WPA Threatens to Halt Work on Reservoir; City Told to Furnish $2,500

WPA officials at Washington, through district and state heads, today bluntly informed members of the Twin Falls council that unless the city puts up $2,500 to cover estimated cost of materials to complete the 6,000,000 gallon storage reservoir, work on this project would cease immediately.

Mr. Roberts told city authorities that he had received a telegram from the chief WPA engineer at Washington, relayed through Denver officials, in which the project was to be stopped unless the city puts up the funds to complete the project so far as "official" work is concerned.

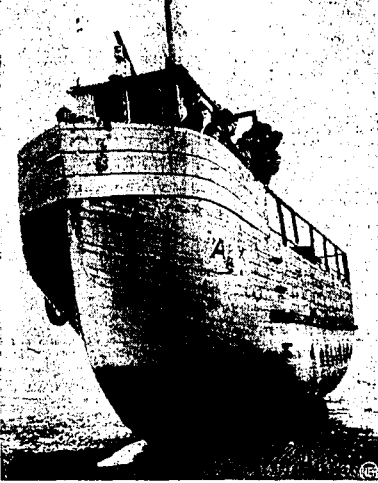

It was brought out at the meeting by city officials that evidently the order came as a result of friction between WPA and WPA officials. The project was originally applied for under the WPA but a bond election failed to carry.

It is felt that the project was originally put up as a WPA project. Mr. Chapin said, "but it was contingent on the bond issue which the people voted down."

Mr. Roberts said that the order received by him stated that operations were to cease immediately and that all material on the project was to be returned to the warehouse. The project employs 25 men at the present time.

Meanwhile, Mayor Joe Koehler was to confer with Sen. D. Worth Clark in Washington by telephone this afternoon.

GERMANS CLAIM SERIOUS LOSSES BY ALLIED ARMY

BERLIN, April 30.—German troops from southern Norway have established contact with those in the Trondheim area after inflicting a defeat of serious proportions to allies on the Dombas-Trondheim front, the high command asserted today.

German forces fighting their way northward from the Oslo sector met German forces advancing southwest from Trondheim at a point on the railroad southwest of the British-held town of Stoenen, the communication said, and other German troops, capturing the enemy toward the railroad junction of Dombas.

The German column from Tynset was an outgrowth of the Nazi offensive up the Oster valley to Trondheim. It was reported to have advanced eastward at Tynset, south of Roeros, and cut it way across the snow-capped mountain passes to Kolvane and to a point in a wide unimpeded drive for the Dombas-Stoenen railroad at the town of Uoberg.

Nazi and Allied Troopers Tangle in Central Area

STOCKHOLM, April 30 (AP)—Allied and German reinforcements today were reported rushing to the Gudbrands valley to turn the tide in battles that may decide control of central Norway.

Severe fighting was reported in frontier dispatches to be in progress southeast of the British-held railroad town of Dombas, while German forces which had made contact with Germans from Trondheim began a strong flanking movement in an apparent attempt to strike at allied forces from north of the key communications junction.

The outcome of the present battling around Dombas and along the rail line from Dombas to Stoenen (apparently occupied and controlled by the Germans) was described by military experts as likely to decide control of all central Norway communications lines if not of the entire allied expeditionary thrust south of Trondheim.

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—A British military spokesman reported today that the Germans had taken the city of Stoenen in Norway, 25 miles south of the great German base, Trondheim, and that the situation of allied troops in the Dombas-Stoenen area was difficult.

Naval Forces Advance

It was indicated German motorized forces were driving strongly up the Gudbrands valley, that they had taken the town of Otta where the allies had made a stand, and were now probably within five or six miles of Dombas, the railroad junction and allied field base south of Stoenen.

Hold Positions

In the Dombas area, north of Trondheim, allied troops were reported to be holding their positions against the advance of German forces and dispatches which reached here indicated that at present there was only patrol activity, with the German and allied lines more or less stabilized.

ENGLAND BLAMES GERMAN PEOPLE, NAZI HEADS FOR WAR

LEADERS REFUSE TO GIVE RESULTS OF NORTH FIGHT

LONDON, April 30 (Special)—The German people as well as the Nazi leaders are responsible for prolongation of Europe's war, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

Chamberlain, who had dodged questions regarding progress of the war in Norway, was questioned by Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty, who said the allies must "defeat in battle the German people as well as the Nazi leaders."

The speech was criticized by some British newspapers on grounds it was too optimistic of a stable future peace in Europe.

People Face Responsibility

"In my speech at Mansion house on Jan. 27," Chamberlain said, "I pointed out the allies have no vindictive designs against the German people but that, on the other hand, the German people themselves are responsible for prolongation of the war and its sufferings was theirs as well as that of the Nazi leaders. It remains the duty of this majority's government."

The statement was cheered but R. S. Sorensen, who was now trying to convince the British people "all Germans are as vile as the Nazi leaders."

Refuse to Answer

Several members interrupted, crying: "And so they are!"

Both Chamberlain and Oliver Stanley, war secretary, refused to answer numerous questions about the war in Norway on grounds their replies would be "as present in the public interest."

The government leaders, who had been sharply criticized in the press as a result of setbacks in the Norwegian campaign, were bombarded with questions, especially regarding equipment and supplies, and the British troops who had been reported heavily bombed from the air because of lack of anti-aircraft defenses.

Stanley said the troops sent to Norway were in possession of the full and approved war equipment.

WPA THREATENS TO HALT PROJECT

Mayor Koehler insisted that the mayor's position about the highway department's action about the city raises the funds to buy the materials was probably made because Washington officials were not informed as to the facts.

"Lousy" Deal

"I think the city of Twin Falls is getting a dirty, lousy deal," Mayor Koehler said at the session. "It is rotten when we have to be placed at the mercy of a fellow in Washington who doesn't understand the project and the promises which have been made. It looks like we've got to be made the goat for the rest of the state of Idaho."

Chapin declared that it was a case of the government doing what they want when they want to do it and that's that.

"I feel," Chapin continued, "that we've acted in good faith and that we've given the highway department the state WPA and the federal government to carry this project on. We, however, appreciate the good will of the highway department (WPA officials present) who are working under orders from the higher-ups."

City officials were considering the matter this afternoon and this evening their decision will be given. From all indications, unless Senator Marjorie Wood and R. R. Clifton, Piler, have been admitted to the Twin Falls county general hospital, it will be necessary for the city to furnish the $2,500 or see the project closed.

GRANGES UPHOLD ROADS PROGRAM

Nothing New
Ethelids stated that the highway department has been asked to make a survey of needed improvements—but nothing has been done.

"The Buhl Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Buhl highway district, has started preliminary survey which includes the underpass at Cedar crossing the road west to Glenns Ferry," Mr. Shields said.

"The engineer's survey will be completed in the next week or 10 days. If some definite action is not taken regarding the road, and things go up to date, the south side will be on a stub end of the highway."

"This is as much a problem for the Granges and farmers as for the businessmen. If the road isn't kept here there will be an increase in transportation costs."

J. E. Barker, Buhl C. of C. highway committee member, told the gathering of farmers that "no improvement in the road is being made in this section and very few dollars have been spent on Twin Falls county in the past several years."

Mr. Barker said that "unity is important" and voiced optimism about securing the needed improvements.

"We are entitled to more road work in this county," he said emphatically.

Barker's favorable attitude toward the U. S. 30 improvements was outlined by Dr. F. A. Kallusky, Buhl, Burley C. of C. who met at the Cassia city tonight.

COMPARES DEWEY SHOUTS TO FDR'S CALM

Editor, Times:
After hearing in sequence addresses given by Thomas E. Dewey and President Roosevelt, one could not help but compare the two different types of oratory.

Mr. Dewey with his burst of phrases seemed to raise his audience from their very seats, leaving them frothing at the mouth and ready to tear into something or someone, although they were not quite sure just who or what it was.

After this volcanic outburst we heard the low, mellow voice of our President. My friends, he said, you know and I know, after that I cannot recall word for word, but he went on to build up trust and confidence, tolerance, not intolerance and good, common American like sense.

He took it as just a talk made to realize in what a wonderful country we United States live, and how fortunate we are to have a competent, intelligent, low-keyed man like President Roosevelt all down and talk over affairs of state in a manner that all can understand.

I could not help but compare Mr. Dewey to another great orator with a black mustache who rises his people much in the same manner. We are mortals so childish, we have to be yelled after to make us understand or threatened with violence to make us do their bidding.

Do not believe we are. I believe the majority of us will take our country as it is today and as it has been in the past years, peaceful, self supporting and free. There is no need to take a complete change of ideas, means and methods.

blat the British and French troops from their foothold south of Tromsø. One of the reasons for the defeat for Dombas appeared likely to decide the immediate future.

Allies Loss at All Points
German troops defeated the allies at "all points" in the Dombas area yesterday, the high command asserted, and forced them to retreat. It was further asserted that the fourth Norwegian infantry regiment, numbering 2,500 men, had surrendered northwest of Lillehammer.

"Parall" of the allied troops by Germans advancing toward Dombas "in full force," the communique asserted.

GERMANS CLAIM NORTH VICTORIES

It was suggested that the Germans had set fire to wharves and buildings or that allied shelling had started the fires.

"Things are going well at Narvik, the situation is stationary and in a few days the situation is difficult at Dombas," the communique stated.

Allied troops and equipment were reported arriving in Norway now in a continuous stream, and hope rose that even yet the Germans might be prevented from joining effectively their forces from the south with those at Tromsø.

GRANGES UPHOLD ROADS PROGRAM

Nothing New
Ethelids stated that the highway department has been asked to make a survey of needed improvements—but nothing has been done.

"The Buhl Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Buhl highway district, has started preliminary survey which includes the underpass at Cedar crossing the road west to Glenns Ferry," Mr. Shields said.

"The engineer's survey will be completed in the next week or 10 days. If some definite action is not taken regarding the road, and things go up to date, the south side will be on a stub end of the highway."

"This is as much a problem for the Granges and farmers as for the businessmen. If the road isn't kept here there will be an increase in transportation costs."

J. E. Barker, Buhl C. of C. highway committee member, told the gathering of farmers that "no improvement in the road is being made in this section and very few dollars have been spent on Twin Falls county in the past several years."

Mr. Barker said that "unity is important" and voiced optimism about securing the needed improvements.

"We are entitled to more road work in this county," he said emphatically.

Barker's favorable attitude toward the U. S. 30 improvements was outlined by Dr. F. A. Kallusky, Buhl, Burley C. of C. who met at the Cassia city tonight.

COMPARES DEWEY SHOUTS TO FDR'S CALM

Editor, Times:
After hearing in sequence addresses given by Thomas E. Dewey and President Roosevelt, one could not help but compare the two different types of oratory.

Mr. Dewey with his burst of phrases seemed to raise his audience from their very seats, leaving them frothing at the mouth and ready to tear into something or someone, although they were not quite sure just who or what it was.

After this volcanic outburst we heard the low, mellow voice of our President. My friends, he said, you know and I know, after that I cannot recall word for word, but he went on to build up trust and confidence, tolerance, not intolerance and good, common American like sense.

He took it as just a talk made to realize in what a wonderful country we United States live, and how fortunate we are to have a competent, intelligent, low-keyed man like President Roosevelt all down and talk over affairs of state in a manner that all can understand.

I could not help but compare Mr. Dewey to another great orator with a black mustache who rises his people much in the same manner. We are mortals so childish, we have to be yelled after to make us understand or threatened with violence to make us do their bidding.

Do not believe we are. I believe the majority of us will take our country as it is today and as it has been in the past years, peaceful, self supporting and free. There is no need to take a complete change of ideas, means and methods.

LAST HONOR SET FOR JOHN F. CARR

Buhl, April 30 (Special)—Funeral services for John Francis Carr, Deep Creek district farmer since 1907, and charter member of the Buhl Lodge A. F. and A. M., will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church. Rev. Leroy Walker, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in Buhl cemetery, under the direction of the Albion funeral home, with Masons in charge of grave-digging.

Mr. Carr's wife, Mrs. Ethel Rhinhardt Carr, died a year ago.

Seeks Damages

Judgment for $75 for car repairs and $50 for loss of car use is asked in a prolate court civil suit filed by Harry W. Barry, Twin Falls and against Jay E. M. Sackett. Sackett claims Sackett was negligent in stopping his car half a mile north of Piler March 8. Earl E. Walker is attorney for the claimant.

WPA Threatens to Halt Project

Mayor Koehler insisted that the mayor's position about the highway department's action about the city raises the funds to buy the materials was probably made because Washington officials were not informed as to the facts.

"Lousy" Deal

"I think the city of Twin Falls is getting a dirty, lousy deal," Mayor Koehler said at the session. "It is rotten when we have to be placed at the mercy of a fellow in Washington who doesn't understand the project and the promises which have been made. It looks like we've got to be made the goat for the rest of the state of Idaho."

Chapin declared that it was a case of the government doing what they want when they want to do it and that's that.

"I feel," Chapin continued, "that we've acted in good faith and that we've given the highway department the state WPA and the federal government to carry this project on. We, however, appreciate the good will of the highway department (WPA officials present) who are working under orders from the higher-ups."

City officials were considering the matter this afternoon and this evening their decision will be given. From all indications, unless Senator Marjorie Wood and R. R. Clifton, Piler, have been admitted to the Twin Falls county general hospital, it will be necessary for the city to furnish the $2,500 or see the project closed.

Wife of Doctor Dies at Gooding

GOODING, April 30 (Special)—Mrs. M. L. Haviland, 65, wife of Dr. M. L. Haviland, a former resident of Twin Falls, died today at 9 a. m. at her home, Mrs. Haviland had been in a semi-invalid for two years.

The principal charges picked from the first trial were grand larceny. Spirit of Dawn, Joyce Carlson; Queen of May, Velia Ward; Oliver, Ruth Jones; Jack in the Pulpit, Phillip Johnson; Pines, Ruth; Dorothy Anderson; Big Bumble Bee, Richard Tolman; Violet, Madeline Nichols; Bluebonnet, Lily Betty; Rose, Mary Lou Turner; Habits, Red Blackburn and Montie Lee; Tulip, Ruth Herbert; Forget-me-not, Anabelle Aratlin; Fanny, Rosalie Johnson.

The cast will be supported by several choruses.

Filer Man Faces Liquor Charges

Named in two separate complaints as having supplied liquor to Filer miners, George W. Piler, will face preliminary hearing in probate court here today. Piler is in county jail for lack of $250 bond on each of the two charges. C. D. McKinley, Piler marshal, told that Piler was in possession of providing blackberry nectar to Edward Shaft and James Bowman, and William Conroy.

Husband's Answer Wins Him Divorce

Although his wife originally sought the divorce, C. M. Gates had won the decree himself today in district court here.

Gates was divorced from Mrs. Almina Gates—his wife since 1905—after he had presented evidence at the hearing Monday. Mrs. Gates presented no testimony.

The wife's complaint charged that her husband was cruel and violent; that he was a drunkard; that he was cruel and jagged him. Properly submitted, by which Mrs. Gates relieves her Twin Falls residence and the children to her custody. The divorce was approved by Judge J. W. Porter. The couple married April 8, 1905 at Shiloh, Ia.

Despite Doctor's Orders, Fans Expect Col. Bradley at Derby

By HENRY McLEMORE
LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—They say as how this unusual ain't no horse, but it's a crazy man talk.

Just a stable swapper's opinion on the report Col. Bradley would be at Churchill Downs to see his Bimelech run, but there are many others who share it.

Sure, the doctors have said the master of Idle Hour farm mustn't risk the excitement of seeing his colors flaunted in another derby. Sure, they have said the finish of the race, particularly if his beloved Bimelech were on top, would mean his finish too.

But around here they won't believe it until a search of the stands at post time fails to reveal a steely-eyed old gentleman coddling a top-watch in one hand and a gold-headed cane in the other. You just can't convince the clockers, the trainers, the grooms, the swipes and all the others whose work is done in and about the big green and white barns beyond the backstretch at Churchill Downs.

He wasn't supposed to see Bimelech make his first start of the year in the Blue Grass stake at Keeneland last Thursday, but when the field went to the post it paraded past an automobile parked alongside the rail. In the car, and with no doctors around, was Colonel Ed. As if rehearsing for what the doctors say he must do next Saturday, the Colonel kept his eyes turned away from a card cut from a fortune, or when Behave-Yourself coat him another fortune by beating Black Servant in the run down the stretch, or when he was thrown on him in his early days in the wild and woolly west, or when the dice and the little white ball ran against him in the Casino at Palm Beach.

In other words, down here where he is a living legend, the feeling is the Colonel can stand anything, and that with his own eyes he'll see Bimelech break from the gate, and with his own watch clock the colt he rates as the best he ever had make a try for the fifth Bradley derby victory.

THE PAYOFF

by HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 30—Tony Galento continues to work at Madame Bey's famous training camp near Summit, N. J., but the place isn't the same.

No Galento camp will ever be the same. There is a missing link in the amazing chain of circumstances which put Galento, a fat and fantastic barkeep, in the ring with Joe Louis last summer.

It easily could be a vital one, for Joe Jacobs is dead.

Galento only supplied the music. Jacobs wrote the words. Jacobs parlayed Galento and a keg of beer into a world heavyweight championship match unquestionably the most direct managerial feat in ring history.

And Jacobs didn't stop there. He was not one to fall to capitalizing on his own success. In the first round and knocking him down in the second.

So it is not surprising to learn that Galento has for some time been assigned to meet Louis again at Yankee Stadium in September.

All Old Two-Ton has to do is get over Maxie Adelbert Beer in the Jersey City park, May 28.

And if Jacobs, as smart a matchmaker as the eyes have had, believed the corpulent signor could do that on little more than courage alone, he would not have accepted the date.

Galento viewed Jacobs as Magician. But Galento, who is 30, had been knocked out and been in mourning times when Jacobs picked him up for want of a better meal ticket.

After several managers, including Dempsey and Max Baucus, had given the signor up as a bad job.

It remains to be seen how Galento will go without his Svengali.

Like Max Schmeling, whom Jacobs should be in a split decision, following as the Perocious Frankfurter groveled on the floor, Galento viewed the high-rolling Hebrew from the only thing that made him think of the man as a champion.

The shrewd Jacobs did not think possible with Galento to make him a champion to the way when John L. Sullivan covered his files. Little Joe pit Galento on a diet of beer and big-bell cigars. He made the Orange Oval a comic strip character.

Of the signor had to be a joke, he'd make a joke out of the entire business.

While Jacobs was ruthless in building Galento, the Italian's present is a striking example of the power of ballyhoo.

There was a strong bond of affection between Jacobs and Galento, Jacobs admitted the overstuffed pub

Youths Gun for County Track Meet Records

When the youngsters of Twin Falls county rural schools get together for their annual track and field meet at the county fair grounds at Pier May 9 they are going to find some tough records to shoot at.

This was revealed by a release of records by Mrs. Doris Stradley, county superintendent, showing the best marks compiled since the meets were first held. The records were compiled by Ralph J. Brown, track coach and instructor and a former member of the board of control for the county meet.

Fire Safeguards to Cut Insurance Told to City

Greatest charge against fire insurance rates in Twin Falls is the fact the city is served by a single transmission line from the filter plant to the city, councilmen had informed today by R. C. Stevenson, manager of the Idaho Surveying and Rating bureau at Boise. The bureau has direct charge of the fixing of insurance rates in all communities of the state, based on a thorough inspection of the existing conditions. Mr. Stevenson conferred with council members, suggesting that the city should be divided into more fire hydrant blocks, which would be installed at the rate of one for each square block. Conferring frankly with the councilmen, Stevenson told them of a long range program which should be started immediately and which would ultimately reduce the insurance rates. With the present obsolescence of the city's hydrant system, Stevenson offers an opportunity for the community fire rates remain the same. Introduction of the suggested hydrant system would result in the rates being reduced after the program has "shaped up."

3—Make some effort to purchase a better truck after the new pump truck is purchased and the old one repaired.
4—Start to look about for a site for a second fire station in the outskirts. Buy a lot of 12 new men overhauled truck out to that station and replace it at the old station with a new one.

FBI AGES BOOKED AT JAYCEE MEET

JEROME, April 30 (Special)—Highlighting the Jaycee convention to be held here Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12, will be Inspector W. H. Drane Lester of the FBI, who will address the convales Saturday morning. It was announced by M. O. Wherry, chairman of the convention.

Mr. Lester, one of the most brilliant officials of the federal bureau of investigation, is a major in the military intelligence division of the officers reserve corps, United States army. He is also one of the administrative assistants to J. Edgar Hoover.

FBI Instructor
In a letter received Saturday of this week from Mr. Hoover, assurance was given the Jaycees that Mr. Lester will appear here at the two-day convention. At present Lester instructs at the FBI academy. He is a native Mississippian, a graduate of that state university and holds degrees of B.A., M.A. and L.L.B., and of Oxford university (bachelor of civil law), which he attended as a Rhodes scholar.

Storage Tank
2—Construction of an elevated storage tank, capable of holding one million gallons capacity, probably in the northern portion of the city. This would not be such an expensive undertaking and would save over the city in case of an emergency on the lone transmission line. Another thing which should be regarded as important is the installation of more fire hydrants. There should be at least one to every square block. One fire hydrant is located close to the scene of a fire, the friction loss for a two and one-half inch fire hose, over any distance at all, is terrific.

Large Mains
He also suggested that the city should adopt a policy of not using main for fire hydrant supply unless these mains were six inches or larger in diameter.
Regarding the department personnel, Stevenson said that "you are about in the same boat as with the equipment." The department, he said, is understaffed.
He said at least four additional full time firemen should be hired and six part time men called men volunteers added to the list.
"It is a bad situation, that is the inability to run two pieces of equipment," he said. "You are doing nothing more than a skeleton crew," he said.
Regarding the present fire station, he asserted that it might make a good barn but it isn't a fire station.
The station he said, should be retrofitted and a drill tower should be constructed. Provision should also be made for sleeping quarters of the call men in the district.
The insurance expert also recommended installation of a fire alarm chest system in connection with the long range improvement program. Likewise, he said that all call men should be required to have telephones in their homes, and added that if an alarm system was placed in the city, separate lines could run to each call man's home where a separate bell would be installed, informing him of an alarm at the same time it was received at the station.
As he neared the end of his suggestions, Stevenson urged adoption of a uniform building code and fire protection code.
"You must get away from the makeshift ordinances which have been on the books for years," he said. "Without an adequate fire protection code the city is faced with a very serious difficulty."
Don't Shift Cities
At one time he urged councilmen, and the city, to get away from the idea of changing fire chiefs every time the administration changes.
"When you find the right man you should keep him," Stevenson said. "You have an investment in his training and his knowledge of the city. If necessary, an ordinance should be passed which would assure the chief's job not being repossessed and which would prevent him being discharged at the order of some new official just because another man wanted the job."

POISON SICKENS MOTHER OF FDR

NEW YORK, April 30 (Special)—A spokesman at the home of Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt said today the President's mother was feeling quite well and had returned to her home from the New York world's fair.

"I don't know what happened to me, I guess I must have been poisoned."
John Taggart, pharmacist at the drug store, said Mrs. Roosevelt's illness appeared to have been caused by some peaches she had eaten at lunch. President Roosevelt's Helen Taggart, who lives in the same building as the drug store, said she was assured by Taggart there was no cause for alarm. Mrs. Roosevelt also talked with her son by telephone from her town house.
