SOVIET WAR ON HITLER RUMORED AS REDS MARCH

STOCKHOLM, June 17 (U.P.)—Russia sent motorized troops into Latvia and Estonia today, it was understood here, after charging them with "brutal violation" of mutual assistance treaties.

Russian troops already had entered Lithuania, southernmost of the tier of Baltic countries on Russia's western and Germany's eastern flank, after an ultimatum had charged Lithuania with violation of the Soviet-Lithuanian mutual assistance treaty.

Cabinet Agrees
Estonian diplomatic quarters in Helsinki said the Estonian cabinet had agreed to the Russian ultimatum and that Russian troops began occupying several Estonian cities.

The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen commenting on the occupation of Lithuania said that "the Soviet march brings the Red army closer to Germany."

"This second stage of the (Soviet) advance westward is either because Lithuania is the weakest point or perhaps a more positive reason is that although the Soviet has important bases in the Baltic, it now wishes to guarantee its dominant position there."

War Against Nazis?
Rumors circulated here that the Soviet was preparing to go to war against Germany and that the Balkan states and Turkey would join her.

The governments of Latvia and Estonia did not immediately confirm receipt of the Russian ultimatum but diplomatic quarters at Helsinki reported that both had accepted the Russian terms.

The official Latvian news agency at Riga denied Latvia had a military alliance with Estonia and Lithuania.

Nation First, Forget Self, Pianist Says

In times like these, personal differences should be set aside and every citizen of the country should act first each morning "how can I best serve my country?"

With these words Alfred Mizrovitch, noted concert pianist who appears at the first ward chapel of the L.D.S. church in public recital this evening at 8 o'clock, pushed aside any questions regarding himself which were put to him by an Evening Times reporter.

"I'll answer one question about myself because I'm not interested and neither is the public," the artist said. He is here to attend the first day's session of the district rally of the National Association of Dunning Teachers.

Formula for America
With war in the air, the artist turned to a discussion of "what's wrong" here at home and what the American people will have to do.

"Democracy has ceased to be a 'do as you please' form of government," he said. "Rather, the time has come when we must take off our coats, roll up our sleeves and go to work to raise the mental standards of the people."

Mizrovitch, who has had his citizenship papers here for six years, said he resented being referred to as an "American of only a few years." He added:

"In spirit and action I'm as good an American as any American that exists."

Avoid Easy Leading
"I would urge millions of Americans to give up their fine apartments, their fine cars and their modern bathrooms and buy books and go to night school because a person not educated can be easily led. The time has come when Europe can no longer tell us—we must tell them."

Late FLASHES

BERLIN, June 17 (U.P.)—German armies were officially reported today to have captured the great French fortress of Metz.

The surrender of Metz was announced over the German radio after which a military commentator said that the French order to cease firing "should not mean the conclusion of an armistice."

"The next days will clarify the situation," he said, "but a hot pursuit of the French army will continue."

WASHINGTON, June 17 (U.P.)—The United States is keeping close watch on peace developments in Europe which might affect French possessions in this hemisphere, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today.

Bids received for the projects last Friday exceeded the engineer's estimate and were rejected.

11 Army Fliers Die In Mid-Air Crash of Bombers Above City

NEW YORK, June 17 (U.P.)—Eleven army fliers were killed today when two United States army bombers, on maneuvers out of Mitchel field, crashed in mid-air and piled up in flames on the streets of Bellrose Manor, in Queens.

The planes, twin-motor B-18-A Douglas bombers took off from Mitchel field this morning for maneuvers with student fliers aboard.

One maneuver called for one bomber to pass under another. The under plane was not low enough, it was announced officially, and the wings of the two ships locked and almost immediately both ships plummeted to earth.

Dead Listed
The army reported these dead in the wreck of bomber 9-B-45: 1st Lieut. Paul Burlingame, 2nd Lieut. J. F. Dow, 2nd Lieut. H. P. Beslent, Sgt. Martin J. Costello, Corp. T. P. Kraszewski, Pvt. Clinton O. Rhodes. Those who died in the second craft, 9-B-43:

2nd Lieut. Richard M. Bylander, 2nd Lieut. P. M. Lambert, 2nd Lieut. J. H. Hall, Sgt. Claude A. Seibauer, Corp. Frank X. Deely, Burlingame, in command of one of the bombers, was a former football star at West Point. For the past four years he has been assistant football coach at the U. S. military academy there.

LaGuardia Arrives
Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, a flier during the World War, arrived at the scene of the crash while bodies and wreckage still were strewn about.

"This is one of the inevitable accidents of training," he said. One of the ships crashed within a block of a public school and the second smashed into a one-story residence which instantly went up in flames which spread to an adjoining house. At least one resident, a woman, was severely injured.

Germans Still Push War As New Premier Pleads For "Honorable" Terms

British Ready To Fight War Without Aid

LONDON, June 17 (U.P.)—Great Britain today pledged herself to carry on the war against Germany alone.

But authoritative British sources declared belief that despite the French offer to sue for peace, France will carry on the war in the theaters outside French soil.

There is no reason to believe, it was said here, that France will not place all her resources outside the mother country at the disposal of her war ally.

It was stated authoritatively France is expected to act as did Poland, Norway, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands and Belgium did when Germany overran the home soil.

War Will Go On
In view of French traditions, it was stated here, it was anticipated that whatever terms France was forced to make to bring about cessation of hostilities on the French battlefields, the war will go on.

The French army in the near east and Africa, it was noted, and the French fleet are intact and in position to carry on the struggle.

"No Surrender"
As for Britain herself, the watchword was "No surrender."

An authoritative statement said: "The British empire will carry on the fight for democracy."

Newspaper editorials lauded the French for their brave "stand to the last" and urged Britons to devote the last ounce of their energy and efforts to prepare to repel an invasion of the British Isles.

France Lauded
"Our great immortal ally, France," said the Evening Standard, "has suffered a sequence of hammering blows which has broken all but her soul. Her brave sons stood astride the road as long as the frame of the human body could stand the test. Our task is now clear and simple—to transform this country into a single fortress."

It was disclosed there had been an agreement between Britain and France that, if French resistance on the continent became impossible, the French would carry on with its air force and its navy and the resources of the French empire as a government-in-exile.

Fleet Uncertain
Today, when Marshal Philippe Petain announced France had asked for German peace terms, it was not even known what would happen to the fleet, and whether France's naval bases in the Mediterranean basin would be turned over to Germany.

ARMY BILL PASSES
WASHINGTON, June 17 (U.P.)—The house today passed unanimously and sent to the senate a bill increasing the authorized strength of the U. S. army to 400,000 men.

The army now has an authorized peacetime strength of 280,000 men and an actual enlistment of 227,000.

Maginot Line Smashed as Petain Addresses People

Seeks Peace

By M. S. HANDLER
BORDEAUX, France, June 17 (U.P.)— Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, hero of Verdun and new premier of France, told the nation today that it may lay down its arms and ask Adolf Hitler for peace.

The aged general told France that "the battle must cease" and that a communication to Germany asking for terms of peace already had been dispatched.

Petain declared that "with heavy heart," his address was broadcast to the nation by the Bordeaux radio station.

The message to Hitler was sent a few hours after Petain assumed office replacing Premier Paul Reynaud who had pledged a fight to the finish.

As soon as he had taken office, Petain met with his colleagues under President Albert LeBrun. Immediately thereafter Paul Baudoin, the new foreign minister, gave a secret communication to Jose Felix de Lequerica y Erquiza, Spanish ambassador, for his old friend Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Spanish nationalist leader and friend of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. This communication, it was indicated, asked Franco to convey a message to the German high command asking for peace.

The French high command had already issued its morning communique when Petain, the 84-year-old hero of Verdun, made a radio speech of hardly two minutes to the French nation, announcing he had contacted France's ancient enemy, now in Paris and at the final French defense line on the Loire. The Maginot line had been smashed, surrounded.

Tells Frenchmen
It was with this in mind that the aged soldier told his people that he, in office to do his tragic task, had given up the fight for France.

The military situation, he said, was of an extremely grave nature. The German columns were plunging southward. The German eastern-most column had crossed the Saone river in the heart of the industrial region of the east and near the Swiss border.

All this was in his mind when he told of his assumption of office, of his love for the army with which he had spent his long life, of his fight against hopeless odds, of his sorrow for the World War veterans whom he had once commanded, of the refugees.

Applies to Hitler
"I have given myself to France to better her situation in this grave hour," he said. "It is with a heavy heart that I say we must cease the fight. I have appealed to our opponent to ask him if he is ready to sign with us and as between soldiers after the fight, and in honor, a means to put an end to hostilities."

It was the end.
This morning's high command communique told of new German advances, smashing advances which made the French position even more hopeless than it had been when Petain took office last night.

Intention Plain
But the intention of the new government had been made plain to Frenchmen here in newspaper stories of Petain's accession. Reynaud had been pledged to a truce fight and his going could have but one meaning.

The people were calm, awaiting developments.
British citizens, including newspaper correspondents, were already making preparations to leave when Petain spoke.

British Embark
The British government had ordered special facilities to embark them.
Quits rightly Petain and the leaders and right wing political leaders in his cabinet had been delegated to preserve the country's national life as the real essential, the France that had known bitter years and bitter centuries but had always come back.

CANDIDATE FILES
BOISE, June 17 (U.P.)—Rep. T. Henson of Coeur d'Alene today became the first proponent to file petitions of candidacy for the August primaries with the secretary of state.

Henson sought the Republican nomination as congressional representative from Idaho's first district.

Dictators Will Consider Plea

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.

BERLIN, June 17 (U.P.)—Adolf Hitler will meet with Italian Premier Benito Mussolini to discuss the French proposal for peace, the German wireless disclosed today, as Nazi sources reported belief that only complete capitulation would be accepted by the axis powers.

Officially there was no German comment on the French proposal and the high command's communique said the beaten French armies had been smashed on all fronts, and were being pursued southward after encirclement of the Maginot line and capture of the historic city of Orleans, 70 miles south of Paris on the river Loire.

Negotiate
But a statement issued from the field headquarters of the Fuehrer said the new French government headed by Marshal Henri Petain had announced France had been forced to cease fighting and action had been initiated to open negotiations with Germany.

"The Fuehrer will meet with Premier Benito Mussolini to discuss the attitude of both states," the statement added.

The attitude of Nazis—expressed unofficially and without immediate contact with Hitler's headquarters—was that recent authoritative statements had indicated that a settlement with France was a matter of capitulation rather than negotiation for terms.

DRAFT HOOVER MOVE IN IDAHO

BOISE, June 17 (U.P.)—Support of Republicans throughout Idaho to "draft Hoover" as presidential nominee was sought today by two Boise men, founders of a state club.

Because of "overwhelming sentiment," Carl G. Bowden, business man, and Ralph R. Dreshner, Ada county Republican committeeman, formed the Idaho club to secure the nomination of former President Herbert Hoover.

Bowden said the immediate objective will be to obtain support of the Idaho delegation at the Philadelphia convention to vote for Hoover if it becomes apparent Thomas F. Dewey, for whom the eight votes are pledged, cannot win the nomination.

Republican leaders throughout the state are being contacted to form local clubs, Bowden said.

Here's Relief From Gloomy War News—Glamorous, Bovine Elsie Munches Chocolates But Movie Men Whip Themselves Into Lather

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
HOLLYWOOD, June 17 (U.P.)—Big business entered embarrassing territory today in its efforts to make a movie star of Elsie, the glamorous cow, who lives in a climate unpolished boudoir at the New York World's fair.

She reclines all day long on her chocolate lounge. She munches chocolate drops and gazes indolently upon the human scene (it must be a laugh to Elsie) while mere man works itself into a multi-million dollar lather about her personal affairs.

The trouble started last week when Gene Towne, the R-K-O producer, began casting a covetous eye on Buttercup in Louisiana Alcott's "Little Men." He inspected numerous cows, but they all had bumpy hips, or wrinkled brows, or horns. They wouldn't do.

Then he saw Elsie's picture in the paper. She was plump, she had languorous eyes, and legs that were beautiful. She was his cow. To A. W. Ramsdell, vice-president of the Borden company in New York, he dispatched the following telegram: "Advise whether Elsie is available for motion picture work in Hollywood. We need a cow with glamour and personality for 'Key Francis to Milk.'"

You can imagine Ramsdell's emotions. Was it a press agent stunt? Did Hollywood really want his Elsie as an actress? Ramsdell wired this reply: "We are interested and Elsie is undoubtedly your cow, but because she is in an interesting condition, she won't be available until late August."

Gene looked up that word, "interesting." In the dictionary, but this wasn't much help. He had to figure it out, himself. He dispatched Ramsdell a message, which would have made Elsie blush.

"My congratulations to Elsie," he wired. "My partner, Graham Baker, and I are sorely tempted to wait until August. But as we are spending a fortune on this production, we must start filming the story July eight. We will have to get a stand-in for Elsie, until she is available."

"We will exploit her with Key Francis, Jack Oakie and other top names. In fact we will treat Elsie in the same manner as we do our own stars. Wire me date of Elsie's announcement."

Ramsdell received that message yesterday. He couldn't ask Elsie the date, but he did the next best thing. He sent a veterinarian to make an examination and then he got Towne on the long distance telephone.

"Elsie will have her baby on August 7," he reported.

"Can't she hurry?" demanded Towne.

Ramsdell said he didn't think so, but that Towne had better ask her himself. Towne said he would. He will. He arrives in New York today by plane to interview Elsie, the glamorous cow.

Mercury Expected To Hit 100 Mark

With the mercury standing at an official 90 above at 1 p. m. today, observers predicted that once more the temperature would "hit the 100 mark" before the day ended.

High reading Sunday was 88 and today's forecast tells of no immediate relief in sight. The forecast calls for continued fair weather.

Temperature rises this morning was rapid, the official report shows, at 10 a. m. it was 81 and by noon it had jumped to 87.

ROOSEVELT MOVES TO CREATE AMERICAN ECONOMIC UNION

PROPOSAL WOULD OFFSET EFFECTS OF EUROPE'S WAR

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt moved today to unite the 22 nations of the western hemisphere, including Canada, in a tight economic union to present a solid front against the economic upheavals in the rest of the world.

Details of the move were not disclosed, but the White House revealed that Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins are working at top speed on the plan.

First Reaction

The disclosure was the first White House reaction to the news that France was suing for peace with Germany.

It was learned authoritatively, although the White House would not comment, that the plan envisages an economic collaboration among the 21 American republics and perhaps Canada which would enable the major crops and surpluses of the western hemisphere to be sold and disposed of through a central medium.

Operate Jointly

The agreement, if approved, it was learned, might even take the form of a gigantic "cartel"—or monopoly—in which the 21 American republics and Canada would operate jointly to wield a maximum economic effect upon world economy.

Commodities involved appeared to be such important items as wheat, cotton, beans and coffee, of which the Americas are building up great surpluses but which the war devastated economy of Europe shortly will need urgently.

a great crash in mid-air and of seeing the ships plummeting to earth.

One flier attempted to bale out but his parachute burst into flames as he leaped from the ship, a witness said.

Mrs. Laura Chatterton, one of the first at the scene, described houses as an "inferno." She said one bomber sliced through the frame house which immediately sent up waves of flames, presumably from the ship's flaming gasoline.

"Smoke went up everywhere," Mrs. Chatterton said. "I was afraid that the second plane would pop into the school. I have a 3-year-old daughter there."

One burning wing of the ship that smashed into the house broke off and careened crazily in an arc of flames across the front lawn.

ICKES CREATES SPECIAL DEFENSE RESOURCES BOARD

NEW COMMITTEE HAS CONTROL OF U. S. ESSENTIALS

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes today created a special defense resources committee within his department to coordinate control over strategic minerals, electric power, coal and other national defense essentials.

"It is mandatory that every bureau in the department make available instantly for defense purposes its accumulated information, technical knowledge, physical resources and the skills and knowledge of its trained personnel in these fields," Ickes said. "I want our decks cleared for action."

The committee will be headed by First Assistant Secretary E. K. Burlew, and include Dr. W. C. Mendenhall, director of geological survey, mineral and oil resources; Dr. R. J. Seivers, director of the bureau of mines, mineral production, metallurgy, gas, explosives and helium; George Holland, director of petroleum conservation, oil supply, production and transportation; E. H. Rutledge, director of the grazing service, grazing resources and cattle production; John C. Page, reclamation commissioner, power production; Joel D. Wolfsohn, assistant commissioner of the general lands office, power policy and administration of minerals and Lee Muck, director of forests, forestry resources. Walton Onslow, of the information division, will serve as secretary.

Ickes told the group that he wanted them to slash "red tape" and procedural delays in assisting the new national defense advisory committee or any other federal department or agency working on the defense.

University of Idaho Head Names Preparedness Board

MOSCOW, June 17 (Special)—Because he believes that immediate, thorough, and complete preparation is the surest way to keep the United States out of war, President Harrison C. Dale of the University of Idaho today appointed an eight-member university preparedness council and sent the following telegram to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The University of Idaho pledges full support in men and physical resources to the program of immediate preparedness outlined in your inspiring-Charlottesville address."

Dean is Chairman.

Chairman of the university's preparedness council is Dean J. E. Buchanan of the college of engineering, who has been in charge of the civilian pilot training program at the university.

Other members of Lt. Col. C. W. Jones, head of the military department, who recently instituted a course in "mass management"—the only university course in the country which teaches young officers how to feed large groups of men; Deans E. J. Iddings, agriculture; D. S. Jeffers, forestry; A. W. Fahrenwald, mines; Wendell Howard, law; Margaret Ritchie, home economics; and Herbert J. Wunderlich, coordinator and secretary.

Idaho Among First

The University of Idaho always has been among the first to respond to national military emergencies. In the Spanish-American war the percentage of University of Idaho students volunteering for service was the largest of any university in the United States. In the 1914-1918 World War a large training camp was operated on the campus and staff members served on councils charged with outlining the most efficient methods of producing, processing, and utilizing food and other resources vital to national defense.

During the World War, President Dale then on the faculty of the University of Wyoming, was a member of the Wyoming state council of national defense. "That experience convinced me that only through coordination of effort can preparedness be made effectively in a national emergency such as now confronts the nation," he said.

Finland Pays Debt to U. S. Despite War

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Three European countries had tendered payments on their war debts to the United States today but only one of them, — Finland—met its semi-annual obligation in full.

The other two were Hungary and Rumania. The latter made its first payment—a conditional token offering of $100,000—since 1932. Hungary paid $928 toward its funded indebtedness. The remaining nine countries defaulted.

Rumania's debt to the United States totals $14,128,181. Minister Radu Irimescu said the $100,000 token payment was to be applied to the debt only if and when the United States and the Rumanian governments have negotiated a new debt agreement and the pact is ratified by the legislative branches of both governments.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Finnish Minister Hjalmar Procope today had paid his country's semi-annual war debt installment on time despite a congressional resolution giving it the option to postpone payments.

As he handed a check for $150,398 to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Herbert Gaston, Procope said he was grateful for the congressional "tribute."

However, he said, Finland felt constrained to maintain its record of never defaulting on its debts "in spite of the hardships of the war we passed through." Finland was the only one of 12 European war debtors that met its maturing obligation.

AMERICA EXPANDS AIRMEN TRAINING

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring had announced today that arrangements were being taken immediately to train 7,000 army pilots and 3,600 bombardiers and navigators a year. The entire training program will be overhauled, Woodring said, and added facilities will be provided.

Under the new program, primary training will be continued for new pilots, at civilian flying schools; basic, advanced and specialized training will be given at three air corps training centers at Randolph field, Tex., Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., and at Moffett field, Cal.

New pilots will be given 35 weeks of instruction, Woodring said, with the first 10 weeks provided at the civilian flying schools. He said that the nine civilian schools now training pilots for the army will be expanded "to the fullest possible capacity," and each will open a branch school. He said that by November students would be flowing into the schools at the rate of 1,292 each five weeks.

German Radio Requests 3rd Party in U. S.

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—The German radio today had called for formation of an anti-war third party in the United States and American "political rejuvenation one way or another."

The Democratic and Republican parties, the officially controlled radio said, are incompetent to evolve the "flexible foreign policy which will be needed in order to be compatible with Europe's new want of clothes."

The views on American political life were attributed to "an American business man presently staying in Berlin who is widely traveled and well versed in European politics." His name "by request has been withheld due to the widely divergent opinion which exists in the American public."

"Both parties," it asserted, "have been poisoned with propaganda as regards interpretation of Europe's problems."

NEW SUBSTANCE PROTECTS LARD

CHICAGO (Special)—A revolutionary new development whereby the addition of extremely small quantities of a vegetable substance obtained from a tree makes possible tremendous improvements in lard, oldest of shortenings, was announced here today by John Holmes, president of Swift and company.

The vegetable substance, known as gum guaiac, comes from the sap of the guaiacum tree which grows in the West Indies and Central America.

By the addition of minute quantities of this vegetable material it has been found possible to protect lard's natural advantages and at the same time to keep it fresh when the lard is exposed to air without refrigeration.

Regarded by food scientists as the most important lard development in more than 50 years, the discovery is described as of "vital importance" to more than 4,000,000 American hog producers as well as to all households, grocers, meat dealers, chefs and bakers.

Only one of three major reservoirs serving this irrigated section of Idaho showed gains in storage water during the past week, a report received today from Lynn Grandall, watermaster, shows.

The reservoir registering the gain was Jackson lake which went from 804,690 acre feet to 853,360 acre feet. During the same period American falls reservoir dropped from 1,340,950 acre feet to 1,309,450 and Lake Walcott from 96,150 to 94,850.

The drops were caused by increased irrigation demands over the entire Magic Valley.

QUESTION: WHY IS BEER CALLED THE BEVERAGE OF MODERATION?
ANSWER: Because beer's alcoholic content is low. Temperate, moderate nations of the world...and their people...prefer beer.

QUESTION: DO BEER AND ALE REALLY AID THE FARMERS?
ANSWER: Since re-legalization the brewing industry has bought 25,000,000,000 pounds of farm products. That has helped farmers... particularly during the depression years.

QUESTION: JUST WHAT ARE BEER AND ALE MADE OF?
ANSWER: Beer is made by a natural fermentation process... from malted barley and other grains, hops, yeast, water. Nature makes beer. The brewer makes it good beer (and ale).

QUESTION: HOW MUCH DO BEER TAXES CONTRIBUTE TO THE COST OF GOVERNMENT?
ANSWER: Beer contributes $1,000,000 a day... $400,000,000 a year... to help pay the costs of government... local, state and federal. Everybody benefits from this contribution.

QUESTION: DO BEER AND ALE MAKE JOBS FOR WORKERS?
ANSWER: Beer and ale have already made a million jobs. This employment is wide-spread... all over the country. More than 100 other industries benefit from beer and ale.

QUESTION: HOW IS THE BREWING INDUSTRY COOPERATING WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS?
ANSWER: The Brewing Industry is actively on the side of law and order. A "self-regulation" plan to eliminate retail abuses has already been put into effect in a number of states in cooperation with law enforcement authorities. This plan is being extended. Let Consuls Be Consuls—Only

Mayor La Guardia of New York, deeply distressed by the entrance of Italy into the war (for La Guardia is an American of Italian origins, and fought with the Italians in an American aviation unit during the World War), has called attention to a point of the greatest importance.

The persons of duly accredited consular officers will be fully protected, he assured, and all of their rights under the treaties respected. But, he added,

On the other hand, may I most respectfully say we shall expect consular officers to adhere strictly to their consular duties."

Those are fair, clear words, and they lay down a basic policy which without doubt all the people of the United States will echo.

Diplomats and consular officers are privileged people. Countries receive them from the lands of their origin to facilitate official communication between the countries, to smooth the paths of trade, and to look after the interests of citizens of the country from which they come in the country where they are accredited.

But it ought to be plainly noted that the consular and diplomatic privileges apply only to persons plainly accredited by their home governments in performing services and duties agreed on by treaty between the two countries concerned. They do not include working for the home country in any way outside those agreed channels and fields.

The country faced this problem when it was yet young. "Citizen" Genet came here from revolutionary France and immediately went to work with direct agitation among American citizens in his cause, and with outfitting privateers, recruiting volunteers, and engineering military expeditions against powers with which the United States was at peace.

Washington had an answer to all this. It was to insist on, and to secure, Genet's recall.

There have been later examples. Diplomatic immunity and privilege were badly abused by the representatives of Austria and Germany before American entry into the World War. They used their position to plot and connive against the American people.

Wilson had an answer to that. He sent them home. The same answer would be given in any similar situation today. Diplomats and consular officers of all nations with which the United States is at peace are welcome, and will be protected in their proper functions. No activities beyond these well-defined spheres will be tolerated for a moment.

Honeymoon Bridge

There is symbolism in the fact that work is humming along merrily on both sides of the Niagara river in replacing the old "Honeymoon bridge" that collapsed in an ice-jam in 1938.

Ever since 1869 there has been a bridge across the Niagara gorge at or near this point, linking Canada and the United States across our friendly border. The Falls View bridge (Honeymoon bridge, the visitors called it) carried more than 1,500,000 people across the border in its last year.

The new Rainbow bridge (which will undoubtedly also be called Honeymoon bridge by the sentimental) is now well under way. The foundations are being built simultaneously on each side, the bridge will meet in the middle to form a renewed symbol of the link between two great countries.

In the closer relations which are certain to follow between Canada and United States, "Honeymoon bridge" may be a fortunate symbol even in its name.

World Loses if Paris Is Ruined

Berlin could crumble into the Spree tomorrow and nobody but Germans would feel any sense of loss.

But if Paris is destroyed, the world will feel the blow. For Paris belongs not only to the French but to all the world. In one sense, it means more to the world than it does to the French.

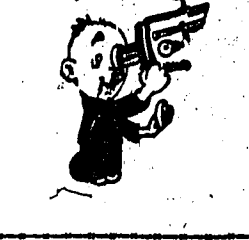

For Paris was free—it meant freedom to think as you please, to talk as you please, to dress as you please. It meant children in bright, fresh Sunday clothes in the Luxembourg gardens, and simple people picnicking on the banks of the Seine at Charenton. It meant libraries and art and students from the ends of the earth, free to discuss and to learn. It meant life worth living for the sake of life, not merely for the sake of averting death.

"Fluctuat nec mergitur" read the old ship-decked seal of Lutetia, the provincial village that was the Paris of Caesar's day. "Tempest-tossed but not sunk!" A whole civilization is tempest-tossed today with Paris. But it will not, it must not sink permanently.

Out west is reported a hail storm with stones bigger than oranges. In the west, sniffs Florida, even marbles are bigger than the oranges.

POT SHOTS

WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

Meanest (Also Smartest) Gent In Idaho

The Pot Shots sleuths, roaming far and wide in their search for such things as our constituents should know, have brought back word of the meanest and/or smartest gent in Idaho.

Some of our sleuths, the married ones, voted in favor of crossing out "Idaho" and inserting "the United States."

The citizen in question is Mr. Olin Smith, a denizen of Buhl. This thoughtful citizen labels his bottles of liquid refreshment "poison," so the ladies who might foregather at his residence for bridge of an afternoon won't dare partake from said bottles.

We understand this gripes the married ones, voted in favor of crossing out "Idaho" and inserting "the United States."

OUR POWERFUL SUPPORT IS APPRECIATED! When Pot Shots patted Guvnor Bott on the back for refusing to decry "Eliminate Rag Weed Week" in Idaho, we explained that the stiffening we'd rather kick the stuffing out of politicians than praise 'em.

Because, said we, our endorsement might boost them and a columnist can't be too careful. But because Bott stoutly turned down another special week, thereby chiming in with the Pot Shots denunciation of most weeks and days devoted to everything under the sun, we ventured a word of praise.

And sent a clipping to the statehouse. Now comes this letter from Earl W. Murphy, executive secretary to the governor:

"Dear Pot Shots: Before leaving for Franklin, Governor Bottelstein asked me to acknowledge your letter enclosing the very helpful campaign material and to say to you that he greatly appreciated the boost in your column."

THEY HAVE PAUL BUNYAN HOPPERS OVER THERE! Dear Pot Shots: Wednesday Evening article, "Call Made Here for Pea Pickers," goes on to say there is shortage of pea pickers in Nampa district and 25 cents per hamper is being paid for pickers. Also states that average yield per day runs from eight to 15 "hoppers" per day.

I'd say those hoppers must be mighty good on the hop if a fellow can't catch more than 15 per day. —Observer

ATTENTION, GAME WARDEN! Dear Fuchser P. S.: The story of I. Catchem ancient catching trout with his magic grains of corn brings to mind my system for bagging Canadian geese and other wild fowl.

The process is simple and saves many blisters on the tootsies. Whenever I feel the urge for wild fowl, I take a pocket of corn kernels, fish hooks and some strong line and go a-hunting. After liberally loading the hooks with corn kernels and staking the lines down firmly, I scatter the remaining corn around to whet the appetites of our feathered friends.

The next morning I return to the scene and gather in a nice bag of birds which have swallowed my baited hooks and can't cough 'em up. This little job was handed down to me by my great grandpappy and is absolutely guaranteed to obtain results. Of course you must make certain that no representatives of the fish and game department are peering intently over your shoulder.

YOU COULD BE DEPORTED Hey-heh, Fuchser: If a guy buys an airplane on the installment plan, does he make a down payment or an up payment? —Harry

SERIAL STORY AN EYE FOR A GAL BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

YESTERDAY, as he starts the gas, Rossy is told...

I need not tell you that, though, she added, as they sat on the sofa. She gave him a penetrating look...

"Daddy has stinned every possible point to make college available to you. He secured the scholarship, worked it out with Coach Hurd that you were to stay with us without cost, and from the day Coach Hurd saw you away last summer you have been constantly on his—our—mind."

"You'll forgive me for reminding you. I do it not for any appreciation, but simply so that you will understand other things that may come up."

"I'm glad you told me," he said. "But why is your father so—so interested in me?"

"Absolutely. It was the first Hell'n-Damnation ball game I ever saw—and the last. You know how stories drift out—the wildest, craziest ball players that ever were; feuded even in their ball games; great pitchers, great hitters, great everything."

"But you, bub, have the goods, and no doubt about that. I'm going to offer you a contract that will nail you down, make it possible for you to go on with your education and play ball, and give you time for ripening a little. You're still too green in the husk. Later you'll probably have to be farmed out to one of the bush leagues. But if you grow like I think you will, you'll be up there some of these days dazzling the little old natives in the big time."

"There's the dotted line," Coach Hurd grinned. "Give me a pen," Rossy said faintly, and he signed with irregular letters that betrayed his joy and excitement.

THAT evening at supper at Dr. Tollivar's the table talk was all about the game, about Rossy's great break. Dr. Tollivar said simply:

"McAfee deserved it. He had it coming to him. Now, Judy, I wish you would wrap up a change for me, and not put in my old straight razor—but the electric. Rossy and I are going up into Hell'n-Damnation early in the morning for the weekend. You'll excuse me now," he smiled. "I have some work at the office before I can get off." He took his hat and went out.

Judy smiled at Rossy. "I'll pack later. Let's sit in the front room and talk about everything. For this is a great day for you, Rossy."

"I'll get you the mule and buggy, Doc," Leverage said, and not long afterward Tollivar and Rossy were driving up the winding old road that went to the school house and church on the grounds of Old Ebenezer.

They reached the ball grounds. "Whoa," Tollivar said, and the two got out.

"It's been a long time since I was here," Tollivar murmured. "Yes," Rossy nodded. "That was the day my pappy was killed."

"Yes," Dr. Tollivar said, not looking at him. "So you was the pitcher that day for the Tollivars. You are a

"I was to pitch that game. They told me, 'You're a great pitcher. You've got everything. But when you're wild you're wild. Tomorrow you need only be wild but accurate. You understand. Bean McAfee. Hit him back of the ear. He dodges right-handed. It will be an accident.'"

"You know what kind of a feeling I took into that game. All I could think of was what they had said. And by some deadly fascination, in my nervousness, I pitched the ball that knocked your father unconscious."

"But it was not that lick that killed him. He was killed by a blow behind the grandstand by a member of your own family."

JOB for JUNE Graduates

By DR. FLOYD W. REEVES, Director, American Youth Commission

American youth leaving schools and colleges to seek jobs faces a highly competitive labor market. It would be both unfair and unrealistic to say that all who desire work can find jobs. The fact is, there are not enough jobs to go around.

It takes about two years for the average boy or girl to find employment that carries with it any degree of permanence. This does not mean that most young people walk the streets for two years before obtaining their first job. It does mean that there is an enormous turnover among new workers before they find the job for which they are suited.

On a national average, one in six will be unable to find employment, and will help to swell the estimated total of 4,000,000 unemployed young people under 24 years of age, which today represents about one-third of the nation's unemployment problem.

After painting this gloomy picture, there are a number of helpful suggestions based on studies and findings of the American Youth Commission, which can be of value to the boy or girl in search of work.

The first suggestion is offered more to parents than to young people, for the search for a job starts from the home. Parents should realize that the aptitudes and interests of a son or daughter may be quite different from their own, and they should not be dictatorial about occupational choice.

They should encourage vocational exploration, but should discourage wishful thinking. Most boys aspire to white collar jobs, although 70 per cent are destined to wear overalls.

Second, a boy or girl should seek vocational guidance from those qualified to give it. If they are fortunate, their school has a guidance program.

Even if an individual's school does not offer guidance, it will be wise to ask the school principal or class teacher what he believes he or she is best fitted to undertake. In the search for counsel it will also pay to make inquiries at the local Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A. for many branches offer occupational guidance for youth out of school.

Third, most young persons fail to register at the local public placement agency. Creation of a network of public employment offices is one of the great social achievements of recent years, which recognizes the public's responsibility for helping bring workers and employers together.

Fourth, boys and girls unable to find employment should consider additional education. This is not always possible, but the more education one has the better the chances are of getting a job.

Fifth, if circumstances make it impossible for a youth to continue his education without assistance, he may be eligible for the Civilian Conservation Corps or for a National Youth Administration scholarship or work project.

To know what one can do and the fields in which there are the greatest opportunities is half the battle. It gives a sense of direction, and permits a boy or girl to act with purpose. Above all, it prevents aimless drift, which is demoralizing to character.

Londoners Take Look at City Before Air Raids

London.

Dear Mr. Editor: It is not exactly with a "We who are about to die, salute you" feeling that residents in London look at their city these days. It is rather with something of the deep feeling of the man who is going on a far journey and wants to remember every feature and line of a beloved face.

Londoners gaze around their city while it is intact. There are the beautiful parks—some of the finest in the world—which never looked lovelier. Row after row of May trees like figures in a ballet, with their gorgeous headdress of red blossoms... hedge after hedge of lilacs, odor... tulips marching in brave ranks after rank... All these may be withered and blasted and poisoned by Nazi bombs.

And then the things that man alone has built unaided by nature... the noble and far-famed dome of St. Paul's Cathedral... the soaring towers of the Houses of Parliament, bearing at its summit that famous Big Ben... Buckingham Palace... and then the rows and rows of humbler buildings—the homes of the plain men who do the work of the big town and fight in the wars of their country.

All these may be knocked into so many piles of rubble and twisted iron and shattered wood and—dust, that ultimate to which proud man returns.

There is no funeral dirge to this thinking. It is merely the Londoner's feeling that, everything beautiful and ugly, everything familiar and strange, everything that goes to make up the city that he loves, may be destroyed.

And what the Londoner feels, many an American in our little colony feels, too. For like every great metropolis, whether it be this one or New York or Paris, there is a magnetic pull which is exercised upon the native and the foreigner alike. It is the mighty hive that man has created, where he does his work and seeks his pleasure.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON (Evening Times Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 14—Under the surface of the drive for a stronger air force, there is developing an agreement for getting the service files out from under the direction of non-flying generals and admirals.

So far there is not much talk about setting up the air force as a completely separate arm on the British-style, with its own cabinet member. But the possibility of giving both the army and navy flying corps virtual independence within the existing departments is being explored.

Two congressmen who are starting to work in that direction are Vincent Harrington of Iowa and Melvin Maas of Minnesota. Harrington is interested in the army, Maas in the navy; general idea is to make the air arm of each service an independent corps, like the marine corps, under the orders of the head of the department but carrying its own general staff and top command.

Original plans were for a 24-foot roadway, running from the state of Washington up through British Columbia and Yukon territory to tie in with the Alaskan highways which the President should decide hemisphere defense made it necessary to speed construction of the proposed highway to Alaska, the way is just about open for immediate action.

CONGRESS MAY BE NEAR ON ALASKAN HIGHWAY If the President should decide hemisphere defense made it necessary to speed construction of the proposed highway to Alaska, the way is just about open for immediate action.

CONGRESS HAS ALREADY PASSED A LAW extending the life of the international highway commission for four years. This group, headed by energetic Cong. Warren Magnuson of Washington, has almost finished the preliminary work. By July, all of the surveys will have been completed and the U. S. and Canadian governments can talk turkey if they wish.

SEPARATE FORCE Men close to the military picture here are still inclined to shy away from the idea of a wholly separate air force. This includes some of the most outspoken critics of the inability of present army and navy high commands to realize the full value of the airplane as a military weapon.

Chief reason for this is a feeling that flying a fighting plane for the army is an entirely different thing than flying one for the navy, and that each branch of the service should have an air corps whose personnel is especially trained for its own problems. The alleged recent experience of the British in Norway is cited as a case in point.

According to a story which is accepted as true by men qualified to judge, there was lamentable lack of coordination between Britain's sea, fleet and her air arm in the Norwegian fighting. Fliers are said to have gone to the Norwegian coast

Alaska's air defense system is being built up rapidly; but experts say it won't really be complete until there is some overland connection between the territory and the homeland.

Some Help Canyon Beauty--And Some Destroy It-On Which Side Are You?

In the "put or take" game of beautifying Idaho, on which side are you?

If you have plucked up Rock creek canyon this season, you undoubtedly have admired the wild flowers, and probably have marveled at the abundance of the columbine.

That profusion of columbine isn't just an accident, nor are they all of the plants of the wild variety.

Last year a woman who has especially refined tastes, and an unusual sense of consideration for others, gathered columbine and other seeds from her garden, added purchased seed to them, and waited until the appropriate planting time.

Broadcast Seeds Then, equipped with the garden seeds, paying particular attention to hardy varieties, she went to the canyon and broadcast the seeds along the hillside and beside the creek banks, where water would be accessible.

A quart of columbine alone was scattered. The story got about—but not from her—and others were impressed with the easy way in which color could be added to the outing sites. Many are going to take the surplus from their own gardens to the hillside this year.

It would be fine to end the story there. But there's an anti-climax.

Here's the other side Last evening pluckers returning from Camp Peik, who had learned the story of this one woman's thoughtfulness, were perturbed at a sight they saw. Into a car parked by the side of the road people were putting armloads of yellow and henna-red columbine, which they had pulled up by the roots.

Cornell Is Eastern Hope in Poughkeepsie Regatta

East Conceded Better Than Even Chance to Win at Poughkeepsie

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—The "poor old east" today at last was conceded a better than even chance to win the varsity event of the Poughkeepsie rowing regatta.

Ever since 1921, when California and Washington began taking this Poughkeepsie business seriously, the eastern schools have taken it on the chin as often as Joe Louis' opponents.

But today, as the oarsmen from eight colleges relaxed in preparation for tomorrow's 43rd annual boat ride down the Hudson river, the advance guard of an expected crowd of 90,000 was referring to the boys from the Pacific coast as "the poor old west."

Schools from the Pacific coast have won 10 times since 1921 and finished second nine times. Many times before, the east has come up with some classy crews only to wind up in the wake of the westerners—as in 1934, 1936 and last year when the west finished first and second.

But this year the east thinks it has a couple of extra classy crews in—undefeated Cornell, and unbeaten Columbia; and in Navy and Syracuse, which are labeled the darkest of all dark horses in the history of this event. So, it's no wonder the east is sneering at the west—at least until dusk tomorrow.

California won the race last year in the record time of 18 minutes, 12 3/8 seconds—the third straight year the record had been shattered. Washington was a close second and on the basis of that performance, the western crews must be the logical favorites. But the "talk the west down" movement is based on the fact that both invading eighties will be paced by sophomore strokes and both lost many men from last year's fleets.

No-Hitter Marks Double Win by Local Softballers

With a five-inning "perfect" game by Pitcher Elmore Hagler offering a highlight, the Twin Falls Troy-National softball team collected a double victory Sunday over the Halley Merchants at Halley, 13-2 and 11-0.

Hagler, pitching the second game of the afternoon, held Halley hitless and scoreless, and granted no free tickets to first base, while his mates were pounding out eight safeties to roll up the 11-0 count. The game was called after the fifth because of extreme heat.

Ray Frels, Russ Wells and Smith banged out home runs for Twin Falls in that encounter. Neither team committed any errors. Frels pitched impressive ball in the opening game of the day, allowing Halley only four hits for the 13-2 triumph. Troy-National collected 11 safe bingles, of which the longest was a home run by Orville Teitz. Frels struck out seven men.

Table with 2 columns: Game, Score. Game 1: Twin Falls 13, Halley 2. Game 2: Frels and Dale Waite, Deering and Brooks. Game 3: Twin Falls 11, Halley 0.

Burley Mayor To Open Golf Course Sunday

BURLEY, June 17 (Special)—Grand opening of the Burley Municipal golf course is scheduled for 9 a. m. Sunday at which time Mayor Fred Hill will tee off the first ball.

A handicap tourney for golfers of southern Idaho is slated in connection with the opening of the course. Invitations have been sent to many south Idaho clubs. Driving and putting contests and a pitching elimination will be held for approximately $75 worth of equipment as prizes.

Snead, Guldahl Win Inverness

TOLEDO, O., June 17 (AP)—Sammy Snead and Ralph Guldahl were richer by $1,000 today and champions of the sixth annual Inverness invitational golf tournament.

DEMAND WITHDRAWN FOR VITT'S RESIGNATION

CLEVELAND, June 17 (AP)—The Oscar Vitt form of "government" had the full approval of all but three members of the Cleveland Indians baseball team today.

After three days of disension during which 12 players—including Bob Feller, Rollie Hemisley, Hal Trosky, Jeff Heath, Oscar Grimes and Mel Harder—demanded that Vitt be removed as manager of the club, an apparent truce was reached late last night.

The team, except Heath and Hank Helf, who are in the hospital, and Roy Weatherly, who walked out of the meeting with Club President Alva Bradley, signed the following statement: "We, the undersigned, hereby declare to withdraw all statements referring to the resignation of Oscar Vitt. We feel that this action is for the betterment of the Cleveland ball club."

Zimmerman Wins Utah Tournament

SALT LAKE CITY, June 17 (AP)—Emery Zimmerman, Portland, Ore., pro, stripped 12 strokes off par in the final 36 holes Sunday to successfully defend his title in the Utah open golf tournament at the Salt Lake Country club.

After a bad 76 on the first 18 holes Friday which placed him behind a dozen other top-flight golfers of the region, the champion began a telling attack on par which gave him the title by two strokes. His 72 hole total was 278.

Schneider Fourth Ed Kingsley, Salt Lake amateur who led at the halfway mark, finished in second place with 278. Another Salt Laker, John Geertsen had 281 for third, and fourth went to George Schneider, Ogden, 282.

The outstanding achievement of the tournament aside from the actual winning performance was turned in by Paul Jones, Whittier, Calif., pro, whose 63 on Sunday's morning round smashed the competitive course record at the Canyon Links.

His afternoon round followed up and gave him fifth place after he had been lost in the field at the halfway point. Jones put 15 strokes from his score for the first 36 holes to finish with 283.

Has Trouble Al Zimmerman, brother of the winner and two time winner in previous Utah opens, encountered trouble in the last day's play and finished with 286. He was only two strokes behind the leader at beginning of the morning round.

Emery Zimmerman had a mediocre 38-hole total of 144, but he toured the tricky country club links twice Sunday in 68 to come in with true championship form. His victory kept the Utah title in the Zimmerman family for four consecutive years.

Harper Finishes Others who finished included: Harry Borg, Petaluma, Calif., 286; Sid Haman, Walla Walla, Wash., 289; Ernie Schneider, Ogden, 290; Earl Schneider, Provo, 291; Hayden Newton, Grand Junction, Colo., 292; Harold West, Chehalis, Wash., 295; Bobby Luton, Portland, 297; Vance Hook, Vancouver, Wash., Eddie Harper, Pocatello, Ida., and Carl Bowman, Yakima, Wash., 303; Harold Sommers, Grand Junction, 304; L. BURLEY, June 17 (Special)—Ivym S. Lewis, president of the '79ers organization, has announced that his group is erecting a historical monument on the Albion State Normal school campus, with the unveiling ceremonies to be held in conjunction with the annual association meeting the first Wednesday of September.

The monument will be in the shape of a triangle, and will have a set of three drinking fountains, one on each side. It will be built of native rock.

Pittman Accuses Lindbergh of Lack of Confidence in Government

SENATOR FLAYS LONE EAGLE FOR RADIO ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Chairman Key Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee last night accused Col. Charles A. Lindbergh of creating "unfounded" war fears and lack of confidence in the government.

In a radio address answering Lindbergh's most recent criticism of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, Pittman advised Lindbergh to "throw aside his false political advisers," and suggested the fifth column might be behind Lindbergh, without his knowledge, "in attempting to defeat the present leaders of the country."

Fooling With Disaster

"Let Col. Lindbergh and his advisers know," Pittman said, "that when one fools with politics in a national emergency, he is fooling with disaster."

Lindbergh, in his fourth public discussion of national affairs Saturday night, charged the government was courting disaster by war-like intervention in Europe and was "making gestures with an empty gun after we have already lost the draw."

He urged his listeners to demand their congressmen halt any move to enter the European war and concentrate the national effort on re-arming for any aggression against the western hemisphere. He charged this country was holding out "false hopes" of aid to the allies.

Sincerity Questioned

Pittman questioned sincerity of Lindbergh's motives and asked whether he had "unwittingly" been led into an attack on the President.

"Has the cunning incitement of his ambition blinded him to the safety of the country?" he asked. "Is the fifth column behind Col. Lindbergh, without his knowledge, in attempting to defeat the present leaders of the country?"

"Has Col. Lindbergh failed to read his written speech, or, if he did, to understand that there is an apparent attack upon the patriotism of the chief executive of this country. I doubt if he has realized it."

Fears War

Pittman said Lindbergh's objections of administration policies seem to center on the fear that "sales of materials to the allies will involve us in war with Germany."

He suggested Lindbergh perhaps "still trusts Hitler with regard to the policy of appeasement indulged in by Chamberlain."
