GERMAN BOMBING PLANES SHELL WIDE AREA IN ENGLAND

ENEMY AIRCRAFT KILL CIVILIANS IN DAYLIGHT RAIDS

By WALLACE CARROLL
LONDON, July 11 (AP)—German bombing planes, penetrating coastal defenses, in determined daylight raids, bombed wide areas of England today and machine-gunned towns and fields.

Breaking formation as they raced over the countryside, the German planes dropped explosive and incendiary bombs and followed them up with machine gun fire.

An air ministry communique said royal air force fighting planes shot down one enemy bomber over the coast.

One plane, diving on a southeast England town, killed three persons and wounded several with whistling bombs and then machine-gunned streets and cattle in outlying fields. Royal air force fighters, chasing the plane out to sea, were believed to have downed it.

Train Bombed
 Trains were bombed near another town.

Four bombs were dropped on a midlands village and several persons were wounded.

In southeastern England, where the day's attacks started, two tremendous explosions were audible miles away.

Four bombs from one plane wrecked a cafe and damaged four houses. The plane then, it was asserted, used its machine guns in aimless fire. Other planes bombed the countryside nearby.

A home security ministry communique issued during the bombings said:

Casualties Small
 "During the night, bombs were dropped on a number of scattered points in eastern and southeastern counties and the midlands. No casualties were reported except a small number in two east coast towns of which a few were fatal. There was slight damage of no military importance."

It was asserted royal air force planes and anti-aircraft guns had shot down 73 German planes since mass air raids started June 18, and authorities were confident numerous others had been damaged so severely they crashed on the way home. In all 147 German planes have been downed over or near Britain since the war started, it was said.

DRIVER SUFFERS HURTS IN CRASH

RUPERT, July 11 (Special)—Mike Rubich, Jr., about 40, Dillon, Mont., was in the hospital here today and little hope is held for his recovery as a result of injuries received when his car left highway 30 and turned over three times about 7 a. m. today 11 miles east of here. State police, who investigated, said that Rubich had left San Francisco yesterday morning and had "driven through." At the point of the mishap he apparently went to sleep and the car left the road. Another man, whose name was not learned, was with him at the time but was not injured.

Hospital officials here said Rubich is suffering internal injuries and a basal skull fracture.

MAN JAILED ON BURGLARY COUNT

SHOSHONE, July 11 (Special)—A man giving the name of John Dewey, home address unknown, was in the county jail here today facing charges of burglary after being captured in the Lambert department store at about 3 a.m. today.

Dewey was captured at the point of a gun by R. W. Swope, night marshal. The suspect had entered the building by cutting out a front glass. When arrested he had $3.83 which was taken from a cash register and also several articles of clothing. Holding the gun on the man, Swope forced him to put on handcuffs which were handed him.

An investigation is being carried on to determine whether the man is involved in similar "jobs" which have been reported at Bellevue and Richfield.

RUPERT PIONEER DIES IN OREGON

SUGAR MEN TALK AT ROTARY MEET

Reed G. Lewis, sugar beet agronomist for the Amalgamated Sugar company, and F. L. Schenk, factory superintendent, addressed the Twin Falls Rotary club at a luncheon session yesterday at the Park hotel.

The speeches were in line with the observance of "Idaho Sugar time" as proclaimed by Gov. C. A. Bolloisen for the week of July 7-13.

"Sugar beet crop in this vicinity looks promising this season according to Lewis, who said that labor conditions have been particularly gratifying this season.

Schenk told of the importance of the sugar plant to this community and advocated encouraging cereal and wooden mills to establish plants in this territory.

Len F. Wiseman, Buhl; J. E. May, Forest Grove, Ore.; A. E. Howell, Jersey City, N. J.; E. E. Moberly, Pocatello, and William Falls, Gooding, were visiting Rotarians.

AVIATION SIGN-UP ASKED AT ONCE

With prospective aviation students already listing their names for the proposed renewal of the CAA ground training and flight scholarships, Chamber of Commerce officials today were seeking to determine whether one or two new classes will be necessary.

Since a single ground school group is limited to 25 to 30 members, two classes will be necessary if more than 50 south Idahoans wish to take the training.

Mrs. Vivian Carlson, chamber secretary, urged immediate contact with the C. of C. by all air-minded young people wishing to take the training. The sign-up now, she said, is simply to determine the prospective size of the class.

Definite word from the CAA is expected this week, according to Milton L. Powell, chairman of the aeronautics committee. Resumption of the training work is expected under the expanded defense program.

Because he disturbed the peace at Filer yesterday, Ceall Carder was in Twin Falls county jail this afternoon under sentence of 30 days, $25 fine and $5.00 costs.

The sentence was meted out by Justice John H. Hutton after Carder pleaded guilty. The defendant was arrested yesterday by Constable Dave Hatch, Filer.

RECREATION HEAD LEAVES POSITION

Miss Vernis Richards, who had headed recreation activities in Twin Falls for a considerable time under the WPA program and who has been instrumental in establishment of play areas in the city, has terminated her connection with that organization, it was learned here this afternoon.

Miss Richards, it was understood, will be succeeded by Thomas Gill, Boise.

During the time she handled recreation activities Miss Richards has received the praise of many civic and fraternal organizations. Programs instigated by her at the city, Drury and Harmon parks have attracted thousands of children each summer.

Work of the local recreation center will be carried on as usual, it was stated.

LEGION WILL AID IN 'BOYS' STATE'

The Twin Falls post of the American Legion will send one youth to Boise to participate in the "boys state" Americanism training program which is scheduled for July 22 to 27, it was announced this afternoon by W. W. Thomas, commander.

Discussion concerning the selection will be held at a meeting set tonight, Thomas said, but actual selection of the youth will be deferred until a later date.

At Boise approximately 100 of Idaho's outstanding youths will elect a full slate of officers through a primary and a general election. Those selected will direct affairs of boys' state three days. Object of the gathering is to give young men "an opportunity to put into effect their schooling in the functioning of the American form of government."

Fine Small but Costs $111 for Convicted Man

Junior Roberts, Twin Falls, who Tuesday was found guilty by a six-man jury in the court of Justice of the Peace H. M. Hollen of petty larceny, today had been paroled by the magistrate but had been ordered to pay a fine of $1 and costs of $11.03.

The man was charged with theft of a blanket from a local home. In granting the parole, Judge Holler said that Roberts must pay a fine of $1 and costs of $11.03. If the money is not paid provision was made that Roberts would automatically be taken to the county jail to "serve time."

Fact that costs of the proceedings amounted to over $100 came about because two trials were necessary in the case

CROP GAIN HAILED AS BOON TO NATIONAL DEFENSE

BIG PRODUCTION TO BE ADDED TO NATION'S STORE

By FRED BAILEY

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Better-than-average crop yields predicted for this year were hailed by agriculture department officials today as boons to the national defense program and to plans for aid to war-torn Europe.

This year's expected crop will add to the nation's store of surpluses of corn, wheat, other grains and cotton.

A year ago these surpluses were considered a burden. Today they are considered important reserves for national defense and aid to Europe.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace told a national conference of state AAA officials the United States is "agriculturally prepared for an emergency."

Production Average
"With good yields now in prospect, total crop production is expected to be fully up to the average of the pre-drouth years, and only slightly below production last year," the crop reporting board said yesterday.

Crop conditions on July 1 were said to "average substantially" higher than on the same date last year. Total production, however, may not be quite as large because of smaller acreage of principal crops such as corn and wheat.

The board estimated corn production at 2,415,988,000 bushels, about 203,000,000 bushels less than the bumper 1939 crop, but well above the 1920-1938 average of 2,299,342,000 bushels.

The wheat crop, after a slow start because of severe fall and winter drouth, is expected to total 723,844,000 bushels. That is about 20,000,000 bushels below both the 1939 crop and the average for the last 10 years. Winter wheat production was estimated at 523,900,000 bushels and spring wheat 204,644,000 bushels.

Winter wheat production, making a rapid recovery from the drouth, was estimated at 13.8 bushels an acre, compared with 14.1 bushels last year. Spring wheat production was estimated at an average of 11.5 bushels an acre, compared with 12.1 bushels last year.

Production of oats, forecast at 1,031,622,000 bushels, will be nearly 100,000,000 bushels larger than last year, the board said. Production of barley, flaxseed and rice also were forecast slightly larger.

White potato production was estimated at 371,263,000 bushels, compared with 364,016,000 last year. The sweet potato crop estimated at 68,800,000 bushels will be about 4,000,000 bushels smaller than last year.

Hollister Woman Loses Jail Fight

After winning freedom twice on writs of habeas corpus, Della Lang, 22-year-old Hollister girl, is being returned to the Idaho state prison from Great Falls, Mont., according to word received here by Sheriff L. W. Hawkins.

Mrs. Lang was wanted by Idaho prison authorities on claim of violating her parole, granted by the pardon board after she was sentenced to the penitentiary in Twin Falls district court on charge of burglary at Hollister.

The young woman won her release at Great Falls on habeas corpus after the Montana officers couldn't produce the Idaho warrant. They had arrested her June 14. Taken into custody again, this time on claim of vagrancy, Mrs. Lang once more won freedom by way of a writ. Then, when the Idaho warrant finally arrived along with Prison Warden Pearl C. Meredith, she was arrested a third time and District Judge H. H. Ewing refused a third habeas corpus petition.

HAGERMAN

Gooding county Pomona Grange met at the Methodist church Saturday. Gooding, Wendell and West Point attended. About 30 were present. Readings were given, "Mischief" by Mrs. Jennie Condit, "The American Flag," Mrs. Mary Northrup, and a comic reading by Erwin Condit.

Ruth Reed and Pauline left for Los Angeles last week where they will visit Arthur Reed and Mrs. Rose Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, Salt Lake City, called at the home of Mrs. S. C. Schoeller.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parsons returned from Salt Lake City last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Calkins and family returned from Garryowen, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Boyer and son, Riley Oscar, Rio Tinto, Nev., visited at the Riley Boyer home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Preston are parents of a boy, born Tuesday. He is named Donald Scott.

Kenneth Cloro and Marcey Larangan left Monday to enter citizens' military training camp at Fort Douglas, Utah, for a month.

Mrs. Gladys Helman, Long Beach, Calif., came to spend a month with her grandmother, Mrs. Freda Helman.

Rev. and Mrs. Dallas McNeil left last week for San Francisco to attend the national Methodist conference.

Mrs. Ruth Hunt, Edith, Corabelle, Emory and Mrs. Sylvanus Hunt, Grants Pass, Ore., spent last week visiting Mrs. Bob Green and Mr. and Mrs. William Hendrickson.

She Handles a Job Mere Males Shun

Mrs. Eva Canfield, 67, Florence, Ida., has completed the toughest census-taking assignment in the United States—that of counting noses in the wilds of Idaho's primitive "River of No Return" area. Traveling by skis and horseback and hiking over rough terrain, Mrs. Canfield took 70 days to count 500 persons in 2000 square miles. Here she rides to the Idaho county courthouse, Grandville, to report.

Voters Will Act on 3 New Constitutional Amendments

BOISE, July 11 (AP)—Besides selecting officers for scores of counties, state and city officials, Idaho voters will act on three constitutional amendments, all of which deal with the handling of state funds.

The amendments will be placed on the Nov. 5 general election ballot as a result of joint house and senate resolutions adopted at the 1939 legislature.

The three changes in basic laws of the state will be accompanied by two "dry" initiative measures, one banning liquor advertising and limiting individual purchases and the other setting up a system of county local option under which voters may decide whether liquor may be sold.

Edowment Loans
The first constitutional amendment deals with loaning of endowment fund monies. Under the proposed amendment loans could only be made from the fund on United States county, city village or school district bonds or state warrants, under provisions adopted by the state legislature.

Purpose of the amendment is to prevent further loaning of endowment fund money on farms, a practice which was authoritatively estimated to have cost the state $1,000,000 since the law was adopted.

State Finance Commissioner G. L. Jenkins has been urging adoption of the amendment. He pointed out that the state is actually losing money on a program of loaning money on farms which was originally designed to provide school funds.

Asks Re-Wording
The second amendment calls for re-wording of an article dealing with the procedure under which the state and federal cooperative funds are administered. The proposed amendment states that in administration of monies in cooperation with the federal, the legislature may prescribe any method of disbursement required to obtain the benefits of federal laws. The amendment is designed to allow the state to take advantage of federal allotments which require state matching funds. Often, proponents of the measure pointed out, the state loses benefit of the federal money because of minor conflicts in state laws which prevent appropriations of state money to match federal grants.

Fuel Taxes
Under provisions of the third amendment, taxes on gasoline and other motor vehicle fuels and fees for motor vehicle registration would go directly into a state fund set up exclusively for payment of the costs of construction, repair, maintenance and traffic supervision of public highways. The amendment would prohibit transfer of the funds to any other purposes, except for necessary costs of collection and administration.

This amendment would increase the amount of money available for highway construction use, since diversion of funds to other branches of traffic and highway bureaus would be prohibited.

To become law, a majority of the voters must approve each amendment.

Mountain View

There are 6,288 persons per motor car in China.

CANDIDATE ASKS MARKET REVISION

POGATELLO, July 11 (AP)—A farm plan consisting of a three to five-man marketing board to deal directly with farmers in establishing a "fair price for farm products" was offered today by Elvin Dulaney, candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator.

Under the plan, Dulaney said, the board would have no control over the farmer nor his operations but with the aid of farmers and their county agents, the board would establish a minimum price to be paid farmers for their products.

"The plan is not a cooperative marketing proposition, nor would it interfere with the board of trade," Dulaney declared. "A protective tariff would be necessary to make it operative."

Prices would be established for minimum prices, Dulaney said, no maximum prices would be set. As examples, the candidate said wheat might be set at $1 per bushel, hogs at $8.50 per hundred, and wool at 30 cents a pound. Surpluses would be placed in warehouses and released as demand required, he said.

Farmers would be paid the minimum for produce placed in warehouses and warehouse receipts would be deposited with an existing financing agency or one to be created, he added.

Haskell Funeral Pays Last Honors

BURLEY, July 11 (Special)—Funeral services were held Sunday at Burley L. D. S. tabernacle for Mrs. Viola Short Haskell, 22, wife of Eldon Haskell, who died last week following an extended illness.

Bishop Sidney Larson officiated, and speakers were Bishop J. Melvin Toome, Pres. R. C. May, Rupert, George Ferrin and Bishop Larson. A quartet, Howard Corless, Seth Corless, Pierce Nelson and Spencer Toome, sang "Going Home," and Howard Corless, George Catmull, Rupert, and Bishop A. L. Hanks sang, Philip P. Borup offered the benediction, and J. W. Patterson gave the invocation.

Interment was in Heyburn cemetery under direction of Vern McCulloch of Burley funeral home. LeRoy M. Jensen dedicated the grave. Casket attendants were Grant, Calvin and Len Nelson, Don Wixom, Hyrum Anderson and Fred Moultrie. Flowers were in charge of Eva and Melba Morgan, Nan Carroll, Dorothy Jones, June Sorenson, Lucille Frazier, Ella Corless and Marjorie Croft.

Double Rites for Drowning Victims

BURLEY, July 11 (Special)—Double funeral services were held Sunday at Heyburn L. D. S. church, with Bishop Elmer Heiner officiating, for Junior and LaDene Stalnaker, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Stalnaker, who were drowned a week ago in a boating tragedy which also claimed the life of Bolen Beaver.

"Oh My Father," played by Mrs. Wilcox and Mrs. Paul Zillner, was the processional, after which Nelda Moon and Alfred Thaxton sang "Sometime We'll Understand." William B. Christensen offered the opening prayer, and speakers were E. C. May, Joseph Jenks, David Garner and Bishop Heiner. Mrs. Zillner played "A Perfect Day."

Fern Williams and Phyllis Boynton sang "They'll Take Their Vacation in Heaven," and Marion Simmons and Moroni Ward sang "One Sweet-Solemn Thought." J. B. Fairchild offered the closing prayer.

Interment was in Heyburn cemetery, under direction of Vern McCulloch of Burley funeral home. Flower bearers and casket attendants were school chums and church workers with whom the children had associated.

SEES TOWNSEND VICTORY WITH WILLKIE
Editor, Times:
The last and only chance for the old folks now living to get a pension is to throw their whole force behind the Republican candidate on his promise not to work against the Townsend plan. Then it should be very easy to get a big majority signed up, more than needed to get through congress.

Here is where Dr. Townsend and headquarters come in. If they really mean for the old folks to have a pension, then they must absolutely take it up and work hard for it, as it is not only for the old folks, but for the youth as well.

Money in circulation means work for everybody, it also reduces crime. The Democratic party has failed to read the handwriting on the wall. That insures the Republican party together with the Townsend plan a tremendous victory.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 18 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, passing water with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When doctor of kidney function permits sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. Open Memo to Oklahoma City's Police Dept.

(Pot Shots note: Original of this letter for liberty mailed today to three Oklahoma City guys.)

To Oklahoma City's Police Department:

We rise to a point of liberty. We rise to a point of freedom of action.

We rise, specifically, to a point of freedom of pants.

Traffic Officer George Marks has besmirched the fair name of Oklahoma City. By this time, we fear, your police judge may have placed another beamrider or two on the eschelon of your city.

Officer Marks arrested a man who dared wear shorts on your downtown streets. He accosted ignominiously a crusader for Emancipation of the Male Legs.

At this intemperate treatment of the American male citizenry, personified in one Ralph Yoes of Oklahoma City, the Constitution of the United States curled its yellowed corners and faded even more beneath its glass case in the Library of Congress.

We free spirits of the Great West pale in shame at such pusillanimity on the part of Oklahoma City.

Why cannot a male parade in comfort like unto the female? Must knobby knees and a hairy leg bar the American Man forever from comfort in the heat of summer? Does the basic document of American liberty specify that he whose knees lack beauty is not entitled to the pursuit of happiness and cooling breezes?

We trust your police judge will acquit Ralph Yoes and bid him God-speed on his trousers-meandering . . . provided, of course, that the God-speed specifies shorts meant for outdoor wear and not the kind intended only for coy hiding behind the scenery of trousers.

Enclosed you will find a sample of the Pot Shots coupon of the Society for Wearing of Shorts on the Streets by Courageous Males.

Remember—Totalitarianism must not regiment free Americans. Take off your trousers, policemen of Oklahoma City.

And let persecution of the shanks cease forthwith.

IT SEEMS ONE SEAT WILL BE LONESOME TONIGHT

Dear Pot Shots:

For 30 nights more or less I have adorned a seat in the grandstand near third base. Each night I have been heckled by the better half about spending a buck for nothing.

Now I notice in last night's paper the one who business manager tells me that ain't seen nuthin' yet.

Oh, if my Scotch grandmother knew how little I was getting for my money she'd rise from her grave and eliminate all danger of a blitzkrieg in England. Tonight that seat will be vacant for the first time this year.

Oh, sleep in peace, dear seat. I'll not bother your slumbers and I know all will be quiet with the Cowhorns. Should you attempt to reach third your manager will hold you up a second to keep down the noise.

SUICIDE ITEM: RABBIT TAKES OWN LIFE!

Shooter:

Ja ever hear of a rabbit committing suicide?

Well, one jackrabbit of these parts committed exactly that. No foolin'. It was Tuesday out on the rim-to-rim bridge, and it came about because of the antics of a Pot Shots contributor, Johnny Hopplegrass.

Six foot four inch Johnny spotted the rabbit and chased it on the bridge. The bunny slipped and sagged frantically.

And it finally jumped off the bridge to suicide down below!

ALLITERATION PROVES WHY WILKIE IS "IT"

Dear Pot Shots:

Go the Republicans are going to gather 'round and hear all about how Wendell Wilkie happened to get tagged "It" at Philadelphia!

Hope they don't call on John Thomas of the g-r-t-a-t state of Idaho (he was there, I heard him over the radio) to do the telling.

Wish they'd put a little gal friend of mine on the program. She prognosticated three days ahead of the convention that Wendell would get it.

Figured it out by the "process of alliteration," she explained. First it was Woodrow Wilson, then Calvin Coolidge, also Herbert Hoover. Thought it was time for a Wendell Wilkie.

"Look at Lillian Russell she got places, too, with all those 'L's in her name." Was the final argument of the female prognosticator who reasons like Grace Allen.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"It's funny your fishing trips always come when my relatives are going to visit us."

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

The Homeless Ones

There have been wars before. There has been devastation, and slaughter, and burning. There is nothing new in that, especially to Europe, which has treated itself to one of these self-made holocausts every few years for centuries.

But never before has Europe seen the wholesale expulsion from their humble homes of literally millions of people. Never before has a whole continent swarmed with a homeless, hopeless throng of millions who have not only been driven from what homes they had, but who have literally no place to go.

Many of these, of course, will soon be able to return to what were once their homes. To the shattered house, the scarred acres, the broken orchard, they can return again, and blindly take up the task of rebuilding.

But others are not so fortunate, if anything of good fortune can be seen in such a picture. Literally scores of thousands of the refugees in France are men and women driven from Germany to seek refuge in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, the Netherlands, and France. Many are Jews, and many more are simply people who fell afoul of the secret police.

Driven from one country to another, always only a single breathless step ahead of the onrushing Nazis, these people are now without passports or credentials. They can do little now but to await in terror the arrival of secret police agents who will ferret them out among the refugees and exact some summary penalty for "offenses" committed perhaps years before in another country.

From the Urals to the Atlantic, Europe presents a picture of organized horror that one would have to go back to the Thirty Years' war or to the invasions of Genghis Khan to match.

Whatever can yet be done by the United States and by other countries yet free to relieve the distress and offer new hope should be done. We can send money and food. We can cut the red tape binding present immigration quotas and procedure, and perhaps raise those quotas temporarily. We can offer asylum to innocent children threatened with death from the sky.

Surely we must have a better answer to these things than Cain's churlish and evasive "Am I my brother's keeper?"

In France alone, there are estimated to be 4,000,000 homeless ones. They fled across the frontiers from the Netherlands and Belgium and the broken lines of Sedan and the Somme.

Rumania now adds her quota to the increasing hordes of fugitives. How many fugitives from Franco's Spain, given sanctuary in France, will now be shipped back to face firing-squads?

The Stupidity of Terror

The bomb explosion at the New York World's fair is one of those things which leave one speechless. It is so cowardly, so contemptible, so useless, and so stupid.

Three such outrages have now been perpetrated in New York in two weeks. The net result: Ten innocent bystanders injured, two brave policemen killed in protecting others from this sneaking attack, five other police badly injured.

Whatever may have been in the warped mind of the perpetrators of these outrages, it is almost certain that these were not the results hoped for. No possible result can ever follow such things except to inspire in every decent person a loathing and contempt not only for the persons involved but for whatever cause they hope to serve in this vile way.

The duce must be old-fashioned. He issued a declaration of war before beginning hostilities.

Portugal makes plans to celebrate eight centuries of independence. Better hurry, boys, if you want to make that even 800.

Dutchmen are officially cautioned not to show any signs of curiosity about the occupation forces. In these days finding a Nazi in the front yard is no longer a surprise, but is just taken for granted.

The World's fair abandons its "World of Tomorrow" title for the current season. Tomorrow having arrived, and turning out as it has, the fair is sorry it brought the whole thing up.

The international situation in a nutshell: Driven out by Nazis, Poles are reorganized in France, trained by the allies, armed by the British, and fight in Norway against those same Nazis.

The Nazis aren't quite ready for the next blitzkrieg. It seems the propaganda department is a little behind in preparing the evidence that the British were going to invade first.

CHAPTER VIII

DENNY hurried through the fast-filling aisles of the three cars between his reservations and the observation car. The train had stopped and people were making for the exits, eager for the few minutes' respite. Peace should have found her postcard and be coming back, but she wasn't.

"Seen the youngster?" he asked Carole, who was on her way out. She shook her head. "Seems to me she slipped through a minute ago. Maybe she's in the ladies' room. I'll get the stewardess."

Denny sent a porter to search up ahead, and meanwhile he questioned everybody he met. Caleb Ogden was with Mrs. King, he knew, on the rear platform, unless they had got off. Anyay, Peace wasn't with them. She would have been obliged to pass him.

"She's not in there," Carole finally told him, escaping a voluble stewardess, who agreed to join the search. "More than likely she is off the train. After all, she can't be far."

"Oh, can't she!" Denny said grimly. "And all the little girls will be wearing—what did she have on today?"

"Blue," Carole said, as they got off. "She's no doubt asking for an egg at the soda fountain." They hurried upstairs to the station. She's not in sight here.

"You go right and I'll go left," Denny took it for granted she would help him. Just then they both spotted Rhoda near the bookshop, and called to her.

"She isn't in the waiting room," Rhoda said. "That child can be the biggest nuisance. Denny, why did you let her out of your sight? Now if she's lost, we are in for—"

He was to be sure no more, but tore off to the street door nearest him. A vast relief flooded him that she hadn't had time to get very far. Peace had utterly vanished. Nothing chicory blue was in sight, in any direction. He had no wish to repeat his Boston error, and was thankful he had asked about Peace's dress. He ran back into the station, hurried through crowds to the train gate.

Denny bumped into Mrs. King, who'd heard the news and was doing her bit with Carole. "He's disposed of her! I was right, I tell you!" he heard her hiss. "Wait till I tell Mr. Ogden!"

Heller-skitter, flying around in circles. Some passengers were already going back to the train.

Denny raced down to the platform. He'd do what he should have done in the first place—find the conductor and put it up to him to hold the train. But first he'd take another look. There was just a chance she'd fallen asleep in one of the seats and been overlooked.

HE was passing by the compartment when he heard a shrill childish laugh. "Peace! Honey, where are you?" He pounded on the nearest closed door, stuck his head in the open one. "Peace!" He tried the door of a drawing room. Locked! He shook it and pounded again. "Peace!"

"I am, Uncle Denny?" The door was unlocked, and Denny thought he'd never seen a gullible looking pair. He snatched the child, feeling his temper rise.

"Gosh, I didn't know that door was locked," Ogden said. "She must have turned the key. Come," he gestured towards the wash-boy, "see our little—"

"The baby and I were just giving Darby and Joany a bath."

"Mr. Hogden's gonna buy me a goldfish to teach my turtles how to swim better," Peace beamed.

Denny didn't know whether to knock the man down or believe it. He seemed so inoffensive and apologetic about the whole thing—well, Peace wouldn't get away again.

"Gosh, I'm awful sorry about this—you must have been anxious. I meant to get off at Kansas City myself, but when I came back to my stateroom and found the kid, well, I got fascinated with the turtle's aquarium, I guess. Suppose there's time to mail some letters before the train—?"

"All abo—o—o—o—o—ard!"

Denny heard the conductor's cry. Heavens, Rhoda and Carole would be frantic! He yanked Peace down the steps and waved to Carole, still on the platform. "Okay! Here she is. Where's Rhoda?"

Rhoda was in her seat, quietly weeping, when they bustled up. "I can't stand much more of this. If you don't spank her, I will."

Denny explained how she'd just been playing with her turtles. "She minded me and didn't get off the train." Later he whispered to Peace to ask if she really looked the door.

"What door?" the child wanted to know, and Denny booted. He noticed the turtles had been transferred to a small box, punctured with air holes and tied with a string. "Doesn't hurt their toes," Peace explained. "I like Mr. Hogden. He's gonna buy me a goldfish and a big glass bowl, when we get to Lost Angeles!" She must never go into that drawing room again, unless he or Aunt Rhoda or Carole went too, he told her.

CALEB OGDEN approached their seat. "Join Mrs. King and me in bridge? We can have a nice quiet game in my compartment, and you can keep an eye on this young lady while she goes to buy another swim."

Denny hoped Rhoda would refuse, but she jumped at it. "A bit of sunshine on a dull day? Come on, Denny." To play cards with a man whom he'd like to throttle (but maybe he was wrong, and anyway Rhoda didn't know) and a woman who'd insulted him all the way from Boston, wasn't his idea of bliss. But if Rhoda would get over her gloom it would be worth it. Perhaps he'd get a line on Ogden.

Mrs. King apparently didn't hook, line, and sinker. She de-voured Caleb's pep talk about his rich oil wells, and broke up the game to look at his pictures. Oh, well, this was her funeral. Denny was thankful to escape.

SIXTEEN hours of comparative peace, through beautiful country, and the train sped on to Albuquerque. Ogden and Mrs. King had been constantly in each other's company. Carole Love had kept to herself. Denny scarcely had a word with her, none alone.

He kept trying not to think of the odd mishap which had made him propa to Rhoda. On the way home from the Currys' party last winter, his car had broken down in a snowstorm. Never would he forget Aunt Tilly's resentment when he and Rhoda finally reached her house at 4 in the morning. "My aunt is old-fashioned about such things," Rhoda had said. The engagement followed, and now, having met a girl like Carole, Denny closed his mind to wondering.

The picturesque station came into view. Gaily blanketed Indians were waiting to show their pottery and baskets.

"This time, I'll hang on to her," Rhoda announced, squeezing Peace's hand. "No more scenes. You'll do as I say, Peace Warren." But as the train stopped, a messenger paged Miss Rhoda Lowell, handing her a telegram.

"Bad news?" Denny asked, remembering Aunt Tilly's weak heart.

"From Bertrand," Rhoda smiled, and stuck it into her purse without another word.

HOW AMERICAN OPINION CHANGES WITH THE WAR

To read the story of the war propaganda of the past eight months written as though it were already history of the remote past, with appropriate parallels to the present American situation, Harold Levine and James Wheeler provide it in "War Propaganda and the United States" (Yale University Press; $2.75). Perspective, desperately hard to achieve in the midst of rushing events, is the result. Take this quick backward look with the authors:

There were cheerful prophets in London and Paris (and New York) who believed that the United States would enter the war at the conclusion of King George's opening remarks. They were wrong. But those who interpreted America's failure to intervene at once, or within six months, as a sure sign that we never would be operating on equally tenuous assumptions.

Neither group of dogmatic theorists understood America; and neither understood propaganda. If the intervening period proved anything, it revealed the elasticity of popular emotion, the swiftness with which it could fluctuate.

In September, 1939, Americans talked only of war, and of our entry; that was inevitable, all the experts agreed. Then came the listless, uneventful months of "quiet war," disturbed only by the hostilities in Finland, those who said that our entry was preordained were called alarmists.

When, in April, 1940, war exploded in rapid succession on the picturesque terrain of Norway and the Low Countries, the "alarmists" were once more restored to the eminence of experts; as the "war in earnest" began, Americans began anew to talk of war; not enthusiastically, but with resignation. As the war went, it appeared, so would go Maine. There might be another lull, or the word might seem grotesque by the time it was in type: Only soothsayers could tell the answer, for wars do not run according to public schedule. And without some picture of the future course of the war it was foolish, even after months of observation, to predict with positiveness, the course of American behavior.

This was the key fact, to foreign propagandists intently watching the United States.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Now that the senate has confirmed his appointment as secretary of war, Henry L. Stimson will be in a position to do two things which have long been very close to his heart. These are:

1. Aid the allies (or Great Britain at least) by making surplus U. S. war materials available.

2. Hamper Japan's march to power in the Orient by cutting off her imports of essential war materials.

A considerable amount of power over both of these matters will come into Stimson's hands because of two amendments which were tacked onto the so-called "Army speedup bill," recently passed and signed by the President.

One of these amendments provided that the President might establish a system of export licenses to control the shipment of such war materials as he might designate as essential to the U. S. preparedness program. The President has already acted under this provision, naming Col. Russell L. Maxwell as export control administrator and putting an export ban on a long list of raw and finished materials.

LAW MEANT TO BE ONE-SIDED

On this list there is only one item which would particularly hamper the Japanese—machines tools. The goods which Japan has been importing most heavily from the U. S. since she started the war in China—oil, scrap iron, copper, and automotive equipment—do not come under the ban.

There are, however, two points to consider in that connection.

The first is that it will naturally be the secretary of war who will from time to time notify the President that the list ought to be extended to include other commodities.

The second is that debate in the senate clearly showed that the law setting up this export-license system was intended to be one-sided if the administration wished; that is, that if it would be legal to stop the shipment of, say, scrap iron to one country but not to another.

STIMSON FIRST TO OPPOSE JAPAN

The other amendment went almost unnoticed. Into a section defining the secretary of war's authority to make contracts with manu-

H. G. Lauterbach, who will leave for the national guards' encampment in Washington the latter part of July, will be accompanied by his nephew, John Lauterbach, Redwood Falls, Minn., who is spending the summer here with the Lauterbachs.

There will be no church services on Sunday, due to Rev. Coulter's leaving at the Methodist Epworth league installation. Sunday school will convene at 10 a. m. according to Mrs. C. Hill, superintendent.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Galley, who have spent several days here and in Albion visiting their mothers, have returned to their home in Monroe, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hill spent several days' last week with their son and daughter-in-law, J. E. Hill, Jackson, Wyo., where Mr. Hill, the blind musician, is engaged at the Elmer cabin tavern.

Rev. J. H. Coulter, who will have charge of the camp-site grocery store at the institute grounds, at Camp Starman, near Esley, left Tuesday for that place. He will attend classes of the Methodist young people while Mrs. Coulter, who would have assisted him in the store, was unable to attend because of sickness of their son, Dickie.

The condition of Mrs. E. A. Gish is reported as favorable following an appendectomy at the Twin Falls county general hospital last week-end. Mrs. Gish is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Robinson, Hansen, and wife of superintendent of schools, E. A. Gish, Mountain Home.

After spending their vacation leave from the regional vocational school at Welser, Ted Vaux, Chris Young, Harold Wheeler, Billie Muse, Gaylord Lattin and Paul Ross returned to Welser on Sunday. With them were Herbert Hughes, who has been absent from the school due to illness for the past several weeks, and Burton Wheeler, a new enrollee. Ross Trunkey and Morris Reynolds are still on leave. Ross is attending the Epworth league institute at Esley while Morris is visiting with his parents.

The Hansen Grange picnic was attended by 46 Grangers and guests Sunday at Penstamen park in Rock creek, in celebration of Idaho's 50 years of statehood. Following the dinner a program, under direction of the lecturer, Mrs. D. White, was given including a talk on "Idaho," by James L. Barnes; a vocal solo, Miss Edythe Trunkey, accompanying herself on the guitar, and an original number by Miss Edythe and her mother, Mrs. F. Trunkey. A brief business meeting was conducted by the master, Bill Wiseman, in conclusion, during which he informed the group of the purchase of the lot on which the Grange hall now stands.

WENDELL

Mrs. R. F. Dean entertained the Senior bridge club Friday. Mrs. L. A. Jones received high score. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lewis and children left Monday for a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gates and children and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cowan visited recently with William Cowan in the mountains on South Boise river.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dunn, Los Angeles, were week-end visitors at the Charles Gates home. They also visited relatives at Gooding and Boise.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schouweiler spent Friday in Boise.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Altohson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bradshaw spent the week-end camping in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Gates and family are on a 10-day vacation in Seattle, Wash. They will visit at the home of Mrs. Gates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Utterback.

THIRD PARTY TALK DWINDLES AS CONVENTION NEARS

ROOSEVELT SURE TO RUN AGAIN, IS EXPERTS' BELIEF

By LYLE C. WILSON

CHICAGO, July 11 (U.P.)—Chances of a third party protest movement against a third term or to raise the "no war" banner in the 1940 campaign dwindled today as the likelihood of President Roosevelt's re-nomination increased.

The Democratic national convention convenes here Monday with 1,004 delegate votes but more than twice that many delegates and alternates. Several persons may be placed in nomination for the presidency. But it seemed probable Mr. Roosevelt would be renominated and the convention would adopt a foreign relations plank pledging to keep American soldiers out of Europe but to defend the western hemisphere against aggression at any cost.

No Foreign Aid
Mr. Roosevelt's promise in a special message to congress that "we will not use our arms in a war of aggression; we will not send our men to take part in European wars" may be incorporated into the platform almost verbatim. That would take care of uneasy Democrats such as Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., who have been threatening to bolt and hinting a third party if the Democrats travel the interventionist road.

Another third party threat apparently is subsiding among the following of John L. Lewis, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, who predicted last week at St. Louis Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, could defeat Mr. Roosevelt.

There are indications Lewis' union army is out of step with the boss. The United Automobile Workers, a big CIO affiliate, revolted yesterday in favor of a third term and proposed Mr. Roosevelt be drafted. There are other indications of CIO sympathy with a third term candidacy. It seems, therefore, Lewis may have no place to go in the 1940 campaign unless he desires to return to his Republican allegiance which he abandoned to support the New Deal.

New Recruits
The draft-Roosevelt movement gained further recruits yesterday with authoritative word from Louisiana, where Vice-President John N. Garner had been hopeful of developing some anti-third term strength. Louisiana's 20 delegates are uncommitted. But the United Press was informed they are ready to climb on the Roosevelt band wagon during its first lap around the Chicago stadium next week.

Indiana, likewise, has abandoned all pretense of backing Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt for the presidential nomination. He is regarded as a vice-presidential possibility.

Persistent reports Mr. Roosevelt would come here during the convention could not be confirmed. Hotel accommodations are ready for him and preparations have been made at the stadium to enable him to reach the platform quickly if he does come as he did eight years ago. None here appears to doubt Mr. Roosevelt will run again.

DWORSHAK ASKS FOR REELECTION

BOISE, July 11 (U.P.)—In a statement received here, Rep. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., today announced he would seek re-nomination in second district primaries. Dworshak said he had always sought to promote economic interests and development of the state and had supported policies designed to provide adequate national defense and to keep America out of foreign wars.

AMSTERDAM

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Strickling, Bobby and Dee spent Sunday in Gooding at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Strickling, where a family reunion was held celebrating the 30th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Strickling and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strickling, Vancouver, Wash.

Edith Slatter Feted At Bridal Courtesy

First event on the pre-nuptial calendar of Miss Edith Slatter was the bridge luncheon today at the Wilbur S. Hill home, 203 Seventh avenue east, arranged by Mrs. Hill and Mrs. R. J. Valton.

Miss Slatter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Slatter, Hazelton, is the fiancée of Dr. Frank J. McAtee, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. F. McAtee, Twin Falls. An August wedding is planned. Their engagement was announced at a betrothal luncheon in June at the Slatter home.

The mothers of the engaged pair were among the guests who assembled at 10 o'clock this morning for the bridge games, preceding luncheon.

Pink rosebuds centered the luncheon tables, and were also prominent in the room trim.

The hostesses presented Miss Slatter with an attractive gift. Miss Myrtle McDonald, Duluth, Minn., was among the guests. She is a cousin of Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. Tom Alworth is entertaining Saturday in compliment to the bride-elect.

Outing Arranged For Ogden Guest

Miss Yvonne Roy, who is here from Ogden, Utah, for a vacation visit with her uncle and aunt, Mrs. and Mrs. Frank G. Kleffner, was honored at a surprise party last evening by a group of boys and girls.

Tennis and swimming at Harmon park opened the festivities; and a wicker roast followed, the meal being cooked at the outdoor fireplace.

A motor trip to Shoshone falls and other points of interest brought the party to a gay finale.

Miss Helen Ward, Manteca, Calif., who is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark, was a special guest.

Also numbered among the group were Miss Anna Mae Kirk, Bernice Smith, Miss Stella Mae Lang, Miss Betty June Gambrel, Miss Joan LeClair, Miss Dorothy Bettinghouse, Miss Betty Ann Thometz, Miss Kathryn Thometz, Manuel Sabala, Don Cross, Frank and Ted Florenza, Frank Berez, Larry Salaya, Art Smith, Bob Jones, Bob Deweller, Don Barrington and Francis Kleffner.

Shower Arranged For Mrs. Mulkey

Mrs. Ralph Funke entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Walker Wednesday afternoon at a post-nuptial shower in honor of Mrs. George Mulkey, who was married June 30.

The home was decorated with garden flowers for the occasion. Refreshments were served following presentation of the gifts. Guests included the honoree and Mrs. Irvin Funke, Mrs. Ewan Snodgrass, Mrs. Walter La Fontaine, Mrs. Sidney Hoffman, Mrs. Ellis Huston, Mrs. Curtis Williams, Mrs. Dale Westling, Mrs. Cecil Boyd, Mrs. Bernard Miller, Mrs. Ray Mink, Mrs. Bernard Funke, Mrs. Don Paxton, Mrs. Alice Mulkey, and Mrs. Anna Toothman.

V.F.W. Auxiliary Selects Leader

Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary last evening elected Mrs. Gloria Pomeroy as president of the organization, succeeding Mrs. Estella Reynolds, who left today for Boise to make her home.

Meeting was conducted at the home of Mrs. Pomeroy. Following installation of Mrs. Pomeroy, the post joined the auxiliary for refreshments.

BRETHREN MISSION GROUP HAS PROGRAM

Miss Arlene Nicholson and Miss Julia Shepherd, accompanied by Miss Lois Nicholson, sang "A Perfect Day"; the Nicholson girls played a piano duet, and study of the book, "Women in the Bible," comprised the program of the Missionary society of the church of the Brethren yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Charlotte Kerlin was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Allen Holloway. A post-lunch luncheon will feature the August meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Helstead, Hazelton, it was announced.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. Frieda Williamson, Oakland, Calif., guest of her mother, Mrs. Rose Pix, was present from out-of-town.

SUNSHINE CIRCLE CLUB PLANS PICNIC

Home of Mrs. Elmer Laubenhelm will be the site for a picnic July 24, according to plans made by Sunshine Circle club members yesterday at the home of Mrs. F. W. Schweickhardt.

Pinocchios was played by several guests following the business session. Mrs. William Felsbush furnished the club favor, won by the hostess.

Mrs. Eleanor Jacobson, mother of Mrs. Kenneth Medford, was a guest of the group. Refreshments were served.

Callis-Richmond Nuptials to Take Place at Temple

Bishop and Mrs. E. B. Johnson, Buhl, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Richmond and Paul Callis, Twin Falls. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Apostle and Mrs. Charles A. Callis, Salt Lake City.

The marriage will take place Tuesday, July 16, in the Latter Day Saints temple at Logan, Utah, with Apostle Callis officiating.

Mrs. Richmond left yesterday for Salt Lake City to visit relatives and friends, and Mr. Callis expects to leave tomorrow for the Utah metropolis.

After a wedding trip to Detroit, the pair will return to Twin Falls. Mr. Callis is associated with the C.I.T. corporation.

Luncheon Honors Eastern Visitors

Honoring Mrs. J. Weinstein, Jamestown, N. Y., guest of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lehman; Mrs. Robert Golden, Chicago, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Metz, and Miss Janet Klemper, Chicago, who is visiting in Kimberly, Mrs. Harry Friedman and Mrs. Bill Bailey, Hazelton, entertained at a bridge luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Friedman home, Lincoln street.

Twenty-four guests were seated at two tables arranged in a semi-circle. Silver bowls of garden flowers and green tapers comprised the decorations.

The honorees received guest favors, and contract prizes went to Mrs. W. B. Brooks, Mrs. Jo Hofeld, and Mrs. N. N. Whitehurst.

RUPERT

In the audience of Rev. D. B. Titus, pastor of Christian church, Roswell, N. M., Sunday were four people who had been present at the first service in Rupert church on its completion in 1908. Mr. Titus was first pastor and organizer of this church. The four were Mrs. G. W. Doyle, Mrs. Andrew Harrison Smith, Lynn V. Carpenter, now an elder, and L. R. Adams, pioneer lumber merchant, who furnished material for the church. Following morning service Mr. and Mrs. Titus were honor guests at a picnic in Walcott park at Mindokka dam.

Grange met Friday at Christian church annex. Luke Williams, former Grange member, now with the state agriculture department, Boise, spoke on benefits received by the farmers from the department of agriculture. Maurice E. Willis, president of the Mindokka county best growers' association and vice-president of the state organization, spoke on the beet industry. Other program numbers were a reading by Mavis Adair Scheuebach, a paper, "Fifty Years of Statehood," by Angelo French, and group singing with Mrs. Fred Rucker at the piano. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Saylor, Mrs. William Rickett and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Volker.

O. W. Paul, secretary of Mindokka irrigation district, Mrs. Paul and daughter, Mildred, whose return from a vacation was delayed by an auto accident near Kingman, Kas., last week, arrived Saturday, Mrs. Paul, who spent some time in a Kingsman hospital as the result of a broken collar bone and rib, still has her shoulder in a cast. Their car was so badly damaged they had to purchase a new one for the trip home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sapp and children, Harold, Clifford and Doris, left Monday for their home in East Chicago, Ind., after visiting their cousins, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson, and daughter, Elizabeth M. Johnson.

Mrs. O. L. Johnson returned Friday from Baker, Ore., where she was called to be with her sister, Mrs. Gordon Vale, Ore., who underwent major surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Broadhead, Duchesne, Utah, left Saturday for Yellowstone park after visiting Mr. Broadhead's sister-in-law, Mrs. William Broadhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryan Stanley and daughter, Leona Stanley, returned Saturday from Yellowstone park.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell and small daughter, Roberta Jane, Ringling, Okla., are guests of Mrs. Powell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guard, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Spackman and son, Derrold, guests of Mrs. Spackman's mother, Mrs. Anna Monlon, left Saturday for their home in San Francisco. They were accompanied by Mrs. Monlon and her daughter, Grace Monlon and Miss June Frances Bold, who will visit Mrs. Monlon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Frelsen, in Winton.

Forecasting Fall Furs

Fireside Party for Unity Club Planned

Members of the Unity club and their families will gather around the rustic fireplace in the garden of the George Ward country home July 17 for a midsummer picnic. This decision was reached when the club was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Ward.

Mrs. H. T. Blake was in charge of a program featuring the theme "Fifty Years of Statehood." Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. John Sommers.

Mrs. Bert Schring, Granite Falls, Minn., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carl Boyd, was a guest of the club.

Also a guest was Mrs. Van Wynngarden, Springfield, Ore., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Blake. The hostesses served refreshments during the social hour.

Banbury Outing For M. S. S. Club

Banbury's is the place and July 21 is the date for the annual family picnic of the M. S. S. club. Arrangements for the event were made yesterday by the club at the home of Mrs. O. B. Lindsey.

Sewing for the Veterans' hospital in Boise occupied the group, and Mrs. Myrtle Griggs conducted a business session.

Refreshments were served on the lawn, which is shaded by plant trees and bordered by riotously colorful beds of midsummer flowers. Mrs. Harry Barry was received as a new member. Mrs. Jennie Meyers, Miss Jean Pierce and Miss Joyce Pierce assisted the hostess in serving a tray luncheon.

Mrs. W. C. Somner, Mrs. Mattie Vickers and Miss Mable Tiffany, Cleveland, O., who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Requa, were guests.

Funeral Details Pending Arrival

The body of Mrs. Harry Barger, pioneer resident of Twin Falls, will arrive Friday from Los Angeles, where she died while visiting a daughter, Mrs. Keith Carlson.

Mrs. P. R. Taber, Twin Falls, another daughter, is accompanying the body here.

Funeral services will be held Sunday, the time to be announced later, according to the White mortuary, where the body will be taken.

Bingo Featured By Fidelis Class At Outdoor Party

With electric lights illuminating the lawn for the occasion, members of the Fidelis class of the Baptist church Sunday school assembled Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson, 509 Third avenue west, for an outdoor party.

Bingo was the principal diversion, and numerous prizes were awarded. Community singing also was a feature. Mrs. Paul Phelan playing the accompaniment and Mrs. Bon Winkler directing.

Refreshments were served at one long table. Preceding the games, Stanley Walters conducted a business session.

Arranging the party were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Phelan and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Skinner.

STOMACH, BOWEL MISERY INSOMNIA AND GENERAL RUN-DOWN CONDITION

Indigestion, Bad Breath, Pains in the Back and Shoulders, Chronic Constipation and That Tired, Worn-Out Feeling Routed by New and Modern Hoyt's Compound Says This Well-Known Twin Falls Man

"I can now truthfully say that the tired feeling has left me and I feel stronger in every way. My nerves are stronger, and I can sleep all night without awakening even once. The pain has left my back completely. My bowels have become regulated and more normal than they have been for many years. I can say truthfully that Hoyt's Compound is the greatest medicine I have ever found, and I hope this will be the means of other sufferers trying it."

Sufferers: Call at the Majestic Pharmacy and talk personally with the Hoyt Man who is daily explaining the action of this new, celebrated compound to the crowds that call. Hoyt's Compound is sold by leading druggists in this entire section.

With such well-known Twin Falls people praising Hoyt's Compound, you should not wait another day to investigate the action of this new medicine. The Hoyt Man invites you to call at the Majestic Pharmacy and talk with him personally about the relief thousands say it has brought. Mr. F. A. Goodykoontz, well-known Twin Falls contractor, who resides at 350 Jefferson Street, says: "I was in a general rundown condition. I felt tired and worn-out all of the time and could scarcely do my work. I also was very nervous and restless and could hardly sleep at night. I would get tired rolling and tossing and would get up several times each night, then go back to bed to try to sleep. I had pains in the small of my back and left shoulder. The severe pain would shoot up to the back of my head. I had a bad case of constipation and was forced to take strong laxatives to get relief. I had taken every kind of medicine I had heard of and nothing helped me until I tried Hoyt's Compound."

WILLKIE STARTS 3-WEEK VACATION

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 11 (UP)—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, sprang contentedly in an eight-room Broadmoor hotel suite yesterday for his first complete rest in two months.

He and Mrs. Willkie had no plans except to stroll around Broadmoor lake behind this resort hotel, nestling at the foot of 14,000-foot-Pike's peak.

Willkie flew here by chartered plane from Washington, accompanied by a crew of news writers and photographers. Arrangements for his vacation stay of about three weeks were made by Gov. Ralph Carr of Colorado.

Willkie condemned a purported move to investigate a "telegraphic campaign" on behalf of his candidacy at the Philadelphia convention.

His statement was in response to a promise of Sen. Guy Gillette, D., Ia., head of the senate campaign investigating committee, to look into the alleged high pressure telegraphic campaign on behalf of Wendell Willkie after having received written complaints.

Gillette previously had said the Philadelphia convention delegates were "deluged" with telegrams espousing the Willkie candidacy.

Willkie said anyone "could investigate for ever" the conduct of his campaign at Philadelphia without finding anything damaging.

Most of the old leaders are gone. Those who were here had little real hand in the show. The depression seems to have liquidated the old guard.

In every convention there is a procession of veteran presidential candidates. With one exception all the candidates this time were up for their first test.

All the serious candidates were young men—Dewey under 40, Willkie 48, Taft 60. The chairman of the resolutions committee, Herbert Hyde, was around 40. The campaign managers of all the candidates were young men.

The party is in new hands.

Idaho Ex-Badman Hale and Hearty Not So Long Ago

Diamond Field Jack, alleged Maglio Valley badman and murderer at the turn of the century, is alive.

At least he was alive and feeling fine three years ago in San Francisco.

This was revealed here today by G. G. Allen, who resides one mile west of the hospital on highway 30. Allen made the statement after reading a story in the Evening Times of last Tuesday at which time Wesley E. Walton, who is visiting here from American Falls, told of his experiences in guarding the famed badman at Albion, while the latter was waiting to be hanged.

Hanging Called off The hanging never went through, however, and Diamond Field Jack, whose real name was Jack Davis, was pardoned by the governor. He had been convicted of murdering two shepherds.

Allen said that three years ago he spent the winter in San Francisco and that he ran into Diamond Field Jack at an accident.

The alleged murderer was "hale and hearty," Allen said, and joked about how close he came to "having his neck stretched" up in Idaho.

Contrary to Mr. Walton's statement that the badman was "small but plenty tough," Mr. Allen declared that Jack "pretended to do a lot of things he never really did."

"Gouger's Neck" During Allen's conversation with Diamond Field Jack three years ago the onetime bandit referred to Hagerman valley as "Gouger's neck."

In the early days the valley was known under that name, Allen moved into the Hagerman valley in 1891.

Allen recalled that three years ago Diamond Field Jack was all set for a prospecting tour into Nevada, which he was to make the next spring. Allen has not heard of him since that time.

"But he was alive then and feeling fine," Allen said today.

Epworth league institute on Wood river is being attended by the following young people from the Gooding Methodist church: Jane Meyer, Jean Nelson, Lois Stone, Vida Marie Baugh, Ella Stone, Verna Frances Carson, Sammy Parsons, John Meyer, Bill Krahn, Bob Gaston, Dick Meyer and Earl Parsons. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nelson, Gooding, will be camp counselors. Rev. Theo B. Mitzner will be in charge of a class on partnership with God, and Mrs. Mitzner will be dean of girls for the institute. Rev. Carl Davidson, Idaho Falls, will be dean of the institute this year; Rev. Albert Martin, Jerome, the registrar, and Rev. R. S. Rees, Burley, will lead the morning watch.

Union services were held at the Christian church Sunday evening with Professor Hybert Pollard, Linfield college, McMinnville, Ore., the speaker. He chose "This Drifting World" as his subject. Every available seat at the church was filled for the service.

Mrs. Hazel McCoy, Gooding county superintendent of schools, has returned from Moscow where she attended the three weeks conference of county superintendents.

Mrs. Hazel McCoy and sons, William and George, Gooding; Mrs. Doris Stradley, Twin Falls; Mrs. Florence Haight and daughter, Patricia, Burley; met Mrs. Minnie D. Bean, Boise, Miss Hazel Ross, Ohio, and Miss Sara Ruth Swickard, Ohio, in Shoshone Sunday and the group motored to Sun Valley to spend the day.

Mrs. Roy Shideler, Portland, Ore., and daughter, Peggy, arrived this week for a month's visit at the home of Mrs. Shideler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McMahon.

Gooding school board met Monday evening and set Tuesday, Sept. 3, as the opening date for the Gooding schools.

The stirring of a new drink with the feather from a rooster's tail, during the American Revolution, gave the "cocktail" its name.

West End Residents File for Primaries

BUHL, July 11 (Special)—A. E. Kliss and Charlie Busmann filed last week as Republicans in the August primaries. Mr. Kliss is former county commissioner, and seeks a place on the board of county commissioners, and G. L. Busmann seeks reelection as state representative from this district.

George Hart, also from this district, will be a candidate to succeed himself as county commissioner on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Kliss was a member of the county board in 1926 when the rim-to-rim bridge was built and he served last winter on the board appointed by the governor to purchase the bridge by the state.

Willkie Travels From 'Left' To 'Right' in Political Ideas

By JOHN T. FLYNN NEA Service Financial Writer PHILADELPHIA—As delegates reached home and are asked: "What sort of man is this wild Willkie you have nominated?"—they are going to have some difficulty answering. Probably never in history has a Republican convention named a man about whom it knew less.

He's a very different man from any who has been named by the Republican party in many years. He is 48 years old and for 40 of those years he was a Democrat.

He began his thinking life so far to the left side he flirted with socialism. But he has been traveling slowly from left to right.

It one tried to locate him on that long trail now it would be at about the spot where Al Smith stood in 1928, save on the matter of power.

He would be more at home on the Democratic side of the U. S. senate than on the Republican.

He is one of those Democrats who broke with his party over the New Deal—and after all the New Deal is far from the traditional position of Jeffersonians.

Willkie is liberal in the sense that he hangs to all philosophical positions of Victorian liberals—the great constitutional guarantees.

But he goes further in that he believes in dealing with the economic scene.

He has an essentially critical mind. He is one of those men far from satisfied with the world as it is today or as it was in 1929. He is one of those persons who believes in doing something about things.

More Student In this respect he is like Roosevelt, but his approach is different. Roosevelt is impulsive, moves in response to sudden good impulses. Willkie is more the student. He is widely read, unlike the President, who is in no sense bookish. He likes not merely to read but to write.

What the impact of the present world crisis on his mind will be is pure guesswork. He will probably become still more conservative.

But the Republicans have yet to learn what their candidate will do in this turbulent world. Oddly Joe Peto, powerful Pennsylvania oil man politician, opposed him because he thought his reform ideas were like Roosevelt's, while liberal William Allen White supported him because he thought Willkie's foreign policy ideas were like Roosevelt's.

I think both these gentlemen will find themselves wrong. He is a realist. He is tough-fibered. He may make a great liberal champion. He may make a resolute master if things get worse. That remains to be seen.

He is an administrator of high caliber.

Fairview Grange met last week. After business was concluded, Miss Margaret Hill, home demonstration agent, told how to can fruits and vegetables for exhibition purposes and judged and criticized several jars. Eric Jones, Pomona master, and his wife each gave readings.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Leth are parents of a daughter born Saturday in Twin Falls.

Marvin Jagels is in Moscow this week attending a state convention of Future Farmers of Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hahn and family and Mrs. Otto Platt and son spent this week vacationing in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Saver, Tacoma, Wash., were Monday guests at the Dallas Cox home.

Sunday about 25 young people enjoyed the fireside chat and lesson at the Roy "Wood" home.

Mrs. Irving Uptain and children returned Sunday after a visit in Cortez, Colo.

Ileen Morrison, Salt Lake City, and Marlon Allenbach were guests Sunday and Monday at the Roy Wood home.

Richard and Victor Tervey returned Sunday to their work in an airplane factory in Los Angeles after visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Tervey. George Stevens left for California with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hahn and family, Alfred Eskander and family, Elvin Noh, Chester Noh, and Mrs. Haysen, Nebraska, were guests at the Oscar Noh home last week.

Red Ruffing, at 36, Is Still Breaking Yankee Losing Streaks

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—The steady disintegration of the Yankees is alarming to Ed Barrow, Joe McCarthy and others concerned, but Charles Herbert Ruffing is one New Yorker who hasn't given up.

Charles Ruffing has had his share of tough luck this year, but at 36, and with four straight 20-game-or-better seasons behind him, Big Red continues to break Yankee losing streaks.

The world champions had dropped eight in a row when Ruffing shut out the Red Sox with six hits, May 12. They had lost five in succession when he was credited with a victory in Detroit, June 21.

And it was Ruffing who closed the outfall's most disastrous road trip in 15 years by breaking a four-game losing streak with a six-hit performance against the Cleveland array, which had begged 12 out of 14 in its home stand.

Falls to Stop Ruffing's
Ruffing was bothered by a sore elbow until August last season. It hurt to throw a curve, so cagy Rufus the Red practically eliminated the hook from his repertory. . . . spent the greater part of a 21-game season pitching to spotters. . . .

His best hit is a saller, which shoots away from a right-hand batter and into a left-hand filter. Ruffing knows as much about the pitching art as anyone who ever tossed a baseball, yet claims he didn't learn how to pitch until he was 30.

He contends few pitchers know what it's all about until they are 30. . . . says Bob Feller will be an even greater pitcher at that age provided he retains his stuff.

"That kid is just pumping that thing through there with plenty on it now," beams the one-time coal miner.

Total Abstinence
Ruffing attributes his progressive improvement at an age when most ball players are past their prime to almost total abstinence.

"I was a skinny kid weighing no more than 160 pounds when I reported to the Red Sox in 1925," relates the Nokomis Guide.

"They told me to put on weight and I'd be a great pitcher, so I returned home that fall and spent the better part of the winter drinking home brew. I drank so much—and it wasn't all home brew—that I blew up to 240 pounds.

"After that, when I won a game I'd consume a quart of rye celebrating, and when I'd lose I'd drink a quart of consolation myself."

It was after he was married, following the season of 1934 that Ruffing decided whiskey didn't help him win games. He made up his mind to go on the wagon and make up for lost time.

The record shows how well Red Ruffing has succeeded.

RED RUFFING

IS ONE YANKEE WHO HAS NOT GIVEN UP... THE BIG RIGHT-HANDER HAS HAD HIS SHARE OF TOUGH LUCK THIS SEASON, BUT SKIPPED ALL THREE OF THE NEW YORK CLUB LOSING STREAKS.

I DON'T KNOW WHAT I'D DO WITHOUT THIS CANE.

RUFFING WON 20 OR MORE GAMES FOR THE WORLD CHAMPIONS IN EACH OF THE PAST FOUR YEARS.

SPORT SCUMBS!

by Hal Wood

IT'S OUR SOUR DAY SO HERE ARE A FEW DENIALS AND INSTRUCTIONS ON WHAT NOT TO EXPECT IN THIS COLUMN

This is our "pout" day, so we wish to state once and for all that we are not at the present and never were "mad" at Verne Reynolds.

As a matter of fact, since arriving here about a year ago he has been one of our favorites on the Cowboy baseball squad—despite the fact that he was considered a "weak" hitter on the slugging crew of 1939. However, we were always of the opinion that he would develop (he was only 19 years old then and so we were partly instrumental in having him returned to the Cowboy fold for 1940.

So—anyone with the idea that we're "picking on Verne" is living under a big misapprehension—or sumpin'.

This department never has—and probably never will—do any "riding" on members of a Pioneer league baseball team.

Since the Cowboy club has been faring none too well during the current season, we've been blamed both for criticizing the ball players too much—and for not criticizing enough.

It is our opinion that most of the youngsters on the local club are doing their level best—and what more could you ask? Most of them are kids around the 21-year-old mark—just over or just under—and it's a cinch that none of them is going to get out on the field and not work—thereby spoiling a chance of advancement.

So—anyone asking us to "ride" the team is wasting his (or her) time; and likewise, anyone saying we have been "riding" the team too much is having hallucinations—or sumpin'.

And, for the benefit of some of the lesser educated "experts" in the line of official scoring at baseball games:

When a ball player gets a double play ball, makes an out at second base and then throws wild to first base—it is not an error unless the batter advances to second. All baseball scoring rules require it that one out be made on a play.

A third baseman is not expected to race in toward home plate, field a bunt off balance and then throw out the runner at first. If he does such a thing—then it's a sensation at play; if he doesn't, it should be chalked up as a hit.

A ball that goes through the catcher's legs is a passed ball—not an error. (And incidentally, not a young catcher would just as soon be charged up with an error as a passed ball.)

A ball knocked down by an infielder is not necessarily an error. If the player had to make a back-handed stab at it, or had to get off balance to make the stop and thereby wasn't in the proper position to throw—then the batter gets credit for a hit and there is no error charged to the fielder.

There often can be a hit and an error on one play. The batter bunts the ball; third baseman comes in, makes a clean pick-up. He throws the ball to first, but the runner was already there. However, the throw is wild and the first baseman can't make the catch so the runner advances to second base. Credit the batsman with a hit, the third baseman with an error.

Those are just a few of the more ordinary rules in scoring hits and errors.

The main thing is: Ball players aren't on the field to make sensational plays every time a ball is hit at them or in their vicinity. If they DO make the play, then it's sensational and sooner or later (if they keep up that sort of thing) they make the big leagues. However, you can't rob a batter of a hit just because a fielder, by throwing himself headlong at a ball, knocked it down, thereby spoiling a clean smash to the outfield fence.

No less an authority than Tyrus Raymond Cobb supports this corporate contention that the 1940 revival of baseball as a high school sport should be expanded even more next season.

Ty, as you don't know, is one of baseball's immortals—the scrappiest major league hero ever to compile a string of base-stealing records, lead his league in hitting years on end, and generally dominate the biggest show in baseball. He is now a Twin Falls businessman, having bought the local Coca Cola company which his 23-year-old son, Herschel, is managing.

And here's what Ty says today, with the perspective gained by retirement from the actual game.

"Baseball is a great thing for the youngsters. Aside from its value in developing the physique, it teaches our boys how to get to and to come right back without discouragement. That comeback spirit is a vital thing."

Ty admitted to this corner that he is seriously alarmed at the inroads made by football on baseball's status as the national sport for youth. But he sees an upswing again in baseball interest—and anyone in these parts who casts an eye at the number of Junior teams playing "hard ball" now in south Idaho will agree that the upswing is definitely here.

Incidentally, Ty said that although the Twin Falls Cowboys are down now he's pulling for the boys to snap out of it. He expects a stronger team this year, reasoning that after all you've got to give a championship club at least a year of grace to get back into the pennant fight when it's forced to rebuild from the ground up.

Rock Salt Set out For Big Game in Forests of Idaho

BOISE, July 11 (AP)—Distribution of 10 tons of coarse and sulphurized block salt in big-game regions of Idaho has begun, state fish and game director Owen Morris said today.

The salt is being distributed by conservation officers with the assistance of the forest service and the graving service. This year's salt distribution program is the largest ever undertaken by the department, Morris said.

Chapman's SCOREBOARD

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

The saddest part of Jack Dempsey being depicted wrestling around is that it may encourage the old champion to slide through the hemp with someone who can fight.

Indeed, Dempsey, spurred by the success of his Atlanta venture, already is talking of tackling young Joe Louis following a half dozen more preliminary tests.

Again Dempsey makes it clear he does not fully appreciate a reputation which has grown until, still living, he has become legendary.

Of course, Dempsey can't eat a reputation, but he is far from being broke, and it strikes his friends he could employ his many talents more profitably and much more safely in other lines.

Dempsey is only kidding himself about his fighting ability at 45. . . . even against broken-down grapplers. Nearly 20 years have elapsed since he was the Man Mauler.

"But money is what promoters are seeking, and I'm going to show them how to make it for themselves and me," he says.

You can't blame him in a sense, when 12,000 turn out in Atlanta to see him batter a helpless bone-bender as old as himself. Before he hopped a plane for New York, he received 30 offers for similar affairs with local favorites. . . . from coast to coast. . . . from the gulf to the Canadian border. The promoters are as silly as he is, if you can consider those wanting to make money out of their heads.

Dempsey, 13 years after retiring, drew more people in Atlanta than Louis has drawn on more than one occasion in New York.

Dempsey as a referee is a stronger box office magnet today than all the fighters with the exception of Louis and another one or two. He has been paid a higher fee and traveled farther than any other third man in history. He flew to Manila not long ago to handle a bout between Cefirino Garcia and Glen Lee.

But what Dempsey forgets is that his countless admirers turn out to see their long time idol.

They don't want to see Dempsey trying to fight at 45, or mixing up with out-and-out hippodromers.

All Jack Dempsey can do in his present ill-advised campaign is tear down what it took so long to build.

DIVORCE DIVIDES EMBATTLED PAIR

Divorce decree had been granted today to Mrs. Petrona Green against Jay W. Green, Hollister beekeeper, on charge that Mr. Green was extremely cruel and last June 14 struck his wife and his 16-year-old son with a heavy wooden club.

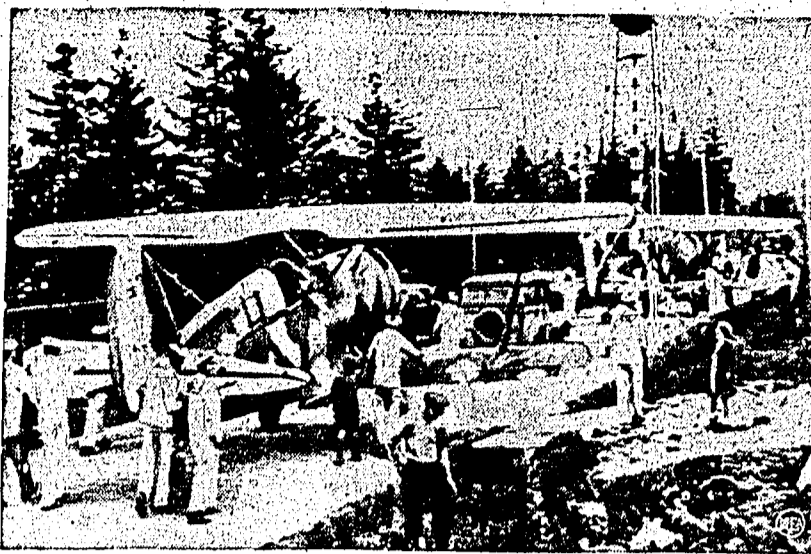

The decree, granted by Judge J. W. Porter, was immediately followed by dismissal of the wife's assault charge in probate court against her husband. That accusation was dismissed by Judge C. A. Bailey on motion of Prosecutor Everett M. Sweeley.

Divorce was given to Mrs. Green after Judge Porter had taken the matter under advisement following presentation of testimony in the uncontested suit. The Greens married Dec. 9, 1922 in Twin Falls. Mrs. Green was in custody of the son.

In the probate court matter, the prosecutor's request for dismissal said that the situation leading to Green's assault on his wife and son with the heavy club has been "adjusted as between the parties." He added that conviction on the felony charge would have been unlikely.

Mr. Green has been at liberty under bond.

Air Armada Advances by Highway Toward Seaports

Curtis dive bombers, flown from the United States air craft factory, are shown being pushed by sailors and towed by trucks down a Canadian highway toward the sea, where they apparently will be loaded for shipment to Great Britain.

RAILWAY EXPRESS STRIKE DELAYED

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—A threatened nation-wide strike of 30,000 railway express company employees was postponed for at least 60 days today as a result of President Roosevelt's invocation of powers delegated to him under the railway labor act.

His action was taken yesterday shortly after President George M. Harrison of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, announced a strike call had been issued for 5 a. m. Friday following collapse of negotiations for a 44-hour work week.

By proclamation, Mr. Roosevelt issued an order binding all parties to maintenance of the status quo for 60 days. The order provides for creation of a three man board which will have 30 days in which to investigate this dispute and 30 additional days in which to write and submit a report. Mr. Roosevelt did not name members of the board.

Skilled Worker Phase of U. S. Defense Plan Is Big Headache

WASHINGTON, July 11 (NEA)—A fine set of headaches is the principal crop, to date, in the program for training skilled workers for the defense program.

Not geared to needs

Another criticism made by people who are on the inside of the program is that national needs have not yet been balanced against national supply.

For instance: A given city may have the facilities to train 500 new welders (to pick a trade at random). But in that city there may be no demand for any additional welders; the demand may exist 1,000 miles away in some city which lacks the training facilities—and the program won't click until the one city's facilities are fitted into a program which takes account of the other city's needs.

Before the program takes final form, it is probable that it will evolve some scheme either for moving future workers to the training centers or for moving newly-trained workers to the production centers.

Apprentice Plan Needed

Look, also, for a new departure—a system of government subsidies to provide for the training of large batches of apprentices in the factories.

NYA and CCC can give a certain amount of training with the facilities they have available. The office of education can provide still more, through the technical schools of the nation. But one current estimate is that altogether only about a third of the total needed can be provided for in this way. The subsidized apprentice system is expected to be the way out.

Also . . . keep an eye on Owen D. Young. Right now he is listed as Sidney Hillman's assistant. It would be no surprise if he got a much more important part of the row to hoe before very long.

In HOLLYWOOD Today

By United Press

Loretta Young, 27-year-old actress, and Tom Lewis, 38, Hollywood advertising executive, are engaged and will be married soon, according to Miss Young's friends. The wedding will be held in a month or six weeks in Beverly Hills. Miss Young was married to Grant Withers, a former leading man, whom she divorced two years ago she reportedly was engaged to William P. Buckner, Jr., a wealthy New Yorker involved in a $100,000 Philippine railway fraud.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., today had turned down a possible movie career. Young Roosevelt, who had visited Columbia studio to call on Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., his friend and host, was offered a role by Playwright and Producer Ben Hecht. "Not for me," he said. "Movies and acting are far too complicated. I'm not up to it." His brother, James, began a motion picture career two years ago learning production and now his own company.

Bill Crosby, who in addition to singing and acting is associated in several business enterprises, served notice today on inventors he has nothing to do with a concern called Crosby Aircraft corporation. Crosby said he is not interested in planes, that for speed he prefers his horses—which are unquestionably slower than planes, and most other horses, too.

Superior court records disclosed Actress Monica Bannister has changed her mind again and wants to divorce Edward Cherkose, movie song writer. She filed a suit for her second divorce from the same man after a brief reconciliation.

"Mr. Smith went to Washington" under some other writer's name, Norman Houston, Hollywood author, charged today in a suit demanding $1,000,000 damages of Columbia Pictures, Inc. Houston asked for an accounting of the profits of Columbia's "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," claiming he originated the plot of the screen play under the title of "Clown in Congress."

AUTO HALTS ON BANK OF CANAL

JEROME, July 11 (Special)—Two accidents which occurred here near Jerome Sunday morning resulted in damages to machines involved but none of the occupants of the machines was injured, according to sheriff's authorities who investigated.

A machine driven by Russell Osgood, Wendell, traveling north, left the highway, crossed over a borrow pit and came to a halt on the bank of a canal about three and a half miles south of town. Approximately $150 damages resulted to the machine. The car belonged to Clarence Saley, Wendell.

A car driven by Charles Dworshak, Burley, accompanied by Ronald Park, also left the highway one and three quarters miles from Jerome and landed out in a field after the machine struck a rock. The accident occurred about 6 a. m. Sunday morning. The machine was badly damaged, according to police authorities who investigated. No one was injured.

Two cars collided recently near Jerome at the intersection four miles west and one mile north of town but no one was injured, according to police reports. The machines were damaged approximately $40 to both cars. Drivers were Mildred Goodrich and Casper Block.

Nazis Prepare for Long War By Rationing France's Food

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Expert

Preparations for continuing the war into next winter are indicated by arrangements for placing all of France's forthcoming harvest of food supplies under control of the German government. No private distribution of the harvest is to be allowed, and all food is to be allotted at the source by the Hitler conquerors of France.

Rationing of food among the French people is reported to be strictly enforced with large supplies already being sent into Germany. If a quick conquest of Great Britain were regarded as certain by Hitler, arrangements to place French farms under complete military control would be unnecessary.

Guard Against Famine

It seems apparent the Germans realize they must guard in advance against semi-famine conditions on the continent of Europe next winter as the result of the British blockade. Famine is Britain's ultimate instrument for bringing the war to an end favorable to the British empire. If the German plans to invade England and cut off British food supplies end in failure, there is little doubt the war will last into next year, with winter becoming a formidable ally of the British fleet.

France normally is within 10 per cent of being self-supporting in foodstuffs, but war conditions have lessened this proportion. The entire European continent looks forward to poor harvesting results not only because so many farm laborers are in military service but also because of bad weather conditions.

Wheat Importations

The continent will require at least 150,000,000 bushels of wheat importations this winter to prevent hunger preying on the people. Most of the grain must come via trade routes controlled by the British navy. Hitler, as the conqueror of the continent, will seize all food he can as tribute from conquered territory, to try to prevent disintegration within Germany. That will mean partial starvation for the victims of France's surrender, unless there is relief through the Red Cross.

Already Red Cross food supplies are beginning to be distributed in France from abroad, raising a difficult problem for Great Britain. France has been declared hostile territory by the British government, since Germany is using French territory and French supplies as a base in efforts to compel British capitulation. Food reaching France through any agency whatsoever is of important assistance to Germany, since it allows the Germans to seize that much more of France's domestic crops for the use of the German people.

Medical supplies are not in the same category as foodstuffs, nor are

STATE MEN TAG AUTO VIOLATORS

JEROME, July 11 (Special)—According to state police reports released this week, several persons operating machines on the highways were given warning tickets and several were issued tickets of arrest to appear before magistrates on charges of traffic violations.

Paul Sherry, Boise, was arrested on charges of driving a truck astraddle the yellow line. Sherry appeared before Judge Maxwell, Wendell. Willis Hamilton, Kimberly resident, was given a warning ticket for operating a motor vehicle in a reckless manner.

Cited Into Court

Bill Peters, a resident of Twin Falls, who gave his address as route three, was cited into Judge Clark T. Stanton's court on charges of driving a car astraddle the yellow line and going over a hill on the white line.

Clarence N. Cox, Richfield, was cited into Justice Elmer Todd's court at Shoshone on charges of operating a vehicle on the highway without a tail light and without an official okay.

Claude Brown, Jr., Twin Falls, was arrested in Shoshone on charges of falling to observe a stop sign near the railroad track in Shoshone and also for traveling at 65 miles an hour in a 50 mile zone. The arrest was made south of Shoshone.

Warren D. Albertson, Ketchum and Jerome, was also given a warning ticket for committing a traffic violation, as well as Wesley N. Shy, Paul resident.

Warning Ticket

Daniel J. Cavanaugh, Twin Falls, was given a warning ticket for driving on the yellow and white line and for operating a machine at an excessive rate of speed. Juel Hughes, Twin Falls, was arrested Monday night at 11:40 p. m. on charges of operating a trailer after dark without lights and also on charges of operating a truck at night without the proper flares. Hughes was cited in Justice of the Peace E. C. Houston's court, in Jerome.

JEROME SLATES ABERDEEN TOUR

JEROME, July 11 (Special)—Jerome county farmers have been invited to visit the Aberdeen branch experiment station Monday, July 15. The invitation, extended by John L. Toews, superintendent of the station, is being made through the county extension office, and is in line with visits made in previous years by farmers of the various southern and eastern Idaho counties.

Gooding and Lincoln county farmers will visit the station on the same date, while farmers from other counties have been extended invitations for days between July 15 and 22.

Work on the station, which is of vital interest to Jerome county farmers, covers a multitude of problems faced by farmers growing crops in southern Idaho, and the progress made in various lines is watched from year to year.

Farmers of Jerome county have been invited by letter from the county extension agent's office to form carload parties. The program begins with a tour of the station at 10 a. m. Those making the trip can bring lunch or procure lunch at the station or in Aberdeen.

Gossett to Seek Demo Nomination For Governorship

BOISE, July 11 (AP)—Idaho's Democratic gubernatorial nomination became a four-way race today with the entry of Charles Gossett, Nampa, former lieutenant-governor. Gossett said he would file petitions of candidacy Friday or Saturday.

Meanwhile, Attorney General J. W. Taylor and James L. Barnes, Hansen, filed for the post. Mayor Chas. A. Clark of Idaho Falls is the fourth candidate seeking the nomination.

YOUTH TO SPEND LIFE IN PRISON

BOISE, July 11 (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Clifford A. Zipse today faced the prospect of spending the rest of his life behind prison walls after the Idaho prison board saved him from hanging.

A unanimous vote of the board gave Zipse a commutation of his death sentence. He had been sentenced to die on July 1 for slaying Wesley Curtis, 15, his Rocky Point schoolmate, but Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen stayed execution to await decision of the board.

The action was based on recommendation of psychiatrists who examined Zipse and found him mentally deficient.

In voting for commutation, Bottolfsen recommended the youth be kept in prison for "the remainder of his natural life."

Secretary of State George Curtis moved the sentence be commuted; Bottolfsen and Attorney General J. W. Taylor concurred.

Zipse was convicted May 7 in Grangeville after testimony showed he pumped five rifle bullets into young Curtis' body because of a grudge.

BRITISH SHIP HIT, ITALIANS CLAIM

ROME, July 11 (AP)—An official announcement said today Italian planes had damaged the British battle cruiser Hood and had hit the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal with two bombs.

(The Hood is the world's largest warship. It is 42,100 tons.)

The communique claimed the damage was inflicted on the British naval units in the Balearic Islands in the western Mediterranean.

A fire was caused aboard the Hood, the communique claimed.

The raid on British naval units was said to have occurred July 9.

LONDON, July 11 (AP)—The admiralty today denied Italian claims that the battle cruiser Hood or the aircraft carrier Ark Royal had been hit by bombs in the Mediterranean battle. The statement said bombs fell near the ships but there was no damage and no casualties.

Eire Rejects Defense Plea From Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 11 (AP)—Viscount Craigavon, prime minister of northern Ireland, told the Ulster house of commons today that Premier Eamon DeValera of Eire had rejected his offer for a joint defense of Eire and northern Ireland.

So far as he was concerned, Craigavon said, DeValera's rejection ended the matter.

Proposals for a joint defense were made in view of fears of possible German invasion of Ireland to facilitate the expected German campaign against the British Isles.

"The suggestion that Ulster become neutral in this crisis in the history of the empire is repugnant to the very soul of the loyal Ulster," Craigavon told commons. "Northern Ireland is at war and will stand by the British empire to the end."

"We declare again and again and, I am sure, unambiguously, that we never will be party to removal of the cross of St. Patrick from the union jack."

Husband Granted Order of Divorce

Cruelty charge had won divorce today from Lester N. Downing from Mrs. Esther Downing. Decree was granted yesterday by Judge J. W. Porter after an uncontested hearing in district court.

The couple married Feb. 6, 1934 in Twin Falls and separated Nov. 1 of last year.

Farley Opposed to Acclamation Vote

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley revealed to press conference questioners today he was against nominations for President by acclamation at next week's Democratic national convention, a procedure which some draft-Roosevelt supporters have contemplated as part of their third term strategy.

By implication, Farley also reiterated his opposition to a third term by Mr. Roosevelt.
