Senate Committee Starts Work on FDR Guard Training Bill After Angry Row

Republicans and Democrats Clash On Conscription

WASHINGTON, July 30 (U.P.)—After an angry row, the senate military affairs committee decided today to lay the controversial conscription bill aside temporarily and begin work on President Roosevelt's request for authority to mobilize the national guard.

The action was taken after Republicans, led by Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, demanded to know how the President stands on the conscription question. The demands brought accusations from Democrats their opponents were "playing politics" with the issue.

Previously the committee had been expected to approve the measure today. It had devoted all last week to revising the bill for senate consideration.

Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley said he believed the committee acted "wisely" in deciding to defer action on the conscription measure until after disposition of the President's requested bill to authorize him to order national guardsmen and reserves into one year's active service.

Hearings Scheduled
Committee Chairman Morris Sheppard said hearings would be held this afternoon on the mobilization plan, with Chief of Staff George C. Marshall and Maj. Gen. John F. W. Williams, chief of the war department's national guard bureau, as the witnesses.

President Roosevelt has not commented on the specific pending conscription bill under which all men from 18 to 64 would be registered and those from 21 to 45 would be liable for active army service.

But in his speech to the Democratic convention at Chicago, Mr. Roosevelt said:
"Because of the millions of citizens involved in the conduct of defense, most right thinking persons are agreed that some form of selection by draft is as necessary and as fair today as it was in 1917 and 1918."

Heated exchanges over the conscription question began soon after the committee met in executive session this morning. It was said, Bridges, Sen. Charles McNary, R. S. D., and Sen. John Thomas, R. Ida. demanded to know the President's position.

Bridges, it was said, told the committee that Mr. Roosevelt has sent messages to congress on all other phases of the defense program but has said nothing about the conscription bill, originally introduced by Sen. Edward R. Burke, D. Neb., a lame duck anti-New Dealer, and by Rep. James Wadsworth, R., N. Y. "We don't know how the President stands on this important issue and I think we have a right to know," Bridges was reported to have said. Gurney and Thomas backed him up.

IDAHOANS OPPOSE DRAFT PROPOSAL

BOISE, July 30 (U.P.)—Formation of a committee to campaign for support of the Burke-Wadsworth selective training bill was at a standstill today after several members invited to join the committee refused because they opposed conscription.

The Rev. W. W. Deal, former state Grange master and one of eight men asked to organize the southern Idaho committee, said he was opposed to peace-time conscription and that his name was included on the list without authorization.

Other persons asked to join the movement by the military training camps association said they opposed conscription and would not join the committee until they had received additional information concerning its work.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Thomas Acheson of the Boise First Methodist church sent a telegram to the Idaho congressional delegation urging that a system of volunteer service be substituted for conscription.

"It is our conviction that conscription is a threat to democracy and is contrary to democratic procedure," the telegram said.

BRITAIN TAKES 'SERIOUS VIEW' OF 11 ARRESTS

By FREDERICK KUH

LONDON, July 30 (U.P.)—Britain has informed Japan that she takes a "serious view" of the arrest of 11 British subjects, one of whom plunged to death from a Japanese police station while being questioned, it was learned today.

Authoritative quarters said that yesterday British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie informed Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka of the British attitude and said "news of the arrests would inevitably be regarded as having political implications quite apart from any technical charges against those arrested."

Spurred by newspaper demands that Britain reopen the Burma supply route to China or arrest prominent Japanese residents of London, the cabinet met to consider an official report from Craigie on the arrests in Japan.

It was learned authoritatively Craigie gave Matsuoka formal assurance the British community in Japan has no political organization. "Consequently the only charge which could be brought against those arrested is one working hard for the improvement of Anglo-Japanese relations," the ambassador was reported to have told the foreign minister.

Retaliatory Studied
It was understood the cabinet, which had deferred its meeting until a report from Craigie had been received, was considering possibility and advisability of retaliatory action.

Members of parliament were angry, political quarters reported, particularly after the recent agreement by Britain to close the Burma highway along which, since France closed the Indo-Chinese frontier, China had received the bulk of the foreign materials essential to her long range prosecution of the war. It had been hoped here the Burma road concession to Japan, taken despite criticism of the government at home and abroad, might serve to prepare the way for better British-Japanese relations at a time when Britain alone is fighting Germany and Italy.

British authorities denied strongly there was any truth in Japanese allegations that the arrests of the Britons were connected with the unearthing of a British spy ring.

WORKERS KILLED IN PLANT BLAZE

CAMDEN, N. J., July 30 (U.P.)—Fire and a series of disastrous explosions swept a paint manufacturing plant here today. An undetermined number of persons was killed and many others were burned critically.

Fire reports to reach police headquarters said between 10 and 15 bodies had been recovered.

Calls for help were sent to Philadelphia as other buildings in the area were ignited.

A company spokesman said normally 900 persons are employed in the building.

The scene of the disaster was R. M. Hollingshead-company, manufacturer of an automobile polish! Families in the area were evacuated by firemen and policemen. Four houses in the immediate area were set afire.

Firemen broadcast a general alarm asking all residents of Camden, a city of 120,000, to curtail use of water to increase pressure on the fire hoses.

An hour after the first blast, the explosions still were continuing. Authorities said there was no immediate way of ascertaining how many of the employees escaped from the building. Those who did escape were showered by burning oil. The flames could be seen for miles.

Two Men Killed In Hotel Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30 (U.P.)—Fire swept through a downtown rooming house-hotel today, killing two men and injuring at least five others.

The victims, trapped on the fourth and top floor of the Frame Argonne hotel at Sixth and Howard streets, were identified as Ernest Blaser, 28, and Julius Vogel, 40.

Bandits Grab $108,000 in City Center

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 30 (U.P.)—Six bandits seized a pouch containing $108,000 in cash from two messengers of the Asbury Park National Bank & Trust company today as the messengers were about to enter the Asbury Park post office.

The money was being sent to the bank to the Federal Reserve bank in New York.

The messengers carried the cash in two large leather bags from the bank, only three blocks from the post office. They were about to enter the post office, in the middle of the business district, when three men, carrying sawed-off shotguns, stepped up to them and demanded the bags.

The bandits seized the pouches, ran across the street to a parked sedan and fled. The automobile bore Pennsylvania license plates.

The messengers told police they believed two or three other men were in the car.

Bank officials said the money was carried in two bags and described it as "excess funds" to be shipped to the federal reserve bank through the post office.

A messenger, Clarence Barton, Jr., 25, and a guard, Joseph Sturm, 50, took the money to the post office in a private car. Both were armed, but had no opportunity to use their guns, they said.

WILLKIE'S STAND ON DRAFT ASKED

WASHINGTON, July 30 (U.P.)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana's veteran isolationist, today challenged Republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie to advise the country of his stand on conscription.

Wheeler insisted that Willkie should "tell the mothers of America, the workers of America, the youth of America and millions of others whether you are in favor of changing our traditional policy with reference to voluntary enlistments in time of peace."

Willkie also should say "whether you subscribe to the policies laid down by every of your friends who want to do anything short of war—which means war," Wheeler contended.

British Repulse New Nazi Raids; Protest Arrests

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

Great Britain drastically extended blockade control to all European ports today, fought off new German bombing attacks on the British isles and took a stern attitude toward Japanese arrests of Britons on spy charges in the far east. It was generally believed that the blockade action—which affects ships to or from the Americas—was directed chiefly against Spain, which had been reported re-shipping oil to the reich, but it also applies to the Balkans and Portugal.

Late FLASHES

WASHINGTON, July 30 (U.P.)—Appearing before the house military affairs committee today, the

R. Rev. Mgr. Michael J. Reedy, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, charged professional military men were exerting "high pressure propaganda" in behalf of conscription. He said a drive for voluntary enlistments would be better for the country.

Mgr. Reedy, who said he spoke for all the Catholic bishops of the United States, said the church would naturally abide by the decision of the government, but it preferred to see a voluntary enlistment drive tried first.

BERLIN, July 30 (U.P.)—German planes, attacking the British channel coast port of Dover yesterday, struck four ships totalling 25,000 tons and damaged them so severely "they can be regarded as total losses," the German high command claimed today.

A communique said 15 British planes were shot down at Dover in "fierce air battles" and it was admitted three German planes were lost.

War 'Jitters' Believed Cause Of Increased Highway Deaths

CHICAGO, July 30 (U.P.)—The national safety council reported today that "jitters" over the European war had increased the death toll on U. S. highways during June 15 per cent over the same period during 1939. The increase for June was the ninth consecutive monthly increase, corresponding to the ninth month of Hitler's advance in Europe.

"The council believes the nation's habits reflect an attitude of recklessness, preoccupation and confusion of values growing out of the war in Europe," the council said.

At least 14,700 persons have died on the highways between Jan. 1 and June 30 and 2,820 of them were killed during the last 30 days of that period. The increase for June alone was 12 per cent above the total for May.

All Ports Of Europe Affected

By DAN CAMPBELL

LONDON, July 30 (U.P.)—Great Britain today drastically tightened the naval blockade of the axis powers by extending contraband control on both imports and exports to all ports of Europe and specified ports of North Africa and Atlantic islands.

The new blockade ruling means that all ships' cargoes for Europe from North and South America and the far east must have navicerts—certificates issued by British authorities at the port of departure—or be liable to seizure.

The two-way blockade will thus affect such nations as Spain, Portugal and the Balkan states in an effort to prevent import of supplies that might be sent on to Germany or Italy and to block exports sent from those nations into neutral territory.

The action was announced in the house of commons by Minister of Economic Warfare Hugh Dalton, who said the British policy would be to aid neutral countries in obtaining needed supplies but to prevent imports that might be sent on to bolster the axis war machine.

All of continental France, Algeria, Tunisia and French Morocco will be treated as enemy-controlled territory for purpose of the blockade, Dalton said. Goods destined for these territories may be seized as contraband and goods originating in or owned by persons in such territories may be seized as prizes.

At the same time, Minister of Shipping Ronald Cross announced in commons new measures designed to make certain that foreign shipping is not used for the benefit of the enemy.

Cross said the new measure would require that ship owners cooperate with Britain in order to be granted use of British port facilities.

Dalton did not name the North African or Atlantic island ports involved in the new blockade measures, but in those areas are the Canary islands, Rio de Oro (Spanish), the Cape Verde islands and the Azores islands.

Extension Looms
Britain had offered to cooperate with the United States in solving the problem of world surpluses, said the blockade would be extended to Spain, Portugal, parts of north Africa, and some islands in the Atlantic.

"The British government has decided to extend the navicert system to all European goods consigned to any shipborne port as well as to certain Atlantic islands and certain neutral ports in north Africa," Dalton said.

Neutral Ships Speeded
The navicert system was introduced by the allied powers in an effort to speed neutral ships through the blockade of the axis powers. It provides for British authorities at the port of departure to certify the nature of a ship's cargo and thus facilitate its examination at blockade control points.

Dalton said British naval patrols would seize all ships which lack ship or cargo navicerts.

Conferences Set
He said an official of the ministry of economic warfare was going to Spain to confer with Spanish and British embassy officials in regards to Spanish oil imports, which recently have been reported higher than normal, arousing belief oil was being re-exported to Germany.

Dalton said Britain wanted Spain to receive adequate oil for internal consumption but not for re-export.

Ambassadors Informed
Sir Samuel Hoare and Sir Walford Selby, British ambassadors to Spain and Portugal have informed the Spanish and Portuguese governments of Britain's decision to tighten its blockade, especially to thwart the transit of contraband to the axis powers by way of the Iberian peninsula, it was learned.

It was understood the communications made clear that since German forces now are occupying France, Britain must increase vigilance against the passage of goods by way of neutrals to enemy territories. It was emphasized Britain is anxious to assure Spain and Portugal of their proper domestic requirements.

HAILEY, July 30 (Special)—William Markham, sr., who was arrested Saturday night and held for investigation in connection with the alleged shooting of his son, was released this afternoon from the county jail and no charges will be filed against him. It was announced by Sheriff Dave Howes.

Statements given to the sheriff indicated that the father fired at the son following a violent family argument. Witnesses said that both men had been drinking. The shooting occurred in a boarding house near the Eureka lead-silver mine northwest of here.

Leaders Expect Congress to Grant FDR Power to Mobilize Guard

QUICK APPROVAL PREDICTED FOR TRAINING PLANS

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Administration congressional leaders predicted quick approval today of legislation that will permit President Roosevelt to mobilize 320,000 national guardsmen and reservists for extensive training in modern warfare.

Chairman Andrew J. May, D. Ky., of the house military affairs committee, said he probably would ask authority from the house rules committee to amend a pending bill relating to the national guard, to give Mr. Roosevelt power to call reservists for service on this continent, American possessions and the Panama Canal Zone.

Little opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's plan to call out the national guard was manifested in either house. "With the foreign situation being what it is, we have to take every precaution to guard against some what may," Mr. May said.

● SERIAL STORY FLYING CO-ED

BY MARY KINNAVEY MOORE

YESTERDAY, Anne regained consciousness, found and gagged in a dark locker. She managed to free herself, escape into the hangar, Dick crossed into the doorway with a gun, trying to force Douglas to take off in the damaged plane. Anne looks for a weapon.

CHAPTER XII

MOMENTS were precious. Thinking desperately, Anne wished she had a gun. And in the same moment wondered if she would have been able to use it. The only gun she had ever used in her life was a water gun, "a squirt gun" they'd called them. "A water gun, a squirt gun"—of what was she trying to think?

The fire extinguisher! A perfect weapon. There were small hand extinguishers in all hangars, if only by some miracle there was one near her and she could find it in the darkness.

Cautiously she reached along the wall, moving forward as she did so, and in a moment her hand touched the sought-for metal container. With quick, silent movements she took it down and crept toward the three men.

As she drew near, she could make out the man holding the gun directly at Dick, and she could see Tony beside the ship. She moved more cautiously than ever, around the side of the plane until she was within a few feet of the men. She lifted the fire extinguisher, and with a prayer that she'd not miss her mark, turned the full force of the chemical at Jumps Daley.

He gave a choked, gasping cry, and the gun dropped noisily onto the floor, as he collapsed. Dick almost automatically had the gun off the floor and in his own hand, and Anne's voice frightened asked:

"Dick! Are you all right?"

Tony saw his own danger, fled from the hangar, taking advantage of Dick's distraction as he turned to Anne.

She was conscious again of that terrible throbbing in her head. She was half aware of men coming into the hangar, and of Dick's arms catching her as she fell.

BUT it was Georgette's voice which she first heard in her returning consciousness.

"What could have happened?" Georgette was asking. "Why was she out here? She was at the house studying when I left."

"I don't know what it's all about"—that was Dick's voice—"but she evidently tried to stop those lugs from tampering with the ship. She stopped the whole business with a fire extinguisher!"

Anne couldn't admit, even to herself, that she loved Dick Douglas and was piqued by his too evident indifference. Her lovely face

● BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 30 — Although President Roosevelt has said publicly he "assumes" Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace won't resign in order to campaign for the vice-presidency, there are New Deal strategists who are hoping the secretary will step down.

They see two things to be gained that way; some of the disgruntled party brethren could be appeased, and farmers who don't like the Wallace crop-control program could be brought back into the fold.

To replace Wallace they are suggesting Cong. Marvin Jones of Texas, chairman of the house committee on agriculture.

Farmers who oppose Wallace's production-control ideas would warm up to Jones, since he has been identified with the more popular domestic allotment-cost of production plan. And since he is a Garner Democrat, putting him in the cabinet would assuage a lot of wounded feelings in the southwest.

VAGUE PROMISE GAINED SEVEN VOTES

Sen. Josh Lee of Oklahoma really started the Jones boom. At the convention he discovered the Oklahoma delegation wouldn't go for Wallace; in a caucus, the secretary got only four votes. So Lee hunted up Harry Hopkins and suggested that Wallace, if nominated, be replaced by Jones.

Hopkins replied that he naturally had no authority to promise anything of the kind, but would promise to lay the request before the boss back in Washington. Lee returned to his delegation and made his report; and merely on the strength of that "iffy" promise, the Wallace vote in the Oklahoma delegation jumped from four to 11.

To Lee, and to others, that indicates the kind of gains the New Deal could make by the change.

Current betting, however, is that Wallace will keep his job, but will go on leave of absence, or inactive duty status, for the duration of the campaign. In that case, direction of the department would fall to the hands of Under-Secretary Claude Wickard, formerly a regional director for triple-A, and a one-time Indiana farmer.

Delegate Tells of Rotary Convention

GOODING, July 30 (Special)—Rotarian Joe Paul, Hailey, who was delegate from his club and a proxy for Gooding and Shoshone clubs to Rotary International held recently in Havana, Cuba, gave a report at the meeting Friday noon. His talk was of his experiences on the trip as well as convention business.

A letter of thanks was read from Glenn Barker, Jr., who was attending boys' state in Boise under sponsorship of Rotary club. Visitors were Rotarians John Hayes and Ralph Carpenter, Twin Falls, and Stanley Baer, Shoshone.

Coronation in a Washroom

Haile Selassie is one of the most pathetic figures of today's world.

He is pathetic not because of the loss of his Empire of Ethiopia. But there is about this caged Conquering Lion of Judah something infinitely appealing. Perhaps it is in the way in which his poor brummagem empire was tossed about on a sea of world events which he could scarcely comprehend, much less control.

Five years ago his Ethiopia, for all its proud tradition, was a mangy little hill kingdom of the equator, dirty, unkempt, and flyspecked. Atop all this sat Selassie's court, glittering with misbegotten magnificence like a dime-store bracelet on a dung-hill.

Yet with all this, Haile Selassie among his ignorant tribesmen was not unenlightened. He evidently sought to improve his country, and he joined the League of Nations, listening to the promise of the world's great powers that even so bizarre a land should be allowed to work out its own destiny in its own bizarre way.

Came the Italian legions, and Haile Selassie had to look on helplessly while the "great" powers showed their collective impotence of protect him against the rapacity of one to whom even his poor loot was too tempting.

So of course Haile Selassie's primitive tribesmen died under the bombs and fled before the tanks, and the emperor himself fled to a quiet retreat in suburban England. There he waited with dignity unmatched by the rulers of many greater peoples.

Now the collective impotence of the "great powers" has involved them all, and as a detail in a greater struggle, Haile Selassie is dusted off and given backing for an attempt to regain his lost glories. He came to Alexandria as the quiet, lustrous-eyed little man whose civilian dress could not conceal his innate dignity.

He entered the men's-washroom of the former Italian Yacht club, and was seen to emerge clad once more in the resplendent uniform of an Ethiopian generalissimo, once more King of Kings, Elect of God and Light of the World.

It is ridiculous, it is pathetic. But is it any more ridiculous and pathetic than the struttings and posturings that have put Europe where it is today? One can find it in his heart to weep for the little Negus, but never to laugh at him.

The War Within

Within every man and woman in these days there rages a war as relentless as that which sweeps over Europe.

We are all at war with ourselves.

Conflicting passions and emotions, conflicting sympathies and antipathies rush through all of us, taking their toll of strain and stress.

Most people try to be decent. They are taught to choose the better rather than the worse cause, to seek good rather than evil. They try to do it.

But in a world in which values are shifting, many of the old moral price-tags look out of date and unfitting. The problem of every man is: How, in today's hard-boiled world, to be hard enough to survive and persist, yet soft enough to preserve the love of all those things which alone distinguish man from the brute.

Every man today is a dual self. He must have one for action, for the brutal necessities of the world, yet keep one hidden against the day when it may emerge again. Else civilization dies.

Militarism and war are abhorrent, and like all violence they negate man the reasoning, thinking being. Yet we know from what we have seen that those who trust in reason alone are betrayed into the hands of those to whom violence is a god. So a man must be violent if need be, yet retain within himself the consciousness that violence is not the best way, and that a better must be found.

Are men torn by these dualisms the necessary victims of men taught from babyhood to worship force? In plainer words, can a man fight in full consciousness that it is all a dirty business that should have been done sensibly instead, and still prevail over those who believe the battle a glorious thing in and for itself?

The answer, we have full faith, is yes. For a time the devotee of force appears to prevail, does, perhaps for a time prevail. But the seed of his destruction lies in the very absence of that hidden corner of the mind where the better way should lie dormant, ready to build when violence is done tearing down.

To fight if fight one must, and having fought, to win and still remain firmly sure that there is a better way—that is the only way to reconcile those forces that contend within us all.

FIRE AND BRIMSTONE

It seems to Pot Shots that those baseball gents at Wichita, Kan., with the "periscope microphone" are on the wrong track.

The microphone, as you know if you read page one of the July 26 Evening Times, springs up from a hidden receptacle at home plate. The idea is to let the crowd listen in on what players and umpires are saying in a hot dispute.

To our way of thinking, this is concentrating on the mole hill instead of the mountain. Those now-you-see-them-now-you-don't microphones should be placed at strategic spots in grandstand and bleachers to blare out what the fans think of the ump.

Such procedure, we feel certain, would mark the first time that fire and brimstone have ever been broadcast.

PURLING IS LATEST MUST IN SOCIAL WHIRL!

Dear Pot Shots:

Here's one that reflects the spirit of the times, for you.

A former resident, now here from another state, was meeting a friend for the first time.

Instead of greeting her with "How are you?" she rushed at her with "Can you purl?"

Seems the visitor had spied the local's knitting bag.

This was her confession: "Everybody was knitting out on the coast, and I got roped into it, too. The last party I went to ended up with everybody dropping bridge for knitting. I had to follow suit, and all the time I was knitting away. I know I'd have to unravel it, because I wasn't following directions. But I'll be darned if I was going to tell any of THEM I couldn't purl."

—Saydie Seitz

GOSH, STINKY, YOU'VE GOT LOTS OF FRIENDS!

Mister Potos:

Concerning the squibs in your column about "Stinky" McFarland and a wife vs. camera, I was glad to see "Stinky" declare himself in favor of that advice the fortune teller gave him recently.

You see "Stinky" was quite upset when the gal from down Utah way and a local photographer's daughter both faded out of his horizon in less than a month's time. One night "Stinky" up and had his fortune told.

As customary "Stinky" was asked to turn four cards, and three out of the four were queens. The gypsy told him that he was fascinated by beautiful women but lacked the quality—faithfulness; so she advised "Stinky" to give up the idea of marriage for awhile. It looks like he has for the time being.

Spelling—And a Plea for Ethics—By Our Public

Pot Shots is beginning to think that some of his constituents at last appreciate his great erudition.

Or maybe it's just that these constituents are (a) Too lazy to look into a dictionary, or (b) Haven't got a dictionary.

What we're getting at is that five of our public have telephoned us within the last week to ask how they should spell certain words.

One said she was transcribing her shorthand notes and didn't want the boss to know her spelling didn't extend to the word he dictated.

Three male constituents said they had beta up and Pot Shots was the final authority agreed on by parties of the first and second parts.

The fifth constituent, a lady, said she just wanted to see if we could spell.

We got by the business letter gal on "intransigent" because we remembered once hunting a synonym for irconciliable while we were indignant about something. Personally, we wonder where the gal's boss ever dug up that word.

We also skinned past the three gentlemen with beta. They all sounded perfectly sober but here's what they were betting on: hemorrhoidal, charivari and hors de combat.

But the lady who was just out for some fun with our spelling... that lady popped at us out of a clear sky (clear telephone, to be exact) a peppy demand that we please spell platypello, and no stalling, please. That one stopped us, although we could have hazarded a guess and trusted to luck.

Since we had never heard that word, let alone seeing it in print, we hunted out the dictionary.

What's more, we don't think the lady had ever heard it, either, until she happened to see it somewhere by accident. We know darn well it isn't in common use, probably not even by most doctors.

We're willing to help out our constituents but they've got to be ethical about what they demand.

● TAKE IT EASY

By DR. JOSEPHINE L. RATHBONE

The most common annoyance resulting from the hypertensive stage of fatigue is insomnia. Inability to sleep must be considered the cardinal sign of too much fatiguing activity. If an individual cannot sleep when he wants to, it usually because he is too tense.

Especially when overwork has made muscles tense and the brain active, it will take appreciable time before the "wheels will run down." Overactivity during the day, as a result of overexcitement, social and intellectual pursuits of too persistant a nature in the form of restlessness and broken sleep.

It is a curious fact that the more tired one is the harder it is to get to sleep, and that emotional states of excitement, anxiety and worry may postpone the onset of sleep.

It is not the rhythmic type of exercise that induces insomnia, but the marked degrees of tension accompanying mental work and worry. For these reasons, overworked mental workers always complain of insomnia.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the fact that many intellectual workers try to exist on rations of sleep which are far below the necessary minimum. Because mental work tends to drive one to a stage of hyperexcitability, the intellectual worker feels alert and is inclined to scribble on sleep.

When he lives on a minimum of sleep, he is constantly in a stage of physiologic as well as psychologic hypertension, which in its turn will carry the body toward eventual breakdown.

One of the worst features of mental work is that it may keep an individual in a state of neuro-muscular hyperexcitability late in the evening. A sure way to counteract a habit of lying awake is to go to bed before one is tired, or to become more rested before trying to go to sleep.

That may sound paradoxical, but just try these few rules for several evenings in succession:

1. Refuse to do any work connected with your business after dinner.
2. Refuse to take part in an argument after dinner.
3. Refuse to participate in hectic recreation in the evening.
4. Get into bed very soon after dinner, rest your body and read a book unconnected with your work. When you begin to have difficulty getting the meaning of the sentences, sleep is not far off. It should be wined, even if the hour is early.
5. You have gone to bed to sleep, so give yourself up to the luxury of a long night's rest. Do not let yourself stay awake to review the affairs of today or to plan for the future. Nothing will prepare you better for tomorrow's work or play than tonight's sleep.

NEXT: Relaxation a medicine.

● HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

TWO-GUN OUTLAWS GALLOP FROM PAST IN RAINE HISTORY

You can depend on William MacLeod Raine for some superb entertainment in his newest book, non-fiction, "Guns of the Frontier" (Houghton Mifflin: $3). Here is a series of true stories of the old west, stories of Virginia City and Abilene and El Paso and the Montana Vigilantes, and of Bat Masterson, Wild Bill Hickok, the Daltons and many others who shot first and argued afterward. It is much like Raine's earlier excursion in this field, but perhaps better. Take the following:

Pete was tough, and a man who got ahead of him had to be good. On one occasion he followed three horse thieves across the border, shot two of them, and captured the third. On the way back to the ranch Kirkton got sleepy (so he afterward told the story) and took a nap at the foot of a tree. Before doing so he tied a rope around the neck of his prisoner, whose hands were bound behind him, mounted him, on a horse, and flung the rope over the limb of the cottonwood under which the horse stood. The other end of the rope he fastened to the trunk of the tree. "And do you know," Pete always finished the story, "that when I woke up I found that damned horse had walked away and left the rustler hanging there."

The Reverend T. H. McGrath was chairman of the legislature (Nevada), and one of the solemn moments of his prayer, which was too long if the prayer would bring practical results, he would not mind.

For instance, if it would make the rock in his tunnel any softer or increase the needed flow of water, the person finished his invocation next morning with a personal appeal to the Almighty. "Oh, Lord, we pray Thee to remember Brother Brown. Make the rock in his tunnel as soft as his head, and the water in his ditch as abundant as the whiskey he daily drinks. Amen."

Mrs. Ralph Shaver and Mrs. George Sullivan sang "Face to Face" and "Rock of Ages."

Troy, a former resident of Jerome, drowned last Wednesday in the Oywehe river near his home in Nyssa. He had gone into the water after lunch and was with a group of companions at the time of the tragedy. He was removed from the waters and all efforts to revive him failed.

Ruth Hilbourne Becomes Bride Of Jo Sinclair

BURLEY, July 30 (Special)—Love in its simplicity was the theme wedding Sunday at high noon, when Ruth Alice Hilbourne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hilbourne, became the bride of Jo Sinclair, son of Mrs. Edna Sinclair. The ceremony was solemnized at the Hilbourne home in the presence of 30 relatives and close friends, with Rev. Raymond B. Rees, pastor of the Burley Methodist church officiating.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. William Boydston, sister of the bridegroom, played several piano selections and Leonard Berg, accompanied by Mrs. Boydston, sang "Promis Me." To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal party took its place before large baskets of pastel shaded gladioli flanked on either side by white tapers.

Gowned in Organdie
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white frosted organdie with short puff sleeves and high neckline of Elizabethan fashion. Her finger-tip veil was caught about her head by a wreath of lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a shower bouquet of roses.

Her attendants were Miss Janet Anthony, of Spokane, and Miss Margaret Holt, Boise, who were attired in long sheer gowns of pink and blue. They wore bandeaux of sweetheart roses in their hair.

The bridegroom's attendant was Bill Ritchie, Burley. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sinclair, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. William Boydston, Minidoka dam.
Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. Refreshments, including a three-tiered wedding cake, were served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a low crystal bowl of pink peonias and white tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Leonard Berg and Mrs. B. K. Herndon assisted with the serving.
Later in the afternoon a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mrs. Sinclair.
To Salmon City
For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a steel blue redingote dress with white accessories. They left Sunday for Salmon City, where they will make their home.
The bride graduated from Grangeville high school in 1934 and attended the University of Idaho, where she was affiliated with the Beta Phi sorority. Before her marriage she was employed at the Cassia National bank.
The bridegroom was employed in the Burley J. C. Penney store for a number of years, and was recently transferred to Salmon City where he is assistant manager of the Penney store.

DODGERS PICKED TO WIN FREE-FOR-ALL TITLE

Players Tangle As Brooklyn Posts 7-6 Win

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
 NEW YORK, July 30 (U.P.)—Four down and three to go. It's even money the Dodgers make the circuit in the free-for-all, catch-as-catch-can, no-holds barred festivities.
 They've staged battles with the Cards, Cubs, Reds and Pirates and still have to take on the Giants, Bees and Phillies.
 The latest episode in Brooklyn's diamond wars started in the Pirate game yesterday, when Dodger Catcher Babe Phelps grounded out in the ninth, Patcher Mace Brown to Elbie Fletcher. The Pirates thought Phelps spiked Fletcher in crossing the bag.
 Arky Vaughan raced across the diamond from shortstop and upbraided the Brooklyn catcher. In contrast to previous fights this season, the players let them go. It was a 30-second affair with about six punches thrown in all. Both were banished from the game.
 The Phelps-Vaughan battle was only one of the unusual incidents in an unusual ball game. The Dodgers went into the ninth leading 6-0, but the Pirates tied it up with a six-run rally and had what they thought should have been the seventh tally thrown out at the plate.
 With the count knotted 6-6 the Dodgers won out in their half of the ninth on two walks and Pete Cozarcar's single off Mace Brown. Previously Frankie Frisch had been tossed out of the game in the sixth for abusing the privilege of free speech.
 The Giants beat the Reds, 4-3, with single runs in the last four innings. The defeat reduced the Reds' lead to seven games.
 The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Boston Reds, 8-3, and the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Phils, 7-3.
 The Athletics won their 10th game in 17 played with the Tigers by beating the American league leaders, 9-7. The defeat cut the Tigers' lead to one game over the idle Indians.

Seattle Club Ahead of Pack

(By United Press)
 The Pacific Coast league today opened a split week with Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and Sacramento on the road for short series.
 The Seattle Rainiers, 14 games ahead of the league, sat back in their own ball park to wait for Los Angeles. The Angels are in third place, 16 1/2 games behind Seattle, but have come storming up from seventh in the last few weeks. Los Angeles plays tonight, tomorrow and Tuesday night, with a double-header tomorrow, then takes on last-place Portland for rest of the week.
 San Francisco went to Portland for three games and was to move over to Seattle Friday to finish the week.
 Sacramento opens at Hollywood tonight for three days, proceeding to Oakland Friday for four more. San Diego starts at Oakland tonight and will be at Hollywood by Friday.

Wrestler Falls Before Dempsey

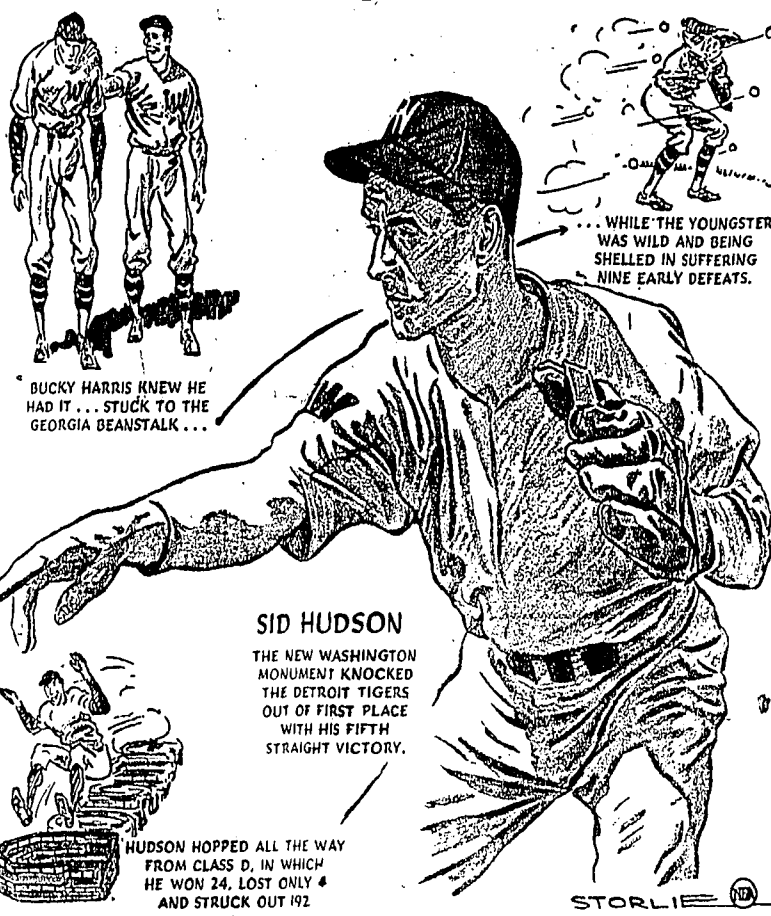

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 30 (U.P.)—It took Jack Dempsey but one blow after 37 seconds of the second round last night to gain a technical knockout over a 28-year-old wrestler, Ellis Bashara, in Legion Memorial stadium.
 More than 5,000 fans cheered as the one-time heavyweight champion took complete command in the beginning when he drove a right to the wrestler's jaw and sent him to the canvas in the first five seconds.

Bees Retain Seven Game League Lead

By United Press
 Salt Lake Bees eked out a 6 to 3 victory last night over the tall-end Twin Falls Cowboys, sweeping the series.
 The Bees punched their 8 hits off Jack Hall in the first and seventh innings, when all their runs were scored. Twin Falls gained 10-hits off Larry Jansen, Bee pitcher, but he kept them scattered except in the fourth and fifth innings.
 The Cowboys nearly tied the score in the ninth. Mike Budnick, last of Spokane, hit for Hall and doubled to left. Reynolds and Bishop popped out, but Vern Reynolds singled into left. Jack Hatchett, Bee left-fielder, made a sensational throw to the plate nailing Budnick by inches.
 The Bees retained their 7-game league lead, as the Boise Pilots defeated Pocatello 9 to 2. The Pilots clouted Dobson and Caplinger for 14 hits, two of them homers—by Lowe and Lorenzen.
 Idaho Falls beat the Ogden Reds, 6 to 3, taking a two-one edge in the series. The Russels made 10 hits off Spec Erickson.

TRAVELER'S CLUB
 The American Golf Association, a new organization with which I am unfamiliar, through its president, Fred W. O'Bannon, whom I don't know, has named me member of a committee to select the 12 best public links amateurs to meet the 12 best amateurs from private clubs in an all-America cup match.
 My fellow committeemen are Damon Runyon and Lindy's restaurant and Joe Turp Runyon, and Davis J. Walsh, circuit-faced sports authority of the west coast. With Runyon's stable racing at Saratoga and Walsh gone glomer man in Hollywood, I feel I am going to fall to most of the work.
 This doesn't bother me, however, because I have all my plans laid out and feel confident of choosing a side that will trample the private club team which Mr. O'Bannon says will be named by Bobby Jones, Grantland Rice and Herb Greff.

Twin Falls Loses 3 Games to Bees; Play Reds Tonight

Twin Falls Cowboys open at Ogden tonight against the Reds after losing a three-game series to the Salt Lake Bees by scores of 12-0, 6-5 and 6-5.
 Ogden, a mere eight games ahead of the Cowboys in its race to avoid being pushed or pulled into the cellar spot, will try to improve its standing while the Wranglers will be out to win a game.
 Mike Budnick will take over mound duties for the Twin Falls outfit. Budnick joined the club Sunday after flying to Salt Lake from Spokane. Last night he walloped a double when batting for Hall in the ninth.
 Meanwhile, Stu Holdhusen has been released by the Cowboys. Holdhusen won a few games earlier in the season, but lately has had difficulty in lasting the route. He was given his unconditional release to make way for Budnick on the team.
 Salt Lake opened its batting barrage in the first inning last night and tallied three runs to start things going. The Cowboys didn't get started until the fourth when two men reached home plate. The Wranglers took the lead with a three-run attack in the fifth frame, and then relaxed with Salt Lake went ahead and won the ball game.
 The Bees bunched hits in the seventh canto to push three runs over, but quick work and an accurate throw from left field in the ninth were necessary to cut the Cowboy attack.
 Trailing by only a single counter in the first of the ninth, Pilot Ray Jacobs picked Budnick to pinch hit for Jack Hall. Mike promptly lashed out a double. Ernie Bishop and Al Marchi popped out, but Vern Reynolds banded a single to left field. Jack Hatchett made a good stop of Reynolds' hit and fired it to home, nipping Budnick as he galloped in from third with what would have been the tying run.

Class D Ball Loop Looms For Montana

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 30 (U.P.)—The possibility of organizing a Class D professional baseball league in Montana next year was being discussed here today.
 Hal Wood, a Twin Falls, Ida., newspaperman who represents the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, conferred with Great Falls backers of the sport last night.
 Previously Wood visited Billings and planned to survey Helena, Butte, Anaconda and Missoula regarding possible franchises for a six-team circuit. He said major or high-ranking minor league clubs probably would be willing to back Class D teams here.
 "The Twin Falls man is accompanied on his survey trip by Harold Hove, publisher of weekly newspapers at Kimberly and Filer, Ida."

Mac Takes Over Task of Naming 12 Best Public Links Amateurs

By HENRY McLEMORE
 NEW YORK, July 30 (U.P.)—Will all the public links golfers in the United States please meet at my apartment next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Bring your clubs because we may have to go out and play a little.
 The situation is this: The American Golf association, a new organization with which I am unfamiliar, through its president, Fred W. O'Bannon, whom I don't know, has named me member of a committee to select the 12 best public links amateurs to meet the 12 best amateurs from private clubs in an all-America cup match.
 My fellow committeemen are Damon Runyon and Lindy's restaurant and Joe Turp Runyon, and Davis J. Walsh, circuit-faced sports authority of the west coast. With Runyon's stable racing at Saratoga and Walsh gone glomer man in Hollywood, I feel I am going to fall to most of the work.
 This doesn't bother me, however, because I have all my plans laid out and feel confident of choosing a side that will trample the private club team which Mr. O'Bannon says will be named by Bobby Jones, Grantland Rice and Herb Greff. These men know more about golf than I do, especially Bobby Jones, who used to be a right smart player of his day. But it is in my method of selecting a team that I will outwit them.
 I plan to play a match with each public links player golfer in America. No haphazard selection for me. No just going by what is in the record books. Those who don't beat me even will be automatically eliminated as candidates for the team. Then I will take a stroke a hole from those left and play them matches. Those who lick me can continue and give me two strokes a hole. Then three strokes, then four strokes until, finally the field of eligibles is reduced to the needed number of players and alternates.
 By playing between 10,000 and 15,000 holes of golf a day I should have my team ready by late September, which is when Mr. O'Bannon says the match will be played. If either of my fellow committeemen have any objections to this plan they had better show up Sunday. Not only show up, but show up early because there are only six chairs in the living room and I am confidently expecting around 2,000,000 golfers.
 Knowing the Messrs. Runyon and Walsh I feel they may possibly object to one plan I have in mind—that of naming myself playing captain of the team. It is probably the only chance I will ever have to be captain of any kind of golf team, so why shouldn't I seize the opportunity?
 My presence on the team will serve as an inspiration to the players. Out of loyalty and team spirit they will play over their heads to average the 18-up beating I am sure to take at the hands of Bud Ward, say, or Willie Turnesa.
 But there is an even more subtle reason for my serving as playing captain. Doomed to defeat before I start, I can make my end of superb sporting gestures. I can concede brassie shots for birdie explosion shots for eagles, and never demand to see a single putt snuck. With the rival captain so grateful, the players of the opposing side will feel they must reciprocate. Thus my lone defeat may well lead to innumerable advantages for my team.

HOLDHUSEN got started until the fourth when two men reached home plate. The Wranglers took the lead with a three-run attack in the fifth frame, and then relaxed with Salt Lake went ahead and won the ball game.
 The Bees bunched hits in the seventh canto to push three runs over, but quick work and an accurate throw from left field in the ninth were necessary to cut the Cowboy attack.
 Trailing by only a single counter in the first of the ninth, Pilot Ray Jacobs picked Budnick to pinch hit for Jack Hall. Mike promptly lashed out a double. Ernie Bishop and Al Marchi popped out, but Vern Reynolds banded a single to left field. Jack Hatchett made a good stop of Reynolds' hit and fired it to home, nipping Budnick as he galloped in from third with what would have been the tying run.

Two Twin Falls Players Rate Outfield Posts

POCATELLO, July 30 (U.P.)—Tony Robello, manager of the Salt Lake City Bees, and Andy Harrington, manager of the Boise Pilots, were named skippers for the south and north teams in the annual all-star Pioneer league game to be played Aug. 5 at Boise.
 The players, as well as players for the all-star contest, were selected by balloting through newspapers of the six cities in the loop.
 Robello will be assisted by Bill McCorty of the Ogden Reds and Ken Penner of Pocatello, while Harrington will have Ted Mayer of Idaho Falls and Ray Jacobs of Twin Falls as aides.
 The team rosters are as follows:

No Hat All Summer? We'll Fix That!

The most enthusiastic buyers of new Fall hats are the chaps who haven't had a thing on their minds all summer.
 They're glad for the change that comes bounding out of the mirror at first glance... that spruce appearance that lifts them out of the "kid" class.
 All we ask is that you try one on... give it a few twists of your own and then see if you are as dashing without it.

Writer Finds French Common People Are Able to "Take It"

By JEAN GRAFFIS
Paris Manager, Acne Newspapers
BORDEAUX, France—The French are proving they can take it. To placate their one-time enemies, many had hand the Germans. To show their support of the French government, many proclaim their dislike of the British. Once republican homobodies, now they are totalitarian nomads, living on their dwindling savings, far from their homesteads, hedged about by both German and French restrictions.

The people of France—typified by a Paris gamln, two ancient peasants and a dark beauty—are showing themselves able to take it under the heel of the Germans.

train, by bicycle, and on foot almost to Marseilles and returned through the heart of the unoccupied zone. Amazingly enormous crowds are fleeing the occupied region. Leaving Bordeaux on an overcrowded third-class train, many rode on the steps, even on the couplers, in the erroneous belief that Paris and the northern department of France were more easily attainable via Vichy. Tiny babies, the aged, and the crippled often were packed in cars for 14 hours at a stretch without relaxation and without food except for slim meals of sandwiches and preserves.

Train Coasts to Save Fuel
Crossing the elevated part of France known as the "massif central," the engineer cut off the power at every hilltop and coasted down to conserve fuel. The trains I boarded were conductorless so that the trip seemed as limitless as on the New York subway.

No papers were required in the zone occupied by the German troops, and passage from there into the unoccupied region was unobtainable. The hopefulness of the passengers was apparently justified upon arrival at Vichy, where the presence of the new French government, falsely indicated escape from the rigors of being refugees.

LAWYERS ARGUE OVER RAILROAD

DENVER, July 30 (U.P.)—A battery of attorneys from all parts of the nation argued a plan of reorganization for the Denver, Rio Grande and Western railroad today in a legal battle for control of the trans-mountain road.

Testimony that the road was worth 215 million dollars and that its condition has improved in the five years it has been under control of the Interstate commerce commission was heard as the hearing opened before U. S. District Judge J. Foster Symes.

The ICC plan, according to attorneys, is designed to facilitate consolidation of the Rio Grande with the Denver and Salt Lake railroad.

Attorneys for the debtor railroad and its stock and bondholders charge the plan favors the reconstruction finance corporation at the expense of the owners.

Judge Symes is expected to rule in a few days on a motion by stock and bondholders for dismissal of the proposed reorganization plan.

JAPANESE FIND 'FIFTH COLUMN'

TOKYO, July 30 (U.P.)—Government leaders are planning to dismiss some 500 foreign instructors in Japanese institutions of learning, it was reported today, as a result of an alleged British espionage plot and a "fifth column" scare.

It was indicated the dismissals, if effected, would cover instructors of all kinds in universities and other institutions.

The government was reported also to be preparing for much stricter supervision of all foreign missionaries.

Newspapers warned their readers against "fifth column" activities in connection with the alleged British spy plot.

STOCKS OUT OF MONTH-LONG RUT

NEW YORK, July 30 (UP)—The stock market here out of its month-long rut today, leading shares spurring fractions to 3 points in relatively active turnover.

Steel, motor, aircraft, copper and chemical shares led for leadership, although gains in other groups also ranged to more than 2 points.

Strength in stocks aided outside markets. Bonds moved up under lead of speculative rally.

Experts said the sudden spurt in stocks largely reflected an accumulation of good business news.

Domestic copper prices were up 1/2c to 1 1/2c a pound and demand was reported increasing. The industrial conference board noted sharp rise in employment during June. Reports from Detroit indicated that motor car manufacturers were seeing upward trend in production estimates for the balance of the year because of the current contractions in sales.

Aircraft shares were boosted by news that the national defense advisory commission already had cleared some $8,000,000 in aircraft orders.

U. S. Steel jumped 2 1/2 to 54 1/2 and Bethlehem moved up 2 points to 81. Chrysler shot up to 74 1/2, up 3 1/2. General Motors gained more than 1 point to 46.

Douglas aircraft was bid up to almost 3 points. DuPont had a gain of more than 4 points. American Smelting led copper up with a gain of nearly 3 points.

Rails and utilities were firm.

Dow Jones preliminary closing stock average: Industrial, 128.00, up 2.85; rail, 27.00, up 0.51; utility, 22.75, up 0.88; 65 stocks, 42.86, up 0.81.

The advance, which ranged to more than 2 points in some of the representative issues, mirrored strength in the market. It was noted, however, that greatest gains were recorded in New York, Chicago & St. Louis issues as well as Baltimore & Ohio and other securities that would benefit from the reported increase in steel operations. Industrial and utilities moved up with the carrier issues but gains generally were limited.

U. S. government issues showed general strength following early heatings with bond yields ranging to 6 1/2%.

New demand for southern American issue featured the foreign dollar list.

SWIM CAMPAIGN

HELP IS PRAISED

The highly successful Red Cross swimming campaign brought a public expression of appreciation today from Mrs. George Buhler, chairman of the local chapter's swimming board.

Mrs. Buhler, who devoted considerable time and energy to laying the groundwork for the campaign, issued a statement saying:

"I want to thank the city of Twin Falls and particularly the parks commissioner for their cooperation in allowing the use of Harmon pool during the recent National Swim weeks conducted by the American Red Cross, July 9-27. I also wish to thank Frank Carpenter, Art Franz, Bill Folsom and Don Anderson for their wholehearted participation in making this an outstanding success."

FOOD SHORTAGES

SEEN IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, July 30 (UP)—An agriculture department forecast of a 1940 European wheat crop 20 per cent below last year raised the possibility today of a food shortage this winter on the continent.

Other food crops have been reduced because of the war and the cold spring, officials said. They said a food shortage is probable, but it may not reach famine proportions because of old reserves.

The agriculture department predicted a European wheat crop, exclusive of Soviet Russia of 1,360,000,000 bushels, which would be 272,000,000 bushels below 1939 and 340,000,000 bushels below 1938.

Prospects for imports to make up for the short crop are poor because of the "European military and political conditions," the department said, despite the fact that exporting countries will have a 1,000,000,000 bushel surplus.

Not So Nutty

Although his name is Nutty, this squirrel isn't so nutty that he doesn't know how to keep cool during a hot spell. He belongs to Gus Kloeber, Cleveland florist. Besides cooling off with ice cream cones, as above, he likes watermelon and orangeade.

Frick Fines

Four Players After Fight

NEW YORK, July 30 (UP)—President Ford Frick of the National League today fined four players who were involved in arguments at Ebbets field yesterday in the game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Babe Phelps, Brooklyn catcher, and Arky Vaughan, Pirate shortstop, were fined $25 each for getting into a fight.

Manager Frank Frisch of the Pirates was fined $100. He was ejected from the game after an argument with an umpire, but came back later, sat in the stands and, after the game, renewed the argument with the umpires.

Second baseman Frank Gustine of the Pirates was fined $50 for "misconduct on the field," growing out of the argument between Frisch and the umpires.

Bee Invasion Hits Again—But Now They Get Between Walls of House!

The bee blitzkrieg struck again today, this time outside the city.

And up to mid-afternoon, the bees apparently were in control of the situation.

Janette Young, residing a mile and a half northeast of the bureau of entomology, telephoned the sheriff's office this morning with a call for help. She said a swarm of bees had settled on the house and she was afraid the insects would sting the children.

So Deputy Roy Fuller, who has been highly effective in disposing of matters relating to dog miscreants, rushed to the scene of attack to see what he could do about bees. Unfortunately, by the time he arrived the bees had gotten through a knothole in the outer wall of the house and were firmly entrenched between outer and inner partitions.

C. S. Knight, bee expert who has been assisting Twin Falls police on similar emergencies inside the city limits, advised Fuller that the location of the bees made it impossible for him to get them out alive.

The only course left, said the expert, is to gas the bees to death.

So Deputy Fuller told the householders what kind of poison to buy. The gassing probably will take place this afternoon, because the bee swarm already was bulging wall-paper inward.

RAIL ISSUES HIT NEW 1940 HIGHS

NEW YORK, July 30 (UP)—Speculative rail issues showed a new high 1940 level today in one of the most active bond trading sessions of the month.

The advance, which ranged to more than 2 points in some of the representative issues, mirrored strength in the market. It was noted, however, that greatest gains were recorded in New York, Chicago & St. Louis issues as well as Baltimore & Ohio and other securities that would benefit from the reported increase in steel operations. Industrial and utilities moved up with the carrier issues but gains generally were limited.

UTAH HIGH COURT GETS WATER CASE

SALT LAKE CITY, July 30 (UP)—State Engineer T. H. Humphreys today had filed notice of appeal to the supreme court of a case which is expected to determine the responsibility for delinquent water accounts after transfer of water rights.

The engineer is seeking reversal of a district court decision which held that the obligation did not follow the water right and that the purchaser could use the water without paying the delinquency.

The case involves the state engineer, acting for the users of Utah and the Jordan river, and the Maxfield Feed and Coal company, successor to the White Fawn Milling Corp.

MORGAN GREET'S CHILD REFUGEES

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—J. P. Morgan, excited and perspiring, met the liner Britannic when it docked here and extended an affectionate greeting to three small children who whooped down the gangplank into his arms.

The children were 11-year-old Lou Primrose, son of John Shrewsbury, who lives near Edinburgh, and George Vivian Smith, 10, and his year-old sister, children of Hugh Vivian Smith, a partner in the London-banking-house of Morgan and Grenfell.

"Children of friends of mine," Morgan said. The children were taken to the Morgan Long Island estate at Matinecock Point, Locust valley, N. Y.

The Cunard-White Star liner had arrived from Liverpool with 778 passengers—272 of them children. The ship was conveyed by five warships for 30 hours out of Liverpool.

SPUD HOLIDAY TO ASSIST MARKET

NAMPA, Ida., July 30 (AP)—The Idaho Shippers and Growers association had announced today a shipping holiday has been declared to hold back a flood of Idaho potatoes and bolster the market.

The holiday, which will end Aug. 1, came after prices on the Chicago market broke between 10 and 20 cents per hundred. Potato shipments had been moving at the rate of about 60 carloads per day.

PERPLEXED DEPUTIES CAN'T SERVE SUBPOENA ON GHOST

LOS ANGELES, July 30 (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs appeared in Judge Clement Nye's court to report that they have been unable to serve a subpoena upon Sheland Shaimond, alias Sho-Sha, a ghost.

The apparition is wanted to testify in the contested divorce case of Mrs. Lillian Boyce. Her husband, Dr. William A. Boyce, a wealthy eye specialist, has named the ghost as co-respondent and says he has stolen his wife's love.

S. S. Hahn and W. O. Graf, Dr. Boyce's attorneys, have insisted Sho-Sha is essential to their case. If the deputies were unable to serve the summons, they would ask permission to stage a "concentration" in court—to darken the room, set a trumpet on a table before the judge's bench and try to question Sho-Sha through it.

Dr. Boyce says his wife kept trysts with Sho-Sha through "trumpet séances." Sho-Sha, which is easier to pronounce and spell than Sheland Shaimond, is nothing but a "teacher," Mrs. Boyce has testified. Her husband said he had heard the spiritual voices, all right, "but I usually smelled a human breath coming out of the trumpet, too."

PLANES WELCOME NEW U. S. LINER

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—Planes and blimps flew overhead and hundreds of harbor craft whistled a noisy welcome yesterday as the new flagship America of the United States lines, largest and costliest ship in the U. S. merchant marine, steamed into the harbor on her maiden voyage.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and a distinguished group of officials greeted Capt. Giles C. Steadman, master of the $17,500,000 liner when the ship ended her journey from Newport News, Va.

The liner originally had been scheduled for the European service, but owing to the war she will be put in the South American cruise service.

New Coal Price Set for Sept. 3

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Director Howard A. Gray of the bituminous coal division had said today minimum prices for the soft coal industry will become effective Sept. 3.

Details of the minimum prices have been worked out and actual price schedules for the Rocky mountain and far western states were mailed last night to district code authorities. The other schedules will be mailed by Aug. 1, Gray said, but he withheld the establishment of prices until details such as promulgation orders and market regulations have been signed.

When established, the prices will range from a low of 10 cents a ton at the mine for low-grade coal dust in Indiana to $5.25 a ton for high-grade lump coal in Washington state. The prices will cover practically all the commercial soft coal produced in the United States, including small sized slack coal used for industrial purposes and lump coal used chiefly for home heating purposes.

THE SPIRIT OF 76

by JOHN CLINTON

You know, in writing these columns I feel a certain obligation to my readers—if any—to report on Union rather than just advertise it.

That explains why when the boss says "Write something about our new Super-Wear lubrication being different from ordinary lubrication," I said: "Different how? Aren't all lubrication jobs the same?"

Well, they took my Hispano-Plymouth and gave it a regular Super-Wear job. When they brought it back, they said: "Now look, Clinton. We want you to observe 3 things:

"You can see the difference, feel the difference, and hear the difference. Get in and drive around the block, then quit being a skeptic!"

Which I did. Wow! I could feel the difference in the way it steered and shifted! I did hear the difference in the way it sounded—quiet as a whisper, and as for seeing the difference, that was obvious—car dusted off, tires and running boards dressed, glass gleaming, even the interior cleaned out!

Don't just take my word for it. Drive down to your Union station and have 'em do a Super-Wear job on your car. Then, drive it. If you don't agree it's got anything better you ever tried before, then may I never write another column in all my life.

CITY HELP ASKED ON NEW ARMORY

The city of Twin Falls today had been asked to act as co-sponsor in construction of an armory for Twin Falls with the stipulation that it would not have to enter into the financial end of the operations.

The request was made on behalf of the Twin Falls County National Guard association last night at regular session of the city council by Lieut.-Col. H. G. Lauterbach. He showed members of the council complete plans for the $45,000 structure which will probably be built, if plans proceed, in the vicinity of or on Jaycee park. The building would be 100 by 25 feet and would have a large training sector, office and supply space, recreation and officers' facilities and, according to Lauterbach, would be "the most complete" in Idaho.

Two Stories High
Cinder block construction would be featured and the structure would be two stories high with full basement.

Councilmen indicated that an application for a WPA project to construct a new city barn, on property now occupied by the old barn, would be made in the near future. The barn would cost an estimated $13,000 and would have rock walls. It would be 50 by 25 feet and would enable discontinuance of the garage in the city jail, providing for much needed office space in that structure.

Parking meters also came up for discussion at last night's session with Mayor Joe Koehler leading the discussion for them and Councilman Carl Ritchey disapproving. No action

Demand Noted for Irrigation Water

With irrigation demands reaching a peak during the last week because of a continued heat wave, storage reservoirs serving this section showed a drop during that period, it was revealed today in a report received by the Twin Falls Canal company from Lynn Crandall, watermaster.

The report shows that storage waters in Jackson lake decreased during the period from 644,320 acre feet to 537,510; American falls reservoir dropped from 854,000 acre feet to 676,340; Lake Walcott from 80,180 to 70,260.

Ex-Grid Player Captures Bandit

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—When Warren Waterman, son of a wealthy broker, tried to hold up the Corn Exchange bank with a toy gun he didn't reckon with Ham Love, Yale '37 football tackle.

Waterman, thrusting the "pistol" at the teller, demanded all the large bills, the teller buzzed the alarm and Love, assistant manager of the bank, leaped upon the would-be bandit, who never had a chance. Waterman is a Harvard man.

Oil Tank Rejected
Application of the J. J. Newberry company to place an oil storage tank in the alley at the rear of its downtown structure, now being built, was denied.

Councilmen ordered American flags to be displayed Aug. 30 and 31, dates for the Young Republican and state Republican platform conventions in Twin Falls.
