NAZIS CLAIM NARVIK PORT IS USELESS TO ALLIES

GERMANS ADMIT ENEMY TROOPERS LANDED IN NORTH

BERLIN, April 16 (Special)—The press said today that Narvik, far-northern Norwegian port, was used to land the Allies because the iron ore railroad from there to Sweden had been cut the first day of the German invasion of Scandinavia, and Trondheim, the nearest port held by Germans, was 375 miles away.

The official news agency admitted the possibility British troops may have landed at Narvik, as claimed in London, but it said such a landing would be "anomalous from the military standpoint." It said there was no railway between Narvik and Trondheim and even if the British had landed, they were separated by 375 miles of rugged country from the German bases in central and south Norway.

The agency said the reported British landing "may from the standpoint of English prestige and propaganda have a certain success for those in London who consider something of that nature utterly necessary to calm their nerves."

Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, said "since the iron ore railroad from Narvik to Sweden was so permanently destroyed on the first day of Scandinavian operations that its restoration is nearly impossible, the landing of Narvik has lost its economic importance. Strategically, it is valueless from the beginning because being far north of the polar circle it is outside the German combat area."

The official news agency claimed new German victories in south Norway including the capture of a powder factory at Honnefoss, 25 miles northwest of Oslo and the defeat and surrender of three Norwegian battalions of 150 officers and 2,000 men to a battalion of Germans in the Kristiansand area after a "brief but fierce" fight.

Scanning Long-Range C. of C. Project

One of the long-range projects of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce which may benefit by the activities fund drive that gets underway Wednesday with a "kick-off" breakfast at the Esplanade hotel will be the proposed farm collection. Pictured above, examining tentative plans for the edifice, are Quinn Wilson (right) chairman of the committee, Miss Helen Blaise, in charge and Otto Koster. Other members of the committee, Leo F. Fink, was absent at the time the picture was taken. A greater activities fund would permit more intensive investigation into the feasibility of the project. (Times Photo and Engraving)

SOIL AID FUNDS REACH $261,552

Conservation payments to Twin Falls county farmers on 1939 farm program practices are practically complete. Walter Reese, chairman of the agricultural conservation committee, said today.

Payments totalling $261,552 were made to farmers in this county to help stand the expense of carrying out tillage and seeding practices to conserve and build fertility on their farms.

"A deficiency appropriation report approved by congress has provided the necessary funds for completing 1939 payments. Payments which have been detained for some time will arrive in the county office within a few days," Reese said.

As soon as their checks are ready, cooperating farmers who have signed applications for 1939 payments will be notified by letter by the county Triple-A office, the chairman announced.

All applications for payment under the 1939 farm program have been submitted to the county office. When checks for the most recent applications return, the 1939 agricultural conservation program will be 100 per cent complete. March 31 was the deadline for 1939 program applications.

Chairman Reese said completion of the 1939 farm program has been accomplished three to six months earlier than the 1938 program was wound up last year. More than three-fourths of payments in Idaho were made before the end of the year, and practically all of them before 1940 conservation practices were started.

Receipts for refreshments sold during the evening by the Northside club also were added to the fund. The Gooding Leader donated the newspaper advertising.

Buhl and West End Mark 34th Birthday Of City "Born" at Auction Sale in 1906

(Editor's note: Wednesday, April 17, is the birthday of the city of Twin Falls. The following items are for the anniversary of the city of Twin Falls.)

By MRS. OLIN SMITH Birthdays greetings to Buhl and the west end, on the 34th anniversary of the official opening of the city of Buhl On April 17, 1906 the west end city was "born" at an auctioneer's lot drawing under the direction of the Twin Falls Investment company, which was seeking to establish a business center for the newly irrigated tract, a part of the Twin Falls project.

The city was named for Frank H. Buhl, wealthy mining man who together with Pete L. Kimberley, I. B. Perrine and Stanley E. Milner, played an important part in the development of the irrigated tract.

The location of Buhl's section 34 was bought by the Twin Falls Land and Water company and plotted as a townsite. Water was turned in the new low line canal on April 16, 1906, and the following day marked the beginning of Buhl.

The first lot up for auction was sold to Clarence S. Peck for $1,750 and the second to R. C. Beach for $1,600. These lots are now occupied by the Farmers Bank building and the Idaho First National bank, respectively. With this road start in value in the few years the district of the rest of the lots proceeded.

Firms All Ready In anticipation of the new town several business firms had been organized and located on the edge of the section in order to be the first to enter the new city. South of the town were A. E. Milner and J. W. Milner, who were the first to enter the city. Mr. Leif down lumber for a year. Mr. Leif had the beginnings of a saw mill, and a hardware business.

John Hinkley and his sister, Mary, arrived from Colorado and started a hardware business. John Hinkley kept four horses of the townsite, beginning Jan. 1, 1906. Life seemed about the level of the winter and spring. Construction gangs and their mules were extending the canal. The investment company of Twin Falls, of which Robert McCollum was manager, was bringing in buyers.

Dime for Water! The Hinkley hockery was the only company in the town. John Hinkley kept four horses of the townsite, beginning Jan. 1, 1906. Life seemed about the level of the winter and spring. Construction gangs and their mules were extending the canal. The investment company of Twin Falls, of which Robert McCollum was manager, was bringing in buyers.

Those having served as city clerks are Frank A. Evedith, George L. Payne, George Brazee, Charley Kalina, C. G. A. Diveshals, Ruth Yeaman and Bernard Starr.

At the late Mr. Buhl's west end city is greatly indebted, for he not only gave his name but a block of ground and $2,000 in money for the construction of the first permanent school building. The F. H. Buhl, erected in 1908. He later gave the ground for the Paris athletic park on Main street, now known as the Lincoln intermediate, and the plot of ground for the Paris athletic park.

Billions is Needed In his will he gave $200,000 of his fortune to the poor and needy of Idaho and Belgium and established many philanthropic objects in his home community. Several local people were surprised as they learned that the late Mr. Buhl had a national broadcast from Pennsylvania, telling of the dedication of the F. H. Buhl observatory, the million dollar gift from the late Mr. Buhl, to the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Buhl, when we pause to remember our city's birthday, played a much more important part in the development of the Twin Falls tract than most residents of the Magic Valley know.

Through the efforts of I. B. Perrine, Mr. Buhl and P. L. Kimberley, wealthy mining men became interested in the Twin Falls tract, and after looking over the plans for a street and hearing Engineer Hinkley's report, agreed to help finance the proposition. The first sale of water shares for the new irrigation project was held in Blainebush in 1903 with only 18 men purchasing stock.

Perrine convinced Hinkley as the company had already been organized by the late Mr. Buhl, to the state of Pennsylvania.

This Lady Says Hoyt's Compound Is Wonderful

Countless are the number of local people who call daily to talk with the Hoyt Map in person at the Hoyt's Compound, 118 Shoshone St., Twin Falls, Idaho. One of the latest to report relief from years of suffering is Mrs. Ed Wertz, 118 West End Street, Pueblo, who states as follows:

"I had suffered terribly for five years with shooting pains in my feet, knees and back. I suffered untold misery from this condition and I was bedfast at times. Hoyt's Compound was the only thing that got me up and down stairs. The pain would shoot from one part of my limbs to another and then to my head. I was unable to get around at all. I also had a bad case of constipation and I had to take pills to get relief. I had had many kinds of medicine and had to take several in great quantities. I had to take several in great quantities. I had to take several in great quantities."

Up from bed, I can get up and down stairs and I now do my own housework. Hoyt's Compound is now regular and I am not disturbed by my kidneys. In general, I am very much improved and I can truthfully say that Hoyt's Compound is a wonderful medicine."

Come today to the Majestic Pharmacy, 118 Shoshone St., and talk with the Hoyt Map in person. Let him explain to you the action of Hoyt's Compound. Also sold by all druggists in this entire section.

Yanks, Cincinnati Clubs Favored to Score Repeat Wins in Big League Races

NEW YORK, April 16 (U.P.)—Tomorrow the world may fall asunder, but today the baseball season opens. With more than 200,000 people looking on, and approximately 50,000,000 interested, the major leagues open a campaign which ends next October.

The all-powerful New York Yankees will try to bag their fifth consecutive American league pennant—a new record. The Cincinnati Reds, abused in the world series, will try to repeat—something that hasn't been done in the National league since 1936-37.

In each league seven other clubs will try to knock them off, and Chicago. The Yanks and Reds look like a million bucks to everybody from Broadway to San Francisco's Market street.

As luck would have it, the Yanks start crippled. Joe DiMaggio, American league batting champion, will be on the sidelines with a chipped knee. Joe Gordon has a crippled nose and may not play. They don't have a scintilla of a pitcher. Jake Powell is recovering from a brain concussion in a hospital at Lakeside. The Yankees' manager, Delmonico Lusk, is recovering from a brain concussion in a hospital at Lakeside. The Yankees' manager, Delmonico Lusk, is recovering from a brain concussion in a hospital at Lakeside.

In the National, everyone expects the usual dog-eat-dog fight. Bill McKechnie in Cincinnati is looking on his solid pitching staff of Derringer, Wetzka, Thompson and Moore, to carry the Reds through to another pennant. In the other league, McKechnie has the best hand.

But the St. Louis Cardinals are loaded from top to bottom with power which may blast all pitching to kingdom come. Then, too, there are the Brooklyn Dodgers, with their hustle defense, the New York Giants, with their sparkling rookies, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, with their splendid aptitude under Frankie Frisch.

Next October, who knows but what two different ball clubs will line up against each other—or maybe it will be the same old story of the Yanks against the Yankees. It can survive a torrid National league race.

Today we are concerned only with the great American custom of opening the season. Among the many new interesting sights the fans will see are the opening of the season with the Red Sox, Johnny Rucker with the Cubs, Don Dilettando with the Cubs, Don Wee Reese with the Dodgers, and the opening of the season with the Red Sox, Walter Judd with the St. Louis Browns.

Pittsburgh was the first large city to have a professional football team. Nothing fazes him—wind, rain, heat, or poisonous pollution, which had him so ill before his third round in the Masters' first heat. He admits it was just as well for him that only 16 holes were carried the final day. It was that weak, which he turned a 71 over the Augusta national course with some of its holes out on greens where it was not responsible to get the ball in to the cup.

THE PAYOFF

NEW YORK—It follows no longer complain about lack of color that was professional golf during the golden days of Walter Hagen. Not with James Newton Demaret around.

With the winning of the Masters' tournament, Jimmy Demaret definitely became the Royal and Anner's No. 1 man in the gallery popularity. In addition to being the most consistent and lowest scorer, he was also the most popular player in the gallery.

Demaret closely resembles Hagen, the most flamboyant enemies. The Hag was about his build—5 feet 11 inches and weighing 154 pounds—when the Rogerswater veteran was cock of the walk.

Nothing fazes him—wind, rain, heat, or poisonous pollution, which had him so ill before his third round in the Masters' first heat. He admits it was just as well for him that only 16 holes were carried the final day. San Diego leads the league with a half-game margin over Oakland, while Seattle trails by one and one-half games and Sacramento by two and one-half.

During the past 10 years, hundreds of new jobs had been created, 6,842,001 miles in 10,082,253 miles.

Twin Falls Baseball Team Looks Good in Training Conflicts

Assuring fans that the Twin Falls Cowboys would again be "in the thick of the race" for the 1940 pennant, Hugh Pace, business manager of the club that won the Pioneer league championship in 1939, arrived in town yesterday all set for what he believes will be the greatest season of baseball ever played in the inter-mountain territory.

With lots of talent already assured for the Cowboy club, and more due to come from Seattle and Spokane, Pace stated he believed the Twin Falls aggregation would be "just as good" as any in the league.

Meanwhile, he pointed out that some of the other teams in the loop would be exceptionally strong—including Idaho Falls, Boise and Salt Lake City.

Pointing to the ball club, Pace said that the Twin Falls Cowboys were back in Spokane today for a rest after making their second visit to this city in three days and chalking up their second victory yesterday. The score of the game was 9-2 for the champions of the Pioneer league and the defeat was handed to the Whitman college Missionaries.

Tommy is very fast, hits the ball squarely and Manager Tobin says he likes the way he runs out on the field. The infield finds a battle at every position and nobody is yet sure of a sure catcher and Tom Cobbleman are fighting it out for the first base post and at this time it would appear that the edge will go to both which will probably be decided until the final out on the square. Second base looks to be sewed up by the Seattle team.

At third base it is probable that Al Mack will be the man to execute a triple play unassisted in the Western International league, will be the guardian. He played for Spokane last year and this season his post there will be held down by George Farrell.

While there are still three catchers, exclusively of Manager Tobin, all on the squad, it is probable that Bob Bagg, the youngster who was in the full pen for Seattle last year, will hold down the starting assignment for the Cowboys this season.

A military plan, powered with an engine in the 1900 horsepower class, will be carrying 100,000 lbs. of ammunition for each gun, or a total of 600 pounds.

Bees Arrive in Salt Lake for Exhibition Tilt

SALT LAKE CITY, April 16 (U.P.)—Salt Lake Bees of the Pioneer league arrived last night after spring training at Napa, Calif. The contingent was led by General Manager Eddie Mulligan and Playing Manager Tony Robello.

The squad of 16 was joined by pitcher Mel Marlowe, who drove here from Seattle, and Pitcher Jack Bowen, who came direct from Portland Ore. The only player missing was Lawrence Jansen, pitcher, who is due to arrive late today.

The players will go into practice tonight at Community park starting Wednesday. Practice games have been booked for Saturday with amateur Underwood, Joe Sims and Sunday with the semi-pro Flinney Beverage team.
