OFFICIAL CITY NEWSPAPER

GERMANS INCREASE FURY OF AIR ATTACKS

Thousands View Colorful Parade To Open Jubilee

While thousands of spectators lined the downtown streets, the Magic City jubilee officially opened here this morning with a gigantic parade which featured a score or more of beautifully decorated floats.

Tomorrow the second parade of the four-day celebration will be staged through the downtown section starting at 10 a. m. and a patriotic address will be given at the city park at conclusion of the parade by J. H. Blandford, local attorney. The American Legion is in charge of tomorrow's parade.

Today's parade was more or less historic in nature and vying with the floats for the applause of the crowd were individuals on horseback, comical groups, four bands, automobile loads of pioneers and a six-horse team drawing an "old-time" freight wagon.

700 READY FOR OPENING SHOW IN CAVALCADE HERE
With all last-minute details completed and rehearsals over, between 600 and 700 persons were ready this afternoon to participate in the Magic City cavalcade which has first showing at Lincoln field at 8:30 p. m.

The cavalcade will also be presented Thursday and Friday nights at the same time. It is directed by F. P. Gorman who came here especially for that purpose. Rehearsals have been going on for nearly a month and this afternoon Gorman promised a "polished performance."

The cavalcade is, in fact, a story of the rise of the city of Twin Falls from the sagebrush to the present irrigated district. Special events which will be witnessed during the presentation will include the first wedding in the state, arrival of the first train in Twin Falls, this city's participation in the World war and other like features.

Story of the cavalcade was gleaned from the essays written by Herbert Larsen, contest winner, and by a number of other Twin Falls high school seniors.

Also set for tonight's program will be the coronation of Miss Maurine Luke as jubilee and cavalcade queen. Taking the part of Miss Columbia during tonight's cavalcade will be Miss Charlotte Monahan, while Miss Ethel McCleary will be Miss Idaho.

Attendants to the three young women will be Misses Dahl Green, Doris Reed, Marjorie Lash, Mary Jean Shipman, Mary Lou Gibb, Frances Thompson, Barbara Butler, Betty Jean Reynolds and Helen Thomas.

Members of the cavalcade cast will be lavishly dressed in costumes of various types. There will be, according to Gorman, everything from Indians to Virginia Reel dancers taking part. Livestock, dogs, covered wagons, automobiles, pioneers, prospectors and stage coaches will all play featured parts in the production.

The show is set in 23 scenes, with characters appearing on a stage 150 by 100 feet. The set is completely lighted with more than 50,000 watts of electricity. One of the novelties will be the lighted water.

"TY" COBB BUYS BOTTLING WORKS
Tyus Raymond (Ty) Cobb, one of baseball's immortal performers, entered the Twin Falls business field today.

The "Georgia Peach" announced that he has purchased the Twin Falls Coca Cola Bottling company from Carl N. Anderson. Cobb's son, Herschel Cobb, will take over direction of the company, probably as president.

Already Effective
The transaction was effective Monday, and Mr. Cobb has already taken over ownership. Herschel Cobb has established his residence here with his wife.

The elder Mr. Cobb told the Evening Times that he will be in Twin Falls himself frequently, and hopes some day to establish his home here. A hunting and fishing enthusiast as well as a keen businessman, he praised Southern Idaho's outdoor attractions highly.

Herschel Cobb, new manager of the Twin Falls Coca Cola company, has been with the parent concern at Atlanta, Ga., home of the "Georgia Peach."

Sum Not Announced
Sum involved in purchase of the far-flung bottling concern, which operates throughout south central Idaho, was not revealed. Both Mr. Cobb and Mr. Anderson said that "some details" still remain to be worked out.

Start of the transaction came, according to Mr. Anderson, when the famed baseball character visited this area some time ago. Cobb thought so well of Twin Falls and the neighboring region that he contacted Mr. Anderson in connection with a suggested deal for the bottling firm. Successful contacts culminated in the purchase.

CITIZENSHIP BILL
WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today signed a bill permitting aliens who enter the United States under the age of 10 to become naturalized after they are 21 without making a formal declaration of intention.

As Jubilee Parade Rolled Past Today

Abraham Lincoln lived again as the Magic City jubilee parade formally opened the three day celebration today. Here is Walter Scott, strikingly similar in appearance to the Great Emancipator. This Lincoln portrayal formed the float entered by the Daughters of the Grand Army. (Times Photo and Engraving)

Here's the jubilee queen, Miss Maurine Luke, mounted on her throne atop the Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber float in the parade. Queen Maurine's attendants rode with her, and also share honors with her at the mammoth cavalcade which will be presented for the first time at Lincoln stadium at 8:30 p. m. today. NAVY INCLUDED IN DEFENSE FUNDS

WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today broadened his new supplementary defense program to include the navy as well as the army. The new plan calls for about $5,000,000,000 in immediate appropriations and authorizations.

Mr. Roosevelt will send the new program to congress early next week, probably on Monday, in the form of a special message.

The program breaks down roughly into approximately $4,000,000,000 for the army and about $1,000,000,000 for supplementary naval construction.

With the appropriations and authorizations provided under the new program, the army expects to put full pressure behind its program, working toward the objective of a machineless air fleet of 50,000 first line fighters. The program also calls for mechanization of the American defense machine, providing tanks, troop vehicles, guns and the heavy mechanical implements of war which require extensive time in non-commercial manufacturing processes.

It was understood the army hopes to have the new program operational at top speed by the early fall of 1941.

ACTION DELAYED IN MURDER CASE

BOISE, July 3 (U.P.)—Action on the case of Clifford A. Zipse, 16-year-old murderer, was postponed by the state prison board today but assurance was given to the youth's mother that he would not hang.

Mrs. Zipse was interviewed by members of the board and was advised to return to her Grangeville home to await decision on her son's sentence. Action was delayed until the meeting re-convenes Monday.

General J. W. Taylor, Gov. C. A. Holt's Secretary of State George H. Curtis said they would vote Monday on commutation of the sentence.

No action was taken on 147 other cases on the July calendar but relatives of inmates for pardon were interviewed.

FRANK REELEFORD
WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—The securities and exchange commission today reelected Jerome N. Frank as its chairman for another year. The vote was unanimous.

Rumanian Shift to Axis Causes Political Storm

BUCHAREST, July 3 (U.P.)—King Carol II and the government of Premier George Tatarescu faced a political storm of increasing intensity today as parliament surveyed Rumania's new political orientation toward the axis powers and the territorial demands of Hungary and Bulgaria.

Official sources refused to confirm persistent reports that an important Rumanian envoy had flown to see Adolf Hitler and that the government had been in communication with Fascist Premier Benito Mussolini.

But there were increasing indications of internal political controversy arising from the Rumanian occupation of Bessarabia and Bukovina and involving reports the Hungarian and Bulgarian demands on Rumania would be mediated on the basis of proposals for adjustment of frontiers and exchange of populations.

Disorders, including anti-Semitic clashes, which had occurred sporadically since the Rumanian occupation and were reported to have caused 300 deaths at Galatz, appeared to be dying out today.

Bucharest, which is under special police control and has an early curfew, was quiet yesterday and throughout the night.

The United Press correspondent at Galatz in a telephone conversation with the Bucharest bureau at mid-morning said there had been no new disorders in Galatz since yesterday morning's fighting with dockyard workers who were seeking to enter Bessarabia.

APPROVAL GIVEN CHOICE OF KNOX FOR NAVAL POST

By RONALD G. VAN TINE

WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—The senate naval affairs committee today voted 9 to 5 to recommend that the senate confirm nomination of Col. Frank Knox, the Republican vice-presidential nominee in 1936, as secretary of navy in President Roosevelt's cabinet.

The senate is expected to act next week on the nominations of Knox and of Col. Henry L. Stimson, who was nominated to be secretary of war.

A favorable report on Stimson, who also is a Republican, was voted yesterday by the senate military affairs committee, 14 to 3.

Isolationists who opposed the nominations expected to carry their fight to the senate floor, but confirmation of Knox and Stimson seemed assured.

Vote Listed
The committee vote on Knox was: For confirmation: Sens. David I. Walsh, D. Mass.; Richard B. Russell, D. Ga.; Harry F. Byrd, D. Va.; Peter Gerry, D. R. I.; Charles O. Andrews, D. Fla.; Allen J. Ellender, D. La.; Scott W. Lucas, D. Ill.; Frederick Hale, R. Me.; and W. Warren Barbour, R. N. J. Russell and Barbour voted by proxy.

Against confirmation: Sens. Ellison D. Smith, D. S. C.; Millard E. Tydings, D. Md.; Homer T. Bone, D. Wash.; Rush D. Holt, D. W. V.; and Hiram W. Johnson, R. Calif.

Sens. James J. Davis, R., Penn., and Guy M. Gillette, D. Ia., were absent and recorded as not voting. In a formal statement following the vote, Committee Chairman Walsh said:

"A majority of the senate committee on naval affairs has voted to recommend that the nomination of Col. Frank Knox, for secretary of the navy, be confirmed."

"Since his nomination was submitted, the committee has heard many reports to the effect that Col. Knox was an 'interventionist' and the committee was disposed, if these reports were found to be true, to oppose his confirmation."

Opposes Entering War
"After listening to the testimony, the committee is of the opinion that, though Col. Knox has expressed extreme views in favor of aid to the allies, he has also declared emphatically his opposition to entering the European war and favors only 'moral and economic' aid to the allies by our citizens as differentiated from economic aid by our government. He stated his opposition to extending any governmental aid that would involve us in the war or would in any degree impair our own defenses, which cleared up the principal issue before the committee."

"It is the opinion of the committee that Col. Knox possesses the driving force and general knowledge of existing conditions to contribute much to the speeding up of our naval building program."

Holt, one of the isolationists who opposed Knox's nomination, had de-

PLOT IS TOLD IN NAZI WHITE BOOK

BERLIN, July 3 (U.P.)—The official news agency published today the first document of a sixth German white book purporting to prove with "unprecedented clarity" that the allies had intended to extend the theater of war to Scandinavia and the Balkans until Germany thwarted them.

The news agency, D. N. B., said the white book consists of "secret political documents of the French general staff," which, it said, German sappers found in a half destroyed train at Lachreite on the Loire.

A letter written May 12 by former allied Generalissimo Maurice Gamelin was said to have been included. In it, Gamelin allegedly ordered that the strictest secrecy be maintained over plans for cutting off Swedish ore supplies and Rumanian and Russian oil supplies to Germany, and then, driving Scandinavia, Rumania, Turkey, Greece and Jugoslavia into the war.

Suits Filed to Collect $1,181 In Potato Taxes

BOISE, July 3 (U.P.)—Three suits were on file in district court here today to recover delinquent potato taxes amounting to $1,181 allegedly due the Idaho advertising commission.

State Auditor Calvin E. Wright filed the suits against Vance P. Brown of Gooding, Arthur Polson and E. A. Cox of Shelley, and Tom Harris of Marsing. Wright charged taxes of one per cent per hundred pounds of potatoes had not been paid into the state fund for an advertising campaign.

Planes Drop Big Bombs All Over British Islands

By DAN CAMPBELL

LONDON, July 3 (U.P.)—German planes crossed the south coast of England today for their third straight day of daylight raiding.

The German planes dropped between 20 and 30 high explosive bombs on the countryside in southeast England in today's daylight raid, but it was said there were no casualties and only slight damage.

A joint air ministry-home security, ministry communique issued shortly after noon said: "Several enemy planes crossed the south coast this morning and bombed a number of points."

"Royal air force fighters and anti-aircraft batteries went into action."

During German raids early today, it was said officially, British fighter planes shot down a German bomber off the east coast—the 24th since mass air raids on Britain began June 10.

According to British figures, nearly 100 German planes have been shot down over and around the British coasts since the war started and numerous others have been so damaged it is unlikely they reached their bases.

Fury Increases
Shattered homes and shattered bodies testified to the steadily increasing fury of German air raids over Britain in apparent preparation for a Nazi blitzkrieg invasion. German planes raided wide areas during the night.

Twelve persons were killed and 123 wounded, including women and children, in one northeast England town where six houses were destroyed, others damaged and most windows shattered. A warehouse was burned and some damage was done in two other northeast England towns.

Bombs were dropped in southern and southwestern England; and hit some buildings, and Wales was raided.

The air ministry said in most areas the bombs seemed to have been dropped at random. But in the northeast town where the casualties were exacted, the bombs damaged houses in four streets in a workers' quarter. A school was damaged.

Halls Opened
Public and private halls were opened to accommodate the many persons whose homes had been destroyed or made untenable.

In this town, the Germans began using their "screeching" bombs, which have an apparatus that makes the scream like a siren.

The royal air force was striking hard at Germany.

British aviators told graphic stories of a raid on the Kiel canal and of making hits on Germany's 26,000 ton battleship Scharnhorst, in a floating dock at the Kiel naval base undergoing repairs for damage suffered in a previous encounter with British planes.

2 MEASURES WIN PLACE ON BALLOT
BOISE, July 3 (U.P.)—Two initiative measures for control of liquor sales today were assured a place on the Idaho general election ballot when petitions with over 22,000 signatures were filed with the secretary of state before the filing deadline.

A proposed two per cent sales tax initiative for educational funds and pensions for school teachers failed for want of signatures and petitions filed earlier were withdrawn; John I. Hillman, secretary of the association, said previously no attempt would be made to file unless the required 18,546 names were obtained.

Many signatures for the two dry measures were obtained in a final last-week drive which came to a climax at the deadline for filing today, Harry S. Kessler, Boise attorney and secretary of allied civic forces, said. The measures will be given a place on the November ballot after signatures have been checked by the secretary of state.

The measure sponsored by the organization are the Idaho society act, which would ban advertisement of liquor and limit the amount of such purchases; and the intoxicating liquor control act, which would set up a system of local option in each county to allow voters to decide whether liquor should be sold.

NO STABLES
WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—The army's horse and buggy days are nearly over.

Acting Secretary of War Louis Johnson has announced the army will speed construction of temporary buildings and barracks for men and machines but will build no more stables for its horses.

Johnson explained the army is becoming mechanized and that if more stables are needed the horses can be quartered in the new motor sheds.

DIPLOMATS SEE WAR DEADLOCK
LONDON, July 3 (U.P.)—Key foreign diplomats in London believe the war will be deadlocked after an unsuccessful attempt by Germany to invade Britain and that peace discussions will then be started, a survey indicated today.

Diplomats have been reporting to their governments Britain shows no inclination of wanting peace talks now.

They have been expressing conviction Germany will fail to conquer Britain by invasion.

EXPERT SEES LITTLE CHANCE OF HITLER ISLAND INVASION

TROOP LANDINGS ON BRITISH SOIL TERMED COSTLY

By J. W. T. MASON United Press War Expert There is sound military reason for reports which leading neutral diplomats in London are sending to their governments that Germany will be unable to conquer Great Britain by invasion.

The one uncertain factor on which Hitler's hopes for a successful invasion must be based is the air-plane. To the present, German air raids over Great Britain and British raids over Germany have not shown results justifying any conviction that mass attacks from the air can so demolish British defenses as to allow German troops in great numbers to land on the coast.

Parachute Invasion?

Parachute troops undoubtedly could be dropped at selected spots on British soil to create a diversion. It has been estimated twenty-five thousand air invaders might be sent from Germany. But the results of parachute landings in the present war show that a large proportion are injured in descending, while the element of surprise which proved so valuable in Holland is now lacking.

APPROVAL GIVEN CHOICE OF KNOX

(From Page One) It is reported that he would submit a minor report against Knox. He indicated that the isolationists would conduct a prolonged fight on the senate floor against both Knox and Stimson. Differs With Stimson The committee acted on Knox after questioning him for a second day. He testified that he did not think that this nation should give British warships haven in our harbors or convoy supply ships to belligerents.

Denies Statement "We cannot permit them a foothold in South America," Knox said. The committee acted without waiting to hear testimony by Helen Essary, Washington columnist, who had quoted Knox as telling her at a reception that he favored sending troops to Europe. Knox denied making such a statement. Holt had wanted to hear Mrs. Essary who was absent from the city. The committee announced approval of the nomination after less than 15 minutes of secret discussion.

Opposes Allied Harbor Bases

Likewise, he opposed Stimson's suggestion about opening U. S. bases and harbors to allied warships. Knox said that if such warships came in to our harbors and stayed over the 24 hours allowed by international law, they should be interned. Knox testified that on a recent trip to South America he talked with several heads of governments there. He did not like the U. S. style of doing things, but generally felt that there was a "mutuality of interests" between their countries and the United States, Knox said. He told the committee that he never had a dollar invested outside the United States, with the exception of some stock in a South American copper mine which he disposed of 10 years ago.

CARNIVAL OFFERS FUN FOR JUBILEE

Carnival attractions were added today to the varied offerings of the Maglo City Jubilee as the Bert Francis shows swung into high gear on Second avenue east behind the O. P. Skaggs store and the former Browning Auto company location. Inaugural presentation of the carnival came last night, when both the Legion and auxiliary drum and bugle corps and the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps offered musical numbers while riding on the ferris wheel and the merry-go-round. The Francis shows boast a full assortment of rides, a midway and a lopsided monkey act. The merry-go-round is one of the largest in the entire west, according to the owner. The carnival supplements the full block of midway concessions on Main avenue, where throngs are expected to congregate throughout the three-day jubilee.

The estate includes equity in sale agreement for the $8,855.08 Flier ranch owned by the late pioneer, plus funds due him, funds on deposit and crop interests. Judge C. A. Bailey set hearing for July 28. Rayborn and Rayborn are attorneys for the petitioner.

By United Press WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—The justice department warned all citizens who intend to travel outside the United States on holiday trips to carry ample identification papers to avoid delay in getting back into the country. Immigration inspectors are requiring more adequate identification at border patrol stations to insure that aliens do not enter under guise of citizens. The social security board cautioned job-seekers against "migrating" to Washington in search of work under the defense program. Instead, the board urges applicants apply to their local employment offices. Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt announced that 350,000 job placements were made by the state employment-security agencies during May, an increase of approximately 20 per cent over April. President Roosevelt again refused to disclose his plans for the future as his press conference last yesterday. He would not comment on Wendell Willkie's statement hoping that the President would run again because "I want to meet and beat the champ."

OFFICIALS STUDY CONTROL OF FIRE

BOISE, July 3 (U.P.)—Regional grazing officials met here today with E. N. Kavanaugh, chief of the government range management service, to discuss plans for fire control in southern Idaho ranges. After an inspection tour, Kavanaugh said the fire hazard throughout the southern part of the state was worse than usual and more men would be needed if conditions did not improve. Among those on Wendell Willkie's advisory committee are Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., Mass., Gov. Raymond Baldwin, Connecticut, David S. Ingalls, Connecticut, President Hoover and pre-convention Taft-for-President manager, Ruth Hanna McCormack Sims, New Mexico, who was in the Dewey-for-President high command, Rep. William Ditter, Penn., Oren Root, Jr., and Sen. John Townsend, Jr., Delaware. Despite the bolt of John L. Lewis, there is increasing support for President Roosevelt within the CIO. It was learned that Lewis' top lieutenant, Philip Murray, vice-president of both the CIO and the United Mine workers' organization, and a Pennsylvania delegate to the Democratic national convention, will vote for Mr. Roosevelt's renomination. Other CIO supporters of the President include vice-presidents Sidney Hillman, R. J. Thomas, Emil Rieve, and Sherman H. Dairymple.

A normal yield is eight or nine sacks to the acre, but no more than four or five sacks is expected this year. Palouse farmers also worried over possible loss of spring wheat and oat crops, but hoped a short crop would bring higher prices. READ THE TIMES WANT ADS.

AFL NEUTRAL IN PRESIDENCY RACE

WASHINGTON, July 3 (U.P.)—The American Federation of Labor today declared itself a neutral in the 1940 campaign for President. "The AFL is not taking sides in the presidential election," it announced in the midst of increasing signs that president John L. Lewis of the Congress of Industrial Organizations may form a third party with Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., as its candidate. The announcement was made by the AFL's publicity director Philip Pearl in his "facing the facts" column of the federation's officially weekly news service. Both Good Men Pearl asserted the AFL regarded President Roosevelt and the Republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie "patriotic Americans" and expressed the belief the United States would have nothing to fear "if either the Democratic or Republican candidates win." The AFL would "certainly have nothing to do" with a third party threatened by Lewis and Wheeler, Pearl said, because such a movement is "inimical to the best interests of the country." He accused Wheeler of seeking to "appropriate the peace issue for himself and incite others of trying to force this country into war; the American Federation of Labor does not believe that President Roosevelt or Mr. Willkie have any such intentions." "If he (Wheeler) persists in what is apparently his present intention of running for President on a third-party ticket, we will thereby sever friendly relations with the AFL," he said. UNION SERVICES BEGIN AT PARK

Resumption of outdoor services, conducted during July and August each year, is announced, beginning this coming Sunday evening. The services will be held at the band shell at the city park during the next two months, and a public address system will be in operation each Sunday evening. Baptist, Christian, Brethren, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, all at last of the Twin Falls ministerial association, are cooperating in the project. Some of the other churches have already made arrangements for summer services, and are not able to unite in the park services. Pastors of the cooperating churches will preach in rotation, to assist in the musical programs. "It is the desire of the participating pastors to make these services helpful, inspirational and evangelistic, and it is further hoped that these services will be as well-attended as they have in the past," a spokesman for the sponsor group said today.

LIBERALISM, PEACE IN GROUNDWORK FOR 3RD PARTY

LEWIS SUPPORTS SEN. WHEELER IN PRESIDENCY RACE

ST. LOUIS, July 3 (AP)—Groundwork for a third party movement, sponsored by John L. Lewis of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, dedicated to liberalism and peace and supporting Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., for President, has been laid at a convention of Townsend clubs here.

Lewis sounded the third party cry in an address to the Townsdenites yesterday. He said President Roosevelt was doomed to "ignominious defeat" if he ran for a third term; that Sen. Wheeler was the only man who could beat Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, and unless the Democrats nominated Wheeler for President he wanted to see organized labor, peace advocates, youth and Townsend old age pension groups organize a third party to run Willkie.

"There is a great mandate for peace in the country," he said, "but the people will not have a chance to vote their convictions unless the Democratic party acts or a third party arises."

He said there would be a "tremendous demand for a strong, liberal, peace party which will give the people a chance to vote on peace or war."

The Townsdenites, agitating for pensions for all persons over 60, to be paid out of taxes on incomes over $350 a month, also heard Wheeler. The Montana senator said: "Unless the Democratic party chooses a liberal and progressive platform and wants to keep us out of war and nominates a candidate who will keep us out, there will be no difference between the Democratic and Republican platforms."

HAILEY, July 3 (Special)—Because several instances of pro-German utterances and fifth column "noise," quiet investigation is thoroughly under way. Several deportations have occurred under direction of the FBI and it is said others are scheduled.

For the purpose of checking the fifth column racket a county executive committee is operating, and Chairman James Leichter, chairman of the committee and commander of the Hailey Legion post, states that the committee consists of himself as chairman, Conroy Gillespie, secretary; Jerry Lounsbury, Roy Van Winkle, Glenn Freeman, Art Jensen, Charles Wray, Fred Turner, Grant Walker, Lon Price, Don Blackwell, Dick Adamson, D. J. Howes, George Merrick and Ward Beck.

Apparently the body is working on the same plan as the council of defense did during the former World war, as each member of the committee is to appoint as many assistants as he deems necessary to cover his territory, the names being kept secret save to the committee director sponsor and the sheriff's office.

Close tab of fifth column energies and reported cases will be the duty of these agents, and full investigation will follow.

Emphasizing the importance of the movement, Chairman Leichter urged people to be careful in accusing individuals of fifth column activity, as unfounded rumors have a way of growing beyond control and may result in harm to an innocent person.

The committee will check in all cases reported with the idea of clearing the reputation of those unjustly accused, and convicting those wherein evidence shows they are guilty. Case records will be kept and all reports are to be submitted in writing. Where the evidence is deemed conclusive it will be submitted to county officials and then to the FBI for a further check-up.

Talk Isn't Proof

"However, it is to be remembered," he stated, "that we are not at war with Germany, and pro-German expressions do not necessarily indicate fifth column activity. But all good Americans will be wise to refrain from expressing opinion contrary to the declared policy of the United States. During times such as these the government has a right to expect a united front from all its people, and sympathy unduly expressed today may prove embarrassing tomorrow."

"The committee wishes to express that it is engaged in a cautious and thorough survey of conditions here, and will take steps to protect our vital industries. Its chief aim will be to lead the community in militant Americanism, and awaken the country to the need for alert preparedness along all lines."

While no particular publicity has been given several well-established cases in Blaine county, and the deportation by government authorities, it is cited that numerous reports of further efforts of fifth column agitators have made it necessary to deal with the situation in rigid manner, asserts the chairman.

SUSPECTS GO TO SEPARATE JAILS

SHOSHONE, July 3 (Special)—With the arraignment continued until next Monday at 10 a. m., four persons involved in the torture slaying of 48-year-old Charles Sanders, Yale farmer, today had been separated and sent to various jails in this section of the state.

Announcement that the murder-accused quartet had been separated was made here this morning by Lincoln county Prosecutor C. C. Shaw.

At Gooding, Jerome

Shaw said that George Sanders, 18, is being kept at the Shoshone county jail here; Chester Phillips, 22, has been taken to the Gooding county jail at Gooding, while Joseph Sanders, 20, and Mrs. Flossie Phillips, 18, have been removed to the Jerome county jail at Jerome.

Shaw explained that the move was not made because of any threats on the lives of the four prisoners. Rather, under the law, those charged with murder are not permitted to remain together and, because the Shoshone jail does not have accommodations enough to house all four separately, it was decided to take three of them to other jails.

Officials said today that all four of the defendants are more or less remorseful. At the arraignment yesterday afternoon they asked that an attorney be made available to them. Because of this request Probate Judge Howard Adkins continued the arraignment until Monday at 10 a. m. Of the four, Joseph seems the less affected by what has happened.

Shortly after his arrest in Burley late last Saturday night, after the elder Sanders was reported missing, George admitted to police that they forced him into the trunk of an old Ford and drove him into the desert where they tied him and left him to die. He said they forced him to a house in Burley the night of June 21. His body, with George directing officers, was found early Sunday. Apparently the man had lived four or five days before death came.

Termed "Most Brutal"

This murder of a father by his three children and son-in-law was described by Prosecutor Shaw as one of the most brutal killings in the state's history.

The four maintain that they decided to do away with Sanders because of his treatment of them during most of their lives. The two sons and daughter recounted that he used to beat them often and would also take money from them.

Pioneer Displays Draw Eyes as Jubilee Opens

Pioneer display windows in several Twin Falls retail establishments drew considerable attention today as the Magic City jubilee formally opened.

The window displays are varied, but all stress a pioneer theme in keeping with Idaho's 50th year of statehood. That anniversary is celebrated today throughout the Gem state.

Buffalo Bill Relics
As an illustrative sample of the displays, let's look at just one along Main avenue. This window features such widely varied souvenirs of 50 years ago as a silver studded bridle bit with the famed inscription—"W. F. Cody"—and a red push-backed hymn book brought to Idaho by pioneer ancestors of Mrs. Everett J. Hayes.

The entire window display is centered around the first copy of the first newspaper published in Twin Falls at 9:56 p. m., Oct. 28, 1904 and penciled across the top "Presented to I. B. Perrine by the Publishers with a life-time subscription." This yellowed copy is in an eight-page issue of tabloid size and contains pictures.

Using a special background covered with old-time photographs, the development of the Magic City is traced from 1904 to 1911 by approximately 30 pictures which are a part of the collection of the city of Twin Falls.

Weapons
In depicting the days when Idaho first became a state, no collection would be representative without the trusty muzzle loading rifles and pistols of the cap and ball type. This portion has been loaned by Fred King, Burley. Among the three rifles displayed is one found lying along the Old Oregon Trail, and another brought to Idaho from Kentucky by the early Mormon settlers. Both the five-shooter and six-shooter types of Colt pistol are shown as well as a 44.

And speaking of Colt revolvers, on each side of the Cody bridle bit are replicas of this style of gun. One of two such bits known to exist, this is possessed by Eibert Shaw, Twin Falls, and was found several years ago near Tuttle.

Yes, and the days of the pony express are recalled by an old white enameled candle holder, recovered from an abandoned station.

Domestic Items
Getting back to the more domestic things of the tar-paper shack and log cabin days are an old spinning wheel, wooden biscuit board and black enameled, hand-painted coal container with rack for fire shovel and stove poker, all property of Mrs. Emma Blodgett. The coal hopper was reconstructed and duplicated the original colorings, used in the '30s.

Even 50 years ago the can opener was an important part of every household or camp outfit and such a can opener with its handle designed from an iron skillet handle and held in place by a copper rivet, is shown through courtesy of J. M. Dimond, who carried the article as part of his camp outfit during the Thunder Mountain gold rush, near the present ghost town of Warrens.

Among the keepsakes that probably saw their way across the prairies and mountains in the covered wagons are a pale blue glass, hand-decorated sugar and creamer with silver holders owned by Mrs. W. A. Van Engelen and a faded plush autograph book and tin-type photograph album on a brass stand loaned by Mrs. Clara A. Dimond.

Antient Hats
As an added bit of femininity, two hats dating way back when, give the observer a headache just to view these one-time fashion leaders. The winter model is a huge, wide brimmed, black velvet, piled high with large ostrich plumes, veiled bows and veiling and anchored in place with decorative hatpins a foot or in length. For summer, the latest choice is a narrow rimmed style, with a veil wrapped around a high, rousing crown, and held in place by an enormous flower.

Included in the window trim is a miniature white china vase, given as a school award in 1884; the first mechanical screwdriver, a heavy ivory and gold picture frame, a battered brass candlestick, a smoking set made of steer horns, a miner's candle holder and the piece of driftwood inscribed by William Jennings Bryan and his wife, together with a picture of the group of which Ruth Bryan Owens was a part.

Museum, Too

In addition to this window exhibit and the others equally outstanding at different stores, the informal "museum" opened by jubilee sponsors in the Newberry building also contains many pioneer items. The museum is intended primarily as a registration point at which old timers of Magic Valley may get together for reminiscences and renewal of acquaintances.

L. D. S. HEARS OF WELFARE GOALS

To help the needy, to give employment, and to raise the standard of living, is the welfare plan for the Latter Day Saints church, according to Clyde E. Edmonds, Salt Lake City, one of the out-of-state speakers at the Twin Falls stake quarterly conference here over the week-end.

Charles E. Call, Salt Lake City, former district attorney of Utah, delivered dynamic addresses at the conference, using "Sweet Are the Uses of Adversity" as his subject. He is internationally-known as a speaker.

World Affairs
J. W. Richins conducted the meetings and discussed the effect of international affairs on residents of the United States. President and Mrs. Adamson, Blaine stake; Roy Wood, Raymond Sedweeks, Mrs. Mitchell W. Hunt and N. W. Arrington all spoke briefly as did Wallace Strong, formerly of Twin Falls. The new theme, "My son, keep thy father's commandments and forsake not the law of thy mother," was introduced in the pageant on "The Obligations of Home and Heritage," presented at the M. I. A. session, the final event of the conference, for an audience that packed the auditorium.

Director and Aides
It was directed by Mrs. Leota Bolingbroke, assisted by M. I. A. stake board members, Miss Nellie McBride officiated as the reader and voices were Virgil McBride and Theron Knight. Music was directed by Evvin Clyde and Herman Christmanson. Invocation was given by Roy Wood of Buhl and benediction by Mrs. Lorinda Phillips of Twin Falls. Members of the Kimberly ward provided musical numbers during the afternoon program.

Compensation Is Upheld by Court
BOISE, Ida., July 2 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court today affirmed an industrial accident board order awarding compensation to Mrs. Beatrice O'Neil of Orofino for the death of her husband.

The court held the husband, Ted O'Neil who was killed when he fell from the roof of a house, was an employee of the Madison Lumber company and therefore his widow was eligible for compensation benefits.

FIRST
This season's "cop" of firecrackers drew "first blood" in the form of a fire here last evening. A "cracker, tossed onto an awning of the Central rooms structure in downtown Twin Falls, caused the awning to catch fire. Chemicals were used by firemen to extinguish the blaze and damage was slight.

Police today had concluded that someone was either badly in need of food—or was planning a picnic. Early Tuesday morning someone broke a window in the Brown Auto service place at 402 Main avenue north and entered the store portion of the structure. A checkup revealed that missing articles included the following:
Two jars of pickles, four boxes of pancake flour, a bottle of milk and three cakes.

There Is No Returning

"Turn Back the Universe," moored the balladist, "and Give Me Yesterday."

That was in the sentimental days B. C. (Before Crooners). But there are almost as many people yearning today for the "good old days" as there were then.

After the World war, we yearned for the happy and simple days before the war when a dollar was a dollar, and you could travel the world without a passport. But that world was gone.

Since 1932 we have been yearning for the flush days when anybody could turn a nice profit in Goldman-Sachs and Tex Guinan honored by the endearing term "sucker" those who were making her rich.

Now, as the new European war enters its decisive last phase, there are still some who look back to a resumption of world trade on a comparatively free, private basis, just as it was before the invasion of Poland.

It is more than possible that this fond, sentimental backward gaze was one of the factors in the undoing of France. The conquered republic was constantly looking back to her triumph in the World war; and to the system of trade, political, and military alliances it had made then. They were gone, but France looked back.

The United States is fortunate in that it can look ahead, if it will, unafraid into this strange new world. But unfortunately nostalgia and the compelling remembrance of things past are also strong among us.

The trade war in South America forecast for "after the war," has not even waited for that war's end. Already Germany is seeking orders for steel and machine plants there, so confident of victory in the war that she is reported posting cash bonds to guarantee delivery in September and October.

Should Germany emerge from the war as economic spokesman for 400,000,000 people in Europe, Japan control the economic activities of another 400,000,000 in Asia, and Russia another 200,000,000, foreign trade is going to be something the like of which the world never saw.

Gigantic pressures will be able to be directed in turn and at will at one small independent country after another. Their only chance to avoid complete economic dependence will be to combine.

That makes the Hull reciprocal trade program, designed for a free world, a dead issue today. New techniques must be devised to meet new situations. They are in the making.

The world has embarked on a strange, wild course, and during the lifetime of most people now living, there is no returning.

Paying the Cost

You'll find yourself paying from 1 cent to 3-cents more for theater tickets. Gasoline's likely to rise a half cent or so. Cigarettes may be costing you a cent more for each two packs. Your beer glass may contain a swallow or two less—or by the bottle, you may pay an extra cent. Toilet articles, radios, mechanical refrigerators, playing cards, and matches may cost a little more.

That's how the first installment on the defense bill is going to be paid, beginning this month. Of course in March the income tax will be higher, and will scoop lower to catch single men earning as little as $800. When congress was bravely appropriating all those billions, this is what it meant to you, and you, and you.

But if we get the defense strength we asked congress to provide, nobody's going to kick on paying over those extra nickels and pennies. The fact that so many are paying is the best guarantee that they will want to see to it that they get something for their money.

1,054 Scout Cars

Now we're talking.

The army has ordered 1054 armored scout cars. Production will begin within 40 days, and within eight months all will be delivered.

There is both a hopeful and a warning note here. First, it will be good to see material of this kind actually rolling off the line, and not merely visioned on paper.

But second, observe that although this is a type of car closely similar to those already being built for the army, it takes 40 days to begin production, and a half year to have them actually on the road.

Steady's the word on this preparedness thing. No waste of time in getting started, but no illusions as to the realities of the task.

PROVING OUR POLICE ARE FAST WORKING GENTS!

Gent in Third Row:
Didn't see it in the public prints so I suppose it's up to Pot Shots, as usual, to bare the story.

And the story is The Holdup at Daynes Music Company, or, The Police Are Always on the Job.

It goes like this: A certain piano tuning gent was in the music store, and was accompanied by his small son, who has a great fondness for toy guns. The little boy was brandishing one such toy weapon, and his papa took it away from him, fearing the youngster would accidentally bump one of the new pianos in the store.

So there was papa, absently holding the toy gun while conversing with Johnny Adams, manager of the store. While they talked; the gun was pointed at Adams.

Somebody outside saw this alarming situation—and turned in a police call with frantic speed.

I'm told, by those who should know, that three police cars were on the scene in practically nothing flat.

Which greatly embarrassed the gent with the toy gun.

And which, incidentally, can serve as a neat lesson to my gentry planning an actual holdup.

How to Impress A Lady Friend

Pot Shots suspects that Frank Johnson, the movie projection expert, has been studying the technique of the small boys who ride bicycles hereabouts.

Frank was out riding a bike Monday afternoon, acquiring himself a load of sunshine and exercise.

After getting thoroughly acquainted with his two-wheel vehicle, he pedaled to the street whereon resides his lady friend. And bicycled past her house no less than twice.

And one of those times he was observed with both hands lifted high off the handlebars, thereby showing the lady what a guy he is.

We trust she was properly impressed.

TALE OF A GUY WHO TOOK HIS OWN BAIT!

Sir:
This is really a classic. Stinky McFarland and his sidekick, "Joe the Blow" Donahue, were listening to a broadcast of the Dempsey fight. Neither was listening very attentively, but both heard that something happened in the second round.

"What was that?" asked Joe.

"Oh, he just said that Dempsey dropped dead in the second round," said Stinky who really didn't know himself what the radio-announcer said.

Joe questioned the authenticity of the explanation, but finally yielded to the better and more-highly developed oratorical abilities of Stinky.

Next morning, when Stinky showed up for labor, Joe said to him: "Say, I didn't believe what you said about Dempsey last night. I didn't think it was true then. Stoo bad about his dropping dead in the second round, wasn't it?"

A few minutes later, when Stinky walked into an office, he said to the folks there (and believed it himself): "Stoo bad about Dempsey, wasn't it?"

The ensuing conversation was a revelation, no less.

All of which goes to show that people who dwell in glass houses, etc., etc., and etc.

ATTENTION, YOU MARDI GRAS PARADE IDEA-HUNTERS!

Sure Potay:
I'll join your Society for Wearing of Shorts on the Streets by Courageous Males, but why can't the society sponsor a leg show in connection with its information?

For years the gals have been displaying their gams and from what I've seen—not that I've made any special effort to observe the appendages, you understand—I think we can really make the gals take a back seat—again.

Think of the possibilities of a leg show for men. Hairy legs, skinny legs, fat legs, muscular legs, bowed legs, frooked legs, knee-kneed legs, hairless legs, white legs, brown legs, funny (ha-ha) legs, peculiar (not ha-ha) legs and just common legs. Why the thing's gigantic, it's colossal, it's stupendous and it's big, too.

Yours for masculine legs dangling nakedly in the open air.

● SERIAL STORY
PEACE—SHE'S WONDERFUL BY ISABEL WAITT

CHAPTER I

"Well, here we are!" Wayne Dennis grinned from the sober, blue-eyed, little girl at his side to the sober, dark-eyed, big girl who rose to meet him in the North Station at Boston. "Rhoda, this is Peace Warren. Peace, say howdy to Miss Lowell—your Auntie Rhoda."

"She isn't my aunt," Peace wriggled defiantly.

"No, honey. But you can play she is on the trip." He beamed at his fiancée. "Cute little trick, isn't she? Regular mouse. You can't imagine how grateful Warren was when I agreed to take her along with us. 'Old man,' he said, 'we'll never forget this.' 'Shucks,' I told him. 'It's no trouble at all. She'll be good as a kitten.'"

Rhoda's neat brows puckered. "That," she intimated, scrutinizing the 6-year-old in cheery blue, "remains to be seen, Denny. Has the B-A-B-Y arrived yet?"

"... taking her M-A-M-M-A to the H-O-S-P-I-T-A-L right now. Picked up the kiddy at the office. Promised to wire the minute we deliver Peace to her grandmother in Los Angeles. Be almost like a honeymoon, won't it, dear?"

Rhoda's pale cheeks flushed. "Honey-moon? With this along!" She picked up a smart hatbox which had been resting on a huge gray suitcase.

"Me don't like her," Denny heard Peace mutter, apparently to a tiny overnight case she carried.

"Sly, that's all," he said hastily. "And no wonder, seeing we're both practically strangers." He picked up the bags. "Let's go."

"She'll get acquainted," Rhoda started on ahead. "It's a scream—her being our chaperon! But you know my Aunt Tilly. Threw up her hands in holy horror at the idea of our going out west to your sister's to get married. Trottled out all her Beacon Hill phobias."

"But taking Peace made everything perfectly proper!"

"Not everything. I may as well say it now, Denny, Aunt Tilly isn't keen on my marrying you, anyway."

Denny put down the heaviest suitcase. "What has she got against me?"

"Oh, come on. It isn't just you. It's all men. She says you can summer 'em and winter 'em and still get fooled. Her one exception is that precious nephew of hers, my Cousin Bertrand. She made me promise to stop off and see him in Chicago, between trains."

Denny scowled. "It's up to you, dear. Best is planning to stage a simple wedding for us at LaJolla, but if you aren't sure—Maybe you'll get to like 'em on route."

Confound that old blue stocking aunt, with her fat pocketbook! He signaled a porter for Rhoda's luggage, and tried to relieve Peace of her small case, which she toted gingerly and refused to relinquish. He saw her pick up a peanut from the station floor.

"Don't eat that, honey. You'll mind me, like a good girl, won't you?"

Peace hid the peanut in her pocket. "I'll mind you, but me won't mind her."

"What sort of talk was that? Then he remembered what Warren had said about an I-and-me complex the child had. When she says "me won't"—look out! Regular Jekyll-and-Hyde young lady. He hoped Rhoda would understand.

THEY found their reservations and saw the luggage safely stowed away. The train didn't leave till 2 o'clock.

Denny paid no heed. He had to make that train. Why

Illustrated by George Scarbo.

In a bound Denny reached the child, snatched her in his arms and dashed through the crowd. Behind him a woman screamed "Stop that man! Kidnap!"

Denny consulted his watch. "We've plenty of time. How about a nice cold drink back at the soda fountain?"

Peace chose strawberry, her favorite. Denny selected a couple of magazines and Rhoda made a last-minute phone call, but Peace was still straining at her straw.

"Hurry up, honey, My the instructions your daddy gave me," Denny said, as all three headed once more for the train. "Put her to bed early! Don't let her lean out of the window! Watch for drafts! Don't allow her too much candy! You'd think—"

"All a-hooooooooooo!" called the conductor.

"Just in time. But the thing Warren stressed most," Denny went on, "was—don't let her get lost. Good grief! Where is she?"

"All a-hooooooooooo!" yelled the conductor again, assisting a beady-eyed woman, singly upholstered in shining black satin, on to the train. "Chicago? Yes, Madam."

"Hold it!" shouted Denny. "Lost a little girl."

"She was here a second ago," Rhoda interceded, while Denny raced away.

The conductor stared back at his watch. "Can't delay this train. Got about—"

Denny didn't wait to hear how much. He tore to the soda fountain. No sign of Peace! The waiting room seats, where they'd met Rhoda—was it 10 minutes or 10 years ago?

No blue coat! For a second he stood still, frantically scanning the huge depot. His heart beat so rapidly he thought it would burst.

There—down by the drug store side window, standing on tiptoe looking at that display of dolls! In a bound he reached the blue-clad human doll, snatched her in his arms and dashed through the crowd.

Behind him a woman screamed. "Stop that man! Kidnap!"

Denny paid no heed. He had to make that train. Why couldn't the child behave, instead of struggling so? If he put her down they'd never make it.

Then suddenly in front of him, marching towards the wrong gate, he beheld a familiar blue figure, swinging a tiny blue overnight case. A moment, his blood engorged. The cry at his heels engulfed him. Quickly he let go the now-sobbing youngster in his arms and made a grab for the real Peace. Why did women dress their children all alike?

The conductor yanked them aboard the train steps as the limited glided gently forward.

Rhoda and the woman in black were on the observation platform, but Denny wasn't looking at them. He could see raised fists shaking at him through the grill of the closed gates. Had that lot found her mother? The murmur of the crowd was swallowed by the rising clatter of the wheels.

"What an escape!" he gasped, still panting.

"You imp!" Rhoda scolded Peace. "How dare you run away and scare us to death?"

"Postcard," Peace pouted. "To tell my Mummy we arrived safely. I won't go! Me won't go!" And she began to cry.

"Sure, honey. Don't cry," Denny tried to placate her. "She's got a lot of postcards to mail from different stops," he explained to Rhoda. "Shall we go in? Jingo, that was a close call!"

But Denny was too perturbed to observe the way the strange woman's mouth grew into a straight line—as she stared from the fast-receding mob to the trio on the platform with her.

"If only I had a paper!" she muttered to herself when the door closed behind them. "It's him, or I'll eat my hat! 'Close call,' huh! Her beady eyes narrowed. "Well, anyway, they can't get off till—oh, where is that timetable?"

She followed them into the third car. What luck! Her seat was right behind theirs. "Wonder if there's a reward?" Mrs. King's spirits rose.

● BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—The whole story of the fight in the committee which framed the G. O. P. platform may never be told outside of the inner party councils. But one of the biggest battles—which the committeemen called a "misunderstanding" after they had calmed down—came over the burning question of putting into the plank on national defense a half dozen words to the general effect that the mothers of America don't want their sons to die on the battlefields of Europe.

At its height the row almost caused the resignation of ex-Sen. George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, when C. Wayland Curtis, Brookes of Illinois threatened to take to the convention floor his fight for inclusion of the sons-and-mothers phrase.

Actual drafting of the plank was mainly the work of Senator Pepper, veteran of many of the G. O. P.'s inner wars.

STRONGER PLANKS NEARLY WON

Judge King Swope of Kentucky declared that the projected plank was altogether too short and simple, and demanded inclusion of a ringing phrase dealing with the mothers, their sons and the battlefields.

The argument in the sub-committee drafting this plank went on for hours. The full platform committee headed by K. Hyde of Oklahoma, was debating other things in its spacious quarters on the roof of the Bellevue Stratford hotel, convention headquarters. The sub-committee toiled in room 809. And up and down the north elevator between the eighth floor and roof commuted the sub-committeemen, getting nowhere.

And the morning of the third day came. Senator Pepper, not as young as once he was, having labored more hours each day than a man of his age should, left the deliberations for a short time. In his absence, the sons-and-mothers clause got into the platform draft. Curly Brooks took up the fight for it—threatened to take the issue to the convention floor.

PARTY'S ELDERLY PREVAIL

The convention, waiting for a platform it could adopt before it should pick a candidate, canceled its morning session. Pepper, tired from the long alle, walked out of the committee room and threatened to resign.

When word of this deadlock got to the ears of the elder statesmen, important telegrams began to ring. People like Joe Few of Pennsylvania were called in—quell the disturbance, persuade Pepper not to resign, and talk Brooks out of taking the fight to the convention floor.

Having canceled its morning session, the convention had to be adjourned again when its afternoon session met. This was over the wishes of the delegates themselves, who wanted to get on with picking a candidate. But—no platform, no session.

It finally ended happily, of course. The party's elders prevailed, and the defense plank didn't mention the mothers and sons.

JUST A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING

An official communication as to all these goings-on would read about like this:

"There was a slight misunderstanding over the inclusion of a few words which the committee felt were 'unnecessary.'"

History has a way of getting complex like that, but it sometimes skips the best stories.

MODERN MANHATTAN AND MURDER MYSTERY IN TWO VOLUMES

To most people, the New York City since 1900 means bigger buildings and more people. Actually, the transition goes deeper.

Manhattan society has changed to such an extent since Ward McAllister first named the Four Hundred, that the glittering social pyramid of 1910 bears little resemblance to the original group. The urban scene of a social arbiter has almost disappeared, his niche filled for the most part by playboys and professional extra men.

Yet scattered through the Manhattan scene are individuals, both men and women, who cling proudly though rather hopelessly to the traditions of the old order. Futile but likeable, they are unable to grasp the sick urbanity of Manhattan, 1940.

Such a character is the slightly whimsical Mr. Opal, in John Mosher's latest collection of essays, "Celebrate at Twilight" (Random House: $2). Mild but enjoyable, the book has bite and irony. Mr. Mosher, of the New Yorker magazine staff, does an expert job of placing his characters against Oate Society backdrops for contrast.

"Crime Club addicts will find deep contentment in 'Mr. Weedy Missing' by Miles Burton (Doubleday, Doran: $2). It's a well-developed murder mystery involving Scotland Yard.

The investigation into the violent death of John Westery, introvert and student of birds in the field, begins before anyone really knows that the man has been murdered. He has, of course, and Inspector Arnold of the Yard discovers the gruesome remains in due time. The case takes strange twists,

JULY 3, 1925

The little squirrels that have been caged under the band stand in the park for the past year are out with their families today and boys are warned that it is against the law to molest them. It was stated by Commissioner T. J. Douglas. Boise is noted for the number of squirrels that enliven its parks and streets. When first brought here one of the squirrels escaped and ran a long distance into the country. After they have a family, they "stay put" and divorce for desertion is unknown.

Joe Thomets, Los Angeles, arrived today to visit his brothers, Frank M. and M. A. Thomets.

Mrs. L. Lipp and son, Kenneth, are here from the south for a visit with Mrs. Fred Foss, Jr., her daughter.

JULY 3, 1913

Glen Jenkins, junior member of the firm of Jenkins and company of this city, stole a march on his friends and was an old married man of two weeks before the story of his wedding leaked out in this city. The first intimation came when the happy couple returned the last week from a honeymoon spent in Salt Lake City.

The bride is Miss Hattie May Buchanan of Oakley, and the daughter of Mrs. Mamie Buchanan of that city. The ceremony was performed in Salt Lake City June 12. Both the young people are well known and popular in their respective communities and received hearty congratulations from a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will be at home to their friends in this city after July 1.

Chamber at Buhl Promotes Airport

BUHL, July 3 (Special)—Chamber of Commerce recently discussed arrangements for a drive to further improvements on Buhl airport and for governmental training of new pilots.

A resolution was passed authorizing the secretary to send a letter to Congressman Dworshak, and appointing a committee to gather legal description of the field and to rush other preparations. Dick Lowe, councilman, himself an amateur pilot, reported that the present field is inadequate and that planes originally planning to land here were selecting other fields.

Buhl field is located on government land six miles west of Buhl and is close to the rifle range used by the national guard. It was hoped that the two might be linked together as a preparedness factor. Appointed to act on the special committee were Dick Lowe, Major Gentzen and Jess O. Eastman.

Chamber voted to pay its share of a joint service club sign at either end of Broadway, at or near the city limits. Stanley A. Wabber was asked to represent the chamber on the joint committee. Sign plans were submitted, by Roy Felt.

Ancestress' Veil Worn by Bride at Church Wedding

The exquisite heirloom lace wedding veil of her maternal grandmother was worn by Miss Louise Porter Krengel for her marriage to Dr. William Craven Scott, Ann Arbor, Mich., yesterday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. It cascaded from a small wreath of orange blossoms worn on the crown of her head.

With it she wore a classic, slightly trained wedding gown of ivory satin, designed on modified Grecian lines. The gown was distinguished by a deep V-shaped neckline, hand-smocking on the bodice and shoulders, and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists.

She carried a bride's bouquet of Joanna Hill roses mingled with minute blue flowers for contrast.

Bride's Attendants
Delphinium blue marquisette formed the full-skirted, off-the-shoulder model worn by Mrs. John P. Lundie, Berkeley, Calif., matron of honor. The gown was beaded at the hipline and neckline with pink grosgrain ribbon.

Identically styled were the gowns of the bridesmaids, Miss Millicent Eldridge and Miss Dorothy Krengel, sister of the bride, but Miss Eldridge's being of a deeper shade of pink.

Their frocks featured double skirts of net, puffed short sleeves, and starched embroidered net jackets, coming to points at the back.

Floral halos and lace half-mitts, matching their gowns, were worn by the trio of attendants, and they carried colonial bouquets of azalia chrysanthemums, larkspur, delphinium and gypsophylla in shades of pink and blue.

Mrs. O. H. Krengel, mother of the bride, wore a blue lace gown with a matching turban trimmed with pink flowers, and Mrs. C. R. Scott, Nampa, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in a mauve-rose lace model, with which she wore a matching turban touched with light blue dotted veiling.

Little Miss Mary Stewart, Crane, Ore., flower girl, wore a light blue organdy dress and carried a small basket of vari-colored blooms. Master David Scott, Palo Alto, Calif., wore a dark jacket and short white trousers, and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Miss Carolyn Krengel, Portland, Ore., who lighted the myriad ivory tapers which illuminated the fore part of the church, wore a white taffeta frock and a halo of blue flowers. Coral gladioli, regal lilies, delphinium and greenery formed an effective background for the ceremony.

Mrs. Thomas C. Peavey, gowned in white chiffon, with which she wore a flower crowned picture hat of forget-me-not blue horsehair braid, sang "I Love Thee" by Greig, and "Thou Art Like a Flower," by Schumann, preceding the ceremony, accompanied by Miss Patricia Smith at the organ.

Miss Smith also played the preliminary music and the wedding marches.

Craven Scott, Palo Alto, was his brother's best man. Ushers were John Breckenridge and Thomas O. Peavey. Officiating clergyman was Rev. G. L. Clark.

Wedding Reception
Following the ceremony, a wedding reception was held at the Krengel home, 202 Tenth avenue east, where the refreshment tables were arranged on the spacious lawn, which is surrounded by flower gardens.

The bride and bridegroom cut their cakes in the customary manner. Mrs. Craven Scott, Palo Alto, and Mrs. Walter Krengel, Portland, Ore., presided at the cake table, and Mrs. DeWitt Young officiated at the punch table.

Miss Margaret Davis, Miss Edith Clark, Miss Audrey Hinkle and Miss Katherine Colwell assisted in serving.

When Mrs. Scott left on a wedding trip to the Sawtooth mountains, she wore an ensemble of black cable mesh with pink accessories.

The couple will leave in the late summer for Ann Arbor where Dr. Scott will complete an internship at the University of Michigan hospital.

Galento Fails to Answer Bell in 8th Round, Loses

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 3. (U.P.)—There's a poem that goes like this and there's a moral in it for those who follow the fortunes of the leather-fisted man:

Last night there were three green steps in the stair and they led up to a square of white canvas in Roosevelt stadium.

The little man who wasn't there was Joe Jacobs—canny, cocky Joe Jacobs who took Tony Galento off the ash heap of pugilism and breath of fire and light into his fat body.

FACTS

Attendance—22,711. Gross receipts—$98,004. Winner meets Joe Louis in September for world heavyweight title.

start of the eighth round when Galento, a bloody, sodden mass, was unable to get up off his stool and waddle back into battle.

Joe Jacobs might have sent him back into battle with his caustic tongue, but last night Joe Jacobs was the little man who wasn't there.

For a time, in the first two minutes of fighting, it seemed the little man was there—at least his spirit was there on the three green steps—yelling at Galento as he has done so many times before.

For Tony came out fighting, tossed his long left hook and caught Baer on the right temple. Then he smashed another left to the body and seemed to have command of the fight.

Kimberly and Twin Falls Score Wins

Twin Falls Junior Cowboy baseball team yesterday staged off a determined Jerome rally in the ninth that brought in five runs to eke out a 14-13 victory over the Jerome club in a Junior Pioneer league encounter.

Con Rasmussen Blanks Cowboys; Both Teams Move to Boise

Ol' Con Rasmussen, with a "nothin' ball" that would put Dizzy Dean to shame, last night pitched to the corners—and the Twin Falls batters' weaknesses—to come through with a 10-0 shutout for the Boise Pilots as Ray Jacobs made his debut at Jaycee park as Cowboy pilot.

With approximately 900 fans in the stands to see the game and get a glimpse of the new manager, the Cowboys failed to do anything that would let Jacobs show his managerial ability.

Two of which were decidedly scratch affairs.

Manager Jacobs stated that his plying choice would be either Damon Hayes or Guy Holdhusen—the latter just back off the suspended list after a week of work on a curve ball.

Meanwhile, the Pilots were pecking away at the offerings of Lundberg. They got two in the first—none unearned, added a pair more in the fifth—none unearned, one in the seventh, two in the eighth when Joe Egnatko got a home run and then three more in the ninth.

Leading hitter for the evening was Walt Lowe, the Boise first sacker, who got three safeties in five times up.

First appearance of Cordell Lloyd, left-handed utility first baseman and catcher, was made in the ninth when he went in to bat for Lundberg. He groundouted out to end the game.

Box score: R H E. Twin Falls 14 10 0. Boise 0 0 0.

Tobin Leaves For Job at Bremerton

Frank Tobin, ex-manager of the Twin Falls Cowboys, accompanied by his wife, left today for Seattle to confer with R. C. (Torchy) Torrence, vice-president of the Seattle Rainiers, before going on to Bremerton to take on a baseball job there for the remainder of the season.

Released here after two months of play, Tobin expects the Bremerton job to be at least as good as the one here.

The veteran former Pacific Coast league star left here with no ill feelings toward the local club officials, team members or fans.

I want to recommend Ray Jacobs as your new manager. He's an A-1 ball player and when he gets in shape you'll find that he is a great closer—if he decides to play.

EX-TWIN FALLS STARS STILL LEADING W. PENNANT CHASE... SPOKANE PAPER SEES "SHIFT" IN PERSONNEL OF COWBOYS

WI loop are faring well... Eddie Lehman has his Spokane Indians way in the lead in the race for the flag and is being ably aided by Frank Falconi, ex-Cowboy outfielder, who is now holding down first base.

From a Spokane newspaper: "A shakeup looms in the Twin Falls Cowboy lineup and Owner Bill Fillos is trying to make some changes over the top."

The Twin Falls team is 16 games behind the pace-setting Salt Lake City nine—a circumstance not gratifying in any way to "Omer Ulrich. The team won the Pioneer league pennant last year with many players now performing with the Spokane Indians.

To get away from the Cowboys for a spell—Silver creek was opened to fishing on Monday and from what we hear it was the same old story, the traffic was thicker all day there than it is on Shoshone and Main Saturday nights.

Observers report that the Twin club needs strengthening in every department, particularly in the pitching and infield.

Just what Ulrich will decide after conferring with Business Manager Hugh Face of the Twin club isn't known, but it is known he is dissatisfied with things, and Face has made a fortune by investments in his old home town of Atlanta.

Keeping track—the left-handed utility catcher and first baseman shipped to the Cowboys by Vancouver, Cordell Lloyd, had a pretty fair record with the Capitanos. He was in 34 games, at bat 110 times, got 38 hits for an average of .327, while driving in 24 runs.

Bees Retain Lead Over Boise Club

The league-leading Salt Lake Bees defeated the Ogden Reds 7 to 5, last night.

The victory maintained the Bees' lead of five games in the Pioneer league, while the second-place Boise Pilots blanked the Twin Falls Cowboys, 10 to 0.

Three runs in the seventh clinched a win for the Bees after trailing the Reds by two runs. Bobby Adams hit a homer for Ogden in the first with one on Paul Piscovich, who relieved Mel Ristau in the fourth, was the winning pitcher. Ken Carpenter was the losing moundman.

At Twin Falls, the Pilots scored heavily in the first, fifth and eighth innings, while the Cowboys were held hopeless. Egnatko connected with a circuit-swing for Boise in the eighth with one on, Con Rasmussen held the Cowboys to five hits, while the Pilots grouped their 12 hits off Wayne Lundberg.

Pocastello made three of his 11 hits good for homers to win over Idaho Falls, 9 to 8. White started the Card home run barrage with a circuit clout in the sixth. Andrade connected with homers in the sixth and eighth innings.

STOCKS REGISTER SLIGHT ADVANCE

NEW YORK, July 3 (UP)—Stocks registered small gains today in light holiday trading. Some of the improvement was attributed to short-covering. Before New York opened, the London stock exchange advanced for the fourth consecutive session. Gains were ascribed to hopes that Russian activity would divert German attack from Britain. Other factors aiding the market were the Iron Age statement that June steel bookings, without benefit of defense program orders, were the best since 1920 and that steel production would snap back next week; record airline travel, and improved oil and gasoline statistics. Higher electricity output sustained utilities. Packard featured the market in activity and made a small gain when it was announced the company would produce 7,000 Rolls-Royce airplane engines—3,000 for the United States and 4,000 for Great Britain. United Air Lines rose nearly a point and gains were noted in American and Eastern. Copper stocks improved moderately on reports Great Britain is negotiating to take over between 25,000 and 30,000 tons of copper ordered by the French government before its capitulation. Building shares were strong spots with U. S. Gypsum up more than 2 points and General Electric up 1/2. General Electric reported private construction in the first half of 1940 at $44,344,000, up from $42,500,000 in the corresponding period of last year. Steel shares were fractionally higher. Chemicals were firmer. Small gains were noted in the mercantile houses. Shipbuilding stocks continued strong. One week group was the aircraft list, where new lows for the year were made by Lockheed and United Aircraft. Dow Jones preliminary closing stock average industrial 125.56, unchanged; rail 25.84, up 0.05; utility 22.84, up 0.06; 6 1/2 stocks 41.20, up 0.02. Stock sales amounted to $20,000,000 shares compared with $20,000,000 yesterday, while curb stock volume dwindled to 85,000 shares from 106,000 yesterday.

Death Car After Highway Crash

Pictured above is the smashed automobile which Dr. W.F. Edmonds, Seattle, Wash., physician was driving this morning when it was involved in a crash at the intersection of highways 30 and 93, west of here. Dr. Edmonds died at the county general hospital of internal injuries an hour after the accident, which occurred shortly before 10 a. m. The concrete abutment into which the Edmonds car crashed after being involved in the collision with another machine, driven by Elaine Hallock, Baker, Ore., is seen in the photo. Also visible is the road directional sign which was knocked over. Two other persons, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Patterson, Baker, Ore., are in the hospital.

And Even a Deer Comes Down From Hills to the Big Jubilee Celebration!

Even the deer came to Twin Falls today for opening of the Magic City Jubilee. This particular deer, however, didn't quite get into the city as far as anybody knows. It got to the C. D. McLean ranch, southwest of Twin Falls, and was energetically kept off fences when the farmer discovered it early today. Mr. McLean telephoned Sheriff L. W. (Doc) Hawkins, figuring this was an unusual treat the sheriff would want to see. (Note: He got the sheriff out of bed.) By the time the official reached the ranch, the deer had sussed over a few more fences and disappeared. All Doc found were hoof prints. The deer was a large doe, evidently a wanderer from the south hills.

Indian Sun Worship

The show then will move in rapid order from the Indian's worship of the sun, the Lewis-Clark party, the Indian Village, the first entrance of the fur traders and the Indian solo dance, the Oregon Trail scene, the attack by the Indians, arrival of the first permanent settlers in the Magic City and the construction of the first home, the first pioneer school and the first pioneer church, the first wedding in Idaho, the solo dancers and 24 couples dancing the old Virginia reel. Twin Falls is then shown as a cattle and livestock country and the first stage coach is shown arriving as are the old freight wagons. Drill of the ranchettes is then shown and also the laying out of Twin Falls and the opening of the tract.

First Train Arrival

The coming of the first train is then depicted and Twin Falls is shown as an agricultural center. Twin Falls' part in the World war is then shown. Through use of the Boy Scouts and the American Legion Junior auxiliary drum corps, the advancement of youth is shown with the Boy Scouts and the Camp Fire Girls drilling. Twin Falls' newest "citizen" group, the members of the CCC camp, will then drill and the closing of part one will come with the progress of transportation.

FETES MARK 50 STATEHOOD YEARS

BOISE, July 3 (UP)—Programs in a dozen cities and towns in honor of Idaho's fifth year of statehood today served as a prelude to general Fourth of July celebrations. The events marked 50 years since President Benjamin Harrison signed the bill transferring Idaho from a territory into a full-fledged state. Official observance of the event will be held Friday in Border, Wyo., when Gov. C. A. Botolfsen and Gov. Neils Smith of Wyoming dedicated a monument on the states' boundary in memory of 50 years of statehood. In Twin Falls, residents opened their Magic City Jubilee. Celebrations were also held in Rupert, Grangeville, Idaho City, Sun Valley, McCall, Halley and Jerome with Idaho's and the nation's birthdays serving as themes.

Jail or Depart: Negroes Get Out

Two transient-Negroes had departed from Twin Falls with thankful hearts today, thereby escaping a 60-day jail sentence for theft of a tire from Consolidated Freight lines. Probate Judge C. A. Bailey suspended the sentence for 24 hours to permit William Colbert and Norman Davis to head for parts unknown. They headed, and didn't need 24 hours, either.

On Forgery Charge

JEROME, July 3 (Special)—Leon Peterson, Jerome, was brought before Probate Judge Hester N. Folkman Saturday on charges of committing a felony. Peterson waived rights for a preliminary hearing and was placed under $1,000 bond to await trial in district court. In the case, Peterson has been charged with committing forgery. He assertedly forged the name of Billy Patterson, also of Jerome, on a check which he allegedly passed at the Thrifty-Way Drug company here, June 25.

Kliss, Buhl, former chairman of the board of commissioners, had previously filed declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination in district No. 1. The office is now held by George R. Hart, Democrat, who has entered the race for renomination on the Democratic primary ticket. Other candidacy declarations filed today with County Recorder Walter C. Musgrave were: E. W. Ward, Democrat, incumbent justice of the peace at Kimberly, for nomination as one of the two county at large justices. Ray D. Agee, Republican, for pre-convention committee in Twin Falls No. 1.

Town Destroyed By Timber Blaze

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3 (UP)—The little town of West Timber, in the northeast corner of Washington county, was destroyed by fire today, as new flames roared over thousands of acres of timber and brush land along the Wolf creek highway. The fire wiped out homes of 11 of the 16 families in the community and destroyed the old Engle sawmill.

KETCHUM

Concluding a visit at Crony Cove, Miss Nina Pearson and Mrs. Ruth Raleigh left for their home in Akron, O. Sunday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cummins and Mrs. Suzanne Stants, Mrs. Cummins and her mother, Mrs. Stants, being former residents of Ketchum. It is an annual custom of the ladies to make a transcontinental car trip.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Scovel, Los Angeles, former residents of Hailey, are spending the summer at Ketchum, at the home of Mrs. Frances Venable.

Agnes Barry left Thursday for Coeur d'Alene to attend the postmasters' convention. Mrs. Herman Winnecamp substituted for her during the absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brunner and family, Mrs. Al Sexton and Miss Mary Sexton returned from Emmet, where they visited with relatives and saw the cherry festival.

One shipment has started from Blue Kitten group of claims 10 miles up Warm Springs creek, and under the operations of new leasers, a considerable tonnage of good grade silver-lead ore has been trucked out to Salt Lake City. In the past week a new open cut at a lower level has been shot out by the force and it is stated the vein matter is evidencing good values throughout. The property has been in operation since the opening of the summer season.

Shipment of sheep to Ketchum has been speeded up from the region in upper Warm Springs canyon the past few days, and trucks of prime young lambs have regularly going out from the world's largest sheep-loading point.

Misses Stella and Etta Riley, Twin Falls, stopped for a night at their summer camp, returning from Fortuna and the northwest.

Crony Cove campers under Contractor Frank Silver, Ketchum, are constructing two double-cabins, one of the buildings being erected on the island between the two branches of Warm Springs, where many hot springs are located and near the home cabins of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cummins. Another cabin is being remodelled. The camp is located 10 miles northwest of Ketchum.

... and the second fifty years can be even greater!

From the beginning, Idaho has been fortunate to possess the resources that go toward making a great commonwealth and a balanced economic condition. Vision, optimism, hard work and the willingness to live and let live are the factors which have been translated into an orderly development of business and accumulation of wealth.

Conflict in world affairs today spotlights more clearly than ever the necessity for people in this nation to work together toward a common goal. Idaho people are united by the desire to plan and build effectively. As we work in closer harmony we discover a new appreciation for the other fellow's problems--we learn how to advance together.

The next 50 years will bring us new people, new homes, new farms, new industries--and new opportunities. These are a challenge to courage, a spur to imagination and an incentive to roll up our sleeves--so that by working together today we can make Idaho's second fifty years even greater.
