American Citizens Will Appeal to FDR For Full Protection

SHANGHAI, July 22 (U.P.)—United States marine patrols were reinforced in the American defense sector of the International settlement today and bodyguards were provided for Americans who had been threatened by Japanese-dominated elements.

American citizens who have been threatened, agreed to send a message to President Roosevelt urging him to inform Japan it would be held responsible for safety of Americans in China, on the ground Japan controls Chinese authorities in territory it occupies.

Members of the consular corps, at a meeting Thursday, plan to ask their governments to cooperate to combat a terror campaign being waged against persons in the International settlement who are regarded as friendly to China or unfriendly to Japan.

MEDILL SCHOLARSHIP WINNER HAS PRAISE FOR 4TH ESTATE

Frances Schwellckhart is enthusiastic about the Fourth Estate, particularly as it was unfolded to her at the Medill School of Journalism, Evanston, Ill., this summer.

With a head full of ideas, her own and those of her counselors, she returned last week from Evanston, where she studied on a high school journalist's scholarship for four weeks.

Wants It Printed She's ready to launch a one-woman campaign for a printed school newspaper, rather than one of the mimeographed variety.

"Outsiders judge a high school by the type of athletic teams it puts out, and by the papers it issues," said Frances, "and mimeographed editions just don't make the impression that printed ones do."

She continued, "Little places like Coffeyville, Kan., and other small high schools had printed newspapers. Only a small minority had mimeographed ones, such as we issue in Twin Falls."

Frances doesn't want Coffeyville, Kan., to keep ahead of Twin Falls. "Advantage of having a printing press, either in the school or available for the running off of the paper, is that the journalism students get a much clearer conception of make-up, printing styles and headline writing," she said earnestly, "to say nothing of making it possible to use pictures."

Rap Gossip Puerile gossip columns are scorned by the Medill counselors, who point out the silliness of the "Johnny loves Mary" variety of chatter.

Frances, who was assistant writer-up editor for the Coyote last year, and is president of Quill and Scroll,

Lewis refuted any rumors that Miller had met with foul play, but opined his death "at a time when we are most in need of the great journalistic interpretations of which Miller was capable," he told the 98 high school students gathered from all over the country, who won scholarships to Medill for a summer course.

Frances expressed a profound admiration for Gladys Hobbs Goodall, of the Deseret News, Salt Lake City, one of the counselors, who

Following the ceremony, read by Rev. Roy E. Barnett, Baptist minister, at the Morehouse home, 353 Third avenue north, a wedding luncheon was served at the Park hotel.

Vacationists to Share Honors at Bridge Supper

Mrs. John E. Hayes and Mrs. George F. Sprague will be co-hostesses at a bridge supper this evening at the home of the former, 691 Shoshone street north.

Honor guests will be Mrs. Robert Maddock, New London, Conn., daughter of Mrs. Hayes, and Miss Jean Sprague, Sweetbriar, Va., daughter of Mrs. Sprague.

Most of the 16 guests are mutual friends of the honored duo. Miss Edith Slatter, Hazelton, bride-elect of next month, will also be an out-of-town guest.

Guests will be seated at quartet tables centered with bud vases of nasturtiums and snapdragons, between lighted tapers, will form the decoration for the dining room table, and the room trim will be garden bouquets.

Arrington Clan Stages Reunion

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Arrington was the scene of a "clan gathering" Sunday afternoon, when 45 members of the L. R. Arrington family met for a reunion and picnic luncheon, served on the lawn.

Games and contests occupied the children during the afternoon, and group pictures were taken as mementoes of the occasion.

Present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Arrington and members of the N. W. Arrington family were: B. S. Arrington, Pocatello; Mr. and Mrs. George Ward and family, Declo; Mrs. Ray Sparks and family, Leavenworth, Kan.; Mrs. W. O. Fisher, Heyburn.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Arrington and family, the R. G. Arrington family, Leroy Arrington and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra E. Davidson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ver Cox and son, Twin Falls.

argued in favor of women reporters, and who admitted that she attended an execution, and maintained her poise, while two men reporters had fainted.

Dialks Stock Yards Frances was ecstatic over dancing at the Edgewater beach hotel; turned up her nose at the inspection tour they were obliged to make to the Chicago stock yards; "got a kick" out of going through the huge Chicago Tribune plant, and observed that the girl students from the "deep south" were the most popular of the entire group.

"It's their accent, you know. And with more girls than boys taking the course, it wasn't so good for the rest of us."

Frances has an abundance of enthusiasm and an equal amount of frankness.

COWBOYS TROUNCE BEES 17-13 IN SLUGFEST

YANKEES, RED SOX AND GIANTS SUFFER DOUBLE DEFEATS

Reynolds' Home Run Sends Salt Lake Down to Defeat; Play Second Game Tonight

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor
A story-book finish from the bat of Verne Reynolds last night gave the Twin Falls Cowboys a 17-13 victory over the first-place Salt Lake City Bees in one of the weirdest games played at Jaycee park this year.

VERNE REYNOLDS
Hit homer with score tied and bases loaded, two down in last half of ninth inning last night, to give Twin Falls Cowboys a 17-13 victory over league-leading Salt Lake City Bees.

His Homer Beats Bees
The battle at Jaycee park Sunday saw a parade of pitchers take the mound and all suffer just about the same fate.
The Cowboys frittered away a big lead and by the eighth inning the Bees had knotted the count at 13-13. Then with two down in the last half of the ninth and the bases loaded, Reynolds came to the plate and hit the first ball pitched to him over the left field fence to hand Paul Piscovitch the loss.

Boise Gains By Beating Pocatello Club

By United Press
Andy Harrington's fast traveling Boise Pilots today had whittled down the Salt Lake Bees' Pioneer league lead to five games.
The Pilots made it three straight last night, dumping the Pocatello Cards, 8 to 5. Previously, the Pilots had taken the Bees in the last two of a three-game series.

Rainiers Move To Portland; Keep Big Lead

By United Press
The Seattle Rainiers, safely over their dangerous series against second-place Oakland, headed for Portland today with high hopes of fatening up their nine-game lead in the Pacific Coast league.
The last time Seattle played Portland the Rainiers managed to "eke" out a series win by taking eight straight games. Portland is currently eighth in an eight-club league, 3 1/2 games from the leaders.

68,590 Watch Bombers Lose Twice to Tigers; Indians Defeat Boston

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, July 22 (U.P.)—This is black Monday for the Giants, Yankees and Red Sox. The Giants, in particular, were mourning low. Bill Terry's club is 11 games back and just about washed up as a pennant contender. From now on the National league looks like a 2-club race with the Dodgers having a large order on their hands in their pursuit of the Reds.

74 Posted in First Day of Best-Ball Play

Qualifying play in the annual Twin Falls best-ball tournament, sponsored by the Union Motor company, got under way at the municipal golf course yesterday and today prospective divot-diggers had a 74 as the mark to shoot at for the medalist honors.
The 74 count was posted by Warren Larsen, youthful local amateur, who came through with a 38 on his first round and 36 on his second — good enough to be low score for the day.

Marlowe No Fuzzle

Marlowe's offerings were no puzzle to the Cowboys and they got more in the time to make the count at 13-13.
Both sides went scoreless in the fourth and each got one run in the fifth. But from there on out the slugger REALLY started.

After Salt Lake went down without scoring in the first inning, the Cowboys counted three runs before any were out when John Americh was hit by a pitched ball. Ernie Bishop singled and then Bill Randall hit a home run—his sixth hit in a row, incidentally, for he got five for five at Idaho Falls on Saturday.

Arnerich pulled up at second, but Ernie was safe at first, too, on error by Hatchett, Bee first baseman.

Reynolds Homers
Billy Randall then laid down another sacrifice and Arnerich and Bishop advanced. Here the Bees decided to walk Hughes to fill the bases. The strategy looked good, too, when Piscovitch fanned Ogden on three pitched balls to bring Reynolds to the plate.

With two down and the nearly 1,000 fans in the stands yelling their heads off, Verne parked a fast Piscovitch ball over the left field fence to send the throng home happy.

Bees Swarm
The Bee attack started to function in the eighth when Greer got himself into a hole as Partee singled and Chuck Henson, the new Utah star, connected for a double—his fourth hit of the game. Hatchett and Don Guinetti then drew walks and Henson singled before a 3-to-0 advantage Greer out of the game and Partee hooked to walk Morisco and Steele as runners crossed the plate, got Willey Burleson on strikes. Ray Perry flew out and then Partee singled to knot the count at 13-13.

New Yorkers Bet on Anything: So Mac Suggests Mule Races

By HENRY MELEMORE
 NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—The more I see of the people who bet on the horses around New York City under the new pari-mutuel system, the more I wonder why anyone doesn't open a track for mule racing, or goat racing, or even cat, chicken, or cow racing.

The finish of the race is the thing to New Yorkers, not the race itself, or even what is racing in the race. One proof of this is that on days when the racing cards have had little or nothing to offer in the way of good horses, the play in the pari-mutuels has been as great as at many tracks when the real thoroughbreds of the country were matched against one another.

New Yorkers just plain, everyday like to bet. They have put up with the most terrible inconveniences in order to risk their money. There isn't a track around New York that is able to comfortably handle the crowds. Half of the bettors can't see, any part of the race. They have to stand in weary lines to get bets down or collect money, and even the transportation to the tracks is enough to frazzle the nerves of a bargain basement habitué.

A good guess is nine-tenths of the people who play the horses around here don't know one thing about racing, and furthermore don't care. The odds they establish through the totalizer, day in and day out, are the most ridiculous you'll find anywhere in the country. Ninety per cent of the money is bet without rhyme or reason. They pick horses by the Chinese system, the hat-pin system, the pretty name system, the hunch system, the my-barber-told-me-system and scores of others just as futile.

It has been suggested that metropolitan tracks owe their tremendous patronage to the fact that tens of thousands of New Yorkers are curious to find out what a horse looks like without a traffic policeman riding him, or without a milk-wagon behind it. They know nothing about the various stables, or the jockeys, or the blood lines, or the trainers, or the distances, or the times, or the past performances, or any of the things that are important to the true horse lover. There is no more kinship between a crowd at Churchill Downs, say, and one at Empire City or Aqueduct, than there is between Uncle Sam and Aunt Jemima.

That's why I say I am surprised that some one has not started racing mules or other animals. Say you started a mule track. It would be much more profitable. Farmers would bring in their mules and race for small purses, being as mules are not as expensive to maintain as thoroughbred horses. There would be no need for expert and expensive riders, or for high-powered trainers.

The fact that the mules took three or four minutes to run a mile wouldn't make one bit of difference to your average New York race track devotee. He would only be gratified, and feel he was getting more for his money than he did at a horse track where the races are over so quickly.

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

(By United Press)

No major golf competition in the world attracts so many entrants as the national public links tournament beginning in Detroit today. The 192 competitors represent the cream of more than 2,600 week-end golfers who tried to qualify. This is the 10th of the series, and marks the first time that the championships has been held in the home city of its founder, James D. Stanish, Jr.

After Henry Armstrong stopped Lew Jenkins the other night, he told Al Bell, manager of Lou Ambers, "You tell Ambers I got even for him and good." If Hubbell and Schumacher hold to the form they displayed in their most recent victories, it is going to be hard to keep the Giants out of the pennant fight, come September—and that's when National League pennants are won.

Failure of the Red Sox, Indians and Tigers to pull away while the Yankees were stumbling around for the first half of the season, promises to give the American league a regular National league garrison finish. The saying that "as Dickey goes, so goes the Yanks" may have to be revised. Buddy Roser seems to be filling Bill's shoes quite adequately. It was his bat ringing out a single, double, triple and homer that packed the Yankees biggest scoring attack of the season Friday. It was only the 17th time in American league history any batsman had hit for the cycle.

Jenkins Will Race for 24-Hour Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 22 (AP)—Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City's racing mayor, took off today in his Mormon Meteor III on an assault on the 24-hour auto speed record of 158 miles per hour at 6:33 a. m.

He made the start after a previous one was called off at end of three laps. Condition of the track was good, with only the west track slightly soggy.

His average speed over the first few laps was unofficially about 165 miles per hour.

"The car is right," Jenkins said as he started, "and has turned better than 175 miles an hour on the short course. That means there should be an added 15 miles an hour on the longer circles, and that's all we need."

STALIN PUSH TO BALTIC THREATENS NAZI DOMINATION

EXPERTS PREDICT REDS MAY HAVE TO JOIN BRITISH

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Expert

Stalin's push against Germany and German domination of the Baltic has made serious headway, of grave concern to Hitler, through the decision of Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia to accept annexation by Russia. Germany has destroyed the pre-war southern encirclement of the Reich which France directed through the little entente, but an eastern encirclement has now been completed by Russia.

The new Baltic annexations join Russia's grab of Polish territory which in turn reaches to the boundaries of Bessarabia and Bulgaria, now a part of the Soviet Union. The western boundary of Russia now lies directly against German territory from the Baltic to Czechoslovakia, forming a Communist menace which Hitler considered one of Germany's gravest dangers until the present war compelled him to agree to a temporary entente with Stalin.

Publicist Cleared

Carl Byoir, above, New York public relations counsel, was cleared of charges of espionage for Germany, made by Rep. Wright Patman of Texas. A department of justice spokesman said that investigation by the F. B. I. disclosed "no evidence whatever" that Byoir had engaged in un-American activity.

CIVIC AID SOUGHT FOR ENLISTMENT

Statewide call to Chambers of Commerce throughout Idaho—urging assistance in "Enlistment week" which opened today—was issued this afternoon by the Idaho state chamber through Secretary L. F. Parsons, Boise.

The week was proclaimed by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen to give Idaho's cooperation in the national defense push to boost the U. S. army from 242,800 to 375,000 men.

Parsons urged presidents and secretaries of Magic Valley C. of C. organizations to place emphasis on enlistment of young men of the area. He requested appointment of enlistment cooperation committees or similar action to assist the recruiting campaign.

Speakers to appear before civic clubs and other organizations this week may be lined up by contacting recruiting headquarters, Parsons advised the Magic Valley chambers. Cooperation by the city of Twin Falls and by various service clubs was announced Saturday by Mayor Joe Koehler.

Mailboxes Painted For Filer District

FILED, July 22 (Special)—Gilbert Smith, Filer postmaster, has announced that rural mailbox improvement week would be observed on Filer routes beginning Thursday. A man is making a tour of the Filer routes, painting boxes, and most of those solicited have had the work done.

It is pointed out that unsightly boxes distract from scenic beauty along the highways and from attractive homes, and that improperly erected boxes not in serviceable condition fail to protect the mail from the weather.

The department recommends that the names of boxholders be painted on all boxes. It requires that non-approved boxes, those with top openings, revolving door or other types which cannot be served by the carrier from his car or which do not protect mail, should be replaced with the standard box. It is especially requested that the box be of such a design that the carrier is not likely to injure his hands in filling it.

WOOL MEN MAP MID-YEAR MEET

Mid-year meeting of the Idaho Wool Growers association will be held the evening of Aug. 14 in Twin Falls. Following the annual Filer ram sale at the fairgrounds, according to word received here from M. C. Claar, secretary, Boise.

Claar said that "since much has transpired since our annual convention in January," many topics will be on the agenda at the Aug. 14 gathering in the Park hotel. Sheepmen from all parts of Idaho will be on hand.

These Will Be Topics

Among the topics slated for discussion are Washington activities, broads of wool substitutes, grazing regulations, lamb advertising, state taxation and general operating costs. H. B. Soulen, Welsler, president of the Wool Growers, will preside at the dinner session.

The ram sale classic scheduled for the morning of Aug. 14 has been set at an earlier hour because the number in all breeds will exceed last year's auction, according to Robert Blastock, Filer, chairman in charge of arrangements. The sale will start at 9:30 a. m. when the first lot enters the ring. Col. E. O. Walter, Filer, will be auctioneer.

Owners Offer Rams

Forty-seven different flock owners have indicated they will offer their choicest rams at the 19th annual state sale, Mr. Blastock said. Offerings will include Hampshires, Suffolks, Suffolk-Hampshires and a few Panama rams. The increase in offerings will make selection of high-quality breeding stock an easy one for buyers, the chairman said.

Officers of the association, all of whom are expected to be on hand for the sale and for the mid-year meeting the evening of Aug. 14 include Mr. Soulen; Thomas H. Gooding, Shoshone, vice-president; Eph Hicks, Sugar City, honorary president; Mr. Claar; James D. Little, Howe, director; J. C. Sldoway, Teton, director; Ivan G. Lincoln, Twin Falls, director, and H. L. Finch, Soda Springs, director.

President Roosevelt drove from Hyde Park to Newburgh, N. Y., to attend funeral services today for his 82-year-old aunt, Mrs. Dora Delano Forbes, who died Sunday.

Paulette Goddard and Marlene Dietrich have been named captains of the two teams in that weird game of rubber bats, exploding balls and jumping bases which Hollywood calls its "annual comedians vs. leading men" baseball game. Proceeds of the game to be played Aug. 8 go to charity.

Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican vice-presidential nominee, notified Oregon officials today he would make his formal nomination acceptance speech at Salem late in August.

At Hollywood, Col. Eugene L. Markey, 74, father of Gene Markey, motion picture producer, died at Hollywood hospital.

President James S. Kemper of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said in a general letter to the chamber membership that business would do its part in meeting preparedness needs but asked the government in return, "remove obstacles tending to block industrial initiative."

Forty young married couples, "graduates" of Clifford M. Washburn's Honeymoon Isle off the coast of Florida, have been invited to participate in a baby derby. Washburn said he would give permanent deeds to cabins on the island to parents of the first 20 babies to be born there.

President John L. Lewis of the CIO today again advocated "blacklisting" of firms receiving contracts under the multi-billion dollar defense program if they fail to comply with provisions of the NLRB.

In a four-way radio debate last night, Solicitor General Francis Biddle said President Roosevelt is better qualified to lead the country in the national crisis than Wendell L. Willkie. His statement was supported by House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn, while Sen. Edward R. Burke and C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee from Illinois, differed.

Dr. J. M. Tinley of University of California college of agriculture, estimates 33 per cent of the white population of South Africa favors withdrawing active support from England and returning to neutrality.

At Washington, Dr. Alfred Billmanis, Latvian minister to the U. S., said he would refuse to surrender his legation to Soviet Russia because "his homeland was the victim of unprovoked aggression."

Yves Bouthillier, French minister of finance, and his staff left Vichy for Paris to reestablish the ministry in the German-occupied capital.

GARNER POINTS TO FDR WAITING

WASHINGTON, July 22 (UP)—Vice-President John Nance Garner today in effect criticized President Roosevelt's failure to make known his third term intentions to the Democratic national convention "until the last moment."

Revealing he would follow his usual custom and go to Uvalde, Tex., for the Texas primary this Saturday, Garner declined to say whether he planned to return to Washington.

"I will reserve my decision on that," he said in response to questions. "I have a leader who waits until the last moment to make up his mind."

The remark was the first which Garner has made personally to reporters since long before the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

Garner, a candidate for the presidential nomination at the Democratic convention in Chicago, was relegated to the political sidelines when Mr. Roosevelt was nominated and expressed his preference for Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace as his running mate.

Some friends of the vice-president have speculated he might take the occasion of the primary elections to stay at his Uvalde home, thus retiring from public life.

The national aeronautic association will hold its first national congress at Denver on July 7.

Give Baltic Control

By joining the Soviet Union of Republics, Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia have given Stalin absolute control of the eastern Baltic which Nazi diplomacy would have regarded as a casus belli prior to September of last year. These three little countries now have become bases for expansion of Communist propaganda in Germany in the event of the final outcome of the war leading to a German revolution.

Russia is now reported to be bringing pressure on Rumania to adopt a Soviet form of government, in opposition to the imitation of Nazi rule which Rumania is organizing. The Rumanian government will not be able to reject this proposal out of hand because acceptance would give Rumania the support of Russia against plans of Hungary to seize Transylvania, and Bulgaria to annex Dobruja.

The Rumanians are reaching a stage where they will have to decide whether to continue to be anti-Communist and eventually lose Transylvania and Dobruja, or to accept Communism and gain Stalin's help to keep these two provinces. This newly developing complication in southeastern Europe is especially disquieting to Mussolini, who believes any advance of Communism through the Balkans spells danger to Italy.

Critical Situation

At the same time Stalin's present ambitions are heading him toward a critical situation if Germany and Italy should win the present war. Victorious Germany and Italy would certainly not rest content to see Communist menaces in eastern Europe and the Balkans increase in power. Russia would have to be put in her place even at the cost of a new war.

There is no doubt Stalin knows this fact well. He must know also his army would stand no chance against the German forces in their present condition of high efficiency. That can only mean he would not relish a German and Italian victory.

If, however, Germany were partly to exhaust herself by trying to invade Britain and if the attack were to fail, every consideration of prudence would counsel Stalin to deliver the final blow to prevent German post-war domination. Thus, the war may suddenly change its complexion within the next few months. Such considerations as these have much bearing on Germany's present peace drive and, likewise, on Britain's determination to accept no peace at Hitler's price.
