BRITISH DOWN 53 GERMAN PLANES

Cavalrymen In "Scooter Squadron"

Modern warfare combined the old and the new as British cavalry gave up its horses in favor of these steel "scooters"—a modern version of the ancient Roman chariot. Famed British cavalry division which now uses these swift little armored cars was renamed "Ironside."

BRITAIN PLOTS FIGHT IN AFRICAN COLONIES

Great Britain renewed a slashing aerial war with Germany today, prepared to make a stand against Italian armed forces in East Africa and faced agitation in Japan for strong measures to exterminate British influences in east Asia.

Nine German planes and two British fighters were lost in two aerial battles over the English channel as the Nazis resumed attacks on shipping and scattered land objectives.

In the east, Japanese forces appeared to be seeking to close in on the big British Somaliland fort of Berbera and threatening operations against Aden, which if seized would give Italy a foothold in Asia and might further Premier Benito Mussolini's hopes of becoming the protector of Islam's vast areas in the near east.

Just how strongly the British forces would attempt to oppose the Italian three-pronged drive into Somaliland was uncertain, but London military sources predicted a stand would be made in the high hills south of Berbera.

In Tokyo, 125 members of the Japanese parliament presented to the government a resolution urging strong measures to wipe out British influences in east Asia. Recently relations with Britain had been reported improved, although Japan still is holding six Britons on charges of espionage. Nine others have been released.

In French Indo-China there were new reports that Japan had submitted detailed plans calling for "cooperation" of the French authorities, while Chinese government reports asserted that French native troops were massing along the frontier of Japanese-occupied China in order to resist a possible Japanese advance. Chinese troops also were reported near the frontier and prepared to push into Indo-China if the Japanese move.

On the Norwegian coast, the London admiralty said, British dive bombers striking at possible blitzkrieg bases appeared to have destroyed a huge German oil depot of perhaps 7,000 tons, starting big fires and causing much damage to the station at Dolvik, near Bergen.

The reported destruction of the oil depot appeared to be a highlight in the sudden renewal of big scale aerial operations by the Nazis, who dropped two bombs during the night so close to a building housing 300 refugee children in northeast England that all windows were shattered.

In the far east, the Japanese press reported the government was determined to push ahead its program for dominating greater east Asia regardless of the attitude of the United States. A visit by U. S. Ambassador Joseph Grew to the Tokyo foreign office was described by extremist newspapers as "stupid meddling."

RIGHT!

WHITTE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Murray Boxer's legal right to park his automobile trailer in his own back yard at Harrison was firmly established today. Boxer, free in $200 bail since June 17 on charges he violated Harrison's anti-trailer ordinance, carried the case to Supreme Court Justice Mortimer B. Patterson and won. Patterson ruled if Harrison could require a permit for its citizens to park their own property on their own yards it could also demand parking licenses for automobiles "or, if there be any such, for a carriage or any."

FARLEY RESIGNS CABINET POST TO ENTER BUSINESS

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Postmaster General James A. Farley today resigned from the cabinet, effective Aug. 31. Farley previously had announced his retirement as chairman of the Democratic national committee and will be succeeded on Aug. 17 by Edward J. Flynn of New York. In accepting Farley's cabinet resignation "with real regret," Mr. Roosevelt gave no indication as to whom he would name as postmaster general.

Farley is stepping out of public life to become president of the New York Yankee baseball club. He submitted his resignation in a letter to Mr. Roosevelt dated Aug. 7, and the President accepted in a letter dated today.

Neither the President nor Farley made any mention of the third term issue in their letters, although they exchanged mutual expressions of esteem and regret at severance of their political association which led to the New Deal victories of 1932 and 1936.

"During my life time I shall cherish the associations and friendships which I have made while serving as postmaster general, both in the postal service and in the other departments and agencies of the federal government," Farley said.

"I know that it will please you to learn that I have made definite arrangements for my future in private business where I know I shall be very happy."

"Always Friends" "Again expressing my deepest gratitude at the opportunity you afforded me to serve as a member of your cabinet, and with kindest personal regards, I am, faithfully yours, James A. Farley."

Mr. Roosevelt wrote Farley of his "own sincere sorrow that we are losing you as a member of the official family."

"All of us in the administration will miss you deeply; we count on seeing you often," the President wrote.

"I especially count on this after all of our years of close personal association. Our friendship will always continue."

GUESS SHIFTS ON CABINET MEMBER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Congressional first guesses on a cabinet successor to Postmaster General James A. Farley centered largely around two men today—Sen. James M. Mead of New York and Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri. Many legislators had individual choices ranging from Federal Securities Administrator Paul V. McNutt to the possible promotion of First Assistant Postmaster General Ambrose O'Connell, who recently was appointed to that post from the rank of second assistant. O'Connell has been too ill to take over his new job.

Another possibility, some sources said, was Edward J. Flynn of New York who has been appointed to succeed Farley as chairman of the Democratic national committee and manager of President Roosevelt's third term campaign. Others felt Flynn's duties as national Democratic chairman which he assumes Aug. 17 would make it difficult for him to do that job.

Nazis Sink 12 British Ships

BERLIN, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—The high command today said 12 British merchant ships totaling 55,000 tons were sunk and seven others damaged in Nazi aerial attacks on a British convoy.

The high command said 34 British airplanes had been shot down today. Five British planes were reported shot down and one German plane lost in the attack on the British convoy. In London, the air ministry reported nine German planes shot down in two air battles over convoys in the English channel. Two British planes were lost.

Twenty-nine other British planes were shot down in other air battles over the channel and the south coast of England, where the Germans sank their lost two additional planes, the communiqué said. German fast torpedo boats attacked tonight made a mass surprise attack against a British convoy in the channel and sank three British ships totaling 17,000 tons, the high command reported.

WINN WOMEN'S CROWN

WILMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Elizabeth Hicks, Long Beach, Calif., (left) as the girl shot-maker to take the place of Patty Berg in amateur golf, today won her second straight women's western 72-hole golf derby title with a four-round total of 314, ten over women's par for the Westmoreland country club.

Hoover Drops in on Twin Falls

Wearing a battered but comfortable hat, Herbert C. Hoover, former President of the United States, stopped briefly in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon, chatted with an Evening Times reporter and then continued northward on an auto trip with two chauffeurs. The photographer's flash-gun wouldn't work for this picture—so Hoover, chuckling, climbed out of his car to pose in the sun. (Times Photo and Engraving)

Dusty Hoover, in Old Hat, Finds Snake Valley Lovely

BY O. A. KELKER

His shoes were covered with dust, his suit was out of press and his hat looked somewhat as though it had, at one time or another, weathered a good rain storm.

The man in the dusty shoes, the unpressed suit and the out-of-shape hat was Herbert Clark Hoover, only living ex-President of the United States, who stopped briefly in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon while "en route to the north." He was probably en route to keep an appointment somewhere in Montana with Wendell Willkie, the Republican presidential candidate, but he wouldn't say so.

After his chauffeur drove him through the center of Twin Falls the car pulled up at a service station on Main avenue at Third street south.

"I've marveled at the way you newspaper men find people," the former President laughed as he was "habbed" the moment he alighted from his car.

The writer, knowing the former chief executive was en route from Boise, had parked at Five points west and had spotted Hoover in the front seat of his machine as the car went by. It was simple to fall in behind him and follow him until he stopped.

Only two pedestrians, the station operator and this writer, saw Hoover while he stopped here. He appeared tired, possibly from riding, but answered all questions put to him, mostly by saying "no, I don't want to say anything about that."

He recalled that he had been "captured" in a similar manner by a Boise newspaperman and that he had given an interview there. "That's enough for one day," Hoover said, smiling.

He refused comment on anything of a national nature. But questions nearer home were another matter.

"What do you think of this Twin Falls country?" "The Snake river valley is one of the loveliest valleys in the world," Hoover said emphatically. "The homes are prosperous looking, the houses are sturdy and they and the ground look well kept."

And then Mr. Hoover volunteered a statement: "A sign of metropolitan growth is when a city puts up those red and green lights, and I see Twin Falls has them up now. When those lights go up then it's no longer a city, but a metropolis."

"The writer recalled that the former President had passed through Twin Falls five years ago and at that time his driver had made a left turn at the Main and Shoshone intersection—a place where a left turn is forbidden.

"Do you recall that?" the writer asked him. "I think I do," Hoover chuckled, "but then you can't blame me because I wasn't driving."

"Who was driving, this fellow?" (Chauffeur Phil Ross). "No," Hoover said, "he's a new one. It must have been this one." He pointed to another occupant of the car. The two chauffeurs and Hoover were the only occupants of the machine which took on 15 gallons of gasoline here and then headed out Main avenue on alternate 30.

As he left, Hoover scanned with interest the bustle of Main avenue week-day activity, recognized by few if any of those at whom he was looking.

Total of 87 Air Craft Destroyed In Channel Fight

LONDON, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Fifty-three German planes were officially reported destroyed today in a series of furious, blitzkrieg-style attacks on British shipping and land objectives by Nazi planes and torpedo speed boats. Sixteen British fighters were reported missing.

The official British statements said one German torpedo boat was sunk and another damaged in the greatest aerial and sea battles of the war around the British isles.

(In Berlin, the German high command claimed 34 British planes had been shot down during the day. If both official reports prove accurate it would mean a total of 87 planes was destroyed in a day of unprecedented fighting around the British isles).

The air ministry and the admiralty in a joint conference said the German attacks had resulted in considerable damage on British shipping but the full extent of damage was unknown. (In Berlin, the Germans claimed to have sunk 15 British ships and damaged eight others).

The German planes—after two days of comparative calm—returned to attacks on shipping and raids on land objectives.

Royal air force fighters engaged the Nazis in several air clashes in the channel area, where ship convoys appeared to be the objectives. Residents along the southeast coast reported a number of German planes also had crossed high over the coast line and were engaged by defense fighting craft.

The fact the German planes were flying high indicated they might be headed for important daylight raids on land objectives in Britain.

Windows shattered. In the bombing close to the sanatorium, all of the windows were shattered.

The children, gathered from poor homes in industrial areas, remained quietly in their beds even after the first bomb had exploded.

One of the bombs fell just behind a nurses' home, one of the sanatorium buildings, where 150 adults were asleep.

Homes nearby were damaged by the bomb blasts but there were no casualties.

TEST MOBILIZING SCOPE EXPANDED

Mobilizing Idaho citizenry in case of future distress, disaster or emergency, the American Legion will enroll not only its own members Saturday in a "test mobilization" but will also call for registration of non-Legionnaires in a number of strategic occupations, Commander W. W. Thomas announced this afternoon.

Heading the list of non-members on whom the Legion called today for registration from 1 to 3 p. m. Saturday are doctors and nurses.

Provides Instant Record The test mobilization is intended to provide a permanent record which will be instantly available in case of disaster and emergency, Mr. Thomas said. Non-Legion members in the following occupations were asked to take part in the enrollment Saturday at Legion hall from 1 to 3 p. m.:

Doctors, nurses, firemen, policemen, life savers, ambulance drivers, airplane pilots, motorcycle operators, truck drivers, mechanics, fingerprinting, motorboat operators, traffic directors, guards, printers, electricians, telephone repairmen, plumbers, pressmen and clerical workers who could assist in time of emergency.

The Twin Falls Legion post was printing today enrollment cards for the test mobilization. Records will be sent to state headquarters within 24 hours. Legion members as such will be classified in their various types of occupations and abilities; non-Legionnaires are sought only in the categories listed by Commander Thomas.

Registration for Legion members is listed in the "test-mobilization" bracket and is being made to determine "just what each Legion member can do if called on in case of an emergency."

"This test mobilization is being held to assay the willingness and fitness of Legion members and others to do their part in an emergency," Commander Thomas said. "The test will determine ability to meet any crisis, whether it be fire, flood, earthquake, riot, subversion, tornado or sabotage which is threatening the happiness and welfare of the American citizen."

Legion posts throughout the state will stage similar mobilizations during the same hours as the one which is to be held here.

AMENDMENT APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—The Senate today unanimously adopted an amendment which would permit guardsmen mobilized under the pending national guard bill to resign within 30 days after they are called if they have a dependent wife or child. The amendment was offered by Sen. Key Pittman, D., Nev.

State Billed for Convicts in Prison

BOISE, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—A moot question—whether the state should pay for beer and cigarettes consumed by foraging convicts—was turned over today for study by the state board of examiners.

T. I. Anderson, owner of a Middleton Tavern, submitted a bill for $20.48 to Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen. Anderson said the bill covered articles taken by prisoners of the Eagle Island prison farm. The prisoners recently admitted they occasionally took a night out to forage around for beer and tobacco, returning to their prison farm quarters for parties.

Anderson is willing to give the state the advantage of paying at wholesale prices. He listed the items as six cases of beer $16.80, two rolls of snuff $1.28, six cartons of cigarettes $2.00, and one lock $1.50.

ROMAN INHERITANCE TAX

BOISE, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—An inheritance tax of $5,231.24 was paid to the state today from the estate of the late Sen. William E. Borah. Total of the estate probated was $122,602.08.

LOANS SET FOR PLANE FACTORIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones told congress today the reconstruction finance corporation has made "informal" but definite commitments for loans of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 for new plane factories.

Jones told the house banking and currency committee these commitments were result of recent discussions with William S. Knudsen, defense production chief.

Jones said the money would result in construction of about a half a dozen plants.

Seven or eight million dollars, he explained, has been earmarked for the Packard plant, to expand its facilities to handle the Rolls Royce plane contract refused by Henry Ford. The balance, he said, will be lent to other leading plane factories.

HOOVER TO CALL ON GOP NOMINEE

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont., Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today he would meet with Republican presidential candidate Wendell L. Willkie this week-end at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. Hoover said he had arranged to spend a few days with Willkie in Yellowstone, but he accepted Willkie's invitation to Colorado Springs when pressures upon the nominee made such a meeting difficult.

Hoover said he would be in Colorado Springs "probably Saturday or Sunday." Earlier it had been reported Hoover might meet Willkie in Denver next Wednesday.

BRITAIN DISCLOSES PLANS FOR INDIA DOMINION STATUS

CONSTITUTION TO BE CHANGED AT FINISH OF WAR

LONDON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Great Britain today disclosed plans for advancing India toward the goal of dominion status while Europe is still at war, and for increased representative government and a new constitution after the war.

L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India, told the house of commons that the viceroy of India faced with war-time agitation for Indian independence of dominion status would form a war advisory council of representative Indians.

"Differences between the Indian communities which prevented achievement of national unity can no longer postpone the proposed expansion of the viceroy's council and the establishment of a body to consult more closely Indian public opinion with the central government."

To Join Councils

The viceroy of India will, Amery said, "invite a number of representative Indians to join his councils and will establish a war advisory council containing representatives of the Indian states and other interests in the national life of India as a whole."

He said the government had agreed to establish a post-war body representing the principal elements in India to devise the framework of a new constitution.

Hope for Agreement

Meanwhile, Amery said, the government will welcome every practical effort on the part of the Indians themselves to reach a friendly agreement regarding the proposed post-war body and the outlines of the new constitution.

Agitation for independent government or for dominion status in India has been largely under leadership of the Indian nationalist movement of Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, but there has been sharp conflict among the various India factions on the form of any new constitution.

After receiving an extension of time to decide whether he wants preliminary hearing, on forgery charge, Harry E. Yearian, 46, advised Probate Judge C. A. Bailey today that he wants the hearing and doesn't intend to waive it.

As result, Judge Bailey set 10 a. m. Friday, Aug. 10, as time for Yearian to appear in court. He continued the man's $500 bond and Yearian went back to county jail.

The prisoner is accused of seeking to pass a bogus $20 check Aug. 2 at a Twin Falls department store.

ARMY BAN HITS AIRPORT PROJECT

Because army officers at Denver turned thumbs down, the second Twin Falls effort to secure airport improvements under a "313" WPA defense project bumped into a stone wall today.

Sen. D. Worth Clark advised Mayor Joe Koehler that plans to secure civil aeronautics authority help on the airport project are blocked by the fact that the army has refused to certify the work.

CAA Can't Act

After earlier rejection of the defense application by Koehler, the mayor had instituted a counter-move to put the project through with aid assured him by the CAA.

Today, however, Senator Clark pointed out that the CAA can't step in until an airport project gets either army or navy certification plus WPA action.

The senator's telegram contained this significant statement: "The war department here advises that it is not likely any 313 projects will be approved for Idaho."

To that the mayor said emphatically today: "It seems Idaho has been ostracized by the powers that be in Washington."

But Koehler added he hasn't given up the fight.

"Following out Senator Clark's advice, I am filing a regular WPA application immediately for airport work. This request won't come under the defense setup."

Claimed Not Eligible

Clark, after asserting in his wire that disapproval of the airport 313 project "was made by army officers at Denver on the basis that the project was not eligible for special WPA defense funds," recommended that Twin Falls "consider regular application for airport. Am confident that I would do everything possible to get it through in a hurry."

Koehler fired at the Denver army officers who blocked the airport defense project.

"Who are the army officers in Denver, anyway?" he demanded. "They're not the war department. We submitted this request for war department approval."

He said that the Idaho state WPA administration has been working 100 per cent with Twin Falls in the airport move but indicated "it's the higher-ups who are at fault."

HANSEN ATHLETE SIGNS FOR ARMY

Smith, today was accepted for duty with the army air corps at Hamilton field, Calif., and left for Salt Lake City and final enlistment before going to the coast. It was announced by Sgt. Frank Morris, officer in charge of the recruiting station at the city hall.

Smith is a graduate of the Hansen high school and played quarterback on that school's football team from 1932 to 1934. In 1933 he was team captain.

Sgt. Morris announced that many other vacancies are now open for army service and details regarding requirements can be had at the city hall.

NICE

It's a pretty nice place, this Twin Falls county jail—when you're just a guest and not a steady inmate.

That's what two Dietrich boys decided as they departed this morning. Jerald Werts and Billy Thomas wanted a place to stay last night and asked Sheriff L. W. Hawkins about it. The sheriff obligingly put them up for the night.

Murtaugh Scouts Gain Five Awards

Two Boy Scouts, members of troop 101 at Murtaugh, this afternoon received approval on applications made for issuance of five merit badges, records at the area office here show.

DeVon Herbert received merit badges in pathfinding, electricity and bird study while Arvo Anderson received badges in pathfinding and carpentry. Scoutmaster of the troop is Kendall Dayley while ex-troop leaders were William Anderson, Leslie Hestbeck and T. Anderson.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE ASKS FOR ACTION

Dr. James E. West, national executive of the Boy Scouts of America, today called upon the Snake river area council of Scouting to "do its part in strengthening the morale and character of the nation through increased Scout activity."

The request was made in letters received by Gordon Day, council executive, and R. H. Snyder, Albion, council president.

Greatest Need

"The greatest need of this country is a strengthening and an invigorating of the spirit of the land," Dr. West urged. "While I recognize the urgent need of military preparation, I am convinced that the paramount need in national defense is the building up of morale and character among the citizens of the United States."

"The preservation of liberty rests on the affirmation of the dignity of the individual and the acceptance of individual responsibility by every member of the democracy."

Dr. West also called upon the local council to adopt a resolution to call on all members to fight for the ideals of American democracy.

He said that the resolution had been adopted by 20 other American organizations such as the Red Cross, American Legion and the D. A. R., and that they had bound themselves to citizenship educational service to arouse their members to the necessity of fighting for personal liberty. The resolution was adopted by national Scout executives.

Plans are now being undertaken here to adopt the resolution, which includes a pledge. The pledge follows: "We, as Americans, solemnly

"To be vigilant and courageous in maintaining human sympathy and respect for the rights of others.

"To stand united with all lovers of freedom, whatever their tongue or origin.

"To keep our nation strong in valor, and confident in freedom, so that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

100,000 EXPECTED TO BALLOT IN AUGUST PRIMARIES

228 CANDIDATES EYE NOMINATION TO STATE POSTS

By LLOYD TUPLING

BOISE, Aug. 8 (Special)—An estimated 100,000 Idaho voters will go to the polls Tuesday, Aug. 13, to cast their ballots for candidates seeking the 228 Democratic and Republican nominations for state offices.

Voters will also select nominees for the countless county positions to be filled at the November general election.

Leaders of both parties predict a small vote this year in the 792 precincts of the state. Lack of hot state issues, and an apathetic pre-primary campaign, and international conditions has reduced interest. A few close contests are forecast.

Despite the lack of issues, the election will play an important part nationally. One of the few primaries held since the Republican and Democratic national conventions, the results will indicate trend in the state and will offer comparisons as to whether the state political complexion has changed since 1938.

Polls Open at Noon

Polls will open at noon and close at 8 p. m. Counting will continue until completed.

Voters, no matter what their party affiliation, will be presented the same ballot. On the left side Republican candidates for nomination will be listed, and on the right Democrats. No "mugwumps" will be allowed. The voter must choose either one party ticket or the other—and stick to it.

After the counting is over, the electorate will have selected 118 candidates for the state house of representatives, 59 from each party, 88 candidates for the state senate, and 22 for other state offices including the U. S. senate and two congressional representatives.

Unlike all others who pass through the process of the primary election, one state officer will be elected to his position without need of facing the electorate again in November. He is Chief Justice James P. Aikins of the state supreme court—unopposed and automatically re-elected for another six-year term.

No Opposition

Eight other candidates for state office will have an equally soft touch in the nominating primaries. They include Rep. Compton I. White, incumbent, unopposed for the Democratic nomination in the first congressional district, and Rep. Henry Dvorshak, incumbent, unopposed for the second district Republican nomination.

There is, however, a hot race pending among those seeking the nomination in parties opposing them. Dr. Rex Heonson, Coeur d'Alene, and Edward Gaffney, Orofino, want to be the Republican candidate who will oppose White in November. For Dvorshak's opposition, Democrats can choose between Harry Parson, Twin Falls; Ira H. Masters, Boise; Frank J. Keenan, Boise, and Harold Howell, Boise.

Feminine Candidates

Both sides of the ticket have been decided in the state treasurer's race by virtue of no opposition for those who filed. Myrtle F. Enking, Democratic incumbent, and Lela J. Painter, Republican aspirant, are both unopposed and will clash in the general election without further ado.

Other incumbents unopposed are Calvin E. Wright, Democratic state auditor, and George H. Curtis, Democratic secretary of state. For opposition to Wright, Republicans have their choice of E. L. Schoenbut, Cascade; Thomas F. Rodgers, Boise, or Paul Bullfinch, American Falls. Four Republicans want to take on Curtis in the finals, but only one will win. Those who want are Walter V. Day, Frank Swan, James W. Keating and William N. Hardwick.

Miller Unopposed

Z. Reed Miller is unopposed for the Republican nomination for attorney general. Bert H. Miller and E. G. Elliott are seeking the Bourbon nomination for the same spot.

Hottest race in the entire ticket is predicted for the Democratic gubernatorial. There J. W. Taylor, Chase Clark and James L. Barnes will mix it up. Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen has been matched against Thomas McDougall for the Republican nomination.

Another battle is forecast among the ten men who want to serve the two years remaining in the term of the late Sen. William E. Borah. Earlier, Sen. John Thomas, incumbent, was conceded to lead the race for the Republican nomination, but now competition has developed. In fact he will compete against six men—Frank B. Dotson, Burley; Elvin Dulaney, Pocatello; Abe Coff, Moscow; Frank Adams, Twin Falls; J. D. Erice, Malad, and E. W. Sinclair, Jerome.

Three-Way Race

A three-way race for the Democratic senatorial nomination will be staged by Glen Taylor, Pocatello;

Attorney Warns Bourbons Against Vote for Taylor

Marshall Chapman, local attorney and a Democratic party leader, today had declared that "every Democrat who on next Tuesday votes for Mr. Taylor (the attorney general) is in reality voting for Gov. Bottolfsen."

The strongly worded declaration, which in substance pointed out that if Taylor is elected as the Democratic nominee for governor, Bottolfsen stands a show against Bottolfsen, was made by Chapman during a radio address last night.

Barnes, Clark and Taylor

"This year we have three candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor," Chapman said. "They are James L. Barnes of Hansen, Chase Clark of Idaho Falls, and J. W. Taylor of Boise. Mr. Barnes is a former county commissioner and has our respect and confidence. Unfortunately, he is not well known throughout the state.

"As the primary election approaches it becomes more apparent each day that the fight for the Democratic nomination for governor lies between Mr. Clark, the mayor of Idaho Falls, and Attorney General Taylor.

"The Democrats of Idaho, in making their decision between these two men, will determine, in my judgment, whether this state for the next two years will have a Democratic or a Republican governor.

"In other words, it will be for you to decide whether, on one hand, we will nominate a man whose public career is such that he is not acceptable to many within the party or, on the other hand, nominate a man behind whom we can have a united party.

Taylor Means Defeat

"An impartial study of the political career of our attorney general clearly reveals that his nomination will mean certain defeat. Mr. Taylor is a former resident of this county. He was elected twice on the Republican ticket as prosecuting attorney of this county. In 1930 he proclaimed himself a Democrat, and

JAPANESE WOULD END BRITISH RULE

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (UP)—A group of 128 members of the house of representatives today presented to the government a resolution advocating strong measures to exterminate British influences in east Asia.

The resolution was adopted shortly after the newspaper Asahi had declared Japan would push its program for a greater east Asia "in silence and firm determination" regardless of the attitude of the United States.

The Asahi comment was in connection with the visit of United States Ambassador Joseph Clark Grew to Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka yesterday.

The 128 members of the lower house, which has 466 members, included former ministers of communication Ryutarō Nagai and several other ex-members of the government.

The resolution they presented to the government called for "a determined stand" against Britain and for "strong and effective measures" in order to exterminate British influences in east Asia.

George Donart, Welter; and James R. Bothwell, Twin Falls.

For lieutenant-governor the Democrats have Will Simons, Boise; N. E. George, Homedale, and Charles C. Gossett, Nampa. Republicans will decide between Donald S. Whitehead, Boise, and Hyrum S. Lewis, Declo.

Confusion is likely to result in selection of candidates for mine inspector. Arthur Campbell, incumbent Democrat, is seeking re-nomination and is opposed by Peter Wilson, Stewart Campbell, a Republican who formerly held the post would like to have it again. He is opposed by Clarence A. Dye, Salmon City.

The passenger-mileage figure is greater than the 12-month combined figure for all the rest of the airlines in the world.

NOTABLES COMING TO RAM AUCTION

Several out-of-state notables—including the leaders of the National Wool Growers association—will be on hand for the annual state ram sale at Filer next Wednesday, Aug. 14.

The notables will include C. B. Wardlaw, Del Rio, Tex., president of the national organization, and F. R. Marshall, Salt Lake City, secretary. Also coming to Filer are W. P. Wing, San Francisco, secretary of the California Wool Growers, and Fred Ellenwood, past president of the national association.

Final Arrangements

Final arrangements and plans for the Aug. 14 ram classic "are fast being completed," according to Robert Blastock, Filer, general chairman. Mr. Blastock said that latest indications show 46 Idaho breeders will offer rams at this auction.

As a field day the annual Filer event brings together more sheep raisers than any similar event, and the general chairman expects to outdo previous successful auctions.

Mid-Year Session

The sheep breeders, buyers and visitors will attend the ram sale and then will stay over for the mid-year dinner meeting of the Idaho Wool Growers association in Twin Falls. H. B. Soulen, president of the state group, will preside at the dinner session. Leaders from all over Idaho will attend and the sheepmen will concentrate on topics of importance to the industry.

As in the past, the Filer Kiwanis club will entertain the breeders at an annual banquet the evening before the big sale.

Speech in Alaska Given for Grange

HANSEN, Aug. 8 (Special)—"Vegetables, aside from cabbage, which has massive leaves, and potato plants that show flowers from the sides rather than on top, as we see them here, were very rare in Alaska," Mrs. D. J. Koenig told her listeners at Hansen Grange last week.

"Delphiniums grow nine feet tall, while marigolds have an enormous spread and buttercups are the size of dollars," she said in speaking of fruit Mrs. Koenig mentioned that raspberries were the size of an Italian prune cut in half.

At the lecture hour, under direction of Mrs. Charles Prior as Flora, Mrs. Roy Lattin gave a reading, "Flowers," and Mrs. C. Kluitz on "Faith," followed by response from women present on value of flowers.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Coulter were given obligation into the order. Grange voted to enter a group display in the flower show Aug. 20. Hostesses were Mrs. D. J. Koenig and Mrs. F. Trunkey.

Reamortizing of Loans Explained

JEROME, Aug. 30 (Special)—Re-writing approximately half of the land bank commissioner loans outstanding in Jerome county has served to stabilize farm mortgage indebtedness in this county and has made it easier for farmers to get out of debt, James C. Knott, secretary-treasurer of the Jerome National Farm loan association office said this week.

During the past several months Knott said approximately 50 per cent of the Land Bank Commissioner loans outstanding in the county has been reamortized—that is, have been rewritten for a longer term of years. Most of these loans were originally written for a term of 10 years. They have been now extended in many cases in 20 years, thus reducing annual payments on principal and giving farmers a better opportunity to work out of debt.

At the beginning of the year there were 234 Land Bank Commissioner loans in Jerome county for a face amount of $314,500. In addition there was an outstanding approximately $1,587,000 in land bank loans. Some of these loans also have been reamortized.

In most cases the commissioner loans are second mortgage loans. The Federal land bank loans are all first mortgage loans.

"The reamortization of the commissioner loans," Knott said, spreads out the payments for the man with the heaviest burden of debt. It has put the annual payments on these mortgages more in line with the earning capacity of the farm and it has brought renewed confidence to many families," Knott explained.

Experiments With Grain Announced

JEROME, Aug. 8 (Special)—According to an announcement made today by Jerome County extension agent, Eugene W. Whitman, E. C. Montgomery, Eden, reports harvesting a field of Lemhi wheat with a yield of 80 bushels per acre.

This variety, a cross between Dicklow and Federation, has the earliness and stiffness of straw of the Federation plant, and the quality of kernel of Dicklow. It was introduced into the county last year by the Aberdeen experiment station where it was developed. Lemhi has been somewhat more resistant to smut than Dicklow, trials at the station show.

Velvon barley, a new variety introduced this season from the Aberdeen experiment station, has shown a stiffer straw characteristic than Trebl, according to W. H. Detweiler and E. W. Riegan, Hazelton, both of whom are growing the variety this year.

The new strain, which has a smoothawn, is similar to Trebl, in other characteristics. The Trebl has slightly outyielded the Velvon at the sub-station. Both Detweiler and Riegan are certifying fields of the new variety this year.

YIELD

W. Frank Chandler, residing on a farm seven miles south of Bull, was through threshing today and as a result he had a lot of wheat. He planted only seven acres in wheat this year.

The yield was 612 bushels—or 67.4 bushels per acre.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS 6 PERSONS

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 8 (UP)—Authorities today said static electricity probably had caused an explosion of tetralene gas which fatally burned six persons, including a mother and four of her children.

The explosion occurred yesterday while Thomas Myers, a gas distributor, was transferring the artificial fuel from a truck to containers inside his home. Several children were playing near the truck; Myers was between it and the house.

Myers, who was so badly burned that he may die, said he was enveloped by a "solid sheet of searing blue flame." The children were thrown violently to the ground.

Fatally burned were Mrs. Myers, 40, and four of her children—Linda Myers Leavitt, 10; Kathleen, 10; Ted, 9, and Doreen, 2—and John Negrette, 18 months old, the child of a neighbor. Myers' daughter, Joy, 13, also was seriously burned.

Mrs. Myers, Kathleen and Doreen were burned in a back room and authorities said the gas apparently had leaked from a conduit, because every window in the building was shattered. The clothing of the victims was scorched and paint was blistered on the outside, and inside of Myers' house, but nothing was set on fire.

Several others in the vicinity were burned slightly.

The life expectancy of passenger autos has increased from 7.44 years in 1924 to 8.58 years in 1938.

West Construction Registers Boom as Defense Plan Aids

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8 (UP)—Spurred by national defense projects, for western construction contracts during July rose to a total of $129,531,348, four times that of the preceding month and six times the total for last July, Daily Construction service reported today.

Contracts in June totaled $33,258,600 and in July, 1939, they reached a total of $22,134,470.

States total included Idaho $1,063,530; Montana $1,527,644 and Utah $2,005,621.

Army, Guard Total Swells to 41,200

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 8 (UP)—Army and national guard units totaling 41,200 officers and men today drilled at full strength for the far west's biggest peacetime maneuvers between Fort Lewis and Chehalis.

The southern encampment at Centralia, including troops from California, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming, trained in anti-tank and anti-aircraft tactics, with army regulars instructing the guardsmen.

Pardon Voted Idaho Convict After Return

BOISE, Aug. 8 (UP)—Albert Joe, who told members of the Idaho prison board he had led a "straight" life since escaping from the state penitentiary 12 years ago, today was en route to resume work in a Nebraska construction camp.

Joe, who went to the state prison in 1928 for forgery in Twin Falls county, won a reprieve from the board and was promised a full pardon at the next session. A month ago Joe gave up his job and came here of his own volition. He had written prison officials from his home in Hill City, S. D., he wanted to finish the sentence so he could "get a start in life."

He had served only a month before prison board members interviewed him and unanimously voted him freedom.

We Learn About Our Aliens

For the first time, the United States is going to get together some really complete information about its aliens.

The registration which will begin Aug. 27 and close Dec. 26 is a tremendous undertaking. Perhaps 3,600,000 residents, non-citizens, will be required to list with the government basic data about themselves, including their fingerprints.

Time was when a proceeding of this kind would have been regarded as smacking too much of European restriction to fit into the American picture. Scarcely today. Left to itself, the United States would never have adopted such a plan. But the impact of European tension on the world has brought about adoption of this registry almost without opposition.

Several things ought to be kept clearly in mind as the day approaches when all aliens must appear at one of 7,300 registration centers to leave a record of themselves and their activities.

First, this is no witch-hunt. The definite assurance of Director Earl G. Harrison has been given that all loyal aliens will be protected from unfair attacks or discrimination. The fact that a person must register is nothing against him.

Second, there is no charge or fee in connection with the registration. Already unscrupulous persons have appeared, ready for a suitable fee to "help" aliens through the registration. No help is required except that which will be freely given through postoffices. The registration must not be allowed to open up a profitable source of graft by preying on ignorance.

Director Harrison is not expecting any widespread disclosures of criminal activities or Fifth Column work. He is convinced that the vast majority of aliens are peaceful and law-abiding.

Among the questions asked (with penalty for willful falsification) is one covering all membership or activities in clubs, organizations, and societies. Another covers connection with political activities of foreign governments.

Persecution and injustice could easily follow abuse of such information, and even of the mere fact of registration itself.

On the old Anglo-Saxon principle that all are innocent until proved guilty, all should guard against jumping to conclusions. The government has instituted the registration. The government is quite capable of taking any necessary action upon it in an orderly and legal manner.

Creating Our Own Customers

At a time like this, when Europe is closed to normal trade, every sign of increasing trade elsewhere is welcome. The United States is sparing no effort to build up trade in the New World and elsewhere.

Now who do you suppose is the United States' best New World customer? Canada, of course. But to the south? Well, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia and Venezuela. But next? Why, our own Alaska!

During the past year Alaska bought $44,262,710 worth of goods from the United States, almost two million dollars more than in any year in the territory's history. The amount of increase is insignificant. But the upward trend is hopeful.

If the United States could really settle Alaska, a great and thriving market for United States goods might well be created. Japan fought a war for the bleak plains of Manchuria, and now tries to develop and settle them at great expense and pains. But the United States, which bought Alaska for a song, hesitates at an aggressive development that might make it a mighty commonwealth and give an expansive outlet which is badly needed.

Death, Too, Is Motorized

A thousand more lives have been snuffed out by automobiles during the first half of this year than in the same period of 1939.

Death, following the human lead, has also motorized his battalions. He is gradually forcing back the safety troops which were for so long gradually reducing the toll of traffic.

June was the ninth consecutive month, the National Safety council reports, to show an increase over the preceding year. And 14,740 people have been mown down since Jan. 1, as compared with 13,700 in the first six months of last year.

The 8 per cent increase almost exactly coincides with a 7 per cent increase in auto mileage. But the Safety council believes that the war also has had its effect in making people reckless and careless. The traffic toll began to rise almost exactly when the war started last September, and reached its peak in June, when France surrendered.

This is a war without end, without armistice. The fight against death's motorized divisions must not slacken.

POT SHOTS

WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

PONDEROUS FACE SAYS THAT PENNANT WILL GO UP!

Dear Pot Shots: You had me on the spot for a while with your blast yesterday about raising the 1939 pennant over Jaycee park.

The darned thing was lost! No fooling. Couldn't find hide nor hair of it. But finally located it after much searching.

So we'll raise the pennant... probably next week. Maybe before.

The Cowboys are looking better now, huh?

—Holocaust Hughie

Proving We Have Adolf and Benny Worried

After the many insults Pot Shots has dished out to Monomancie Miller and Play-It-Safe Mussolini, we feel we should quake in our boots at sight of a certain New York dispatch.

But the dispatch proves to us, if not to you, that Pot Shots is at last upsetting the dictators' peace of mind. Our staff artist has pictured for you his version of how Adolf and Benito are darkly pondering this very moment the menace of Pot Shots to their bloody program.

First, the dispatch: "NEW YORK—A decree issued in Berlin provides for the severe punishment of all, throughout the world, who have ever written or reproduced utterances against Hitler or members of the Nazi party at any time."

And now, the big shots:

DID YOU SAY A "COUPLE" OF SNIFTERS?

Third Row: Newest explanation voiced by a certain chappie of these parts for "cutting" an acquaintance on the street Saturday night:

"Well, y'see it was like this: I'd had a couple of snifters and I was seeing triple about then, and there you stood, all three of you—so naturally I didn't dare say hello to one of you because the other two of you might have got insulted."

MORE POLICY

One very critical gent asked us how come in a humor column we go political every so often. He was referring to our argument with the mayor. Since this gent personally favors parking meters (he has a place behind his store to park his own car), he disagrees with our ancient our sparring with Mayor Joe.

This seems to be a misunderstanding. While we hope ours is, in general, a humor column we make no claim to printing nothing but humor. In fact, what's humorous to some folks is corny to others. We realize that. Nobody has yet succeeded in pleasing everyone at once. We realize that, too. We're no geniuses although there are apparently some in town.

What we try to achieve in Pot Shots is a column containing some humor, maybe a wisecrack or so, sometimes a personal rant, a humorous verse now and then — AND forthright comment of our own whenever the spirit moves us, on anything we feel like discussing.

Nothing in the column, whether it's a contributed item or one of our own harrangues, officially represents the Evening's editorial opinion. In fact we're often just opposite that opinion. We've stepped on the Evening's toes several times. We'll probably step on those and other toes many times again.

The-tramping is good for everybody once in a while.

Besides, we're enjoying life, thank you.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"... There goes the boss on vacation—now let's run this place tight!"

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

SERIAL STORY

SUMMER THEATER

BY MILDRED WILLIAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Molly develops growing interest in the Reynolds name. Finally, she asks Johnny to marry her. He tells her she's taking her up on that marriage bid.

CHAPTER VIII

MOLLY in Johnny's arms whispering that she loved him and would marry him as he had asked her, sent his senses whirling. That she wanted the came to be his gift to the bride was only a small hurdle easily cleared so near the real goal.

"Then you'll ask Jean to sell it to you. I want it so desperately, Johnny darling," Molly was saying, rather than asking. Her mouth had hardened, his arms about her, made everything possible.

"Jean will give it to us for a wedding present. We won't need to buy it. And if there's anything to that luck legend, we needn't even worry about that. Jean and I are so nearly brother and sister that the Reynolds luck has probably diffused after all these years."

Molly laughed softly and stood away from him. She was so beautiful, so lovely—and she was going to marry him!

"You're sweet, Johnny," Molly said, stroking his face. "Don't worry about the luck, you funny Irishman. Things are turning out wonderfully. Now don't forget to ask Jean—right away. She'll be at the theater tonight."

HE walked back down Cottage street towards his garage, almost in a dream. Molly was going to marry him. After this summer she would say farewell forever to the theater!

He stopped short. Would she? He wanted for Molly and himself the dream of love in a cottage Jean had imagined! What kind of a marriage did Molly want? He wondered.

When Johnny came backstage at 7:30, Jean was already there. "Hello, Johnny." She hardly looked up.

"I came to talk to you," he began, wondering how he should start. Away from Molly, the task of asking Jean for the cameo seemed difficult. "Isn't that the Carstairs coffee service?"

Jean nodded. "But I told Miss Bessie I'd be personally responsible for it."

Johnny had an opportunity to look around. He whistled. "Are you going to be personally responsible for all the other Cape Cod antiques you've got in this barn? Isn't that Mr. Duntrow's hunting board? And the Mellons' Sheraton table? What on earth are you thinking about?"

"Listen to me, Johnny Regan!" Jean's eyes flashed—"I've put up with just about all I'm going to from you. I let you boss me around all my life. Took it and liked it. No matter what a sap Sue said I was, now I'll thank you to mind your own business. I've done a pretty good job of minding mine."

Two spots of pink appeared on her cheeks. She turned angrily, and started down the stairs.

"If you're talking about Molly, you can retract anything detrimental you've thought. She's a good actress. Didn't you read her notices?"

Jean almost snorted. "Who could help it? She waved them around like American flags. And it's gone to her head completely. The whole cast is pretty sick of her. Upstage, cutting in on lines, I doubt if Mr. Earl ever gives her another part."

The words came with such pent-up fury that Johnny thought she was glad of this opportunity to hurl them at him. Now is the time to tell her, he decided. "Oh, well," he tried to say casually, "it won't matter whether he does or not. This acting is just a stop-gap, anyway. Molly's going to marry me."

He thought he heard Jean gasp, but the answer didn't betray her. "Marry you? That is a laugh. I thought she had Andre Masters in mind."

"He is strictly business," Johnny quoted. "We're to be married soon, if that means anything to you."

Jean continued to rearrange the Bohemian liqueur glasses in a circle around the dancer. "It's apparently means something to her," she said with vehemence. "I haven't seen that girl make a move since I've known her that didn't further her own campaign a league or two. Though I can't for the life of me see how marrying you could help her. No money. No job."

Johnny felt as if she had slapped him, but he answered with control. "Get nasty. I'll get a good job and it won't be with the Reynolds Advertising Agency. I might remind you that it wasn't too long ago that you regarded me as a fairly safe 'marriage bet' yourself."

She shrugged. "I'm trying to forget I was such a fool, but seeing you makes it doubly difficult."

It hardly seemed the perfect opportunity to ask Jean to sell him the cameo, but he had promised Molly. He took a deep breath. "Jean," he said, "I didn't come back stage for a fight. I came to ask a favor of you."

"If it's about going home, I can give you my answer. You don't own Capetown even if you do act like it. I'm staying."

Johnny shook his head. "Stay as long as you like, I don't care. I want to give Molly an engagement present, and what she wants most of all is the cameo. ... Won't you sell it to me?"

Jean didn't answer for a minute. Johnny had thought he heard a sob; he'd expected to see her eyes fill up with tears. He knew that she was thinking of their own wedding plans. Oh, why did Molly want that cameo, of all things in the world?

But the eyes that Jean turned to him were not tearful, but defiant. "And what would you use for money?"

Johnny was amazed at her answer; it was so unlike what he had expected.

"You'd sell it then?" he said, and added, "Well, to be perfectly honest with you, I had some sort of notion you'd be altruistic and give it to me for a wedding present. I don't know of anything I'd rather ..."

"You mean that Molly would rather have," Jean said. "Well, I won't sell that cameo and I won't give it away, so go and tell your friend Duce that."

HE went down the stairway into Molly's dressing room. She sat before the mirror running a little brush of lipstick over her mouth. Her hair was powdered and her face was wrinkled. What a sweet old lady she would make.

When she saw him in the mirror, she swung around and asked, "Well, what did Jean say? Have you asked her?"

"She said, 'No dice.'"

"So she won't even sell it to you, her precious Johnny! Well, of all the mean, grasping things I ever heard of. She doesn't care about it or she wouldn't have lent it to me so readily."

"She does care about it," Johnny corrected her. "That hadn't anything to do with it. It's a family heirloom; I can see her point perfectly. But, don't you worry. After we're married, I'll buy you something even lovelier than that old cameo."

Molly opened her mouth to answer him, but no sound came. There was a crash. A flood of smoke curled down the stairway. Someone screamed: "That old lamp turned over. The whole place is on fire!"

HIGHLIGHTS FROM LATEST BOOKS

AT 97, AUTHOR'S LIFE STORY MAKES GOOD U. S. HISTORY

You will look a long time for a book written at 97. Yet that is the age of William Henry Jackson who in his "Time Exposure" (Putnam; $3.50) provides one of the year's most readable autobiographies and a good slice of American history in addition. Jackson, who still paints, lectures and occasionally winds up at a night-club at 1:30 in the morning, marched at Gettysburg, crossed the Great Plains before railroads, took the first photos of Yellowstone (1872). Just a lot of his incomparable viewpoint is excerpted here:

It has all been very pleasant, this business of growing old. There is a legend that I have found curious. It is that when a man grows old he becomes automatically an authority on scientific information on diet, exercise, and general behavior. And, of course, I have had my share of such inquiries.

I have usually answered that I didn't know; but perhaps that is not quite accurate. I have reached my age, I think, for two principal reasons. The first is that I inherited a tough constitution ...

The second reason, in my mind, is that I never took out enough time to get run down. There has always been so much to do tomorrow that I haven't relaxed to any great extent. I have been too busy doing interesting things and getting ready to do even more interesting things ...

Of one thing I am sure: No one ever reached the 90s simply by following a set of rules. In living, as in art, rules are drawn from practice. I should have been worn out, through sheer physical exertion, 40 years ago; but I am still able to get around pretty comfortably. According to rule, I should have gone bald in the hot plains 50 or 60 years ago; but the barber still uses his shears all over the top when I visit him.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Administration political leaders are casting an anxious eye at Chicago these days, trying to determine whether the big "keep America out of war" rally may not result in an organized effort to swing isolationist sentiment to support of Wendell Willkie.

The meeting, at which the names of Senator Bennett Clark and Charles A. Lindbergh were stellar drawing cards, germinated in a local council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It was an effort to bring together all elements wanting to assure non-involvement in the European war. Included are such diverse supporters as the V. F. W., Disabled American Veterans, League of American Mothers, Daughters of 1812, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, Catholic Daughters of America, United Spanish War Veterans, with distinct cordiality, if not support, from Labor's Non-Partisan league, Father Coughlin, the Communist party, and various peace and church organizations.

Some 300 organizations have been listed as supporters of the keep out of war rally. These very diverse elements have in common only the feeling that America must not go to war. But if they could be persuaded that Willkie fills that bill better than Roosevelt, they might bear worthwhile weight on the political scene.

POLITICAL ANGLE IS DENIED

Capt. William Green Grace, 33d division World War veteran, who introduced the original resolution for the rally in his V.F.W. post, denies strenuously any possible political implication of the rally.

"We realize that the people who attend will be supporting the keep out of war movement for various and maybe even contradictory reasons," Captain Grace emphasized before the meeting. "All we want to do is to show the extent of this sentiment, not why it exists. We have no connection with any former keep out of war committees; we have no politics; we have no future plans—we organized simply to stage this rally. Nobody is going to be allowed to use the meeting for any other purposes than the one stated—to demonstrate keep out of war sentiment."

"As a matter of fact, we sent invitations to the whole national committee of both parties. Both pledged anti-war planks. Of course, I don't know what response we'll get."

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS SEEK PROMINENCE

Grace admits a chance that permanent organization might result from the Chicago meeting, but denies that any such course was planned. A Republican candidate for municipal judge prominent in the Irish Fellowship club, Grace secured the services of Avery Brundage as chairman "because I myself don't cut any ice." He has been actively speaking against war involvement around Chicago for many months, feeling strongly that "to get involved in war would destroy democracy and bring in the very things we would be fighting against. After this war there must be one country where democratic principles still survive."

There is evidence that several existing organizations may try to make capital of the Chicago rally, but Grace insisted strongly that any such steps were not intended and would not be permitted.

GRAND RE-OPENING FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

GRAND RE-OPENING FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

We Match the Progress of Twin Falls and Idaho!

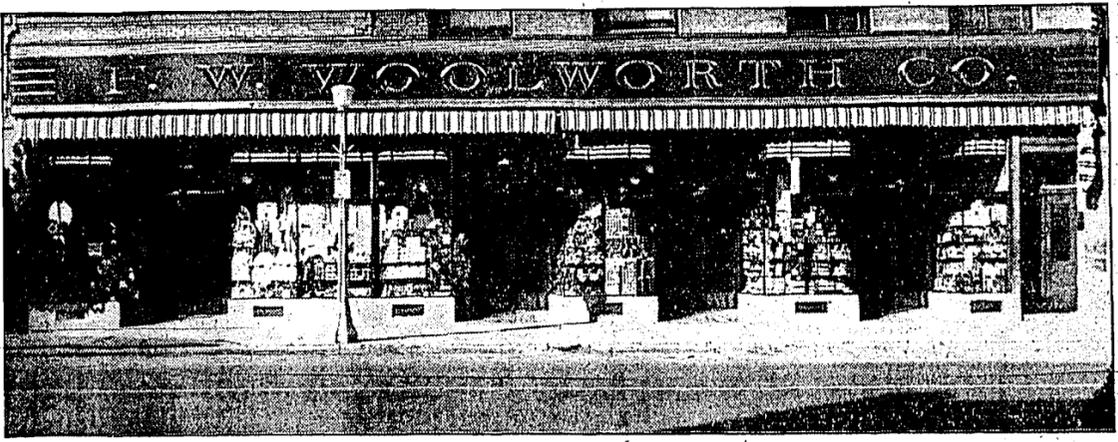

1922 WOOLWORTH'S
 open their first store in the young Magic City. It took only 9 clerks and the manager to staff this first store located on Main avenue north. But the public looked with favor on the merchandising principles used and soon we had to move to larger quarters.

1931 WOOLWORTH'S
 chose a new location on Main Ave. South... the same location in which we have expanded twice to meet the demand for more floor space. In 1931 nearly a score of clerks were employed and Woolworth's was becoming one of Twin Falls' leading employers.

1936 WOOLWORTH'S
 found that even larger floor space was demanded and an immediate expansion program was begun which again increased the number of clerks and enlarged our variety of stock. This is the store which you have known to date—but as you know we've been forced to take an even larger space in this same location!

1940 WOOLWORTH'S
 expand again... and we're gloriously proud of our new store with over 9,000 square feet of floor space, completely air conditioned. One of Twin Falls' largest stores. And we're happy too that we're employing over fifty clerks to serve you people of Magic Valley. That's the reason we say, "Help us celebrate this forward move!"

Convictions of thieves, and close brand and meat inspection enforcement, has stopped live stock and poultry thefts. Shoplifters and check workers caught. Professional criminals in town or driven out of the county. I won't tolerate drunken driving or supplying liquor to minors.

Civil
Twin Falls County is a big business. It has to spend about $350,000 per year for operation, hospital and poor care. Experience and common sense are important in its legal affairs. For the first time in many years claims against the county must be in proper form and have the necessary vouchers, and are checked by me for legal sufficiency, as the law requires, before they are paid. Personal property tax losses have been stopped. Land sales are on equal footing, after proper appraisal, and in compliance with law. Poor expense is handled, and a complete record kept, as the law requires.

Results!
Twin Falls County is on a tight budget, not a political basis.

Verbal Brawls Feature Debate in Senate

BARBED SPEECH CAUSES SOLONS TO BE PERSONAL

By LYLE C. WILSON
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (UP)—The 1940 campaign and its related political disputes today are developing some characteristics of a street corner brawl and the Congressional Record may become a best seller if angry statesmen continued to spice it with angrier debate.

Sen. Rush D. Holt, D., W. Va., a bitter anti-New Dealer, and Sen. Sherman Minton, D., Ind., who carries the administration banner, have been hard at it. And there are others whose language already is making this campaign notable for barbed speech.

Holt was telling Minton yesterday in senate debate he could "search the gutters" of West Virginia if he cared to and probably would feel right at home there. About that time Sen. Josh Lee, D., Okla., rose to refer to the previous day's debate in which he said he had construed Holt's references to Minton to imply that the senator from Indiana was intoxicated.

No Liquor
 "I went over and had the senator from Indiana blow his breath in my face," said Lee, who does not use intoxicants. "There certainly was not one scintilla of liquor on his breath."

"I merely wish to remark," Holt replied, "I am glad to see the senator from Oklahoma has become an expert on halitosis."

All of this and the Holt-Minton exchange of the previous day was in discussion of the conscription bill which a matter of fact, was not before the senate at all. It followed the charge by Sen. Claude Pepper, D., Fla., that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was a "fifth columnist" leader in the United States.

Discuss Salary
 Only last week Republican national committee publicity included a discussion of the annual income of James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, since the first New Deal inauguration, and it was estimated at more than $50,000.

"Pretty good," wrote Franklin W. Altman, G.O.P. publicity director, "for a young man who flunked his examinations at Harvard and spent only one year at law school."

Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Calif., aroused by President Roosevelt's effort of last week to read him out of liberal and progressive company, drew on one of the most effective and gentlemanly vocabularies in Washington to challenge the President whose statement had contained an expression of personal affection along with political disregard.

"Same Old Purge"
 "This is just the same old purge," snapped Johnson, "the same old sham expression of regard and affection; the same old stiletto."

After yesterday's Holt-Minton engagement, Sen. M. M. Neely, D., W. Va., protested the senate's dignity had been reduced to the "level of a bar room" and announced he would thereafter invoke against all offenders the rule which forbids one senator to impugn the motives of another.

JEROME, Aug. 8 (Special)—A German war refugee, now a Twin Falls resident, was the special guest speaker at the meeting of Jerome Rotary club this week. The speaker told of the conditions now prevailing in war-torn sectors of Europe.

Among the Twin Falls visiting Rotarians were William H. Eldridge, Holmes Lash, Martin Warren and Bert Sweet.

The new committees for 1940-41 as appointed by the board of directors, include:

Big Circus Will Arrive Here Shortly After Dawn Friday

Friday will be an unofficial holiday in Twin Falls for circus lovers and for devotees of filmdom's leading western star.

Early Friday morning, three great herds of elephants will arrive, together with nearly 1,000 people, including Ken Maynard, western motion picture star, and his congress of wild west folk from Hollywood, and over 300 horses and ponies.

Arrive After Dawn
 Many other features, scores of them imported from Europe especially for this season, will roll into the city shortly after dawn on a mile long train of double-length steel cars over the Union Pacific railroad from Pocatello. As the long red and silver-coated train comes to a halt on the sidings at Shoshone street near the depot, the unloading will begin and the haul started to the circus grounds at Cogswell's pasture on Highland View boulevard.

Only one performance will be given in Twin Falls starting at 3 p. m. with the main gates opening one hour earlier allowing leisurely inspection of the vast menagerie which features the famous Al G. Barnes and Sella Floto animals, familiar to all circus fans throughout the western states.

Among Largest
 This will be the second visit of the famous Cole Brothers show, now one of the two largest in the world, and a program in keeping with the excellent impression the huge show left in Twin Falls three years ago will be presented here tomorrow. All of the stars and performers that delighted more than 35,000 people in Denver last week will be on hand at both performances.

It's a safe bet that hundreds of youngsters from 6 to 60 will be at the railroad sidings early tomorrow morning to watch the unloading of the long string of flat cars, and witness the bringing of order out of seeming chaos as the city of billowing canvas takes form. The railroad crossing will take on picturesque activity as the cages and dens, tableaux wagons and floats, clown carts and allegorical units roll down the "runs" onto the street for the four, six, and even eight horse teams of greys, blacks, and sorrels to "hook-on" for the trek to the circus grounds.

26 Tents
 And from then on until everything is ready for the afternoon performance, the circus grounds will be a picture of varied activities as the 26 tents are hoisted and the hundreds of animals, both wild and domestic, are housed for the day. The traveling barber shop, the general store, the blacksmith shops, and the traveling hospital tent, will

German Invasion Threat Aids Italian Advances in Africa

BY J. W. T. MASON
 United Press War Expert
 Italian operations in British Somaliland are meeting with success as one of the consequences of the German threat to invade Great Britain. Uncertainty regarding Hitler's intentions is compelling the British to keep most of their army at home, making it impossible to distribute adequate defense forces to some outlying parts of the empire.

It has thus become strategically essential for the British high command to mark off various areas for retreat in case of attack, with the expectation that the final disposition of these territories will be determined at the peace conference. Somaliland is one of these small sectors that must be left to its fate.

 Mussolini has shrewdly realized the British difficulty in adequately protecting the little country with its fanatical Moslem population of 350,000, and has taken advantage of the opening to score Italy's first military victory of the war. The military worth of the conquest is negligible for further prosecution of the war, but it will help to strengthen Italian morale for the time being.

Since Italy can control French Somaliland, the Italians now are in a position to unify their entire east African empire, including Abyssinia, in a single bloc. This territory, however, is isolated from Italian supply stations. It forms a corner of Africa, from the southern part of the Red sea to the gulf of Aden and the Indian ocean.

Can't Use Coastline
 The coastline cannot be used for supplies because of the British fleet's command of the shore. The international land boundaries are blockaded by British Kenya and the Sudan. If the war were to continue the another year, Italian supplies in the region would be seriously diminished with no way of replenishing them without taking Egypt.

It is reported from Rome the Italians have this intention. Such an enterprise, however, would require a vast assembly of troops and equipment and would necessitate military direction of the highest order. It is difficult to see how the Italians alone would be able to execute a double spearhead thrust against Egypt.

Need Nazi Assistance
 German assistance could be lent to an offensive from Libya but no German reinforcements could reach the Abyssinian-Somaliland territory except by an air journey of some 1,500 miles, which would be impossible for effective help. It is questionable whether the Germans would agree to assist the Italians in north Africa because of the serious difficulty of transport.

The British fleet in the Mediterranean constitutes a threat to lines of communication from Europe and is already interfering with the transport of Italian supplies.

Move Blocked to Boost Spud Rate

BOISE, Aug. 8 (UP)—Carl DeLong, Idaho public utilities commission rate expert, said today a move to increase freight rates on Idaho potatoes shipped to north central and New England states has been blocked.

DeLong said arguments of the PUC and the Idaho shippers and growers association against rate increase of 6 cents per hundredweight apparently caused the interstate commerce commission to deny the proposed rate schedule.

ANTI-DRAFT BILL SOLONS CONFER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (UP)—Opponents of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill appeared today to be mapping an organized campaign against the draft bill which, as now written, would require registration of over 12,000,000 men between the ages of 21 and 31 for army duty.

A dozen senators opposing the peacetime draft measure met late yesterday in the office of Sen. George W. Norris, Ind. Neb., to plan strategy for the coming debate. Among them were Sens. Edwin C. Tamm, D., Colo.; Robert M. La Follette, F., Wis.; Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D.; and Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont.

The anti-conscription bloc, according to one member, laid the groundwork for a "debate on the New Deal's foreign policy which will show exactly what is being done to put this nation into war."

Several of the conferees insisted the group merely sought to ascertain how many speakers they could muster, what phases of the bill they would attack, and general problems of strategy.

Highlights
 The highlights of the performance here will be Ken Maynard, famed star of western thrillers, and the Reiffenach troupe of bareback riding marvels from Europe.

Next in Importance will be Frank Sheppard, daring aerialist, and Mile-Cyze Odell, aerial gymnastic headliner, who heads the vast assemblage of high-in-the-air sensations.

Scores of other outstanding features dot the lengthy program from beginning to end.

Riding acts and almost countless ground displays will vie with wild animal, the horse, and novelty numbers in the oval arena. A maze of iron-jaw and swinging-ladder girls, and featured track displays are still other highlights on the two and a half hour program.

Trained and educated horses by the dozen appear with the rings filled with wild animal displays at the same time.

Mrs. Anna Blue, 210 Second St., Twin Falls, Idaho, states: "For a period of time I have suffered from indigestion, nervousness, and gas pains. The gas would crowd my heart so badly at times that I felt every breath would be the last one. I was nervous and had trouble sleeping. I would have dizzy spells and my kidneys gave me much trouble.

"Now, since taking Hoyt's Compound, I can truthfully say that I am happy for I feel like a new woman, and I am feeling better in every way than I have for ten years. I have not had a sign of indigestion since taking Hoyt's Compound. I have not suffered even once from stomach gas and the pain that follows. My nerves seem stronger and I am sleeping well all night. I have not had a dizzy spell and my kidneys do not bother me at all. I now enjoy my meals and do not suffer afterwards. Again I say, thanks to Hoyt's Compound, I can honestly recommend it to my many friends. Come and see me; let me tell you in my own words just what it did for me as it is impossible to say enough in this short letter."

DODGERS SPOIL "OTT DAY" BEFORE 53,997

REVOLT BREAKS IN RANKS OF JUNIOR PIONEER LEAGUE

Reds Lose as Cubs Triumph; Tigers in Lead

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—The wrong team's playing in the Polo Grounds. The Dodgers should adopt the oval-shaped arena underneath Coogan's bluff as their home field. They look like champions every time they show up there. The Dodgers' record at the Polo Grounds is perfect—six played, six won, pct. 1.000.

Last night under the arc lights the Dodgers licked the Giants, 8-4, before 53,997 paid customers—largest throng ever to see a National league night game—and spoiled the celebration for Mel Ott, the grand little outfielder playing his 15th season for the Giants.

All in all it was a Brooklyn holiday. Probably half the throng came from across the river to cheer for "their beloved bums" and they rocked the home of the Giants to the rafters when the Dodgers blasted Carl Hubbell from the mound in a 4-run rally in the seventh. That gave them the chance to tie and they trotted out to the mound to consult with Hubbell twice during the deadly firing.

Walker, Fitzsimmons Star
After the ceremonies honoring Ott were over, it was all Brooklyn. The two Dodger heroes were Dixie Walker, the outfielder Larry MacPhail was saying Brooklyn didn't need last winter when there was a slight disagreement over salary, and fat Freddy Fitzsimmons. Walker slashed out four straight hits, two singles, a homer and a triple and drove in four runs. Fitzsimmons, although he was taken out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, was credited with his 11th victory against two defeats.

Brooklyn's triumph, combined with the Cincinnati Reds' 10-inning defeat by the Chicago Cubs, enabled the Dodgers to trim Cincinnati's lead to five games. The Cubs beat Paul Derringer, 5-3, by jamming over three runs in the tenth.

Homers by Howell and Miller, each with a mate on base, helped the Boston Bees beat the Phillies 6 to 3. Pittsburgh scored its sixth and seventh straight victories by sweeping a twin bill with the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-9 and 12-6.

The Detroit Tigers held their half game lead in the American league by defeating the Browns, 7-5.

Lou Boudreau drove in six runs as the Cleveland Indians clubbed the Chicago White Sox, 9-3.

The Red Sox and Yankees divided, with Boston winning the opener, 10-7 and the world's champions snapping their 5-game losing streak with a 6-3 win in the nightcap.

Oakland Trims Seattle Again; Angels Lose
Oakland handed Seattle another trouncing, 4-0, last night to cut Seattle's lead in the Pacific Coast league to 15 games.

Jack Salveson handled the Rangers, giving them four hits one at a time. Dick Barrett allowed seven hits. The win put Oakland a game ahead of Los Angeles for second place.

Los Angeles had a bad evening, dropping the first game of a double-header with San Diego, 8-4, and wasting a lot of time on a nightcap that ran into a scoreless tie at the time limit.

Sacramento's Tony Freitas was good for a 4-1 win over San Francisco.

Hollywood took a wide-open 11-7 victory from Portland.

Cowboys Gun for 7th Straight Tonight

Coaching School Is Scheduled for Sun Valley, Aug. 19-23

Two of the current coaching sensations in the Pacific Coast conference—Lon Stiner and "Slats" Gill of Oregon State—will handle the third annual Nampa coaching school this year, it was announced here today by Harold A. White, director of athletics for the eastern Idaho institution.

And the surprise comes in the announcement that the five-day school will be staged at Sun Valley.

The school is set for Aug. 19 to 23, inclusive, and will feature special lectures by Gill and Stiner. Gill is head basketball coach at Oregon State, has won three division championships and in 1933 captured the Pacific Coast title. He brought his team here last winter for a pair of games with BYU at the Twin Falls high school gymnasium. He is rated by Coach Sam Barry of Southern California as one of the "three greatest cage coaches in the nation."

Stiner is rated one of the best defensive coaches in the west and it was his team that gave the University of Southern California club its hardest competition in 1939—according to Coach Howard Jones.

Registration for the school is set for Monday, Aug. 19 at 8 a. m. in the opera house at Sun Valley. Mr. White will be in general charge of arrangements.

Besides the five days of "school" for the coaches, there will be extracurricular activities, including a barbecue at Trail creek, tennis and badminton, swimming, archery and moving pictures of several Oregon State football games. An "added attraction" will be a softball game between the coaches.

Shields Scores Upset Victory Over Gil Hunt
RYE, N. Y., Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Frank Shields of New York, the nation's top-ranking stylist in 1933, recovered some of his fading glory when he upset Gilbert Hunt of Washington, D. C., 6-3, 5-7, 6-7, and advanced to the quarter-finals of the Eastern Grass Court championships yesterday.

Another upset that marked the fifth day of competition came when Hal Sauer of Kansas City bowled to Joe Hunt of Annapolis, Md., 6-1, 6-2.

Bobby Riggs, national champion and defending titleholder, eliminated Seymour Greenberg, national public park title holder, 6-4, 6-3 to join Shields in the quarter-finals bracket.

Frank Parker, No. 2 ranking U. S. star and third seeded, also advanced to that round by eliminating Fred Schroeder, junior national champion, 6-2, 6-4.

Don McNeill, seeded second, defeated Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla., seeded fifth, 6-2, 9-7, and Bryan Grant, seeded eighth, defeated James J. Thackara, New York, 6-4, 6-2, to complete the quarter-final bracket.

In women's singles former national champion Helen Jacobs triumphed over Helen Pedersen, of Stamford, Conn., 6-4, 6-1. Sarah Palrey defeated Margaret Osborne, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-0.

Red Players Will Wear Mourning Band Rest of Year
CINCINNATI, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Members of the Cincinnati Reds will wear black mourning bands on their sleeves for remainder of the season out of respect for memory of Willard Hershberger, who committed suicide last Saturday.

The game between the Reds and the Cubs today was to start one hour earlier to avoid playing while Hershberger's funeral at Visalia, Calif., to start at 8 o'clock, was in progress. Charles Chapman, west coast scout of the Reds, and Mickey Blalock, president of the Cincinnati-owned Tucson, Ariz., team, will represent the Reds at the funeral. The ball park flag is being flown at half-mast.

Tex Oliver Gets Contract Extension
EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 6 (U.P.)—The University of Oregon athletic board has given head football coach G. A. (Tex) Oliver a salary boost and a two-year extension of his current contract.

Manager Anne Cornell said the amount of the raise will not be disclosed until it is approved by the state board of higher education. Oliver has been head coach here for two years at a salary of $6,000. The new contract binds him to three years more, the old one having a year yet to run.

Wranglers Cop 6th From Reds By 4-3 Score
With their longest winning streak of the season still intact, the Twin Falls Cowboys take the field at Jaycee park tonight in an attempt to capture their seventh straight victory.

The Wranglers annexed their sixth in a row last night as they came from behind to edge the Ogden Reds, 4-3, in a hurling duel between Mike Budnick and Jeff Ford.

Tonight's encounter will see the Cowboys finally reach the place where every victory from now on must count in helping them to climb out of the cellar. In winning their last six tilts the Twin Falls club has gained only two games in the standings. First they pulled Pocatello out of third and all the way down to fifth, but the other fifth place team kept winning. Last night they knocked the Reds out of third into a fourth-place tie with the Cards. Twin Falls is eight games out of fourth and fifth and nine and one-half out of third.

Hayes on Mound
Damon Hayes, leading hurler on the Twin Falls mound staff, will take the hill for Manager Ray Jacobs' boys tonight, while Manager Bill McCorry of the Reds will be in the other Erickson, Polivka or Lambert.

Last night's hero was Al Marchi, the Twin Falls third baseman who has driven in nearly as many runs as he has hits. With a batting average of about 200, Al has driven in over 40 runs while playing in the lead-off position for most of the season.

What he did last night was to win a game for Budnick. With Twin Falls trailing 3-2 at the last of the seventh, Marchi stepped up to the plate and pounded a home run over the left field fence with Verne Reynolds on base to give the Wranglers a 4-3 victory over Jeff Ford.

Only Damaging Blow
That was the only really damaging blow off Ford's delivery during the evening as the ace Red lefthander set the Twin Falls team down with five hits—four of them being gathered by left-handed batters.

Leader Points To League's Regulations

Stating the other directors had "no right" to depose him as chairman of the board of the Junior Pioneer league without his being present at the meeting, Father James Grady of Twin Falls today listed his reasons for the various actions objected to by the five other members of the loop.

"I'm sorry this league, which I worked hard to organize, has come to the place it is at the present time—in a squabble," said Father Grady.

"But I want to put before you the reasons for my actions in various instances regarding the league. First, and foremost, I wanted the league to be run as an honest unit—and I mean by that that the rules should be followed by each and every team.

Vote on Ouster
"When the Rupert team failed to show up for games—about 20 of them—I wrote the managers of the other teams regarding what they wanted done about the situation and the vote was four to nothing to oust the team—because it failed to show up for the scheduled games.

"At the same time a poll was taken to see if Burley should be retained in the league. The vote here was three to one—with Burley not voting and even if Burley had voted it would have been three to two for ouster. In these ballots, Jerome and Twin Falls voted against both teams. Rupert didn't have the right to vote because of the ouster and Mr. Pollard of Kimberly voted against Rupert and for Burley," stated the leader.

"My object in organizing this league was to teach the youngsters good sportsmanship, clean honest play and the ability to live up to the rules.

Break Rules
"But what happens? After I make my team live up to all the by-laws, the Burley team attempts to take players from the disqualified American Legion club onto the Junior Pioneer team—a rule strictly against the by-laws of the constitution.

"At Filer last week there were four players in the lineup against us who were not listed in the official records—some thing that is also strictly against the league regulations.

"Another thing was the failure of teams to send in their $5 expense funds to the league chairman to handle telephone calls, telegrams and other expenses. Only Jerome and Twin Falls paid these dues and the rest of the expenses I've been paying out of my own pocket," Father Grady said.

Should Set New Rules
"However, if the league wishes to continue playing the way it is at present—rather than the way the rules were drawn up, then it's O.K. with me. But I think they ought to have a meeting and draw up a set of regulations they could live up to—not use a set that are being broken in every contest played.

"Regarding the Twin Falls team—I'll leave it entirely up to the boys if they want to continue playing. I haven't been handling the team personally for the past month and if they want to continue under their present managers, they are certainly welcome to do so."

The rare Joshua tree is a member of the Jilly family, and grows to a height of 60 feet.

Bimelech Gets Come-Back Test In Chicago's American Derby

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—The greatest horse this country ever produced—with the possible exception of Man O'War, Exterminator, Senibull, Gallant Fox, Synobly, Twenty Grand, Discovery, Sun Beau, Cavalcade, Reigh Count, Hindoo, Omaha, War Admiral, and some 5,000 others—will take another shot at the 1940 three-year-old championship Saturday.

I speak of course of that Biblically named bran-burner, Bimelech, who started playing hell with us experts at Louisville in early May, and hasn't stopped yet. By blowing the derby, then the Withers, and then the Arlington classic, he made our faces so red that Boy Scouts mistook us for Indians and stopped us to ask how to trap muskrats.

Bimelech, being a well-bred horse, will try to apologize for his earlier mistakes by winning the American derby at Chicago's Washington park this week-end. He will carry 126 pounds over the mile and one-quarter route, and most of them will be strange pounds to him. Because 105 or so of the poundage will belong to Basil James, the jockey chosen by Colonel E. R. Bradley to replace Freddie Smith on Bimelech's back.

Now I wonder how he is going to react to this change in jockeys? When Washington park's paddock judge calls "riders up!" on Saturday, and James climbs aboard, it will be the first time since Bimelech felt a saddle on his back that any other boy but Smith has taken charge of him. Will he rebel against a strange voice talking to him, strange hands handling his proud head and tender mouth? Will he, somewhere down in his thoroughbred heart, feel he and Freddie came up together, and he and Freddie should go down together, if that be the refection of the racing fates?

The chances are that he won't. Thoroughbred horses aren't exactly Phi Beta Kappas, and besides, jockeys look so much alike, that even their parents must have trouble picking them out by means other than their different silks. The truth of the matter is, Bimelech probably will enjoy the ride by Basil James.

According to men who profess to know about such things James is one of the cutest things on horseback since Paul Revere, and that Freddie Smith cuts one of the sorriest figures since the now duke of Windsor spent Saturday afternoons falling off. There are some critics of horseflesh who blame Smith, not Bimelech, for the Bradley colt's defeats, and who say that with a star rider from the first Bimelech would have lived up to all the rave notices he got prior to post time at the Kentucky derby.

Well, we'll know better about that around gloaming time on Saturday. If Bimelech can head the big parade at Washington park, he will come mighty close to riveting a claim to the three-year-old championship. All his rivals will be in there with him—Gallahadion, Sirocco, and Mioland. Gallahadion nipped the Bradley baby at Louisville, and Sirocco whipped him in the classic. But if Bimelech can take this one, the victory, coupled with his wins in the Preakness and Belmont stakes, will make him the top three-year-old of the year.

300 JEROME 4-H CLUBS CELEBRATE

JEROME, Aug. 8 (Special)—More than 300 4-H club members of Jerome county, their parents and other guests were present Tuesday at Jerome fairgrounds to enjoy the second annual 4-H picnic.

The afternoon's program, which opened with a picnic lunch, concluded with a baseball game between players of the east and west ends. The victorious side were the west-end boys, who received $5 in cash presented through the courtesy of the Hamilton state national bank, Hazelton.

Rev. Albert E. Marlin, minister of the Jerome Methodist church here, spoke to the group on, "Follow a Dream," pointing out that youth should make democracy a reality. Among those present in addition to the parents and 4-H club members were leaders and representatives from all 26 4-H clubs in the county; De Vere Tovey, Pocatello, district 4-H club agent, and Tom Speedy, fieldman for the Jerome Cooperative creamery organization, who addressed the group on the advantages of being 4-H club members. Readings, songs and skits were given by the 26 clubs.

The men of the group played horseshoes during the afternoon. The women spent a pleasant time in conversation. The 4-H club boys expressed enthusiasm about the approaching county fair and aspire to win a number of prizes for their various livestock entries.

Oregon, Washington Marriage Laws Send Couples to Idaho

By PORTER WARD
SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 8 (U.P.)—Oregon and Washington marriage law restrictions are driving altar-bound couples to Idaho in ever-increasing numbers, figures received here disclosed.

Because love won't wait in some cases, "gin-marriage" laws, requiring a waiting period of three days—and in Oregon a medical examination—the happy pairs are turning toward Idaho, where they obtain legal consent and someone to tie the knot in short order.

"We've lost 40 per cent of our marriage license business since the three-day waiting period went into effect June 7, 1939," said an official of the Spokane county auditor's office. "Young couples don't want to wait. They want to get married, so now they go to Coeur d'Alene or some other Idaho town. This law should be a federal one—not applied by the individual states."

But there are no objections being aired from the Idaho side of the line. Coeur d'Alene is bidding for fame as a northwest Gretna Green, and the justice of the peace business flourishes alongside love.

Last year, only two persons sought justice of peace offices in Coeur d'Alene. This year seven have already announced their intention to seek the post. The two now in business have their offices practically at the front door of the courthouse. They light their signs with so much brilliance that no love-sick boy or girl could fail to see their glittering invitation.

Back in 1938—year before Washington's three-day waiting law went into effect—only 540 couples obtained marriage licenses in Coeur d'Alene. During the first six months of 1940, a total of 884 couples were issued licenses.

These figures were virtually duplicated by Moscow and Lewiston, two other north Idaho towns.

Rivalry for the marriage business is high. However, a clerk in the Latah county auditor's office at Moscow said Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene have been getting all the business.

"I don't know why they don't come here," she said. "We treat them awfully nice—except when they get us out of bed at 1:30 in the morning."

Radio Star Greet Enrollees of CCC

PAUL, Aug. 8 (Special)—Last week 150 new enrollees from several towns in Illinois were greeted at Camp Paul in an interesting manner, after an orientation talk by the company commander.

Hershel Cobb, son of the famous "Ty" Cobb gave a talk and finished by introducing Buddy Barnhardt, known to his many admirers of radio, stage and newspaper, as Uncle Dudley. Uncle Dudley gave many short dialogues for which he is famous.

More programs of this kind are on the schedule for the entertainment of the enrollees.

For the first five months of 1940, airline traffic stood at $52,105,873 revenue passenger miles—an increase of 63.79 per cent.
