Answering Your Questions About CONSCRIPTION

BY MILTON BRONNER
Manager, NEA-Idaho Evening Times Selective Service Information Bureau

WASHINGTON — In all this excitement between the ages of 21 and 35 registering on Oct. 16 for service in the armed forces of the United States, the class may be in a class all by themselves are those whose pearly smiles are due not to nature's handiwork, but to make-up.

In other words, dentures, or false teeth, or store teeth.

The old army regulation about soldiers' teeth will still be in effect when the selective service machine calls men up for questioning. The army's minimum requirement is that the soldier shall have three upper biting teeth meeting three lower ones and three upper chewing teeth meeting three lower ones.

Conscript Army
In taking men for the draft, the army leaders want the best physical specimens they can find. So teeth are an important item. They don't want the kind of thing to happen; "Colonel," they say, "you are the man having for dinner today?"

Sergeant: "Sir, they are having hard, beef, fried potatoes, canned beans, hard rolls and nice fresh apples."

Colonel: "Too bad, Sergeant. Thirteen of our men have reported they either lost or broke their teeth plates. The cook will have to prepare a special menu of soup, soft-boiled eggs and buttered apple sauce for them. Something they don't have to chew."

This man's army is going to be an army that can chew any grub dished up to it.

There'll be Plenty To Do
It also going to be an army that can walk its way to places. After being duly trained, the draftees will ultimately be expected to take their stride, carrying a 50-pound pack. This means that men with varicose veins or flat feet or fallen arches may be looked upon as liabilities before the medical decide to take them for service.

The same goes for good sight and hearing. These latter exemptions lead to many prison terms but evade service by faking bad sight or bad hearing, both of which are one of the higher-up medical army-officers how they would prevent malingering on the part of men otherwise fit for service. His reply was that they had up their sleeves a bag of tricks which would expose the faker.

These things especially need saying because many men, otherwise physically fit and even anxious to join the armed services, have written in to the NEA-Idaho Evening Times Selective Service Information Bureau asking about these very matters.

Standards Higher
The false impression has gone abroad that taking men in the selective service draft the standards required for the regular army and navy would be considerably lowered. This is entirely wrong.

About the only concessions made are that men may be a bit shorter, and also lighter in weight than the armed services usually require. Otherwise the standards will be much higher than they were in the draft during the last World War.

Then the country, at war, was in a big hurry to draft men and train them. Now the nation is at peace, but is training for preparedness.

With the vast number of men to choose from, the army is going to be increased by real selective service, not only by the way in which the numbers are drawn, but by the way the individual men are finally chosen. They will be the run of the lot. They will be the pick of the barrel, men who can be trained now, placed in reserve after one year with the army, and with a very fair expectancy of being fit in, within the next few years, the army needs them for real active service in real war.

Car Forced From Road by Autoists

JEROME, Oct. 2 (Special) — John Halverson, Jerome resident, damaged his automobile approximately $200 as a result of an accident which occurred south of the city Sunday afternoon.

According to a police report in the sheriff's office, Halverson was forced off the road by two automobiles, which attempted to pass each other as they approached the Halverson car. In an effort to avoid colliding with either of them, Halverson swerved his car off the road, struck a soft shoulder, and his car creased into a telephone pole, smashing a fender, broke a wheel and bent the car's frame.

According to Halverson, neither driver of the other two cars was aware the accident had occurred.

Both sides of the question are being well taken care of and each is having a hard time trying to persuade the other of its particular views.

"Resolved; That the powers of the federal government should be permanently increased," will be the question for the varsity debaters when they begin later in the year. This question also is expected to arouse quite a bit of enthusiasm, according to Mr. Wallace.

"WELL, I DECLARE"

"Mrs. Foster has married again" . . . "The Joneses have another baby" . . . "The council has raised the tax rate" . . . "The Clark boy has been sent to the reformatory" . . . "The Methodist church has a new minister" . . . "There's going to be a masquerade at the Elks' hall next Saturday night" . . . "The Mode has received some of those new fur hats" . . . "The Johnson girl is engaged at last" . . . "Well, I declare!"

It's not only the news of foreign events and national affairs, of battle fronts and political struggles, that makes the newspaper so vital a force in people's lives. It's the news of happenings close at home, too. News of what's going on in our own hometown, among the people we know . . . the intimate, personal things.

And only in the local newspaper can we satisfy our craving for the local news. For the newspaper first of all reflects the life of the community it serves, has characteristics that distinguish it from others.

It's not surprising, in view of the eagerness with which people turn to their local newspapers every day, that those in "Magic Valley" are particularly eager to get the Idaho Evening Times and Twin Falls News.

With two competitive editorial staffs that are always on their toes 24 hours a day, each having its own staff photographer, and a third fulltime photographer on call for both; with 80 news correspondents covering "Magic Valley" day and night, in addition to the local staffs which blanket Twin Falls; with the best sport pages in Idaho beyond comparison; with more human interest stories than any other papers in the state; with the best daily social pages in Idaho—it's no wonder that the people of south central Idaho read the Times and News so eagerly. It's no wonder the Times and News have the largest circulation in the state, outside of the papers published in Boise, a circulation that has grown from 5,703 in 1921 and 8,358 in 1931 to 16,169 in 1940!

Many nationally known figures, after visiting Twin Falls and seeing its newspapers in action, have termed the news staffs of the Times and News wider-awake than even many of the metropolitans.

When spot news breaks in "Magic Valley" the Twin Falls newspapers are on the job, covering it in every detail. Tomorrow is never just as well.

There's your cue again, lady. Let's have it, please.

There's Drama, Efficiency in Bringing You the News

Auto hit man — your newspaper reporters are on the job. Above, a Twin Falls reporter gets his facts as a policeman and ambulance owner lift the victim.

The clock on the wall shows the minutes are speeding to the deadline—that time in every newspaper editorial room when stories are completed or they don't get into the paper.

Outside a steady drizzle is falling. The sky is dark, the roads slippery. The shrill ring of the telephone at his elbow takes the reporter's thoughts away from his typewriter. "Crash, man hurt," a voice snaps on the other end, the crisp words identifying it as that of a policeman, "100 block Second avenue west."

The reporter grabs his hat and overcoat then his camera—his constant companion. He thinks quickly, "that address, just a block away... I'll run it."

He dashes out the editorial room door, continues through the business office and onto the street. Rain wets his face and unconsciously he places his camera under his topcoat. The delicate mechanism must be protected, ready to function at all times.

As he runs, the police car, siren screaming, rushes past him. He can hear the ambulance coming. All three arrive on the scene as one. Skid marks show plainly on the pavement and in front of the car

Bicycle and Auto Collide at Jerome

JEROME, Oct. 2 (Special)—No one was injured in an automobile and bicycle collision which occurred here near Jerome Sunday evening, police records show. The mishap occurred at 5 p. m.

making the marks is the prostrate form of a man. He has been hit and hit hard—but he is still breathing.

A policeman and the ambulance driver prepare to lift the man onto a stretcher. The reporter, pencil and paper in hand, gets behind them. A wallet is on the ground. A card sticks partway out. The reporter glances at the name—and calls to the policeman: "It's Senator John Doe!"

That puts a different complexion on the story. The camera clicks as the ambulance speeds away. The policeman goes back to where the machine's driver is standing—speechless. He can hardly comprehend what had happened.

"Better get in out of the rain," the policeman says as he suggests that they go to the station to get complete details of the mishap. Before they leave, however, the officers make exact measurements of the length of the skid marks, the distance of the car from the curb, and other pertinent matters.

But before all this takes place the reporter is running for his office. En route he clatters down the steps into the basement engraving-photography plant, a vital part of the paper. He hands the pack of films to another photographer, who will develop the negative, print the picture and have it ready for the engraver in 20 minutes. Thirty minutes later and the cut will be ready for the paper.

A few minutes later the reporter writes his story. Other reporters, busy with their own work, are compiling and writing the hundreds of varied items in your daily paper.

Running back to his desk the reporter throws off his hat and coat. He starts to write: "Senator John Doe, 69-year-old dean of the Idaho state senate, was seriously injured at 12:46 p. m. today when..."

The story pours forth. All details are there. At the same time he's writing a story for his paper he is making a carbon copy for the wire editor. When the story is ended he hands the copy to the wire editor, who immediately goes to the teletype machines which connect this paper with others over the entire country.

Other papers will want the story of Senator Doe's accident. Meanwhile the reporter has carefully checked his story but before handing it to the managing editor for a final check he lifts the telephone to his ear and calls the hospital.

"How's Senator Doe?" He replaces the receiver. Taking his pencil he scratches out the words "seriously injured" in his story's lead and paragraph and inserts a single word... the story now reads:

"Senator John Doe... was killed..."

He then goes to the wire editor and the carbon is likewise changed. He hands the original copy to the managing editor who checks it closely and swiftly writes out an eight-column headline.

The headline, the "drop" headlines and the story go to the typesetters. They come back through the proofreader, who reads each and every word, looking for errors. The headline goes to the editor for another check.

"O. K.," he writes above it. Then he writes captions for the "cut" which is coming from the engravers. The cut arrives, and with the story it is placed on page one.

Soon the presses roar and thousands of readers will soon know that Senator John Doe is dead. The reporter takes a deep breath. To him, as to his co-workers, it's all in the day's work. Today's paper is now a thing of the past. Next, to start work on tomorrow's "sheet."

This was just one story. Each day there are hundreds of others from each member of the staff. The social editor cures for the wants of the social world. She knows who is going to school, what school they're going to and how long they will stay. She knows that Mrs. Jones' daughter is getting married next week but she can't say anything about it until the day before. Figuratively speaking she knows what's going on in the "social end of the town."

In addition to locally written news, press association teletypes bring in material from all over the world.

She also handles items from the scores of correspondents in Magic Valley. The sports editor follows all football, baseball and basketball games closely, each in season. He covers many of them and writes first-hand stories. Others he takes over from the telephone from coaches and from correspondents which the paper has scattered over the entire time county area.

He "makes up" the sport page and writes the heads for most of these articles. On Twin Falls papers, he edits and headlines the national and state sports news which flows in over the teletype printers. And on Twin Falls papers, he is also the telegraph editor for the big volume of other copy coming in on the teletype from every corner of the world.

The managing editor checks over all stories handed in by his entire staff. He supervises the editorial department's operations, hands out the assignments and does his share of them himself. In Twin Falls he's not a non-writing editor—he digs in and turns out plenty of copy himself.

The proofreader must see every word which appears in the paper. He must check each line for correctness. If it's wrong, he marks it and the typesetters must make the necessary correction. The reporter doesn't always dash out to weeks. He too has his "beat" to cover. He writes everything from the fact the "Jones had a baby" to the fact that a noted man was interviewed by him and he said "what this country needs is—"

He catches and happiness... tragedies and triumphs... they're all reflected day by day in the parade of humanity that's offered by the editorial departments of your Twin Falls newspapers.

The last step in the editorial department — heading the news to catch the eyes of busy readers.

Mrs. Hollenbeck became a member of the Christian church at the age of 18 and was a faithful member all her life. She took an active part in the early development of this community and was well known throughout the project.

She is survived by her husband, E. T. Hollenbeck, Minidoka county commissioner; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Clyde Long Beach, Calif., and four sons, Guy Hollenbeck, Los Angeles, Calif., Clyde Hollenbeck, Lincoln, Neb., Will Hollenbeck, Twin Falls, and Clarence Hollenbeck, Ru-

"Hot Time!" Cold Night. Parked Late? Never mind...start up in jig-time

Bad days ahead. But here's how Winter OIL-PLATING maintains needed lubricant in advance—for Safe Quick Starts...

Your engine is up around 2 foot tall. But where is its highest oil-level? Barely 3 or 4 inches off the bottom during parking. So if you depend on crankcase oil alone, when starting up cold, you'll wait till it climbs a good ways—and goes warming around.

But now!...no more hard risky waiting for that first badly needed lubricant...not with your engine OIL-PLATED for Winter by changing today to your correct Winter grade of Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Processed into this patented oil that sells at a normal price is a rare extra substance—created by man—to fasten lubricant firmly to metal. The result is OIL-PLATING, attached to inner engine parts as closely as chrome plating is attached to bumpers. And like chrome plating, OIL-PLATING doesn't all drain down during parking, but stays up as high as the highest piston rings reach—ready to smooth out starting stroke No. 1—ready to fight for oil economy by fighting the wear of oil-starved starting. (And the less wear, the more gasoline economy, too!) Then OIL-PLATE now—at Your Milagro Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

B. P. W. Emphasizes Vote Campaign

Joins Press in Seeking U.S. "Informed Public"

Business Women's week this year, Oct. 6 to 12, is dedicated to intelligent voting, and the slogan for the week is "Women in a Democracy—Vote". To carry out such a program it is important that there be full and complete information presented to the citizens of the United States upon which they may base their decisions, the Federation believes.

Realizing that "an informed public" is essential in "Making Democracy Work," this year's study theme of the Federation, and that the newspapers are one of the most reliable agencies for imparting unbiased information, 20 members of the local B. P. W. club, headed by Mrs. Frankie Alworth, last night inspected the Times-News plant. The local papers this week are observing open house in observance of National Newspaper Week.

The 25 clubs throughout Idaho are entering enthusiastically into preparations for next week's events, according to Miss M. Hazel McCoy, Twin Falls, state president.

Plans for local observance of the week were announced today by Mrs. Alworth. Major events will be a regular meeting Monday evening, Oct. 7, at the Park hotel, at 6:30 o'clock when a guest speaker will discuss the theme "Making Democracy Work."

The week's observance will open Sunday, Oct. 6, when the Twin Falls club will attend in a body the Sunday evening service at the Christian church at 7:30 o'clock, with Rev. Mark Cronberger officiating.

Roosevelt and Willkie Endorse B. P. W. Week

Just to demonstrate again that the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs is a completely non-partisan organization, it is leading off public statements by President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie, Miss Mary Ann Reber, publicity chairman of the local Business and Professional Women's club, called to the attention of southern Idaho residents today.

Says F. D. R.—Says Willkie—

"Women in the role of voters," which is the theme of National Business Women's Week, has received the earnest support of President Roosevelt. He expressed his delight in this choice of subject in a letter to Dr. Minnie L. Mettelt, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, sponsors of Business Women's Week.

'Bott' Proclaims Idaho BPW Week

Complete text of the proclamation issued by Governor C. A. Bottolfsen, calling attention to National Business Women's Week, and asking the citizens of Idaho for appropriate observance, follows:

PROCLAMATION "WHEREAS, it is important that there be full and complete information presented to the citizens of the United States upon which they may base their decisions as to vital governmental issues, and

"WHEREAS, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs has adopted as one of its major objectives for this year's program, the task of stimulating discussion and analysis on important and unexplored fields of the problems which this nation faces in its most important task of 'Making Democracy Work'; and

"WHEREAS, in furtherance of this effort it is proposed to especially direct the attention of its members to this program during next week when special programs will be held throughout the United States.

DEMO CANDIDATES RAP BOTTOLFSEN

Aliming body-blows at the current Republican state administration, two major Democratic candidates spoke before 300 Bourbons at Legion hall last night.

Speakers were Bert H. Miller, former attorney-general who is Democratic candidate for that office this year, and Mrs. Myrtle E. Enking, state treasurer who is candidate for reelection.

Miller fired at Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen's claims of introducing the relief program from politics.

Concerning aid to Idaho old people, he said at present some 8,000 elderly persons receive an average of $23 per month whereas the G.O.P. administration could have boosted this by matching federal funds now increased from $15 per month to $20.

Mrs. Enking commended New Deal activities and cited money spent in Twin Falls county under the Roosevelt regime. In regard to state finances she asserted that Idaho is "in the red" some $100,000 now while on Jan. 1, 1939 the state had on hand $340,000.

Edward Babcock, county Democratic chairman, introduced the speakers and presented Democratic county candidates.

The Story of Your Newspaper I Am Your Photographer...

(Editor's note—The Evening Times and Twin Falls have an observing eye on the valley and are anxious to acquaint you with the news and events in publishing a newspaper. Here is the second of a series of articles by the man who produces your Evening Times.)

I'm your Evening Times photographer. I'm the guy who's on the spot whenever there's action, so that you can see exactly what happened when my shutter clicked.

It's no picnic luging around a heavy bag of film and flashlight bulbs, and a camera isn't always the handiest thing in the world. But where I go, they go. That's because we cameramen work to one main rule—"Get the picture!"

The whole world sort of focuses in this lens. I've looked at Life and Death through this finder. I've looked at the victims of accidents and killings and the people who came to mourn or just to gawk. I've focused on a lot of pretty women and their smiles and their—figures.

My camera has poked into the everyday work of men and their machines; it has caught the quick gesture of the orator and the despair of the bum trudging the railroad tracks.

Life's a parade to me. It passes.

MANY VOLUNTEER ON DRAFT SIGN-UP

Although complete details for handling registration of draft-age men Oct. 16 have not yet been received from Adj.-Gen. M. G. McCord, "many members" of precinct election boards have already volunteered free service in the registration. County Auditor Walter C. Musgrave said today.

The sign-up Oct. 16 is to be handled by the regular precinct boards at the usual polling places. Since no funds have been provided, board members all over the United States have been asked to volunteer their services.

"Response by our precinct election officials in this county has been very fine thus far," Mr. Musgrave said.

In any cases where the election officials cannot assist Oct. 16 in handling the draft registration, substitute volunteers will be sought.

All men from 21 to 35, both age inclusive, must appear at their precinct polls on the appointed day to fill out the draft blanks. The registration is only the preliminary step. Further procedure will be in hands of a county draft board to be appointed by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen.

IDAHO SPORTSMEN HEAD FOR DEER COUNTRY

Minidoka's Hunt Opens Thursday; Others October 5

Big game hunters from throughout Idaho today filed up their large bore rifles, loaded cars and headed for "wild country" as they prepared for the opening of the elk and deer hunting season that will get underway during the next few days in various sections.

Some 550 mimrodos started today for the Minidoka forest area for the annual three-day slaughter in that sector, which opens at 12:01 Thursday morning, Oct. 3.

In this hunt, which closes Oct. 7, every hunter is expected to come home with a deer because sport is staged on a preserve where the animals have increased in population until they are numerous and can be hunted from most any spot in the region.

The deer are reported to be in "good condition" by Conservation Officer C. Davis, who left yesterday for the forest preserve to line up checking stations for the hunt. At the same time Mr. Davis issued his annual warning on being careful.

In six years we've never had an accident in the Minidoka forest—and we don't want this to be any different," Davis continued.

Roads in the sector are in good condition, although a little slick since the rains.

The hazards in most sections this year are not nearly as great for the 1940 hunt as they have been in past years, due to the recent heavy rains.

While many hunters went to the Minidoka forest, many another held himself into the wilds of the central Idaho area where the season opens Oct. 5 and lasts until Nov. 6 and where a deer is caught only after miles of tracking.

Elk season opens the same day and closes Nov. 10 in Clark, Clearwater and Idaho counties and is open Nov. 16 to Dec. 1 in Fremont, Jefferson, Madison and Teton counties.

The deer season on open land is open Oct. 5 to Nov. 5 in these counties: Adams, Washington, Ada, Blaine, Boise, Butte, Clark, Custer, Elmore, Fremont, Jefferson, Lemhi, Madison, Owyhee, Teton, Valley and that portion of Idaho county east of the main Salmon and south of Little Salmon.

One Deer Per Year—Only one deer is allowed per year—and that includes the special hunt. A hunter is allowed either a buck or doe—excluding the spotted fawn, according to Mr. Davis.

Mountain goat hunting lasts 10 months this year—Oct. 15 to Oct. 31 in Lemhi, Valley, Idaho and Clearwater counties.

BOISE, Oct. 2 (UP)—Conservation officers of the state fish and game commission today completed arrangements for patrolling hunting areas during the deer season.

Game officers and forest service workers will cooperate in operating check stations for the convenience and guarding against illegal shooting.

A party of game officers also was organized to conduct a preliminary survey of game conditions in the Salmon river primitive area.

Cross-Country Track Team Starts Practice

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Oct. 2 (Special)—With all eyes pointing to retaining the Pacific coast supremacy, Coach Mike Ryan's cross-country team started training last week. First meet of the season is slated for Nov. 2 at the University of Washington college, although Ryan is negotiating for a meet with William College at Moscow or Walla Walla on Oct. 26 or 28.

Only serious losses from last year's championship squad are Captain Dick Shule and Tom Lacey. Coming up from a strong freshman team to replace them will be Hal White, Idaho high school mile champion in 1938, and Lemmer Christiansen.

Returning lettermen who will vie for places on the team are Hal White, Dick Shule and Tom Lacey. Coming up from a strong freshman team to replace them will be Hal White, Idaho high school mile champion in 1938, and Lemmer Christiansen.

Picturesque Newsom Gets First World Series Chance

Conference Games Feature Week-End H. S. Grid Slate

Filer Favored To Win Over Twin Falls

Regular conference battles get under way in earnest this week-end as southern Idaho gridiron aggregations get down to the business of attempting to win championships in the various leagues—four to be exact, in this area.

In the Southern Idaho loop, composed of the larger schools in the state, Twin Falls plays another non-conference game and for the first time since the two brothers have been opposing each other on the athletic field, Filer Wildcats will be favored to win over the Bruins.

While Coach Hank Powers has played two games, his club of inexperienced youngsters have not yet come along fast enough to be considered a championship threat in the South Idaho conference. Meanwhile Brother Bill Powers at Filer probably will put on the field one of his best teams since taking over the reigns at the Wildcat institution three years ago. Last week the Filer club downed Rupert in a conference battle, while the Bruins edged Gooding, 7-0 in a close game.

Pocatello to Caldwell
Regular South Idaho conference play features Pocatello at Caldwell, Idaho Falls at Nampa and in a non-conference tilt Burley Bobcats will crack at the Boise Braves in a game that should see the two teams play on about even terms.

In the Big Seven, Jerome Tigers open defense of their championship against the Gooding Senators and should come through, although the Solons looked good in losing to Twin Falls last week by only one point. Meanwhile, Coach John Norby's outfit fought a last-ditch stand against Shoshone and came out on top.

Oakley Tackles Buhl
Oakley goes to Buhl in another game that should be a toss-up, with the Hornets dangerous if the field is dry and they can round the football in the backfield.
Rupert Journeys to American Falls for a non-conference engagement against an old foe. The Danstlers will be favored to take this one.

In Class B ranks—11-man variety—the powerful Shoshone Indians should have no trouble overpowering the Halley Wolverines, while Haereman and Kimberly dedicate the new athletic field at Kimberly. The invaders will be the favorites to take this game, despite the fact they will be heavily outweighed.

Idaho vs. Albion
The tough touch club, winner last week over Haereman, 7-6, goes to Albion. Fairfield visits Hilditch and Wendell travels to Glenns Ferry Saturday for the Harvest Festival, U. P. day attraction.

Six-Man Grid
In Six-Man Grid, Hazelton tackles Mountain View. Coeur d'Alene goes to Dietrich, Grandview invades King Hill and Heburn visits Rupert. Eden will meet Hudson and Heburn in the Rupert six-man team.

Antelope Hunt Is Termed Successful

KETCHUM, Oct. 2 (Special)—Most of the antelope hunters participating in the five-county shoot are home, so far as this district is concerned—and it was the largest representative in the field.

There were 32 draws from Ketchum, and practically all took in the favorite field of the Pahsimero valley, where the pronghorns were reported unusually plentiful. The largest head was reported by Lou D. Hill, who with his wife and Charles Jerab, came back to town by 1 o'clock of the opening day, with three trophies.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rice, Russell Werry, J. A. Lightfoot, George Hesser and wife, "Frank" Crutchley, John Baunson, J. A. Loutsbur, Olin Reeve, and others brought in the prairie bacon, so to speak.

It was a successful hunt, and while there may have been a few slips in the 150 allotted to the three districts, each shooter accented approved satisfaction with the result, and reported plenty of game and good management in its equipment.

Steaming will remove marks in dyed velvet and velveteen garments.

Rainiers Cop Play-off From Angels

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2 (UP)—The Seattle Rainiers, winners of the Pacific Coast league pennant, today took home the playoff trophy to go with it.

Seattle whipped Los Angeles again last night to win the Shughnessy playoff, four games to two. It was the first time the playoffs have gone to the season leader since Portland did it in 1935.

Vandal Freshmen Open Practice

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Oct. 2 (Special)—Football practice for the Vandal freshmen began Monday over 50 hopefuls drawing equipment. Included in the list of aspirants: Don Anderson, "Twin Falls" brother of varsity end Chase Anderson.

The freshman squad, limited to three games by conference regulations, will open their schedule Oct. 26 when they meet the Mountain Swallows in Kellogg. The rest of the schedule will pit the Vandal "greenies" against the Gonzaga Bulldogs at Spokane Nov. 9 and the Washington State Cougar Kittens at Moscow Nov. 15.

Hurler Was 1st Tiger To Get Pennant Bee

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2 (UP)—There is no more picturesque individual in all the baseball world than Louis Norman Newsom, who will make his world series debut today by pitching the opening game for the Detroit Tigers against the Cincinnati Reds.

Buck, as he's known to the profession, or Bobo, as he calls himself, is a man of a few thousand words, mostly about himself. But nobody can blame Newsom for talking about Bobo. There is so much to tell and it is all so interesting—like the time he pitched a game with a broken knee.

That was when Newsom was pitching for Washington, Earl Averill hit him with a line drive and they were carrying him off the field when Buck overheard some remarks from the Cleveland bench about his courage. His southern blood began boiling and he stormed back out to the mound and finished the game, losing by one run. That night in the hospital the X-ray showed his kneecap had been fractured in several places.

He's Really Traveled
Newsom has bounced around plenty since he first broke into baseball with Greenville, S. C., in 1928. He's played with the Dodgers and Cubs in the National league and the Browns, Senators, Red Sox and Tigers in the American league. He made two trips to the Browns, the club from which the Tigers rescued him in 1939. Some say Buck has talked himself off more clubs than any player in history.

But Buck is harmless and the Tigers love him. They should, because he was the first Tiger to get the pennant bee this spring. In several conversations in the spring with Charlie Ward of the Detroit Free-Press Bobo talked up the Tigers' pennant chances.

Wasn't Lost 5
"We've got a lot of 'em on this club," he said, "but you know if they all come through we'll have ourselves a hell of a ball club. I wouldn't be a'fall surprised if we landed in the world series."

"I though he was crazy" Ward said today. "But here he is pitching the opening game."

Newsom won 21 games and lost five and was ever ready to help the Tiger cause. Many times during the season he picked up his glove and trotted down to the bullpen of his own volition just so he'd be ready in case Manager Del Baker needed him.

Buck's record this season is remarkable when it's considered that he was on the shelf 11 days with a broken thumb.

Newsom is one of the newspapermen's favorite characters but a man of his moods and words is bound to get into an occasional jam. But nobody can stay mad at Buck for long or vice-versa.

Greenberg Still Studies How to Play Left Field

By HENRY McLENORE
CINCINNATI, Oct. 2 (AP)—The tumult and shouting of the Tigers' final world series workout had ended, but the captain and his king did not depart. Long after the other players were in the locker room, and the groundskeepers had taken over the field, Hank Greenberg labored on.

Down in left field, and with only the youngest who was hitting fly balls to him for company, Greenberg practiced the business of going to his left, and going to his right, running back to the wall, and tearing in for short flies. He threw to all the bases, handled the long balls, and studied the drift of balls in the wind.

Hank's willingness to do a little more work, try a little harder, was reminiscent of Joe DiMaggio's determination to get his batting eye in this same park, a job he did yesterday in a full hour after his teammates had called it quits, awing at pitches. He took his cut until he began to find the range of the walls, and you'll remember it paid off in the series.

Greenberg's club have to work started the series today he is the biggest star. His salary is tops in either league. He is the American league home run king with 41; the leader in doubles with 50, top man in batting in runs with 159 bases across the plate, a 340 hitter, and far from being the worst left fielder in the business.

SEE RED

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2 (AP)—How United Press sports writers pick the world series.

George Kirksey—the Reds will win on pitching.

Harry Ferguson—Cincinnati in six games with Derringer winning two.

Henry McLenore—Pitching still is the big thing in a short series, so I like the Reds in six games.

Rookie Hurls Today in Chicago Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Vern Olsen, Rookie right hander who won 13 and lost nine in his first season with the Chicago Cubs, attempts to even the score today in game No. 2 at Wrigley field.

Old Tuddy Lyons put the finishing touches on the Cubs in his debut yesterday, 5 to 3. He let the National leaguers pick up a total of nine hits, but broke their hearts whenever they drew close. Lyons doubled in the second, driving in two runs and knocked home another with a single in the fourth.

SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
SEA Service Sports Editor

While Clark Shaugnessy obtained the most publicity because Chicago dropped the intercollegiate game, there are 24 other college coaching changes this fall.

Shaugnessy, the old Minnesota man, pulled the clubs of Stefan and Loyola of New Orleans, is reconstructing Stanford, which dropped Tiny Thornhill when the hungry left tackle ran out of Chicago, Hamiltons and Toppings who put the Cardinal in the Rose bowl three years in a row.

Another major switch on the Pacific coast sees Sipp Madigan on the sidelines at the Saint Marys he built into a football empire, and Red Strider at the helm.

The Colorado Buffs are the Cleveland Indians of college football. Bunney Oaks resigns after bagging two successive conference crowns when his athletes asked for his removal. Nick Bos, Frank Purty, who was an assistant, took over.

Vanderbilt has its third coach in modern football history. Russell Anderson, an alumna, and plants Ray Morrison, who takes his passing game to Temple, which gave up on the Warner game after developing several candidates. Old Pop Benson and his latter pupil, Fred Hwan. The latter moved to Colgate under that other great Warner disciple, little Andy Kerr.

Hill Kern transfers from Tennessee to Virginia, where they still talk of the accurate arm of Iz Rodriguez. Dr. Eddie Baker, who has Kern was taught his football by Joe Matherland at Pittsburg, takes Kern's post with the Illions.

Kansas State gets imaginative instructor in Hobbs Adams, who was Howard Harding Jones, right-hand man at Southern California. Wes Fright, when he pulled on his look, is now the backfield center at Northwestern.

Tom Linn, the old Notre Dame who spent years at Los Angeles, goes to Florida to fill the bushes of John Cody, who resigned and transferred to Temple. Harry Hill, who ran for Iowa, replaces Mike Duncan at Loyola.

Joe Reely takes his all-around talents from Chicago to Iowa. Jimmie Kilts reached the end of the line.

WELLS

Word has been received of the birth of a boy in Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bennett, Grand Rapids, Mich. The baby has been named William Wood. Mrs. Bennett will be remembered as the former Daisy Wood, Wells.

Miss Eleanor Weas, accompanied by Miss Mary Mullens, Reno, spent the week-end visiting Mrs. Ruth Weas.

Prof. Herlander, Wis. was a Wells visitor Monday.
