Aunt Abby says

Some folks are always in such a hurry to put their feet forward they don't care who they step on.

I'm not fussy about many things. But I'm mighty fussy about my tea. LIPTON'S TEA is the only kind I'll drink. Once you taste the extra good, rich flavor of LIPTON'S, nothing else will do.

The bride gets over the threshold but after what she does all the pickin' up.

Maybe I shouldn't keep givin' young couples advice, but they ways thank me for tellin' 'em about LIPTON'S TEA. It's wonderful 'lead' and it'll give 'em over 200 cups to the pound, too! Why don't you try it!

INVITATION TO A PARTY. CHAPTER III

SUE MARY found going to bed that evening a slow affair. She would come back to reality with a start, finding herself yawning her comb back and forth over a fan, instead of through her hair.

There had been the first few moments at the art exhibit, when she wished desperately that she hadn't come, but then Nick had started talking. It was aimed to call him Nick, and when he had learned that she was there, merely because she had nothing better to do, because she had time to waste, he had assumed control.

NICK had the gift of listening. To Sue Mary it was unbelievable that anyone could actually be interested in her humdrum life. Yet Nick listened and asked more questions than the redoubtable circle ordinarily do not figure will help the date receipt.

THE rest of the afternoon had passed in a comfortable and peaceful way. Nick had jumped up and taken her from group to group, introducing her to everyone now crowding into the room.

"No barriers to break down then," someone said. Sue Mary turned around to the tall girl who had been making pictures with Nick when she first came in.

Finals in the four-day rodeo will be staged today at 8 p. m.

No casualties. No casualties, norred the event last night although Howland Sank Twin Falls, narrowly missed serious injury when a horse threw him and struck him a glancing blow on the back as he lay on the ground.

Harry Hart, Pocatello, walked away with his second consecutive first place in the calf roping event and then came back later in the rodeo to post a second place in bull-roping. He was a slim fifth of a second behind Bruce Ross, Savre, Okla., who took the lead in the night in the bull wrestling event.

Results Given. Following last night's results: Calf roping—Harry Hart, Pocatello; first; N. A. Pitcock, Aspermont, Tex.; second; Charles Fancher, Billings, Mont.; third; Earl Zimmell, Wolf Creek, Mont.; fourth; Time: 12.2.

GERMANS CLAIM HUGE FIRES RAGING ALONG THAMES

NAZI OFFICIALS ADMIT BRITISH RAIDS ON RUHR

By FREDERICK C. OCKENBERG

BERLIN, Sept. 18 (AP)—Great fires were raging on both sides of the Thames in London today after bombs of all caliber fell on London docks in a raid in which German planes broke through British barrage defenses in southern and southeastern England, the official German news agency said today.

German quarters, describing what they said were devastating raids on Britain, admitted British planes had bombed Essen in the vital Ruhr industrial area, Bremen, one of Germany's chief ports, and Hanover, during the night.

New Raids Reported

New raids on London occurred early this afternoon, D. N. B. said. "Blasts were visible from a distance indicating the extent of the success of the raids," the agency claimed.

Germany admitted that the British, raiding Essen, dropped bombs in a suburban street and destroyed some workers' houses.

News said a "sharp tightening" of the British censorship in the last 36 hours had prevented a leakage of "true facts" concerning conditions in London, "which must be terrific in view of the fact that what it has experienced so far is only the beginning and will surely be worse."

Disruption Claimed

They alleged that the "paucity" of London news in the world press "unquestionably" was due to serious disruption of technical facilities as the result of bombings.

The high command said during "armed reconnaissance" of southern England, German planes bombed industrial districts in London, Bexhill, Brighton, Banbury and other towns. It was claimed that southwest of the Isle of Man a merchant vessel of 6,000 tons was damaged seriously by bombs.

NAVY PERSONNEL TO-HIT 400,000

The United States navy is going to be big, over 400,000 men or four times what it was six months ago, C. A. Edmonson, local recruiter with headquarters at the postoffice building, said this afternoon.

"I've never seen anything like it in my 22 years of service," Edmonson said, "and as for ships, we'll have plenty of them. We're going to have 30 battleships, 28 cruisers, 376 destroyers, 10 aircraft carriers, and 180 submarines."

And as for the "shoreline navy" we're going to open new shipyards at Philadelphia and Chester, Penn., Los Angeles and Oakland, Calif., Beaufort, Tex., Birmingham, Ala., Tampa, Fla., and Wilmington, Del. In a few years our navy will be bigger than the navies of any two countries in the world.

Regarding opportunities now available for those wishing to join this branch of the armed forces, the recruiter pointed out that it took him 12 years to receive his petty officer rating and that now it would probably take a recruit about half that time to receive the same rank. This is possible, he said, because of the way the navy is expanding.

Edmonson, who is due for retirement soon at the age of 48, said that "your life today should not miss this opportunity of making the navy your life work."

MAIL STUDY SET FOR GUARDSMEN

At least three and perhaps seven members of Company E, 118th engineers, will continue high school studies while spending a year at camp under a correspondence plan without loss of standing.

Joseph H. Seaver, Jr., announced the afternoon. Seaver, who is commander of the local company which will be inducted Monday, said that the correspondence course would be given under his direction and that papers would be sent back to the high school here for correction. Any other work required would likewise be checked by high school officials.

"We are encouraging all company members who have not graduated from high school to take up this type of work," Capt. Seaver said. "The University of Idaho extension service and the local high school, under the direction of Honor Davis, superintendent, and Edward Rogel, principal, are cooperating to make this step possible."

The local company will camp in the armory here for one week starting next Monday at 8 a. m. before enroute for Camp Murray, Wash., Capt. Seaver said. Because of equipment shortages the men will probably be allowed to return home each night during the week's local encampment.

High school records are needed to bring up the company up to the induction strength of 80. Capt. Seaver said. He expressed the opinion that the men would be recruited by tonight.

What Rodeo Stars Do When Not Rodeoing

It isn't all work and no play for them. The cowboy who performs nightly and goes "after the money" at the rodeo which will be staged for the last time tonight at the Twin Falls county fair starting at 8 p. m. This fact was unearched at the Times photographer wandered into the barn area of the grounds. In these two unposed photographs the "after working hours" of a cowboy's life are clearly shown. At the left Bud Nelson, one of the better barrel racers, takes 40 whisks in the corner of one of the stalls and probably was dreaming of all that cash he expected to win. He was so deeply asleep that the flash bulb didn't awaken him. Part of his equipment can be seen in the grip above his head. Above, four cowboys take part in a lively game of poker, with much cash changing hands. After the picture was taken the photographer said "now, let's get your camera, left to right." This statement was met with a series of answers in the negative. "What would my gal friend think?" the fellow at the right said.

Jottings at The Fair

WILCOX, Sept. 18 (Special)—The Granges have all exhibited nearly every variety of fruits and vegetables grown in this community.

Some of the largest exhibits were a sugar beet grown by W. O. Jackey, Twin Falls, weighing 15 1/2 pounds; a squash weighing 48 pounds brought in by Elmer Dossert, Twin Falls, and a watermelon weighing 31 pounds by I. T. Oredt, Fair.

Best Eggs

The best ears of corn included yellow dent grown by Lee Bonis of Fair; the best ear of white dent corn, H. A. Peterson, Buhl; and flint, Ed Olmstead from the Twin Falls Grange.

The best sheaf of grain came from the Fairview Grange. I. T. Oredt exhibited the largest egg plant, had the best turnip, certified wheat (Lambert), Best Beans, Buhl; grew the best lima beans and the best red Mexican beans. Stuart Taylor, Fair, proudly took first in the potato, and Billy Elms took first with his flint corn, also from Fair.

Walking through the Grange building offers quite a thrill if you try to decide which booth is the most attractive as an exhibit as the whole. Patriotic colors were popular this year in most of them, including Knut and Hollister which both used the motto "God Bless America" in gold letters. A large red, white and blue American flag made from beans was displayed by Hollister and Kimberly and Fairview. The decorative colors of red, white and blue were used as the background trimming for Buhl and Twin Falls.

Mountain Scene

A clever exhibit was that of Northwest which used the name as the mountain scene in the booth with snow capped peaks. A lighting system in the rear helped to bring Hollister and Kimberly and Fairview. The motto used "If Winter Comes" and the design was in keeping with the frozen fruit and vegetable produce used so much by farmers.

The symbols of the Grange including the plow, sheaf, hoe, axe, pruning hook and the horse were portrayed in the Mountain Rock and Twin Falls Grange displays.

Capt. Breen along with the booth of green and white using the reds as part of the trimmings.

Filer, the winning booth, used gold and blue as its color scheme. The Orange name being worked out in the gold letters.

A mountain scene very typical of our country here is the background for the Hansen booth.

TOWN HALL SIGNS FAMOUS ARTISTS

A world-famed soprano and a noted pianist were definitely signed today to appear in Twin Falls as the one musical attraction of the 1940-41 lecture program of the Town Hall club.

Maria Husak is the soprano who will sing here. The concert pianist is Leo Podolsky. They will appear together in a joint attraction Wednesday in her career, this afternoon by J. A. Cederquist, president of Town Hall.

Friend of Strauss

Madame Husak, a personal friend of the great composer, Richard Strauss, is ranked as one of the greatest opera stars of Europe. Her repertoire wandered into the barn area of the grounds. In these two unposed photographs the "after working hours" of a cowboy's life are clearly shown.

Twice Decorated

She was decorated by the Austrian and Czechoslovak governments for her services as a soldier.

Podolsky, pianist who will come here with Madame Husak, also has a background of high European success. He began his rise at an early age at the Imperial Academy of Music, Vienna. His first concert tour covered 10,000 miles across Russia and Siberia. Thereafter he gave 425 concerts in the far east, including Japan, China, the Philippines, British Malaya, Java, Sumatra, Borneo, Celebes, Burma, Ceylon and India.

Podolsky achieved fame for appearances in Germany, France, Holland, Belgium and Spain, including an appearance before the king and queen of Spain. In America, his concert and soloist appearances with the Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles symphony orchestras earned him a high price.

Unusual feature of Podolsky's career was a round the world tour during which he gave 40 concerts in 51 days.

The joint appearance of the two artists will carry out the Town Hall policy of inserting one musical attraction into a program filled with top-notch lecturers. Mr. Cederquist said. Memberships are now flowing in to headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce offices. Limit is 400 persons.

SEERGEANT EARNS CO. E PROMOTION

Announcement was made by the adjutant general's office in Boise yesterday that First Sergeant Winslow F. Potter, Company E, 118th engineers, national guard, has been promoted to rank of second lieutenant in the engineers corps and will report to that rank for active duty with the Twin Falls company at next Monday morning's induction.

LIGHTS

The street lights were on in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon, although the sun was peeping through a cloud-studded sky.

People wondered.

A check at the Idaho Power company this morning revealed that the lamps "were going" while routine tests were made of the various poles in the downtown area.

Gored? He's Lost Track of How Many Times, Has 237-Pound Clown in Rodeo

By LOWELL DICK
 FILER, Sept. 13 (Special)—"Been at it for 17 years," declared, peering Jimmie Nesbitt, rodeo clown, following last night's performance in which he received a gentle "nudge" from a bull and narrowly escaped injury when his "chariot" cracked up.

The 34-year-old clown weighs 237 pounds, but you'd never guess it the way he deftly sidesteps onrushing bulls and covers the entire arena during a rodeo show. A close analysis of his bull-dodging "technique" shows that he doesn't merely run away from one of the critters, but moves as fast as possible in a tight circle, thus cutting down the bull's speed and maneuverability.

Clown Entertains Fans at Rodeo

Got Plenty of Times
 "My chief worry is to keep out from under them," Nesbitt declared. "Gored? I've been gored and hurt hundreds of times. I lost track of them a long time ago."

Jimmie gets many a laugh from the crowd with his antics. Most of the laughs result when he's the goat of a prank or joke. One of his favorite tricks is to grab the tail of a calf or bull and let it drag him until he gets up enough speed to turn a half somersault in the air. He always comes down in the time of a loud "thump" from a drum in the band.

Another of his gigs is to lose his trousers after one of his half somersaults, as shown in an accompanying picture. At this point the announcer gives the rider's time and adds, "And 30 days in jail for Jimmie Nesbitt for indecent exposure."

He Rescues Cowboys
 But clowning is Jimmie Nesbitt's pastime in the rodeo arena. His work and duty is to save competing cowboys from injury. "Oh, I've saved thousands of the boys from getting badly hurt," said Jimmie, and he wasn't bragging.

His technique is to dodge around

Jimmie Nesbitt and his stooges, Hitter and Mussoolin, are pictured above in a pose in the rodeo arena at the Filer fairgrounds. Jimmie is the one in the center demonstrating his feelings toward Mr. Hitter, the gent on the right. Both dummies show signs of the rough treatment they get at hands, or rather horns, of rodeo bulls. Below is deadpan Jimmie caught at the "height" of his trouser-losing stunt. (Times Photos and Engravings)

hay-stuffed dummies on which bulls are allowed to vent their rage. Steel framework allows the 100-pound dummies to take a lot of punishment.

To New York Soon
 Around Oct. 4, Nesbitt will be going through his act for New Yorkers at Madison Square Garden. "It'll be swell to get back there," said Jimmie who has run through

LAST HONOR PAID TO EDEN WOMAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Anner Chase Roudy, Eden, were held at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel yesterday afternoon with Bishop Carl George of the L.D.S. church of Eden officiating.

Music was furnished by Mrs. McCrae Roudy, who sang "Wonderful Mother of Mine" and "Going Home," and Mrs. Pearl Henry and Mrs. Chrestene Romney, who sang as a duet "Beyond Today." Accompaniment was played by Mrs. Rhoda Haake.

Palbearers, all of whom are sons of Mrs. Roudy, included H. C. Roudy and Lauren Roudy, Eden, Solomon Roudy, Rigby, McCrae Roudy and Al Roudy, Utah, and Otto Roudy, Montana.

Bishop Gardner read the invocation and Bishop E. W. Little, the obituary. First speaker was Elder Henry Schwab, and the second speaker was President J. W. Richins. Benediction was given by Bishop Little.

Burial was in the Sunset Memorial park, the grave being dedicated by Bishop Little.

Quiz Program For Kiwanian Sons, Fathers

Approximately 75 fathers and sons gathered at the Park hotel last night for the annual Twin Falls Kiwanis father-and-son banquet to enjoy an evening's program highlighted by a "Professor Quiz" session.

Mrs. J. R. Wright, Eden, opened the evening's program with several selections on the marimba and was followed by Jim Reynolds singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and making mathematical computations at the same time.

Dr. Frank J. McAtee acted as the "professor" for the quiz contest, calling upon sons and fathers for answers to numerous catchy questions. Candy bars were given as prizes to the sons, while the winning fathers received sufers.

The evening's entertainment was in charge of R. J. Walton.

Thief at Filer Gets $7.50 Loot

Report was made to Twin Falls county officers by A. C. Travis, manager of the Tri-State Lumber company in Filer, of the theft of $7.50 in small change and stamps from the company's cash register yesterday.

The loss, according to Mr. Travis, consisted of dimes and 50 cent pieces and 43 or 44 in stamps. It was taken from the cash register while he was in the back of the building sawing lumber for a customer.

LET 'ER BURN

For 18 years a straw stack has endured almost everything out at the Nicholson place, four and one half miles west of South Park, but, today the end had come.

Members of the Kimberly Mutual fire department dashed to the stack, which was ablaze, about 8 p.m. yesterday. It was near no buildings and could cause no damage. "We'll come out then and pump it away," they said.

HISTORY EXHIBIT

FILER, Sept. 13 (Special)—A brand-new exhibit—Indian lore and Idaho history—greets you this year at the antique building.

Don Crabtree, Twin Falls, has displayed a few of his treasures and said that a little of their history is a nice collection from that of Ralph Cedarholm is also on display.

Mr. Crabtree became interested in this unique hobby at the ripe old age of about five years when he found his first arrowhead near Salmon, Ida. From then on he hunted among the caves and sandy places along the rivers and canyons that were likely to have been frequented by the early Indians.

Shows Culture Progress

It is interesting to note the different stages of culture and progress in the various tribes by finding the different points and the crude to the most intricate flakings in the arrow heads. Knowing that they had only the most crude tools to work with and the tiny razor like edge points and blades that were perfected, it's a thought to realize the power of concentration and steady nerves to perform such a task.

Each arrow head in itself is individual and tells much about the man who made it. For instance, the difference can be immediately spotted whether the warrior made the points out on the hunting grounds while hunting, and perhaps ran out of ammunition, or if they were made during long leisure hours around the campfire where much time could be devoted to their shaping.

Quite often during the winter season, many of the arrow heads were retouched and the secondary working is far superior to the first. The points of flint are much harder than steel.

Of the arrow heads which Mr. Crabtree has in his collection, many were found along the Columbia river plateau and are made from bright colored obsidian which is a volcanic glass not found east of the Rocky mountains.

Carried East

However, these precious points were transported to the Indians by wandering tribes and have been found in possession of Indians as far east as Ohio. These obsidian blades and points were prized and used by the chiefs for ceremonial occasions in some human sacrifices. Other points are made from materials such as moss agate, carnelians, Jasper, rock crystal, jade, colored flints, opalized wood, agatized wood.

Mr. Crabtree brought out the idea that the Indians were advanced in geology in being able to determine the different stone for certain uses of points and also where these various stones were located.

Different tribes had their own "trademark" in the edge or top side of the arrow head so that in times of big buffalo kills, the hunter could claim his own by the arrows which killed the buffalo. Or the Indians could know if another tribe was trespassing in their own private hunting grounds.

The elaborate points signify the art of craftsmanship of the flint work. Many of the more intricately designed heads were used by the medicine doctor in the supreme sacrifices.

How to Find Them

To find these treasures in a cave, which is usually found in a sheltered place and quite often on the side where the early morning sun could penetrate into the frosty interior, the first thing Mr. Crabtree does is to dig a long trench very deep from bottom to the top, so that the various levels of silt may be studied. For many Indian tribes have probably lived from century to century at different times within the cave walls.

That from wind storms, accumulated over a period of many years, can cover the old campfire and weapons many feet deep. As each layer of dirt is carefully removed, the silt is screened and in this way many Indian blades and arrow heads are discovered. Children played quite a part in leaving the treasures to be discovered. It is thought that they perhaps found their fathers' arrow heads of points, found them pretty and interesting, played with them, in some cases even burying them for future "reference."

The most prized arrow head in Mr. Crabtree's collection is on display. It is perhaps the most crude in workmanship, however, but was given to him by Dr. Sturton, curator of mammals at the museum of the University of California. It is the oldest known point and perhaps came from the Java tribe or very earliest ancestors.

Ania Like Heads

The tiny Indian heads can usually be found in ant hills. Ants seem to have a phobia for collecting them.

On display is a small mass of twisted glass resembling a lady, and bits of rope made from pounded agave (sisal) into a pulp that was found in this part of the country.

A boneawl on display is made from a shoulder bone of some animal and was found in Hoagman valley in the upper Salmon country. It evidently was used for appearing salmon. Many of the awls are made and used for needles to work leather, etc.

A mortar and pestle is also on display which was used for grinding the bowl for crushed across, canna root, grains, dried meats and berries.

A skull of a bison was found by Mr. Crabtree along Snake river canyon.

The tawny adds color to the exhibit along with the old tin gun and powder horn.

JUVENILES SHOW HOBBIES AT FAIR

FILER, Sept. 13 (Special)—It's grand thing for youngsters to have a hobby early in life when they may get a lot of enjoyment for many years and even sometimes work up a trade from which a nice source of income may be realized. In the juvenile building, there are many different kinds of hobbies on display.

One little nine-year-old fellow, Gene Glick, has made an airplane from a skull. Smaller screws riveted on were used for the propeller, but nothing could be found for the tail of the plane, so it is slightly still in the making. The grandfather assured visitors that the skull came from the oxen driven by Paul Bunyan.

Last year there was only one exhibit of a battleship made inside a bottle. The same youngster has two more displays this year with a miniature covered wagon with every detail complete, even the inside "Deaho or Bust." The frame is made of wood with a canvas covered top. In the other bottle is a tiny log cabin, with the little "logs" fitted together just as the log cabin were made of old. A tiny carved dog of wood stands guard in front of the door.

There are many lovely cake plates, bowls, etc. There are galleys, tables, and tables, magnetic rocks and lamp stands that might put an adult in the "shade" for workmanship and design.

Even the old whittling days of grandfather have been revived by this time by the small boys in the family. One little fellow has whittled a hunter with his rifle resting across his knees, the log cabin home, the chopping block and the faithful riding horse are all a part of the scene.

A replica of a covered wagon made by hand is one of the best pieces of workmanship that has been exhibited by the juvenile division for a number of years. It is complete in every detail. The canvas top covers little seats inside the wagon. The tongue of the wagon is complete with the yoke and the double trees. Spokes of wood and the hubs with a steel rim make up the wheels. Brakes are installed on the side of the wag-

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—It used to be that a woman's place was in the home. Ten she transferred herself to the office. Now nobody knows just where she does belong—for in Des Moines more than 40 women are working in machine shops.

They are doing small assembly and light press work. They range in age from 17 to 23 and are paid 25 cents an hour.

"Girls of this age," according to the plant foreman, "acquire the manual skills of their job more quickly than boys of the same age. They seem to understand the whole idea of working at a job and apply themselves more diligently."

CAMACHO NAMED HEAD OF MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13 (Special)—A chamber of deputies today had officially declared that Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho is the president-elect of Mexico, overriding the presidential claims of Gen. Juan Andres Almazan.

Almazan is in Baltimore, but yesterday his followers formed their own congress in San Antonio, Tex., and proclaimed him president of Mexico after he had "imposed and deposed" President Lázaro Cardenas.

The rump congress previously had declared Almazan winner over Camacho in the recent elections.

A high government spokesman, before today's action by the chamber of deputies, said that the moves at San Antonio "definitely class Almazan and his forces as rebels."

The chamber of deputies unanimously approved the report of its electoral investigating committee which ruled officially that the recent elections were legal and that Camacho had won.

The office of tabulation of votes gave Camacho 2,476,641 and Almazan 151,101.

WALLACE 'PROVES' CLAIMS ON G. O. P.

MANKATO, Minn., Sept. 13 (Special)—Henry A. Wallace had offered "proof" today of his charges that the Republican party is the party of appeasement and obstruction.

"I have said that the Republican party is the party of appeasement and obstruction," Wallace said. "By this I have not meant in any way to suggest that the vast majority of Republicans are unpatriotic. But I meant to say that pro-fifties, pro-apparatus and bulk obstructionists are supporting the Republican party this fall."

"I have been challenged to give proof of this."

"I believe the American people generally think with me that selective military service is the only fair and democratic way to train an army for defense. But last week when the conscription bill came to a vote in the house of representatives, the final vote showed that 112 Republicans were against it and only 52 for it, while 211 Democrats voted for and only 33 against."

GRAFTING SAVES WOMAN'S EYELID

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., (Special)—University of Minnesota hospital staff physicians have fashioned an eyelid from skin taken from the arm of Mrs. Terra Leonard, 42, Minneapolis, in an attempt to save her sight.

Mrs. Leonard suffered from a cancerous growth on her right eye. Radium treatments burned away the cancerous tissue but left a small hole in the eye and scarred the lid so badly she was unable to close her eyes.

Physicians said the condition would have led eventually to blindness as the eye would dry out and become infected if the lid was not repaired.

The upper lid was split and skin from the under side of her arm grafted in place. Physicians said a similar operation would be performed on the lower lid within a month.

Ocean steamers are able to travel up the Amazon river for 2,300 miles.
