Russian Troops Officially Take Over Hanko City

HELSINKI, Finland, March 23 (UP)—Russian troops landed in the foodless city of Hanko today and raised the hammer and sickle flag over the bomb-battered town hall.

Commanded Finnish icebreakers cleared a path through yard-thick snow from the gulf and Russian advance troops landed from them, to take for a naval base a city in which no people, and nothing which the people could carry away, were left.

A little after midnight a Finnish detachment had handed over the city to a Russian political commissar and an army colonel.

The troops landed, and marched through the city, in silence under a heavy fall of snow which was hiding the scars the city had suffered in 15 months of war.

Red Banner Hoisted

The red banner was hoisted over the town hall and on a water tower on the hill overlooking the city.

Under the Russo-Finnish peace treaty of March 12, Finland was forced to lease for 30 years, at a yearly rental of 4,000,000 marks, the area of the bustling port in which suburbs thousands of Finns had spent happy hours on seashore vacations.

After the brief, stiff, formal handing-over ceremony the last of the Finns left the city. Arrangements had been made for a group of light-lipped Finnish officers and a Russian command, which landed from planes in the bay last night.

The Russians landed an estimated 8,000 men at dawn today, to take over the city triumphantly, and with it, to seal tight the entrance to the Finnish gulf. They had already secured from Estonia, across the gulf, the naval bases needed on the south side.

No Signs of Life

Alone among newspapers, I succeeded in making the trip to Hanko yesterday.

I was able to assure myself that at midnight, the handing over to the Russians would give a 100-square-mile area of a human life.

The 8,000 people of Hanko, the 11,000 people of the little peninsula, had left their town, their villages and farms, taking all possessions they could.

POLICE ON TRAIL OF SLAYERS OF DUTCH SCHULTZ

NEW YORK, March 23 (UP)—Police struck the trail of the assassins of Dutch Schultz today, five years late.

The discovery this week of a Brooklyn gang murdering a contract killer had pried the lid off the underworld. The squealing of the gang's trigger men was turning up new sensations every few hours, and bogging down the police department with new clues to some 20 unsolved murders.

All the big gangs in recent years, apparently, had used the services of the Brooklyn killers, whose main scene of operations was the summer colony of lakes and hills around Monticello, N. Y. That was its favorite dumping ground for bodies.

Alarm of Gangster

The slaying of Schultz in a New Jersey barnyard in October, 1932, was brought in directly with news that a confidential alarm had been sent from Monticello to New York and Miami, Fla., authorities for the arrest of Jack Drucker.

The investigation now was in two phases. One here, the other at Monticello, both closely related. Drucker fitted into the case in this way:

When Schultz lay dying in a Newark, N. J., hospital, of bullet wounds, his last words to his pals were:

"Crack down on the Chinaman's friends."

To the gang, the "Chinaman" was Charles (Chink) Sherman, who had been in Irving (Waxy) Gordon's mob until that boss, in front of his life, had himself up on federal income tax charges and been a prison inmate. Drucker was released after Schultz's death, Sherman's body was found buried in quick lime in an abandoned barn on property belonging to Drucker.

Previously, Drucker had been questioned about the shooting in 1929 of David Siegel, otherwise unknown. Sherman, who was arrested there followed a series of seven murders. The bodies all were found in this manner. The "chuck" killings may have occurred elsewhere.

Girl, 16, Holds Off Wedding To Actor, 42

NEW YORK, March 23 (UP)—George Jessel, 42-year-old show girl, today by the whim of her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Andrews, 33, that they "think it over a while" before they marry.

Mrs. Andrews had not forbidden the marriage on her arrival from Mrs. Jessel's home in New York, but in her daughter's six-room apartment which has four telephones, marble-line bathroom and special closet for 12 fur coats, but she had recommended that "wait a while."

Broadway believed the Iowa girl had been making news. The threat of elopement to a man in a rooming house, in a rooming house, around, but Jessel announced "I have both decided to obey my mother."

Mama, a Joe Adams secretary, younger than either of Jessel's two previous wives, Florence Courtney and Norma Dalmeida—came close to plane and was met by her 15-year-old daughter, chauffeur driving her 16-cylinder automobile. She was whisked to the apartment to meet her 16-year-old daughter, 15 days in a day-time ensemble and 16 pieces of jewelry which require a special safe, "George and I are very much in love," the daughter said. "And after all, we will be married sometime. We met a week ago. He took me to lunch and began making news."

The wedding tentatively had been planned for next Thursday.

Mrs. Andrews, a brunette, is a veteran of two public trials in recent months. One she and another child, the actress, had been in a night club room and another time she gave George White, the Scandals producer, black eye. He had demolished her from a speaking party in his play back to the circus.

Young Throng Jams Park in Egg Scramble

It was all in fun and there wasn't anyone hurt—although nearly 200 participated.

Such was the story of this morning's Easter egg hunt as staged in the city park under the direction of Miss Margaret H. Hines, director of the recreation center.

At that, the hunt was "different" than those staged in past years. This morning the "lucky kids" went fishing for the Easter eggs.

Divided into groups as to age, the children first "scrambled" for their eggs. Then the girls were thrown into the air. Those grabbing a ticket would then be permitted to march onto the stage of the bandstand which was erected on a pole, with the net a small bucket attached, they would throw the line and pull it up. The bucket would then be pulled in the bucket and the contents would then "pull in the bucket."

Some ticket holders (depending on the color of the ticket) received small awards other than eggs. In addition, which recreation workers and the public are directed by Officer Perry Browning.

Thorough cooperation of police, the two-block area from Fourth avenue to Sixth avenue, on Broadway, was blocked to motorists.

Girl Jumps To Her Death From Plane

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 23 (UP)—Before pretty Louise Drolet, 26, freshened her makeup, went up 2,000 feet in a plane and leaped out to her death, she left a note in her automobile. It said:

"I just couldn't bear it any longer, but it is cowardly to live a empty life."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Drolet, could not explain the note but they said she had been in poor health and often closed the case as a suicide.

Miss Drolet hired Pilot Joe Haas to fly her yesterday, and she instructed him to drop her at a beach near Newport Bay.

"I want to wish a bet from a boy friend who says I am afraid to fly," she explained.

She powdered and rouged her face as he warmed up the plane's motor. When they were high in the air, she pulled out her safety belt and stepped into what she called a hangar grabber for her dress. The body fell on a beach near Newport Bay.

Rumors 'Way off'—Johnston's First Trial Cost Was $2,114

With the second trial of Duncan McD. Johnson opening in district court here Monday, rumors flew thick and fast in Twin Falls today concerning the history of the trial and the cost of the case against the ex-mayor accused of murdering George L. Olson. Hulebrook was county prosecutor and handled the first trial.

Actual cost of the 1938 trial was $4,169. Here are the figures compiled from county records:

State's witnesses	$ 430.00
Defense witnesses	243.00
Witnesses total	673.00
June fees	876.25
Meals	150.00
Hotel	50.00
Total just cost	$1,079.25
Special and professional services, attorney's office (mostly for map drawing)	253.45
Total Trial Cost	$2,114.00

Hulebrook added that since jail cost for one prisoner is only 50 cents per day, cost of incarcerating Johnston would be only $182.50 additional for a full year.

The second trial ordered by the Idaho supreme court opens at 10 a. m. Monday with start of the task of jury selection. H. W. Beckwith, assistant attorney-general, will aid Hulebrook. W. L. Dunn and Thomas M. Robertson, Jr., are counsel for Johnston.

BILZARDIERS MEET EASTER PARADES IN OTHER AREAS

By United Press

It's getting so you can't believe even the calendar any more.

The moon was full today and, as an almanac reckoning goes, that means tomorrow will be Easter. But the U. S. weather bureau said the moon would be about the only thing that would make you believe it.

"Two-thirds of the nation, the dates east of the Rocky mountains, brushed out an extra Easter, just when March was gathering itself to go out like a lion.

The weather bureau said two disturbances were the principal cause of inclement weather. One extended from central Maine southward through the middle of the country. The Easter lilies are in bloom, to Haiti. The other extended from the southern great plains region westward toward California.

Egg Hunt in Snow

Easter eggs will be hunted in the snow in northern states where this week blizzards are forecast. The forecast for the middle week was a "good winter day" with cloudy weather and possibly more snow. Northeastern blizzards were traditionally the Easter lilies are in bloom, to Haiti. The other extended from the southern great plains region westward toward California.

Parity Payment Measure Passes In U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON, March 23 (UP)—House economy bloc leaders today called on President Roosevelt to help them avert a possible need for new taxes by opposing an extra-budgetary $212,000,000 farm parity item written into the 1941 agriculture department bill by the senate.

The senate voted the parity fund together with other $1,013,000,000 agriculture bill yesterday and sent it to the conference with the house. The house originally granted the department only $713,896,084 for the 1941 fiscal year.

Economy bloc leaders in the lower chamber believe house conferees would accept some of the senate increases, but that savings sentiment is still strong enough to resist going over the budget for the parity payments, provided Mr. Roosevelt intervenes personally.

"The sentiment is close enough so if the President would say something right sharp we might defeat the parity fund," a leader said. "I should think he would want to do that—speak up now—rather than be faced with the dilemma of raising the tax limit or vetoing the bill."

Other members of the group feared house acceptance of the parity fund would lower the bar on spending and there would be virtually no savings at this session.

Hoped to Avoid New Taxes

The economy drive originally was aimed at cutting through out Mr. Roosevelt's $6,464,000,000 budget for 1941 to avoid necessity for raising taxes. The first bill passed by the house for emergency defense measures invoked by the chief executive after outbreak of the European war.

The bill would have cut $300,000,000 from the budget, nearly $300,000,000 was withheld away from Mr. Roosevelt's original estimate. The senate farm bill, which is pending at this writing, wipes out this saving at one stroke.

Possibility Seen For Cooperative Sugar Factories

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., March 23 (UP)—Sugar beet growers could finance construction of a cooperative sugar factory through the Bank for Cooperatives, F. L. Graybill, attorney for the Spokane unit of the banking system, told a meeting of farmers here last night.

"I see nothing against such a venture, provided it can be established on a sound basis," Graybill said. "A loan would be made to the factory, but the bank inasmuch as the factory would process an agricultural product."

He said Twin Falls growers had asked him about loans for a factory as a possible solution for contract difficulties between processors and growers.

CROMWELL TALK-APPROVAL DENIED

WASHINGTON, March 23 (UP)—The White House issued a formal denial today that James H. Cromwell, U. S. minister to Canada, had submitted his controversial proposal to President Roosevelt for approval before it was delivered.

"The public is being misled, this time through a formal White House statement against believing certain types of so-called news stories carried by certain types of so-called newspapers," White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said.

Statements wholly untrue as to articles stating or suggesting that it was learned from an unimpeachable authority, that Minister Cromwell's proposal to Canada was received by the President prior to its delivery by Mr. Cromwell.

"The point that the reading public should remember is not the obvious fact that the statement was untrue, but that the statement was not received by any reporter or newspaper from any unimpeachable authority."

COMPANY READY TO SELL BRIDGE

SEATTLE, Wash., March 23 (UP)—Bruce C. Shortt, president of the company owning the 72-foot-long, 10-foot-wide, 10-foot-deep bridge, today announced that his company was willing to proceed with the sale of the structure "under our old agreement."

He stated that the agreement was signed in effect until the question of the bridge's future was decided. "We'll proceed to carry it out," he announced.

The company owning the bridge had agreed to sell the span to the state of Idaho for $100,000 as part of the transfer of the scheduled for July 1, 1939. However, litigation delayed the deal.

Shortt claims that the old agreement is all that is now necessary to complete the deal. However, he is of the opinion that there will have to be a new contract drawn up.

GERMANS STAR IN DRIVE TO GET MORE RUMANIAN OIL

OPPOSITION MET IN ATTEMPTS TO FILL CONTRACTS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 22—Germany embarked on a new drive for economic concessions from Rumania today, with a detailed program submitted to the government in the form of a letter by Dr. Karl Clodius, Germany's ace economic negotiator.

Germany had obtained from Rumania contracts for vitally needed Rumanian oil, but had met little opposition in getting the oil to Clodius.

Perhaps 75 per cent of Rumanian oil production is from foreign-owned wells. All the companies have refused to cooperate in delivering oil to Germany. London even reported British sought to charter several enormous quantities of Danube river boats, presumably to keep Germany from chartering them.

Clodius, it was said in official circles, delivered to the government a letter in which there were four main points:

That Germany should be given a more favorable rate of exchange as regards the German mark and the Rumanian lei.

That oil production should be increased.

That the volume of German Rumanian trade should be increased.

That transport facilities should be improved.

As regards volume of trade, it was understood Clodius especially emphasized the necessity of increasing Rumania's agricultural production.

Basis for Negotiations

Clodius, it was said, suggested his letter be made the basis for the important German-Rumanian economic negotiations which have just been started.

There were reports abroad Clodius' letter was in the form of an ultimatum, demanding a certain time limit for acceptance. Prof. Constantin Gureanu, minister of propaganda, said this was untrue. There had been no ultimatum from Germany in any form, he said.

WILLIAM L. MCCOY DIES AT GOODING

GOODING, March 23 (Special)—William L. McCoy, well known Idaho auctioneer, who came to Twin Falls community in 1909, and to Gooding in 1913, died at 7:30 a. m. today from the effects of a sudden heart attack.

He was the husband of Mrs. Hazel McCoy, who is county superintendent of schools.

Mr. McCoy was born Feb. 11, 1881, at Monett, Mo.

His children are his wife and two sons, William McCoy, student at the University of Idaho, and George McCoy, senior in high school.

Two brothers, A. M. McCoy, pilot, and Dr. M. N. McCoy, Caldwell, also survive.

Funeral services here were tentatively set for Tuesday. The body rests at the Thompson mortuary.

able authority. In those words the unimpeachable authority was deliberately invented.

This has been conclusively proven to the satisfaction of the White House. The motive in continuing this reprehensible policy is obvious to the overwhelming majority of the reading public.

Early said he had discussed the new dispatches with Cromwell over the telephone, and the minister had been advised the White House would issue a formal denial.

Carried in New York Paper

He emphasized his conversation with Cromwell had been confined to the news story. The severity of Secretary State Clegg's blunt and unimpeachable denial of Cromwell's speech has led many to believe the minister soon will resign.

The resignation denied by Early was carried by the New York Mirror and quoted intimates of Cromwell as revealing that the speech had been submitted to Mr. Roosevelt in advance of delivery.

CLEAN-UP LOOMS ON RECORD SCALE

value, more will be installed at a later time.

Several other civic clubs, in addition to Rotary, are cooperating in this same nature. Indications were given on the eve of clean-up week that a more concerted effort to keep the city clean will be undertaken this year than at any time in the past.

For the clean-up, starting Monday morning, the city has been divided into five zones. Clean-up trucks will be placed at the same point where regular garbage collections are made, and all trash and cleanings should be placed in the front of the lot, trucks will not haul away material piled in the front yards or on the parkings. All such materials should be neatly piled in the alleys.

The Zones

The zones, and the days each will be visited, follow:

Zone 1—(Monday and Tuesday): From Five points west down Addison avenue to Washington and Shoshone streets, then down Blue Lakes boulevard to Five points east and from there down Main to Five points west. The trucks will start early Monday morning at 8 a. m. and Blue Lakes and will work toward Main avenue.

Zone 2 (Wednesday): All that portion lying east of Blue Lakes between Kimberly road and Heyburn avenue.

Zone 3 (Thursday): All that portion lying north of Addison between the city limits on the east and the city limits on the west.

Zone 4 (Friday and Saturday): All that portion lying south and west of Main avenue bordered by Addison avenue on the west, and Kimberly road on the east and including South Park and Buena Vista additions.

DETWEILER TOPS WHISKER BOARD

George Detweiler was named today as chairman of the board committee which will formulate rules for the Magic City jubilee whisker-growing.

Max B. Miller was named as captain, or vice-chairman, according to John B. Robertson, general chairman of the gala jubilee celebration planned for Twin Falls July 3, 4, 5 and probably July 6.

Other members of the board committee are Charles Sieber, Pat Dalry, Bob Reese, Alton Young and Al Westgren.

The whisker-growing, in which prizes will be offered for beards of various types, is expected to add a colorful western air to Twin Falls for the three months prior to the jubilee celebration. Under present plans the beard-growing is to start April 1 but the committee will convene Monday to chart definite dates and regulations.

"Kangaroo" court is planned to enforce the whisker production, and a substantial fee will be charged men seeking exemption on "legitimate business grounds."

NEW DEAL HEADS EXPECT STIFF FIGHT ON TRADE PROGRAM

SENATE STARTS BATTLE MONDAY ON HOUSE BILL

WASHINGTON, March 23 (U.S.—) Chairman Pat Harrison, D. Miss., of the senate finance committee, predicted today the administration would win its senate fight to extend the reciprocal trade program for another three years.

The senate opens debate Monday on a house-approved resolution to continue the program beyond the June 12 expiration date in accordance with the request of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Harrison, floor manager of the proposal, conceded the struggle would be "one of the hardest" the New Deal has faced in its seven-year history, but added:

"I am sure we will come out on top."

See Major Fight

The major fight is expected to come when Chairman Key Pittman, D., Nev., of the senate foreign relations committee, offers a amendment to require senate ratification of agreements concluded under the program.

The proposal is opposed by administration leaders who contend ratification would mark a return to "log-rolling" tactics. They have conducted informal talks on the issue and obtained varying results but all of them indicate the vote will be extremely close.

One survey revealed a three-vote margin for the administration, while another gave it a six-vote majority on the question of ratification. Opponents of the program believe they can change that lineup between now and the time the senate votes—probably around April 1.

Promise No Filibuster

Harrison said he will ask his colleagues to vote the legislation in a bipartisan manner, and that they have promised not to conduct a filibuster. He added that he hoped the measure could be sent to the White House without a filibuster.

Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., gave support to the administration's stand today when he announced he would vote against ratification because, "for all practical purposes, that would kill the program."

NAVY RESERVISTS 4th District Bar Added To Eleventh Association

M. D. Davis, officer in charge of the navy recruiting station in the post office building, this afternoon announced that it is necessary that approximately 40 enlisted reservists of the organized reserve and volunteer reserve be ordered to active duty with pay on a volunteer basis at the naval air station, Pensacola, Fla., prior to July 1.

Men volunteering or enlisting for this duty will be ordered immediately in an active duty status with pay and allowances to the various naval reserve aviation base in such numbers as the facilities of the individual reserve bases will permit for a course of indoctrination training.

30 Days Prior

It is specifically desired, however, that these men perform a minimum of 30 days active duty on the reserve bases prior to their transfer to Pensacola or to one of the inshore patrol bases. During this period of training, Davis points out, reservists will be instructed in the ground handling and servicing of aircraft, and in the fundamentals of the naval service.

It is desired that each man who volunteers for this duty sign an agreement that he will not request release from active duty within one year from the date of his orders to active duty, and that his family obligations permit him to accept this duty. Other considerations being equal, unmarried applicants will be preferred.

The problem prevailing at Pensacola and at the inshore patrol bases, and the fact that the navy is expected with married men on the allowed pay.

17 to 35 Years

Limiting ages for original enlistment in the naval reserve (class V-6) are from 17 to 35 years, Davis said. Especially desirable men over 25, age limits may be relaxed with the consent of the bureau of navigation in each case. Minors will not be enlisted without the written consent of a parent or guardian.

Enlistment and re-enlistment in the naval reserve shall be for a period of four years.

Full particulars regarding enlistment in the naval reserve may be had from Mr. Davis, either by direct contact at the post office or by mail.

Surprise move by which the territorial limits of the Eleventh Judicial District Bar association were expanded to include the four counties of the fourth judicial district. The action of the state bar commissioners has no effect on the judicial districts as such, but simply supplies to the attorneys' association.

Never Organized

Reason for the consolidation, as explained to the 11th district bar officers by Sam Griffith, secretary of the board of commissioners, is that attorneys in the fourth district had never organized into a local association. "Discussion with members of the bar, in that district and in your own district," Griffith advised Sheneberger, "has indicated some sentiment for consolidation of the two districts into one local bar."

The commissioners' resolution stated the fact that "it is convenient and for the best interests of the attorneys in said fourth judicial district that they be joined with and made a part of the local bar association of the 11th judicial district."

Attorneys thus added to membership in the 11th district group had extended a "sincere welcome" today by Mr. Robertson as bar secretary.

The meeting next Wednesday, March 27, will be at 6:30 p. m. at the Rogerson hotel.

Chief Justice James F. Allshie of the Idaho supreme court will be present.

BOAT CLUB WILL PRACTICE CRAFT

Members of the Southern Idaho Boating club will gather at the river Sunday afternoon, it was announced today by Lud A. Drecker.

Drecker said that three racing outboards and several slower craft would cut the waters of the Snake river above Shoshone falls starting at 1 p. m. and continuing until dark.

At the same time S. Claud Stewart, city parks superintendent, announced completion of an enlarged parking area near the boat dock. It is estimated that more than 200 cars can find room to park in the cleared space.

Producers to Get Cattle Indemnity

BURLEY, March 23 (Special)—Producers who desire to enter into contracts with the U. S. bureau of animal industry to have their herds tested for Bang's disease may do so now and receive indemnity on diseased cattle, according to Dr. A. K. Culler, head of the bureau at Boise.

For some time previous new contractors were not able to secure indemnity on diseased stock by reason of insufficient funds to meet new contracts.

If one has diseased cattle, he may secure the following payments from the government: One-third of the difference between the appraised value of the animal and the salvage value thereof, but not more than $25 for any grade animal or $50 for a registered purebred animal.

At the present time, according to W. W. Palmer, county agent, there are approximately 350 herds in the process of accreditation, with approximately 200 accredited herds. There are 100 herds in the process of accreditation in Blaine county. In 1939 there were 8,500 head of cattle tested for this disease with a loss of one per cent in diseased herds.

Joseph Catmull, professor in Ricks college, Rexburg, will present one of his own herds.

WHOOPIING COUGH LOOKOUT ADVISED

Why more than the usual seasonal amount of the mildy appearing at the present time, Dr. L. C. Krocher, director of the district health unit today had warned parents, guardians and teachers to be on the lookout for signs of whooping cough among children.

Dr. Krocher said that the outbreak of the disease at the present time is apparently mild in form but that it bears watching. Although diagnosis is difficult for the first 10 days until the characteristic "whoop" develops, precautionary measures to prevent spread of the disease should be exercised in all suspected cases. Children should be kept at home and away from schools, theaters and other gatherings when it is suspected they have the disease. Whooping cough deaths are usually not due to the disease itself but to complications, such as pneumonia.

The disease is especially dangerous, the physician said, among children under two years of age. Records show that 90 per cent of the deaths come in this age group. Any child under two suspected of having the disease should be taken to the family physician at once.

ON MASSIVE STONE

They laid him in the sepulchre, and placed you at the door
You kept a silent vigil then, and shall for evermore...
And when the Sabbath day was past, came Mary Magdalene,
And seek for the living? He died from the dead,
The morning sun was rising high upon a fresh new day,
And from the sepulchre, oh stone you had rolled away.

ON SACRED STONE

Perhaps He laid His wounded hands upon your cool gray side
As He arose that Easter morn' our Lord they crucified,
Perhaps His eyes were looking down when shining angels said,
"And seek for the living? He died from the dead,"
Inhuman, as there you were upturned toward the skies,
You were most hallowed of all stones, for you saw Him arise.

ON SILENT STONE

And now again 'tis Easter, and all the world will sing
The resurrection of our Lord as long ago that spring.
By that impotence, oh stone, you've kept your secret well;
We seek in vain ascension, that you alone could tell.
Oh stone of silence, with your tried unquenching impact,
Some of your patient faithfulness into each living heart.

It's amazing how all of the Cardinal rookies resemble one another. The one sitting on the bench, all lined up, you'd swear they were out from pasture.

Joe McCarthy settled himself under the shade of a West palm the other day and expressed himself as believing that baseball of the major league grade required more of an athlete than any other sport.

"Proof that I'm right," said the Yankee boss, "lies in the fact that there are so few really first-class major league players. Thousands and thousands of men play baseball, but only a scattered few are good."

Billy Dickey caught most of last season with one hand and will use the same system this year. "Bill doesn't do it to show off, he is but to protect a finger on his right hand that has been broken for so long he doesn't dare risk injuring it again."

SUN VALLEY, March 23 (Special)—Dick Durrance, former Dartmouth star, held his own competing for Sun Valley, but finished himself at top speed in the dangerous, badly mountainous down race. Two Good Rates Tootson Fine Cage Prospect MOSCOW, March 23 (Special)—"You boys are killing me with all these thrilling games," sighed Burley Coach Rubin Budge last night after his team had come from behind 15 points to eke out a 36-35 victory over Idaho Falls in the last few seconds of play.

"I've never had it so tight another game like these two I'll go bug." And he probably will have to sit through another one because the Bobcats play St. Maries in the consolation finals tonight.

Coach Robert Tootson, of the University of Idaho, rates Earl Tootson, Forest forward, as one of the best collegiate prospects in the four-nation basketball circuit. He is going to try to persuade the Burley boy to come to Moscow next year.

Coach Tootson declares that Dean Hall, six-foot, two-inch center on the Coeur d'Alene Vikings, who will battle Emmett for the crown, is the outstanding player in the tournament and is a good collegiate prospect. Also named on the Idaho coach's select list were Norman Fredrick, Coeur d'Alene; Hester Mason, Dick Soderf, Rudy Tootson and Bob Asbury, American Legion team to two state championships and is classed as one of the best young baseball players in the Northwest.

THE PAYOFF

by HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Sports Editor)

New York ran second in the American league three years in succession before Joseph Paul DiMaggio arrived on the scene.

The Yankees now have been world champions for four consecutive campaigns, or ever since Joseph P. DiMaggio checked in.

That would appear to be something in the way of evidence that the great center-fielder and natural hitter from Fishermen's wharf was the difference, yet Coeur d'Alene of Cleveland considers William Dickey, the tall catcher, the Colonel Jackson, Idaho Falls, brother of Chick Atkinson, current Vanderbilt star.

"Ernie Millard is a good ball player," says Tootson, "but I'd advise him to lay out of school a week or two before coming to college. He has as good coordination as I've ever seen in a young athlete of his age, but a year of rest would do him a world of good in further developing his body."

Millard bumped his head on the floor last night when he was playing shortstop after the beginning of the third quarter and was out on his feet for about half the remaining game.

"I remember falling down and hitting my head after Church had done his best length of the floor," Millard said. "The thing I remembered was dribbling down the floor with the game nearly over."

Orchids for coolness and coming through in the clutch in last night's games go to Earl Tootson and Joe Asbury. Tootson, who batted .363 in the Pioneer league, sought a 20 per cent salary boost.

"And if money can swing the deal, our present idea with material," he declared.

The attorney, who is a nephew of Joe Cantillon, manager of the Washington Senators, 30 years ago did not identify the financial interests.

"For years the distance of travel was the big question and appeared to be the only drawback," he said. "But with the rapid advance of the airplane industry, I feel certain many people will agree with me that this argument should no longer exist."

More than $2,000,000 worth of food products were shipped into New York City in 1939.

Burley Enters Finals of Consolation

MOSCOW, Ida., March 23 (UP)—Coeur d'Alene and Emmett high schools meet tonight to decide the Idaho state prep basketball championship.

Both squeezed through the semi-finals last night by narrow margins—Coeur d'Alene by an overtime triumph over Moscow, 30-28, and Emmett by ousting Pocatello, 28-26.

Emmett stepped into an early lead and held it through three quarters of the game. A fourth-period rally by the Coeur d'Alene quintet held the lead until the final minute, converted two free throws. Bill McGraw, substitute forward, sank the winning goal for Coeur d'Alene in a minute and 20 seconds of overtime.

Emmett in Finals
Emmett was the first team to enter the finals. The team amassed a 17-3 halftime lead but in the third quarter gave up a 28-28 tie and in the final period took a one-point margin. In the rough closing minutes, Emmett regained the lead and scored down free-throw opportunities in favor of taking the lead out to keep possession.

In the consolation bracket, St. Maries edged Coeur d'Alene, 28-27, and Burley inched out Idaho Falls, 36-35, in the last six seconds of play.

The Bobcats had to annex a great victory over Idaho Falls. The Tigers got off to a good start and played grand ball to amass a 17-6 advantage at the half-time, holding Burley to one field goal and four free throws.

However, after the rest period, Burley showed new life and came back strong to win in the game in the second quarter. Although they still trailed 32-23 as the final quarter got underway.

Idaho Falls Coach attempted to stall in the last frame, but Burley kept getting the ball and brought the score to 32-23. The final quarter sank a free throw and Millard also caught a gift shot. With 15 seconds to go, Tootson was fouled while shooting and sank both free shots to tie the score at 33-31. Then with six seconds left, Joe Acaturri was fouled and sank a free throw that sent the Bobcats into the final of the consolation round.

Prospects Not Bright for Boston Bees

CHARLESTON, Pa., March 23 (UP)—For two years the Boston Bees have been going down—down in 1937, down in 1938 and then to 417 last season when they landed in seventh place. So there's plenty of room for improvement in the eyes of the club's Cleveland scout.

As he holds out, major league outfielders need education in throwing to the right base.

USC Favored To Capture Western Title

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 23 (AP)—Southern California is a "paper" favorite today to defeat Kansas in the western finals of the national collegiate athletic association basketball meet tonight, but the best friends of the Trojans were warning them to look out for Jay-hawker tricks.

Southern California seemed to extend itself in defeating Colorado, 25 to 22, in the semi-finals contest last night, while Kansas had to fight hard to shove off a determined Rice Institute team, 50 to 44.

Indiana and Duquesne universities they tonight in Indianapolis to determine the eastern N. O. A. A. champion. The winner of that game will meet the winner of the California-Kansas game March 25 for the national championship.

Last night against Rice, Coach Forrest C. Allen pulled his typical Kansas forward line, featuring a tank in blond Howard Engleman, a junior who had been a substitute forward all season. Rice's score had told the Owas to be on the look-out for such sharp-shooters as Ralph Boring and Don Eubank, first string Kansas forward, but they hadn't gotten much of a line on Engleman. As a consequence, he was on to fight hard to shove off a determined Rice Institute team, 50 to 44.

Sportsmen Catch 8-Pound Bass On Boulder Trip

Back from Boulder dam and Mead lake, the body of water that the dam has backed up, Jack Tingey and Jess Eastman, Boulder sportsmen, today were proudly displaying an eight-pound bass of the big mouth variety, which they caught during the trip.

The two fishermen found the fishing "just fair" in that area, because it was a little too early in the season. However, they made some good bass catches, including the one they put on display at the Boulder city office here. They also caught one bluegill.

Local sportsmen pointed out that there was a sample of the kind that would eventually grow here after sufficient planting of the warm water fish had been completed. Members of the Boulder sportsmen have been planting the bass fish in warm waters of this area and hope to popularize the bass fishing in the future, which trout fishing is now enjoyed in this sector, according to George Van Tibur, president of the club.

The bass returned here by Tingey and Eastman was caught on a regulation plug.

Durocher Returns To Dodger Camp

Durocher said he was advised that a nerve was pressing against a bone in the region of his elbow and that plenty of rest and simple therapy of hot towels would halt the trouble.

EASTER DEMANDS BOOST BUSINESS

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP)—Boosted by winter retail trade this week swelled 10 to 16 percent over the corresponding calendar week of 1939, J. P. Morgan and Bradstreet, Inc. reported today.

Sharpness of the gains largely reflected the fact that Easter came at a later date in 1939.

The climax of the Easter shopping season came Monday when some stores registered peak sales for any day in this year, the authority said.

Wholesalers reported numerous last-minute orders, mostly for small quantities.

Mac Predicts Great Futures for Williams and Keller in Big Time

By HENRY McLENNOR
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 23 (AP)—If my name happened to be either Williams or Keller I would climb up and down my family tree in an effort to find a branch or even a twig that proved to be related to the Boston and Joe Williams of the New York Yankees.

Williams and Keller have indicated they might even surprise Joe DiMaggio in a baseball way. A year ago they were practically unknown youngsters on their way north for their first try in the major leagues.

Now you are daily a casual reader of the sports pages you know what they did. Keller hit 283 as an outfielder for the Yankees and played in the big leagues. Williams, who is still in the Cincinnati news in the world series with his home runs. And as for Williams, all he could do as a member of the Red Sox outfield was to hit a 577 clip and lead both the American and National leagues in runs batted in with 148.

He belted 31 home runs, too. There are lots of managers and writers and players who believe that one, or both, will outfit the great DiMaggio in the 1940 season. This is a tremendous tribute because as you know the baseball world as a whole considers DiMaggio great enough right now to oust Tim Lincecum.
