NAZIS BOMB CHANNEL PORTS

German Columns Smash Way Into Important Port

By JOE ALEX MORRIS United Press Foreign News Editor

German columns smashed into Boulogne, a scant 30 miles across the channel from Britain today, and brought to England the imminent peril of invasion.

British troops were fighting desperately to drive back the Germans who arrived at Boulogne with a powerful armored column. London warned that loss of the channel port would be a terrible blow and that if Boulogne fell, Calais probably soon would become untenable.

Loss of these channel ports would place the allied army of approximately 1,000,000 men in north France and Belgium in grave peril. Unless it could fight its way through the German corridor it would be forced to attempt evacuation with inadequate port facilities under the shattering bomb attack of the German air force.

The fall of Boulogne was said by German spokesmen to be possible and even probable but they declined to say the port already had been occupied by their columns.

The grave news of Boulogne was given to the British house of commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill who admitted the outcome of the battle was not certain.

Churchill's statement—indicating the German offensive had created chaos and imperiled perhaps a million allied fighting men in Flanders—climaxed a series of trip-hammer blows on the home fronts and the war fronts.

1. The German high command reported encirclement of allied forces was squeezing the British back from the Scheldt river, that German troops were smashing all allied coastal blows and driving northward from the Somme valley toward Calais, which is 22 miles from Dover. The Germans said they bombed the Dover harbor works but London denied it.

2. The British admitted the French channel ports were under such severe bombardment they could be used only part of the time and (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

TWIN FALLS MAY SEEK AIR PLANT

Action to place a Twin Falls bid for one of the prospective inland airplane factories envisioned in the giant new U. S. defense program will probably be taken at the Friday noon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, it was indicated this afternoon.

Boise city council Monday night took similar action by telegraphing President Roosevelt and asking that one of the plants be located in the capital city. Boise assured the President that a site meeting all specifications would be available.

Twin Falls bid along the same lines will be suggested at the Friday gathering of directors and members at the Rogerson hotel, C. of C. officials said today.

Other matters scheduled for tomorrow include final reports of all team captains in the activities fund drive. President Carl N. Anderson issued a call for all captains to be present with their summaries, which will be submitted at an executive session of the directors after the open luncheon.

Merchants' bureau budget will be taken under consideration by the chamber.

Sect's Peddlers Revealed as Agents for Germany in Texas

DEL RIO, Tex., May 23 (U.P.)—The uprising of 400 people here to drive three professed Nazi agents from town was followed by reports from Austin today that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel had ordered an immediate investigation of reported state-wide subversive activities.

Two of those expelled were women. The governor was given a complete report of the demonstration here.

The crowd had threatened to stone the male member of the party unless he publicly burned the American flag and publicly burned the circulars which he and his two female companions had been distributing about town for three days.

The man threatened with a stoning identified himself as Louis Decker, of Scotland, E. D. Ab the edge of town he turned toward the crowd and warned: "If we go, there will be hundreds to take your place. They will flow from all corners. They are in

OFFICERS ARREST BRITISH FASCIST LEADER MOSLEY

By NED RUSSELL

LONDON, May 23 (U.P.)—Great Britain launched a campaign to secure the home front today and arrested Sir Oswald Mosley, chief of the British Union of Fascists, and many others including Capt. Archibald H. M. Ramsay, conservative member of parliament.

At least 11 persons were arrested in the sudden application of drastic regulations under the 1939 defense act, including John Beckett, former member of parliament and recently associated with the pacifist "People's Party."

Others taken into custody included eight members of Mosley's group in addition to himself. They were A. Rason Thomson, N. Francis Hawkins, P. E. Burdett, H. M. Keeble, Capt. U. A. Hick, O. F. Watts, G. Brunning and Mrs. Dora Fox.

Ramsay's arrest was announced in the house of commons by Sir John Anderson, head of the home office. Ramsay was a member of the Anglo-German fellowship.

Anderson said the arrests were made under 1939 defense regulations which are designed to protect the home front against "Trojan horse" activities.

Reason for Action "This action was taken," he said, "because of the danger that organizations in which the persons concerned are leading members might be used for execution of acts prejudicial to the security of the state and not on account of opinions held or expressed by them or on account of their propagandist activities. Further action must and will be taken as circumstances develop."

Beckett formerly was associated with Mosley, but recently broke with him. He was chairman of the national union of ex-service men and an organizer of demonstrations calling for "no more war."

WAR

CHICAGO, May 23 (U.P.)—Loop hotel managers agreed that something should be done to prevent hickering among their French chefs and German waiters.

They issued an ultimatum: "This country is NOT at war. Don't discuss it."

That's why patrons of hotel dining rooms were mystified when favorite waiters answered their war queries with: "What war?"

Battle Theater for War of Today

The Germans today were reported only 30 miles from England on their march to the channel through France and the claim was that Boulogne (H-4) had already fallen into Nazi hands. The next step in the Nazi advance appeared to be against Calais (H-4) and from there it is only 22 miles across the English channel to the important British naval base of Dover (I-4). Brave battles also continued to rage in and around Valenciennes and Cambrai (F-6). Britain practically admitted that the important French ports facing England were "not usable" because of the heavy Nazi fire.

3 ESCAPE DEATH IN MINE FLAMES

WALKERMINE, Calif., May 23 (U.P.)—Three men, trapped by a fire in the underground workings of Walkermine, today rescued themselves by crawling out a back tunnel. Mine officials, however, said they believed a fourth man was still trapped in the shaft.

The three men who had been trapped worked their way back through a lateral tunnel in which the fire started, and reached the surface through a ventilation shaft. Warren said the company had six rescue workers, equipped with oxygen mask apparatus, working in the tunnel in search of the man still believed in the mine.

Other rescue workers have arrived from nearby mines and are standing by ready to go down if necessary," Warren said.

Cause of the fire could not be determined definitely until the fire which was still burning, had been extinguished and the charred mine timbers examined.

Forty other miners working in three other tunnels of the mine were safe, mine officials said. Copper is the mine's main product. Gold is a by-product. The mine is horizontal main shaft into the side of a hill with side tunnels leading off.

Senate Votes Giant Naval Fund Measure

WASHINGTON, May 23 (U.P.)—The senate, voting billions for national defense at a break-neck pace, today approved a $1,473,756,728 navy appropriation bill to hasten warship construction and expand the naval air force.

The senate spent less than an hour and a half on the huge navy bill. Passage was by a vote of 78 to nothing. Only late yesterday it had approved unanimously a $1,823,252,724 measure for rapid expansion of the army.

Thus in less than 24 hours the senate has voted $3,297,009,452 for defense. Of that amount, $2,802,288,126 is in cash which the services can start spending as soon as the bills are signed by the President.

NAMES in the NEWS

German Units March on Calais; 1,000,000 Allied Troopers Resist Strongly

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.

BERLIN, May 23 (U.P.)—The high command said today German armies were pounding forward through Belgium and France toward Calais against fierce allied resistance and that the German air fleet had "effectively bombed" the channel ports, including harbor installations at the English harbor of Dover.

The communique, issued at Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, referred to the bombing of an English port for the first time and admitted the big British, French and Belgian armies (estimated at 1,000,000 men) trapped in north France and Belgium were putting up the strongest resistance.

It said German speedboats had torpedoed and sunk an allied destroyer off Dunkirk.

The German offensive continued to gain, and the allied attempts to counter-attack were repulsed by German mechanized units, infantry and aerial bombers, especially in the Cambrai sector, the communique said.

1. The German offensive through Belgian Flanders and across the River Scheldt was gaining ground slowly despite the strong resistance of the enemy. This was the main front held by the British.

2. The German spearhead thrust through north France and to the river Somme to close the trap on allied forces is still pushing northward, in the general direction of Calais, only 22 miles from the shores of England. (This point is where channel swimmers cross the Dover straits.)

3. Fierce fighting is in progress around Valenciennes, and in the Cambrai sector of France where all efforts by the allied troops to break through the German trap have been repulsed "with heavy losses."

4. German speedboats continued to hunt along the channel coast, attacking enemy warships and merchant vessels, and succeeded in sinking an allied destroyer off Dunkirk.

On the southern front, from the Somme to the Meuse rivers, the high command said, "the enemy is on the defensive."

Allies Taken Prisoners The communique asserted 650 allied troops had been taken prisoner when the second group of the Liege fortifications at Battice surrendered. One fort at Namur was said to be still holding out.

The communique said fighting still was in progress around Valenciennes, where the allies were reported to be attacking furiously. The Germans were said to have "mopped up" the Mormal woods southeast of Valenciennes where the French retreated.

The army's 4th army force, the communique said, succeeded in repulsing allied attempts to break through near Cambrai, southeast of Valenciennes and were reported to have inflicted heavy losses. (The allies threw many tanks into the attack, the communique said, but they were turned back.)

French military sources claimed that "progress" had been made in the Cambrai and Valenciennes sectors, where the bulk of French troops in the German trap had been fighting strongly, but except for a statement that they had battled their way into the outskirts of Cambrai there was no definite word of the operations.

SENATOR LASHES LINDBERGH TALK

WASHINGTON, May 23 (U.P.)—Sen. James F. Byrnes, D., S. C., answered Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's attack on the administration's foreign policy last night with a charge that the famous flier was unqualified to speak on the subject.

He denounced those who "consciously or unconsciously" retard President Roosevelt's projected national defense program as the "fifth column's most effective fellow travelers."

He said Lindbergh's speech had been announced as "a discussion of our air defense" but the famous flier had "engaged in a discourse on American foreign policy about which he was no more qualified to speak than 'Wrong Way Corrigan' or any other aviator who may fly the Atlantic." He spoke over the CBS radio network, the same one which carried Lindbergh's remarks last Sunday.

Byrnes frequently is a White House spokesman and his words were interpreted as the official answer to Lindbergh.

He assailed Lindbergh for "attempting to lull Americans into a false sense of security" by urging them to "continue to bury their heads in the sands and give no thought toward that shocking conflict now raging across the waters and which threatens the very fabric of Christian and democratic civilization the world over."

NEUTRALITY SET AS MEXICAN AIM

MEXICO CITY, May 23 (U.P.)—President Lázaro Cárdenas said today that any elements, internal or foreign, attempting to endanger Mexico's "absolute neutrality" would be dealt with strongly.

His statement coincided with reports of an increase in the number of Germans arriving in Mexico. "The German influx was said to have resulted in a government investigation of possible 'fifth column' activities in Mexico, scene of vigorous agitation against the allies during the World War.

Cárdenas refused to comment on the reports other than to state that general conditions in the country were "absolutely satisfactory."

BLIND OPEN CONVENTION BOISE, May 23 (U.P.)—Members of the Idaho Progressive Society of the Blind opened their annual four-day convention here today.

LATE FLASHES

BERLIN, May 23 (U.P.)—German troops are driving for Calais, and carrying the battle ever closer to England, the official DNB news agency reported today.

The agency said attacks along the flanks of the German corridor across France had been repulsed with heavy losses to the allies but warned the allied army in northern France and Belgium still is powerful and will not be broken without heavy battles.

The strongest allied force, DNB indicated, is in the neighborhood of Valenciennes along the Belgian-French border.

DNB said attempts by strong allied forces to break through the German ring between Cambrai and Valenciennes "scored slight local successes which, however were nullified by the bloody enemy losses."

PARIS, May 23 (U.P.)—French military sources said tonight the allied troops had thrown back German forces in a great battle that began yesterday in the Cambrai-Valenciennes sector and which still was raging today but the final result is in doubt.

The Germans were described as able to advance yesterday only at one point, near Audenarde, the Belgian town on the Scheldt (Escaut) river where they penetrated the British lines.

LONDON, May 23 (U.P.)—The air ministry announced tonight a special force of Blenheim bombers had attacked the headquarters of a German armored division advancing on the channel ports and that "close on to 100 high explosive bombs" were dropped "well within the target area."

The British bombers, the communique said, bombed tanks, armored vehicles and troop concentrations forming the vanguard of the German drive to the channel.

Japanese Favor Entering War on Side of Germany

TOKYO, May 23 (U.P.)—Sentiment favoring Japan's active participation in the European war on the side of Germany—with The Netherlands East Indies the Japanese reward for a totalitarian victory—reached increasing proportions today.

Several influential leaders and a number of newspapers joined a movement calling for abandonment of the Japanese policy of non-involvement, especially after Germany informed Japan she is "not interested in the East Indies problem."

Terry was here briefly in connection with the final clean-up of calls from residents reporting they had not been enumerated. The calls have all been taken care of as far as C. of C. leaders are aware.

Asked for a tentative estimate as to the amount the Twin Falls census might show, Terry said he himself has no idea what the numerical total will be. Estimates heard on the streets—coming from businessmen whose connections would tend to aid them in forming a prediction—range today from 12,000 to a possible 14,000 persons.

WEATHER HELPS FARMERS' TASKS

Weather during the past week was favorable for field work in the Magic Valley and over most other portions of the state. It is shown in a report received here today from the United States department of agriculture for the period ending Wednesday.

In the late districts, the report says, seeding and planting made rapid advance while also in the late districts the planting of late crops also made good progress. While most crops made good growth during the week; in some localities cool nights resulted in only fair advance. Winter wheat continues in very good condition and early seeded spring grains are good.

Pastures are mostly very good, according to the report, but a few ranges, while in good condition, are getting dry. Beets continue in good condition and thinning and blocking made good progress.

Fruit continues promising and the early blooming have good sets of fruit. Planting of early potatoes is progressing rapidly and the earliest planted ones are in good condition.

In many regions of southern Idaho bean ground is now prepared for seeding; in Twin Falls county, however, scores of ranchers were already concluding their planting of that crop today. Commercial peas are reported up in some areas.

Field work is about normally advanced for this time of year throughout the state. Vegetation is about up to normal or somewhat ahead, the report finds.

DANGER SERIAL STORY ROMANCE AHEAD BY TOM HORNER

YESTERDAY, Larry rides the black on a second attempt. While in the saddle, Larry's eyes...

Esteemed Sir: In your column of Tuesday, in reference to the result of your investigation into the facts surrounding the omission of a portion of the Lord's Prayer by the officiating clergyman at the recent Democratic convention, I note that you state that you are now convinced of two facts:

CHAPTER V IT was after supper when Larry brought up the subject of the gate in the canyon fence. He and Pete Barnes were sitting outside the bunkhouse, smoking.

LARRY left the Hayhook early, reached town by mid-morning. He drove to the hotel, changed his clothes and called Colonel Harris. Then he hurried over to the newspaper office. The patrol chief was waiting for him in the editor's office.

As to active attempts at sabotage, these are better left to the public authorities. The federal bureau of investigation is presumed to be abreast of this situation. It is aware that persecution for opinion will not be tolerated, but only prosecution for actual overt acts.

After business was concluded Mrs. John Chapman presided during the program, with Mother's day as the theme.

"Thirty Years Without a Squabble" Boast Members of Syringa Club at Gay Reunion

"More than 30 years without a squabble" that is the record to which members of the Syringa club pointed with considerable pride yesterday afternoon when they attended a "homecoming" at the home of Mrs. George A. Childs, 253 Eighth avenue north.

The nine original members were present, including Mrs. W. A. Ostrander, first president of the club. Hostesses were Mrs. Childs, Mrs. J. H. Murphy and Mrs. Ostrander. More than 30 women met to reminisce on the "early days" of the Syringa club in the vicinity of Buhl, and to renew friendships.

For the occasion, Mrs. Childs had decorated her home with snowballs, peonies and snapdragons.

Because it is only "once in a blue moon" that all of the past, present and honorary members are able to get together, the hostesses featured the blue moon symbol in the dessert course served at mid-afternoon.

Members recalled that the Syringa club was originally organized as a Ladies' Aid society when the west end community held church services in the Syringa school house.

Later the club evolved into a card-playing group.

Not a single instance could the group remember when there had been disharmony in the group.

That's a record for 30 years of clubship.

Reminisce on Pioneer Days in West End

"Once in a blue moon" all the past, present and honorary members of the Syringa club, organized in the vicinity of Buhl in pioneer days, have a get-together and yesterday they achieved a "homecoming" at the residence of Mrs. George A. Childs, Twin Falls. Here are the nine charter members who were present. Seated, left to right, Mrs. Thron Olson, Buhl; Mrs. Hattie R. Wilson, Twin Falls; Mrs. W. A. Ostrander, Twin Falls, first president; Mrs. J. D. Wiseman, Twin Falls. Standing, left to right, Mrs. L. F. Wiseman, Twin Falls; Mrs. Vina Jennings, Twin Falls; Mrs. M. E. NON-SKID RUGS
To prevent dangerous falls from skidding rugs, there is a new spongy rubber material available. When placed beneath the carpet, it acts as a firm anchor, its lower surface gripping the floor, the upper clinging to the rug. Also, it is said actually to prolong the life of the floor covering, since it acts as a cushion as well as an anchor.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve their backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be their kidneys. The kidneys are the chief way of taking the waste acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day of urine. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pain, loss of energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent uric acid passages with irritating and burning sometimes show they are something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Mac Picks Lou Gehrig as 1939 Outstanding Athlete for U. S.

Overlin, Garcia Tangle for Crown

NEW YORK, May 23 (U.P.)—The issue of whether a boxer can develop a punch by spending endless, tiresome hours in the spartan exercise of lifting glasses in cocktail lounges will be settled for all time tonight when Ken (Primrose Path) Overlin fights for the middleweight championship of the world.

His opponent will be Cefirino Garcia, the deadly bolo puncher from the Philippines who is recognized as the New York boxing commission as middleweight champion. Garcia is one of those conservatives who clings to the idea that the way to train for a fight is to spend hours shadow boxing, doing road work and gulping fresh air. Betting men, skeptical of the new training doctrines expounded by Mr. Overlin, have made Garcia an 11 to 5 favorite to retain his title.

Like Harry Greb Only once in a lifetime do you get a gent like Mr. Overlin. He is out from the same gaudy cloth as was the late Harry Greb, a great fighter who did his training in night clubs, inhaled all the cigar smoke available, delivering orations on the superiority of champagne over water as a daily beverage—and knocked the ears off of almost everybody he fought.

Overlin may not be the deadly little piece of machinery that Greb was, but he is the same style fighter—a cunning boxer, an agile man with his feet and a guy who never gets worried no matter how fast the punches fly.

Garcia Real Puncher Tonight he goes against a real puncher. Garcia's bolo punch is a sweeping, right hand blow that travels fast and lands hard. It gets its name from the fact that came outers in the tropics use a similar motion with their bolo punches. Mr. Overlin does not approach this engagement in his usual happy, tomorrow-will-take-care-of-itself frame of mind. The reason is that the New York boxing commission forced him to go to a training camp to get ready for the bout. It was the first time Mr. Overlin had ever been to a training camp and the mooing of the cows and the call of the crickets at dawn got on his nerves.

The PAYOFF By HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Sports Editor)

Henry Leiber, batting 400 for the Chicago Cubs, tells how his average soared when his weight dropped — to a mere 200 pounds. When Ike Pearson of the Phillies stopped him in shutting out the Browns, Hank Leiber had hit safely in 12 consecutive games. The big Arizonan had manufactured 25 safe blows in 32 times at bat... was traveling at a 510 clip. Leiber's current surge is remarkable in more ways than one, for among other things it is proof that large outfielders are definitely beat on the effects of being hit on the head by Bob Feller's fast ball in the spring of 1937.

But right now Leiber wishes to give advice to hitters inclined to be heavy. His tip is to consult a professional trainer and hit the road before going to camp. He attributes his present form to work forced upon him by Eddie Rogers, an old lightweight fighter who runs the Arizona Athletic club of Phoenix. It cost him just $50, and he is happy to testify that it was the best $50 he ever spent.

Takes Off 30 Pounds "I weighed 230 pounds at Christmas time," explains Leiber. "Rogers knew I had to take some of it off. He told me I could do it if I'd join the club and take orders. The club dues are $20 a month. I told Eddie I'd give him $50 more than the dues if he really got me in shape. "I haven't had a drink of any kind—not even beer—since the first of the year. From that time until the middle of March, when I left Catalina, I took Rogers' orders. "He got me up at 7 every morning, and we ran from three to five miles. It was murder at first. But it not only brought my weight down to 200, where it is now and where it belongs, but it built my legs. Last season I weighed between 220 and 230."

Leiber got back into the lineup after Feller, the young Cleveland fireballer, beamed him as a Giant three years ago in an exhibition game in New Orleans. But his spirit had disappeared when he returned to the wars and he entered a New York hospital in early May, after twice being benched for dismal showings at the plate. He remained in the hospital seven weeks... spent five more at a private home on Long Island.

Faced Long Fight "It was feared he would never be the same, if indeed he wasn't through. Doctors told him it would be three or four years before he would fully recover from the injury. "I weighed 235 pounds when I left the hospital," relates Leiber. "I was fat and as weak as a cat. I cried when I first got up and tried to walk. "I had to learn all over again. The first day out on Long Island I lost my balance, and fell... and I couldn't get up."

Although his long-range hitting would indicate his eyes are microscopic, Leiber is not sure they have come back all the way. He wears glasses off the field... for reading and the movies. And then after a particularly wearing afternoon. But he no longer has to devour

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, May 23 (U.P.)—The golden laurel to Lou Gehrig. That is my platform at the moment and it will continue to be until voting is complete and the World's fair announces the winner of its award for the outstanding contribution to sports in 1939. Right now, Gehrig isn't among the leaders. Latest returns from the land of the trylon and perisphere show four Joes—Louis, Di Maggio, Burk and McCarthy—in front. Fine sportsmen as they are, I can't help but feel that the golden laurel would rest more lightly, more becomingly, on the brow of the one-time "iron horse" than on any of the Joes, even though they represent our greatest fighter, our greatest baseball player, our greatest carman, and our most successful manager. True, Gehrig didn't perform through the entire 1939 season. He played in only eight games but now that the Mayo clinic has told us what he was going through at the time, those eight appearances take on a stature more impressive than all of the 2,165 successive ones he had played in before. If a show of courage is a contribution to sports then those eight games Lou played must be remembered forever. Sick almost unto death, he refused to give in. Now that we know the torture those eight games cost him, who would be the first to deny him the wreath of laurel? Did fighter Louis ever have to give as much of himself? Did Di Maggio ever have to call so deep upon his reserve of courage? Did carman Burk or Manager McCarthy ever face a foe as relentless as death? If Gehrig earned the golden laurel by the way he fought to stay in the game, he earned it doubly by the manner in which he bowed out.

No athlete ever walked into the setting sun with more grace and less histrionics than did Gehrig. When fate said the time had come for a pinch-hitter to bat for him he accepted it as quietly and lightly as if he had known it all the time. He took the heavier blow from the physicians at Rochester as few of us could have taken it. He took it as he had always taken a fast ball down the middle—chin out, spikes set, eyes forward. From that day to this Gehrig has set a magnificent example. Admitting the gravity of his case, he said he'd fight it, with all that was within him. He has.

Admitting his love for baseball and what it had done for him, he said he would never do a thing to cheapen its name or lessen the respect of those who looked upon him as a symbol of it. He never has. Not wealthy, he refused offers of quick riches. Not once, but a dozen times he turned down offers for the use of his name as a drawing card for restaurants, bars, night clubs and the like. He spurned endorsements of a hundred kinds on the grounds they were not in keeping with the sport. When he did decide upon the work he was to do he chose social service, and a comparatively meager salary. The year 1939, or any other year for that matter, produced no greater contributor to sport than Lou Gehrig. His is the golden laurel, and it will glow brighter for his wearing of it.
