CROWDS THROUG FAIRGROUNDS FOR OPENING DAY EVENTS

Machinery Exhibits Set All-Time High; Produce on Display

FILER, Sept. 10 (Special)—With the weather man favoring the annual event with "brilliant sunshine," hundreds of spectators this afternoon began coming through the gates to witness the 1940 edition of the Twin Falls county fair and rodeo.

By 2 p. m. today everything was going "full blast," according to Tom Parks, manager, who pointed out that the initial rodeo events would get underway promptly at 8 p. m. Parks declared that the exhibitors were present in the fair division that it was necessary to place some of them on the opposite side of the fair grounds, a space at the regular display location being filled.

The manager also declared that the garden produce exhibits this year are outstanding and are "much better" than any in previous fairs. Likewise the Orange exhibit this year are "more beautiful than ever and are attracting a little attention," Parks said.

Navy, War Heads Speed Up Plans for U. S. Defense

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—War and navy departments prepared today to place the remaining orders in the $100,000,000 defense program to provide the nation with a two-ocean navy, a mechanized army of 1,200,000 men and a combined air force of 35,000 planes.

The rearmament program received its biggest shot in the arm yesterday when President Roosevelt signed the $5,251,000,000 second supplemental defense appropriation bill. The army program is expected to be completed immediately. The navy program may be months getting underway because of lack of building facilities for the fleet.

Acting with wartime tempo, national defense officials reported the following developments yesterday:

The $100,000,000 outlay became available this afternoon.

All-time Record—The navy awarded an all-time peace or war record of contracts for 400 warships and one auxiliary cruiser at a total cost of $1,861,053,312.

Virtual completion by the navy of the contract for 2,400 tons and planes provided for in the bill to give it an all-time strength of 10,000 aircraft by 1942.

Completion except for minor details of a $31,835,000 navy contract program for expanding shore facilities and establishments to handle the two-ocean navy.

Steps by the war department, which received $45,000,000 in cash or contractual authorization in the $5,251,000,000 measure, to begin activities by awarding contracts for ordnance items, ammunition, tanks, and other equipment, about $50,000,000 for quartering and maintenance of the new force of 18,000,000 for the army engineers.

Quick Contracts—Steps by the war department, which received $45,000,000 in cash or contractual authorization in the $5,251,000,000 measure, to begin activities by awarding contracts for ordnance items, ammunition, tanks, and other equipment, about $50,000,000 for quartering and maintenance of the new force of 18,000,000 for the army engineers.

From the rock-bound coast of Maine comes news that brings a big smile to the big face of the G.O.P. elephant. The Republicans after sweeping the early Maine election, are chanting the time-honored slogan: "As goes Maine, so goes the nation." Heading the Republican victory was the election of Representative Ralph Brewster as U. S. senator over former Gov. Lewis Brann. Democrats among with their less venerable slogan: "As goes Maine, so goes Vermont."

Republicans Capture 65 Per Cent of Maine Votes

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10 (AP)—Republican candidates won Maine's "go-goes-the-nation" election by approximately the 65 per cent margin statisticians had said would augur well for the party in November presidential election, returns indicated today.

With 656 of the 630 precincts reported.

Rep. Ralph O. Brewster, R., led former Gov. Louis J. Brann, D., in the senate seat vacated by the retiring Republican Gov. Frederick Hale, 149,925 to 102,470, a 59 per cent majority.

In the gubernatorial race, Sumner Beane, R., president of the state senate, led Fulton J. Hestman, D., political columnist, 157,906 to 89,849—a 64 per cent majority.

Other major races were decided again at concentrations of German shipping in Oatland, Calais and Houlton.

The German long range gunners attacked the Dover area today, following a heavy bombardment last night in which British coastal batteries were silenced after a two-hour duel.

Very little damage had been done in last night's bombardment, only four persons were killed and about six were wounded. A dozen houses were made uninhabitable.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Legislative drafters today whipped into shape a revised version of the house-approved excess profits tax amortization bill and planned to have it ready Thursday for senate consideration.

Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee, which made a series of significant changes, said his group would meet today to review the final form of the measure before it is sent to the senate.

Revisions made by the committee during an executive session with treasury and national defense officials would reduce the estimated yield for this taxable year by $10,000,000 and reduce the yield for 1941 by $20,000,000.

The committee version of the measure now stands, experts estimate it will raise $460,000,000 in revenue during the current taxable year. While the future volume of national defense business cannot be calculated, it was believed the subsequent yield would approximate $1,000,000,000 annually.

DETROIT, Sept. 10 (AP)—Chemical industry offered motorists a 100 octane gasoline which would bring about a 20 per cent advance in automotive engineering.

Experiments with the high octane gasoline in tests and advanced now in general use were described by T. A. Boyd of the research laboratories of General Motors Corporation and members of the American Chemical Society here to report their discovery of the past year.

"It begins to appear that from now on the car users may prefer to take the benefits of further improvements in fuel economy and advances in engineering in terms of more miles per gallon," Boyd said.

The high octane, or knock-free, gasoline makes possible an engine of much smaller displacement. Automotive engineers have experimented with the fueling ratio for years but one of the biggest disadvantages of the more powerful gas was the fueling ratio, making greater an evaporation in handling.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Lester K. Brown, former first baseman of the New York Yankees, has filed suit for $100,000 against the New York Daily News and its sports editor, Jimmy Powers, charging that a story published in the News Aug. 26, charging that he had exposed the baseball team to polio.

Cleaver, who played with the Yankees from 1923 to 1938, is now a New York City patrol commissioner. He had been 40 per cent disabled by a communicable and infectious disease or that he had interfered with other members of the team.

African supply ship of about 2,000 tons was attacked at Houlton and Brann, Maine, and a British coastal battery was silenced after a two-hour duel.

Very little damage had been done in last night's bombardment, only four persons were killed and about six were wounded. A dozen houses were made uninhabitable.

DETROIT, Sept. 10 (AP)—The official news agency, U. S. B. reported in a Geneva dispatch today that France and Japan had signed an agreement regarding French-Indo-China. The agency also reported well informed quarters at Vichy, France, said that an official announcement of the agreement was expected tomorrow.

BOTT ASKS U. S. FINANCIAL HELP FOR MOBILIZING

BOISE, Sept. 10 (AP)—The federal government should relieve state governments of "problems of financing greatly increased burdens of military departments which threaten to become embarrassing" in connection with national guard mobilization, Gov. C. A. Bottelstein asserted today.

Bottelstein urged the war department immediately indicate to accept service state units that would furnish auxiliary general's offices with badly-needed clerical help.

The governor, in a telegram to Sen. Roy Thomas, R. D., and "induction of state staffs of national guard organizations into federal service at this time would, in my opinion, help immeasurably in expediting the national defense program."

May Become Embarrassing—"In addition," he added, "it would relieve state governments of problems of financing greatly increased burdens of military departments which threaten to become embarrassing."

Bottelstein said it "obviously was impossible for state officials to budget state funds for this greatly increased expense incident to compliance with the President's recent mobilization order as well as the contemplated selective service program."

Federal Burden—"Induction of state staffs would place this burden upon the federal government where it rightfully belongs," he added, "and he is urging the senator to call the matter to the attention of the war department."

British Supplies Of Food Unhurt After Air Raids

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Royal air force fighters drove German planes from the skies over London during four air raids today as the government assured Britons their food supplies were undamaged by three nights of mass bombardment.

Many buildings in the heart of the capital were damaged, streets were piled with debris in scattered sections and the ministry of transport urged the public to avoid unnecessary traveling because of temporary dislocation of some communications facilities in the London area.

Burglars Miss $800 - But Take A Light 'Snack'

DUBLIN, Sept. 10 (Special)—There was a safe with $800 in it, and all they got was groceries. Such was the fate of the burglar who entered the Taylor food store, also known as the Idaho grocery, between 3 and 4 a. m. Monday morning.

Evidence showed that the store had been entered by removing the screen door from the window, which was unlocked.

With a heavy chisel and a sledge hammer, the "safecracker" had tried to break into the safe.

Thwarted in this attempt, they had collected themselves an early morning "snack" of food, but had apparently been frightened away in the "snack" of food.

The store manager said that the food that had been eaten. A gun in the meat department was untouched.

DRIVERS WARNED TO HEED SIRENS

City officers will begin at noon Wednesday for the remainder of the day to observe Twin Falls day at the county fair, the city council decreed last night during an abbreviated session.

Other business coming before the council included a warning to drivers to grant the road when a siren is heard, a beer permit and acceptance of regular reports.

Full to Curb
Councilmen issued a strict warning to drivers to pull over to the curb whenever a siren is sounded. The action was taken following complaints that motorists fail to clear the road fast enough, and in some cases do not even stop when fire trucks are en route to answer an alarm.

It was pointed out that an ordinance exists in Twin Falls under which drivers failing to comply with regulations requiring them to pull over to the curb are liable to arrest. W. W. Bolton was granted a license to sell beer at 235 Shoshone street south.

Water Connection
Frank M. Rutherford, Suburban Park addition, was granted permission to connect with a water line outside the city limits. He presented a petition bearing names of other users on the line.

August report were approved for the electrical inspector, meat and dairy inspector and the public library.

E. R. Price, meat and dairy inspector, reported 2,354 animals killed during the month of which 1,581 were hogs, 521 were veal and 122 sheep. A total of 10 carcasses was condemned, including six hogs, three beefs and one sheep. In addition, 268 parts were condemned, the report shows.

Library Report
The report of Leslie Fraser, librarian, shows that 10,008 books were issued during August and $78.21 collected during the month. Adults drew 6,256 of the books issued while 3,752 were taken by children. Books purchased totaled 61 and 16 were donated. A total of 262 new readers is reported. Average daily circulation during the month was 370 books with the largest daily circulation at 473. Thirty per cent of books issued were non-fiction. Of the total revenue collected, $38.56 was through fines and collections, $23.15 from the pay shelf and $3.50 from non-resident cards.

O. W. Kelly, electrical inspector, reported 142 inspections during the month, with 16 condemnations and $138.94 collected in fees.

All members of the council were present except Mayor Joe Koehler who is in California on a vacation.

H. S. Band, Orchestra Total Ascends to New High Point

Enrollment in practical consumer courses and in college preparatory courses is about evenly divided in Twin Falls high school, and enrollment in band and orchestra classes is probably the largest in the history of the school, according to an announcement by Edward Rogel, principal, at the start of the second week of classes.

Generally more students are enrolled in commercial courses than before, with typing filled almost to the limit. A new class in the art department, handicraft, was immediately filled.

Total at 832
Total enrollment in the high school yesterday was 832, with several post graduates yet to enroll. They had been waiting until final enrollment in classes had been set, to see in which classes they might register.

Two hundred fifty-seven seniors start the year, the largest senior class since the founding of the school. Largest graduating class was 229 students. Sophomore enrollment is 295, juniors 272, and post graduates eight.

Decided increases were noted in agriculture, in the art department due chiefly to handicraft, in sophomore speech '0, in bookkeeping, typing and band, with other classes generally the same as last year.

SPEAKERS' CLUB OPENS NEW YEAR

Twin Falls chapter of Toastmasters International held its first dinner meeting of the season last night at the Rogerson hotel with Gerald Wallace, president, in charge and conducting the program.

Nominating committee was named as R. J. Vallin, chairman; Claude Detweiler and Gordon Day and will report at the next meeting of the chapter.

Austin Wallace and Gerald Wallace, delegates to Toastmasters International convention in San Diego the latter part of July, reported on the entertainment and educational activities of the convention before the club last night.

EDITORIAL BOARD TO HEAD 'BRUIN'

In a complete change from former custom, the Bruin, Twin Falls high school newspaper, will be managed this year by an editorial board instead of a single editor, as in the past. It was announced today by Mrs. Mercedes Paul, adviser.

On the board will be Marilyn Webster, Dorothy Harrison, Frances Schwabhardt and Preston Henman, all students chosen from last year's staff. They will rotate the work of the editor, each doing a part of it for each issue. Previously an editor has been chosen for a semester, and with the assistance of the adviser has directed publishing the paper.

First issue of the Cub News, junior high school newspaper, will be issued the last of September or the first of October, according to Mrs. Winifred Fryer, adviser. The staff partially carries over from last year.

Buhl Businesses Close for Fair

BUHL, Sept. 10 (Special)—All Buhl business houses will close at noon next Thursday, Sept. 12, for the traditional Buhl day at the Twin Falls county fair and rodeo. Plans are being worked out regarding an organized caravan.

The regular Thursday afternoon trade appreciation day will be held at 3:30 o'clock Saturday, Sept. 14, instead of Sept. 12 as would be customary.

LOOK
CALDWELL, Ida., Sept. 10 (Special)—Ernest Tranaue began a 30-day term in Canyon county jail today after he was convicted of indecent exposure. Officers said Tranaue left his front door open while he took a bath and invited everybody to look in.

OUR COUNTRY LOVE ON THE LINE

By CARL CARMER. "The Wilson farm at Grover's Mill was mistaken for the 'Will' farm... The Wilson family on the farm were at home when the false alarm spread."

CHAPTER XII THEY sent for Carlie right after they brought Mark back to town; that is, Ma Parmley sent Newt Gale for her, and Newt drove Carlie in from Rock Creek himself.

Fale, and obviously nervous, she stepped through the path that opened for her. At the door of Sioux Springs House, Ma was waiting to greet her. A low little cry, Carlie rushed to Ma's generous arms and a second later was sobbing on her shoulder.

NEW GALE calmed the curious crowd, told everyone the whole story. When Ed Taylor drove home an hour after Carlie, Newt was still holding forth at the lively stable. Minus Newt's curs and unrepentant indignations of Ashton Oaks, and contented to mere essentials, the story went something like this:

At the morning after Mark Deuel had passed Sioux Springs House and saw Ashton Oaks helping a girl in white from a buggy, he had a hunch that the girl was from the nearest telegraph point and brought in by stage, so its contents were two days old. But he brought the news Mark had described, "Ermy Ashton man you describe," read the wire, and Gov-

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON. Washington, Sept. 16.—Sen. Burke's anti-third term resolution has practically no chance of passage by the Senate, but it is likely to become a thorn in FDR's side.

They were still talking when Ma Parmley looked up to the door, looked in on Mark and Carlie half an hour later. Carlie, who had been sitting on the floor, took his hand. Mark was smacking her hair.

That was a lucky break for Mark, Deuel had been deceived. With his sudden, open interference in the hotel, Mark and Carlie had thrown Oaks off guard. It ever Oaks guessed Mark's identity, it was probably that the young homesteader who didn't know his place. That was borne out later when Oaks, at the bar next to the dance hall, secondarily attacked Mark. And Mark, biding his time, had seen that Ashton Oaks had gone on being respected at the dance hall.

It was Newt Gale who had pointed matters up. (Newt related this part proudly, telling that he had been in the room in confidence.) Looking up his lively face at midnight, Newt had seen Ashton Oaks leaving the land office, and the next morning he had told Mark. With thousands of dollars in fees passing through the land office every day, Mark needed Ashton Oaks' help in planning open robbery.

It was robbery, he knew, the moment Oaks' horse pounded down on him on the prairie outside of Sioux Springs. Mark, indeed, slowed his horse over so slightly to stop Oaks, but it was too late. Oaks, probably now suspecting that he had been deceived, tumbled to the hot earth.

Oaks was dead. He had abandoned attempts to open the safe, and had been taking a nap. In the holdup of the land office, leaving his horse at the rear of the building, he had walked into the office during the night. Mark and Carlie, however, had been waiting. They had the safe open, and had taken out $12,000, striking down the clerk and Rock Creek to pursue thieves on his track. Instead, he had met Mark Deuel, and the holdup was over. A posse was organized, spread out, picked up Oaks easily. He was overtaken a quarter mile beyond

Writers Deepen Love of Country

Today we are all thinking about our country. Gone are the days when we took it for granted, and never gave a conscious thought to the homeland that gave us birth, or which we have adopted as our own.

We have always loved it—loved the New England hills, the midwestern flatlands and prairies, the palm-etched south, the rugged Rockies and the fertile Pacific empire. But we have loved it as home, as the accustomed land where we have lived our lives.

Today people are realizing that this is not enough. Nine countries in Europe parade before our eyes. Their people may look on the old-familiar hills and valleys, the well-beloved city streets. But it is not the same. They are no longer masters in their own house. They are like families who have owned a beautiful home which has been taken from them by a new owner who allowed them to live on in it—under the new owner's conditions.

America is a splendid homeland. Here, on a continent favored by nature and by time—one is almost tempted to say, favored by God—dwell millions of free men and women. We are justly proud of our past, justly hopeful of a future that shall be even finer and better. Wholeheartedly we join with these 24 outstanding American writers in a moment of thoughtful dedication to "Our Country."

Fifty Destroyers—And Then?

The transfer of 50 destroyers to Britain is, as the President said, a fait accompli, which is fancy French for something definitely completed. Is the transaction complete? That's the more important than the thing itself. As a horse-trade, even the President's most vociferous opponents have to admit it's a good one.

It seems unlikely that the attitude of either Germany or Japan toward the United States will change as a result. Both are complete realists in foreign policy; we believe both will tend to respect another country's being equally realistic. Surely no accusation that "this is war" can come with any force either from a country which sent not only material but crack troops into Spain (denying it was war) or from one which after three years of big-time campaigning in China still insists it is not at war.

Nor is the point of legalistic hair-splitting too important. There is still the gravest doubt that Jefferson had any constitutional warrant to buy Louisiana, yet nobody today suggests that he shouldn't have acted, and acted as he did, personally and promptly. The customary opportunity to repudiate this policy if the country feels that way, will be open at the polls in November; an opportunity not perhaps to rescind this action, but to check any further progress along the same path.

That is what is important. Have we, by definite promise or by implication, committed the United States to further aid to Britain? The President should be specific about this.

As the American people understand it, we are not so committed. Britain should clearly understand that the American people are not conscious of any further obligation resulting from, or depending on, this deal. It would be shameful to allow them to count on anything else, then feel that they had been "let down" if it was not forthcoming.

Wives in Wilkes-Barre have been named Franklin and Wendell Delano. Like the G. O. P. and Deal platforms, no one can tell 'em apart.

TODAY'S PROFILE

Bjartir Undset of Norway, Nobel prize winner, at that has found a place of rest in the United States, after his German-occupied homeland. She arrived recently by way of the Pacific ocean and the first wife of the man who had been in the Women's Board of the Golden Gate International Exposition at a time when the Treasure Island Women's Club.

Mr. Undset was one of six women of international fame who had been invited to attend the exhibition. She was to be a special guest at the exposition. She was to have followed by Greta, the daughter of the artist, and her husband, who had been invited to attend the exposition. She was to have followed by Greta, the daughter of the artist, and her husband, who had been invited to attend the exposition.

The Nobel Prize in literature was awarded to her in 1928 for her novel "Kristina Lavandstera." It dealt with life in the 14th century and presented so realistic a picture that it has become a classic. Middle-aged and contemporary, and timely as a new news bulletin. As she was unable to accept an architect, she is also already learned in the line of the past, as her novels, set in the medieval period of Norway, history, reveal her mind.

Recently Mrs. Undset made headlines in the news with the allegation that she had written a wartime diatribe against war. She cannot see the logic of one group of persons being kept in a state of war while another group is set aside to patch them up. In Germany, where her work was widely read before the war, she was denounced for her defense of the humanities and plea for racial and religious tolerance.

Diversity Marks Year's Projects For Camp Fire

Plans for the coming year's work, which will include a national do-nut sale, doll dressing contest, membership fests and musical program, were discussed at yesterday's afternoon meeting of the Camp Fire Guardians' association, conducted by Mrs. Gordon Day, president, at the Camp Fire offices.

This year will be the first time that Twin Falls has participated in the annual do-nut sale, which will be held through the month of October. Mrs. F. C. Rhebenberger is chairman of the drive. Camp Fire Girls will take the orders for do-nuts and deliver them on certain days during the month. The girls will place their orders through their guardians, and local concerns will make do-nuts.

Entries in the doll dressing contest must be in the Camp Fire offices by Sept. 20, and the dolls must be 10 to 14 inches in height and dressed in either the service costume of the order or the ceremonial gown. Mrs. Harry Ecock is in charge, and winners will be shown in the Idaho Power auditorium the last of the month.

The membership fests is scheduled for the last of September at Harmon park, with all Camp Fire girls, new members and all the mothers to attend. Chairman of the fests was named as Mrs. Guy Shearer, to be assisted by Mrs. Barry A. Ball and Mrs. Archie Bortman.

All guardians wishing to learn the Camp Fire songs are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. Lee Johnson at 1:30 p. m. Friday, according to announcement by Mrs. Gerald Wallace, music chairman.

Mrs. N. O. Johnson, camp chairman, reported on the camp activities for this year and told of her trip to the Camp Fire leaders' training camp in Portland last summer. Mrs. Lee Johnson, local Camp Fire executive, emphasized the characteristics of good guardians which were stressed at the summer training camp at Yakima.

The summer swim was reported on by Mrs. Louis Aderson and Mrs. Edward Rogel, and Mrs. W. A. Van Engelen announced that the sale of Idaho commemorative stamps will be continued this fall.

IDAHO EVENING TIMES, TWIN FALLS, IDAHO

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10 (AP)— Many of its foreign markets and a national trade convention with a carry-over of 270,000,000 bushels of wheat from last year, Canada's wheat province look forward with mixed feelings toward a bumper crop.

Just what is going to be done with it—estimated this year's crop in the vicinity of 400,000,000 bushels—has yet to be cleared as elevator space available in Canada and the United States will care for only 160,000,000 bushels.

But the work of harvesting is under way and farmers soon will be at work in all corners of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The federal employment agency has been making nearly 100 trips a day to the wheat fields. In all, the crop will give employment to 10,000 laborers, in addition to permanent farm hands. Harvest hand wages this year range from $1.50 to $3 a day in Manitoba and Saskatchewan with the Alberta figure ranging from $2 to $4.

Long Harvest Under Way
 Insultations are the harvest season will be unusually long because Manitoba and Saskatchewan were seeded very early and pushed to maturity during the dry and hot early summer period. In Alberta, seeding was delayed by rain, which has been heavier lately and stands in the east, south of Riding mountain, and near the American border. Best crops in Saskatchewan are in the west-central region and in the northeast. In Alberta, the grain is generally in the better stages of ripening, the Canadian wheat board has issued stringent regulations for deliveries. Wheat, barley and oats will be given special attention of only five bushels per acre and that no guarantee is given there will be space in elevators for acceptance.

In addition, line elevators have refused farmers against harvesting very immature grain. The elevators are being used for the combining and it has been treated at the terminals.

Growers Bent Warnings
 Writing in a letter sent issued by D. L. Campbell, minister of agriculture for Manitoba, and J. G. Taggart, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan.

Campbell-asked producers to exercise "all the care that conditions will permit in the grading of wheat which is insufficiently ripened or not dry enough to stand storage." He added that the farm storage would be at a premium as well and warned they would not have space to shift this grain from big bin when it starts to weather.

"Marketing grain in the best possible condition is important at all times," he said. "It is especially important when prices are low."

Taggart's statement, to Saskatchewan producers, voiced Campbell's views.

Restroom Project Plans Discussed
 Cooperation between the city government and the merchant bureau of the Chamber of Commerce will continue in the matter of providing a public restroom in the downtown area. It was announced at the merchant bureau meeting last week that Chamber chairman, J. A. Deweller, in charge of the restroom project, reported that a site had been selected in the basement of the building housing the Wilgren Drug store and that blueprints were available. Paul Thayer, city engineer, said that action would be taken the creater in the immediate future.

Leo Bremer, owner of the store which will start in showing this evening in connection with the Twin Falls county fair and rodeo at Filer, was introduced by Mr. Deweller. Bremer urged attendance at the fair and also invited members of the merchants' bureau to come to Filer and "look over" the rodeo stock.

PILOTS LICENSED
 CALDWELL, Ida., Sept. 10 (AP)—Three more College of Idaho aviation pilot training students today passed federal examinations and received private pilot licenses. They were William Bruns, Henry McJannet, and Arthur Hershberger, Filer.

Restroom Project Plans Discussed

Cooperation between the city government and the merchant bureau of the Chamber of Commerce will continue in the matter of providing a public restroom in the downtown area. It was announced at the merchant bureau meeting last week that Chamber chairman, J. A. Deweller, in charge of the restroom project, reported that a site had been selected in the basement of the building housing the Wilgren Drug store and that blueprints were available. Paul Thayer, city engineer, said that action would be taken the creater in the immediate future.

Leo Bremer, owner of the store which will start in showing this evening in connection with the Twin Falls county fair and rodeo at Filer, was introduced by Mr. Deweller. Bremer urged attendance at the fair and also invited members of the merchants' bureau to come to Filer and "look over" the rodeo stock.

DOM McNEIL ANEXES NATIONAL NET CROWN

Marble Successful In Defending Women's Title

BY JACK GUENTHER FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (U.P.)—On the left side of a body deep beneath his ribs is a first-sized chunk of meat called a heart. To most men it is just as much flesh and gristle and never means any more. But there are a few to whom a heart is something from which to draw courage and strength when the going gets weary and rough.

One of these few is a low-headed, stubborn youngster with eyes Jerry McNeill and today under the grandstand of the Forest Hills stadium it was carved on a long slab of stone as the man who by the greatest tennis player America has produced in this year of 1940.

McNeill Retains Crown About 4:30 p. m. yesterday there were 10,000 people in that stadium and not more than 10 of them seriously followed the name of Don McNeill ever would be put into the hands of the man who had been trailing two sets and one game to Defending Champion Robert Riggs of Chicago and for five long years spectators believed the national championships are over. Just an hour and a half later all 10,000 were on their feet and cheering a boy to whom a heart was more than just a device for pumping blood.

For Don McNeill the fight back from under his almost overwhelming disadvantage. Even when he got to the front and needed each point desperately, he gave a final, conclusive demonstration of what it takes to make a champion. It was in the 12th game of the fifth set and McNeill was within four strokes of a prize for which he had been working for five long years. Riggs served and won the point on a lob but the umpire ruled the defender had touched the net with his foot and gave McNeill the advantage at 15-0.

Gives Point Riggs protested and McNeill pleaded to have the point played over. He was waved back and told to continue. He did. The first ball Riggs sent over the net McNeill deliberately smashed to the fence, sacrificing a point that meant more than anything except a 15-0 score could realize. From there he ran out the set and match, 4-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, to take the national title and prove that big adams which tells us a man may be down and never

While Riggs failed to defend his wife's title, Alice Marble of San Francisco won the women's crown for the third time in her career, winning on half her ability, she whipped a quick, 6-2, 6-3, triumph over Betty Jameson of Seattle. Mrs. Marble won the title four times herself in another era.

Ketchum CCC Club Wins Area Title

BOISE, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—Ketchum club, composed of seven campers, defeated the Keating, Ore. team yesterday 10 to 4 to capture the CCC district baseball championship. Consolation title was won by the Burns, Ore. team, which defeated Hiddle, Idaho, 10 to 4.

Play-offs Set For Tonight In Two Cities

BY UNITED PRESS The four leading teams of the Pioneer League in the regular season ended last Sunday, with the Shinglers playing tonight for the president's cup. The champion Salt Lake Bees took the fourth-place Ogden Reds at Ogden and the second-place Boise Pilots play the Idaho Falls Rustlers, who finished third, in Idaho Falls. The two winners of the first series will meet in a three game series. Unofficial final averages for the season showed Ward first baseman of the Boise Pilots, nosed out Manager Tom Rebohle of the Salt Lake Bees by one point for the leading crown. Long had an average of .343. Both Lowe and Rebohle contributed 22 home runs, and both played in 100 games. Lowe won the crown with an average of .284, followed by Idaho Falls with .270. The Bees finished third with .256.

Lack of Killer Instinct Loses Title for Riggs

BY HENRY McEMORE NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—The one thing a real sports champion must have is what is loosely referred to as the "killer instinct." Nonetheless in his makeup he must have a vision that renders him incapable of mercy, making him capable of seeing up in his hand a sword of opportunity. He must be ready at all times to press his advantage to the limit, to present with every move like a battery in the front row that blocks his path. Bobby Riggs doesn't have this. Bobby Riggs, who has won the national tennis singles championship for the third time, lost his title yesterday to Don McNeill of Forest Hills yesterday. But, with the Oklahoma City boy in the mercy, Riggs' defeat, knowingly or unknowingly, was Bobby's fault. He sought to spare his rival the frustration of a straight set defeat by rolling over McNeill in the same spot a Tilden never would have done a Perry or an Ardwick. He would have done a Perry or an Ardwick. He would have done a Perry or an Ardwick. He would have done a Perry or an Ardwick.

Indians Lose and Detroit Climbs Into First Place

From Gridiron to Rodeo—That's History of Director Cremer The Life He Loves

By O. A. KELKER He used to gallop across the gridiron on his own two legs—now he gallops across the rodeo grounds on the four legs of "Murphy," his favorite horse. That's Leo Cremer, born an easterner but bred a westerner and proud of the fact. His rodeo, with bucking horses and Brahma bulls considered the toughest "in the world" opens today at the Twin Falls county fair at Piler starting at 8 p.m. He has picked up a little flesh this year, but not so fast that he eats regularly—Cremer still is no fatty, as any of the cowboys on his payroll will tell you.

Leo Cremer, shown above astride his favorite horse "Murphy," is the oldest rodeo owner, in point of years of consecutive ownership, in the United States. He directs the rodeo which features at the Twin Falls county fair starting at Piler today at 8 p. m. "Times" reporter this afternoon.

Cremer's life is a story of a man who has learned to love. The year 1919 came around, as most years do it, but was long enough, and young Cremer went to a roundup at Roseman. From then on the rodeo business had gained another recruit because thereafter he acquired a string of his own. He was about 27 years old then and ever since that time he has been active in the business, making him the oldest rodeo owner, in point of years of consecutive ownership, in these United States.

Axe Will Fall Today on Amateur Field

By HARRY FERGUSON MAMARONECK, N. Y., Sept. 10 (U.P.)—The axe falls at sundown today and then only 64 will be left of the 146 in quest of the national amateur golf championship. Tonight the committee adds up the scores for yesterday's and today's 18-hole rounds and tells the low 64 men to stay. The rest can go home any time and start hatching plans for next year.

Pressure Today Today the pressure is hardest on the men who soared up towards 80 yesterday. It appeared a two-day total of 154 will be needed to get in the magic 64 and that left the following well known golfers on the verge of danger: Johnny Goodman of Omaha, 1937 champion, who needed 78 strokes yesterday; Francis Ouimet, the grand old veteran who took the title in 1914 and 1931, but who shot a bad 82 in his first round here; and Chick Evans, a famous golfing name before some of the present contestants were born, who had a mediocre 79 yesterday.

Only a miracle can save Bing Crosby, the Hollywood crooner, who fired an 83 yesterday and will have to break par 72 today to remain in the field. The field starts today in pursuit of a calm, steady stock from Cincinnati named Maurice McCarty. With his 73 going out, he came in with a 70 for the best score of the day.

Three men posted 71s. They were Dick Chapman, Johnny Cree of Hamburg, N. Y., making his first bid for the amateur title; and Tom Whiteway, Wickeville, O., who has played in only one amateur tournament. Marvin Ward of Spokane, Wash., defending champion and the hot favorite this year, led those who got a par 72.

Standing at 72 with Ward were six others including S. M. Alexander, Jr., Burlington, N. C.; Dan Cawley, Marietta, O.; Freddie Haas, Jr., New Orleans; and George Dawson, Glen Elder, Ill.

Betty Jameson Guns for Title

SEATTLE, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., national women's golf champion went after the women's western amateur crown here. Carl Jones of Seattle in the first round of match play over the Seattle golf club course. Miss Jameson would herself tie for medal honors yesterday with Maxine Miley of Lexington, Ky., and she was the last to attempt to win places on first string girls clubs. At three classes A schools—Oakley, Gooding and Buhl were the new coaches. J. S. Halliday, John W. Cooper and M. S. Wheeler are the new "big time" members.

Yanks Open Crucial Two-Game Series At Cleveland Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—The Cleveland Indians have bid adieu to first place—maybe for keeps. With the chips down the Indians couldn't protect their lead yesterday against the team that has proved the softest touch in the league for them. They lost to the Chicago White Sox, 2-1, and enabled the idle Detroit Tigers to automatically move into the American league stronghold. Previously they had licked the White Sox 16 times in 21 games.

Seattle and Portland Win Coast Titles

The Pacific Coast league entered its final week of play today with two things as sure as death and the championship and Portland the cellar title. In between there remained only the contest to see whether Sacramento or San Diego would wind up in fourth place and thus join the Rainiers, Los Angeles and Oakland in the Shinglers playoff.

Only two games are on tonight's schedule—Oakland at Los Angeles and Seattle at San Diego. Tomorrow night Hollywood goes into the field against the Solons at Sacramento—playing a doubleheader Friday night at San Francisco. # Grandpop Lefty George Pitches Winning Class B Ball at 54

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
YORK, Pa.—The Boston National League picked Thomas Edward George off the Washington and Lee campus in 1907.

The Braves drafted Lefty George in 1911 and traded him to Cleveland for George Siovall, the first baseman. In 1912, George got his third major league chance with the Reds in 1915, when he white-washed the immortal Christy Mathewson and the Giants. The Braves took another look at George in 1918.

George, a grandfather, retired from professional baseball in 1924, but here he is, back winning for York of the Class B Inter-State League at the age of 54, beginning the second phase of his diamond career at an age when Joe McCollin, the game's most famous from man, turned to the rocking chair for comfort.

And Buddy Hulawit, the old big league infielder managing the York Red Sox, wouldn't be surprised to see George pitch back with the Bees before the end of the season. York is a subsidiary of the Boston club.

"George has as much stuff as he ever had," says Hulawit, who had the old bloke in Columbus in 1918. Veteran Soxpats.

George came back when the Red Sox ran short of pitchers a few weeks ago. He was selling brewery products, but kept in shape by pitching semi-professional ball. He visited the York park occasionally to throw them up in his back yard, but wasn't looking for a job. He was surprised and happy when Hulawit signed him.

His first start was a 3-2, nine-hit victory over Coosa Goslin's Trenton outfit in a night game. He finished seventh, pitched out two. The next time out, he yielded two hits in three innings as a relief worker to score his second straight triumph at the expense of Allentown, 7-6.

Lefty George

"I'm not as fast as I once was," he beams, "but experience and control make up for what I lack."

George disagrees with Hulawit in regard to his having all his old stuff.

"I make the batter extra first base. I do not make him a ball out of it by giving him a bunt," he insists.

George still uses the screw or slider ball which Mathewson taught him the day after he beat Big Six. As a kid of 14, George, a native Pittsburgher, was recruited into the home of the Pirates by Honus Wagner. Fifteen years later, he struck out his boyhood idol with his screw-ball.

"Hans followed the third strike clear around to the dugout in his pants," laughs George. "He stopped long enough to yell to me: 'Boy, you've got something there!'"

George's advice to young pitchers is to watch an old fellow like himself. "I learned plenty by following Hooks Willis, the old left-hander of the Giants. He taught me his move on to first base and a change of pace."

Lefty George learned a lot along his long baseball trail — much about pitching and taking care of himself.

A pitcher has to know all the ropes to be around at 54.

UCLA Faces Tough Schedule on Road To Rose Bowl Game

By DONALD WAGONER

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10 (U.S.P.)—Facing what many football critics concede is the toughest schedule in the nation, University of California players enter the 1940 grid campaign with a squad potentially strong enough to land in the Rose Bowl on next Nov. 17.

Coach Edwin C. (Babe) Horrell, starting his second year as head coach at UCLA, has a flashy array of backfield stars and a flood of experienced linemen to form the bulk of his first string eleven.

What the coaches will do to plug gaps which may arise during the strenuous campaign is the big mystery of the Bruin campus.

C. L. A. must face Southern Methodist, Santa Clara and Texas A. and M. before diving into a seven-game Pacific coast conference schedule, which includes Washington and University of Southern California. All five teams are touted as top national contenders.

Horrell has based his early strategy around Jackie Robinson, who was used as a "steely" guard and Co-Captain Washington in last year's backfield.

Robinson, a Negro halfback rated as one of the fastest in the game, has been given Washington's signed left half back spot.

Robinson will have ample support behind the line. Bill Owsling and Leo Cantor are hard-hitting fullbacks; Co-Captain Ned Mathews is a star blocker at quarterback.

Ray Bartlett, another veteran star, has been cast in the right halfback berth in the probable starting lineup.

Lyle Coach Ray Richards has said his starting line for the coming season will be better than last season's. Richards has back Romberg, 230-pound guard, who has been shifted to right tackle, as one of the best linemen he has ever seen in action.

The Bruin line with one exception will be composed of veterans, who have the advantage of one year under the Horrell-Richards system of play. The newcomer is Milton Smith, a 6-foot, 4-inch sophomore, who will get the left tackle job at left end. Other linemen to report are Nate de Francisco, left guard; Martin Mathewson, center; Jack Don Mathewson, right end.

SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
It's pretty well authenticated by now that the biggest threat present to the Yankees' club, apart from a wallowing fifth-place club to a red-hot pennant contender is the pitching staff.

Whereas few of Joe McCarthy's pitchers were able to go the full distance a month ago, nearly all are now developed into regular dependables.

All of which finds the Yanks sitting pretty for a flock of doubleheaders which face them.

Of greatest value, possibly, has been the unexpected help from Mike Hundra and Alvin Donald. Mike Bonham, up from the Kansas City farm club, has also indicated he has what it takes, and the three of them have blossomed forth as starting pitchers worthy of the name.

Hundra and Donald looked so futile during the first few months of the season that they got most of their exercise in the bullpen. Further, it appeared as though their employment with the Yanks might be discontinued over the winter.

Now they have found themselves and are ready to take their turns with Red Ruffing, Martin Russo, and Chandler and Doherty. This gives the McCarthy men six starters, with Lefty Gomez and Monte Pearlman.

son still with possibilities.

Whenever the Yanks lack in a desperate attempt to overhaul the Indians' lead, it is as though it's the pitcher.

All of which is rather encouraging for the fifth straight flag. The old-time dreamer was exploding all over the place while the Yanks were making their drive toward the top. From where they stand, it just looks like a couple of stiff three-base pokes to first place.

Short, and to the point: Benny Revere, the national champion, when Mel Ott would return to the Giant outfield. "He's getting to be a nuisance, fiddling about decisions at third base," says Revere.

Reports from Detroit don't camp indicate Whitey White hasn't suffered much from his own injury. Note of Ken Keltner's 13 homers a year ago were hit in his home park at Cleveland. "This season he has banged 'em at home."

Australian sports fan's are seething because Jim Ferrier was banned from the U. S. amateur. And tonight of tough luck pitchers for the year in the East Transit of Niagara in the Red Sox league who pitched three 14-inning games this year and lost all three.

A theater in Madrid finds umbrella to its patron if it starts to rain while they are attending the show.

IDAHO RECEIVES $1,603,000 FOR GOVERNMENT AID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The federal government prepared today to spend $200,000,000 for construction of 3,000 miles of roads and highways in and leading to the 120 army posts and cantonments where the expanded army will be trained.

Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody said the government probably would bear the major portion of the cost, although states are to put up 50 per cent in some instances. About 1,241 miles will be within reservations; 1,871 will be outside.

Work Being Completed

Carmody also revealed the public roads administration—one of the agencies under his jurisdiction—is completing work on a report on the condition of 75,000 miles of highways.

Roads Administrator Thomas A. MacDonald indicated highways generally are in good shape and capable of carrying defense traffic loads. He said a few new highways would have to be built—mostly leading to new defense plants—but their mileage would not be "considerable."

Fund Apportionment

MacDonald announced the approximate apportionment of funds authorized by congress in the federal aid highway program for 1942 and 1943. States will be required to match federal funds for regular federal aid and for secondary or feeder roads but the federal government will pay the cost of grade crossings. Actual allocations will be made in December. The approximate apportionment follows:

For Idaho, $1,265,000 for regular federal aid; $215,000 for secondary or feeder roads; $182,000 for grade crossings, making a grand total of $1,662,000. This compares with $2,545,000 for Utah and $1,451,000 for Montana.

8 STATES HOLD PRIMARIES TODAY

(By United Press)

Eight states were holding primaries today.

They were Arizona, Colorado, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Vermont and Washington.

All were choosing party candidates for the November election.

No primary had national significance.

Tomorrow, Georgia holds a colorful primary in which former Gov. Eugene Talmadge seeks a political comeback through a Democratic nomination for a third term as governor. In 1935 and 1938, Talmadge was one of the most powerful of southern anti-New Dealers. He was running for the senate, promising to "run the Communists out of the White House." He was defeated. This year he endorsed part of the New Deal, was silent on the rest.

New Mexico holds its primary Saturday.

AMBITIONS REALIZED AT 71

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A 71-year-old retired engineer, John H. Hayward, is studying Spanish in a high school class here, fulfilling two early ambitions: To go to school and to spend at least part of every year in a Mexican village.

Buhl Brother Trio Tops Livestock Judging

BUHL BOY EARNS SHOWMAN TITLE

FILSF, Sept. 10 (Special)—Duanne Macchack, Buhl, held the champion showman title today as result of the junior livestock judging and showing competition at the Twin Falls county 4-H club fair yesterday.

Macchack, club member for three years, will take part in the district 4-H fair which opened today in combination with the annual Twin Falls county fair.

West End Triumphs

Winners of first places in the fitting and showing contests were Macchack, third year; Charles Webb, Castleford, second year; Paul Tryby, Buhl, first year. That combination represented a clean sweep for the district which maintained leadership throughout in the boys 4-H classic.

The livestock exhibit awards included:

Pilot Shortage Is Blamed for Let-Down in Nazi London Raid

By J. W. T. MASON

United Press War Expert

Intensity of the German air attacks on London decreased last night, the British estimating that less than 100 enemy planes were over the capital. This decline is understandable, for not all German pilots have received special training in night operations. There being only a limited number of aviators with sufficient skill to conduct operations safely in the dark, they must be allowed periods of rest between raids.

It is to be expected, therefore, that if the Germans plan to continue bombing London for a considerable period, the vigor of the attacks will fluctuate. The British night raids over Germany maintain a more consistent level, but that is because the British use many fewer planes than the Germans and so have more pilots, proportionately, for their limited offensive.

Operations Suspended

Great Britain allows the world to know the damage done by the Germans, but Hitler is less amenable to pressure by foreign correspondents. Little has been permitted to become known regarding devastations of German cities. Hence, there is emotional concentration on the damage and civilian casualties suffered by the British, while destruction in Germany can be measured only by the bitter expressions of German anger.

For the first time, however, Germany today lifts somewhat the veil that hitherto has concealed air raid casualties, by announcing that between May 10 and Aug. 31, British bombings killed 78 children and wounded 51. British figures show

FUNDS SET FOR LUNCH PROJECTS

BOISE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Idaho WPA Administrator Dean W. Miller announced today $150,133 had been allocated for reopening of school lunch projects in Idaho.

Miller said 100 projects will be operated and more than 1,000,000 lunches served. The projects are sponsored by the state department of education in cooperation with local school boards and Parent-Teacher organizations.

BOLT GETS UNDER WIRE

HOMESTEAD, Penn. (AP)—Alex Malencho's bad luck has a way of breaking in his favor. Malencho missed a fire insurance premium payment with the policy due to expire at midnight, a lightning bolt struck the home at 11 p. m., setting it ablaze.

THE SPIRIT OF 76

by JOHN CLINTON

A very new and very up-to-date in Portland wrote a letter to Union Oil the other day. She was driving to Union Oil from the Rose City from San Francisco. In the car she had a Perrier and a bottle of 76. She was at a Union Oil station to get gas.

While they were getting gas, she appeared. "My two youngsters were panicky-stirred," she wrote, "and everyone started to search for the missing puzzle."

"The two men at your Union Station," she continued, "were so nervous and they're in their efforts to help us find the car. They searched the entire neighborhood, returning when a customer came for service, but continuing the search for many minutes."

"And then, imagine my embarrassment," she wrote, "I saw the well lady's letter, when I found it tucked up under the front seat of my car. She'd been there all the time! I've driven for 23 years, and have never been so impressed with such courtesy, and I felt I should tell you about it."

Well, that's about what I've found as I travel around looking at life—people who help other people are the people who are the best. And it's here that as you patronize Union Oil stations you'll find the men you meet to be helpful and neighborly.

It's just another reason for using 76 gasoline and Triton Motor Oil. You meet nice people.
