State May Rest Thursday in Murder Trial
Gillette Only Major Witness Left to Aid Prosecution's Case

Technical Experts at Johnston Murder Trial

CHIEF OF STAFF ASKS ADDED AID FOR U. S. ARMY

Vandenberg and Garner Trail in Delegate Choice

By O. A. KELKER
The state, in all probability, will rest its case against Duncan McD. Johnston by Thursday at 5 p. m. or sometime Friday at the latest.

This was indicated in district court this morning as additional witnesses appeared and, after testifying, were dismissed in more or less short order.

At the present time only major witness left for the state, so far as detailed testimony is concerned, is Chief of Police Howard Gillette. Other witnesses scheduled will probably testify only to various specific points.

Dental's New Witness
It was also learned this morning that another, and heretofore unannounced, witness for the state, will be Dr. W. L. Wright, Murray, Utah. Dent is expected to testify concerning the removable upper dental appliance which was found on the body found May 24, 1938 in a car at the side entrance of the Park hotel. That would seem to substantiate other testimony previously heard that the body was that of George L. Olson, a Salt Lake jewelry salesman, with whose murder Johnston is charged.

It is noted that should the state's testimony concerning the defendant's role in the murder be over early next week, the defense, as yet, has not indicated how long it will require to present the testimony on behalf of the defendant. Closing remarks to the jury and the reading of the instructions for the jury are expected to take nearly one full day.

Shenberger Testifies
Shenberger testified at the state trial this morning was P. C. Shenberger, Twin Falls attorney and counsel in June, 1939, for Johnston who was charged in the murder of the late state legislator.

The attorney told of receiving a message from Johnston on the morning of the murder, but that he did not locate various articles of the slacker merchandise in the Johnston residence.

Included in the diagram and instructions was a drawing of the watch board in the store. The state contends that two of these watches were not the property of slacker but rather were those of the defendant in his brief case he was having picked up from an Ely, Nev., jeweler in order that they might be taken back to Twin Falls and sent from there to the factory for repair.

Remnants of Pendergast Machine Defeated

FUSION CAMPAIGN SWEEPS CLEAN IN MISSOURI VOTING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 3 (AP)—The remnants of the Democratic Pendergast machine which has controlled Kansas City since 1924, were swept from office in yesterday's city election by a fusion ticket of independent Democrats and Republicans, returning showed today.

John B. Gage, a Democratic lawyer and candidate for mayor who headed the Fusion ticket, defeated Phil Robertson, the Democratic candidate, 89,241 votes to 70,264, on the basis of virtually complete returns.

The Democrats won only one seat in the city council. Another was in doubt.

The Fusionists won control of the council and all appointive offices, of which city manager is the most important.

The Democratic defeat was the latest of a series since the vote fraud trials that followed the 1938 election. The imprisonment of Pendergast and several of his lieutenants had led to the united campaign committee, the Fusion group which backed the successful candidates.

The six-week campaign was bitter. Each side campaigned on a platform that promised to rid the city of corrupt machine practices.

NEW DEAL WINS NEW YORK VOTE

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Administration Democrats, favoring the New Deal, won a two-one victory over delegates pledged to Vice-President John N. Garner in the one New York district where a third term for President Roosevelt was a clear-cut issue, returns from yesterday's primary showed today.

The fight was in the 11th congressional district where John J. O'Connor, chairman of the house rules committee, was defeated for reelection in 1938 by James P. Pay, backed by President Roosevelt. Pay and John T. Egan, Tammany candidate, defeated delegates to the national Democratic convention yesterday over Alfred E. Smith, Jr. and John J. McNaboe, state senator, who had pledged the vote to Garner and had denounced a third term for Mr. Roosevelt. The complete vote was Pay, 72,893; Egan, 72,885; McNaboe, 312,318.

Garner supporters competed in five other congressional districts, and in two of them, in Bronx borough, were beaten three-to-one on the basis of latest returns, but the third term issue was obscured by local factors.

CORRESPONDENT SEES GERMAN WEST FRONT DEFENSE

INTERPRETS NAZI SPEECH AS NOT AIMED AT FIGHT

By Webb Miller
 LONDON, April 3 (AP)—Germany has slammed and bolted her back and side doors and believes that the allies must fight her on the western front where she is strongest.

This is my interpretation of the speech of Field Marshal Hermann Goering, head No. 2. It is contrary to the British press interpretation, which has headlines such as "We Shall Strike in the West" and "Must Strike in the West," attributed to Goering.

A close reading of the text of Goering's speech led to bear out the idea that Goering had announced Germany's intention of launching an attack on the western front.

Rather Goering seemed to be boasting that Germany had circumvented the allied hopes of a battleground other than the western front, where Germany is most powerfully prepared.

If Goering did mean that Germany intended to hurl an offensive against the western front it would solve the allied command and control problem—how to get the land war started on a battleground favorable to the allies.

Military authorities never made a secret of the fact that they ardently hope that Hitler will attack on the western front, where there exist the strongest fortifications in military history.

In my opinion six months of warfare has indicated that the final decision is most likely to come through the attrition of war material, so far as the conflict has developed and seems to be developing still. A great offensive on the western front would consume material faster than any other means.

FEEDERS INVITED TO SEE RESULTS

Stock feeders of the Magic Valley area will be presented at the 21st annual livestock feeders' day at the branch experiment station, Caldwell, County Agent Bert Bollingbroke indicated here this afternoon.

The annual event has been set for 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, April 10. Mr. Bollingbroke said that several feeders from this territory usually make the jaunt to acquaint themselves with the latest information.

The feeding experiments which will be shown to the ranchers include tests, according to word from E. F. Hinchey, extension animal husbandman.

1. Investigation of results secured by feeding 48 yearling steers and 200 ewes on balanced rations, protein-deficient rations, phosphorus-deficient rations and rations deficient in both those necessities.

2. Investigation of results from feeding fattening rations to 40 steer calves and 500 lambs. The foods included chopped hay and barley, chopped hay, barley and corn or large; chopped hay, barley and beet pulp.

BRITISHER DECLARES ENGLAND, TIRED OF SUSPENSE, READY FOR TOTAL WAR

The English people have become tired of the suspense of war and this, along with other factors, has brought them the "spirit of total war," Eric Illingworth Grimwade, Stoke-on-Trent, England, told an International Understanding series audience at the high school auditorium last night.

Grimwade was the last of four speakers to appear in the series, sponsored by the Rotary club of Twin Falls. Holders of season tickets were allowed to bring guests to last night's lecture. The speaker was introduced by Charles Shirley Fortan and also a native of England. Yesterday afternoon the speaker appeared before high school students.

Not Representatives

During his address Grimwade said that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was a man who "does not represent the spirit of the people of England" but who instead attempts to shape his policies for their approval and for his own benefit.

As an example of this, he cited the development of a policy of appeasement to replace that of appeasement to meet public demand. On the other hand the speaker described Admiralty Minister Winston Churchill as "embodying the spirit of a people who are tired of a war of nerves."

Of Germany, the speaker said that he had no criticism of that nation attempting to rule the world "as it is a logical goal." He did, however, say he deplored tactics used such as censorship, oppression and imperialism.

He also said that Britain's policy of intervention has proved to be fragile "throughout the centuries." This policy has been supplanted by one of appeasement. This is best illustrated, he commented,

MRS. FDR VISITS WORKERS' CAMP

LOS ANGELES, April 3 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited the roadside hovel and farm camps where migratory workers live that John Steinbeck had not exaggerated their living conditions in "The Grapes of Wrath."

Mrs. Roosevelt made a five-hour automobile trip through the San Joaquin valley yesterday, stopping every few miles to talk with an "Okie" or to ask questions of migrant camp operators.

Near Bakerfield Mrs. Roosevelt visited a private migrant camp erected by a farmer for his workers.

"A water pipe line was next to a privy—probably the worst place a water faucet could be," she said.

Just outside Piley Mrs. Roosevelt saw a roadside workers' camp of the type which Steinbeck described, and she said that it was not "a decent place to live in."

Federal and state-operated camps would the way for all people who desire to improve conditions of migrants, "the first lady said."

KINGSBURY WILL CHANGE STORES

Establishment of Twin Falls' only exclusive prescription drug store was announced here this afternoon by C. Kingsbury, owner of the Kingsbury drug store.

At the present time the drug store is located at 118 Main avenue south. Following closing-out sale now in progress, the move will be made. Reason for the move is that lease on the present location has been sold to a Hollywood concern, which will open in Twin Falls early this summer, occupying several store sites of which the present drug store location is one.

Idaho Student Keeps Lung Collapsed for T. B. Treatment

MOSCOW (Special)—Convincing proof that tuberculosis, the scourge of youth, can be treated without undue fuss is a University of Idaho student who falls at the infirmary once a week for shots of air to keep one lung collapsed during final stages of his cure.

An interesting sidelight on his weekly treatments is the fact that he built the pneumothorax apparatus which Dr. E. D. Cramer, university physician, uses to inject air into his chest cavity. The young man thinks no more of the procedure than car owners do of having a tire pumped up at a service station. He requires about a pint a week to replace air lost by absorption.

Fourteen months ago the student in question reported at the infirmary clinic, one of an average of 70 a day who call for treatment of minor ill. Examination by Dr. Cramer disclosed that he had a beginning case of tuberculosis. He withdrew from the university and spent a year at home under the care of his family physician.

Faithful observation of the usual rest cure arrested activity in his lung. It was so nearly healed by the beginning of the second semester in February that he resumed his studies. The family physician started pneumothorax and made arrangements with Dr. Cramer to complete the weekly injections of air. The young man brought his home-made apparatus along. Dr. Cramer said it works as satisfactorily as the best equipment used in leading tuberculosis sanitariums.

The student patient is checked regularly with chest X-rays. He is carrying a light study load and is getting plenty of sleep.

SPECIAL MUSIC COURSE OFFERED

MOSCOW (Special)—Percussion methods and instrumental repair laboratories will be offered as unusual new music courses at the University of Idaho's annual summer session, June 18 to July 21.

Musicians are generally agreed that percussion instruments have been neglected by teachers out of all proportion to their rhythmic importance. Consequently, few music graduates are qualified to teach beginners. The Idaho summer school will help rectify this situation with a practical course in playing and teaching of percussion instruments, particularly snare drums, brass, and timpani.

Another phase of school band and orchestra work which most young conductors are ill prepared to deal with is the repair and adjustment of instruments, often old and not fit to be played. A shop course will be offered in which Idaho summer students interested will learn how to fix instruments and thereby improve their school musical organizations. The course will include selection of repair materials as well as technique of repair, and will stress brasses and woodwinds.

Both courses will be taught by a visiting specialist on the music department staff, Grae A. Hauning, prominent Minneapolis conductor and instrumental teacher. He is the author of "Methods for French Horn," recently published by Carl Fischer, Inc.

The Epworth league is arranging a reception in the League room at the close of the program when parents and students are invited to council with the team and their pastor director from the university, Rev. Owen J. Beadles.

STRIKES to SPARE

With Fred Stone

By taking three out of four from Dell's, the Seattle club has about eliminated Dell's club from finishing any higher than second place for the 1940 season in the Commercial league. The losing club was in second place—only three games out of first—when the "accident" happened last night. Lee McCracken of Seattle took high with a 550 total. Lee had single games of 212 and 216—both being high singles. He had a rotten middle game of 128. Every player for Seattle topped the 500-mark. Walker Bertsch had 544, Jennings 537, D. Bertsch 528 and Corby Carlson was absent.

Walt Biggers's 536 was Dell's best. Charley Bruggeman with 507 was Dell's best single. Bill McDonald and N. O. Johnson didn't reach the 500 mark. McDonald will occupy the dog-house next week.

It was an even break between Firestone and Orange Transportation teams. Clyde Rosa's 540 took the high single honors. Walt Dix got a 527 total, which was all the 500 or better for the Orange. George Childs was tops for Firestone.

Walt Dix with 200 and Rosa with 207 were the 200 or better single in this match. High singles for the weekly prizes to date are: Commercial league — Lee McCracken's 216. City league — Frank Voska's 235.

Hoppe Takes World Title For Billiards

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—Silver-haired Willie Hoppe of New York today won the $20,000 world championship three-cushion billiard tournament by defeating defending champion Walker Cochran of San Francisco for his 10th consecutive victory in tournament play.

The 46-year-old veteran won 10-47 in a 48-minute game. Although he still has four games to play, the victory assured him of the title because second-place Jake Schaefer of Cleveland already has lost five games.

The string of 16 victories which has carried the former boy wonder undefeated to the championship against a field of the leading billiard players also set a new record for successive victories in world play. Cochran held the previous record of seven.

It was the second time Hoppe has held the world three-cushion title. In 1938 he won it—also from Cochran—in a challenge match. Hoppe also holds the world 18.1 ball game and cushion-carom titles, and formerly held the world's championship in 18.2 ball game billiards.

Mac Sees European War Slowly Putting Strangle on Competitive Athletics

By HENRY McEMORE NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—I have tried to explain to the glomur of a war correspondent but I certainly don't need a whip-crack or leather puttees to tell you the European conflict will slowly strangle the competitive sport which is a necessary qualification of every truly great athlete.

I say that because it is obvious to me as to my uneducated observer that every athletic endeavor has all the makings of a war. The war has taken it away.

The hostilities have influenced almost every sport. Football, tennis, golf and polo have been struck the most devastating blow. Boxing and racing have been affected, but less directly. Even ice-hockey and two or three brands of international football have been affected. The war's part in all this is stupid. It has removed the international contact from sports.

Data track and field for instance. The other night I watched Greg Rice delectably whip Taito Maki and Ikon Lash in new world record time for the three-mile run. His performance was an excellent one. I cheered it and the other 10,000 persons in Madison Square Garden cheered it. But now so what? The normal goal at which the athlete points is the Olympic games. This year there will be no Olympic games. Russia took care of that.

The same applies to Al Hahn, the young Georgetown sophomore who heaved the 10, 12 and the 14-pound shot farther than any man had put there before. No damage resulted from the smoke at 4:23 a. m. when the fire department was called to Krenzler's Hardware store, records show.

The building filled with smoke when a stoker "went dry" (firemen reported). The smoke was seen by police officers going by in the patrol car and they turned in the alarm.

Witness Says Johnston Asked 'Not True' Data in Affidavit

(See page one for today's trial proceedings)

Testimony of Morris Powner, Salt Lake City jeweler who formerly traveled through Twin Falls and Johnston, yesterday afternoon proved the most sensational to date in the ex-mayor's trial for murder of George L. Olson, another Salt Lake City gem salesman.

Powner was called by the prosecution, the sensational testimony came when he was questioned by W. L. Dunn on cross-examination. The defense attorney showed him a letter, which he never introduced as an exhibit for the defense, and asked the witness if he had written it.

The witness said that he had, but added that since that time "I have changed my mind." He further said that at the time he wrote that letter "Johnston had suggested the facts of the case to me."

Wanted Untruths "I wouldn't give the deposition called for by the letter," Johnston wanted me to say things which were not true," Powner said emphatically.

The letter, as introduced in court and read in the jury, follows: "I am writing this letter to you at Duncan's request and will appreciate your reading this letter to him or receding it to him. First of all I have at no time believed that Duncan had anything to do with George Olson's death and I have never been in his home since it has happened and will certainly do everything I can to help Duncan."

Presented Deposition "I'll be in Twin Falls the first part of August and will see Duncan and will at that time give a deposition that Duncan can use at his trial. The way it looks to me, that if from the newspapers, the case against Duncan smells bad. For as yet there is no direct evidence against him, and I'm confident he will win the case when it comes to trial."

"In the meantime all both of you can do is to keep your chins up and do not lose faith for I feel that Duncan and Bill (Vande) are innocent and will be found not guilty at their trial. "With kindest and best wishes, Sincerely, "Morris Powner."

Powner, during the cross-examination told Dunn that he had changed his mind about the deposition he was talking to Johnston in August of 1938, three months after his arrest.

Under direct examination, led by Special Prosecutor Edward Babcock, the conversation between Powner and Johnston in the county jail here was brought out. Powner testified as follows:

Talked of Funds "We talked about the $750 he said he had given to George Olson and he told me he had gotten that money by making a loan on his insurance and on his salary. He was in the money that he had turned over to George Olson. Also, he tried to recall to my mind that I was in the store and knew some facts concerning his giving a gun to George Olson which I did not remember and also the fact that he had given George Olson keys to the store and myself. I didn't know about any of them."

"Mr. Johnston also told me at the same time that a woman who ran a hotel over what used to be his store told him George Olson had been in her hotel the night previous and shows her a gun, saying he was going to commit suicide."

Taking the stand yesterday afternoon before Powner were Capt. T. F. Baughman, special agent for the FBI and a ballistics expert, and also I. Condit, another special agent and a metals expert.

Cartridge From Gun Capt. Baughman testified that the cartridge which the state claims was found in Olson's car was fired by the gun which the state likewise claims was found in the Johnston store basement and was the property of the defendant.

Condit testified that bits of paint and metal parts from teeth of valves the state claims were used to pull apart the diamond case Olson was carrying were the same as that found on the top of the diamond case which state witnesses have testified was discovered in the basement.

Condit, however, said the pieces were either used on the material metal parts which the state found in the basement or something else just like it.

The metal gun, the exposed barrel, the pliers and the metal parts were all admitted in evidence for the prosecution, over the objections of Dunn in each instance.

Other Witnesses "Other witnesses heard for the prosecution during the session were: F. P. Moseley, Elmer New, jeweler, and O. W. Ballard, Boise jeweler. Moseley identified a watch, which the state contends was found on Johnston's watch rack at the store, as one he gave Olson in March of 1938 to return to the jewelry house at Salt Lake City, and from there have it sent back to the factory to have it repaired. He said that when he handed it to Olson he put it in his brief case, which has never been found.

Ballard testified that he had seen Olson at Boise in May just before he returned to Twin Falls. He also said that he saw the watches which the Elmer New, jeweler had given Olson to return to the factory and that they were in Olson's brief case. Likewise he identified the car keys and chain which police say were found cached in the diamond store basement (Detweiler building) as belonging to George Olson. Powner was still on the stand as the 5 p. m. recess came.
