Let's Help in Census

If the people in Twin Falls are interested in their city showing as large a population as possible, great importance attaches to the cooperation which they will give the census workers within the next few days.

Establishment of a branch census office in Twin Falls starting Monday morning was announced here this afternoon as officials of both the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce pressed their drive to "count everybody in the city."

Offering wholehearted cooperation with the twofold local civic groups are Earl P. Kramer, Boise, Idaho area manager of the census and Elmer Terry, Pocatello, assistant district supervisor. Terry will have charge of the office here, which will be located in the Chamber of Commerce, and the Senior Chamber will furnish a stenographer to aid in the setup.

POT SHOTS WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

SERIAL STORY K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

Green Gardens By VALENTINE

Olaf Tryggvason Fights Again There was a great king once in Norway, grim, red-bearded Olaf Tryggvason. Down out of those legendary days of Vikings and sea-coarsers, comes a story told around every Norse fireside, a story that is probably remembered in the hills where the Norwegian men of today are rallying to defend their olden land.

Olaf was king of Norway by the right by which men first became kings—he was the strongest and ablest. He was so dextrous and skillful that he could walk along the oars outside his ship as the rowers worked them; or he could juggle three sharp swords, catching each in turn by the hilt. So rugged was he that he climbed the Smalser Horn, and hung his shining shield atop the peak no man had climbed before.

Born of an exiled mother and a murdered father, Olaf grew up in Russia, and at 19 became a sea-roller in the Baltic. All the coasts of Scotland, England, Ireland, the Hebrides and Wales knew the terror of his forays. He even entered the Thames and attacked London, but was fought and bought off. In the Scilly islands he was converted to Christianity.

Returning to his own land he found it in a state of rebellion, and quickly won election as king. His first task was to Christianize the country. His deeds as king formed the subject for the skalds, or heroic poets, whose works persist today.

There came war with Denmark, and Olaf was tricked into a bad position with only part of his fleet. He scorned to flee. High on the quarterdeck of the Long Serpent, with a gilt shield, golden helmet, and bright red coat, he was a mark for all eyes, all weapons. After a long and bloody day of battle, the Serpent was finally surrounded and boarded, and her defenders hewn down.

Olaf Tryggvason leaped into the sea and was never seen again in Norway. There were legends that he escaped, that he would return.

The resolute defense of the utterly unprepared Norwegians shows that the spirit, at least, of their national hero Olaf Tryggvason did not die. As the English soldiers saw the angels at Mons, as the flaming spirit of Jeanne d'Arc appeared in the clouds to Frenchmen standing in the shambles of Verdun, so it is likely that to some of the Norse civilian-warriors, rallying in the mountains to defend their ancient land, the spirit of red-bearded Olaf with his defiant golden shield and helmet may be as good as visible.

Thought From Norway The easy capture of Narvik by the invading Germans is now believed due to the fact that the Norwegian command there had been entrusted to a known Nazi sympathizer. He betrayed his trust. This recalls the fact that various investigations have revealed as officers in the national guard sympathizers and even members of Nazi, Communist and other groups whose ideas are less than democratic.

They ought all to be rooted out. No question of a citizen's rights is involved. All soldiers, but more specifically officers, take a solemn oath of loyalty to the government they serve. The loyalty and dependability of all those entrusted with military responsibility must be beyond question.

The Trouble With Radicals One of the reasons why America has not flocked to radical doctrines with any more enthusiasm is that our average doctrinaire radical is apt to be a gum fellow. He is so concerned with life's injustices and grim terrors that he refuses to laugh at its absurdities. True to form is the action of the Mexican Confederation of Labor in banning "Ninotchka," that very gay spoof on Russian Communist life. The government censors okayed it, but the CROM, which controls movie theaters, blocked it.

Of course that is indefensible censorship by a group—the only kind worse than official government censorship. But more than that—it reveals the grim and dour spirit that lies behind so many of the more radical groups, a spirit that repels those who might otherwise be more sympathetic.

YESTERDAY, Eddie and Val... Hanson grinned. "Look at 'im down there. You'd never know he came within a quarter of an inch of taking 'im in his ship."

CHAPTER XIX THE acid smell of gunpowder... "This man isn't hurt as bad as you think. Must have been hit by a ricochet. Bullet that glanced off his temple."

VAL leaped over the rail in the early morning sun and watched the huge crane swing aboard the Northern Belle and dip deep into her hold. Steve Hanson, puffing on his pipe alongside her, followed every foot of the journey with hawk-like eyes when the crane swung out with the Halliday mine.

ARENT YOU GETTING JUST A TRIFLE STRONG? Attention J. C. C. and Vigilante Three: Webster speaking: Who stings or in combination with others extorts money or advantages by threats of violence or of unlawful interference with business.

USELESS INFORMATION Just to show you what this country is coming to, the State points out a few of the approaching national "weeks": 2-27—National Accident and Health Insurance week; National Notion week (we'll leave the kind of notions up to you).

HIGH FINANCE VERY Dear Spot: Showing what an affluence organization is the Junior Chamber, when the vigilantes barged in on the Jaycee and fined a bunch of 'em at least half the gent's entire life to borrow the money or write a check for half of a buck in cash.

NO ARGUMENT HERE Dear Mister Third: The Pharaoh of Filer has issued a ukase decreting that no woman ever get the last word—because with a woman, there is no last word.

YOUR PEN-NAME GIVEN US ANOTHER IDEA! Dear Pen Name: Certainly the ladies should be investigated into doing something for the whole people. However, I hardly think you can do any more than kindle of clothing—because the vigilantes after all aren't property empowered to do any enforcing it. For instance, the decrees specified red bloomers.

WHAT afternoon, for the first time since she left San Francisco, Val wore a dress instead of slacks and shirt. She put on low-heeled shoes and slipped into a beige camel-hair jigger-coat.

ALL ABOUT BABIES BY RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT Secretary, Director and Child Health Section of American Public Health Association

There have been many attempts to construct baby foods to equal mother's breast milk. Some of these have been successful in nourishing babies, none have equaled mother's breast milk in all the qualities. The fact that some mothers have had babies who die shortly after birth is due to the fact that the milk they were given was not as good as their own.

BROOKLYN, CLEVELAND TAKE LEAGUE LEADS Cowboys Tackle Tacoma After Trimming Idaho Vandals, 8 to 3

Opposition Fails To Score Against Indians, Dodgers

By GEORGE KIRKEY

NEW YORK, April 20 (U.P.)—Undeafed and undefeated, the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cleveland Indians moved today into the fifth day of the aperting baseball season with perfect records. They had to have some help from the weather man to retain their select records but for the nonce they are the two hottest things in the majors.

The Dodgers have to share the National league lead with the champion Reds, who've won their only two games but are not quite as exclusive as the Brooklyn because they've allowed a couple of runs but the Indians hold undisputed possession of the American league lead.

After seeing their heroes polk off the Giants yesterday at Ebbets field, the Flatbush faithful struck up the old familiar spring song, "This is Our Year."

Dodgers Whitewash Giants

Before an opening day crowd of 24,415 which braved a chilling rain, the Dodgers patted the Giants, 12 to 0. Hugh Casey, scattering nine hits, had the Giants eating out of the hands. The Dodgers struck out 13 hits off Schumacher and Melton.

Johnny Allen sent Cleveland's stock skyrocketing when he pitched the Tribe to a 4-0 victory over Detroit. Showing his best form in years, Allen held the Tigers to three hits and three runs in a 4-1 victory. A crowd of 28,522 attended, the largest attendance of the majors' second opening day.

The Yanks staged a four-run uprising in the first inning off Ken Chadwick and pulled through to a 3-1 victory over Washington before 15,299, smallest Yankee stadium opening crowd in years. Joe Gordon's 1-0 shutout was the main attraction. Bucky Harris and the Senators yelled long and loud that O'Connell had pulled out to go for a 3-1 victory. O'Connell, who started for the Yanks, had to retire after five innings because of the recurrence of an old injury to his back.

Bees Acquire 2nd Baseman From Frisco

HALT LAKE CITY, April 20 (U.P.)—Eddie Mulligan, general manager of the Salt Lake Bees of the Pioneer league, announced he had secured Second-Baseman Al Steele from the San Francisco Seals Coast league team.

Steele is 20, just under six feet tall, and bats and throws right-handed. He will join the Bees Sunday, coming from Portland, Ore., where he was with the Seals.

The Bees will go into action this afternoon against an all-star Salt Lake City amateur team, Paul Flanagan or Jack Bowen will start for the pros, with Jack Hatcher, outfielder-catcher, behind the bat. Ray Anderson, regular catcher, is out with an injury. The Bees will play three games Sunday, and several other practice tilts before the opening game of the season against Oregon next Friday.

They Hold Spotlight in College Track and Field

Track and field records will totter when these stars flash in the 1940 collegiate outdoor campaign. Left is Clyde Jeffrey, Stanford sprinter who already has world mark for the 100. Al Blots, Georgetown's big shot-putter has his eye on Jack Torrance's world record of 57 feet 1 inch. Bob Peoples of U. C. is the nation's best heavin thrower and Fred Wolcott, Rice hurler, is set to make it three straight in the national collegiate.

College Stars Will Gun for New Track, Field Records

By HENRY BRONFIELD (NEA Service) Get out your stop-watch and tape measure. We've been shelled out of the Olympic games but a great crop of track and field performers is ready to make things mighty interesting on the home front as the outdoor season gets under way. The tip-off on what to expect came early this year when Connie Warman's pole vaulted 15 feet and the Stanford mile relay team broke the tape in 3:10.5, both new world marks.

College stars are well-stocked with potential record breakers. The Penn and Drake relays, April 26-27; the Big Ten and Pacific coast conference meets May 24-25; the National Collegiate carnival, June 21-22, and the National A.A.U. meet a week later will be the more important scenes of operation. Outstanding in the sprints is Clyde Jeffrey, the Stanford sprinter, who a month ago set the world mark of 8 1/2 for the 100, and who is the N.O.A. defending 220-champion. His closest competitor is likely to come from Barry Ewell, Penn State Negro sophomore, who possibly is the fastest man away from his marks in the country. Wabsett Favored A half dozen flirt with 47-flat in the 440, which boasts the finest field of all. Warren Breidenbach, Michigan's Western conference outdoor champion; Roy Cochran, Indiana's indoor ruler who set a new world indoor mark of 43.2 last winter; Jim Herbert, N.C.U.'s great Negro ace; Charley Shaw of Stanford and Howard Upton of Southern Cal, are the brighter lights.

Griffith Moves Into New York To Watch Decline of Yankees!

By HENRY McLEMORE NEW YORK, April 26 (U.P.)—Into each life some rain must fall, but isn't Clark Griffith getting more than his share? These he set at the Yankee stadium yesterday, no longer young, no longer hopeful, perhaps, with the stay of the years showing in his hair and the gray of the Apple rain drawing beads on his huddled shoulders. He had come, three high in the Bronx, to watch the world champion Yankees' performance before the irremediable attack of his mighty Washington Senators. There was a smile on his face, a gleam in his eye when such Washington warriors as Waddell (address unknown), Fofanoff, (try name), Bloodworth, (unknown name) and Chase (R. P. D., ring 2) took the field. These were the men, his men, on whom he counted to make good his bet that the Yankees were over-rated and could be taken by a team that was smart, alert, full of hustle and blessed with a will to die with its pitcher on. Hadn't they proved to Griffith, in their first two games of the young season that they weren't quitters? Yes, indeed. Through two games against Boston they had battled, and the fact they hadn't been able to score a run on losing both games had not driven them from the field of honor. As the tilts took their place to the Yankees, Griffith, who is known as the "Old Fox" to his intimates as the "Old Fox" and sometimes simply as "The Old" must have felt pained as he saw the Yankees' collapse of the Yankees. Now, right in their own backyard, he was about to match the fulfillment of his forecast. The rain was a-comin' down, and the skies were gold and sharp, but brother Griffith held no mind. Then, as is customary in well run ball games, there came a first rain. The first half of it didn't amount to anything but a nuisance. Washington was at bat. This lack of punch on the part of the Yankees was particularly true of Griffith, for he is accustomed to watching his team go work without so much as a base on balls. Besides, he felt that the Senators would bottle up the Yankees with an impenetrable defense.

NAZIS POINT TO "WORLD OF COLONIES" AFTER VICTORY

HITLER HONORED ON BIRTHDAY BY GERMAN NATION

By RICHARD C. HOTTELET
BERLIN, April 20 (Special)—Hess, deputy Nazi party leader, told German boys in an Adolf Hitler birthday address today not to feel excited because they were too young to fight in this war because Germany would win and provide them with colonies to which to roam, explore and fight when they grow up.

"Some of the older of you may still reach the front in this war, and all of you will be given an opportunity to show you are regular fellows," he said.

"After this war Germany will have colonies. There you will have room enough and opportunity enough to exercise your youthful fire in work, adventure, battle and diligence in strange lands and farms. All you in whom the blood of the old Vikings flows must be inspired by this prospect. There, you can undertake trips of exploration on your own German territory."

Speaks for an hour
Hess spoke for half an hour inaugurating a red letter day in Nazi Germany today—the 51st anniversary of the birth of Adolf Hitler at Braunau, upper Austria, the site of a minor customs official and a peasant woman, in the reign of the Emperor Francis Joseph and the emperor year that the emperor's son, Rudolph, committed suicide.

Hess, the No. 3 man next in line after Air Minister Hermann Goering to succeed Hitler, told the youth that "when the great battle has been won the world will be opened up for you—not only the greater Germany but the whole, wide world in which German people will have sought for a place fitting them."

"We hope Adolf Hitler will be with us many more decades, guide us, form us, give our lives purpose."

Pay tribute
Although Hess' speech had opened the day's ceremonies, and simultaneously with the beginning of the speech the special orders of the day went out to the army, navy and air force paying tribute to Hitler, the high point of the celebration was the presentation to Hitler of a collection of hundreds of thousands of tons of metal—scraps, stumps and other objects—found during the war, to be melted down for munitions.

A statement by the official news agency last night that two British transport ships and a cruiser had been struck by bombs off the Norwegian coast yesterday, and the cruiser off to an suspicious start. The agency said the bombs had "created panic" among British troops attempting to disembark and the cruiser was "greatly" damaged. It remained motionless and "emitted smoke and all patches," although it was impossible for German fliers to tell whether the cruiser had sunk because two warships approached and opened fire with anti-aircraft guns.

Goering, whose contribution to the metal collection included brass, copper, nickel and zinc, said in a presentation proclamation that "faithfulness and thanksgiving speak in this gift." Goering contributed stumps of both Hitler and himself.

Nelson on Army
The orders of the day to the army, issued by Col.-Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief, said: "The father must now and for all the future in his fight for Germany's freedom, honor and vital rights, be able to rely on no one more than his soldiers. A brief review on this April 20 makes us recall the last 20 years of ascent from shame and destruction to new grandeur for our fatherland."

Admiral-Gen. Erich Raeder, commander-in-chief of the navy, said "we go to our death with us in the fight which has been forced on us, with unshakable courage, determination and boundless faith to victory, and add anew to unparalleled successes won by the navy in a conflict against forces far greater than ours."

The home front was not overlooked. Walter Darre, reich farmers' leader and minister of agriculture, proclaimed "as in previous years during the production campaign, you will also in future prove by action that you will not let our food supply go in loyalty to the father."

Helping to Keep City Clean

WASTE PAPER

Here's the type of wastepaper and trash containers soon to go on major business corners to aid in the beautification and clean-up campaign of the Twin Falls Rotary club. The city built the containers under design and supervision of John E. Horen, at left, chairman of the Rotary's city beautification committee. Elmer A. Dean, right, city commissioner of parks and public buildings, "inaugurates" the first container by dropping in a bit of paper. Each of the three downtown intersections on Main avenue will have two of the trash cans.

Wallace Beery Plane Brings Brothers to Pilot's Bedside

BURLEY, April 20 (Special)—Screen Star Wallace Beery's personal airplane arrived at the Burley airport yesterday afternoon, carrying two men to the bedside of their brother, injured in an airplane crash near Detroit Tuesday morning.

Passengers in the plane were Bill Morris, employed by Beery as a bodyguard, and Jack Morris. They are brothers of Kenneth Morris, injured flier who is now in the Burley hospital with a broken back. Flying the ship here from Hollywood was Clara Harnett, Beery's pilot. The screen star is also a flier but his studio contract makes it necessary for him to have a co-pilot at all times.

The trip from Hollywood to Burley, non-stop, was made in four hours and 20 minutes in the new Howard plane. Beery donated the plane for the trip when he learned that young Morris was injured. Ted Welker, Twin Falls, a personal friend of Mr. Beery, visited the trio here shortly after their arrival.

Here's That Hunted Word On Strip-Tease Art: Ecdysis

By GEORGE H. BEALE
NEW YORK, April 20 (Special)—Georgia Sothern was "off to Buffalo" today eager to sell herself to the nation as a shapely ecdyast.

(Webster's unabridged dictionary.—Ecdysis: From the Greek, a getting out; from the French, to put off; zoological, act of molting or shedding an outer cuticular layer, as in the case of insects, crustaceans, etc.)

She decided to be an ecdyast only after an exchange of letters with H. Mencken, editor of "The American Language," Stuart Chase, author of "The Tyranny of Words," and Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, semantologist at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago. She had sought their advice on a word which would adequately and classically replace "strip-tease."

New York City prohibits the use of the word "strip-tease" on theater marquees and prohibits the use of the word "burlesque" on marquee or in advertising.

"A person could walk right by any theater in New York where I was playing," Miss Sothern said, "and not have any idea of what form of art I was presenting."

Mencken said he thought "it might be a good idea to relate strip-teasing in some way or other to the associated zoological phenomenon of molting."

"Thus the word molting comes to mind," he continued, "but it must be rejected because of its likeness to molting, which is the scientific name for molting, which is ecdysis, produces both ecdyast and ecdyast."

On this happy closing, Miss Sothern jumped, so now she's an ecdyast. She said she wasn't going to worry about the pronunciation of it but she personally favored "ecdecast."

THE TWENTY-EIGHT MILLIONTH FORD CAR

Behind the 28 millionth Ford car, which came off the line April 8, 1940, are other famous Ford "millionth cars": the 21 millionth, produced Jan. 16, 1937; the 20 millionth, April 14, 1935; and the 15 millionth Model T, May 6, 1927. THIRTIETH MILLION CAR IN THIRTIETH YEARS!

Under one management, the Ford Motor Company has built and sold 28,000,000 Ford cars.

No other maker even approaches this total. No other has so many cars on the road today.

How has it been done? Not by building a "cheap" car. People do not go on buying a "cheap" product for thirty-seven years.

Not by squeezing workers to achieve a low price. The Ford Motor Company took the lead years ago in paying higher wages, shortening hours and improving working conditions.

Not by monopolistic methods. Henry Ford has always encouraged competition. He has made his company's inventions and technical advances available without charge to any one who wanted to adopt them.

Free competition in the industry has presented a constant challenge to find ways of offering better and better value to the public.

The Ford Motor Company holds the lead in total number of cars built and sold because it has met this challenge with more than ordinary vision and skill—backed by a set of business principles which the American people respect and approve.

As these 28,000,000 cars have been produced, the company's experience has continued to accumulate. Its facilities have continued to increase. Profits have been consistently turned back into the business to provide the means for offering still greater value.

The Ford Motor Company today knows how to build a better car than it has ever built—it has the resources to build it—and it is building it.

In the few moments it takes you to read this, half a dozen of the finest Ford cars that have yet been built—part of the twenty-ninth million—will come off the assembly lines.
