NAZI JUGGERNAUT PLOWS THROUGH NORWAY

BRITISH TROOPS MAP BIG SCALE GERMAN ATTACK

By Peter C. Rhodes LULEÅ, Sweden, April 19 (UP)—British troops are besieging Bodø and Narvik, on the Norwegian coast, and have landed a force to the south for a big scale attack on Trondheim, it was reported today.

Aerial and Ground Views of Airplane Crash in Desert

Pictured above, on its back in rough sagebrush covered country about 12 miles east of Dietrich, is the plane in which Kenneth Seeds and Kenneth Morris, both of Burley, were injured Thursday. This picture was taken yesterday afternoon from a plane piloted by Lloyd A. Dean, Twin Falls flying commissionaire, commercial pilot, and O. A. Ketter, Evening Times reporter-photographer, as passengers.

Refugees who arrived at the Swedish frontier after a hard trek across the snow-covered mountains to avoid German patrols said the food situation in Narvik was serious. Normally a town of 10,000 people, Narvik has 5,000 or more German soldiers to feed. It is isolated and hence no longer gets the rice and other supplies it usually has.

BATTLE RAGES IN CENTRAL NORWAY

STOCKHOLM, April 19 (UP)—A fierce battle near Elverum on which the fate of central Norwegian campaign may rest was reported today by the newspaper Aftonbladet together with a rumor that British officers have joined the Norwegian forces at Elverum.

Aftonbladet reported in a dispatch dated today "In western Norway" that the Elverum battle started last night and that it outcome was of the utmost importance. The chief Norwegian forces in north central Norway are defending a line said to run from Hamar to Ziverum along the Glommen river.

APPROVAL GIVEN TO WAGNER ACT

WASHINGTON, April 19 (UP)—The house rules committee today sent to the house floor for action the modified Wagner act amendments reported by the labor committee, along with the 17 drastic amendments proposed by the Smith committee.

PEEPER

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 19 (UP)—Three policemen answered a call last night to the home of a woman who reported a peeper was disturbing her. In the back yard they sighted a man near a window. The peeper saw the policemen and fled. Across three back yards and two newly-planted gardens the policemen chased their quarry. Then he tripped over a bush and the puffing policemen crashed upon him.

In the top picture of these two, a Rhosone resident is shown making a close inspection of the wreckage of the airplane. The broken propeller is easily noticeable and it can also be seen that one engine of the landing gear has been torn away. The other portion is on the opposite side of the ship, not visible in the photo. Bottom, a close-up shot of the small cockpit of the cabin ship, a 18 horsepower 4 hp. Fact that Seeds and Morris were both strapped in probably saved them from serious injury or possible death. Morris was in the front seat and Seeds, the pilot, in the rear at the time of the mishap. CROMWELL SEEKS POST IN SENATE

ROMEVILLE, N. J., April 19 (UP)—James H. Cromwell, United States minister in London, and husband of the erstwhile "wealthy girl," announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator today.

EVIDENCE POINTS TO ITALY JOINING NAZIS IN BATTLE

By Eleanor Packard ROME, April 19 (UP)—Italy's exchange of military missions with Germany seemed to give increased evidence today that she was preparing for war on Germany's side. Italian diplomats were using Italy extensively with German interests in the Balkans, and the press continued to attack the allies.

There have been three developments in the Balkans in the past few days, all favorable to Germany. (1) An agreement between Yugoslavia and Rumania for protecting traffic on the Danube, keeping the route open for German exports from Balkan countries; (2) an agreement between Rumania and Russia to withdraw their armies across six miles from the frontier, making it less likely that any war on that border would interrupt Germany's line of supplies; (3) Yugoslavia's agreement to open trade negotiations with Russia.

STATE, FEDERAL PROBE UNDERWAY

BURLEY, April 19 (Special)—W. H. (Pete) Hill, state director of aeronautics, and William Lovelace, inspector for the civil aviation authority, this afternoon started an investigation into an airplane crash which yesterday injured two Burley fliers about 12 miles east of Dietrich.

One of the fliers, Kenneth Morris, is in the local hospital suffering a broken back, the attending physician, Dr. Leonard M. Kelley, said.

Back Broken Fact that the young flier—gunner on the coyote hunting trips made by Kenneth Seeds, 26, owner and pilot of the plane who was slightly injured—had a broken back was revealed this morning by the physician after X-ray pictures had been taken. His condition was said to be "fair." He is conscious.

German Troopers Move Quickly to Retain Positions

THE HAGUE, April 19 (UP)—The Netherlands government has decided to extend the state of siege to all Holland, Premier Junker D. J. Geer said today in a broadcast to the nation and colonies.

There was no mention of casualties. The British-French forces landing in Norway were far outnumbered from the Norwegian side by German troops which are near the Swedish frontier. Such reports as were received today indicated that the Germans on the coast were not officially confirmed and treated with considerable reserve in neutral circles.

Economists fret. They see possibilities of a tremendous inflation in this great golden hoard. They see a day, the war over, when the emerging nations, having no gold, will turn to other monetary plans, leaving the United States with superfluous tonnage of tooth filling.

To say that this is silly is easy enough. Of course it is. But to know what to do about it is something else again. Here the economists disagree; few have any positive ideas at all.

GERMANS REPORT SUCCESS IN SEA ATTACKS; SUB HI

TROOPS CONTINUE TO MAKE LANDING ON NORTH SHORE

BERLIN, April 18 (AP)—The high command said today that German airplanes had attacked British naval units and transports trying to land troops north of Narvik and had sunk one British submarine.

An authorized source said a British battleship believed to be of the 3000-ton Waples class had been attacked by German planes near Narvik Wednesday and was struck by a bomb but only slightly damaged.

The high command continually claimed further successes, as follows:

During a submarine hunt in the Skagerrak and Kattegat German forces probably destroyed three British submarines.

Troops Land

Regarding the already-reported torpedoing of a British cruiser of the Glasgow class north of the Shetland Islands, the U-boat commander on his return to port reports that the cruiser was destroyed by an inner detonation immediately after the torpedo's impact.

The communique said reinforcements of German troops in Norway "continued on schedule."

Capture Ammunition

German troops in the Trondheim area were strengthened by reinforcements but there were no engagements. The areas occupied by German forces around Bergen and Stavanger were extended in all directions. The day (yesterday) was quiet at Kristiansand. German troops in the Oslo area advanced steadily northward and north-westward.

The territory southeast of Oslo up to the Swedish frontier has been occupied and is quiet. In this area alone, Germans captured 83 cannons, 80 machine guns, 20,000 rounds of artillery ammunition and 1,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition.

M-J-B WHY?

"It cost us $5 to find out..."

1 Jack certainly understands women. The other day, for instance, everything went wrong and I was ready to throw things when Jack came home and took me in his arms. "Darling," he said, "let's put on the soup and fish and step out for dinner tonight." I hugged him.

2 After a marvelous dinner ($2 a plate—Ouch!) the waiter asks if we'll have coffee with dessert. "Sure," said Jack, "bring the works." And after one sip Jack looks up and says, "Gosh, why don't we have coffee like this at home?" (Nice person!) The waiter smiled. "It's M-J-B, sir, the Richer Roast coffee."

M-J-B's RICHER ROAST gives you RICHER FLAVOR Drip or Regular Grinds *For drip or slow coffee makers

3 "Richer Roast?" asks Jack. "Yes," said the waiter, "it means that you get a finer, richer, fuller flavored cup of coffee. Richer Roast takes the gamble out of coffee making." Jack was so impressed he left a dollar tip and that's why it cost us $5 to find out about M-J-B. It was worth it, too!

POPULAR DEMAND TELLS THE STORY

The bakers of Butter-Krust have no reason to "pull their punches" when they say Butter-Krust is the best bread in south central Idaho under any comparison. The simple fact that Butter-Krust is in greater demand than any other bread in this territory bears out that statement. If you are not already aware of Butter-Krust's superiority, you should try a loaf at your first opportunity.

Grocers throughout Magic Valley have learned to depend upon Butter-Krust quality. It's only logical that they should recommend this superior bread.

Seniors Saluted With Song at Junior Prom

Singing "We're the Sweethearts of Twin Falls High" climaxed the floor show presented by pairs of lovers last night at the Sweetheart prom given in the gymnasium by juniors of Twin Falls high school for the graduating class.

Appearing in the floor show were Austrian sweethearts, a Negro couple, Indian lovers and a Twin Falls pair, and climax came as two yell leaders, Miss Leona Rae Hughes and Dick Lawrence appeared to announce themselves sweethearts of the whole senior class.

Lovers in Variety
A Junior, Miss Barbara Butler, and a senior, George Davison, were the Twin Falls pair to whom the show was presented by Mae Johnson, president of the senior class, who opened it by singing "Sweethearts" written, accompanied by a Junior girls' sextet.

Austrian couple was Miss Ruby Carlson and Junior Farmer who seated themselves on a love seat to watch a Viennese waltz given under direction of C. Vern Yalen. Miss Mary Alice Buchanan and Buddy Ollb, as the Negro couple, gave a dialect reading, "You're a Sweetheart" there being a heart. "Indian Love Call" was sung by Miss Mickey Pumphrey and Kenneth Rudolph as the Indian lovers, and after the yell leaders' appearance, the sextet sang "Hall of Twin Falls" and "Sweethearts of Twin Falls High."

Suspended from the balconies and extending along the sides of the room was green lattice work in crepe paper. At each end of the room was a huge silver heart over 14 feet high, lighted from the bottom with white spotlights.

Ornate were crossed strands of lighted garden lanterns, with a huge bunch of purple balloons resembling grapes, and high ceilings, centering the ceiling. Other clusters of balloons were placed elsewhere about the room.

Cool Lounges
Garden furniture was placed along the sides of the gymnasium. On the punch table was a heart. Orchestra members were seated for one of the huge hearts at the end of the room, set off by flowers in the center. Basketry, balloons and blossoms were everywhere.

Silhouettes of an old-fashioned girl and her beau formed the cover decoration for the purple and silver programs.
Grand march started at 8:30 o'clock, led by floor officers and their partners, seniors officers and their partners. Will Wright's orchestra played.

Senior members and their wives, advisers of the junior class, Miss Helen Lindenman and Miss Agnes Schubar, and high school faculty members were honored guests.

"Something tells me it's time for Honey Maids"

Natural after-school appetites require a wholesome nutritive food that is delicious to eat, yet doesn't spoil the zest for regular meals. Honey Maid Grahams are dependable that way and rate high in favor with wise mothers.
Keep a supply on hand always to serve with milk, fruit or simply for their own home-sweetened goodness. Your food dealer has them in triple-waxed packages, fresh-from-the-ovens of a nearby National Biscuit Company bakery.

"Now that's what I call good coffee"
How pleasant it is when a friend says, "We had such a nice time at your house last Saturday... it was the first time I ever saw Jack take a second cup of coffee. On the way home he said, 'NOW THAT'S WHAT I CALL GOOD COFFEE!'"

You Can Be Successful in Making Coffee
There are two simple things to remember about coffee-making. First, use good coffee. Second, follow carefully the directions for coffee-making. Hills Bros. Coffee is the choice of millions of women who make good coffee because they know its matchless flavor can always be depended upon.

The Correct Grind is guaranteed to give best results by any method of coffee-making if directions are followed. Hills Bros. Coffee should never be reground. Regrounding results in a loss of flavor and aroma and the coffee loses freshness faster.

PREPARATION: Start with cold or hot water. Percolate slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady percolation starts.

COFFEE: Bring coffee to boiling. Stir. Remove from fire. Add a little cold water and let stand 5 minutes to settle.

STRENGTH: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

HINT OF THE WEEK: Coffee should be in contact with water for a definite length of time. After the correct timing for your coffee-maker has been determined, stick to it; otherwise, results will not be uniform.

Women Can Be Proud of U. S. Envoy to Norway

She is a woman and she is seventy years old. But neither of those facts is keeping Mrs. J. Gordon Harrison from fulfilling her job as American minister to Norway according to the highest traditions of the diplomatic service.

No one would criticize the American minister to Norway if she decided that there was no more she could do in that country and she stopped the highly dangerous business of following the Norwegian government in its flight from Germany.

Strong, able-bodied men in a similar position have run for their lives. But not the 70-year-old minister to Norway. She intends to keep in touch with the Norwegian government—her job in peacetime or wartime—just as long as it is humanly possible to do so.

RED SOX A

Young Jim Bagby Lets Washington Down With 5 Hits

NEW YORK, April 19 (U.P.)—Two victories are a long way from a pennant but two straight shutouts shout out loud that maybe the Boston Red Sox pitching staff isn't as feeble as the experts riding the Yankee bandwagon judged it to be. Two games, two victories, two shutouts—that's the record the Red Sox had as they moved home to open the season today in first place. Jim Bagby followed up Lefty Grove's opening day shutout by blanking Washington again yesterday, 7-0, allowing only five hits.

Joe Cronin came north banking on Jim Bagby to be one of the Red Sox's big winners and his form yesterday indicates the right-handed son of the old Cleveland pitcher learned his lesson last season when he was disciplined for getting fresh with the Red Sox boss. Now he's likely to live up to his 1939 promise when he won 15 games as a freshman. With Grove as his once-a-week ace, and Bagby as the mainstay of his big four Cronin now will seek his other three regulars to challenge the Yankee dynasty from among Woody Rich, Denny Galehouse, Emerson Dickman, Herb Hash, Bill Beutland, Jack Wilson and Frits Ostermeyer.

Scores Shutout

JIM BAGBY, JR.

Charlie Gehring and Hank Greenberg touched off the Detroit powerhouse with their lethal bats and the Tigers won their first game by beating the Browns, 4-2. Greenberg hit a homer with Gehring on base, and tripled with Campbell ahead. Gehring's homer accounted for the other run.

The struggle at the Cincinnati pitching staff was borne out again yesterday when Gene Thompson, Red's sophomore, outdistanced Claude Passeau to give the National league champs their second straight victory over the Cubs, 3-1.

Cold weather and rain prevented the other five games.

Box scores for Tigers vs Browns, St. Louis vs Cincinnati, and Philadelphia vs Washington.

Seattle Moves Into Tie for Second Place

Oakland maintained its Pacific Coast league leadership by a half game today only because the second place San Diego club was shut out by Hollywood. Meanwhile Seattle won its second straight over Los Angeles to move into a tie for second. Portland sank a bit deeper in the basement when San Francisco won its third in a row.

Sacramento, which started the season with a bang but since has sagged, staged a comeback behind the pitching of Robert Kleinke and turned back Oakland 4 to 2.

Wayne Osborne pitched his fifth victory in a row for Hollywood when he turned back Seattle with six hits for a 2 to 0 win. Seattle took a two-game lead in its rivalry with Los Angeles by trimming the Angels 2 to 1 behind Lou Webber's six-hit pitching. Lou Springer scored the only earned run of the game in 22 innings with a fourth-inning homer.

Red Jennings' timely hitting which has sent him to the top of the league's averages, brought San Francisco an 8 to 2 win over Portland. Jennings got three hits in four trips, including a two-run homer in the eighth-inning home run with two men on base.

Death of Kid McCoy Fails to Bring Sadness to Old Tom Sharkey
SAN FRANCISCO, April 19 (U.P.)—Tom Sharkey, 60, Irish and sentimental, had his lips tightly shut this morning today to forgive Kid McCoy for his "mean trick."

He went on to tell about the fight between the two men in New York back in 1909. Neither was champion but it was the fight of the year. "He came into the ring that night with the gloves on," Sharkey said bitterly. "Tommy O'Rourke, my manager, ordered the gloves removed. We found almost half a ton of plaster all over the heavy hand gloves. Had the plaster stayed on McCoy probably would have knocked me over. But I weathered the storm and came along to the 10th round. I couldn't box him—he was too loud, so I went for his account. That fight, that would be one that I'd like to see and he counted him out in the 10th. I can't get my thinking of those days."

The PAYOFF By HARRY GRAYSON (INEA Sports Editor)

Paul Waner played right field for Pittsburgh when he had trouble reading what was on the left field scoreboard. He couldn't see the faces of other players clearly. Identified them by their actions. What makes this story all the more unusual is that Waner is baseball's greatest batter with a 14-year-old major league career. He also is a crack shot and a fine left-handed golfer. Isn't batting... or lack of it forcing Little Big Poison to resort to glasses on the field at 37 and after 17 seasons in professional baseball. He hit 300 last season and was smacking the sphere as consistently as ever this spring when his fielding fell off to such an extent that Frank Pieper, noting that the veteran wore spectacles for reading purposes, suggested he use them while at work. The case of Waner, Chick Hay and Dominic DiMaggio offer something in the way of evidence that nearsightedness does not handicap a ball player. Always Nearsighted Hay, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds, wore choppers because he could see distinctly at short distances only. He led the National league in batting. Dom DiMaggio wears goggles because he is nearsighted. The Red Sox recruit hit .281 in the Pacific Coast league last season... led the AA circuit with 398 total bases. And now Waner reveals he has been nearsighted all his life. "I went to a high school," he says. "When I read without them my words become blurred. I am embarrassed because I can't recognize letters until they're almost on top of me. I've always concentrated on the pitcher," he asserts, explaining his remarkable nearsighted knocking of the sphere. "Sometimes the baseball, looks like a golf ball when it comes into the field. But I've always managed to get a piece of it. Maybe with glasses. Instead of a golf ball, the baseball will look more like a balloon. Waner tried glasses several times in practice before deciding to give them a whirl in championship games. He declares they helped him obtain a jump on a fly ball, especially in small foul territory on the transcendent training trip, during which the background wasn't so good. Can't Figure Why Waner isn't concerned about the eyes helping him at bat. He boggles at the idea of using an aid without them. The glasses he has now aren't strong. He got them three years ago to take the strain off his eyes. Now he hopes they will prolong his baseball career. Jimmy Foxx knocked everybody else out of the lead at Barstow this spring by starting... and finishing... a game winning gesture. Waner drove Foxx to the spectators, who were junked after the one trial. The Sudburyville Slugger saw better without them, although he claims he has worn them out of baseball off and on since he was seven. But where glasses bothered Foxx in action, Dom DiMaggio has washed his face—spectacles and all. That's how much the younger DiMaggio, who has worn them since childhood, knows and feels they are on his nose. And glasses have fitted in so well as part of his equipment to him that Paul Waner can't figure why he hasn't worn them on the field long before this.

Tommy Armour Urges Proper Weights For All Golf Clubs

Editor's note: This is the second of a series of "golf tips" from the country's outstanding professional, Tommy Armour, one of the greatest iron players in history, presents a few ideas to improve your game. Let Grip Firmly For the person of average stature and strength, the driver should weigh 13 1/2 ounces, and the No. 2 iron, 14 1/2 ounces. Now that you have purchased the correct clubs, the next thing is to grip them. The club should always be gripped firmly in the roots of the fingers, but without tension. A secure, firm grip does not mean tightly drawn tendons. Remember this: The club must be swung with the hands and the club must be gripped more firmly with the left hand than with the right. A most common fault is letting go of the club with the left hand at the top of the backswing. Remember this: The hands and wrists grip it very firmly. In playing an iron, the better players play the ball slightly nearer the right foot. They finish with the swing well forward with the weight on the left leg and the club held well over the right shoulder. The club always swings back and finishes with his club head anywhere between the ground and his shoulder and his weight is mostly on the right leg. Practice constantly the shifting of weights from right to left and allowing the club head to finish well over the left shoulder. The Long Iron Most good players use a slightly closed stance to facilitate a pivot or pivot and use the hands on long irons. In addressing the ball, don't place your feet too far apart. Let your feet be close together throughout the swing. After selecting your club, whether it be 2, 3 or 4, let the left foot of the club head do the work while you swing to hit the ball on the downswing, taking turf just as the club head meets the ball. This action gives you better control, accuracy, plus power for less effort. Let the condition of the lie determine the club to be used on the fairway. Even though the wide opening ahead invites a long smearing shot, satisfactory results will result on how well you get the ball away. Make it an unwritten law to use the brassie only when the ball is setting up well. Otherwise, a spoon should be the choice and the difference in length between brassie and spoon is compensated by getting off a satisfactory shot. When hitting with the wind off the tee, it is advised using a brassie. The sand trap Trap Shots Hard The sand trap has removed much of the terror or sand traps for the average player, but even then the club demands proper technique in playing. Keep the body still and hit with the hands. Don't soften up on the trap shots—hit the ball as hard as you would on the fairway with the swing shortened according to the distance needed. The next time a championship is held in your community, watch how the professionals apply the proper technique. Study the approach to the ball, the swing and follow through. Much can be learned by just watching. The differerence always to baby that shot out of the "whiskers" around the green, leaving long, hard putts and costing many pars. In playing such a shot, take a well lofted club and play the ball well off the right foot. After you've estimated the distance, hit the ball firmly, babying it only as far as the ball just where it was or a few feet forward. So hit it.
