielder, would be a star at first base, third base or behind the plate. There are a few others, but any manager who takes an outfielder into the field is taking a bold gamble.

First base seemed to be the only place where he would fit, but a sweet work up during his tryouts with Greenberg, a savage hitter, a stunt fiddler who was voted the most valuable player in the American league in 1935.

During the winter Greenberg was called to Detroit. Everyone thought it was to discuss salary. Hank is among the highest paid players in the game—so there was no little surprise when the announcement was made that York was the first baseman this season for the Tigers and that Greenberg was going to the outfield.

SIDELIGHTS FROM CLASS A TOURNAMENT

We never did get close enough to Schnell, the tall Filer center, to see what sort of charm was hanging around his neck. It looked very much like a small chain necklace, perhaps a good luck piece from his lady fair.

Bette, the talking Rupertite gave the fans many a laugh as he kept up a continual stream of conversation with his opponent, Earl Toolson of Barley. From where we sat it looked might like he had Toolson's nanny, too.

Our hats are off to Wilson, the blond dynamo of Rupert. . . for a ball hawk he's tops. . . how he can be on the continual go and still not collapse has astounded. . . on top of that he's an excellent blocker.

The shooting of Stutzman, Filer, was outstanding. Handcapped by a game leg he came through in fine style. . . one can't help but like the youngster for he is unassuming and takes the game seriously every minute.

Richard Greene Passes Bob Taylor in Popularity Poll

BY PAUL HARRISON HOLLYWOOD—In the decade of talkies, except for the leading roles, Taylor has any leading role or hit among the stars, primarily as the blue-jointed, cleft-chinned Richard Greene.

Greene's standing is all the more remarkable because it was won with romantic-inventive parts in comparatively few pictures. Besides being a product of unimportant roles, he defies other rules for stardom: he is young and too handsome. Being a foreigner (Scottish-Irish by way of England) he has not been at all first. Taylor was only 19 when he came here in 1932 for a part in "Four Men and a Crayfish."

Most stars are made by one or two big roles in important pictures. Greene wasn't. Usually he has been dragged in to provide the secondary love-interest in non-romantic pictures such as "Stanley and Livingstone" and "The Love Express."

Somehow, Hollywood had thought of Greene as a he-Cinderella. Actually he came from a prominent family and had through training in England, along with some screen and considerable stage experience. "And it's a good thing that he really can act, and it helps him to win a more substantial fan following."

PRICES UNSTEADY FOR CORN, HOGS

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Wide fluctuations in the "corn-hog ratio" are playing hob with farm administration efforts to balance the "corn-hog ratio" in a new way.

The "corn-hog ratio" is an economic yardstick which has been used for years to balance the "corn-hog ratio" in a new way. When corn prices go down, hog production goes up. When corn prices go up, hog production goes down.

Government efforts to balance the two—hog production and corn prices—have not been entirely successful. In the past eight years, the "corn-hog ratio" has fluctuated between 1.2 and 1.4.

Early in the New Deal an extensive slaughter program was ordered to reduce the weight on the hog end of the seesaw, when hog production got out of balance because of corn shortages.

Nature Made Shortage Then the 1934 and subsequent droughts reduced hog production. A nature-made corn shortage resulted. Hog production declined. The resultant price increase reversed the production trend.

After the 1937 drought hog prices went up, and hog production advanced. Farmers saved large numbers of hogs for breeding in 1938. In 1939 hog production made a record increase of 20 per cent. Production outran demand.

On Jan. 15, 1940, hog prices were 10 cents higher than the 1934 average. Corn prices at the bottom of the seesaw, 58 per cent of the 1910-14 level. It was profitable to feed 100 per cent corn to "70 per cent" hogs.

The corn-hog ratio was on its way to an up-and-down swing in its administration. Two forces were set in motion that were to reverse the order within 12 months. Supplies of corn were to be cut back, and the government began scaling up millions of bushels of corn under loans.

Speedy Reverse Castly The speed with which the ratio was reversed was costly to farmers. The government's hog production on last Jan. 15, corn prices had advanced to 65 per cent of parity and hog prices had declined to 58 per cent of the 1910-14 parity level.

It became unprofitable for farmers to feed 54-cent corn to 58-cent hogs. There were 200,000 bushels of corn in the 1934 average. In 1940, according to the bureau of agricultural economics, approximately 100,000 bushels of corn were between corn prices and other livestock prices.

Probation Officer Maps Drive Against Minors in Pool Halls

Basing his move on an Idaho law of which most pool hall proprietors are apparently unaware, Probation Officer Fred Lewis mapped this afternoon a cooperative effort to keep minors out of such establishments.

Mr. Brown said he will distribute large printed cards, bearing a verbatim copy of the Idaho law, to pool hall owners in the county. He plans also to distribute the cards to all pool halls throughout the county through cooperation of school leaders.

Under a law of 1934 he pointed out, misdemeanor charges can be brought not only against pool hall proprietors who permit attendance by persons under 20 years of age, but also against the youths themselves.

Some of the salaried cards were already placed today in Twin Falls. The law was approved March 11, 1935.

Wheeler Slaps at 'Too Much Spying'

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Chairman Burton K. Wheeler of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today said "there has been too much spying psychology in this country and far too many spies and detectives in the government service."

"When the government begins to resort to the wholesale use of spies and detectives," he said, "it is a renunciation of the principles of the government itself."

Wheeler's statement followed approval by his committee of a resolution by Sen. Theodore P. Green, D. R. I., providing for an investigation of interception, by means of the tapping of telegrams, of wire communications to or from officials and employees of the federal, state and local governments.
