Elks Endorse Fight on "Fifth Columnists" as Convention Closes

Lewiston Picked for '41 Meet; Sandpoint Man Elected Leader

By O. A. KELKER

Vigorously endorsing America's fight against "fifth columnists" and "Trojan horse" activities, the Idaho State Elks association went on record today as being heartily in accord with activities of the federal government and its branches, including the FBI, to suppress subversive movements.

The state's Elks not only supported the drive against "all subversive activities which are in themselves detrimental to our form of government," but also called for deportation of those who are not "loyal Americans."

The strongly worded resolution was one of several unanimously adopted shortly before noon at the three-day convention, which attracted hundreds to Twin Falls from over the state, ended today. Beecher Hitchcock, Sandpoint, was elected president of the state association, succeeding Jay O. Malvin, Boise. As the first order of his new office, after the official installation, President Hitchcock appointed J. R. McCann, Sandpoint, as state secretary.

Other officers elected and installed today included A. H. Christiansen, Boise, first vice-president; E. M. Grant, Lewiston, second vice-president; A. H. McFarland, Salmon, third vice-president; E. B. Tobias, St. Maries, fourth vice-president; Carl G. Galt, Twin Falls, fifth vice-president; Jay O. Malvin, Boise; W. C. Rullman, Wallace, and Ed D. Baird, Boise, trustees for two-year terms. Holdover trustees are Arthur L. Barnes, Lewiston, and District Judge Jay L. Downing, Pocatello.

The 1941 convention of the order will be held at Lewiston. The inauguration of the community will be next year's gathering. There was unanimous approval.

In the resolution endorsing activities of the federal government in the fight against the "fifth column," it was also resolved that Idaho Elks were in favor of further investigations by the Dies committee and urged that a substantial appropriation be provided to continue the committee's work.

It was further declared, in the resolution, that "we support and approve all efforts heretofore put forth by the federal bureau of investigation in its endeavor to fight all subversive individuals and groups, and that we deplore all criticism against the federal bureau of investigation, be it from individual."

TANK TROOPS TO BILLET AT CAMP

Overnight stopping place for one of the most unusual units of the U. S. army to visit this area in years will be the federal migratory farm labor camp, it was announced here today by Capt. J. H. Seaver, Jr., Twin Falls national guard commander.

The army unit will be a light tank detachment of the second battalion, 68th infantry, en route from Alexandria, La., to Fort Lewis, Wash. Original plans had called for camping spot at Harmon park but since landscaping work is now underway at that location, PFA officials arranged with Captain Seaver for use of the farm camp.

The light tank detachment will halt overnight next Monday, June 10. There will be 28 vehicles in the army unit, with 111 enlisted men and six officers. Detailed word as to the tanks and specific nature of the 28 "vehicles" has not yet been received. The detachment will stop at Fort Logan, Denver, en route through the intermountain country.

OPPONENTS RAP HATCH MEASURE

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—House Judiciary committee members who voted against the senate-approved amendments to the Hatch "clean politics" bill charged today that the legislation "proposes a deeper thrust into the vitals of democracy than any other in the nation's history."

The measure, which would extend Hatch act restrictions on political activities of federal employees to state workers paid in whole or in part with federal funds, was approved last week by an 18 to 8 vote.

The opposing members, in a minority report written by Chairman Hutton W. Burton, asserted the measure's "proposed extension of federal power over state, county, city and precinct elections is unconstitutional."

1 WEEK TO ENTER PARIS, SAY NAZIS

BERLIN, June 5 (AP)—German forecast tonight their legions would march into Paris within a week or a fortnight as reports came in of progress on a broad front in the big German offensive.

Neutral sources said the attacking Germans had crossed both the Somme and the Aisne-Oise canal, only 55 miles from Paris. It appeared a great new German pincer movement was underway, with one German arm swinging down the Normandy coast toward Le Havre and the other striking toward Soissons and Compeigne. Objective of the twin thrusts is the envelopment of Paris.

The prediction: German troops would march into the French capital within a week or a fortnight at the latest was openly voiced in many Nazi quarters tonight. German quarters suggested the drive against Great Britain may be deferred in an effort to beat France to her knees and leave her too weak to aid Britain when the attack on the British Isles is launched.

Germans Reject Blitzkrieg in Favor of 'Aggressive' Tactics

BY J. W. T. MASON

United Press War Expert. Germany's start of a new offensive directed against Paris is confronted with the strongest part of the new Weygand defense line, marked by the Somme river. This natural water barrier gives an initial advantage to the allies, entrenched along the south bank, and at some places holding bridgeheads on the north side. There is no stronger protective river shelter for a defending army in Europe. The Somme's snake-like course alone gives General Weygand exceptional opportunities for flanking movements against German attempts to cross the stream.

The Germans have selected this part of the battlefield for their new operations because of the strategic advantages they would acquire by straightening their line. The German front runs in a fairly straight line from Luxembourg to Soissons. Here it swings northward and then folds in and out in a northwest direction to Abbeville. If a drive against Paris were to be started from

FEDERAL INCOME TAX PLANNED ON SMALL SALARIES

By JOHN R. BEAL

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Taxation of incomes above $800 a year ($15.83 a week) and an increase in surtaxes on incomes up to $50,000 were the major proposals being discussed today for a new defense revenue bill to raise up to $1,000,000,000 annually.

Previous estimates of new revenue needs were $656,000,000 annually and plans to raise that amount by a "super-tax" on present income tax and excise tax payments have been nearly completed.

The house ways and means committee has not decided how it will boost new revenues to $1,000,000,000, but was discussing methods today. It was learned the most discussed plans were:

1. Broadening the income tax base by reducing the present exemption of $1,000 a year for single persons to $800, and cutting the $2,500 exemption for married persons to $1,800.

Surtax Increase

2. Increasing surtaxes on incomes up to $50,000 a year, the bracket regarded by experts as contributing a lower proportionate share of the tax revenues than any other.

Revelation that congress would have to provide for more tax increases than had been planned came yesterday after the emergency defense program, now in various stages in congress, had soared to nearly $5,000,000,000.

Even before the ways and means committee concluded hearings on a bill by Chairman Robert L. Doughton, designed to raise $556,000,000 a year, members learned from the treasury it would not be enough. Late yesterday they discussed the new treasury proposals and voted:

To increase the national debt limit $4,000,000,000 instead of $3,000,000,000 as originally proposed.

Pay off in 5 Years

To increase taxes enough to pay off the additional debt in five years, in accordance with the original program.

There was no official estimate of the yield that would result from a broadening of the income tax base. One member said it would bring in only about $60,000,000. Coupled with increased surtaxes, however, the government could realize up to $400,000,000 a year additional, it was said.

The new tax proposals, it was understood, would be made a part of permanent tax law as distinguished from the original plan to add a super tax of 10 per cent on incomes and 10 per cent or more on excise taxes for five years only.

EIGHT DROWN IN NEBRASKA FLOOD

HOMER, Neb., June 5 (AP)—Eight persons were known dead and five missing today from a flood that swept across six northeastern Nebraska counties in the wake of a 10-inch rainfall.

Red Cross, WPA and CCC workers worked their way into the Homer and Winnebago areas—hardest hit when the 15 foot wall of water devastated the villages and farm lands yesterday morning—as streams returned to normal. Streets still were knee-deep in mud.

Six bodies had been recovered, and friends of Mrs. Helen Williams, 57, and her mother, Mrs. Anna Schull, 84, were positive after a search of their home that they had died.

Paris Feels Wrath of German Air Armada

Waves of German bombers swept over Paris Monday, showering deadly rain of bombs—and once again the non-combatants, the women and children were the main sufferers. Radiophoto from Paris to New York, passed by censors, shows volunteer rescuers removing the body of a victim from a Paris street.

Late FLASHES

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—The air ministry said tonight that British heavy bombers Tuesday night had intensively attacked military objectives in Germany, including oil refineries and fuel depots in the Ruhr valley and elsewhere. One British plane is missing.

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—German bombs struck the great Citroen factories during the raid Monday. It was revealed today when American correspondents were taken on a tour of the works.

MUNICH BOMBED BY ALLIED CRAFT

MUNICH, Germany, June 5 (AP)—Munich was raided during the night after a 24-hour respite. It was believed French planes made the raid. Authorities said the raiders dropped 10 bombs. Two civilians wounded in the first raid died, authorities said.

These were among eight civilians wounded when they left an air raid shelter of the Bavarian motor works because it had been flooded by heavy rains.

The motor works in the suburbs of Allach, north of Munich, appeared to have been the objective of the attack.

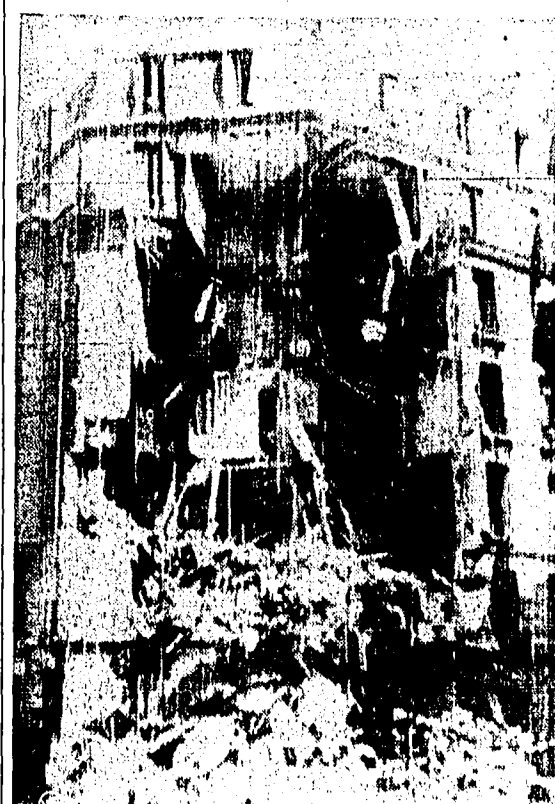

The planes flew over Munich at a low altitude. German quarters said anti-aircraft guns around the motor works drove off the raiders.

BELGIUM RULER WRITES TO FDR

BERLIN, June 5 (AP)—The official German news agency D.N.B. said today that in a letter to President Roosevelt, King Leopold of Belgium, explaining his surrender, said "no one has the right uselessly to sacrifice human life."

Quoting the Amsterdam newspaper Dagblad van Brabant, D.N.B. said that on May 28 Leopold wrote to Mr. Roosevelt from Brussels. (It was reported yesterday the letter was given to U. S. Ambassador John G. Cudahy in Brussels.)

Reynaud Predicts Favorable Result in Newest Battle

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—Premier Paul Reynaud appeared before the Chamber today and said there were "reasons to hope for a favorable issue" of the German offensive now under way.

Reynaud was said to have given the commission a detailed report on the German offensive as it has so far developed.

PASSED

BOISE, June 5 (AP)—Among other things, "destroy rayweed week" will pass unopposed in Idaho this year, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen said today.

The governor was asked by the National Hay Fever society, Inc., of Minneapolis, Minn., to proclaim the week starting June 24 as a period when all citizens should help "stamp out rayweed."

Gov. Bottolfsen wrote the society he had decided to reject the suggested proclamation "because June is already filled with days and weeks."

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—An authoritative French source said late today that French lines held firm except at "a couple of unimportant spots" under the first impact of Germany's great new offensive.

Everywhere, the French source asserted, the waves of attacking Germans were beaten back except at the unspecified points which were assertedly without military significance.

By RALPH HEINZ

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—Forty-five German divisions supported by 1,000 dive bombing planes, 2,250 tanks and 15,000 motorized vehicles opened a mass attack on a 110-mile front of the new French Weygand line at dawn today between the English channel and the Aisne river, hoping to smash through to final victory and force the allies to their knees.

Germany artillery opened up a terrific bombardment at 4 a. m.

Six hundred thousand German infantrymen, 40 divisions, went over the top at 5 a. m. under the bombers which dived shrieking into the allied line.

Five mechanized divisions, reorganized from the 10 which started the blitzkrieg attack on Holland and Belgium May 10, backed up the German infantry.

But this was an infantry-artillery battle, the greatest since the World war, a test of man against man, the first real clash of the massed French and German armies since this war started.

The allies had been waiting the attack for two weeks. As the German artillery opened its barrage, the allied field guns, long trained, opened up on the German batteries and began laying down a murderous barrage on the German front lines.

The Germans advanced, in their favorite massed formations, into the full fury of the French fire, backed now by machine gun batteries which criss-crossed in lines which it seemed almost impossible they could pass.

Early reports to the high command were that the Germans were suffering enormous losses. But they came on.

The allied artillery, high command reports said, seemed to have the edge in firing power, in quantity and quality, up to 11 a. m., and the German air losses were reported to be great.

The German attack was general on the entire Weygand front along the Somme-Oise-Aisne line between Abbeville, at the coastal end, and the Laon-Osons road and the Aisne.

The middle Somme sector and that part of the line east of the Oise, on the German left wing, were selected for the greatest German pressure.

This operation involved the entire sector east of the Oise river, which had been a natural corridor of invasion for centuries of German attacks, including that of 1870 on Paris.

Hitler was now gambling everything he and Germany had in a bid for a quick, crushing victory.

Strong Defense Line. The wide, swampy Somme provided a strong defense line for the French and was a natural tank obstacle. The French, long preparing for today's attack, had blown up all bridges except at a few points where they themselves held bridgeheads over on the German side.

They had thrown back in a series of swift local counter-attacks in past weeks, the Germans who held bridgeheads on their side—intended jumping off places for the tanks.

It was for this reason that the German infantry attacked today, protected by artillery and airplanes, and the tanks awaited the possible building of pontoon bridges.

Turning Movement. The German infantrymen engaged were those who had marched through Belgium and Luxembourg and had been held in reserve since the early days of the battle of Flanders. The German Flanders army had executed a gigantic turning movement, around toward the German left flank to act as a reserve.

The flower of France was in the Weygand line along the Somme ready for the test. At the left end of the allied line, toward the sea, was a British "army of the south," that part of the original British expeditionary force which did not go to Belgium. It was composed of some of the crack units of the British army, but it was small and it was up to France as it had been at Verdun in the last war to say, "They shall not pass" and back it up.

The senate committee, however, voted 31 to 2 against the Pepper resolution, which also branded Germany as a violator of international law. Earlier it rejected a similar proposal 12 to 1.

The house sent to a conference committee the 11 per cent naval expansion bill. The house disagreed with some senate amendments.

The house also assigned to a conference committee the naval airforce expansion bill which authorizes up to 10,000 airplanes for the navy and provides 10,000 pilots.

Attorney Resigns Guild Membership

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—A. A. Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, today resigned from the National Lawyers Guild because he said it is "not prepared to take any stand which conflicts with the Communist party line."

Berle's resignation was by letter to John G. Outka, national president of the guild.

FRENCH FRONT BLAZES INTO ACTION AS GERMANS ADVANCE

ALLIED TROOPERS STRIKE AT BASES OF NAZI BLASTS

By FREDERICK C. OCHSNER

BERLIN, June 5 (U.P.)—The French front blazed into action from the Maginot line to the sea today as the German military machine drove in for a crushing blow at the heart of France and the French slashed back at the anchor positions of the German lines.

The German high command revealed it had moved swiftly to carry out the orders of Adolf Hitler and renew action on the western front in an attempt to drive home a death blow against France.

"Aggressive operations," said the high command, have been launched from the positions which the Germans had held defensively on the Somme-Aisne front while completing the campaign in Flanders. At the same time the German high command admitted the French had struck back vigorously, particularly in the Abbeyville region where the right flank of the German line is anchored and at Longwy, the hinge of the left German flank close to the Maginot line.

Attacks Repulsed Both these French attacks, according to the high command, were repulsed with the air force giving particular aid in meeting the drive in vicinity of Abbeyville.

There was no mention of Great Britain by the high command today, but competent observers here felt an offensive against Britain was likely to be launched simultaneously with that against France under the stimulus to German morale provided by the victory in Flanders.

The German press emphasized that completely fresh German divisions, held in reserve during the sweep through the low countries and northern France, were being thrown into action to carry the brunt of the new campaigns.

The high command's announcement followed the proclamation by Chancellor Adolf Hitler in his order of the day that Germany will continue its war "for the freedom of our people" and that beginning today "the west front goes back into action."

The German air force attacked the harbor works at Le Havre, the high command said, while other air units bombarded enemy concentrations south of Abbeyville.

Slash at Anchor Positions The high command statement indicated the line of the Somme and the Aisne was in action from end to end, with German units apparently attacking in the center and the French slashing at the anchor positions at each end.

From his headquarters on the western front Hitler thanked his army for winning the "greatest battle in the history of the world" in Flanders, and ordering them back into action immediately against allied armies massed for a defense of France along the Somme river.

Hitler then ordered his people to start an eight-day celebration of the victory in Flanders and Aisne, in which the German high command claimed 1,200,000 French, British, Belgian and Dutch soldiers had been taken prisoner, and 3,541 allied planes destroyed.

SCHOOL FINANCE TOLD TO DEMOS

Full explanation of the Idaho method of financing schools—the equalization fund—was given to the Young Democratic Club of Twin Falls county last night by Lawrence E. Turner, Murtaugh superintendent of schools.

Mr. Turner was chief speaker at the countywide session held in Idaho Power auditorium as another in the series sponsored by the Young Democratic organization.

Accept Plinio Bird Business matters at the meeting included acceptance of a picnic invitation from the Democratic Women's club of the county. The picnic will be held at Mrs. T. Dan Connor's ranch, Filer, at a date to be set later.

Supr. Turner's discussion of the equalization fund was illustrated with graphic charts. These showed the need for equalizing school income because assessed valuation in some counties and districts is lower than in others. Without an equalizing influence, he pointed out, the school burden would be insupportable in many districts.

Divides Burden The Murtaugh educator explained that the 1933 equalization law is based on the theory of dividing educational responsibility among local units, counties and the state. Source of the state's share in the equalization program, he said, consisted until 1933 of funds from the beer tax, profits from the liquor commission, money from the mines tax, store licenses and earnings of the state endowment fund.

"At no time since the law went into effect," he asserted, "has the state paid its full share." That fact, he pointed out, means a greater load on the counties in making up the state deficiency.

Changed in 1939 In 1939, the speaker said, the legislature removed from the school funds the excise taxes. These went instead into the general state fund; to replace them the legislators decreed a $1,000,000 annual ad valorem property tax for schools. The Murtaugh superintendent told the Young Democrats that his purpose in addressing the group was to explain operations of the equalization law "because of determined efforts by some groups to repeal it."

Following the session last night the Young Democrats and guests were served coffee and wafers by Mrs. Dorine Goertzen.

Utilities Chief CITES U.S. NEEDS ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 5 (U.P.)—The government's chief contribution in the present national emergency should be coordination and cooperation with industry, K. M. Robinson, president of the Washington (state) Power company, said today.

Industry's part in the new national unity "that is necessary," Robinson told utility executives attending the eighth annual Edison electric institute, "must be to offer itself wholeheartedly to the national service."

"Government's contribution would well be to turn from its attitude of dislike and distrust of business, and its policy of drastic and detailed direction of the nation's industrial life. The government should find new methods of coordination and cooperation with industry."

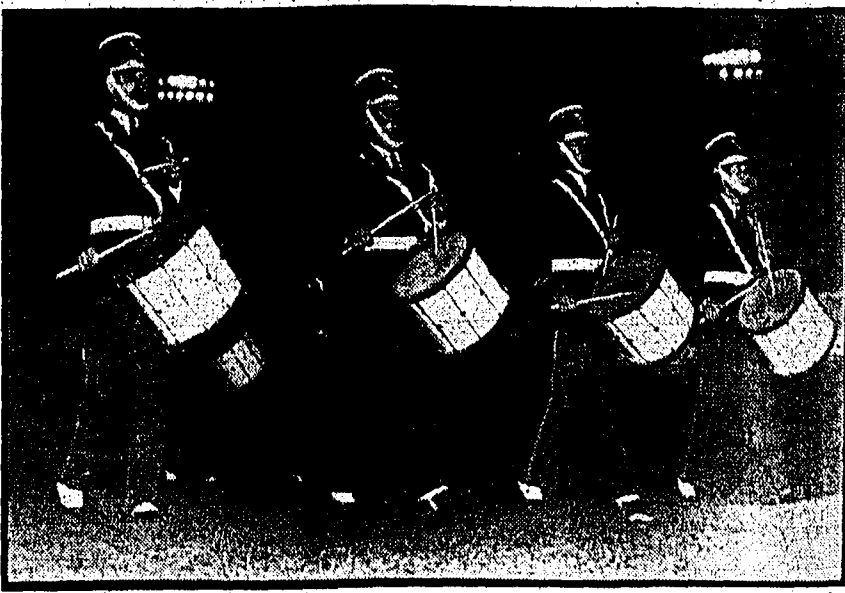

Robinson said Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Utah normally produce 35 per cent of the nation's copper, 45 per cent of its lead, 17 per cent of its zinc, 35 per cent of its silver and 20 per cent of its mercury.

"In case of a national emergency," he said, "its mines are capable of considerable expansion."

Robinson added, "Another important resource of the northwest was its large proportion of the presently developed water power of the United States."

Robinson is a former secretary of the Idaho Power company.

LAND DOMINATION BY U. S. OPPOSED DULUTH, Minn., June 5 (U.P.)—Gov. George D. Aiken, Vermont, told the national governors' conference today that any attempt at federal government domination of land utilization programs should be opposed "lest in conserving one national resource we lose another and vastly more vital one."

Such a policy would subordinate the farmer's judgment or needs to what, in one man's opinion, would enhance national welfare, he said, and "would tend to destroy self-reliance, thrift and pride of ownership—characteristics that compose a resource much needed in the crucial times of the present."

LAND DOMINATION BY U. S. OPPOSED

Gov. William H. Vanderbilt, Rhode Island, was elected chairman of the executive committee. He succeeded Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, Missouri. Other executive committee members elected included Governor Henry H. Blood, Utah.

He recommended the states plan community and regional developments and conservation programs by cooperation with all government agencies, local, state and national.

EMBARGO PLACED ON TOOL SALES WASHINGTON, June 5 (U.P.)—The administration moved swiftly today to eliminate two bottlenecks which are impeding President Roosevelt's $5,000,000,000 defense program—a shortage of machine tools and a scarcity of men to operate them.

Taking cognizance of the fact that nearly one-third of this country's machine tools are being exported, the United States has imposed an embargo on further shipment to foreign countries. Without an adequate supply of such tools, production of planes and motors, tanks, artillery, automatic rifles and other weapons cannot be appreciably expanded.

National Youth Administrator Aubrey Williams conferred with key industrial leaders today to discuss methods of effecting a rapid expansion of the NYA work-training program and means of obtaining immediately the necessary facilities for its extended operations.

Both the congress of industrial organizations and the American Federation of Labor pledged cooperation in the defense program. AFL President William Green told President Roosevelt that his organization has 300,000 unemployed skilled workers capable of meeting demands for expert tool makers.

Back up, America!

The people of the United States seem to be suffering from a sort of mental shell-shock as the tragedy of Europe unrolls swiftly before their eyes.

There is greater panic in certain American circles than even in England and France, which lie directly under the guns of the Nazi invader. It is not fear—it is simply shock at seeing the anchors of civilization tossed overboard, one by one. It is horror at seeing an orderly world descend to chaos.

There are signs that this panic has already passed its climax, as it should. Up to now the whole thing has had the aspect of a too-hecktic melodrama. Now it is beginning to be real, and already there are signs of that calm that comes with reality.

It is certainly true that the British and French, whose way of life is so much like our own, are fighting a desperate fight for existence. None would dispute the gravity of the situation as it affects the future of the free political and economic life we love.

But at least our own course is clarifying, and as our task becomes clearer, we begin to bend to it, and we find relief in action. Our own defenses have lagged. No nation has had to arm itself for fear of us. Now, in a world which has forsaken order and justice and peace, we must prepare to defend by force what we have failed to defend by negotiation.

Very well. Is there any reason why we cannot defend ourselves? These are no supermen who have overrun half of Europe. They are men. They have succeeded up to this point because they have converted all life into a military machine.

Have the Germans built tanks? So can we. Have the Japanese built big ships? So can we. American planes and pilots have never feared to take the air with any others.

Hitler himself in "Mein Kampf," wrote: "The gigantic American State Colossus, with its enormous wealth of virgin soil, is more difficult to attack than the wedged-in German Reich."

It is true that that Reich is less "wedged-in" than it was when Hitler wrote. It is true that we are badly unprepared in material and training. But we have had our lesson.

Calmly, steadily, wisely, we now prepare such military machinery as will enable us to defend our own. We have no illusions about untrained volunteers. The day of "one good American boy can lick three furriners," is gone. But one good American boy with equal weapons is still as good a boy as lives on this earth.

With calm confidence and reliance on our own emerging strength, America goes forward unflinching and unafraid to meet whatever the world has in store!

Moffat to Canada

The appointment of Jay Pierpont Moffat as Minister to Canada will cause satisfaction on both sides of the border.

It places one of our most important diplomatic posts in the hands of a veteran career diplomat who is amply qualified by experience and training to make the job count.

Coming after the lamentable experiment of sending to Canada James H. R. Cromwell, an amateur who made only a brief dilettante dab at the job and then foresook it, the naming of Moffat is especially gratifying.

Whatever developments come with the war and in its aftermath, the relations between the United States and Canada are certain to become closer and more important to both countries. We cannot afford to have less than our best available representation at Ottawa. In Mr. Moffat there is every reason to hope that we have called it to service.

Keep the Libraries Free

The American Library association is already planning to fight the efforts at censorship which are almost certain to come. It is setting up a committee which will put the force and influence of the A. L. A. behind any local library board which is confronted with demands for censorship of its books.

Libraries must be universal. They are for all the people. A moment's thought will show that if every group could get the books thrown out of the libraries which it thinks bad, there would be no more libraries worth the name.

The very book which you want to find there is the book somebody else wants thrown out as evil. And the book you want thrown out is the book somebody else wants to consult. Group dictation can only destroy the very essence of libraries, and impair their usefulness to all.

Because we dislike book-burners is certainly no reason to start burning books.

POT SHOTS

WITH
The Gentleman in the Third Row

Rumor Refuting Dept.

Pot Shots has no respect for Nazi sympathizers in Twin Falls, Magic Valley or the nation.

Personally, we have insulted Hitler so often in cold type that some of Adolf's south Idaho friends think our collyum should be suppressed (they've actually said so in anger) right out loud, no fooling.

To all such we say a hearty nerz. Even, perhaps, a vigorous phooey.

After which our readers will understand that when we correct one of the current Twin Falls rumors about a Nazi sympathizer, we do so only to keep the record straight. As far as we're concerned, if the rumor happened to be fact, it would be all right with us. But we feel the truth, and not garbled reports, should be dashed out.

So, after having our operatives look into the matter, Pot Shots is in position today to report as follows: The certain Twin Falls man, asserted by rumor to have fled to county jail for protection as result of his Nazi utterances, is NOT in the bastle.

He is, however, still in possession of painful facial reminders that Twin Falls has no use for Germany's comic-mustached monomaniac.

Concerning a second rumor in these parts, Pot Shots reports that his sleuths thus far find no basis in fact for talk of an "almost" far-and-feather excursion with a Nazi-minded localite as "guest." As far as we know, the localite in question is not yet wearing outer apparel snatched from the interior of sundry pillows.

Along another line, however, the far-and-feather excursion might still develop, if what our sleuths hear is authentic. That line, our operatives say, would be the gent who hoisted the courthouse swastika (when and if he is discovered).

In short, to conclude today's lesson, we point out that a mighty aggressive Americanism is increasingly evident in these parts. The Rip Van Winkle stuff is apparently going out, and our citizenry is quite well satisfied with this country, thank you.

If there are any "Trojan horses" ready to try some whinnying, they'd better ponder all these matters.

THE WATER-OVER-THE-BRIDGE MYSTERY

Third Row: Your private detectives have certainly been remiss if they haven't checked into a certain matter which occurred a couple of days ago.

Please have said detectives find out just how come Pete Rountree, of the local constabulary force, deliberately spilled a bucket of water over the Shoshone street Rock creek bridge, off at one end. The sleuths might also find out, as long as they're probing, just who got the full benefit of the water . . . and why.

—I. Noah Secret

Note by Pot Shots: To our contri- b. I. Noah Secret, we reply that the Pot Shots sleuths brought in a full report of the bucket-of-water-over-the-bridge incident shortly after the incident occurred. The report, now carefully deposited in our confidential files, shows that Pete scored a bull's eye with the water barrage, pioneering the way for use of a new police mode of attack in certain instances. For further enlightenment, Pot Shots must refer his readers to the nearest member of the constabulary.

SERIAL STORY

AN EYE FOR A GAL BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

CHAPTER I

ROSSY McAFEE laid his bag of baseball bats and ancient telescope grip on the ground and gawped at the wrought-iron arch which ran between the stone gate posts. The iron letters, "Lincoln College," were two feet high.

Rossy stared hungrily at the bronze figure of the Ball Splitter in the drive oval. He had had two ambitions in his gaunt soul—one, to make the big time as a ball pitcher; the other, to find the man who had killed his father and exact an eye for an eye.

Now he was overwhelmed with a third, to become an educated man. Standing there, a Lincolnian figure himself, he seemed to be stepping across the threshold of a new life.

The campus seemed deserted. He had expected to see hundreds, maybe thousands, of gay students chasing hither and yon. Instead all the life he found was a professor's cow chewing some dead grass.

"Well, I do declare!" Rossy muttered. "Ain't I at the right place?"

He heard a chattering, clattering roar behind him, faintly at first, then increasingly louder. Before he could collect his wits, it was upon him. He whirled around, saw a girl speeding along the sidewalk toward him. The noise came from wheels on her feet. She must have been going 200 miles an hour.

The girl yelled, tried to turn. Steel grated on concrete. Rossy jumped this way and that trying to decide which way she was going. She plunged on toward him, shouting for him to get out of the way. She turned again, grasping at the air, and Rossy jumped the same way.

In another instant they were all piled up—legs, wheels, arms and bowling. The girl was yelling and bawling. Rossy heard himself yelling too.

"Hey, what the—"

But he seemed to have helped break the girl's fall. They untangled themselves and he helped her to her feet. She rubbed her bruises. Then she laughed.

"I'm all right. I'm Judy Tollivar. That's what I get for trying to be a kid again. . . . Roller skating. Haven't been on skates for years, but it seemed like a good idea. . . . But who are you? You're new here, aren't you?"

"I'm Rossy McAfee. I'm a ball player. Pitcher." Well to make it clear at once.

"Ah, I see. You're wanting Coach Hurd. You'll find him at the gym. It's the brick building you see yonder through the trees."

ROSSY gathered up his luggage and walked slowly toward the gym, now and then turning to see if the girl was in sight. She wasn't. He came to the front door of the gym and knocked. No answer. He knocked again, and then tried the latch. It was locked.

"Huh!" he snorted. Removing one of his polished bats, of his own make, he beat on the door, listened, and then began mauling the door angrily. "This is the dumbest place for nobody to stay home—"

"What is it?" People just appeared from nowhere, it seemed. This was a man, in easy old gray suit; he was thick, kindly, and distinguished. His age was perhaps 45. He wore boots—evidently an outdoor man. "Is there something I may do for you?"

"I'm Rossy McAfee and I come to school and I want to play ball, and where's Coach Hurd at—you ain't him?"

"Rossy McAfee!" the man repeated, and just stood there with a fixed look. He had the same look as the girl, only it was a man's look. He moved a slow hand across his eyes and stared again, remembered himself, and smiled. "I see. You're the ball pitcher from Hell-Damnation Roller. Coach Hurd told me about you. Come this way. Here—let me help you with your grips."

He took the bag of bats and led the way to the rear of the gym. "The athletes were not expected for registration until Monday, but Coach will take care of you all right." They entered by a back door and went through a labyrinth of showers and lockers.

At a door the man knocked. "This is Rossy McAfee, Coach," he said when a sleepy head appeared in the door.

"Well, doggone my tintype, so it is!" the coach grinned, shaking Rossy's hand. "Come right in. Don't rush, Prexy." The middle-aged man said he'd be seeing him; and when he was gone, Coach Hurd pulled Rossy in and shut the door. "Well, well! How are you?"

"Who was him?" Rossy asked, jerking his thumb back.

"Doc Tollivar, president of Lincoln College."

"Did you tell her?"

"It's Tollivar, not Tolliver, as you folks spell it in the hills. Different breed of dogs."

ROSSY's eyes began to gleam. "A or e, a Tolliver's a Tolliver and they air all thieves and rascals. I know 'em. One of 'em killed my pappy long time ago in a ball game with a bean ball, and—why, lands, I bet a gow he was the teller!"

It ran all over Rossy, like a stroke of paralysis from clairvoyance. That man would be about the age of this thick man, too. He stared at the coach.

Then all at once Rossy realized he may have talked too fast and too much. An unwise word might destroy all his chances of a lifetime for revenge, to which he had dedicated his energy and integrity.

He talked fast. "Aw I never meant none of that, Coach. I just drool at the mouth sometimes. My pappy died from a fractured skull."

In his confusion he had picked up his grip, but he dropped it as suddenly, and the cotton cord holding the top broke, spilling red flannel underwear and shirts had come to see him on business, and he was amazed to find that she no longer meant anything to him, except in his dreams. Seeing her in flesh and blood, he had to admit that he had outgrown her without knowing it.

With his excuse for being half-hearted in his married life gone, Ted began to appreciate Nina for what she was, instead of inwardly blaming her for not being a second Ann. Sprucing up and living his life in the present, he found his whole life attitude change, as he got into the habit of accepting things as they are and doing something about them.

Nina could not understand the difference in Ted, but she was so grateful for it that she asked no questions. Having her husband come alive and enjoy her company as he never had since their wedding day, she blossomed out and became twice the person she had been.

If asked her secret for married happiness, she would probably say, "Get your husband to stop dreaming." But Ted would say, "Stop dreaming of has been."

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON
Evening Times Washington
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 5—You can write it down in your book that some change in the Johnson act, to permit war loans to the allies, will almost certainly be made within—say—six months.

It won't be done right away, and this session of congress—if it adjourns in mid-June, as per schedule—is not likely to touch it. But if the session continues beyond June, or if there is an extra session later in the summer, an amendment is extremely probable.

There has been a great shift of sentiment in congress. Six months ago any move to lift the ban on loans would have lost overwhelmingly. Today some of the men who were most outspoken against the idea last fall are privately talking in favor of it.

The shift is due to two things: A growing concern over the plight of the allies, and a feeling that to make the loans would be good for business—especially the agricultural business.

General belief is that the allies have all the money they need, right now, for planes and munitions, but that they are conserving their funds as far as possible by cutting down on purchases of farm products. Let the farm belt statesmen once get convinced that loans would boom farm exports and you're likely to see action.

Best way to put it is that as of today a majority in congress is not ready to vote for loans, but is ready to sit down and let somebody try to sell the idea.

SQUALUS DISASTER CAUSED NO SUBMARINE CHANGES

The sinking of the submarine Squalus off Portsmouth, N. H., just over a year ago, was almost unique among U. S. navy submarine disasters in that it did not lead to far-reaching changes in the design or operation of submarines or their equipment.

Reason for that is that most peacetime submarine disasters are due to some fundamental defect and teach the navy something important about the use of these tricky boats. The Squalus sinking wasn't in that class; the boat sank simply because of a mechanical failure in an induction valve, and that failure proved fatal because of a simultaneous failure in an indicator which should have given sufficient warning of the mishap.

Jerome Collects Third of Quota

JEROME, June 5 (Special)—Contributions of approximately $125 towards the Jerome county quota of $400 have been reported to Rev. W. F. Wills, chairman of the American Red Cross war relief campaign. Only four civic and fraternal organizations have shared in this total, the remaining amount being contributed by interested individuals.

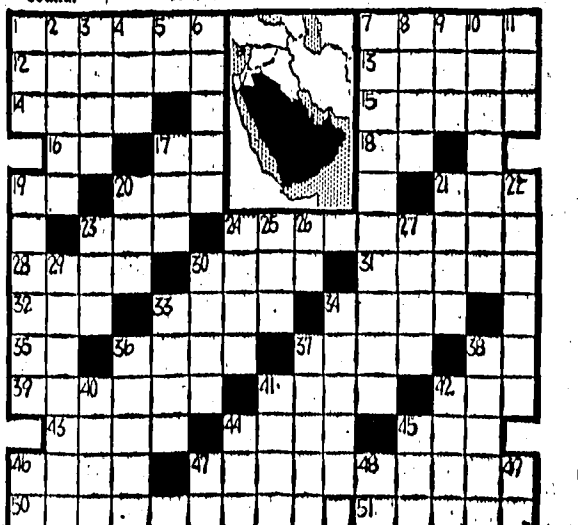

Organizations not having funds in the treasury for such emergency calls are asked to take up a collection.

Plans are being made to send a Red Cross ship, loaded with food, clothing and hospital supplies to Europe. The United States government has made arrangements to sell the Red Cross large quantities of flour and grain at a price far below market cost.

Individual contributions may be sent to Clark T. Stanton, chairman of the Jerome county chapter; Mrs. E. M. Snodgrass, treasurer; Rev. W. F. Wills, or one of the two local banks.

$52,000 SOUGHT FOR GIRL'S DEATH

BURLEY, June 5 (Special). — August Hensen and wife entered a suit in district court May 31 against independent school district No. 1 of Minidoka county and Gordon Nelson, seeking damages in amount of $52,000 for the death of their daughter, Betty Jean, who was instantly killed April 30, this year, when she was run over by a school truck near the home of her uncle, Ray Hensen.

Plaintiffs ask $50,000 general damages and $2,000 special damages. The complaint charges that Nelson, driver of the truck for the school district, was allegedly negligent on three counts, in starting the bus without ascertaining the whereabouts of the children, in putting the bus in motion when he knew Betty Jean was going to cross the road in front of the truck according to bus regulations, and in not ascertaining the exact whereabouts of the children before the bus proceeded.

Place of the accident was in Cassia county. The school district carried the contract to transport the pupils.

FINGERPRINTING SET FOR ALIENS

WASHINGTON, June 5 (U.P.). — One of the first steps to increase control of aliens in the government's drive against subversive activities will be the fingerprinting of all incoming aliens, a justice department spokesman said today.

Such an order will be issued by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson when the immigration and naturalization service, transferred to the justice department by a presidential order signed yesterday, comes under his jurisdiction, June 14, the spokesman said.

Identification of incoming aliens will be made, it was said, when application is made for a visa to enter the United States. The fingerprints obtained then will be checked with the criminal files of his country to determine whether the applicant has a criminal record.

Correct Use of The Flag

(By Vivian Lewis Sigmon, national chairman 1938-7-8 correct use of the flag, D. A. R. — Compiled by Mrs. Henry J. Wall, state chairman correct use of the flag, D. A. R.)

SPECIAL OCCASIONS FOR FLAG DISPLAYS

These are the chief occasions and methods of flag display which we should remember:

1—When statesmen or persons in public life die, it is correct to fly the flag at half-staff. We must remember, however, that the flag is first hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-staff position. Before the flag is lowered for the day, it should be raised again to the peak. When the flag is displayed on a small staff, as in a procession of mourning, two streamers of black crepe may be attached to the spear-head of the staff.

Memorial Day

2—On Memorial day, the flag is properly displayed at half-staff from sunrise until noon and at full-staff from noon until sunset, symbolizing respect for the dead of the nation and the fact that the nation still lives on.

3—A flag is often used in connection with the unveiling of a statue or monument, but it is never under any circumstances used as a covering for the statue. The flag should be hoisted to the top of the staff as the statue is uncovered.

4—When the flag is used to cover the casket of a person who has performed public service, the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag, of course, is not lowered into the grave or allowed to touch the ground.

Fly Flags for These

5—There are special days when the flag should certainly be displayed by all citizens who own flags. These are flag day, June 14; Memorial day, May 30; Independence day, July 4; Armistice day, Nov. 11; Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12; and Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. There are also many other days of national importance on which the flag may fittingly be displayed.

6—If the flag is used in a church service, it may be placed in the body of the church at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman or if used in the chancel or on the platform the better place for it to be is the flag should be on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation.

MODEL CAFE CHEF MAKES STARTLING SWORN STATEMENT

Attesting to the Relief He Says Hoyt's Compound Gave Him From Knotty Sensation in Stomach, Belching, Bloating, Nervousness, Headache, Twitching Spells and Constipation

How can you continue to suffer physical misery when so many prominent Twin Falls residents say they have found quick relief with the new and modern Hoyt's Compound that is being explained at the Majestic Pharmacy? This new medicine is taking this community by storm. Its popularity is gaining by leaps and bounds. Mr. I. H. Magoffin, well-known chef at the Model Cafe, is another Twin Falls resident who says Hoyt's Compound brought quick relief. He states: "I hardly knew what it was to get a full night's sleep. I had a knotty sensation in my stomach and suffered from gas, belching, bloating. My nerves were so bad I could hardly hold myself in restraint. I would have spots before my eyes, bad headaches and dizzy spells. My bowels were bad. Since taking Hoyt's Compound,

I do not suffer any aches and pains, my headaches are gone, and the spots are no longer before my eyes. No more belching and bloating and my nerves are in good shape. I sleep well every night and I thank Hoyt's Compound for what it has done for me. I feel well again."

Sufferers: Do not wait another day. Come to the Majestic Pharmacy and let them explain the action of this celebrated new medicine. It's new. It's efficient. It may be just what you need to make you feel better. Hoyt's Compound is also sold by all leading druggists in this entire section.

Elks Celebrate At Dance Until 'Top o' Mornin'

It was 3 o'clock this morning before Idaho Elks and their wives and women guests were content to "call it a day," and bring to a finale the annual convention ball, which began last night at 11 o'clock at the Elks temple here.

Pronounced one of the most successful event of the entire convention, the dance was one of the most largely attended in the history of the Elks state association.

A striking floral background of red, white and blue flowers, artistically arranged by Wilton Peck, and zippy music by Will Wright's orchestra, added to the enjoyment of the occasion. Guests attended in both formal and informal attire.

Accepting congratulations throughout the hours of the dance were Walter Craig, Jack Lavender, E. L. Turner, Jr., and E. E. Felscher, dance committee.

Tuesday had literally been jam-packed with exciting events for the visitors, including a southern style barbecue at Harmon park at 6 o'clock, served under the direction of Howard Gerrish, Twin Falls, a past exalted ruler; the parade at 4 o'clock; the ball game and music demonstrations later at the Jaycee park.

Highlight for women guests was the bridge tea at Radcliff, with Mrs. H. G. Lauterbaugh, Hansen, winning the door prize; Mrs. John W. Graham, Twin Falls, receiving high honors at bridge; Mrs. Hall, Burley, second, and Mrs. Art Cedquist, local.

A gift was also presented to each lodge present by Mrs. Joe Koehler, general chairman of arrangements, from the local lodge. Women from Hansen, Idaho Falls, Burley, Buhl, Pocatello, Filer, Boise, Lewiston, Salmon, Twin Falls and Wallace attended.

BATHROOM LINEN

When stocking the bathroom linen closet, select terry towels with a strong basic weave and firm selvedge for long wear, and long, loosely-twisted hoops for greatest absorbency. A dozen each of bath towels, face cloths and linen handkerchiefs, and four bath mats is a nice stock for a family of two—and extras, of course, for guests.

CHAMBERLAIN MAY TAKE BLAME FOR FLANDERS DEFEAT

PAPERS DEMAND FORMER LEADER RESIGN HIS POST

LONDON, June 5 (U.P.)—Great Britain, while reorganizing its shattered expeditionary force and arming urgently to repel an expected German invasion, threatened today to throw Neville Chamberlain and those long associated with him out of the cabinet as responsible for the "colossal military disaster" which the allies suffered in Flanders.

It was forecast that as the result of a secret session of the house of commons, to be held probably next Tuesday, Chamberlain might be forced from his war cabinet post of lord president of the council and chairman of the cabinet steering committee, and that others might go with him.

Important hold-overs from Chamberlain's cabinet, from which Winston Churchill took over a few hours after Adolf Hitler started his blitzkrieg on Holland and Belgium, include Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer; Lord Halifax, foreign secretary; Anthony Eden, war secretary; Sir Andrew Duncan, president of the board of trade; and Sir John Simon, lord chancellor.

Though Churchill's appointment was an implicit repudiation of Chamberlain's policies, Chamberlain has remained leader of the Conservative party, and in his post as chairman of the cabinet steering committee, which co-ordinates the work of cabinet committees and often speaks for the war cabinet.

Both the liberal party organ, News Chronicle, and the Labor party organ, Daily Herald, demanded today that the "umbrella wielders" in the cabinet go out entirely.

ITALY SPEEDS UP PLANS FOR WAR

ROME, June 5 (U.P.)—Italy still prepared for war at top speed today, massing resources, men and machines for the long-awaited blow at those who stand in the way of her "natural aspirations."

One of the final steps in the modern scheme of surprise warfare was taken when the government forbade telephone communication with Great Britain and France.

Mobilization was underway in Italy's African colonies. Old men and women were granted permission to take the place of mobilized workers, more money was appropriated for naval purposes and it was reported the council of ministers yesterday had discussed a food rationing plan.

It was announced in connection with the 126th anniversary today of the founding of the carabinieri corps (the "founding police") that the carabinieri were forming special units for defense against enemy parachutists.

As Idaho's Elks Paraded in Twin Falls

Spectators at yesterday's Elks parade had little trouble identifying the Pocastello delegates and band. As shown above the delegation was headed by four pretty girls carrying a large banner bearing the Gato City's name. Part of the hundreds who lined the streets during the parade is shown in the background as the marching group turned onto Shoshone from Second avenue east. Threatening skies failed to dampen the parade spirit. (Times Photo and Engraving)

And here are members of the Burley Elks lodge carrying a giant American flag, largest national emblem in the entire parade. Behind the flag marched many Cassia Elks. (Times Photo and Engraving)

ITHACA, N. Y., June 5 (U.P.)—Isaac Walton said it was an art but Cornell university scientists have found other ideas about fishing.

They experimented in a 2,000-foot fenced section of Cascadilla creek, which was stocked with brown trout, and found that fish prefer night crawlers to artificial bait. Best fishing days was on days which followed thunderstorms. The poorest was on cold days.

BIG WOOD CANAL DIRECTORS MEET

SHOSHONE, June 5 (Special)—Secretary-treasurer S. T. Baer stated to the board of directors of the Big Wood canal company, in session Saturday that the M. and O. collections for the current year were 98.41 per cent of the total due, as against 97.81 per cent of the same date a year ago.

The board was informed that a check in the amount of $2,332.48 had been received from the state of Idaho, covering the refund due on unemployment compensation paid by the company. In return for his work in securing the refunds from the government and state attorney W. G. Bissell was voted $500 as a flat fee for his service to the company.

In regard to the new bond issue the secretary reported that as yet Mr. Childs had not sold the bonds, but hoped to consummate the deal within the next two weeks, and in view of this the board voted to grant an extension until such time as final action was taken. A seasonal transfer of 40 feet of decreed water was granted to Adolph Albrechtson, Gannett, and request to store water made by W. M. Cady, Gooding, was left to the manager.

Board instructed the secretary to secure a fire and damage insurance policy in the amount of $3,000 for the Caterpillar recently purchased by the company. Assistant Manager B. W. Powell brought before the board the matter of turning off the water for a period of approximately four days, under Magic reservoir, to endeavor to kill the moss forming in canals. A tentative period of four days around July 4 was set.

The secretary gave the monthly financial statement, showing expenditures for the month of May totaling $17,871.45, leaving a balance of $62,462.58, comparable to even a year ago of $60,743.19. A report on Magic reservoir showed that the dam was filled to capacity May 27 and remained at the peak for four days, gauges for June 3 showed a drop to 190.718. Capacity for the reservoir is 191,500 acre feet.

THIRD TERM ISSUE TO BE TARGET FOR GOP LEADERS

CONGRESS WOULD STAY IN SESSION TO AID DEFENSES

WASHINGTON, June 5 (U.P.)—Republicans appeared likely today to raise the questions of a third term and presidential direction of national emergency policies as major issues in the presidential campaign. They are expected to raise the third term issue in their Philadelphia national convention platform with a declaration that more than two terms as President for one person would be against the public interest.

Republican apprehension regarding emergency prospects was indicated when house Republicans agreed in conference that congress should remain in session. President Roosevelt has referred to himself and congress acting as a "team" in preparing for international difficulties. The idea of cooperation was applauded on Capitol hill and congress is whipping emergency defense measures through to enactment at a speed recalling the honeymoon days of the first administration.

Undercurrent of Doubt

But there is an undercurrent of doubt on both sides which can be felt here to an even greater extent than it can be designated specifically. Some Democrats join with Republicans in holding that congress should remain on the job to continue as a day-to-day member of the national defense team.

Administration leaders have been seeking early adjournment although events have forced them to retreat steadily from the optimistic hopes of a couple of months ago when Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley believed congress could go home this week. Next August seems a more likely date now to many persons. But Mr. Roosevelt apparently still is hopeful of avoiding a summer-long session despite the increasingly sharp opposition protests against an adjournment which would—in effect—leave the day-to-day development and effective public discussion of defense and foreign policy to Mr. Roosevelt.

Would Recall Congress

The President repeatedly has said he would recall congress in special session at the first indication of more aggravated emergency. But some of the legislators are not satisfied with that. Many Republicans and some Democrats appear to be reluctant to finish the existing legislative program and go home, leaving Mr. Roosevelt's part of the team actively on the job.

Mr. Roosevelt, on his part, appears to be unimpressed and unsympathetic with the fearful legislators. He was asked at his press conference yesterday whether—in view of Republican desires that congress remain in session—he discerned anything in the present situation requiring congress to remain on the job.

Mr. Roosevelt could have answered yes or no or avoided the question. But, in reply, he not only said the situation as of today did not require congress to prolong its session but indicated he believed the long session some propose would provide merely an opportunity to make speeches. Those speeches, he continued, would not necessarily be essential to national defense.
