Germans Control Northern Nation; Monarch Departs

By PETER C. RHODES

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 10 (U.P.)—Capitulation of the Norwegian army and withdrawal of allied forces from Narvik, the great iron ore port, left Germany unchallenged today along the entire Norwegian coast and put her in position to dominate Russia's Arctic trade route.

It was made known that Gen. G. C. Fleischer, commander in chief of the Norwegian forces in the north, had ordered his men to surrender after King Haakon, Crown Prince Olav and members of the Norwegian government had been embarked in allied warships and sent to Great Britain.

Issue Proclamation
On departing, King Haakon, the crown prince and the government issued a joint proclamation explaining to the people of Norway that their capitulation was necessary because without allied aid, Norway lacked sufficient soldiers and sufficient war materials to fight.

It was asserted the king and government in exile would continue to fight for a free Norway, and hope was expressed Norwegians never would abandon their confidence in the ultimate restoration of the country to independence.

Commander Remains
Gen. Fleischer, after issuing his surrender order, left with the king and others, it was understood. But reports here were that Gen. Otto Ruge, commander in chief of the Norwegian army, remained in a statement of his own, Gen Ruge urged Norwegians not to reproach the allies and asked them to understand that from the allied viewpoint it was necessary to withdraw forces from Norway because all available men were needed on the western front.

Thinking the Norwegian army for its valor, Gen. Ruge expressed hope German bombings of the country would stop soon so that refugees might return home.

CANDIDATES GET PETITION PAPERS

With Friday set as the first day for filing declarations of candidacy with County Auditor Walter C. Musgrave, the Twin Falls county political pot began to simmer today.

At least four such declarations were taken out by prospective candidates for party nominations in the August primary, and many more will probably be called for before and after the first day for actual filing.

Childs Will Run
County Assessor George A. Childs announced this afternoon that he will be a candidate to succeed himself in the post he won in the 1938 general election. He is a Republican.

Mrs. Cora Stevens, long-time county treasurer, said that she has taken out a petition and will once more seek the Democratic nomination.

The anticipated contest for the sheriff's post—providing both aspirants survive the primary—developed with revelation that petitions have been taken out by Sheriff W. W. Hawkins and by Sheriff L. W. Lowery, chief deputy until his recent resignation. Hawkins, a Republican, was appointed to fill the vacancy left when the late Sheriff Art C. Parker died of auto accident injuries.

Lowery was chief deputy under Parker and under Hawkins until his resignation.

None for Board Yet
As far as could be learned today no petitions had yet been taken out by Ben E. Potter, chairman of the commissioners, or George R. Hart, the other member whose term expires this year.

The declarations of candidacy must be signed by not less than five nor more than 10, qualified electors. Each signer must declare his party affiliation.

Candidates will have a full month in which to file. Deadline comes July 13.

Passenger Train Crash Kills Two

VANDENBERG FOR HELP FOR ALLIES; DROPS ISOLATION

WASHINGTON, June 10 (U.P.)—The senate isolationist bloc lost one of its most important members today—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich.

Vandenberg, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, abandoned his previous stand and called for American aid to the allies so long as it does not involve this country in war abroad or weaken our defenses.

He coupled his announcement in a radio address last night with a call for a resumption of trade treaty relations with Japan. He declared a "sanctified Pacific" could be almost equivalent to half a navy in our scheme of defense.

Vandenberg is a leader of the senate group that favored abrogation of the Japanese-American treaty of 1911.

Vandenberg also urged postponement of adjournment of congress "until it attacks preparedness on the fiscal as well as the military front."

Vandenberg's abandonment of the isolationist bloc came as a surprise to the capital. There was no immediate comment from other members of it which includes Sens. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo.; Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont.; Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D.; Hiram W. Johnson, R., Calif.; and Homer T. Bone, D., Wash.

ENGLAND LOSES PLANE CARRIER

LONDON, June 10 (U.P.)—The admiralty today announced one of the most severe losses of the war—the presumed sinking of the 22,500-ton aircraft carrier, the Glorious, and an escort of two destroyers, the transport Orama, and the tanker, the Oil Pioneer—a total of 10,706 tons of shipping.

The German high command asserted yesterday the Glorious and its escort vessels had been sunk in naval action off Norway in which the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst participated.

"Presumed" Lost
The admiralty—which yesterday said merely it had been advised of "operations" in the Norwegian area—today said "no further information has been received regarding the naval operations in connection with the withdrawal of our forces referred to in yesterday's admiralty communique and, as up to the present it has not been found possible to establish communications with certain ships" they must be presumed lost.

The losses were the worst Britain had suffered in any single naval engagement of the war. It was presumed the action resulted from the allied withdrawal from Narvik.

It was not certain how many casualties were suffered. The Glorious, if carrying full R.A.F. personnel, would have had 1,216 men aboard. The two destroyers, of 1,350 tons each, carry normally 188 officers and men.

The number aboard the 19,840-ton Orama was not known but the admiralty said it was not carrying any troops. The Oil Pioneer was a vessel of 5,666 tons. Its crew was not indicated.

Sister Ship Down
The Glorious was a sister ship of the ill-fated Courageous which went down when hit by a German torpedo on Sept. 17, 1939.

"The admiralty pointed out that a German communique 'states there were several hundred survivors from our ships.'

"The loss of the Glorious was not regarded here as of a serious nature as the loss of the additional destroyers. The loss brought British destroyer losses for the war to 22. It was pointed out five new aircraft carriers were underway when the war started so that the admiralty is in position to replace both the Glorious and the Courageous.

FRONTIER FIXED
TOKYO, June 10 (U.P.)—A Japanese government spokesman said an agreement had been reached between Shigenori Togo, Japanese ambassador to Moscow, and Soviet Premier-Foreign Minister Vlasov, M. Molotov fixing a "precise demarcation" of the Mongolian frontier.

Hitler's Strategy Depends on Human Endurance of Soldiers

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Expert

Germany's great strategic objective, aimed at the capture or dispersal southeastward toward Switzerland of the allied armies, is now being more clearly unfolded. Its success depends on how long human endurance can respond to Hitler's relentless demand upon his troops for the heaviest continuous offensive modern warfare ever has known.

The German front has been largely stretched during the last 48 hours. This fact is permitting the Germans to strengthen attacks by their right wing in the Seine area, and their left wing near the Argonne, having encirclement of the allies as their objective.

It seems as if the German attack directly toward Paris from the Soissons region is not continuing with the ferocity of last week. The German crossings of the Aisne at this point have not been followed

Wildly Cheering Crowd Greet Declaration of War on Allies

Nazis Say Allied Ranks Shattered Along Big Front

By FREDERICK C. OEHMSNER

BERLIN, June 10 (U.P.)—The high command today said German armies advancing on a 210-mile front into France had shattered all counter-attacks and at some points had turned operations "into a pursuit" of the enemy.

The communique said operations on the 210-mile front were taking their "expected course" in direction of the lower Seine river on the western end of the line, toward Champagne in the center and toward the Marne valley road to Paris in the east.

Planes Help
German planes supported the advance of the army on the lower Seine (in the Rouen sector and presumably to cut off Le Havre) and in the Champagne area, the communique said.

Allied counter-attacks were made with tanks, but failed, it added. "The German air force 'heavily' bombed the harbor and quays at the important French ports of Cherbourg and Le Havre, according to the communique. Numerous ships in both ports as well as on the lower Seine river were reported hit and damaged.

Troop Ship Hit
One 5,000 ton allied troop ship was set afire and destroyed, it said. A returning German U-boat, according to the communique, reported the sinking of 43,000 tons of enemy shipping.

Allied barracks, troop concentrations, fortifications, batteries and columns marching on the roads in France were successfully attacked by the German air force, the communique said.

The Germans gave considerable emphasis to recapture of Narvik after all allied forces had been cleared out, but the real test of strength was on the vast fighting front in France.

Wing Thrown Back
Latest dispatches from the front claimed the entire French left wing based on the English channel coast had been thrown back for miles, and that elsewhere along the 120-mile Somme river and Weygand line front the Germans were pushing forward steadily.

The immediate German objective along the coast appeared to be Rouen. France's second principal port. From there the Germans were expected to drive westward toward Le Havre, thus cutting off a huge area on France's western coast.

One newspaper commented that the Germans hoped to cut off France's last channel ports soon and thus end direct communications between France and Great Britain.

"The two allies must go their own ways in battle for naked life," the Hamburger Fremdenblatt said.

IL DUCE SPURNS ALLIED OFFERS

LONDON, June 10 (U.P.)—British government circles said today Premier Benito Mussolini took his nation into the war despite Anglo-French offers, transmitted through President Roosevelt more than two weeks ago, to settle reasonable Italian claims.

These offers, reported transmitted to Il Duce by Mr. Roosevelt in the role of "postman," recognized that Italy had a number of legitimate grievances against Great Britain and France, it was said, and conveyed the allies' willingness, if peace were assured, to discuss and settle them.

The allied proposals, it was disclosed, stated the willingness of Britain and France to admit Italy to the peace conference after the war with Germany on an equal footing with the belligerents and concluded with the observation that the United States was witness to these promises.

Mr. Roosevelt in transmitting the proposals, it was said, did not take upon himself any responsibility for them.

"Win" Is Watchword of Marching Roman Legions

Declares War

By REYNOLDS PACKARD

ROME, June 10 (U.P.)—Premier Benito Mussolini took Italy into the European war today on the side of Germany.

The declaration of war against Great Britain and France was announced by the premier in a speech from Venice palace balcony to a wildly cheering crowd.

"The hour of destiny has arrived for our fatherland," Mussolini said. "We are going to war against the decrepit democracies . . . to break the chains that tie us in the Mediterranean."

The premier, speaking in a strained, powerful voice to perhaps 80,000 persons in the Venice palace square and side streets and to millions throughout Italy and the world, said that there is but one watchword for Fascists: "It is to win!"

"We salute the fuhrer of Germany," he added. "Fascist Italy is on her feet and prepared to strike."

The premier, who once said that Italy had 10,000,000 bayonets ready for action, declared that "this gigantic struggle is a logical part in our revolution."

"This revolution," he continued, "asserts itself against those who control the riches of the earth."

"It is a struggle of one century against another."

"We take up arms to solve the problems of our continental frontiers and our maritime frontiers," the premier said. "We shall win and we shall give a new period of peace and prosperity to Italy and the world."

"People of Italy: To arms! Your tenacity, bravery and courage will prevail."

The premier announced that the ambassadors of Britain and France had been informed of the declaration of war.

"In this hour, we turn our thoughts to the king-emperor," Mussolini said of King Victor Emmanuel.

"As always, the king has interpreted the soul of the fatherland."

The premier said that the king had correctly viewed the attitude of Italy as sympathetic toward Germany and that "for the third time Fascist Italy enters war as one man."

Italy wanted to keep the conflict from spreading to other countries, he said, but a great people cannot permit others to hamper its development.

Britain and France, he said, had tried to halt the progress of the Italian people and Italy has decided to accept the sacrifices and hardships of war together with the Germans.

"I solemnly declare," Mussolini said, "that Italy does not intend to drag other neighboring nations into the war."

"Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Egypt must take note of my words, which will be maintained."

Italy Strong
"Italy, proletarian and Fascist, is strong, ready and united as never before."

Mussolini put emphasis on his contention that the allied powers should have joined in correcting the World War treaties for the benefit of Italy and Germany.

Premier Benito Mussolini today threw Italy's armed might with Hitler's forces against England and France. The decision came after days of sword rattling on Mussolini's part. Avowed purpose of Italy is to break the allies' grip on the Mediterranean.

U. S. Child Is Killed During Plane Attack

WASHINGTON, June 10 (U.P.)—American Consul General Samuel W. Honaker at Stuttgart, Germany, today advised the state department of the first known death of an American citizen—an eight-year-old child—from bombing operations in the present European war.

The victim was Alfred Paul Ritter. He was killed during an allied air attack on Klingenstein, near Ulm, Germany, shortly after midnight of June 4.

The boy, born in New York City, was living with his grandparents. His father is dead and his mother, Mrs. Marie Ritter, lives at Collingdale, Penn.

The first American victim of the war in Europe was Capt. Robert M. Losey, assistant military and air attaché to Norway. He was killed by a bomb splinter while watching a German air raid on Domes, Norway, during the early phases of the Norwegian invasion.

Refugees Aboard U. S. Liner Sleep With Life Preservers

NEW YORK, June 10 (U.P.)—War refugees passengers of the liner President Roosevelt said today they had been so beset by fears on their voyage home that many of them had slept in deck chairs with life preservers beside them.

The United States rescue liner arrived last night from Galway, Ireland. She brought 723 persons who had been imperiled by the threatened German invasion of the British Isles.

They had been crowded into accommodations normally designed for 450 passengers. Most were United States citizens—wives and children of Americans with businesses in Britain, but some were British and Irish citizens.

The seven-day voyage was described as "normal but a bit overcrowded" by the ship's skipper, Capt. James E. Roberts.

But the passengers described it as a trip they would long remember.

Late FLASHES

NEW YORK, June 10 (U.P.)—Premier Paul Reynaud, in a radio address to the French nation heard in New York, declared today that France may be in difficulty but she is not down.

On the sixth day of the battle of France, Reynaud said, the French armies are retreating only slowly and their military position is good.

LONDON, June 10 (U.P.)—British air forces in France were reinforced today and they heavily bombed German troop and armored column concentrations at Abbeville, Amiens, Beauvais and Rouen.

BERLIN, June 10 (U.P.)—German quarters asserted tonight that the advance of the German army along a 210-mile front and Italian entrance into the war had sealed the fate of France.

Authorized military sources asserted the French position was "hopeless" with the defense positions of the Weygand line overrun and German troops advancing toward Paris.

LONDON, June 10 (U.P.)—Great Britain tonight answered Italy's declaration of war with a promise to "meet the sword with the sword" and asserted allied preparations against Italy were complete.

The British ministry of information said Mussolini has embarked on an "unchivalrous and cowardly policy to secure safely for Italy such plunder as Germany will graciously permit her to have."

WASHINGTON, June 10 (U.P.)—The house military affairs committee today voted 16 to 8 to approve a bill authorizing President Roosevelt to order out the national guard in event of an emergency prior to the next congress. But it limited him to using the guard in the continental United States, its possessions and the Canal Zone.

HOME DESTROYED BY SUNDAY FIRE

Defective wiring today was listed as cause of a Sunday blaze which destroyed a home located just out of the city limits east of the baseball park.

The home was owned by Amos Howard. The structure burned to the ground and only one wall was left standing.

Responding to the alarm, the fire department received the call at 5:10 p.m. and at 5:20 p.m. water had been turned on the blaze. The fire had made such headway, however, that saving the structure was out of the question.

LDS HEAD PLEADS FOR NEUTRALITY

SALT LAKE CITY, June 10 (U.P.)—President Hober J. Grant expressed to the conference of MIA and primary associations Sunday a fervent hope that the U. S. will remain out of the European war.

The address was read by David O. McKay, his second counselor, on advice of President Grant's physician, who deemed it inadvisable for the sick president to risk the strain of public appearance.

President Grant is recovering from a serious illness suffered last February.

J. Reuben Clark, Jr., first counselor in the first presidency, sounded a caution to members of the U. S. church to resist the fear and panic aroused by those who wish to involve us in a European war.

In reviewing the possibility of the entrance of the U. S. into the European conflict Clark said, "It is righteousness, not the hates of human slaughter, of which this nation stands in need."

ITALY STRIKES AT ALLIED "CHAINS" IN MEDITERRANEAN

IL DUCE THROWS FULL STRENGTH AGAINST FRANCE

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
(United Press Foreign News Editor)
Premier Benito Mussolini threw Italy's armed strength into the war on the Mediterranean front today as German armies hammered closer and closer to Paris.

Striking at an hour when Adolf Hitler's legions were rolling with crushing weight into the heart of France, the fascist premier declared Italy would "break the chains" of the British and French in the Mediterranean.

Forces March
Even as he spoke to a madly cheering throng from the balcony of Venice palace, the forces of Fascism went on the march and the British and French ambassadors had been given their passports.

Italy is striking to solve first the problem of continental frontiers — Savoy and Nice in France — and then the problem of sea frontiers — Corsica, Malta, Cyprus, Suaz and other allied possessions — by military force, the premier said.

"Poor Against Rich"
"This gigantic battle is the battle of the poor people against the rich and fierce holders of the world's gold," Mussolini shouted.

But, he said, Italy does not desire to bring other countries into the war — naming Switzerland and the Balkans, Turkey and Egypt. His reference to Egypt and Turkey appeared to be a bid to persuade those two allies of Britain to remain neutral.

Mussolini has said that he could put 10,000,000 bayonets in the field, but reliable sources have estimated the strength of the Italian army at from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000, in addition to a first line air force of possibly 3,000 and a navy which is short on capital ships but strong in small torpedo boats.

Air Force Excellent
Italy's air force is considered by most experts as top-notch, but under normal conditions the important northern industrial areas of Italy would be vulnerable to swift and devastating attacks by allied airplanes. Whether Germany's hammer blows in the north had changed that situation remains to be seen.

In any event, the Germans were smashing deeper into France in a gigantic offensive designed to sweep further down the English channel coast and envelop Paris.

Exact details of the mishap are not known. The car was badly damaged.

ITALY DECLARES WAR ON ALLIES

"This is the battle of feeble peoples against sterile peoples nearing their twilight," he said. "The hour of destiny beats on the sky of our fatherland."

"It is an axiom of Fascism to march to the end with our friends. We have done this with Germany."

Access to Oceans
"A nation of 45,000,000 people is not really free unless it has free access to the oceans."
(Mussolini's reference presumably was to Suez and Gibraltar.)

Crowds throughout Italy listened to the speech by radio. Wild cheers frequently interrupted the premier.

Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano summoned the British and French ambassadors to Chigi palace before Mussolini spoke and handed both the declarations of war, which were signed by the king-emperor, Victor Emmanuel.

ARMY ENDURANCE BOY HURT AS HE RUNS INTO AUTO

Tommy O'Halloran, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Halloran, 1347 Sixth avenue east, was painfully injured today at about 11:10 a. m. when he ran into the side of an automobile being operated by O. S. Anderson, Twin Falls, police said.

The youngster was running across the street near the intersection of Sixth avenue east and Locust when the mishap occurred. Anderson stopped his car immediately and left it on the spot while he and Oris Cryder took the boy to the office of a private physician in Cryder's machine.

The boy was returned home after being treated for numerous cuts and bruises over his face and body. Police said Anderson was in no way responsible for the mishap.

SOLDIERS ARRIVE WITHOUT TANKS

Minus the tanks, which were sent ahead by train, members of the light tank detachment, second battalion, 68th infantry, this afternoon arrived at the farm labor migratory camp south of the city to spend the night after a trip from Ft. Douglas, Utah.

The unit, including 98 men and five officers traveling by truck, is en route to Ft. Lewis, Wash., from Alexandria, La.

The advance detachment—including the field kitchen—arrived during the noon hour and the balance of the motor transports started arriving at 2:30 p. m. Capt. Dunn was in charge of the advance unit.

The unit will leave Twin Falls early Tuesday morning. In charge of local arrangements was Capt. J. H. Seaver, Jr., Twin Falls national guard commander.

The general public may inspect the camp late this afternoon or evening. "Grub" is scheduled to be served at 5 p. m., officers said.

ARMY ENDURANCE VITAL TO PLANS

War if the allied armies escaped directly southward along a broad front. The allied power of resistance would not be broken. But, in order to be able to carry on advantageously, the allies would have to evade another possible pocket should they be forced to retreat. The German movement toward Paris along the Seine seems to have as its secondary purpose enforcement of the allied retreat southward toward Switzerland if the primary objective of encirclement fails.

Should Weigand be compelled to direct a retirement in this direction, he would have a narrow front and if retreat were again necessary, he would have to retire across the Swiss border, giving the Germans control of France. Pro-German influence in Italy of an allied retirement of this kind would certainly be strengthened.

The arrival of British reinforcements in France, however, is strengthening the allied power of resistance. The British troops, in large numbers, are advantageously placed by their landing ports to strike the flank of the Germans in the Seine area. Such a movement might check both the German encirclement objective and the effort to compel Weigand to retreat toward Switzerland. If retreat—which is not yet essential—should become necessary.

The surrender of Norway will have no important influence on the final decision of the war. Both sides gain advantage by being able to concentrate more intensely on the fighting in France. The Norwegian campaign, in fact, has been ended by what may be called mutual consent. This is the apparent explanation of the curious Paris-announcement that the Germans agreed not to interfere with the evacuation of the allies from Norway.

The body will be taken to Neph, Utah, for interment.

DEFENSE FIGHTS CLUB SHUTDOWN

Seeking to reopen the Courtney club premises padlocked by court order last Friday, counsel for the building owner and the club operator filed a motion in district court today to set aside default and to vacate the judgment.

Attorney W. L. Dunn filed the motion on behalf of Mrs. Catherine M. Braun, Court d'Arena, the property owner, and E. L. Rogers, operator of the social club shut down by the injunction.

Dunn seeks reopening of the liquor nuisance action on its merits. The padlock order came Friday afternoon after expiration of the time allotted to the defense to file its reply following denial of a previous demurrer.

With the motion today Dunn presented affidavits by himself and by Mr. Rogers. In the motion the attorney advised the court that the default came about through "surprise and inadvertence" of the defense, and failure of counsel to file the necessary documents.

Dunn's affidavit cited his own "pressure of work" for the failure to file before the time limit expired. Rogers, in his affidavit, cited belief that he has a meritorious defense against the liquor nuisance claim made by Prosecutor Everett M. Sweeley, and stated that he had relied on his counsel to take all necessary steps.

FRESH BRITISH TROOPS SENT TO AID FRENCH ARMY

CHURCHILL SAYS FRANCE TO HAVE MAXIMUM HELP

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Great Britain has sent fresh troops to the aid of the hard-pressed French army and is sending more soon, it was announced today.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill advised Premier Paul Reynaud of France of the dispatch of the troops, and promised more would follow.

Maximum Support

"The maximum possible support is being given by British forces in the great battle which the French armies are now conducting with such undaunted courage," the prime minister said.

"All available means are being used to give help on land, at sea and in the air.

"The royal air force has been continually engaged over the battlefields, and within the last few days fresh British forces have been landed in France to take their place with those already engaged in the common struggle, whilst further extensive reinforcements are being rapidly organized and will shortly be available.

Churchill made his announcement at a moment when British military quarters were saying France was in a deadlier peril than at any time in the last war, with her main hope that Adolf Hitler had now thrown everything Germany had into the fight and that if France stood fast the German blitzkrieg might bog down of its own weight.

Authorized British military quarters said the situation on the western front was obviously one of increasing difficulties.

"The British are in some of the heaviest fighting and are playing their full part with the French," a spokesman said.

It was admitted that on the Somme and on the Aisne the Germans had made progress and had thrown in great forces.

The spokesman re-emphasized a warning he had made last week of any premature optimism.

It was said the French were hunting down some 300 to 400 tanks which had broken through to the Seine in the Rouen area and that there was no evidence so far that the Germans had been able to back their tank infiltration with infantry, a hopeful sign.

U. S. JOBS OPEN TO MERIT EXAMS

Various civil service examinations, to be conducted in the near future, were announced this afternoon by local post office officials after receipt of word to this effect from the U. S. civil service commission.

One position for which examinations will be held is that of ironworker, for the purpose of filling existing and future vacancies at the Puget sound navy yard, Bremerton, Wash. Until further notice, applications may be filed with the recorder, labor board, Puget sound navy yard at Bremerton.

Examinations also will be held to fill positions of instrument maker in the federal service. The examinations cover four grades, with salaries ranging from $1,800 to $2,600 a year, less retirement deduction of three and one-half per cent.

Applications must be filed with the commission's Washington office not later than July 5. Such applicants must have completed a four-year apprenticeship as instrument maker, or must have had certain experience in the trade, in either case including work with high-precision physical, geodetic, or similar scientific instruments.

Full information on any of the positions listed may be secured from the Twin Falls post office, or from any other first or second class office in the state.

AUG. 14 RAM SALE RULES DRAWN UP

Rules and terms of sale for the annual Idaho state ram sale at Filer Aug. 14 had been drawn up today by Robert Blastock, Filer, manager of the south central Idaho auction class.

The sale is sponsored by the Idaho Wool Growers' association, and in conjunction with the big auction at the fairgrounds the sheepmen's organization will hold its semi-annual meeting in Twin Falls the evening of Aug. 14. The night before will find the Filer Kiwanis club entertaining consignors and other members of the association.

Fee Schedule

Schedule of fees and charges: Single studs and pens of two or four rams, entry fee $10. Selling charge consists of this fee.

Pens of five to nine, $1.50 per head, returnable. Selling charge is the entry fee.

Pens of 10 to 25, $1 per head, returnable. Selling charge, the regular fee five per cent.

Terms of the sale, which will find some of Idaho's finest breeding stock in the ring, are cash, according to Mr. Blastock. Consignors must guarantee all sheep as breeders.

All rams entered in the sale must be owned by Idaho breeders, who must be members of the Idaho association.

Maximum Schedule

The ram sale committee of the association, according to Mr. Blastock and M. C. Claar, secretary, has set up a schedule of maximum pens to each consignor. The schedule represents the top limit; many growers will place rams in fewer pens. Excluding pens of one to four rams, the schedule shows:

| No. of Head | Pens Permitted |
|-------------|----------------|
| 5 to 10 | 1 |
| 11 to 15 | 2 |
| 16 to 25 | 3 |
| 26 to 30 | 4 |
| 31 to 35 | 5 |
| 36 to 40 | 6 |
| 41 to 50 | 7 |
| 51 to 60 | 8 |
| 61 to 75 | 9 |

Only one-third of the total entered by any consignor may be in pens of five.

ATTORNEY FILES AGAINST OUSTER

BOISE, June 10 (AP)—A second suit to prevent his ouster as attorney for the state industrial accident board was filed in district court Friday by Vestal P. Coffin of Boise.

Earlier last week, District Judge O. F. Koelsch refused to grant an injunction preventing Attorney General J. W. Taylor from appointing an assistant to handle the work of the board, replacing Coffin.

In the new suit, Coffin asked for a declaratory judgment by the court determining the constitutionality of the unemployment compensation law, particularly the section under which he claims he was hired. Specifically the act empowers the board to appoint attorneys, clerks and other officers to carry out the law.

Coffin was dismissed by Taylor on the grounds the constitutional right to advise all state departments was vested in the attorney general's office.

The suit was designed to further determine the constitutional powers of elective state officers, first outlined this year in a supreme court decision on the 1937 comptroller law.

No Munichs in South America

It is later than we thought. The scramble for South America, certain to follow the war in Europe, has not even waited for the war's end. It is on already, full force.

The quick victories of Hitler in Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium, and northern France have made Reich Germans in every American country extremely cocky. A German "labor front" organization in Uruguay, perhaps even "storm troops," are only the latest and most virulent signs of Nazi organizations all over South and Central America which are already interfering with the domestic life of the countries in which they appear.

At any time groups like these may begin making demands on the governments to the south for special concessions and privileges which no government can properly grant. They may even foment domestic strife. Then those governments are faced with one of two alternatives: Knuckle in, or fight back.

In the first case, they risk becoming Rumanias and Hungaries. In the second they may become Poland or Spain. If deserted by their neighboring countries, they may become Czechoslovakias.

The time has come to make it quite clear that the inter-American declarations and understandings reached at Lima and Panama mean what they say. At Lima, the 21 American republics unanimously agreed that in any situation menacing the independence of any of them, all would consult on how to meet jointly the menace. At Panama this decision was reaffirmed and implemented.

It is important that any such action be joint action. It is true that in such joint action the United States as the largest power would have to furnish the lion's share of protection. But that is only proper and right.

The Latin countries know perfectly well that the United States wants no part of any of their territories. The Communist cry of "North American Imperialism" (while remaining silent on Nazi penetration into American countries) fools nobody.

The Americas are all very much in the same boat. The tie that binds them is no longer merely a common devotion to freedom. It is now a specific menace of external influences and intrigue. The Americas stand together today as never before.

Let us learn the lesson of Europe. Starting with small aggressions ("But is it worth a war?") Hitler progressed down through Munich to Armageddon. In the Americas there must be no Munichs.

Looking 20 Years Ahead

The peak of hospitalization for World war veterans has not yet been reached, though it is 22 years since the guns stopped firing in 1918. Neuro-psychiatric cases are still cropping up whose seed was sowed on the fields of Flanders 22 years ago.

What seeds are being sown there today? Does anyone think that the casualty lists of 1940, even when they can be estimated, will reveal the total losses being suffered there by all countries? Not at all. Another generation, practically the second in a row, is being stripped of its best young men. Brains and ability needed in the future are being poured out along with the blood. And in 1962 the casualty lists, the hospitalization of shattered men will still be adding to the toll.

Building Also for Peace

The United States has committed itself to a vast program of building to meet any war that may come. But it is not neglecting to build also for peace.

During the first three months of this year just short of 100,000 new housing units in non-farm areas were completed. Only about 10 per cent were built under the USA's low-rent program. That is a 5 per cent increase over last year, and of the total, 75,000 were one-family dwellings.

Thus, while the whole of northern Europe crumbles, and the people's homes are smashed to dust, the United States is still fortunate enough to be able to build.

Discovered in South Dakota is a county without a postoffice. Can it be our far-seeing politicians are getting short-sighted?

A henchman describes Hitler as the greatest of all great men. And like the rest, the fuhrer will probably wind up as a bust.

The Duco seems anxious at times to do his share of the shouting, but every time he starts clearing his throat, in comes Adolf with a blitzkrieg.

POT SHOTS WITH

The Gentleman in the Third Row

The Snores and The Antelope

Dear Pot Shots: So the first dollar is gone and two more remain. Pass me one of them and for gosh sakes quit arguing about it.

When I used to go hunting for antelope in Canada, a few years back, I always took along Crusty, a grizzled old guide who knew the primitive area by heart. He was such an independent old corder, though, that he insisted on getting a full night's sleep.

He was such a sleep lover, in fact, that even when awake he was always practicing on snores just to make his own snoring the perfection in that art. He got so good at this finally that one night a herd of 13 antelope browsed up to our tent in search of food. I heard the animals and found my gun was outside the tent. I didn't dare move for fear of scaring 'em away. So I sat tight.

All the antelope could hear was the marvelous snoring of Crusty, the old guide. Rhythmic and powerful, roaring along with the strange musical beat that only Crusty's snore can achieve, that eerie jolt gripped the antelope. Pretty soon I heard a rumbling outside the tent. It got louder and louder.

I peeked outside. The antelope were all swaying on their feet. AND EVERY LAST ONE OF THEM WAS SNORING!

I roused Crusty and we tied up the animals, capturing them all alive before they awoke.

ANSWERING PUBLIC DEMAND ANENT MR. HAL WOOD: In response to scores of requests, Pot Shots feels that maybe he'd better do something about this Hal Wood gent, sports editor of the Evening Times.

Mr. Wood's own athletic record, what with his sports column now by far the widest read in the entire state.

We probed around a little. We got only a chill stare from Mr. Wood. But now he's gone off to North Dakota on his vacation and can't call on all his Twin Falls Cowboy pals to surround us some dark night.

As far as we can find out, then, Sportswriter Hal himself some few years ago was...

A pole vaulter (not bad, either). A basketballer (pretty good). A baseballer (average). A checkers player (ditto). A "snooker" pool expert (damned good).

A poker player (so good the other guys held onto their trousers and North Dakota is even now quaking at Hal's return on vacation).

PARTY HEELS: When people have parties and invite you to come. And when they advise you "Just dress like a bum," There's always a couple Who wear Sunday-best. And thus make it awkward For all of the rest. -Elaine KIMBERLY FAN DEMANDS BLACK CAT BACK!: Dear Potshots: Being a loyal fan from Kimberly, I am appealing to you to help do something in the way of casting off the spell that is hanging over our Cowboys. I talked to the Old Lady Down Main street and had her gaze in her crystal and she says Old Lady Witch has got us, and we will have to get rid of her to win these ball games.

I suggest the Cowboys get back the black cat for a mascot. You know last year when we lost the black cat we lost games in a row until the cat was returned. The last three games against Pocatello were lost to see our boys go down in defeat in two of them when we out pitched and out played them in all angles.

They could outguess the players but they could not outguess the umpires. That was something awful, especially Thursday night, to set there and see Little Dickie split the plate wide open with one pitch and then get the pieces with the next one. And the ump could call nothing but ball.

Now I suggest you take the matter up with Managers Tobin and Pace in regards to getting the black cat back. I am willing to go as far as getting properly under false pretense, or committing a felony, in order to help them get one.

It might also be a good idea to throw the front gate wide open to the gent that had the pocket full of sour eggs a few nights ago. -Ira Fan

SERIAL STORY

AN EYE FOR A GAL BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY, Rosy's brawl with Hamish threatens to bring down reprisals of school authorities upon them, but Judy arranges to have the affair forgotten. She pleads with Rosy to remember he has come to school to get an education. His questioner has about her father's history. She explains, but Rosy still believes Dr. Tolliver is the man who killed his father.

CHAPTER V

ROSSY McAFEE went out for basketball, just to keep in training while waiting for the baseball season to open. But he was not much on the floor. He made the scrub team. But every day he warmed up with old Leacock, who kept the gym and helped to develop the pitchers.

After a while, Rosy settled down in his new life. He could get in public without starting a riot, and Judy had kept the secret of his and Hannah's fight, so the campus never knew.

One day he said to Coach Hurd, "I got to go off, Coach."

"What for? How come?"

"I want to go home. Could I get off Friday and come back maybe by noon Monday?"

"Bub, you go back in them hills and hollers and somebody will ambush a good prime second-hand str pitcher."

"I know how to dodge ambushes. I know all the trails."

"I'll lay flowers on your grave and croon a sad yodel over the mound. So long."

ROSSY took the bus to Mountain City. From there he got the mail hack out to Mini's Creek postoffice. From Pappy Mint he rented the loan of a mule that knew the stony roads and trails.

He left the camp at 6 o'clock Friday and at 4 o'clock that afternoon he was jogging up a valley toward his mountain home.

Where the shadowy bridge trail came out on top of a mountain, he came to the picnic grounds and open land which formed the diamond next to Ebenezer church and school house. "Whoo!" Rosy said, and slipped from his mule.

There was a crude grandstand covered with dry brush, and Rosy went there and sat down, dropping into reverie. All at once that day flooded back upon him—the grounds there were filled with folks; the McAfees and Tollivers were out in force. Although Ebenezer was playing Carderwast school, over the mountain, actually it was a game between the families. The Tollivers against the McAfees.

The feud was dozing but not sleeping. The past fall there had been a great camp meeting at Ebenezer, and all the parsons and exhorters were out in force to get the old heads of the clans to bury the hatchet. And so successfully had they labored in the vineyard that actually peace had been declared between the families.

Actually, of course, hate and distrust and grudge smoldered just beneath the surface of all this high fun and carryings on.

The young pitcher on the mound was a Tolliver. "Sock" Tolliver, they called him. A handsome, dark fellow. Not much was known about him except that he had a mighty pitching arm, and when he was wild he couldn't hit a flock of barns with a long rifle.

Today he started out wild. Amidst the yelling of "Play Ball!" and the hubbub of the occasion, plus the Fourth of July spirit, and plenty of prime moonshine, he walked the first two men to face him, and even now Rosy could recollect the ferocious joy of his folks as his own father walked to the plate with the solid hickory bat that Jay McAfee had made with his own hand.

The ball came over. Rosy saw his father try to dodge it. It must have been a deep and confusing curve, for he couldn't avoid getting hit.

The bystanders, almost suffocating the squirming man on the ground, were pushed back by a deputy sheriff who was present.

"Stand back!" he yelled. "Give him air! Here—you two," he pointed out two men. "Tote him back of the grandstand, you."

Rosy's mother was screaming. A shout went up for blood. While the two men carried the unconscious man into the sheltered shade back of the stand, faction leaders diverted attention from Jay McAfee by crying:

"Grab him before he hulls out!"

A MOB started toward the stunned pitcher, still standing in the box. Rosy, hardly realizing all that was happening, had seen Cousin Steve in the stand a moment before, but when he looked again—Steve seemed to have slid through a loose plank in the grandstand and disappeared. The two men came out to see what was happening to the pitcher, leaving the unconscious man alone.

The pitcher gave one wild look at the advancing partisans, and as if it were his legs and not his wishes that moved him, he fled in the direction of a growth of trees and bushes at the far edge of the grounds. The men yelled and shouted, following at a run.

There were two or three shots fired.

The last they saw of Sock Tolliver was his hat, lying where it fell when he dived under cover and was gone. There was a steep cliff at this point, and a man said he saw Sock jump off and sink among the tree-tops below.

As the baffled mob returned, there were those who said they saw another Sock Tolliver go tearing off in a somewhat different direction and disappear in the same way. Later they figured that was reported by some one who had laved his thirst with too much mountain dew.

For almost all this while Jay McAfee had been just lying there in the green brush that had fallen off the roof of the grandstand. Now they brought water and poured on his face, found that the skull was actually cracked. A horse doctor said the ball had hit and bounced for there were plain marks indicating a kind of double lick that could never be wholly accounted for. But the game, instead of settling the clans into good feelings, reopened the war and it was not to close for another 10 years.

Three days later McAfee died.

ROSSY waked as from a dream and returned home. He came to a solid square log cabin in old trees and vines, where a bent mother waited for him. "That you, son?"

"It's me," Rosy said, and let the mule in the lot. He came and kissed his mother.

"I got your letter saying you'd come, son, if you could get off. Your Cousin Steve fetched it from the postoffice, and he said he wanted to see you and apt as not he'll be here pretty soon."

Steven Hogg appeared shortly after Rosy had finished supper and lighted a cigarette. He was a thick-bodied man, all of 10 years Rosy's senior. His mother and sister, so Hogg was not really all McAfee. In a way he was not McAfee at all, although always he professed to espouse the hates and prejudices and loves and blood-bonds of the McAfee brood.

"What was you up to, Rosy," Steven Hogg said, sinking his voice low so the girl woman in the kitchen could not overhear. "I thought I'd better name a thing or two to you. Things maybe you'd better know. It's about this here man who heads up that there illegal down there."

He began to tell as strange a yarn as Rosy had ever heard about the whole strange mess.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The new-defense tax bill which congress will pass presently is only a starter. Unless both the war and the war scare end very soon—which nobody here expects—something ever so much more drastic will get put together.

When that starts to happen—and you can expect it early next session—there will be renewed agitation for two measures, which would be highly unwelcome to most of the business community. These are: 1—A sharp excess profits tax. 2—An amendment to prevent the further issuance of tax exempt bonds.

Right at this moment nobody much is talking for either of these propositions except Sen. Josh Lee of Oklahoma who is something like a voice crying in the wilderness; furthermore, to date his talking has not converted any great number of his colleagues.

The thing to remember, however, is that Senator Lee's ideas along this line are a great deal like the ideas of such close-to-the-vest trustbusters as Jerome Frank, Leon Henderson, et al. By the next session, therefore, he just might have some hefty allies.

LEE WOULD KNOCK OFF BIG PROFITS: Senator Lee's big complaint is that we are right back where we were before the last war as far as the tax structure goes. The last war, he says, made a lot of millionaires and also a lot of poor people get stuck with Liberty bonds on which they took losses, and he wants a change.

He proposes to knock off some of the profits with the excess profits bill which has been slumbering in committee ever since 60-odd senators sponsored it, and then forget it a year ago. He'd start on the bond situation by removing the tax-exempt feature on all war-time issues.

That would just begin it. Half of the incentive to draw capital into war bonds would vanish if they weren't tax exempt. Raising interest rates to make up for that lost incentive could go only about so far; what would have to come after that, in Senator Lee's opinion, is a draft on capital. And he's ready with a bill which would do just that.

JOBS for JUNE Graduates

By EARLE MCGILL Casting Director, Columbia Broadcasting System

There are two simple rules I give any graduate aspiring to a radio acting career:

First, learn your business. Second, know the markets for your wares. Both are more complex than they sound.

Your business is acting, so learn how to act. As in any other business, you need training. Where should you get it?

If possible, I advise an American university. In the past few years many universities have built up courses in the m a g n i f i c e n t theater, where any young actor can receive training from talented directors.

The University of Iowa, for example, has a stage which rivals any New York stage, excepting Radio City Music Hall.

Many of these large universities operate radio stations, too. An even larger number have courses in radio. So, if you are lucky, your first acting training may be of two varieties—stage and radio.

COWBOYS READY FOR CARDS AFTER 2 WINS

Blitzkrieg Nets 21-6 and 10-8 Games Over Reds

Hoping that a Monday lay-off won't break the spell, Manager Frank Tobin and his Twin Falls Cowboys will roll toward Pocatello tomorrow with fond expectations of starting in again where they left off in shelling Ogden's third-place Reds twice in a Sunday landslide.

The unpredictable Cowpunchers whaled the daylight out of solemn Bill McCorry's Cincinnati farm-hands, 21 to 6, in the Sunday afternoon affair. In the night duel the Tobin crew repeated the victory on a different scale, 10 to 8.

The double win, which saw the Cowboys swing from one extreme to the other in slugging, left Twin Falls merely a hop-skip-and-jump from its goal of cellar emergence. Exactly one-half game separates the Wranglers from the Idaho Falls Russes, and the Tobinites vowed today that the Pocatello series opening Tuesday night at the Gate City will rectify that matter.

The double win provided a start on the edge made by the Cowboys as they presented a 13th anniversary gift to Mr. and Mrs. Tobin. The pledge: To climb out of the cellar and reach a spot in the Big Three.

A Blitzkrieg, No Less! It was a terrific bombardment of base hits that brought the 21-6 triumph Sunday afternoon, amazing management and fans alike. The Cowboys put together no less than 18 safe singles, including home run wallopers over the fence by Johnny Arnerich, the latest addition to the infield forces, and Jim Hedgecock, who pitched the victory.

Largest spree during the blitzkrieg came in the seventh inning, when the Puncers ran themselves ragged scampering around the bases on hits and walks, plus a couple of Ogden errors. Net result: 10 runs. Additional information: Six hits in that stanza; five walks.

Arnerich collected two safeties during the inning; Ernie Bishop and Tobin each scored two runs in that stanza.

Manager McCorry hauled Polivka out of the box with one out in the third inning. He left Teltmeyer on the mound for the rest of the holocaust.

Few Hits; Many Walks It was a different picture in the Sunday night game—with the Cowboys riding to that 10-8 victory on four hits, of which Bill Randall collected three. The pay-dirt came by way of free tickets to first base. With four Ogden hurlers collaborating along these lines, no less than 18 walks were dished out to the Cowboys. In the fatal seventh, when Twin Falls scored five times, there were five passes in succession.

Those 18 walks naturally cut down the aggregate Cowboy hitting, since 16 men got no chance to swing at the ball. Meanwhile Ogden was poking out eight safe ones but aside from the third frame when "Chief" Chagnon ran into a peck of trouble in his first start for the Cowpunchers, the Reds couldn't bunch their blows.

They compiled five scores in the third for what seemed a safe lead, what with giant Tex Gibbons flinging a speed ball that had the Tobin outfit squelched for quite a spell.

Speed Ball Goes Awry The speed ball went awry in the seventh, however, to the tune of four successive walks. Out came Gibbons and in went Lambert. He couldn't find the plate, either, so Burpo rushed in to try stemming the tide. With Manager McCorry, hunched up on the dugout bench, watching proceedings sourly, Burpo managed to halt things by way of an outfield fly and an infield out.

Dick O'Boyle, who had relieved Chagnon in the second, sallied smoothly in the eighth although an error and Cola's double scored one runner. When things again got hot in the ninth, however, Damon Hayes took over to squelch an uprising that might have tied the score. O'Boyle got credit for the win. Randall dominated the hit picture for Twin Falls in the nightcap, with two of his three safeties achieved by way of scampering to first so swiftly that he beat out infield balls. Bobby Adams and McConnell paced Ogden with two apiece.

They Show the Way Arnerich, Ernie Endress and Bishop showed the way in the afternoon game with three hits apiece. The new addition from Spokane chucked up a home run, a double and a single. Endress had a pair of singles and a double; Bishop got three singles.

But hitting honors went clear around in that game. Every man on the Cowboy outfit clicked for at least one safety. Dick Wake, Tommy Canavan and Tobin got two each, and Jim Hedgecock's one hit went over the right field fence.

For Ogden, Laybourne and Haley poled 'em over the wall, with Bobby Adams topping the list on three singles.

The Cowboy game at Pocatello Tuesday night is set to start at 8:30 p. m.

Yanks Come out of Coma With Old Home Run Punch

Little Downs Sarazen in National Open

CLEVELAND, June 10 (U.P.)—The new national open golf champion spread an ear-to-ear grin across his face and said: "I felt it was my day after my first drive."

And it was his day—the day that Lawson Little, once the scourge of the amateurs on both sides of the Atlantic, proved he could outstrip the best of the professionals.

That day was yesterday, out here on the torrid, steamy turf of the Canterbury country club where Little, hotter than the weather, fired a two-under-par 70 to win the national open title from Gene Sarazen in an 18-hole play-off.

Root for Sarazen It was not a popular victory with the 3,000 persons who stamped and scrambled on the heels of Little and Sarazen. For fully three-fourths of them were rooting their hearts out for Sarazen, the stocky veteran in knickerbockers who came out of the long ago to delight the oldsters who like to tell you that the present crop of golfers are dubs compared to the wizardry of a Hagen, a Jones—or a Sarazen.

But it was victory that did great things for the soul of Lawson Little, who turned professional in 1936 and vainly had been trying ever since to win an important American tournament. The cheers for Sarazen bounced off Little's ears yesterday as he defeated Sarazen by three strokes; his eyes had a hard, concentrated gleam, and he played a slow, deliberate game, taking a couple of practice swings before hitting his iron.

Victory Convincing It was a victory that convinced Little he had the stuff as a professional to live up to his reputation as an amateur. And it was quite a reputation. He was amateur champion of the United States and Great Britain in 1934 and 1935, a feat equaled by no man. Next to Bobby Jones, he was rated as one of the greatest amateurs of all time. But when he turned professional in 1936, he found the going pretty tough among the money shooters. Four weary years went by and the word got around that Little didn't have the stuff for the money circuit. So yesterday he rammed those words down the throats of all who spoke them.

The truth is that Sarazen, popular as he is with golfers everywhere, never had a chance. Little, playing for keeps, took the lead at the first hole of the play-off and never lost it. When Sarazen fired a birdie at him, he fired one back at Gene. Not even the brilliant eagle three by Sarazen on the sixth hole could dismay the man who was out to prove that he belonged on the world's toughest golf circuit.

Breaks Par Little shot the first nine in 34, two under par, while Sarazen needed a 37, three over. When Sarazen rallied on the last nine, Little matched him shot for shot and they both finished with 36's. They were in this play-off because they tied at 287 for the 73 holes played Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Earl Toole struck out nine and gave up only four hits before he was relieved late in the game by Elmer Edgington. Smith, pitching for the visitors, struck out 13, but gave up six hits.

SHOSHONE TRIUMPHS SHOSHONE, June 10 (Special)—Shoshone pounded out a 12 to 4 win over Eden here Sunday to push Hansen a little farther into the SCI league cellar.

Eden started Ellis, a boy from Dietrich, but Shawver was sent in for mound duty after Ellis had yielded seven runs in the first frame.

Lee Bellia smashed a homer. W. Lattimer hit a triple for the visitors while Horace Lattimer was getting three hits in four trips to the plate, including a two-bagger.

Jan Hansen and Rutherford were battery mates for Shoshone.

Champs Down Indians 4-3; National Lead Changes Hands Twice

NEW YORK, June 10 (U.P.)—The old Yankee home run punch had the world's champions closer to first place today than at any time since May 3, the day before they went into a coma and dropped eight straight. They were only three games astern the league-leading Red Sox.

Al Smith, Bill Terry's castoff, gave the Yanks only six hits yesterday but three of them were homers and the Bronx Bombers sank the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, preventing them from displacing the idle Red Sox at top of the American league.

Babe Dahlgren hit one in the fifth, and Joe DIMaggio and George Selkirk each hit one in the sixth. DIMaggio's came with a mate on base, thus making all Yankee runs the result of homers. The Indians rapped Red Ruffing for nine hits.

The National league lead changed hands twice yesterday before $4,500 paid customers, third largest crowd in Cincinnati's history. The Dodgers, after being knocked from the top by Saturday's 23-2 massacre, came back to win the first game of a twin bill Sunday, 9-1. Tex Carleton, who pitched a no-hitter against the Reds on April 30, hurled a five-hitter to win his first game since then.

Junior Thompson pitched the Reds back into the lead in the night-cap with a 6-2 triumph over the Dodgers.

The Giants came to within three games of the Reds by knocking over the manager-less Cardinals, 11-9 (11 innings) and 7-4. Billy Southworth, new Card pilot, will not report until late today to take over the Cards, in seventh place, 15 games off the pace.

The Chicago Cubs won a doubleheader from the Boston Bees, 7-1 and 15-8, to run their winning streak to seven straight.

Guy Mulcahy broke the Phillies' six-game losing streak when he pitched his club to a 6-1 win over the Pirates in the first game of a twin bill. Pittsburgh bounced back to take the nightcap, 11-5, and to hold fifth place.

In the other American games, the Browns left the cellar by thumping the Athletics twice, 8-7 (10 innings) and 4-2, and the White Sox nosed out Washington, 4-2a (11 innings).

Elks will assemble at the club at 7:15 o'clock Thursday night and form an automobile parade to the park, headed by the Pocatello high school band which will furnish music during the game and may also give a short demonstration on the field prior to the start of the game.

Elks and their wives will be seated in a body on the first base side of the grandstand.

Dizzy Pitches Oilers to 5-4 Victory

TULSA, Okla., June 10 (U.P.)—A new Dizzy Dean was embarked today on the comeback trail.

Yesterday, little more than 72 hours after he said farewell to the Chicago Cubs, he pitched the Tulsa Oilers to a 5-4 triumph over the Fort Worth Cats.

Dean's new sideman delivery, which called his "powder-puff" ball mixed with several fast ones past Fort Worth, and his own bat won the game for the Oilers. Dean singled in the ninth inning and romped his way around the bases on two successive errors by the Cats to the delight of the 8,000 spectators.

Lawson Little Battles Under Fire To Win National Open Golf Title

By HENRY McLEMORE
 CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—So few of us have our dreams come true that it is a sweet experience to sit with a fellow whose fond dream has become reality.
 It is doubly sweet when that fellow is a friend, one who has taken a few ups and downs with you, and a few laughs and songs, too.
 That's why it was good to walk into the locker room of the Canterbury course here yesterday and talk to Lawson Little after his victory over Gene Sarazen in the play-off for the national open golf championship.
 Almost more than anyone else I know what that victory meant to Lawson. And to Dorothy, his wife. As he sat there on the bench in front of his locker, tired, hot, and all but choked up after 90 holes of play, I couldn't help but think back over the four-year span since he abdicated as king of the amateurs and went out to test his skill and his luck against the professionals.
 Those were four tough years for Lawson. He won but three tournaments and they were widely spaced. In between his triumphs he struggled and suffered. The press wasn't kind to him. His fellow pros weren't kind to him, and year by year the glamor he had earned as an amateur faded away. The truth is, he came to this open championship as just another professional.

 Only two persons believed he could win. One was Lawson himself, and one was Dorothy. They never lost faith in the swing, or in the courage, that enabled him to win two British and two American championships in two years. He proved in the 18-hole play-off battle against Sarazen that the faith was justified. In Sarazen he faced one of the toughest competitors the game has ever produced; a man who, when the stakes are sufficient, has the nerve of a second-story worker and the touch of a locksmith.
 Sarazen gave him the full treatment at Canterbury yesterday. So did the gallery. The customers never were ungracious enough to openly shout their wish that Sarazen would win, but the difference in the volume of applause when Gene made a good shot and Lawson did the same, was enough to tell Lawson where he stood in their affections.

Sarazen fought Little to a standstill, three making unbelievable shots to challenge for the title. He canned a 50-foot putt. He ran down a 45-foot putt. He chipped in from the rough but Lawson wouldn't fold. He just kept pounding the ball, and at the finish was two under par.
 To me Lawson's greatest show of competitive steel came on the 14th hole. The four stroke lead he had picked up in the first five holes had been narrowed to two strokes. On the 14th Sarazen chipped in for a birdie three. On the green in three, Little faced a downhill, sidehill, six-foot putt for a par four. If he missed it Sarazen would draw even with him and the match would be in the lap of the gods.
 If there was any quit in Little now was the time for it to show. If he had any "chicken" in him, now was the time for the feathers to fly.
 But the yellow didn't appear, the feathers didn't flutter. Little knocked the putt right in the middle of the cup to preserve his lead.
 That was the match, and Little clinched it on the next hole with a birdie three.

Pacific Coast Coaches Consider Rule Changes At Sun Valley Meeting

The PAYOFF By HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Sports Editor)

CLEVELAND—Covering the National Open is a breeze. All you have to do is wait until Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour come in, and get in the early rush for their table.
 Hagen and Armour are the high courts of golf. Wes Bobby Cruickshank is the court jester.
 Each entrant at Canterbury stops and comments on his game. Hagen and Armour pick it to pieces. Armour takes either side of any argument, and usually wins his point.
 Armour the professional's professional, claims tournaments are lost... not won.
 Roland Hancock lost the championship at Olympia Fields in 1928... needed only 5-8, one above par... took a pair of sixes.
 Ralph Guldahl lost the title at North Shore in 1933 by missing a four-foot putt.
 "They said I lost confidence," cuts in Guldahl. "They should have said I lost my putting touch because Walter Hagen Tommy Armour you lose your game before you lose confidence. I had been putting poorly for 18 holes. Had I been putting well, I would have had confidence... would have sunk that payoff putt."

Sam Snead lost the crown at Spring Hill a year ago... with that frightful eight on the 18th hole... a poor choice of clubs got him into the difficulty.
 Locker Room Chatter
 Hagen and Armour dish out sound advice. A refraining blast on the money players is that paradoxically they are always willing to help one another. It was this as much as anything else that put America on top of the golf world.
 Boomer or later locker room talk drifts to Johnny McDermott.
 McDermott was just 21 years old when in 1911 he beat Mike Brady and George Simpson in a playoff to become the first homegrown to win the National Open. He repeated the following June. He finished in a triple tie with Alec and Macdonald Smith in 1910, Alec prevailing in the playoff.
 So for three successive years, and before striking his full stride, he was as good as any player in the field over the regulation distance, and twice, successively, he was better.

Weighted Only 135 Pounds
 McDermott has been in a Philadelphia mental institution since shortly after his meteoric rise... his trouble traced to his being kicked on the head by a horse when he was a child.
 Jack Burke, oldest player in this year's Open, recalls their taking McDermott out for a round with Cyril Walker and himself at Shawnee-on-Deleware in 1924, and his outdriving them with an old wooden shaft.
 They took McDermott out again to let him see Bobby Jones complete his grand slam at the Merion Cricket club in 1920. McDermott played a round... broke the course record.
 McDermott, the most spectacular player of his time, weighed only 135 pounds, but patted the ball like Sam Snead.
 It was tragic to lose Johnny McDermott.
 Little wonder that when old-timers gather at the 19th hole they usually wind up discussing him.

COAST LEAGUE SCORES
 Seattle 6, Oakland 5.
 San Francisco 6, San Diego 5.
 Hollywood 10, Portland 7.
 Los Angeles 6, Sacramento 4.

SUN VALLEY, June 10 (AP)—A half dozen sweeping changes in Pacific coast conference athletic policies were up for consideration today as 75 coaches, graduate managers and faculty members of the 10 member schools opened their annual summer meeting here.
 Association members scheduled five days of committee meetings to work out problems which included:
 1. Abolition of spring football practice and out-of-season practice for all college sports.
 2. Return of Idaho and Montana to the conference gridiron schedule on a regular basis.
 3. Adoption of 1942, 1943, 1944 and 1945 football schedules.
 4. Equalization of the importance of all sports, placing major and minor events on the same basis.
 5. Limitation of freshman athletics to intra-squad competition.
 6. Interpretation of the Atherton plan and methods of putting it into operation.
 "Establishment of a definite season for all sports is being sought," Gale L. Mix, University of Idaho graduate manager, disclosed. "If the plan is adopted it has been suggested a five-day pre-season period be permitted for football conditioning work, but practice for all other sports would be limited to just before the playing season."
 The plan to bring Idaho and Montana back into the conference gridiron championship picture has been tentatively drafted, it was learned. The proposed 1942 schedule would give the two teams at least one game each with the southern members as well as games with northern members.
 The new schedule would also call for the southern teams—California, Stanford, University of Southern California at Los Angeles—to play in Montana and Idaho.
 Much of the effort at the meeting will be directed toward working out means of putting the Atherton plan into operation. This plan, proposed by Edwin G. Atherton, conference commissioner, closely regulates proselytizing of college athletes.

RUSTLERS SENT INTO 'TAILSPIN'

Motorized cattle rustlers in Idaho "are in a tailspin" as result of broad enforcement of the state brand program, Jay Shaw, state brand inspector, said here today.

Success of the program, through cooperation of county inspectors and cattlemen as a whole, is shown by the fact that 27 felony charges have been placed against stock thieves, Shaw said. In addition "there have been hundreds of misdemeanor charges" filed.

"Stockmen are becoming more conscious of the need for the program," he said, "and are now cooperating in fine fashion."

Harold Halverson, Twin Falls county brand inspector, said that the situation in this area is "very good and getting better."

Even in peacetime, street lamps of Great Missenden, Bucks, England, are turned out to save expense on moonlight nights.

ACCUSED KILLER TELLS 'REMORSE'

Donald Sellers, 22, confessed murderer of his 19-year-old wife Betty, today in a statement handed to Sheriff L. W. Hawkins had said he had "experienced deep remorse over the death of my wife."

The statement was the first indication that Sellers showed any emotion concerning the tragedy in which he participated last Thursday, Saturday morning, at a preliminary hearing, he was bound over to answer in the fall term of district court, charged with murder in the first degree. At that time he said nothing.

Changes Mind

However, shortly before 7 p. m. the same day he informed Sheriff Hawkins that he had a statement he wished to give to the newspaper. The statement follows:

"Contrary to a recent report, I have experienced deep remorse over the death of my wife, Betty Sellers. "I didn't realize until this (Saturday) afternoon what I had done. Since Thursday afternoon I seemed to be numb, and might have appeared indifferent. The shooting was the result of loving one woman too much—I was madly jealous of her."

"I had planned to do away with her and then destroy myself, because, if I couldn't have her, I didn't want anyone else to have her. Just before the shooting occurred, I wrote a two-page letter to my folks telling them of this

ROOSEVELT SCHEDULES IMPORTANT ADDRESS ON WAR

PRESIDENT MAY TALK OF LARGER ARMY FOR U.S.

By RONALD G. VAN TINE
 WASHINGTON, June 10 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt delivers to the world today "a very important pronouncement" relating to the war and the present state of international affairs.

Late this afternoon (4:15 p. m. MST) the President will speak at graduating exercises of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va., where his son, Franklin D., Jr., receives a law degree.

Mr. Roosevelt had planned to attend the exercises if the international situation allowed, but his decision to speak was made suddenly to a surprised capital late last night. It was announced by his secretary, Stephen T. Early, in an unusual telephone call to the press association a few minutes before midnight. The presidential party had returned earlier from a week-end cruise on the Potomac.

No Indication
 There was no indication what the specific subject of Mr. Roosevelt's remarks would be beyond Early's statement that "I think you can safely say that he will deliver a very important pronouncement relating to the war and the present state of international affairs."

In some quarters, however, there was speculation that Mr. Roosevelt might have something to say about increasing the man power of the armed forces to man the greatest mechanized army, navy and air force in this country's history. Observers pointed out that most of the President's defense program — for machines and materials — is nearing completion in congress. Likewise, legislation to help pay for the $5,000,000,000 program will be brought up in the house this week in the form of a bill to add more than $1,000,000,000 to the annual tax bill.

Man Power Unsolved
 But man power still remains the unsolved problem. There is legislation in congress now to lift the restrictions on the maximum strength of the army and there has been considerable discussion of universal compulsory military training.

Mr. Roosevelt cancelled an address scheduled for yesterday at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He had planned to address a celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of Vassar college, but called it off because of the press of international affairs.

He apparently decided to make his "important pronouncement" while cruising over the week-end on the Potomac. Among those accompanying him on that cruise was Alexander C. Kirk, charge d'affaires at the American embassy in Berlin, who recently returned to this country.

Early said arrangements have been made for translating and re-broadcasting it into seven languages. All the American radio networks will carry it.

Albion, Declo Census Gains

George H. Fisher, supervisor of the census with headquarters at Pocatello, today in a communication to the Evening Times announced census results in the communities of Albion, Declo and Oakley.

Gains were noted for Albion and Declo, but a slight loss was recorded for Oakley, the communication reveals.

Following are the official figures, with the population this year being listed first and the total for 1930 second:

Albion: 357-262; Declo: 278-106; Oakley: 813-882.

Regarding the results, Fisher wrote that "while the figures in this announcement are preliminary and subject to correction, they are believed to be substantially correct."

New Recruiter

CORP. WAYNE COBLE joins local army recruiting staff under Sgt. Frank Morris, officer in command.

ARMY RECRUITER ADDED TO STAFF

Corp. Wayne Coble, who has joined the staff of the army recruiting station at the city hall, will have charge of the office, thus enabling Sgt. Frank Morris, commander, to visit communities over the Magic Valley in the present recruiting drive, it was announced this afternoon.

Corp. Coble came here from eight company, first infantry, Ft. Francis C. Warren, Wyo. He is a native of Foraker, Okla., and enlisted in the army five years ago at Oklahoma City.

The new recruiter just returned from Texas where he completed maneuvers along with hundreds of other soldiers. A portion of the maneuvers also took Corp. Coble to Louisiana.

Sgt. Morris said today that an intensive drive for recruits would get underway at once.

Buhl Funeral Home Remodels Building

BUHL, June 10 (Special)—Evans and Johnson mortuary, business house that has continued from 1907 to the present making it the only continuous business under the same name and management now existing in the west end, is this week receiving a complete remodeling.

Old plate glass in the front of the building has been removed and a modern black blazed tile is being laid. Above the tile new plate glass will be set.

A modern office will be established and the chapel room will be moved to the more spacious right wing and will be completely redecorated. Provision is being made for a family room off the chapel and a slumber room is being built. Show rooms in the balcony are being reconditioned and redecorated. A light green color scheme is used.
