FDR PLEDGES ALLIES ALL AID SHORT OF WAR

U. S. Resources Thrown Open to England, France

WASHINGTON, June 11 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today carried the United States close to total "short-of-war" aid to the beleaguered allies.

He appeared to have the backing of a majority of congress in his renewed pledge to throw this country's "material resources" into the Anglo-French struggle against Germany and Italy.

Mr. Roosevelt's pledge of full material aid to the allies was made in his address at the graduation exercises of the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va., late yesterday.

To a cheering audience of graduates, students, faculty and visitors, and to millions of radio listeners, the President praised the "magnificent valor" with which the allies are fighting aggressors, and added:

"Let us not hesitate—all of us—to proclaim certain truths. Overwhelmingly we, as a nation, and this applies to all the other American nations, are convinced that military and naval victory for the gods of force and hate would endanger the institutions of democracy in the western world and that equally, therefore, the whole of our sympathies lies with those nations which are giving their life blood in combat against these forces."

"In our American unity, we will pursue two obvious and simultaneous courses; we will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of this nation, and at the same time, we will speed up the use of those resources in order that we ourselves in the Americas may have equipment and training equal to the task of any emergency and every defense."

He called for "effort, courage, sacrifice and devotion," and said that "granting the love of freedom, all of these are possible."

"And the love of freedom is still fierce and steady in the nation today," he added.

The President coupled his denunciation of the totalitarian rulers with bitter criticism of American isolationists. The latter, he said, dream of the United States as a lone island in a world dominated by force.

"Such a dream represents to me and to the overwhelming majority of Americans today a helpless nightmare of a people without freedom," he declared, "a people lodged in prisons, handcuffed, hungry and fed through the bars from day to day by the contemptuous, employing masters of other continents."

He warned that the nation and its people are endangered by the war and that all roads leading to the twin objectives—allied aid and quick strengthening of this country's defenses—"must be kept clear of obstructions."

"We will not slow down or detour," he said. "Signals and signals (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

CITY MAY FORBID FIREWORKS HERE

In all probability there will be no fireworks of any description sold or used in the city of Twin Falls this July 4th holiday, it was learned here this afternoon.

Mayor Joe Koehler announced that City Attorney Harry Benoit has been instructed to prepare an ordinance which will ban sale or use of fireworks within the city limits.

The ordinance will come before the city council next Monday evening and, from all indications, will be passed under suspension of rules and thus become law in 10 days.

The present ordinance allows the sale and shooting of fireworks from July 2 to 5, both dates inclusive. The new ordinance will prohibit sale or use even during that short period.

FDR GETS MORE DEFENSE FUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 11 (U.P.)—Voting millions more than President Roosevelt asked, the house appropriations committee today reported a $1,706,053,908 supplemental defense bill.

The committee added $310,731,898 to the latest funds sought by the President for the program to make America invulnerable.

The increase was largely accounted for in a $322,000,000 item to provide for increasing the enlisted strength of the army to 375,000 men from a present actual figure of 227,000. The President had not requested this fund. At the same time the committee cut $220,000 in naval requests.

This will bring total defense appropriations and authorizations at this session of congress to $5,193,787,592, including some deficiency funds now being spent. For fiscal 1941 the prospective total is $4,915,767,592.

The house meantime completed congressional action on the Vinson bill to increase the navy's authorized tonnage 11 per cent by adding 22 warships to the fleet. The bill now goes to the White House.

The new measure contained funds for starting construction of 68 new warships. Another 68 already are being built and 24 others were appropriated for in earlier measures.

The bill also carries funds for 3,000 army planes toward the goal of 9,000 army aircraft by Dec. 31, 1941.

Submarine Halts U. S. Liner With Refugees Aboard

WASHINGTON, June 11 (U.P.)—The state department today announced that the U. S. liner Washington, carrying over a thousand American refugees from Europe was halted by an unidentified submarine early today and threatened with destruction by torpedo.

The submarine came to the surface and twice ordered the captain of the Washington to abandon ship informing him the ship was to be torpedoed. On the second warning, after Capt. Harry Manning stuck to his bridge and kept advising the submarine that this was an American ship, the submarine gave Manning "10 minutes" to abandon his ship.

Passengers and crew had been ordered to lifeboats and some of the lifeboats were actually being swung over the side for launching. Manning, however, kept his blinker signal going, advising the submarine that the Washington was an American ship, finally after several minutes of silence, the submarine ordered Manning to proceed on his course.

"Thought you were another ship," the submarine commander at last signaled. "Please go on, Go on."

The episode took place off the northwest coast of Portugal. The Washington sailed yesterday from Lisbon, Portugal, en route to Galway, Ireland, to pick up more Americans before turning toward New York.

The dramatic story of how nearly 1,600 American lives hung in the balance for 10 minutes on the sporadic dots and dashes of the two ships' blinker systems was telephoned by Manning to the U. S. Lines offices in New York which advised the state department.

Manning said the Washington, shortly after the first encounter last midnight (EST) had sighted another submarine of unknown nationality but the second undersea boat had not stopped him.

The Washington sailed from New York on May 30—two days before schedule—at the request of the state department to pick up American refugees in Europe. All warning nations were notified of the vessel's mission and the German government took the occasion to charge that "Germany's enemies" were planning to attack the vessel.

Italy's First Offensive Move Will Be by Air or Submarine

By J. W. T. MASON (United Press War Expert)

Italy's first offensive movement against the allies, of any importance, may be expected to take the form of air and submarine operations. Italy supposedly has the largest fleet of undersea craft of any European power, and while her air corps is second class the allies are not at present in a position to concentrate large numbers of combat aircraft along the Italian frontier or in the Mediterranean.

At the same time Mussolini's principal objective must be the French army which has taken position along the new Alpine front. Until he meets his mountain foe, all other operations will be secondary.

Shrewd Strategy It was shrewd strategy for Mussolini to decide to concentrate his forces against France and not engage in immediate large scale movements to expand his African empire. He has not made the fatal mistake of dividing his strength. The fate of the European battlefields, for it is in Europe the war will be won or lost and the terms of the ensuing peace conference will be written, Mussolini's strategy calls for the complete defeat of France as its primary objective. If should, therefore, strike with all his power against the Alpine defenses which so powerfully guard the French frontier.

MELBOURNE, Australia—The Melbourne Herald, commenting today on President Roosevelt's speech last night, said: "The American speed-up of (supplies to the allies) may not be a formal declaration of war against the dictators but for all practical immediate purposes it is not short of it."

Late FLASHES

BERLIN, June 11 (U.P.)—German military sources asserted late today that German troops are approaching Paris both from the northwest and northeast and are now only 37 miles away in both directions.

LONDON, June 11 (U.P.)—A war office communique said today planes bombed and raided Malta several times during the morning. The war office said one German plane was destroyed in the attacks which were described as having caused only slight damage.

CHUNGKING, China, June 11 (U.P.)—The German Trans-Ocean news agency quarters were demolished and those of the United Press were seriously damaged today when a 500-pound bomb from a Japanese airplane fell a dozen yards from the hotel in which various news services are housed.

ROME, June 11 (U.P.)—Italian armed forces went into action today but the points at which attacks were made remained a military secret.

Authoritative sources said the initiative was taken by the Italians, who attacked shortly before dawn. Italy's declaration of war against Britain and France had become effective at midnight.

PARIS, June 11 (U.P.)—French troops are in battle position on the Alpine front ready to meet any Italian attack, the high command said today.

DELRAGE, June 11 (U.P.)—The newspaper Vreme reported today Italian planes had bombed the British naval base of Malta and that a big naval battle was in progress between Italian and allied fleets in the Mediterranean. The report lacked confirmation from other sources.

Nazis Pound Outer Defenses of Paris

By JOE ALEX MORRIS (United Press Foreign News Editor)

Germany pounded with tremendous power at the outer defenses of Paris today and Italy struck through the air at the British Mediterranean naval base of Malta.

Italian armies in Africa also were reported in Rome dispatches to have entered British and French Somaliland in East Africa and to have attacked by air the British port of Aden (in Arabia) in an effort to close the Red sea route to the Suez canal and the Mediterranean.

The Italians claimed to have advanced through the first line of French defenses toward the port of Djibuti, the French-held gateway to Italian Ethiopia.

Italian success in closing the Red sea would cut off the allied route from the far east to the Mediterranean.

The allies, encouraged by President Roosevelt's promise of material aid, fought back at a huge cost to the advancing Germans on a narrow front in France and continued heavy bombardment of German communications lines, including the Rouen and Seine area.

Nazis Near Paris But from Berlin, where the Nazis high command said a "bestial" French army was being pursued, it was reported that German troops were within 37 miles of Paris on both the northwest and northeast in the wake of German tanks that struck still closer to the French capital.

A "foot-by-foot" defense of the smoke-covered city of Paris was planned by the French.

The anger of British and French peoples against Italian Premier Benito Mussolini—denounced in London as a "jacket"—and the plunge of Hitler's legions toward the gates of Paris seemed, for the moment at least, to spur the allies to a peak of resistance and determination unequalled in earlier phases of the war.

Allies Counter-Attack Again and again, the allied armies counter-attacked before yielding ground on a semi-circular front that drew ever closer to the French capital and struck a wedge into the Argonne that Nazis said threatened the Maginot line from the rear.

PARIS PREPARES PARIS, June 11 (U.P.)—Under smoke almost as dense as last night's blackout, military authorities took over Paris for defense against German attack today as reports circulated that German tanks had approached the city's outskirts.

This morning the military government took over the city. The day broke with a black haze covering the city.

Suburbs Bombed (In London, the French embassy said the suburbs of Paris, especially on the south, were heavily bombed last night and that there was a great cloud of smoke over all the suburban districts.)

All highways leading to the city were barricaded. Preparations were being made to defend the capital street-by-street and block-by-block against German attack.

Airplanes, presumably Italian, blasted at the island of Malta, below the boot of Italy, several times during the morning without, the London war office said, doing any important damage. One "enemy" plane was shot down.

Naval Base Vital The island naval base is an important strategic point near the narrow bottle-neck of the Mediterranean, where communication lines of both the axis and allied powers are endangered by attack and counter-attack. It has been generally believed, however, that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for the allies to defend the island.

U. S. Army Probes Aliens in Panama PANAMA CITY, June 11 (U.P.)—The United States army has begun an exhaustive investigation into the background and credentials of all European-born aliens working in the Canal Zone, it was revealed. The investigation was said to concern largely the 2,600 employees working on army construction,

Leads Troops

King-Victor-Emmanuel was reported today to be in the field leading his army against the allies following yesterday's declaration of war by Italy.

Italian King In Field With Roman Army

ROME, June 11 (U.P.)—Diminutive King Victor Emmanuel was believed to be in the field with his troops as Italy's land, sea and air forces, at war with the allies since midnight, received secret battle orders today.

The king's proclamation appointing Premier Benito Mussolini "commander of all troops operating on all fronts," was dated "in the zone of operations," indicating Victor Emmanuel personally was in the field.

Romans meanwhile awaited word that 3,000,000 men in Italy's legions had attacked on land, at sea and in the air.

When the king appeared on the Quirinal palace balcony yesterday in response to the acclaim of huge throngs he was dressed in a field uniform, and it was learned that immediately after acknowledging the cheers he had gone to the zone of operations.

His proclamation as king-emperor left him nominally commander in chief, but it made Mussolini the active chief of all Italian armed forces.

Mussolini remained in Rome and presided over an extraordinary meeting of the council of ministers at Viminale palace.

There had been no hint of Mussolini's tactical plans. But it had been rumored the French Riviera, Corsica, Gibraltar and Djibouti, capital of French Somaliland and chief railroad outlet for Italian Ethiopia, would be attacked at once.

The United States embassy officially took over the interests of the British and French governments soon after Italy's declaration of war became effective.

Idahoans Urged To Support FDR

MOSCOW, June 11 (U.P.)—Idaho's congressional delegation today was urged to support President Roosevelt's program of aid to the allies.

Dudley-Loomis American Legion post, in telegrams to Sens. D. Worth Clark and John Thomas, and Reps. Henry Dworshak and Compton I. White, "unanimously endorsed" the President's defense program and urged support of "all proposals to aid the allied cause in the war to preserve our modern civilization."

COMMONS CHEER MENTION OF FDR PLANS FOR HELP

LONDON, June 11 (U.P.)—Mr. Clement Attlee, member of the inner war cabinet, said today that President Roosevelt's assurance that America's material resources will be placed at the disposal of the allies assures a victory for the allied cause.

Speaking for Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Attlee told the house of commons: "Mr. Roosevelt has vitally inspired the free peoples of Europe. His assurance that the material resources of his great nation will be placed at the disposal of the allies makes it inevitable that, however hard the road, the cause of civilization will in the end prevail."

Attlee, in addition to commenting on President Roosevelt's Charlottesville, Va., speech last night, told commons: "That Italy had entered the war like a jackal seeking to get some scraps from the kill of another beast."

That 24 Italian ships had already been seized and three others were scuttled by their own crews. "That Italy, like Germany, will feel the ever-tightening pinch of the allied blockade. That the allies were forced to withdraw from Norway because of the pressure on the French front."

Democracy, said Attlee, will answer the challenge of the dictators. "Within a few hours after the dictator of Italy made his dastardly announcement," he told commons, "the President of the United States delivered a message worthy of a great free republic."

Commons burst into rousing cheers at the reference to Mr. Roosevelt and the United States. Attlee declared Italian entrance into the war would not affect the stern resolution of the allies to prosecute it to final victory.

"Rather," he said, "it should increase our determination to strain every nerve to meet all the dangers and difficulties of this critical time in the sure knowledge that we fight not for ourselves alone but for the freedom of the human spirit."

Attlee asserted Premier Mussolini had chosen an "ignoble role" in offering "aid to the German barbarians in an attack on civilization."

"He expressed sorrow for the Italian people and said that Britain had no ill will for them. But that they, like the German people, would feel the pressure of the allied blockade."

With all Republicans invited to attend, the club will furnish coffee and dessert. The picnickers are to bring their own lunches.

Water Crisis Grows Worse, Mayor Warns

Because further survey this morning showed the water load situation is now a grave emergency, city officials this afternoon issued a drastic call for cooperation in rotating residential water use for sprinklings. Mayor Joe Koehler said "we are asking cooperation—but if we must take enforcement action, the city has an ordinance under which we could proceed in an emergency."

The council called for this action by residents: Persons residing on lots with even-numbered addresses, sprinkle on even-numbered days. Persons residing on lots with odd-numbered addresses, sprinkle on odd-numbered days.

"Word from the filter plant this morning," the mayor said, "shows the plant is crowding everything it can under the terrific load. We have instructed the superintendent to protect the city, if the load does not decrease, by reducing pressure one-half."

ITALY TO MOVE BY AIR AND SEA

(From Page One) decision. Mountain warfare involving mechanized troops and heavy artillery calls for exceptional use of petrol under modern conditions. The local supply is limited to 80,000 tons yearly from Albania. The war against the allies will probably call for more than that weekly.

Big Problem How Italy can continue to get this quantity if the war is prolonged may become Mussolini's greatest problem, overshadowing the additional problem of the value of Italian military progress. Germany can spare none and is drawing on Rumania for all the Rumanians can export. The allies are able to cut off supplies by sea. Italy's war may be described as a race of time against petrol, not to mention other essential raw materials which Mussolini will be unable to import. A quick offensive on a large scale, therefore, has become essential for Italy if Mussolini expects to play an important part in the outcome of the war.

On the northern French front the evacuation of Paris shows the allies intend to make Paris a fortress, as part of their defense line. The problem now facing Weyand is the gravest he has had to meet. It concerns the pace of his retreat. He is now calculating that the intensity of the German drive will have to diminish this week. If that happens his army will be safe. But if the Germans' encirclement movement develops sudden speed, especially to the east where the Germans are pushing toward the Marne river, the allies forces may find their retreat exit to the south has become too narrow for a complete retirement.

Mrs. White was fined $1 and costs, and the state's summary of costs showed approximately $102.

Tentative choice for the inaugural assignment is Don Bates, former editor of the China Press, who will tour China and Japan this summer and will bring back first-hand account of the Asiatic danger zone.

Checks for memberships in the Town Hall, according to Mr. Cederquist, are now being received by Secretary Vivian Carlson at C. of C. offices. The roster will be strictly limited to 400 members because of limited auditorium facilities.

No Vigilantes But Whiskers Still Wanted

Emphatic reminder that the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the merchants' bureau want Twin Falls males to wear whiskers of various sorts—despite abandonment of vigilante operations—was issued here this afternoon by the Jaycee board committee. "Contrary to all rumors," said Chairman George Detweiler, "all male citizens 21 years of age or over are expected to wear whiskers or legitimate exemption buttons between now and the Magic City jubilee. We're asking this as a measure of cooperation in making the jubilee an outstanding and successful event."

The chairman said that although the "often abrupt" methods of a vigilante group are not being utilized now, "we feel sure Twin Falls men will aid us in making the jubilee a success." Vigilante enforcement was dropped, he said, because the Jaycees felt that a voluntary basis would bring wide cooperation.

"Contrary to the same rumors," he declared, "the cash prizes will definitely be awarded at the jubilee." Committee members urged that men wearing the exemption badges—funds from which go into the jubilee treasury—show them "where they can easily be seen."

Elvilah Jensen Weds at Wendell

This Is Very Odd—Lawyer Asks Pay Cut

"This is in the same class as those 'man bites dog' items. It's a request for a reduction in salary. R. P. Parry, attorney for the school district, asked the board of trustees last night to cut his retainer fee in half "because the district's affairs have gotten back to routine and my services aren't required as much as formerly." During the extensive building program the board regularly needed advice of its attorney and since then Mr. Parry has attended practically all meetings. He told the board he will attend hereafter—if it's all right with the trustees—only when specific matters require his presence. It was all right with the trustees. So the original $125 fee goes back to the original $125 annually, in place of the $250 to which it was boosted.

NAZIS CLAIM FRENCH BEATEN BUT STILL FIGHTING

GERMAN TROOPS ARE THREAT TO MAGINOT FORTS

By FREDERICK C. OEBISNER
BERLIN, June 11 (UP)—The German offensive into France was described by Nazis today as a "pursuit of the beaten but still bitterly fighting allied armies" on a wide front sweeping toward Paris and threatening the Maginot line from the rear.

The high command communique said a vast battle was "proceeding in full force" from the English channel to the Luxembourg frontier and that the Germans were making progress in bitter fighting east of Rheims.

In this sector, according to the newspaper Macht Ausgabe, the "advance of German troops between Soissons and Sedan has succeeded to a great extent."

Battle Important

"The importance of this battle front is indicated," it added, "by the fact that further progress of the German attack would make it impossible (for the French) to hold prominent positions in the Maginot line."

The B. Z. Ammitzsch bitterly criticized the French for preparing to defend the city of Paris and warned that "Paris thereby has brought upon itself the fearful responsibility and guilt that can never be made good."

Resistance Cut

It was claimed that except along the eastern sector of the front the French no longer were able to continue determined resistance.

The attempted German drive in the east not only would—if successful—flank the Maginot line but would carry the Germans southward in the general direction of the Italian frontier where Italy may make an attack over the border.

A communique issued from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said the right wing and center of the German attacking armies were pursuing the "beaten French army" and the pursuit was "proceeding without halt."

Allies Bombed

The German air force bombed the allied rear communications and succeeded in hitting and partly destroying several bridges across the Marne and the lower Oise, hindering what the Germans described in their communique as the French retreat.

The high command said the French powers of resistance were beginning to dwindle because of heavy losses.

German dive bombers, the communique asserted, repeated their attacks on harbor piers and docks at Le Havre, destroying locks and sinking one destroyer and two 10,000 ton transports.

Rex Tolman Wed In Utah Nuptials

MURTAUGH, June 11 (Special)—Rex C. Tolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Tolman, was married to Miss Vera Dunn, Logan, Utah, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Dunn, at Logan L. D. S. temple Friday.

Mr. Quinney, president of the temple, married the couple. The bride's gown was long white satin with a corsage of orange blossoms. After the wedding, about 20 relatives and close friends gathered at the Dunn home for a dinner.

Mrs. Tolman completed high school at Logan, attended Utah State agricultural college three years, spent two years in the eastern states on a mission for the L. D. S. church and at Provo one year, where she graduated this year.

Mr. Tolman completed high school at Murtaugh, two years at Pocatello, southern branch, one year at Moscow, two years in the eastern states on a mission, where he met his bride, and two years at Provo where he received his B. A. degree among 400 graduates from Brigham Young university.

The couple returned to Murtaugh Friday, with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Tolman, who left last week to attend the graduation exercises and the wedding, and will visit a few days before leaving for Michigan on a honeymoon trip.

Departing Pastor And Wife Feted

FILER, June 11 (Special)—A no-host dinner was given Sunday at the Methodist church basement by the congregation of the church honoring Rev. and Mrs. Irvin S. Motz, who will leave this week for their new home at LaGrande, Ore., and Rev. E. L. White, the new pastor. Rev. White was unable to attend.

The dinner was served buffet style and the guests and congregation, more than 150 in number, were seated at long tables.

Rev. and Mrs. Motz were presented with an attractive gift from the church and Sunday school and Mrs. Motz was presented with a gift from the Mary Glenn class by Mrs. H. E. Hammerquist, a member. Earl Ramsey fittingly spoke a few words of appreciation for the work of Rev. and Mrs. Motz in the Filer community and presented the gift from the church and Sunday school. Rev. Motz voiced their thanks for the gift.

The Methodist choir, with Mrs. D. H. Shover accompanying, sang one number, and Rev. G. E. Deal, a former pastor, pronounced the benediction.

Funeral Services For W. M. Litson

BURLEY, June 11 (Special)—Funeral services for Wanda Mattheus Litson, former Albion State Normal student and teacher at Blackfoot who died here last week, were held Friday at the L. D. S. tabernacle with Bishop Gerald Marchant of Springdale ward officiating.

Marion Severe, Oakley, sang "Because," and George Johnson offered the opening prayer. A male quartet sang "Sometime We'll Understand," and a trio sang "The Vagrant Chant." Speakers were A. C. Tucker of Wapello, where the deceased had taught school, William Barrett, an uncle, H. O. Hall and Bishop Marchant. Raymond Johnson sang "My Faith in Thee." Former Bishop Frederick Christiansen offered benediction.

Burial, under direction of Vern McCulloch of the Burley funeral home, was in Burley cemetery with George Hymas dedicating the grave. Casket attendants were Max Mattheus, Welles Koyle, Walt Sasse, Hyram Johnson, Ralph West and Merle Braden. Honorary attendants and flower girls were students from Mr. Litson's classes at Blackfoot who attended the funeral in a body.

SAVE ON WATER, RESIDENTS URGED

Members of the city council, after hearing a report last night by I. G. Satterlee, superintendent of the filter plant, today called on local water users to "rotate, so far as use of water for outdoor purposes is concerned."

Under the plan those persons residing in even numbered houses (such as even numbered 1020 Blue Lakes north) would water lawns and gardens on even numbered days (such as June 12) while those residing in odd numbered houses (such as 1021 Blue Lakes north) would sprinkle on odd numbered days of the month (such as June 11).

Voluntary Cooperation

Councilmen pointed out that there is no law compelling citizens to do this but a plea was made that this action be taken.

Satterlee said that yesterday, during a two-hour period, water at a rate of more than 9,000,000 gallons an hour was being forced through the mains.

"If this keeps up we'll either have to cut the pressure, with the resultant hardship, or start pouring raw, untreated water through. Both steps would be bad anyway you look at it," he said.

Such rotation of water should be carried on until about July 15, at which time the new 5,000,000 gallon storage reservoir will be completed and an adequate reserve of properly treated water will then be available.

Ask for Allevy

At last night's session, a group of property owners, represented by Lionel T. Campbell, attorney, petitioned the council for establishment of an alley located parallel to Seventh avenue east between Blue Lakes north and Ash street. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Discussion was also heard on plans to tap a ditch and make a water pipe line for irrigation purposes along Ash street.

Water for Cabins

Councilmen passed a resolution which provides that before water from city mains will be delivered to tourist cabins, or any other cabins rented for temporary occupancy, one meter should be installed for each 50-foot lot or 50-foot frontage in which the cabins are located.

Report of Jessie Fraser, librarian, was read and approved. The report, among other things, showed that number of books in the library increased from 17,939 on May 1, 1939 to 19,898 on May 1, 1940. New registrations during the year totaled 1,187. Receipts during the year came to $13,691.08 while disbursements amounted to $12,217.25.

Three-fourths of the tin and three-fifths of the rubber used in the U. S. has come from British Malaya.

Italy Takes Two Million Men, Air Force and Fleet Into War

By United Press

Italy brought to Germany's side an army of probably 2,000,000 men, a first line air force of 2,500 to 3,500 planes and a navy of six dreadnaughts, 21 cruisers, 110 submarines and 200 to 300 minor warships.

Italian forces are deployed in three principal theaters:

The northern frontier along the chain of Alps between France and Italy.

At key points in the Mediterranean.

In Africa.

Troops Concentrated

The largest concentration of Italian troops, possibly a million men, is believed to be along the so-called Litorio line on the French frontier.

The second great troop concentration is in Africa. Italy has probably 250,000 to 300,000 white and native troops in Libya and another 100,000 or more in Italian east Africa and Ethiopia.

Other Italian troops are in Albania where 50,000 and possibly considerably more are stationed; the Dodecanese islands off the Turkish coast with a garrison of 75,000 to 100,000 men; and Sardinia and Sicily where forces of unknown strength are disposed.

New Battleships

The Italian navy is presumed to be largely in Mediterranean and Adriatic waters. It includes two brand-new 35,000-ton battleships—the Littorio and the Vittorio Veneto which mount nine 15-inch guns—and four old but modernized battleships. There are 21 cruisers with 14 or 15 building, 110 submarines with 25 or more building, 130 destroyers and gunboats and 100 or more speedy motor mosquito boats.

The air force has a total strength of 5,000 to 6,000 planes of which 2,000 to 3,500 are first line ships. There are 300 planes a month which might be expanded.

Dakin edited the Aronaut, student newspaper, this year and worked four years on the paper and two years on the Gem.

Miss Williams is a member and president of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Cardinal Key, national service honorary. She is a former president of Spurs, sophomore women's organization and was secretary of her class in 1938. A member of the Panhellenic council and the Women's Athletic association, Miss Williams worked on all three student publications. She was elected national president of Cardinal Key recently.

Oakley Resident Paid Last Honor

BURLEY, June 11 (Special)—Funeral services for Raphael Alva Tanner, 65, resident of Oakley for 50 years, were held Thursday at Oakley tabernacle with Bishop Lewis R. Critchfield officiating.

Girls' chorus sang "I Need Thee Every Hour," and Charles G. Larson offered the opening prayer. Speakers were William T. Harper, Charles S. Clark and Bishop Critchfield. Other musical numbers included a solo, "Just Awearying for You," and a girls' chorus number, "I Know My Heavenly Father Knows." Thomas Mabeey offered benediction.

Burial was in Oakley cemetery under direction of Vern McCulloch of the Burley funeral home.

THE SPIRIT OF 76

Up in Scappoose (that's not some thing Indians carry on their backs, it's a town in Oregon), there's one of the sweetest smells you ever met—Mr. and Mrs. J. Knusel, by name.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Knusel took a 12-thousand mile automobile trip through Switzerland, France, Germany, and Italy. They had a grand time, saw a lot of country, and paid as high as $1 per gallon for gasoline.

Then the war-scare started, and the Knusels started for home in the Italian Liner Rex along with 1608 other folks. The Rex was intended to accommodate 7000 Well, anyway, now they're back home and mighty glad of it.

But what particularly intrigued me about this year is this. They started out with a brand new Dodge. And to be sure, the Dodge got only the best lubrication, you know what they did?

Yep, that's right—look along enough Triton Motor Oil for the whole blooming trip! I think that's the finest testimonial I've heard for a long time.

You see Triton forms so very little carbon itself that it allows your motor to burn up old carbon left by other oils, and blow it out the exhaust. This is usually accomplished within two to three thousand miles. Ping changes to Purr, and everybody's happy. Naturally, if you start out, as Mr. Knusel did, with Triton—you never do have any carbon worries. Try Triton next time. You can both feel and hear the difference.

AIR CONDITIONED? YOU BET! (But It Isn't Always Practical)

Keeping cool during the hot summer months would be no trouble at all if you had no more to worry about than he has... BUT unfortunately it isn't so easy for grown-ups. If you work in a down town store, when you shop down town or during real hot days if you simply stay at home, keeping cool in warm weather presents a real problem... BUT it is a problem that can easily be solved by the installation of a Shasta Air Conditioning unit.

SHASTA Air Conditioning Will Give You Practical Summer Comfort (REMEMBER THE HEAT WAVE LAST JUNE)

We're not trying to scare you but we do want to remind you of the hot weather we had last June and of the hot weather that will soon be here. The articles below are excerpts taken from the Idaho Evening Times dated June 29th and 30th 1939.

THRONGS JAM POOL AS MERCURY REACHES 100

Bathers thronged the municipal swimming pool today as hot weather held Twin Falls and south Idaho in a grip only slightly less uncomfortable this afternoon than yesterday's 100-degree heat.

The 100 mark Thursday afternoon was the high-point of the year here, although the mercury had hovered in the 90s for several days.

The torrid wave continued today but with slight easing, and the official reading at the bureau of entomology at 1:30 p. m. was 85 degrees.

Low temperature this morning, official records show, stood one degree above the low of yesterday, being 56 above. The forecast calls for generally fair weather tonight, Saturday and Sunday with "slightly cooler" conditions tonight.

Other official readings today showed the temperature here at 12 noon to be 81 degrees.

Bill Powers, manager of the Harmon park municipal swimming pool, said that yesterday, during the 100 degree heat wave, the largest crowd of the season jammed the tank. With the temperature threatening to reach the "high spots" again today he predicted that the crowd would be "just as large."

Mercury Hits 95 as Torrid Wave Strikes

With strictly summer temperatures being recorded in Twin Falls, local citizens were getting their first taste of "sweltering" this year.

Yesterday the temperature reached a high of 96 above and today at 1:15 p. m. the bureau of entomology thermometer stood at 95 above with every indication that before evening it might mount to the 100 degree mark.

Low official temperature yesterday was 44 degrees while low this morning was 55 degrees.

With the area getting its first taste of summer this

Yes, We Can Help!

The wringing of hands never did anybody any good. Confronted with the desolation of all northern Europe, many people in the United States have been reduced to a shellshocked state in which they are able to do nothing but wring their hands and utter feeble cries.

It is true that the United States has been caught in a position where it can do nothing about the military campaign now racking France and threatening Britain, even if it wanted to. In respect to that we are helpless. We shall not always be helpless, but for the moment we are.

But this does not mean that we can do nothing. We can be of definite help, without compromising neutrality, without risking a life. We can help to relieve the suffering, clothe the naked, feed the starving.

So calloused have we become during the past few years, so used to the bombing and starving and dying, in Ethiopia, in China, in Finland, in Manchuria, Poland and Spain, that we do not react, do not respond as we once did.

But we must fight this coarsening of our sensibilities. No less tragic than the men who are dying on the battlefronts, in some ways more tragic, are the refugees. In France, there is now one refugee for every seven inhabitants. That is the estimate of a worker for the American Friends' Service committee, the Quaker organization which has done such splendid service for relief in many lands.

Try to imagine it! Suppose that the United States, in addition to its present relief and defense burdens, had 18,570,000 refugees suddenly placed in its care. That would be in the same proportion as the burden the French are now bearing. They have had a half million Spanish refugees for more than a year. They received 2,000,000 from Alsace-Lorraine at the very beginning of the war. And now the tide of misery from Belgium and Holland and their own eastern border has come rolling in.

This burden they must bear even while they fight for their lives with their backs against Paris. Surely America, whatever it eventually does about the war itself, cannot be deaf to the cry of these millions of miserable waifs, stripped of everything but life itself, and that ebbing away in the face of unspeakable privations.

The Red Cross, the Friends' Service committee, the Norwegian Relief and scores of other organizations are doing the best they can. The response to the Red Cross' appeal for $20,000,000 is nothing to be proud of in its initial stages. This appeal must not fail.

Whatever else we lose in the grim coming years, let it never be said of us that we lost our hearts!

Fellow Travelers, Attention!

Nobody has ever laid down a better rule of guidance on Communist "fellow traveler" organizations than Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle in resigning from the National Lawyers' guild.

"It is now obvious," said he, "that the present management of the National Lawyers' guild is not prepared to take any stand which conflicts with the Communist party line."

So Berle resigned. He has laid down a fair test. Many people of liberal and progressive mind have joined organizations which professed certain objectives with which they were in sympathy. The organizations were for "peace" or "democracy" or "civil liberties," or what not, all perfectly laudable objectives.

Then, in one test after another, these members found the organizations committed time after time to courses which happened to coincide exactly with the Communist party program. In short, the Communists followed the "democratic line" as long as it attracted liberal members, but never when it conflicted with Moscow's direction.

When liberal members of such groups become convinced, as Berle did, that the organization is such that it will never take a stand contrary to Moscow dictates, then the thing to do is to get out, as Berle did. For when that is the case, it matters little whether direct Communist control can be mathematically shown. The organization's possible usefulness to democracy and to the American republic has ended.

WITH THE Gentleman in the Third Row

A Fable—Not Too Cheery

Dear Pot Shots: Bed time story-modern: Once upon a time there was a town that had no policemen. No laws. In this town there lived several boys. Some little. Some big.

One of the big boys was very poor, but very ambitious. He worked very hard, and became very strong. He practiced and practiced until he made the very best slingshot he could possibly make. He carried stones and made a fortress around his house. And kept on working.

All the other boys watched and wondered. Just wondered. But some of the smaller boys lived in nice houses and had green lawns and cellars full of fine food. The big boy was hungry so he took his slingshots and ran the little boys away from their nice homes, and he ate and he ate until he became very big and strong.

And some of the other boys still wondered, but they didn't do anything about it. Then he came to the door of one of the big boys and said "Give me your house," and the boy said "No." Then he said "I will take it." Then the rumpus started.

Now in another part of town lived another boy on a large estate situated on an island in the bay. He had a great house full of lots of wonderful things. But the boy that lived there was not very strong, for he played a lot of the time. And didn't have time to exercise and anyway his grandmother had told him that it was very naughty to fight with other boys.

And they wouldn't bother him if he stayed on his island. But when he saw what the Big Boy was doing he became very frightened. And began to gather rocks and exercise too. And he became very sore and stiff and he didn't like it.

"Was that all of the story?" "Come around about 1945." "And I'll tell you the rest if I'm still here." —Bystander

AN EYE FOR A GAL BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

YESTERDAY! Rossy asks and gets permission to go home for a weekend. He stops at the ball diamond, recalls the game in which his father was killed. How the pitcher threw a bean ball, how they left the injured McGee in the grandstand while the crowd chased Stock Tolliver. Later, at Rossy's home, Steve Hogg tells him a strange story.

CHAPTER VI "I'M going to give you the straight of all that day's mess, Rossy," Steve Hogg said sepulchraly. "As I live, as I hope to be struck dead if this ain't the truth, I'll tell you. To begin with, Rossy, this here Tolliver what's the head of the school you're going to, is the same feller that killed your pappy."

"How do you know, Cousin Steve?" Rossy demanded, his anger rising. "Doc Tollivar's been mighty white to me—" "I know, I know!" Hogg hastened to say. "That's the point. How come he's giving you a party room, and a good bed, and a job, and keeping you just about it, here from Christmas on, when the ball-playing season won't open till spring?"

"Don't you have to hire a man before somebody else snatches him?" "Yes, and when you've beamed a boy's pappy, you might could buy him off with a bone with a little gristle on it for him to chew in place of meat! It don't take much when the pup ain't never had no meat to speak of!"

"Well, I think you're fixing to cook up a mess of lies. I'd thank you just to shut up." HOGG glowered. "Okay, if that's the way you feel about it, then here it is. I happen to know that just before that fatal ball game this here Tolliver boy come back in these parts when his pappy, Ham Tolliver, come home from Texas to die with lung disease. Ham had left out after Mark McAfee was ambushed. That was years ago but I can recollect it, just barely."

"Well, the day before, or maybe a couple evenings before the game, they was a meeting at old Ham Tolliver's house. The Tollivers was all there. It was about the trouble your pappy and Dink Tolliver had about that hog getting into Dink's corn beyond the ridge."

"You mean where paw's land— I mean the land you have now—line-fenced the Dink Tolliver place?" "That's right. That's the place Line fence fight. Stock Dink was in somebody else's crop. Dink was sick and tired of it, and like it or no, the Tollivers always did think your pappy was tied up with the ambushing of them two Tolliver boys the past Christmas, even after the big camp meeting. So there was this here meeting to draw his who would take care of your pappy in case trouble started."

"You mean somebody that was at this meeting actually told you that this was the way of it? That they drew lots to kill my father?" Hogg's crooked face lighted up with a hard grin. "Bub, you finally got wit enough to figure out what I'm telling you? That's exactly what I'm trying to ram down your throat. I ain't at liberty to name no names. But I'd swear to the truth of this on a stack of Bibles a mile high. They drew lots that night who was to kill your pappy, and this Stock Tolliver was right there, and he drew the name, and the game come along and he beamed your daddy!"

"My—my heaven!" Rossy said, his eyes narrow. The freight played into the depths of them. "Now you see how it was? Of course, Stock Tolliver done it that way so's to make it seem an accident. Now and then somebody does git his brains busted out in a ball game. So, to kiver things up from the start, he pretended to be wild. They always said of him he was a great pitcher when he could find the plate. But when he was off, he was wild as a fool. That day he was wild. But when he wanted to kill your daddy, he knew where to put that ball!"

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON Evening Times Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, June 11—Before President Roosevelt gets action on his program to train a new supply of skilled labor for the rearmament program, he will have to settle what apparently is going to be a scrap between two important branches of the federal government.

These are the national youth administration, headed by Aubrey Williams, and the office of education, headed by J. W. Studebaker. Each group is eager to see its own plan adopted. Barring at the moment is that Williams is likely to win out, since he is supposed to be closer to the administration. Studebaker's ace card, on the other hand, is that his plan is all set up, ready to go, with greater speed and less expense.

Back of the argument is a basic disagreement over whether this training program is primarily a youth program or an educational program. COULD TURN OUT 180,000 MEN BY FALL Studebaker's office points out that the nation already has a billion dollar plant ready to do all the training or re-training that may be needed—the technical high schools and other vocational training schools of the regular public school system over the country. They are equipped with exactly the sort of tools and machines needed to prepare men for work in airplane factories, auto factories or machine shops.

Furthermore, for the past 10 years the office of education has fostered special courses to train craftsmen in the technique of these teachers on call. Most of them are men now working a regular eight-hour day in industry and could put in a four-hour teaching shift easily afterward. By manning all of these schools and running them at capacity, the Studebaker office figures, the nation could turn out 150,000 single-skilled men, ready for factory jobs, by the end of this summer. By one year from now it could turn out 750,000 skilled men, in addition to the 800,000 regular students in the schools. To do all this, it is estimated, would cost $63,000,000.

Point that is emphasized is that this could start immediately, and that no costly and time-delaying purchases of new machinery or construction of new buildings would be needed. NYA ARGUES YOUTH CAN'T AFFORD SCHOOL National youth administration officials say that this wouldn't absorb the young men who are anxious to get training for jobs in the "mobilized" industries because the bulk of those youths can't afford to go to school. NYA is already employing 134,000 young men who are getting training of the type needed in shops. As much as $100,000,000 of the quarter-billion earmarked for a youth-training program could be allotted for the job, NYA figures it could expand its training facilities to include 450,000 youths. Program couldn't start immediately, since NYA has neither the plants nor the tools to accommodate more apprentices than it is already training. But NYA points out that local governments and industries are offering to turn over to it unused buildings. To all of this, the office of education retorts that buying the needed machinery would simply add to the already-existing bottleneck in the machine tool business, and that it isn't simply youth that needs the training. On the contrary, it says, there are many thousands of skilled workers whose skills have gone rusty through idleness; brief "refresher" courses, it is argued, would restore these men to their old competence.

JOB for JUNE Graduates

By HARRY B. MITCHELL President, U. S. Civil Service Commission Uncle Sam is America's largest employer. On his payroll are nearly a million American citizens.

About one-third of these are in the Postal Service. Nearly 90,000 work in the department of agriculture. Contrary to public belief, seven of every eight federal employees work outside of Washington, D. C.

Every year more than half a million persons file applications for civil service positions. Less than half of these pass the examinations. Many who fail to pass do so because of inadequate preparation. In addition to clerical and trades examinations, the civil service commission holds many examinations for professional and scientific positions. These positions require the same kind of training and experience which thoughtful citizens demand of professional workers in private employment.

When you go to a private physician you want one who is competent to do a good job. That is what Uncle Sam expects of his employees. About 40,000 persons receive federal appointments each year. The examination requirements are practical. They are also sufficiently high to obtain employees fully competent to render satisfactory service to the American people. When a person is appointed to a federal position, there are a number of ways to get ahead. These are not particularly different from the requirements met by successful individuals in private life.

1. Do your present job well. Counties individuals in the federal service hold high administrative positions who not many years ago were minding a typewriter or adding columns of figures. They did good work. Promotions followed. Today they reap the reward of doing their first job better than their competitors. 2. Prepare for the job ahead. Some day, perhaps soon, the job ahead will be vacant. Then the boss will look around for someone to fill it. The position may require special knowledge; get this knowledge. It may require training in a business school or university; get it. Find out what you need to fill the job ahead and prepare accordingly. Be ready when the opportunity comes. 3. Always be dependable. When Elbert Hubbard wrote "A Message to

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

MAKES COFFEE BETWEEN HYMNS; LOVES A LAUGH If you liked Arthur E. Hertzler's runaway "Horse and Buggy Doctor" (and who didn't?) likely you'll be critical of any book promising to stand beside it. But George B. Gilbert's "Forty Years a Country Preacher" (Harpers: $2.75) does just that. It is one of the saltiest, earthiest, funniest yet most soul-searching books to hit the shelves in years, certainly from the minister. Here is a Conocolet clergyman who makes coffee for his congregation between hymns, furnishes homes for newweds, turns down better salaries to stay with his rural folk, has a grand time generally being poor, and who writes as fearfully as he lives. For instances these excerpts: Now it is my firm belief that pay suppers, and indeed any sort of church function with a fee attached to it, creates obstacles to reaching the people that the church was primarily meant to reach. Well, at Durham, I found a handful of women who had been running these pay suppers for a good many years. The Ladies' Aid must have had nearly $1,000 in the bank from this source, but as the proceeds from the suppers mounted, the church and Sunday school attendance dwindled. In a way it makes me think of the man who stepped up to the receiving window of a bank and said, "Here is some Ladies' Aid money." The cashier thought he said, "Here is the ladies' hen money." So he answered promptly, "Well, the old hens have done pretty well this winter, haven't they?" It is easy to hurt people's feelings at a funeral. I sometimes feel that many ministers have as little tact and sense as the young curate making his first round of calls, who said to a weeping widow, standing beside her husband's coffin, "Don't cry. Don't feel so bad, my dear woman. This is only the shell—the nut has gone to Heaven."

Garca" he emphasized a daily need in every American office and work shop—dependability. When you give your word, keep it. When you are assigned to a task, finish it in a satisfactory way. Get a reputation for being dependable and it will bring cash returns and satisfaction returns. 4. Safeguard your health. An employee who is constantly reporting sick is not much of a business asset. Modern competition requires the services of energetic employees capable of regularly doing a full day's work. This is possible only if his most precious possessions—his health. 5. Get along with people. This is a social world. Most workers must mingle with other workers. There is a knack in dealing with others in a businesslike but friendly manner. The employee who can at all times get along with his associates has mastered one important element of success.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? White bread, meat, potatoes? If it's little wonder you're constipated. You probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It's a kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a movement. If this is your trouble, may we suggest a crumbly, toasted cereal—Kellogg's All- Bran—for breakfast. All- Bran is a natural food, not a medicine—but it's particularly rich in "bulk." Being so, it can help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Eat All- Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Trio Entertains For Bride-Elect. At Sweeley Home

A trio of hostesses, Mrs. Everett M. Sweeley and her daughters, Miss Jean Sweeley and Miss Anna Sweeley, presided at a charmingly arranged courtesy this afternoon at their home on Blue Lakes boulevard for Miss Louise Kregel, soon to wed.

Twenty-four guests, intimate friends of the honoree, were invited to the event. Roses decorated the quaint luncheon tables, and the bridal theme was featured in the plate markers.

Garden flowers in profusion, with roses predominating, decked the home.

Mrs. C. H. Kregel, mother of the honoree, was among the guests. Miss Kregel was presented with a guest favor. Contract bridge diverted the guests during the afternoon.

Mrs. Clara Barnett played the wedding march. Closing the program, Miss Peggy Strain and Miss Wilbur Taggard presented a duet. Refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Strain, Mrs. Massey and Mrs. Faye Bailey.

Another daughter, Miss Barbara Beymer, and Miss Kathryn Graves assisted the hostess in serving. Guests were seated at quartet tables centered with roses. Numerous games and contests occupied the group during the afternoon.

Bride wore an afternoon dress of navy and white, with a corsage of sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Irene Friedericks, sister of the bridegroom, who was attired in pink. Aaron Reese, a cousin of the bridegroom, acted as his attendant.

The home was decorated with an abundance of roses. Following the ceremony, refreshments were served from a table covered with a yellow cloth, centered with yellow roses, and set with amber crystal.

Later in the afternoon the couple left on a short wedding trip, and after June 18, they will be at home to their friends in an apartment at 128 South Oakley avenue. Mr. Friedericks is an interior decorator and painter.

Bride graduated from Burley high school in 1937 and attended Boise business university. Before her marriage she was employed in the office of the state reemployment service here.

Production Manager Endorses Gay Comedy

Interest of Twin Falls community in "Petticoat Fever," which opens a three-night engagement Wednesday evening, is matched by the enthusiasm of those who are associated in the production of lively comedy, and their appreciation of the competence of the cast.

Mrs. Ethel Warberg, who has been identified with dramatic presentations throughout her several years' residence in Twin Falls, and who has had extensive theatrical experience herself, is especially enthusiastic over the play.

Presented With Finesse "I consider 'Petticoat Fever' one of the best amateur productions I have ever seen, and I am indeed proud to offer it as our first Twin Falls Community theater association production," Mrs. Warberg said today, as production manager.

"Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Alworth it has attained a finesse which will really surprise and delight Twin Falls." She continued, "The members of the cast I cannot praise too highly for their clever interpretation of their roles and the smooth manner in which they 'put across' the sparkling comedy."

Mrs. Tom O. Peavey is in charge of lighting effects; Miss Agnes Schubert is stage manager; Miss Alma Carson, properties, and Mrs. Buell Warner, costumes.

The play will be presented at the Twin Falls recreation center, and a portion of the proceeds will be diverted to that group's activities. Parent-Teacher associations and others interested in the recreation center, and in the improvement of amusement activities in Twin Falls, are among the purchasers of tickets to the comedy.

Tickets at Perrine Tickets are available at the Perrine hotel, where a ticket booth is being maintained, and will also be sold at the door each evening.

Those attending the play are asked to make reservations in advance where possible so that they may be able to attend the production on the night of their preference. Seating capacity is limited for each evening, and no seats are reserved.

1-YEAR CONTRACT FOR SCHOOL BUS

Contract to renew two school bus routes had been awarded today to Warberg Bros. by the Twin Falls school board, which significantly limited the agreement to a one-year basis.

The move will bring expiration of all 10 bus contracts at the conclusion of the next school year. By then the trustees will have thoroughly studied the possibility of a district-owned system of buses and will have decided whether to inaugurate a program of that type, whether to continue with the present type of private service, or whether to retain private service but require considerably larger buses.

$8.75 Daily Per Bus
The bid price on two used buses, as submitted by George Warberg, the only bidder, was $8.75 per bus per day. Warberg already holds the contracts expiring this year, plus one other. Magel Automobile company has the other seven bus routes under contract.

Formal action to keep faith with its announcement to school district voters was taken by the board last night. The 1940 levy was fixed at 18.3 mills, unchanged from the 1939 tax despite voter approval of an additional four-mill general fund special levy.

Farm Camp Payment
Government action to make a payment in lieu of taxes on the new federal farm labor camp will give the school district a part of the expense it expects to incur in teaching children of camp residents. Supt. Homer M. Davis advised the trustees. Although government property cannot be taxed, the payment in place of tax will total $1,388.90 to the district if 1940 tax levels are the same as last year's.

Assessed valuation of the camp property and land, as estimated by the farm security administration, would be $84,000. Assessed value is usually about 40 per cent of actual worth.

Falls Far Short.
Board members took no action on the plan for payment in lieu of taxes, since no vote was called for. Several trustees, however, indicated that the $1,388.90 payment would fall far short of the actual expense the school district will probably face if the number of camp children reaches expectations. Employment of five new instructors, as recommended by the superintendent to fill vacancies left by recent resignations, was approved by the board. The instructors include Wendell Lawrence, high school English; Robert Joice, junior high art; Florence Rhodes, junior high physical education; Leona Thorsted and Marlene Rogstad, elementary.

Corra Jensen Leaves
Among the resignations which opened the positions was that of Miss Corra Jensen, who is leaving to continue advanced study in college. Substantial savings in the cost of books were made possible for eighth graders when the trustees endorsed Supt. Davis' proposal that the district-owned book plan on a fee basis be extended to that grade. The plan already includes grades one through seven.

Mr. Davis estimated that the new move will require about $280 cash outlay, and books can be paid for in one year of fees. Good second-hand books will be purchased.

Jerome Churches

End Bible School

JEROME, June 11 (Special)—Friday at the Jerome Methodist church, the joint closing exercises were held for the Bible school children of both the Presbyterian and the Methodist churches. The children have just concluded a two weeks' Bible school session. Processional march was followed by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," sung by the entire group. Salutes were given to the American flag, the Christian flag and to the Bible. Opening prayer was offered by Rev. Albert E. Martin followed by the repeating of the Lord's prayer by the congregation. "In My Heart There Rings a Melody" was sung by the junior and intermediate groups followed by memory verses, readings and songs by the beginners.

A play, "The Wise Bunnie's" was given by the primary department who also sang songs and gave memory selections. Memory catechism was given by the junior department followed by the repeating of the Beatitudes by the intermediate departments. Two plays were given by the junior and intermediate departments on temperance. Closing song was participated in by the entire group and benediction by Rev. W. F. Willis, pastor of the Presbyterian church concluded the program.

One hundred and 50 attended, and later went to the class rooms where exhibits of handwork and other articles made by the children were on display.

Two Drown When Boat Overturns

The victims were Edwin Hansen, 24, and Clements Hurst, 20, both of St. Anthony. # Pageant, 3 Parades Set For Busy Jubilee Slate

Celebration—and then more celebration—will be provided residents of Twin Falls and the Magic Valley during the Magic City Jubilee which will be staged here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, July 3, 4 and 5. It was announced this afternoon by F. P. Gorman, director in charge of the pageant which will form a major highlight.

The historical cavalcade will in all probability prove to be the feature attraction, the cavalcade being presented on each of the three nights at the Lincoln stadium under the lights. A cast of some 500 persons will take part in the production, to be held in conjunction with Idaho's 50 years of statehood observance.

Idaho Historical Events
The spectacle is woven around events of Idaho for the past 100 years and the highlights have been taken from the essays submitted by Twin Falls high school students and the book, "History of Idaho," published by Caxton.

Rehearsals for the pageant started last night at the L. D. S. church recreation hall, located at the corner of Fourth avenue east and Second street east.

In addition to this production, various other events and amusements will be staged, including a concession "midway."

Three Parades
A parade will be held in the downtown section on each of the celebration days. Included will be a military parade, a children's pet parade and a Mardi Gras parade. Two blocks of the downtown area will be blocked off and carnival games and rides installed.

The queen's ball will be held the night of July 5 and fireworks will be displayed the night of July 4. An historical museum, featuring relics of the state, will be set up and the whiskey judging contest will be staged July 5.

Free Acts
Various free acts will be presented in the downtown section during the celebration and band concerts will also feature. Sports events will be staged for both old and young, with adequate awards being offered, and an "old fiddlers" contest will be held. It is possible that the carnival will "stay over" for Saturday, July 6, and a Pioneer league baseball game will be held at Jaycee park that same night.

Further details of the celebration will be announced later. John R. Robertson is general chairman, with the celebration sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the merchants' bureau.

IDAHO'S MARKET GAINS ON COAST

Idaho now ranks second among the eleven western states in the matter of purchases of this state's products made in the Los Angeles (Calif.) county area, it was announced here this afternoon by M. J. Brown, domestic trade commissioner of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Brown made this statement in an interview with the Evening Times and said the Gem state was second only to Oregon. During the last year Idaho products sold in the Los Angeles area have amounted to a cash income of $21,142,950. Brown said the leader, Oregon, sold $11,974,794 worth of its products. Idaho led such large states as Washington, Utah, Arizona, Texas, New Mexico and Montana. During 1938 Idaho ranked third but climbed past Washington state in the last year.

DEMOS MOVE TO BLOCK FDR CHOICE OF CANDIDATE

PRESIDENT MAY GET NOMINATION IF HE WANTS IT

By LYLE C. WILSON
 WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP) — Conservative Democratic strategy today was directed toward preventing President Roosevelt from handing his successor if he makes a last minute decision to refuse a third nomination.

So far as can be determined here, there is not a responsible Democratic party figure who will not concede now that Mr. Roosevelt can have the nomination if he wants it.

F. D. R. Race Uncertain

There is a group, however, which is not yet sure he will make the race. They and others are ready to go to the convention floor in a fight to prevent the nomination of a presidential ticket which falls to take full account of the party as it was set up before Mr. Roosevelt took over in 1932.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull remains the odds-on choice of many conservatives to succeed Mr. Roosevelt.

Some of them would prefer him to the President under any circumstances although others of the conservative group now not only are reconciled to Mr. Roosevelt's renomination but are eager that he run again.

Hull Prospects Good

Hull probably could have the nomination on the first ballot at Chicago next month if Mr. Roosevelt withdrew and indicated Hull would have his campaign support. Beyond that there is not much chance of peacefully compromising the division between conservative and new deal Democrats although Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., and Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt each has a leg on either side of the party fence.

What conservatives fear—although without any indication from Mr. Roosevelt of his plans—is the President might dramatically withdraw from the contest after delegates meet July 15 and propose the names of several persons from among whom he would like to see his successor chosen. If the list included Hull the squabble would end then and there with the Tennessee nomination, probably by acclamation.

F. D. R. Aide Mentioned

But there is apprehension among party elements uncommitted to Mr. Roosevelt that his list might include Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Associate Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace or other persons similarly identified exclusively with the White House wing of the party.

There seems small likelihood now that the President will indicate his own intentions until the convention has met or is about to meet in Chicago. If he remains silent his renomination will be a single ballot affair although it is far from certain now that it will be possible to make the nomination unanimous.

Once he was renominated, two party problems automatically would be eliminated because neither Jackson nor Postmaster General James A. Farley would be suitable vice presidential candidates to run with a fellow New Yorker.

Infantry Officers Scan War News in Evening Times

Showing a keen interest in the Evening Times and the latest news of the European war, officers of the 68th Infantry, light tanks, which camped here last night, are shown above along with Capt. J. H. Seaver, Jr., commander of the Twin Falls national guard unit, who is out of uniform in the above picture. The officers are (left to right) Maj. S. L. Buracker, commander; Capt. Seaver; Capt. T. L. Dunn, Capt. A. G. Fadness and First Lieut. R. O. Lashley. (Times Photo and Engraving)

And Soldiers Cool off in Farm Camp Showers

After a day's trip by an army motor truck, enlisted men welcomed the showers at the farm migratory labor camp south of Twin Falls. Three of the men are shown above as they "scrubbed off some of the dust," as one of them put it. It's hard work, this army game, but take it from these three they don't know anything else they'd rather do. All the 96 men in the tank company which stayed here last night "invaded" the showers before bedtime. (Times Photo and Engraving)

Troops Resume Longest Jaunt in Army Records

After an overnight rest here while on the longest continental trip ever made by a United States army unit, 96 men and five officers of the 68th Infantry, light tanks, which will headquarter at Ft. Lewis, Wash., left here at 7 a. m. today for Pendleton, Ore., the last stop before arriving at the "new home."

Maj. S. L. Buracker, commander, told an Evening Times reporter that the new outfit had been formed out of various old tank units, having separate headquarters at Ft. Snelling, Minn., Ft. Lewis, Wash., and Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. Joined together, Ft. Lewis will "be our new home," the major said.

The new unit was organized only last February at Ft. Benning, Ga., out of the old division tank company. The tanks were sent ahead by train.

Maj. Buracker pointed out that elapsed time on this trip, the longest ever to be undertaken by an army unit in the continental United States, will be 16 days.

"In case of an emergency," he said, "we could travel much faster but we are taking it easy getting to our new home."

Members of the unit were permitted to visit downtown Twin Falls last night after camp was established at the farm labor site south of the city. While stationed at the camp, armed guards patrolled the area but newspaper photographers were permitted to take all the pictures they wanted to and talk to any of the corps members.

The unit is entirely self sustaining during the trip but fresh vegetables and meats are purchased each time an overnight stop is made.

Mayor Urges Firecracker Taboo but Enforcement Job Looms as Too Big

If Mayor Joe Koehler had his way there would be "absolutely" no firecrackers fired within the city limits come July 4.

He told other members of the city council as much at the regular session last night.

Although the councilmen seemed in favor of such a move, Police Commissioner Carl Ritchey pointed out that enforcement would be practically impossible. This thought was also carried by R. E. Bobler, a former mayor, who attended the session. He recalled that a similar law had been passed under his administration but that it could not be enforced. He added that businessmen came to the council and asked that fireworks sale and use be permitted.

At the present time the ordinance allows the sale and use of various types of fireworks during the period between July 2 and 5.

Councilman Ritchey said that police would be instructed to enforce the law strictly as it is now on the books. He said particular attention would be paid to "those older dumbbells who think it's cute to throw firecrackers at the feet and legs of women and children as well as other citizens."

"We'll have them right down in the city jail," he said. "And if we catch any of the youngsters resorting to this practice which started last year, we'll have them in too and then bring their parents down."

No action was taken on the mayor's request for the law banning sale or use entirely.

"All My Pains Are Gone. I Feel Like My Real Self Again," States This Well-Known Twin Falls Man.

CHARLES J. RUSH

How can you go on suffering when in this very city of Twin Falls well-known local residents are publicly praising Hoyt's Compound the new and modern medicine made from nature's roots and herbs. Day after day the sale of this celebrated medicine is reaching a new high and druggists stand amazed at the tremendous sale and say they never saw anything like it. One of the latest to endorse it is Charles J. Rush, 302 Hyland Ave., Twin Falls, who states: "For years, I had suffered from nervousness, indigestion, a run-down condition and could not sleep. I got up nights, was afraid to eat. I would bloat, had belching spells, my throat and stomach had a burning feeling. I was so nervous I would jump at any noise. Pain in my hips and legs kept me awake. I had tried so many different medicines without getting any better; I had almost given up hopes of getting well.

"Since taking Hoyt's Compound, I am a changed man. I feel like my real self again and better than I have in years. Anything I eat agrees with me. My stomach no longer bothers me. All my pains are gone. I have not had a nervous spell since taking Hoyt's Compound. I recommend it to anyone."
