

Expert Predicts Time When Forests Pay for Education

BOISE, May 30 (U.P.)—State Forester Franklin Girard today visualized the time when cost of operating all schools in the state would be defrayed by revenue from Idaho forests.

"During the biennium of 1937-1938, 30,370 acres of state timber were cruised, appraised and sold—bringing to the school endowment fund the sum of $314,640," Girard stated. "During the year 1939 the revenue derived from the sale of timber was about $600,000 and for the first three months of this year, state timber sold had a value of $325,000."

Tremendous Revenue

The state forests of Idaho, if properly managed and adequately protected from fire, are capable of yielding continuously a revenue each year in excess of one million dollars.

"The money derived from forest resources goes into the state's educational endowment fund. None of the principal may be spent but may be invested and the earnings used to pay the cost of operating public schools in the state, Girard declared.

Fund Will Swell

"I can visualize the time when this school endowment fund will be swelled by the revenues derived from the sale of timber to a total of $100,000,000," the forest supervisor continued. "If safely and wisely invested at four per cent per year, this sum will yield a yearly revenue of $4,000,000, which is more than the amount now raised by taxes in support of public schools."

"It is no idle boast then, to say that in time it will not be necessary to levy taxes to support public schools in this state, since it is entirely possible to finance them from sale of natural resources produced by the state forests."

CITIZEN MILITARY CAMP SET JULY 2

Plans are now being formulated for the 30-day training of more than 200 young men from 17 to 29 years of age at the Citizens' Military Training camp to be conducted at Ft. Douglas, Utah, July 2 to 31, it was announced here this afternoon.

Probably exists that a local representative will be appointed to receive applications from this section of the state, but until such time as public announcement is made of that fact, all applications should be sent direct to the camp at Ft. Douglas.

Began in 1913

The idea of the camps originated in 1913 when Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, then chief of staff of the army, established two training camps. The first students were university men and presidents of some of the leading universities of the nation worked in close cooperation with General Wood in this movement.

This year's camp at Ft. Douglas is to be better and more interesting than ever before, officials say, due to the many changes being effected in methods of instruction and training.

The modern schooling of the army will be basis of all training from the standpoint of military strategy. Marksmanship will be especially stressed in the course of instruction this year.

The purpose of the C. M. T. C. is to develop a closer national and social unity by bringing together young men of all types, both native and foreign born; to teach the privileges, duties and responsibilities of American citizenship; to stimulate the interest of the youth of this country in the importance of military training as a benefit to the individual taking the training and as a vital asset in the promotion of national defense. C. M. T. C. camps, under the capable direction of experienced officers and non-commissioned officers will develop the young men of the country physically, mentally and morally. It is pointed out.

Well Cared for

An enthusiastic young man who desires to attend should be encouraged by his parents, officials say. He will be well cared for. He will learn the meaning of discipline and good citizenship. He will develop alertness and self-reliance. After a month's training he will return home a healthier and stronger individual. He will develop the correct physical posture. His perspective will be broadened by travel and associations.

These citizen soldier camps have as their objective the purpose of better qualifying young men for effective service as American citizens during time of peace or national emergency. After attendance at four summer camps a young man should have the basic qualifications of a second lieutenant and the entire course will therefore be conducted with this in view. The democratic principles upon which the American army is founded enables any plain Mr. John citizen to be selected as a commissioned officer without regard to his family or social background, it is stressed.

Recreation consisting of athletic events, outings, swimming and other leisure time activities with all the trimmings are being planned. Transportation of trainees from their homes to camp and return will be furnished by the government.

"Babe" Conaughton, 280-pound guard on the Georgetown eleven of 1926, probably was the heaviest college football regular player.

HOT RACE LOOMS FOR SENATORSHIP

BOISE, May 30 (U.P.)—A hot primary race for Idaho's two-year senate term was predicted this week with the entrance of new prospect for the office.

Whoever wins the election will only serve the two years remaining in the term of the late Sen. William E. Borah. Idaho law calls for election at the first general vote held after death of a congressional office holder.

Justice Alfred H. Budge of the Idaho supreme court indicated that he would announce his intentions soon to seek the Republican nomination for senator. Judge Budge, now serving his 26th year on the court bench, has received a large number of letters asking him to make the race.

Elvin Dulaney of Pocatello is the only Republican to have announced he would seek the post but Sen. John Thomas of Gooding, incumbent, was reported to be preparing to make known his intentions when he returns from Washington.

On the Bourbon side of the ballot, former Sen. James Pope was being boomed to enter. At present he is serving as TVA administrator. Glen Taylor of Pocatello and George Donart of Weiser have already announced for the position while State Democratic Chairman Ben Davis is still being talked of as a prospect.

With a small state in the field, it was regarded as certain that other candidates would enter before the deadline for filing petitions of candidacy July 13.

DANGER SERIAL STORY — ROMANCE AHEAD BY TOM HORNER

CHAPTER XI LARRY noticed the cabin was missing when he stopped at the canyon gate. It was too late to turn back for it now. The plane was almost overhead. In a few seconds the lights of Bentley's landing field would blaze against the sky. Larry knew he'd have to take his chances.

Idaho Trapshoot Trophies

Smiling "Two-gun" Mary Means displays the W. M. Jeffers and Sun Valley cups, two of the many trophies as well as special cash purses for which more than 300 shooters are expected to compete in the Idaho State Trapshooting association's 1940 tournament at Sun Valley May 31 to June 2.

Experts Enter Trap Shoot At Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY, May 30 (Special)—Last year's shooting champs will have to "look to their laurels" this coming week-end as the list of prominent shooters who will enter the tournament of the Idaho State Trapshooting association at Sun Valley, May 31 to June 2, becomes more and more imposing.

Last year's winner of the 16 yard Idaho state championship, J. O. Colant, Pocatello, will be on hand with John C. Gray, Nampa, and F. Deeder, Kellogg. Among other Idaho shooters will be Francis and J. M. Nitzel, Boise; J. S. Bogart, Lewiston; W. C. Geddes, Winchester; H. N. Graham, and W. A. Stevens, Boise.

$1,745 In Prizes The meet has been authorized by the Pacific International Trapshooting association. Cash purses of $1,745, many prizes and trophies and special trophies will reward winners of the various championships and events. Although the P. I. T. A. trophies, which are on display at the Union Pacific office in Boise, will be open to residents of the state only, many other special trophies and prizes will be open to all shooters.

Among the approximately 200 trapshooters from various sections of the country who will attend, many of them with their families, are such prominent shooters as Dr. Richard Flarety of Spokane; Ted Renfro of Armstead, Mont.; Herman Peterson of Dillon, Mont.; J. A. Crane of Turlock, Calif., arrived in Sun Valley early this week, and L. E. Neel of California will fly here from Chicago.

Portland Plan "This program has been compiled upon much the same plan as that of the Portland Gun club used for the Oregon state shoot in 1939," said W. P. Rogers, general manager of Sun Valley. "Since that program met with the hearty approval of all classes of shooters, Idaho has concluded the idea of each contestant participating in the distribution of added money without being obliged to pay an additional entrance fee is the proper one."

Clubs representing 15 towns of the northwest have already entered one of the major events, the Idaho Statesman telegraphic shoot-off. The annual meeting of the Idaho State Trapshooting association will be held at Challenger Inn, Saturday, June 1.

107 Drivers That Louis Meyer Knew Have Been Killed in Races

By HENRY McLEMORE INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 20 (AP)—Pit patter from the 500-mile pits: Louis Meyer, only three-time winner of this whirl, says that 107 fellows he's known in this trade are dead. "Ten per cent of them died by accident," he said "the others killed themselves by recklessness." Of the 107 drivers who've gotten the checkered flag here, nine are dead. Bill Cummings died in a traffic accident, the others behind whirling motors on a race track. They were Darlo Resta, Howard Wilcox, Gaston Chevrolet, Floyd Roberts, Ray Keech, Frank Lockhart, Jimmy Murphy and Joe Doyer.

The first customer at the gate was Frank Carson, of Greenfield, Mass. He arrived at the speedway gate April 21, and says the time passed quickly. He had a dog with him. He lived in a trailer. And he says a lifelong ambition has been satisfied. It seems that he has been trying to be first in line here for years and years. Gar Wood, the old motorboat maharajah, tried to land his plane here this morning and nearly came a cropper. The landing gear on the amphibian collapsed but didn't show up and the bottom was ripped right out of the plane. It scared Wood, his sister-in-law and his brother, but hurt no one. Rex Maya, who looks like a polo player, and drives like one, is 6 to 1 favorite to win, despite the fact that in his six other appearances on these humpy bricks he's never finished. He got the pole at 128 miles an hour, two loss tips the late Jimmy Snyder last year. The beer concession at the speedway was sold to a local firm for $6,800.

Rain threatened, but Johnny Armstrong, the local weather guesser, said his rheumatism told him that fair weather would be on top. Bombs are the order of the day. But they're the peaceful kind. Everyone of the 125,000 persons in the joint expects to see somebody killed. It makes gooseflesh to watch those 33 cars hit. Some day one is going to strike it broadside and they'll be a lot of happy sadists and no more Indianapolis race. Out on a limb department. Maya will win; Shank will be second. Frank Weare will be third, Ted Horn fourth and Mauri Roeb fifth. I can't go further without consulting my notes. The newspaperman says Rose doesn't win because he wants a slight fee for such a quote as "Good morning, pass the butter."

For Bridge Players

Contract bridge did not become popular in the United States until 1926, but Europeans had played a form of the game for years. The New York Whist club, as early as 1915, considered codifying the game, but decided the time was not ripe.

HUDELSON URGES STRONG DEFENSE

out preparedness. Lack of preparedness is one short cut to war.

He outlined the Legion's three-fold program as follows: "First, we pledge our strength to seek every honorable means to keep this nation free from involvement in foreign wars, from wars that are no concern to us."

Second, in the name of the thousands whose lives were sacrificed during the first World war through the nation's lack of preparedness we continue to urge an adequate national defense.

Third, we renew our determination to combat the creation of any type of 'fifth column' here at home. "The 'fifth column' is the phrase used to describe those who merchandise treason. It has found its place and favor with the dictators. It has spread like an ancient plague through the democracies. Its stock is sabotage and subversive plunder."

These flowers we place here may wither, but the spirit, of which they are the symbol, will endure until the end of time.

Regarding the Memorial day custom, Commander Hudelson said in part: "There is a symbolic significance in the custom that leads us to scatter flowers on the graves and over the waters where our departed soldiers and sailors sleep. It is a symbol of bidding us to renew the pledge to those who gave their lives for their country. It is our indication to them that their sacrifices are not forgotten."

Ira H. Masters Enters Race For Congressional Nomination

Ira H. Masters, former secretary of state and longtime Twin Falls newspaper publisher, announced today his candidacy for second district congressman in the Democratic primary.

I. H. MASTERS

Masters announced his entry in the congressional nomination race in a statement to the Evening Times. His petitions were being circulated today in Twin Falls county, a Times survey showed. It was indicated that a number of leading Democrats in this area have already signed the petitions.

"At this time of distress and world chaos, the President of the United States needs men in congress who will cooperate and stand shoulder to shoulder with him in his statesmanlike efforts to keep this nation united and free from forces which are trying to trick us into this European war."

"Before a declaration of war is issued I believe that such a question should be submitted to a vote of the people of this nation unless the American shores are invaded, and if elected to congress I will use my best efforts to see that such legislation is enacted."

Idaho has many undeveloped resources among which are approximately 500,000 rich acres which should be reclaimed and brought under cultivation. If elected I will do my utmost to secure additional reservoirs and supplemental water projects for Idaho. If this new acreage is brought under irrigation it will create approximately $100,000,000 of new wealth for the Gem state. In addition, Idaho has vast phosphate deposits in southeastern Idaho which should be developed.

Story of Fabulous Gold Mine Revived by Minister

RUPERT, May 30 (AP)—The story of a fabulous "ghost mine" where gold oozes out of a huge vein in the vicinity of Rupert has been revived by B. W. Rice, retired Caldwell miner.

According to Rice's story the ledge of precious metal was first discovered about two years before the Twin Falls branch of the Union Pacific railroad was built. It was found by Charles N. Lackey, deceased, one of a group of cowboys making the fall drive of cattle from Nevada to Mindoko or Klamath for shipment.

Pocketed Rock
Lackey shot the animal as it came head on against a green ledge of rock about five feet high. Before mounting his horse, Lackey broke off a piece of the strangely colored

BRITISH AIR, SEA ARMS AID IN TROOP EVACUATIONS

ALLIED SOLDIERS IN BELGIUM FACE QUICK SURRENDER

By WALLACE CARROLL

LONDON, May 30 (U.P.)—British air and naval forces are fighting a great battle to rescue allied forces in north France, it was stated authoritatively today, while British and French troops, trapped in Flanders, "fight on side by side."

A choice between death or surrender may face a large part of the allied troops trapped some 30 miles from the coast, where French and British ships were struggling desperately to remove as many as possible under tremendous German aerial bombardment.

British sources admitted a great deal of war material had been lost in the withdrawal from the north, but said "the allied main base depots are not in German hands." These depots were not in the channel port region, it was stated.

Battle Nazi Bombers

Waves of British planes battled German bombers over the channel coast in an effort to protect the allied naval and transport ships from destruction (presumably off Dunkirk), and shot down 52 German airplanes, the air ministry said. Seventeen others were badly damaged and 10 British planes were missing.

"The grim struggle continues in northern France," it was stated without explaining the positions of either British or French troops encircled and facing disaster.

Other developments included: Charges by the air ministry that German planes had bombed three plainly marked hospital ships, sinking two.

Drastic powers for the home secretary to suppress and take other action against any newspaper that publishes statements in opposition to prosecution of the war.

"Fifth Column" Scare

Indications that "fifth column" elements were becoming active in England was reported after two men were seen consulting maps in a field near a military camp. They fled when challenged by a farmer.

Arrest for trial of Cyril Desmond Stephens, 18, charged with damaging machinery essential to the national defense, Stephens claimed the damage was an accident.

Foremost in every Briton's mind, however, was the fate of the B.E.F., and especially of those units under Gen. Viscount Gort which were encircled by the German advance and cut off from the channel.

MINE OPERATORS DEVELOP CLAIM

KETCHUM, May 30 (Special)—Barnhart & Wheeler's bulldozing outfit, Pocatello, has been tearing up the hillside at a point in Warm Springs basin, near Croby Cove hot springs. As a result a 2,250-foot roadway, at a grade of 17 per cent, has been completed from the highway to the Blue Kitten mining claims. Bay Curtis and Ed Kase, Pocatello operated the nine-ton caterpillar and bulldozer.

Blue Kitten claims, owned by Edwin Kelly, Charles Rathke and the W. H. Waterfield estate of Halley, have been leased to Albert Jones and Arne Friesland, Halley, and a new open cut has revealed about two feet of pay ore, carrying zinc, lead and silver. The operators say that the mineral will return $25 per ton, and consider that a very modest estimate.

Lots of Ore

New work has progressed about 35 feet only, and there is an abundance of ore, 14 tons having already been taken out, Jones and Friesland state that with the taking out of about 40 tons more, the initial shipment will be made very shortly. The output will be hauled by truck to Gimlet, a short distance below Ketchum, where it will be shipped to Salt Lake City and according to all estimates a profit will be realized.

Property is located in the Warm Springs mining district and can be operated the year round. It is a granite and lime formation, the hanging wall being granite, contacting a heavy dyke that traverses the ridge for a long distance. The group comprises four or five claims, quartzite ore predominating where development has progressed.

The building of the road was a quick bit of work, some of them visiting the terminus uphill. Near the summit it was tough going for the bulldozer and rocks weighing several tons were dislodged and sent rolling down the grade.

Transportation

The matter of transportation is easily solved, as highway prevails all the way down the canyon to the railroad loading point. Several other parties have been operating and shipping from other claims in the immediate vicinity, and the projectors of the Blue Kitten group anticipate a successful exploitation of the new find. Friesland is from Norway originally, and has lived in Halley for several years, and Jones is an experienced mining man.

It cost about $300 to build the picturesque road to the mine, and but little dynamiting had to be done here on the higher elevation.

THESE FACES BITE LESSON

EL ORNITO, Calif. (U.P.)—Robert Yamamoto bought two gallons of bug poison to rid his farms of various insect pests, poured it into a jug labeled "saki" (Japanese rice wine) and started home with it in his truck. While the vehicle was parked someone, who evidently knew what "saki" is, stole the jug. Yamamoto asked police to report on the efficiency of the "bug poison."

100 Blind Persons Attend Idaho Convention in Boise

BOISE, May 30 (U.P.)—The extent to which Idaho blind persons have overcome their handicaps was illustrated here last week when nearly 100 sightless gathered for a convention.

During the four-day meeting, they entertained themselves at a bowling tournament, a theater party, dance and swimming meet.

President of the organization of Idaho blind is Orville Casey, who stands as a remarkable example of how a person can overcome the handicap of sightlessness. Casey operates a farm on the outskirts of Boise, irrigates his own land, does the many farm chores and is considered one of the best cattle judges in the county. He judges by touch —forming a mental picture of their appearance, weaknesses and outstanding qualities.

As the meeting started many delegates knew each other without a word being spoken. Recognition, according to one of the men, is possible through a "second sense" which they themselves cannot explain.

"Perhaps," theorized one, "it is a sense of smell or an unconscious memory of the sound of his walk." Allen Vreeland of Boise said a sense of smell aids him in determining acquaintances.

At the bowling matches, the blind men felt out the approaches to the alley by aid of a felt tape which runs down the center. Scores made

KETCHUM FINDS BUILDING SPURT

KETCHUM, May 30 (Special)—Lewis Williams, state census enumerator, was in this county the first of the week. It is gratifying to natives that Ketchum rated with the highest percentage in growth of population during the past 10 years.

Halley also is expected to make an excellent showing. At present Halley's population is given as 1,400, and the official count of this year will be announced in a short time.

Building activity is quite marked in Ketchum, new residences and business additions being under way. Many new people have become residents and tourist traffic has begun to make the grade. Business has been very good and an active summer is seen in the offing.

Week-ends witness a large influx of fishermen who spend the week-ends along Wood river Warm springs, Deer creek and other tributaries of Wood, where exceptional fishing has been enjoyed despite the rilly and high waters. Fish planting will be continued at a good rate throughout the season, state game officials said.

Nazis Use Glider Planes to Ferry Parachute Men

PARIS, May 30 (U.P.)—Long trains of oversize gliders, towed to great altitudes by bomber planes and then cut loose, are being used to transport German parachute troops by night to points behind the allied lines in northern France, it was reported today.

Trains of five or six gliders, each capable of carrying six parachutists with field equipment, are towed to heights of 20,000 feet or more and turned loose a few miles from the objective.

These motorless troop "ferries" soar noiselessly above the enemy terrain while the parachutists float to the ground, unheard and unseen—since the maneuver is carried out at night.

by the blind men were surprisingly good.

Many of the association members were accompanied by "seeing eye" dogs which helped them in walking through downtown traffic. Others, with red-tipped white canes walked unaided through the streets with comparative ease and agility.

The convention held this year is expected to result in a four-state conference of blind persons to allow greater opportunity for exchange of ideas concerning means of overcoming handicaps.

Germans Plan to Release Hopper Horde in Britain

ROME, May 30 (U.P.)—Germany is experimenting with a new and ravenous type of grasshopper which devours all kinds of grain, particularly wheat, barley, corn and rye, it was reported today.

These grasshoppers, it was said, could be flown to the British Isles and dropped by the millions onto farms in an effort to starve the British people.

RESERVOIRS MAY BE BUILT BY CCC

BOISE, May 30 (U.P.)—Reclamation Commissioner James Spofford said today he was "optimistic" about establishment of small reservoir projects in Idaho under provisions of the Case-Wheeler act.

A few small projects may be established in the immediate future under the program, Spofford said. The Case-Wheeler act provides that reservoir project sponsors may obtain CCC and WPA worker aid in building the dams. The sponsor, however, pays the cost of construction other than labor.

P. O. Hagle, secretary-manager of the National Reclamation Association, has announced the association is attempting to obtain 62 CCC camps in the west exclusively for work on the small reservoir program.

The 62 camps would be under the federal bureau of reclamation to augment the 44 camps which are now working on old projects in western states, Hagle declared.
