30,000 IN FLANDERS FIGHT

Churchill Terms Battle Colossal Military Disaster

LONDON, June 4 (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the house of commons today a "colossal military disaster" had been suffered in Flanders, but that 335,000 allied troops had been miraculously rescued and that "we shall not be content with a defensive war" against Adolf Hitler.

The prime minister spoke in straight-from-the-shoulder terms of the great battle of Flanders in which the British alone lost 30,000 killed, wounded or missing. He warned the nation to be prepared for the Germans to strike at Paris or London because Hitler has "the whole of the channel ports in his hands and we have been told he has a plan for invading the British isles."

There was a "victory inside the deliverance" of allied troops from the German trap in Flanders and it was secured by the British air force, Churchill said, but he warned the nation against considering the deliverance a victory "because wars are not won by evacuations." In a dramatic passage of his speech, Churchill referred indirectly to America. He said that even in the unbelievable possibility that the British Isles were subjugated, the empire and the fleet would carry on until "in God's good time the new world with all its power and might steps forth to the liberation and rescue of the old."

Churchill, telling the story of what experts believe was the greatest single military operation in British history, said that: 1. A total of 335,000 French and British were rescued from Flanders by the allied navies and a fleet of a thousand boats, but the British alone lost 30,000 men, almost 1,000 guns and "all our transport and armored vehicles" in a "colossal military disaster" that weakened the French army and resulted in the loss of the Belgian army.

2. The allied forces at Calais were given "an hour to surrender—but they fought on in the burning city for four days in an heroic episode that enabled the French to establish lines protecting Dunkirk and thus permit evacuation of the allied armies. Only 30,000 wounded men were rescued from Calais.

3. The British need no longer withhold opinion on the "pitiful" capitulation of King Leopold of the Belgians which cut off the allied line of retreat in the north. (Cries of "treachery" rang through the house after this statement.)

4. The British expeditionary force will be "reconstituted" and built up once again "under its gallant commander in chief" Gen. Viscount Gort, because "there is no reason why the losses cannot be repaired in a few months."

5. Far heavier losses were inflicted on the Germans than were suffered by the allies in the battle of Flanders and the German air force was "frustrated in its task" of destroying the retreating allied forces.

6. The British empire and the French republic "will defend to the last inch of their soil."

FRENCH PLANES DROP BOMBS ON GERMAN CITIES

By RALPH HEINZEN PARIS, June 4 (UP)—French airplanes bombed German territory in a swift, determined reprisal for the German airplane bombing of Paris, a war office spokesman said today.

The raid was but the first French return to the German attack, the spokesman said, and others would follow promptly.

Close secrecy was maintained as to details of the French reprisal attack, and as to plans for further raids.

Parisians, unawed by yesterday's raids which killed 45 persons and wounded 140, demanded the air force take the attack to Germany and bomb German cities unsparringly.

Conversations in the streets and subways turned almost entirely to the hope that allied bombing planes might be already—as the army spokesmen disclosed they were—raining death on Germany.

240 Planes in Attack Air force experts asserted at least 120 German bombing planes, escorted by an equal number of Messerschmidt fighters, executed yesterday's raids in the Paris area in which five schools and a hospital were struck among other buildings, and at least 10 school children were killed. Le Journal reported today one German bomb scored a direct hit on a thinly-covered air raid shelter trench and killed 20 children and wounded 20 among the hundreds who sought safety.

It was asserted the five schools and one hospital hit made up 16 per cent of the total of buildings damaged.

A great blast of anti-aircraft fire sent Parisians to shelter again today. A single German plane was seen flying direct over the United Press offices, surrounded by dozens of bursts from anti-aircraft shells, but no air raid alarm was sounded and no bombs were dropped. The plane was at about 25,000 feet altitude.

Fall Outside Paris Workers at dawn began demolishing, dangerously overhanging parts of damaged buildings.

An official survey brought the statement that only one bomb in each 14 dropped in Paris and one in each 11 dropped in the suburbs was effective. At least 40 bombs fell in the Seine, it was asserted.

As evidence that Parisians were not frightened, there was no exodus from the city, and roads to the country were almost deserted throughout the night.

The war office spokesman said the Germans apparently sought to destroy main roads, war factories, railroads and air fields. But the air defense of the capital area attained a record of intense and almost a curtain of fire which obliged the Germans to drop their bombs haphazardly, the spokesman said, and that was the reason for civilian deaths.

Replace Sandbags Because of the German raids, workers started today to replace the sandbags.

2 Salesmen Deny Being Hitler Aides

Elks attending the state convention today had proved conclusively they had no "fifth column" members after they had very unceremoniously thrown two men out of the lodge hall last night.

The two were immediately arrested and taken to the police station where an intense investigation was made by Chief of Police Howard Gillette and his force.

The two, who gave the names of Frank Koller and Robert Lewis, both about 28 and both from Salt Lake City, entered the lodge hall last night although they are not members of the organization.

Elks Oust Intruders Elks asked the two to leave the place but they objected, and police said, Koller boasted that he was a member of the German-American Bund and was "all for Hitler."

This Nazi declaration was all the Elks needed and a group of them proceeded to throw out the intruders. Police arrived on the scene at that time and placed the two under arrest.

At the police station Chief Gillette said they "changed their tune," admitted they had had too much to drink and declared allegiance to the flag of the United States—adding that they wanted nothing to do with Herr Hitler.

This morning they appeared before Municipal Judge J. O. Pumphrey and were fined on charges of disturbing the peace.

Lucky to Escape "It's damned lucky for them that they were just put in jail and that the Elks didn't kick their ribs out," Gillette said.

Other officers said that Gillette warned them that the next time they become intoxicated they had better leave out any mention of the Nazi party or of Hitler.

"Shouting 'Heil Hitler' in this country now is like waving a red flag at a bull," Gillette was quoted as saying.

Police fingerprinted the two and

Hitler Aides Promise Duce Italy War Support

BY REYNOLDS PACKARD ROME, June 4 (UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini and the council of ministers approved a series of decrees completing Italy's preparedness for war today and the ministers told the Fascist prime minister to "count on us" in any crisis.

The communique issued after the meeting merely disclosed approval of a number of decrees carrying forward the nation's already extensive preparations for possible entry into the conflict.

It was understood Mussolini told the ministers what he expected them to do in event Italy enters the conflict and was enthusiastically applauded.

"Count on us" the ministers were said to have shouted.

Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano reported to the cabinet on the foreign situation and the nation's war preparations were discussed in detail.

The fascist grand council will not meet tonight, it was stated officially despite previous reports the session would be held and might decide the time for Italy's entry into the war.

The official statement eased tension over the possibility of immediate entry into the war.

EAGLES CONVENE LEWISTON, June 4 (UP)—The annual state convention of the Eagles lodge and auxiliary continued here today with 500 delegates from all parts of the state in attendance.

PARIS, June 4 (UP)—The admiralty said tonight the allied armies had abandoned Dunkirk after evacuating more than 300,000 men.

The admiralty said six destroyers and the supply ship Niger were lost by the French in the Dunkirk operations, but most of the crews were saved. (The British previously announced loss of six of their destroyers, making allied total losses 12.)

LONDON, June 4 (UP)—The air ministry said tonight British airplanes had attacked "important military objectives" in Germany, including the great Ruhr valley, Rhenish Prussia and the "neighborhood of Frankfurt."

BURLEY, June 4 (Special)—Heber Dobbs, 40, Twin Falls, driver for the Rapid Express company, was instantly killed near here this morning when the truck he was operating left highway 30 and overturned.

State Policeman Holl Church, who investigated, said that Dobbs either went to sleep at the wheel or lost control of the vehicle. The mishap occurred shortly before 7 a. m. at a point seven miles west of here.

Church said the truck, traveling toward Burley (west) first left the right hand side of the road and traveled a distance of 357 feet while partially in the borrow pit. It then crossed over the highway and entered the borrow pit on the opposite side of the road, traveling another 227 feet before it turned over completely and then landed on its side.

CORDELL HULL

U.S. Rejects Any Changes In Colonies

WASHINGTON, June 4 (UP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today gave the administration's unqualified support to a joint resolution in congress declaring this government will not approve any transfer to another European power of sovereignty over any European islands or colonies in this hemisphere.

The house foreign affairs committee considered the bill in executive session today but took no action, adjourning over until tomorrow.

After the session Chairman Sol Bloom, D. N. Y., made public Hull's letter.

"The proposed resolution," Hull said, "is based squarely upon the idea of full respect for established sovereignties. It would not interfere in any way with continuance of equality of commerce and trade for all nations of the world in their relations with the countries of the American continents."

"Having in mind the foregoing, I heartily approve the proposed resolution and am glad to be able to recommend its favorable consideration by the congress."

Hull said that the proposed bill "is in effect a restatement of the position which this government has consistently taken for more than a hundred years" in the Monroe doctrine.

DULUTH, Minn., June 4 (UP)—Chief executives of 10 states toured northern Minnesota today, inspecting the iron ranges which would produce 60 per cent of the ore needed to accelerate the nation's defense program.

En route to the mines region aboard a special train, executives of the national governors conference met to elect a new executive committee. Present members of the committee are Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, Missouri, chairman; and Govs. Robert L. Cochran, Nebraska; George D. Aiken, Vermont; M. Clifford Townsend, Indiana, and Burnet R. Maybank, South Carolina.

Formal discussion of problems confronting the governors was abandoned for the second day of the conference. The opening meeting was devoted to discussion of relief and federal government participation in the assistance programs.

PARIS, June 4 (UP)—Germany's air raid on Paris has demonstrated that modern air defense of cities now far exceeds the offensive bombing power of airplanes compared with the results of the last war.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS WOULD KEEP

GOP HEADS MAP COOPERATION ON DEFENSE PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Senate and house Republicans sought today to keep congress in session throughout the war emergency, but refrained from attacking major planks in President Roosevelt's $5,000,000,000 national defense program.

Republican action followed reports that Mr. Roosevelt had expressed the opinion that congress could enact the huge program, draft a tax bill to finance part of it and adjourn by June 22—two days before the Republican national convention. Senate Democratic leader Alben W. Barkley previously had fixed July 1 as the likely adjournment date.

Offer Resolution

After a secret, three-hour conference yesterday, house Republicans adopted a resolution calling upon congress to stay here "as long as the interest of the country requires." House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., said there was no Republican opposition to the administration's defense plans, but the continued presence of congress would mean that "we wouldn't have to give so much power to the bureaucrats."

Senate Republican Leader Charles McNary announced that a conference of senate Republicans would be held later this week to discuss all phases of the defense program—taxes, adjournment and proposed expenditures. They probably will follow the action of their colleagues in the house.

Program Spurts

The President's program, delayed by congressional red tape, spurred forward yesterday when the senate, in less than three minutes, okayed the house-approved Vinson bill authorizing an 11 per cent expansion in naval strength.

The bill, which must be returned to the house for action on senate amendments, would provide for acquisition of 22 warships—aircraft carriers, cruisers and submarines—and about 1,000 airplanes.

Officials Plot Fight on Spies
WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation revealed today that top-ranking officials of four government departments have formulated a coordinated policy of defense against subversive elements.

He said spokesmen for the army, navy intelligence services, the state department and the FBI meet regularly to plan the attack against fifth columnists. Close contact, he added, also is maintained with intelligence units of the treasury department.

He said the group, which he described as an internal defense council, has developed plans for pooling of information among government agencies and for cooperation of local law enforcement agencies throughout the nation.

Cooperation with state and local police is effected principally through the 500 officers who have graduated from the national police academy of the FBI, after training in defense tactics, Hoover explained.

These officers served as a liaison between federal, state and local forces, and at the same time direct training schools where approximately 80,000 policemen are taught methods of combatting saboteurs and espionage agents.

Government officials depend upon this network of enforcement to lessen the need for volunteer groups. Welcoming information developed by such groups, Hoover has urged that they leave prosecutions to duly constituted law enforcement officers and guard against vigilante action.

PARIS AIR RAID IS TERMED FAILURE

killed and 2,058 wounded. That is to say, if 100 tons be accepted as the probable amount of bombs dropped during the Paris raid, it represents 25 per cent more than the explosives dropped on England in the World war. The total Paris casualties, however, were less than seven per cent of the air casualties in England when airplane attack was first developed.

This decline in the striking power of airplanes, as shown by the Paris attack, is one of the most astonishing and unexpected results of the war to the present time. It seems to indicate air raids have failed to show the major value, on which army leaders were counting and which were so dreaded by civilians.

The principal reason for the decrease in the number of casualties is the scattering of the population over wide areas. During the last war no such advance preparations to protect civilians from air raids had been made as now. The evacuation of children from exposed cities to far off retreats and the provision of air shelters in congested areas enormously decrease the number of human targets. Too, anti-aircraft guns and defensive fighting planes compel the attacking aviators to seek safety by flying high, in some cases over five miles in the air. They cannot select objectives at will from such a height and must time their bombs, to a large extent, promiscuously.

It seems evident, therefore, that in cases where full advantage has been taken of the defensive devices against air raids over cities, the injury attacking planes can do to civilians is inconsequential. It may possibly be differential in the case of property damage. Though the British suffered so many air raid casualties in the last war, yet the total property damage was less than $7,000,000. There is no information yet available of the destruction of property in the Paris raid, however.

ALLIED AIR FORCE PLANES BOMB GERMAN OBJECTIVES

REPRISALS SEEN FOR ATTACKS ON PARIS BY NAZIS

By WALLACE CARROLL
LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Allied air forces raided military objectives in various parts of Germany during the night, press reports said today, in vengeance for Germany's raids on Paris yesterday.

It had been understood the allied air forces would exact swift and stern reprisals against German cities for Adolf Hitler's raids on Paris yesterday, in which five schools and a hospital were bombed.

A sudden blanking out during the night of the Berlin, Hamburg, Stuttgart, Munich and Nuremberg broadcasting stations has caused speculation as to whether military objectives at some or all of those German cities had not been bombed by avenging allied planes, or visited by reconnaissance planes preparing data for a raid.

Await Word
Britons awaited eagerly some word from the air ministry which would tell them allied attacks had been started.

Aviation experts had pointed out that no official news could be expected on any raids until all allied planes had been returned and reports of results collated.

Though Britain's air force is still numerically inferior to Germany's, it is held here to be superior in quality, and since years before the war Britain's air strategy has been based on a policy of reprisal for German raids on British cities, which were taken for granted in event of war. Hence Britain has a strong striking force which would retaliate for any raids on Britain, and might be used to avenge raids on France.

Fighters in Action
A single German Heinkel plane, seen off the southeast coast last night, sent anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes into action.

The plane was driven out to sea, where the sound of fire told of a British plane pursuit.

The immediate effect of the German raids on Paris was to intensify Britain's own defense preparations.

ADDITION BOOSTS CITY TO 12,000

Twin Falls' population today had been increased by an estimated 100 persons—boosting the resident figure to above the 12,000 mark.

The population increase came about as councilmen last night, passed an ordinance taking a certain section into the city. The area includes the following district: Heyburn avenue to Flier avenue on both sides of Blue Lakes boulevard for a depth of all the lots facing Blue Lakes; Heyburn avenue east to Locust street including all lots facing Heyburn on the north side of that street.

Rules Suspended
Under suspension of rules, councilmen took the area in after petitions asking that the step be taken had been received by that body.

Only one man at last night's session was against the move — and then only until it was thoroughly explained to him. The man was Russell Robertson, who has plans to construct a drive-in market, service station and cabins at 442 Blue Lakes boulevard north.

Inasmuch as the petitioners urged that the area become a part of the first residential district, Mr. Robertson was disturbed because the law provides that no such structures as he contemplates can be built in such an area.

However, it was discovered also that if his construction was underway at the time the area changes into the first residential, he could not be made to stop the work but could continue until completion. He would also have competition eliminated because, after the ordinance, and the zoning goes into effect, no other like structures can be put up.

Councilmen pointed out that it would take at least 41 days before the complete zoning could be completed under the law.

Loyal Perry, one of the petitioners and a spokesman for the group, said that "if we can't come in as a first residential district then we don't want to come in at all."

Protects Fine Homes
Reese Williams, another spokesman, told councilmen that the purpose of zoning the area was to "protect the beautiful homes now constructed along the street (Blue Lakes boulevard north)."

All spokesmen said they were not against the Robertson construction work but that they wanted to be assured that like construction could be stopped if it came into the city. Under the law, such assurance is given because of restrictions as to what can be built in a first residential area.

Several appointments in the fire department, suggested by Commissioner Carl Ritchey, were approved during the session. Leonard Young was advanced to second assistant chief; E. O. Tyler to driver; Ray Snow as driver, and Isaac Miller as driver. New members of the department hired, all as firemen, in-

City Offers $25 In Drive to Nab Swastika 'Joker'

Members of the city council today had offered a reward of $25 for "information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of hoisting a swastika up the courthouse flag pole."

The council, in session last night, took this action at the suggestion of Mayor Joe Koehler who termed the incident "a disgusting thing" and said that it was "either the work of kids or a fifth column member."

The Nazi emblem, painted on a two-foot square piece of bed sheet in shoe backing, was first noted on the pole late Sunday night. It was immediately taken down and an investigation started. Cooperating in the search for the person or persons responsible are city police, sheriff's officers and also County Prosecutor Everett M. Sweeley.

At the council session last night bitterness over the incident was expressed by several of the councilmen. Leonard Avant, commissioner of streets, said that "if people don't like this country then let them get out."

And Carl E. Ritchey, police commissioner, added: "And they can't get out too soon to suit me. In fact, I'll help throw them out."

Correct Use of The Flag

(By Vivian Lewis Sigmon, national chairman 1936-7-8 correct use of the flag, D. A. R. — Compiled by Mrs. Henry J. Wall, state chairman correct use of the flag, D. A. R.)

- THE FLAG ON DISPLAY
There are any numbers of detailed things one could say about correct flag display, but it is probably best to study only the most important essentials.
- A knowledge of some half dozen salient points about flag display would prevent public breaches of flag etiquette, and a breach of etiquette is, of course, a show of disrespect to the flag of the United States.
- 1—Do not use the flag for covering a speaker's desk, for draping over the front of a platform, or for decoration in general. Use bunting with the blue above, the white in the middle and the red below. Reserve the flag to a place in the position of greatest honor. Never use the flag as a drapery.
  - 2—Do not use the flag on a parade float unless it is flown from a staff. One should never use the flag as a part of a patriotic costume.
  - 3—The flag should never be displayed at night, unless special permission has been obtained from the government. It is certainly being disrespectful to the flag to let it be beaten by rain and snow or whipped by high winds. Do not forget that the flag is always hoisted swiftly and briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously.
  - 4—Burn or privately destroy in some dignified way a flag that is lattered and faded. It is disrespectful to display a flag that is not fresh and clear and whole. Never use or store the flag in such a manner as will permit it to be easily soiled or damaged. A reasonable amount of care will preserve a flag for years.
  - 5—When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the United States flag should be either on the marching right, or, if there is a line of other flags, the United States may be in front of the center of that line.
  - 6—When the flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right.

DANGER

YESTERDAY Larry is taken to Dead Man's Curve and Bentley outlines how the murder of his brother was committed. Larry is to die the same way. It is well planned with Bentley's men helping him. As he goes ready to kill Larry, Monnie's voice calls to them. Bentley is off guard, Larry swings at Mike's chair, grabs the gun.

CHAPTER XV

BENTLEY pulled the trigger as Larry's fist crashed against his jaw. The bullet grazed Larry's shirt, buried itself in the door. Larry jerked the gun away as Bentley slumped in the seat, out cold.

Then he was out of the car, searching the darkness, shouting, "Monnie! Monnie!"

"Larry!" She ran across the road to him.

"Don't shoot, Collins. Everything under control," came another voice. Colonel Harris!

Monnie's arms were around him. "Larry, darling! Are you all right? That shot?" Tears were streaming down her face.

He kissed her. "I'm not hurt. He missed."

Colonel Harris was beside him. "Good work, Collins. Got all of them. Bentley?"

"In the car. Had to sock him. That shot was for me." Harris left them to pull Bentley, still unconscious, from the seat. A car rounded the curve slowly, its headlights illuminating the scene. Bill and Shultz were standing beside the highway, hands in the air. Two highway patrolmen guarded them. A third officer came down the hill, pushing a protesting Joe in front of him.

"We'll get the one in the canyon later. He can't get far," Colonel Harris shouted.

Bentley roused as handcuffs snapped on his wrists. "What . . . What . . .?" he mumbled. Harris jerked him to his feet.

"You lost this time, Bentley. You fell into a trap. You're through!"

The sheriff was getting out of his car.

IT was not until Bentley and his men were headed toward town in Mike's own car that Colonel Harris explained.

"This was all Miss Miles' idea, Collins. You have her to thank for saving your life." Larry squeezed her tighter to him. He had never released her.

"She figured Bentley perfectly," Harris went on. "Bentley got away with Hugh's murder. He thought he could do the same thing with you."

"Miss Miles, here, had to make him decide to get rid of you himself, and she wanted him to keep remembering Hugh."

"That's why I had to tell him you were Hugh's brother, Monnie broke in. "That's why I pretended to hate you."

"Miss Miles called us as soon as she got away from Bentley," the highway patrol chief continued. "We knew we'd never get you alive if we rushed the house. So after Miss Miles explained more about the other accident, we decided Bentley would try the same thing over again. When he called the sheriff, we were sure of it. We came up here, hid down in the canyon."

"Luckily, I sent one of the boys up on the hill to watch for Bentley. He took care of Joe. We heard everything Bentley said."

"It was getting you out safely that worried us. We knew you weren't tied, but we were afraid that Bentley would shoot you the minute he suspected anything. When he started talking about Miss Miles, I told her to shout, and let you take your own chances. She was game enough to do it. It worked out well."

"Monnie's voice did it," Larry said. "It was unexpected and it threw Bentley off guard. That gave me time to clip him, and to push that gun away."

"And the others had their hands in the air as soon as the boys pointed a gun at them. We kept them covered all the time we were here, just in case. But we didn't want to start a battle."

"I was scared, Larry, scared to death," Monnie said. "But I had to keep Mike from killing you."

Harris walked with them to the sheriff's car. "You go back to the ranch. The sheriff and I will go on up to Bentley's. There may have been a scrap there. I sent half a dozen men up the canyon road to take Bentley's place. I think we'll have enough on Bentley and all his men to hang him after I go over his records."

"There'll be a shipment of narcotics arrive by plane next week," Larry remembered. "Bentley was to get a tip."

"We'll camp there until the plane comes in. That will clinch the case against the whole gang," Harris smiled at the prospect. "You two go along now."

He watched them back the sheriff's car around, then head down

• BRUCE CATTON

IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON

Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 4—Expansion of the nation's military air force has begun to put the squeeze on the commercial air lines.

Because the army and navy are taking every qualified flier they can lay their hands on, good air line pilots are hard to get these days. The commercial aviation business is expanding, just as the army and navy air forces are—but the government gets first call on the supply of pilots, and the supply is very definitely limited.

Once, no major air line would even consider a job application from a pilot who could not show at least 1,000 hours in the air. Today a man with 500 air-hours is likely to get work quickly.

That doesn't mean that the air lines are entrusting their transport planes to less capable men; it does mean they have had to go pretty extensively into the pilot-training business themselves, and the 800-hour pilot will get weeks or months of flying in a company training plane before he is made a co-pilot on a regular run.

One aeronautical proposal which leaves the service people almost completely cold is the suggestion women fliers be formed into some sort of auxiliary defense corps, to function in war time so that men could be freed for combat duty. The answer to that is there are today only 88 women fliers in the United States with commercial ratings. Until there are a lot more than that, the projected auxiliary won't draw much serious attention.

Quest for Faith

Without faith, life is a desert. He who has no faith has no strength. He is like a ship drifting with neither sail, rudder, nor anchor.

Faith in something, that is. It does not so much matter in what. Faith in religion, faith in science, faith in a political system, faith in eventually getting the jackpot in the corner slot machine, faith in something.

Our weakness today is not so much in the lack of planes and cannon, as in our lack of faith. It is here that Germany gained such an initial advantage over France and England. Hitler gave the Germans faith, often an unwilling faith, often a grudging, desperate faith, faith in things which to us are unworthy and despicable, but something to which to cling.

UNCLE SAM USED TO TRAIN AIRLINE PILOTS

In the old days when army and navy air forces sailed comfortably along, the great service flying schools were in effect training stations for the air lines. Interested in building up a reserve and also in fostering civil aviation, the army and navy had no objection to seeing some of the best graduates of the flying schools sign up with the air lines.

Today the graduates have to stick with the services. So the great source for the air lines is cut off, despite the fact that the service schools are graduating 200 pilots every six weeks these days, as compared with 200 a year a short time ago.

In one sense the air lines are completely subservient to the army and navy, in the event of war.

Between 60 and 75 per cent of the 1,188 air line pilots in the nation are members of either the army or navy air reserve corps. In peacetime, members of the reserve cannot be called to the colors without their consent; in war or in time when the President has proclaimed a national emergency, they can be called. By calling all of these reserves to duty the government could, in effect, ground most of the nation's air liners.

Following the program dancing will be enjoyed. Refreshments will be served by the members of the Relief society.

The British "bright young people" were thoroughly disillusioned after the World war. Everything was phony. Nothing mattered. France, too, was shot through with a spirit described by a French phrase best translated as "what-the-hell-ism." This spirit was prevalent in Germany, too, in the early twenties.

But the black pall of depression descended on Germany 10 years and more before it struck westward. Men had to grasp for new and strange faiths. Such as they were, they found them.

In the other countries: Cynicism. The war? A conspiracy by the armament-makers! World organization for peace? A lot of professors and politicians! Religion? The opium of the people! Labor organization? A bunch of racketeers! Democracy? Politicians gypping the people! Morality? Don't be dull!

Well, there it is. But the fun is over, and now even the brightest of the bright young people of England know that all that time they had something infinitely worth defending, worth dying for, if necessary. They know it now, and in the fires of Flanders new faith is being rapidly forged. Whether it is too late, no man can tell.

Slightly Feline Comments

Dear Pot Shots:

Maybe you'd better start warning the eligible bachelors—the summer vacation guest is about due for her perennial blizzard. How's a man to know what he is getting into if he accepts a "blind date" with one of these "summer girls"?

If a woman says of another, "She is terribly intelligent," she means, "She's one of those brainy women, all intellect and no sex appeal. You wouldn't like her."

"You should see her hit a golf ball; she's as good as a man," means "The brassy, windblown, leather-skinned athletic type, if you care for that type."

"She's so efficient" means "A bossy, high-handed, pushing woman who is determined to give the orders or else."

"She's so YOUNG-looking," signifies "That woman ain't no gal."

"I never saw her look so nice," means she usually looks as though she had been drawn through a knothole.

"She isn't at all like I thought she'd be," means "I certainly am disappointed in her."

"I'm crazy to know what you think of her" means "She is odd, to say the least."

"Men apparently like her" means "Her morals probably aren't quite all they should be."

"I want you to be nice to her" means "Nobody else will."

And now don't say you weren't warned in advance. —Ruthie

• LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

By ERNEST R. AND GLADYS H. GROVES

Noted Authorities on Marriage Relations

Those who look longingly at the wedding bells that ring for others, but not for them, have only themselves to thank. Somewhere along the road they have taken one turn after another leading to single, rather than double, blessedness.

Some are very well satisfied with their independent situation. Others at times convince themselves that they are in a sorry predicament. This, however, may be just a bit of the play-acting that all of us indulge in occasionally, casting ourselves in the leading role, particularly if it be a tragic one.

Those who seem "cut out for marriage," yet fail to achieve it, are the ones who can do most for themselves. They may have been going on, year after year, in the place, or job, or social group, which they happen to have made their own, regardless of the fact that it holds out little hope of their meeting any marriageable person.

Some are too modest—perhaps because over-proud, or afraid of having their feelings hurt by laying themselves open to ridicule—to show themselves as they are, and therefore hide the most interesting layers of their personality. Then they wonder why they attract only mediocre, uninteresting people.

Those who are but a little less shy feel at ease only with those whom they think of as inferior.

A few are so self-conscious about marriage, whether because they are afraid of showing their eagerness to attain it, or because they have been turned against the idea of marrying (perhaps by the imprint of the happenings of childhood in an unhappy home), that they make friends only with unmarried or already married people.

This is doubly risky, since, in spite of their anti-marriage slant, they may be swept off their feet by an unexpected love for a married person.

Brightly lighted and tastefully decorated with the class colors of green and white, the graduates, 46 in number, were seated upon the stage together with members of the school board and faculty. Music by the high school and the invocation ushered in the annual commencement and the presentation of the diplomas which marked the goal of the ambitious young men and women.

NOVELIST VIEWS WORLD AS IT MAY BE CENTURY HENCE

Howabout a trip into the 21st century? What will the world be like 100 years from now? What of America? Granville Hicks supplies a glimpse into the future in his entertaining novel, "The First to Awaken" (Modern Age; $2.50). The story of people in 2040 A. D.

In 1940, George Swain was telling in his father-in-law's bank in the New England village of Braxton. Widower and World War veteran, he was dissatisfied and disappointed. Depression, world strife, national controversies left him disillusioned.

In 2040 George Swain is a man of the hour, possibly not the hero he had expected to be when Dr. Carr put him to sleep in suspended animation for 100 years, but nevertheless an unusual figure in a new world.

He finds the world at peace. War had lasted until 1970, a dictator had arisen and fallen in United States. Hitler had committed suicide. A new socialist scheme of co-operative units of government has come into being.

The era of "grab" is over. There is no money and no demand for it. All the necessities are supplied by the co-operative—food, clothing, transportation, housing, medical care. System has taken charge. Workers are trained from childhood and the supply of employees controlled to meet demand. Incomes are graded with manual labor and dangerous occupations paying highest return. Life is simplified.

Everyone works and shares in the return of industry. The work day has been shortened to four hours. Worry and greed have been eliminated.

Swain easily fits himself into the new scheme, travels to New York to find a city of towers and sunshine, minus traffic problems. His trip around the world is enlightening, and Hicks' New England humor shines in descriptions of England, now reduced to a tourist attraction.

You'll find Swain's review of the century of his sleep most interesting. Here he reveals how it happened, what forces brought the new era to the world.

Prophecy or idle dream, "The First to Awaken" is well worth reading and consideration.

Ersatz for the U. S. A.

It is heartening to see what progress is being made in potential production of "ersatz" products in the United States against some emergency that we do not now foresee.

The United States would prefer to buy natural rubber in a free world market. It would prefer to import natural quinine and tin from those places which produce them naturally and cheaply.

Nevertheless it is good to know that if that kind of a world proves impossible the United States would not be entirely helpless. The War and Commerce departments have been canvassing this situation, and their findings are reassuring. Neoprene, Triakol, and Buna, three substitutes for rubber, can all be produced inside the country now. So can synthetic quinine and iodine. Tin substitutes are rapidly being developed.

All these would probably be more expensive than the natural product. But it is reassuring to know that they would be available in a situation in which price of production cost would be subordinated to necessity.

THE DEMO-GOP PRAYER MATTER FLARES ON!

Honored Sir:

Advocate, in Thursday's issue, chides me for stating that the clergyman was justified in not wasting prayer on Democrats. He concedes that it is a waste, but avers that the Democrats are entitled to it. This is the same familiar argument advanced by our Democratic friends to justify their many instances of waste in more worldly affairs.

I abhor waste of effort, as no doubt does the reverend gentleman. I still believe the omission was intentional and entirely justified.

—The Judge

Mr. Pots:

Concerning the peculiar verbal antics of The Judge and of The Advocate, re the Democrats and the prayer, I feel that an undue shelacking has been dished out to the Democrats.

At least the Demos did introduce their contab with a conventional form of prayer. Whereas the Republican prater these days, in case you didn't know, is "Oh Providence, help us in our time of worry . . . but if you can't do anything about it, shut your eyes while we shoot the works at that Person in the White House, amen."

So it seems to me that a slight omission in the Lord's prayer shouldn't bring all this wisecracking on the heads of the Democrats. —Nourbon

Don't Blame the Congressman

It is easy to blame your congressman. A conspicuous target, a facile butt of ridicule, staff of life for the comic writer and artist, congressmen have a tough time.

Bruce Barton, advertising man, disillusioned by a term in congress, says that a successful congressman is one who "just voted for all appropriations and against all taxes."

That isn't literally true, and Mr. Barton is no doubt indulging in a little poetic license, but there is all too much truth in it. And for that core of truth, who is responsible? Not the congressman alone, by any means. His desire to be reelected is a perfectly natural and laudable one. Who's to blame, then?

Who, indeed, but the voters, who want so avidly to enjoy the benefits of those appropriations, and hate so bitterly the thought of paying the taxes?

Social-Clubs-Lodges

Brilliant Tea Fetes Visiting Elks' Wives

With wives of past exalted rulers of Twin Falls Elks lodge in the receiving line, wives of Elks throughout Idaho were entertained at the most elaborate social event of the state convention for women guests this afternoon at Radioland ballroom.

The bridge tea began at 1 o'clock and concluded shortly before 4 o'clock. Mrs. Jay O. Malvin, Boise, wife of the president of the state association of Elks lodges, and Mrs. H. E. Deiss, wife of the present secretary of the lodge, who is also a past exalted ruler of the Twin Falls group, were invited to pour during the tea hour.

Courtesy Corsages

Twin Falls hospitality was expressed not only in friendly greetings but in the form of gardenia and rosebud corsages, compliments of the Twin Falls lodge. Wives of local members assisted in entertaining the visitors.

Numerous prizes were distributed for the bridge games. Miss Patricia Smith, pianist, and Miss Irene Bremer, accordion soloist, played several selections during the evening.

Handsome appointed was the tea table, arranged in the northeast corner of the pavilion, before a background of seasonal blooms.

A handsome ecrú Normandy lace cloth covered the table, which was completely appointed in sterling and centered with a modern arrangement of pastel flowers in a crystal container, flanked by low double crystal candelabra holding ivory tapers.

Eight members of the teen age set who assisted in serving were Miss Marjorie Lash, Miss Mary Lou Glib, Miss Genevieve Benoit, Miss Melba Holmes, Miss Verna Lou Bowman, Miss Helen Thomas, Miss Joan Benoit and Miss Mary Jean Shipman.

Mrs. Joe Koehler was general chairman of arrangements for the tea, assisted by Mrs. H. E. Deiss, Mrs. H. G. Hayes, Mrs. Harry Elnsch, Mrs. William J. Morgan, Mrs. Carl Glib and Mrs. E. E. Fleischer.

Elks Ball Tonight

Finale to a day teeming with activities in vast variety, will be the convention ball, beginning at 11 o'clock this evening at the Elks temple, and continuing until 3 o'clock in the morning.

In keeping with the Americanization theme which has prevailed throughout the convention, the ballroom has been decked with unusually effective floral arrangements of red and white peonies and roses and blue delphinium, repeating the American tri-colors. Red, white and blue bunting and Elks pennants also figure in the decorations.

The orchestra platform, where Will Wright's orchestra will play, will be backgrounded with a spectacular arrangement of fox lilies. Decorating was under the direction of Wilton Peck.

Walter Craig is general chairman of arrangements for the ball, assisted by Jack Lavender, E. L. Turner, Jr., and E. E. Fleischer.

'Petticoat Fever' Cast Thanks BPW For Cooperation

Surprise feature of the June picnic supper for members of the Business and Professional Women's club last evening, at the home of Mrs. Frankie Alworth, was the presentation by Billy Alworth of a telegram expressing thanks to the club for being one of the inspirations for the organization of the Twin Falls Community theater association, and announcing, in clever fashion, the major production of the group here this month.

Players who appeared in "Women in the Lives of Lincoln" for the B. P. W. club in February, formed the nucleus of what is now a fast-growing "Little Theater" organization.

The telegram continued that members of the cast would like to be present for the session but were "quarantined at Point Laborator with 'Petticoat Fever,'" adding that they expected to see members of the club June 12, 13 and 14, dates of the play production, and added that no baseball games were scheduled locally on those nights, so that baseball devotees might attend the play.

Miss Inez Wheeler and Mrs. Grace Parsons received two complimentary tickets for "Petticoat Fever" in a contest.

Mrs. Lena Ross Shouse, member of the club, who was married this spring, was presented with a gift from the group, Mrs. Alworth, president, making the presentation.

Miss M. Izzetta McCoy, state president, gave a report on the annual convention held in May in Boise, and announced plans for the regional conference at Glacier national park the middle of June.

Quantities of beautiful roses, the gifts of Mrs. Effie Rihard Hinton and Miss Cora McCoy, decorated the Alworth home.

Finale to the evening was the club's attendance at the marriage of Dr. Alma Eastin, B.P.W. member, to Donald Dills, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Requa.

Rev. E. L. White was the officiating minister. Mr. and Mrs. Dills left today for the bridegroom's ranch on the Bruneau tract beyond Castleford.

Mrs. Hancock Is Shower Honoree

Mrs. Howard Wiseman and Mrs. Paul McComb entertained at a cleverly arranged pink and blue shower yesterday at the home of Mrs. Wiseman, 231 Fillmore, in honor of Mrs. Wayne Hancock.

Pinochle and bridge were played, honors at contract going to Mrs. Mike Erickson and Mrs. Dora Bertsch, and at pinochle to Mrs. Gerard Anderson and Mrs. Kenneth Smith.

Pink rosebuds centered the refreshment tables, and also figured in the room trim. Pink and white predominated in the refreshments.

Present in addition to the honoree, the hostesses and the prize winners were Mrs. Olyde Koonitz, Mrs. William Madland, Mrs. Ray Rickman, Mrs. Charles Steber, Mrs. William Swisher, Mrs. Oliver Klykandall, Mrs. Earl Peterson, Mrs. Claude Wiseman, and Mrs. Evelyn Dickey.

BUHL

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harper, who were married recently at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Turnpseed, of the Syracuse district, left this week for their respective positions. Mrs. Harper, formerly Mrs. Margaret Turnpseed, is employed in the biological survey department in Pocatello and Mr. Harper is affiliated with the navy department in Washington, D. C. The couple spent their honeymoon in Sun Valley and other Idaho points of interest before returning to Buhl to spend a few days at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. E. L. Berry and three children, Warren, Emaline and Aona Mao left Buhl Saturday for Boise to make their home. Dr. Berry was appointed state director of public health, Feb. 10 by Emory Afton, Idaho commissioner of public welfare. He succeeded Dr. H. L. McMarrin. Dr. Berry returned in February from a five months' training course in public health work at the University of Michigan and Dr. McMarrin left shortly after for a similar training course. Dr. and Mrs. Berry and family moved to Buhl in 1928 from Hazelton.

Warren Berry, member of the Buhl high school senior class, was given a farewell party at the Clear Inlets resort Thursday evening by 20 members of the senior class. They went on hikes, some went boating, others played games and sang. They cooked their dinner on the camp fire and presented the honored guest with a departing gift. Those participating in the farewell were Glen Pharis, Ralph Howard, James Jucker, Mack Bishop, Charles Kollmeyer, Hans Nilsen, Charibelle Walcott, Louise Starkey, Billy Lou Van Riper, Louise Wright, Ruth Meyer, Helen Rogers, Dorothy Peterson, Dorcas Peterson and the honored guest, Warren Berry.

Final Tips Offered Before Garden Show

"Don't forget the lowly blooms which have been high-hatted by the more elegant flowers in arranging your displays for the Twin Falls Garden club's garden show Wednesday," was the last-minute admonition club members gave exhibitors today.

Plans are complete, interest is running high, and local merchants have been most cooperative, according to Mrs. O. T. Koster, general chairman.

The show will be held in the basement of the Twin Falls public library from 2 to 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and from 7 to 9 o'clock that evening. A small admission fee will be made.

Judges Told

Entries in the garden show will be judged by Miss Agnes Schubert, art instructor at the Twin Falls high school, and Orlo Williams, professional florist of Twin Falls.

Exhibits will be received from 9 to 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and should be brought to the rear door of the library.

Members of the sponsor club will be identified by corsages fashioned under the direction of Mrs. F. R. Taber.

Some pertinent advice on floral containers is given by Mrs. Taber in the following interview:

"If you are not fortunate enough to possess lovely bowls or vases for flower arrangements, search your attic or cupboards and they may yield something even more interesting and adaptable to the flowers you wish to arrange," suggests Mrs. Taber.

Tips on Containers

"Containers should be subordinate to the arrangement. An old-fashioned celery dish may even prove satisfactory for roses, although these flowers generally are worthy of containers of finer texture than the sturdier flowers.

"Tin containers, or even wood, are lovely with certain types of blooms. An old bean jar is ideal for zinnias and calendulas. An old brown bottle holding a few gailardias—and don't forget the leaves—is most effective. An arresting effect can be achieved by placing a few common poppies in a frothy thin-necked bottle.

"It should be kept in mind that after all, line and color combinations are what you are seeking, and not the container, though a beautiful container, if not too decorative, is an addition to any bouquet."

Sidwell-Gwartney Marry in Jerome

Jerome, June 4 (Special)—Of interest to friends in Jerome this week was announcement of the marriage of Miss Rebecca Gwartney by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Gwartney.

S. church, May 27, at a simple ceremony at the bridegroom's home. Following the wedding a luncheon was arranged by Mrs. Sidwell for the bridal party and intimate relatives. Witnesses to the ceremony were Seth J. Taylor and Miss Rena Hopper.

For her wedding the bride was dressed in a white herringbone shark-skin suit and wore all-white accessories. She also wore a corsage of roses with greenery. Both bride and bridegroom are graduates of Jerome high school.

The couple will live on the Sidwell place north of town. They left following the wedding for a brief honeymoon trip to Salt Lake City.

CALEDONIA CHEF GETS RELIEF FROM SUFFERING STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS

Joe Bennett Known to Thousands of Twin Falls People Had Nervous Indigestion, Gas, Sour Stomach, Cramps, Tired Worn Out Feeling, Biliouness, Constipation and Dizziness But Received Complete Relief With a Short Treatment of Hoyt's Compound, He Says:

MR. JOE BENNETT

Mr. Bennett is only one of hundreds who have called at the Mastic Pharmacy to talk with them about the action of this celebrated new medicine. You too should come and learn of the relief so many say Hoyt's Compound has given them. Mr. Joe Bennett, who resides at the Caledonia Hotel, states: "I suffered for years owing to the condition of my stomach, liver and bowels. My stomach got so there was hardly a thing I could eat that wouldn't cause me trouble. I would hardly finish a meal without sharp attacks of indigestion or heart burn, and everything in my stomach would feel like a lump of lead. Constipation and biliouness troubled me, and my liver was so sluggish that I often felt bilious and sort of washed out. My sleep was not at all refreshing, my food never seemed to taste with them. My nerves were shattered, and I often had dizzy spells. I had tried so many different medicines without getting any better that I had almost given up hope, but a friend of mine told me that I ought to try Hoyt's Compound as it seemed to be helping everyone, so I got a supply.

"Within a few days I commenced to feel better and by the end of the first week I was feeling like my real self. Now I have a good appetite and everything I eat agrees with my stomach and I never suffer from the gas, cramps or sourness any more. The constipation has been overcome; my nerves have calmed down; I haven't had a dizzy feeling in weeks and my strength has been restored. I'm happy to relate my experience with Hoyt's Compound, hoping it will be read by others who suffer like I did.

Benefiters: Profit by the experience of Mr. Bennett. Come today to the Mastic Pharmacy where they will explain the action of this celebrated compound. It is also sold by all leading druggists in this entire section.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at quartet tables centered with attractive arrangements of roses, and roses also predominated in the room trim.

Twenty guests, including Mrs. C. H. Krengel, mother of the bride-to-be, were present. Miss Krengel was presented with an attractive gift by the hostesses. Contract bridge was the diversion following luncheon.

COWBOYS OPEN SERIES WITH CARDS TONIGHT

YANKS CLOSE IN ON LEADERS; 4 1/2 GAMES OUT OF 1ST PLACE

Twin Falls Crew Drops 5th in Row To Pilots, 5-4

Back in friendly Jaycee park, the Twin Falls Cowboys will attempt to snap a five-game losing streak tonight when they take on the invading Pocatello Cardinals in the first game of a three-tilt series. The battle is scheduled to get under way at 8:15 p. m.—weather permitting—and in the stands will be hundreds of Elks from throughout the state.

Lefty Jim Hedgecock will probably get the call to hurl for Manager Frank Tobin's outfit, while Lilly may take the hill for Manager Ken Penner's outfit.

SPORT Spubs
by Hal Wood

TOBIN FACES TASK IN LIFTING TEAM

We've heard a lot of criticism—pro and con (mostly con) on the actions of the Twin Falls Cowboys in various ball games in general—and Manager Frank Tobin in particular.

However, that's old stuff to us, and in any baseball city in the world, you will find that the easiest form of sport—it beats cheating at solitaire—is second guessing the manager of a losing ball club.

They're even doing it to Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Eucky Harris of the Washington Senators—both admitted to be exceptionally "smart" as managers go.

Tobin has the task of trying to assemble a winner out of a bunch of youngsters, 90 per cent of whom never performed in any professional baseball before the start of the current campaign.

And like most kids, they are strictly "in and outers." They put on a grand defensive display one game—and the next tilt look like a bunch of sand-toters.

Sure—Tobin has his weaknesses. If he didn't, he wouldn't be down here managing a Class C baseball team. But you'll have to admit, that as a manager, he's at least a hop, skip and jump ahead of Charley Wry and Wes Schulmerich, who handled the reins for the Cowboys the last two thirds of 1939—and took them to a pennant.

A lot depends on material—and it just happens that the Twin Falls club hasn't got the stuff that will bring in the runners off the sacks. Most comments we hear that adversely strike at Tobin are his "cinch" methods of base running and refusal to pull a pitcher before the damage has been done.

Well, second-guessing the second-guessers and putting the second-guessers in Tobin's boots, we'd say it's pretty tough to make a "silk purse out of a sow's ear" when it comes to base running. If the runner won't leave the base, you can't send a messenger down to get him. And that way the coach is bound to look bad.

Regarding the pitching angle, if your mound staff is limited to five or six hurlers—none of whom is a shining example of pitching perfection—it's just like going "enlle, meanie, minie, moe" when you pull a reliever out of the bag.

However, as one second-guesser to another, inasmuch as the current Tobin plan of manipulation isn't working, why doesn't he give some other strategy a whirl?

Not all the managerial woes are on the back of Mr. Tobin, however. In our same set-up, which ties us up with Spokane and Seattle, Manager Eddie Leshman is having his troubles.

The Indian Chief ran into a losing streak last week that took his team from first place down to fourth before it recovered. Now it is on a winning streak and is fighting for second again.

Leshman's troubles are widely scattered and cover nearly every position on the team. First he had George Farrell, the former Cowboy at third base. But George started making so many errors that he was finally benched and the latest move finds Farrell sold to Tacoma.

The Indians couldn't get a first baseman worthy of the name so they retained Skip Evert for that post. Skip hit just about the size of his collar, so he's been benched and another Twin Falls Cowboy of 1939 is holding down that spot—Frank Falcon. (And he's doing a good job, too, we understand.)

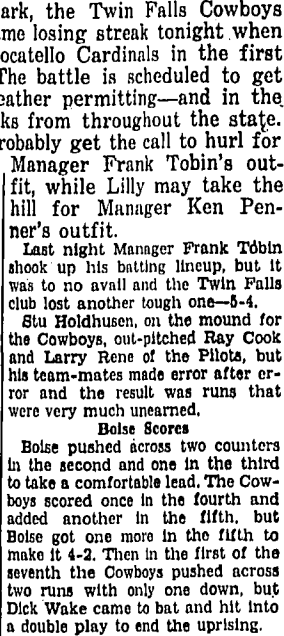

The catching problem, which should have been settled with Junior McNamee doing the work, hasn't come out as planned for Leshman. McNamee, who batted nearly 400 in the Pioneer loop last year, was injured late in the season by a pitched ball and the bosses are wondering if this is still affecting his work with the Indians. He's hitting over the 300 mark, but his errors have spoiled his effectiveness lately.

As a result Ted Lake, who is replacing the ball under the 200 figure, has replaced him—at least temporarily.

However, with all these woes, Eddie—who started his managerial career at the helm of the Cowboy club—wouldn't mind it so much if the fans and the press wouldn't howl quite so loudly in Spokane.

With record breaking attendance for a Class B city, the Spokane fans demand a championship—and right now. They don't want a second or third place team—they want a winner—or else. So it appears that it's up to the Indian bosses to produce one.

They Captained Elks Bowling Teams

Six teams competed in the Elks tournament, staged at the Buhl alleys yesterday afternoon. In the above picture, the six team captains take "time out" to pose for a picture. The captains are (left to right, front row) C. L. Gibson, Pocatello; T. C. Mast, Burley; R. W. Chapin, Boise. In the back row (left to right) are W. C. Rullman, Wallace; John P. Ford, Twin Falls, and W. F. Johnston, Caldwell. The Twin Falls club made high team score with the Caldwell group coming in second.

Cox Captures Top Title in Elks Bowling

W. O. Cox, Twin Falls, won the all-events championship of the annual Idaho state Elks bowling tournament held yesterday on the alleys at Buhl.

Cox rolled a 1,648 total in the five-man, doubles and singles for top honors, edging Ney of Caldwell by a close 12-point margin.

In the doubles section, the title went to the Pocatello team of McCurdy and Schoenfeld with a total of 1,087, while Myhre and Gibson also of Pocatello, came in second with a 1,082.

Team championship went to Twin Falls with a 2,727 total, with Caldwell second with a 2,603 count.

Singles crown event went to McCurdy of Pocatello with a 581. In second place in this event were Ney of Caldwell and Gibson of Pocatello, each tied with 553.

Ogden Loses Again to Salt Lake

By United Press
Tony Robello's fast-traveling Salt Lake Bees clung to their two-game margin at head of the Pioneer league last night by dumping the Ogden Reds, 8 to 4, at Ogden. The Boise Pilots, playing at home, kept on the heels of the Bees by noosing out Twin Falls Cowboys, 5 to 4.

With the score tied, 1 to 1, the Bees loosed a seven-run barrage in the seventh inning, sending Robelka, star Ogden moundman, to the showers. Mel Ristau, Bee southpaw, won his eighth game of the year, holding the Reds well in check except for a three-run eighth inning rally.

Boise also came from behind to whip the Cowboys, scoring the winning marker in the eighth. Cook and Rene teamed to pitch the Pilots to their victory. Their teammates found Holdhusen, the Cowboy pitcher, for 10 hits, and the visiting slabman was put in hot water several times by errors of his teammates.

Pocatello Cards eked out a 7-to-6 victory over Idaho Falls in Pocatello. Dobson, who relieved Pavlice, was credited with the win, while Al Emmertson, who also was replaced, was charged with the defeat. Oldenberg, Idaho Falls third baseman, clouted a homer with two on in the first stanza.

New series start tonight. The Bees go to Idaho Falls, Ogden shows at Boise, and Pocatello plays at Twin Falls.

Mac Goes Mathematical; Finds It Takes Umpire 3 2-5 Seconds to Dust Plate

BY HENRY McLEMORE
 NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Time, tide and good looking blonds are not the only things which wait for no man.
 A baseball is another, which you can find out for yourself by taking a stop-watch with you to a major league game.
 Your appreciation of the speed, skill and precision of the players will be increased three-fold when you realize how little time it takes them to execute the most complicated maneuvers on the field.
 How much time do you think elapses from the moment a pitcher releases the ball, the batter hits it, the shortstop fields it and throws to second, the second baseman pivots and the ball lands in the first baseman's glove for a double play?
 A timed double play in one of Sunday's games between the Yankees and the Browns, and it took only 4 and 2-5 seconds. Russo was the pitcher, Laabs the hitter, and the play was Crossett to Gordon to Dahlgren.

 What's your guess on the time required for a DiMaggio home run? That is, from the moment the pitcher uncoils what he hopes will be a strike? But which turns into a home run, until the ball lands in the faraway left field bleachers. I asked this question of several fans and they were all way off, some as many as 30 seconds. The DiMaggio home run on Sunday took just five seconds, or one second less than it did to catch one of Joe's pop flies earlier in the game.
 Thanks to me and my stop-watch, you can now add this vital statistic to your sum of knowledge: An umpire requires an average of 3 and 2-5 seconds to whiskerom home plates unless, of course, the umpire happens to be the American League's John Quinn. The second-time I clocked him Quinn had the plate as clean as the tooth of the vainest hound in 1 and 2-5 seconds. This superb effort seemed to tire him, however, and he never approached that time again.

 The next time conversation becomes dull around the dinner table you might throw this informative little gem at your companions: It takes the average player 3 and 3-5 seconds to reach first base after he had been walked by the pitcher. This does not apply to Bill Dickey, who requires eight seconds.
 If this doesn't awaken the flagging interest in your dinner partners come right back with this exclusive nugget: If you have the power to hit a ball to the 407 foot sign in right centerfield at Yankee stadium, and the speed to run to third in 11 seconds, you'll have a triple. Knickerbocker of the Yanks and Cliff of the Browns hit triples like this and it took them just 11 seconds to arrive safely at third.
 The last thing I timed was this: When you're hot and thirsty, and decide to splurge with a cold bottle of pop, it takes one hour and 15 minutes before a boy passes your way.

Trapshooting Event in Finals Today

Despite a perfect score by Robert Shaw of Pocatello, the Twin Falls Elks lodge trapshoot team yesterday moved into the lead in the annual state event here, held in connection with the Idaho Elks convention.
 The home club held a one-point margin over Pocatello, 458 to 457. Lewiston was third with 438 and Idaho Falls fourth with 435.
 In today's section of the trapshooting, teams from Boise, Nampa and Wallace lodges got into action in an attempt to beat the scores already posted.

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—Waived out of major leagues, Dizzy Dean, most colorful pitcher of modern baseball, agreed today to return to the Texas league for a noble experiment with a sidearm delivery.
 Dizzy goes at his own request. With steady work on the Chicago Cubs' farm club at Tulsa, Okla., the eccentric right-hander believes he can overcome the injury that robbed him famous fireball of its speed and return to the majors as an effective sidearm.
 Date of his transfer still is undetermined, but it probably will be soon.
 Owner Phil K. Wrigley of the Cubs said, "It's up to Dizzy when he wants to go. It was his idea."

GERMANS MARCH INTO ALLIED PORT OF DUNKIRK

FRENCH TROOPS STILL BATTLE TO AID EVACUATION

By FREDERICK C. OESCHNER BERLIN, June 4 (U.P.)—German troops have entered the city of Dunkirk, seized Fort Louis and brought the battle for the French channel port near its end, the high command said today.

House to house fighting was raging in the last of the Flanders channel ports from which allied forces have been evacuated since the surrender of the king of the Belgians, the high command said in a communique issued from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters.

The communique claimed that in yesterday's German air raid on Paris, 70 French airplanes were shot down in air battles and 300 to 400 were destroyed on the ground. It was admitted nine German planes were missing.

Battle French Forces

The communique said the Germans in Dunkirk were battling French forces fighting to protect the rear of British soldiers embarking for the channel crossing.

Dealing with yesterday's air raids on Paris the high command said that "as announced the German air force with strong groups of all types launched a surprise attack on French air bases around Paris."

The Germans were able to render French anti-aircraft fire ineffectual and through coordinated high altitude and low altitude attacks upon air fields and factories "to achieve most effective hits," the communique said.

It added: "Numerous fires and explosions were observed."

The official German news agency, DNB, earlier had claimed German airplanes shot down 70 allied planes in air battles over Paris yesterday and had destroyed "countless planes on the ground."

70 Shot Down

But the official communique today placed the number of planes shot down at 70 and said from 300 to 400 had been destroyed on the ground. Only nine German planes were missing, the high command said.

The communique said allied flights and bombing attacks on west and southwest Germany "continued with the usual insignificant success."

Earlier reports had said eight persons were killed when an allied airplane raided Allach, a suburb of Munich, at 3 a. m.

The raid was on a Bavarian motor works factory and a single allied plane was believed to have dropped bombs, one of which struck the factory and the other of which fell to the ground without exploding.

Winners and Runners-up in Ritual Competition

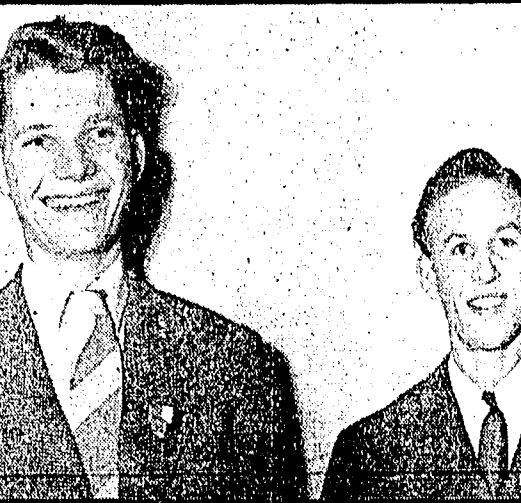

The Idaho Falls ritualistic team, representing the Elks lodge at that point, today had been declared winner of the state contest following competition here yesterday. Members of the winning team are shown in the above picture. They are (seated, left to right) E. V. Daniger, lecturing knight; E. L. Shattuck, esteemed loyal knight; M. C. Orudy, esteemed leading knight; R. W. St. Clair, exalted ruler. Standing (left to right) are F. Johnson, esquire; Milroy Marker, chaplain, and R. W. Phelps, inner guard. (Times Photo and Engraving)

ELKS TITLE WON BY IDAHO FALLS

With a presentation which was nearly "letter perfect," the ritualistic team of the Idaho Falls Elks lodge today held the state championship.

The Idaho Falls group won in competition with the Lewiston lodge team. The contest was staged at the lodge hall yesterday just before noon but judges did not announce results until early evening.

Both ritualistic teams came to the state convention here as winners in their respective sections of the state. Only recently the Idaho Falls team defeated Twin Falls by a fraction of a point for the right to enter the state finals.

The winning team, aside from receiving a trophy Wednesday morning at closing business sessions, also has the right to enter national competition at the U. S. convention of Elks.

The Idaho Falls team was led by Robert St. Clair and the Lewiston unit by Dr. Robert Foster.

house military affairs committee to urge approval of a bill empowering Mr. Roosevelt to send militiamen into active service outside this country in event of emergency between the end of this session of congress and the beginning of the next.

He cited the rise of "indirect, subversive methods" in the western hemisphere. He said such movements would be "dangerous to us, specifically to the Panama canal. The problem depends upon events that may occur here in the western hemisphere" in the next month or two," he added.

He said the disputed proposal was his own.

LEWISTON YOUTH WINS ELK PRIZE

Dick McQuire, Lewiston high school youth, was just $100 richer today after being declared winner of the Elks statewide Americanization contest, finals of which were staged last night at the high school auditorium here.

The contest, one of the features of the state convention now in session, saw nine first place winners enter the eliminations in the afternoon with the finalists competing at night. All spoke for 10 minutes on the topic "My Duty to America."

Other finalists were Ralph McColm, Nampa, and Leonard Lewis, Idaho Falls. Eliminated during the afternoon contests were Donna Swensen, Boise; Jane Gibb, Twin Falls; Beverly Henry, Pocatello; Lorn Rawson, Burley; Ray Faust, Caldwell, and Louise Elliott, Sandpoint.

Harry Benoit, local attorney and prominent Elk, gave the merits address during last night's program. He described the objectives of the Americanization program. Medals to each of the contestants were presented by District Judge Jay L. Downing, Pocatello. Presiding was E. M. Grant, Lewiston, state Americanism chairman.

As a part of the Americanization program, the Lewiston male quartet and the Boise male chorus presented several selections.

Bids Called for Boise Deep Well

Magie Valley well-drillers were invited today to bid on drilling, developing and testing a new deep well for the veterans' administration at Boise.

G. Myers, supply officer, advised the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce today that sealed bids for the well job are to be opened at 1 p. m. June 18 at Washington, D. C. Information as to bids may be gotten from Mr. Myers at Boise.

Estimates are to be mailed to the director of construction service, veterans' administration, Arlington building, Washington.

Puffing Profs Vainly Pursue Slick Porker!

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, June 4 (Special)—A greased pig, diligently pursued by hard laboring forestry faculty members and plenty of ice cream and cake combined to make the annual Foresters' picnic a lively affair last weekend.

Annual tradition of the picnic is the forestry faculty members performing some difficult tasks for the enjoyment of the students. According to many senior foresters, the biggest thrill in recent picnics was slightly pudgy professors trying to capture an elusive "slicked porker."

They panted hard and long after the chase, but Mama Pig kept her bacon!

ENDORSE ROOSEVELT
HARTFORD, Conn., June 4 (U.P.)—The Democratic state convention today unanimously approved a resolution endorsing President Roosevelt for a third term and pledging the state's 16 votes to his nomination.

BYRNES SEEN AS CHOICE BY FDR

WASHINGTON, June 4 (U.P.)—Unconfirmed but reliable reports circulated at the capitol today that President Roosevelt had indicated to trusted advisers within the last few days that he would accept a third term nomination, and that Sen. James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, would be his running mate.

Several sources usually "in the know" of political developments said Mr. Roosevelt and Byrnes had discussed the latter's vice-presidential potentialities during a Potomac river cruise last week-end. Byrnes, it was said, expressed willingness to be on a third-term ticket.

"I have nothing to say about any matters about which I talked to the President," Byrnes told reporters. White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said he knew nothing about the reports.

Long regarded as one of the administration's ablest strategists, Byrnes has received solid South Carolina backing for the vice-presidential post, and frequently has been named as Mr. Roosevelt's choice for that position. New Dealers, confident the President would run again in view of the European situation, have played up to the desirability of giving the ticket a conservative tinge by placing a southerner in the second spot.

Gooding Groups Hold Farmer Day

GOODING, June 4 (Special)—Second annual farmers' day was observed in Gooding Saturday under auspices of the senior and junior chambers of commerce, of Gooding. Farmers of the community were the guests of the city in an all-day run of activities.

Day's program commenced at 10 a. m. with a fitting and showing contest by 4-H and F. P. A. boys, and continued with grading of livestock by A. E. Duke, Pocatello. A parade began at 1:15 p. m. led by the Gooding high school band and included 4-H and F. P. A. members and their demonstrations.

Pig catching, hog calling, boys' and girls' races, tug-of-war between farmers and merchants, a water fight between the Women and Gooding fire departments were included in the day's program. Activities of the day closed with the sending of the livestock raised by the 4-H and F. P. A. members to the fourth annual International Junior 'fat stock show at Salt Lake City.

NATIONAL GUARD CALL SUPPORTED

WASHINGTON, June 4 (U.P.)—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, today urged congress to give President Roosevelt "a fire extinguisher" for preserving peace in the western hemisphere by granting him additional authority to call the National Guard and reserves into actual service in the absence of congress.

Marshall appeared before the
