

ALLIANCE MAY INCLUDE CAUSE FOR JAPAN TO ENTER WAR

ITALY, GERMANY PROMISE FRENCH, DUTCH COLONIES

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—A high diplomatic source—neither British nor Chinese but widely interested in the new triple alliance joining Japan to the Home-Block axis contains secret documents regarding the political gains in the orient and tentatively providing for Japanese entry into the war against Great Britain.

This source expressed belief that Germany, Italy and Japan would enjoy existence of any secret pact with other foreign diplomats and far eastern experts who were questioned on the subject said that they were anxious to credit the reported arrangement.

Offer Colonies
It was expected that Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, at their Bremer pact meeting, sought to determine a definite date for a "triple alliance" against the British empire in Europe, Africa and the far east with the aid of Japan and to agree on its tactical aspects.

The alleged confidential provisions of the triple alliance were described as follows:
Germany and Italy agree—assuming they are victorious—to use their influence to facilitate Japan's annexation of the Dutch East Indies and French Indo-China after the war.

Germany and Italy express readiness to mediate peace between Japan and China in a sense favorable to Japan.

Germany promises to exercise to the fullest extent her diplomatic and political influence to pave the way toward a friendly settlement including a non-aggression pact between Japan and Soviet Russia.

A tentative date is fixed for Japan to enter the war against Britain and participate in the "triple blitzkrieg" by striking in the orient while Germany intensifies its blows against Britain and commences its Nazi-Fascist offensive in Egypt and the near east.

Child Speech Handicaps Called Serious Problem

She's a likable youngster, smart as a whip—but her stuttering. Her's equally likable, fully as intelligent—but weakened tongue muscles produce only a mumbling when she tries to speak.

And there you have the problem that was beginning today to be recognized as a serious matter not only in Twin Falls but throughout Idaho.

Survey Trip
Mrs. Geraldine Horst, child welfare consultant for Canyon county, left for Idaho Falls yesterday on the last leg of a survey tour through southern Idaho. Her tour, she hopes, may lead to a movement for legislation to inaugurate a state program of corrective speech, and child welfare organizations and parents.

Speech is the bridge whereby you make your contact with the world. It is the key to the social contact of the individual. It is the result in most cases is inevitable.

Because the Caldwell school system has taken the lead in corrective speech training as a result of Mrs. Horst's work, Caldwell is deluged with requests for admission from children from as far away as northern Idaho. The welfare consultant's present tour was to scan the schools for the problem in major south Idaho cities.

Defectives Here
In Twin Falls she examined 20 children, mostly in the public school system. "Corrective measures are not

PARADE SET FOR WILKIE MEETING

With the meeting date switched from Tuesday to Wednesday night an 18-piece band, composed of high school students, will parade the downtown section prior to the initial public session of the recently formed "Wilkie for President" club, it was announced this afternoon by Robert Allan, high school student who is president of the organization.

The meeting will be held at the American Legion hall Wednesday at 8 p. m. Allan said, and principal speaker will be Oscar Worthwhile, Boise, state chairman of the Idaho Wilkie club. Also present will be Mrs. Richard Simonton, Boise, chairman of the women's division of the organization.

Participation during the session will be furnished by Robert K. Dillingham, Filer magician. Several special speakers will also take part in the rally.

Speech Unintelligible
A six-year-old girl from a neighboring community could say only "unddy" and "mama," nothing more. Her speech otherwise was an unintelligible mumbling. Mrs. Horst showed the child how to form her sounds and found that the child was capable of learning to speak.

Mothers Frankie
Mrs. Horst said some mothers have offered to move to Boise or Caldwell if their retarded children could be given corrective speech training. But facilities at Caldwell are too crowded.

At Pocatello Mrs. Horst found several children who had never seen her. Five children were ever retained in speech that doctors had referred them to health workers. Their troubles included stammering, cleft palates, weak tongue muscles, and speech impediments.

The Canyon county program for the correction of speech handicaps in the public schools is an unexpected way, as Mrs. Horst explained. It is the result of a long struggle for freedom that did their fathers.

Face Harsh World
The President of the youths of the mid-Hudson valley who will be educated in the new institutions that they face a harsher world and a greater struggle for freedom than did their fathers.

The governmental function of free universal education and protection of citizenry against destitution, he said, are proving "more and more vital to the continuance of our democracy."

It has always been recognized as a responsibility of government to give every child the right to a free and liberal education, the President said. "In the last decade this right of free education which has become a part of the national life in our land, has taken on additional significance from events in the world, for a large portion of the world, the right no longer exists."

WIC CLINGS OUT VICTORY OVER ARMSTRONG

Bell Saves Henry From Knock-out In Bloody Battle

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Fritzie Zivic, the miracle man of maul, is ready to defend his brand new world welterweight crown against Henry Armstrong just as soon as Armstrong recovers from the bloody beating Zivic gave him at Madison Square Garden last night.

Zivic, a brown-haired, must-nosed lad from Pittsburgh, landed the great Armstrong the worst beating of his career last night — had Armstrong lying flat on his back at the final bell that ended their 15-round melee.

That bell saved Armstrong from his first knockout, but every expert at the ringside agreed that had the fight lasted another minute, Armstrong would have been knocked out.

Gives Return Shot Under his contract, Zivic is bound to give Armstrong first crack in the 15-round crowd and within four months. But most of the boxing writers who gazed upon Armstrong's bloodied countenance and jagged, wounded if Armstrong could be ready to fight Zivic within four months.

'Bloodied' is a mild description of Armstrong's face when he hit the canvas in the final second of the bout. His face looked like coaling hamburger. And his flop clinched for Zivic the unanimous decision of referee and judges.

Armstrong then was hit by a raspberry target, bleeding from gashes above both eyes, from his left cheek, from his nose and nose. Hurricane Hank explained later in the dressing room that he could not see out of his left eye after the third round, and that he was virtually blinded in both eyes after the 10th—that with blood from his brow.

Zivic was Underdog Armstrong's defeat was a bit tragic, because he had been one of the greatest fighters in pugilistic history. But he went down with his colors flying. He was punching well until he hit the deck—just as he had been during those furious rounds—when he stood toe to toe with a younger and stronger man and tried to knock him out.

Unfortunately for him, he had tracked a lad superior in brain and brawn, although Zivic was a 4-1 underdog. He was a 4-1 underdog.

Fritzie beat Armstrong at this own game—at in-fighting. Although Fritzie beat Armstrong at this own game—at in-fighting. Although Fritzie beat Armstrong at this own game—at in-fighting.

With both hands never up and down the field, but never quite mustering enough power to score a deciding point, the game was witnessed by some 800 fans. The biggest crowd to see a football game here in history. The fans nearly filled the new grand stand which seats 1,000.

During the half-time intermission, President of Alton Normal College gave the dedicatory address. Introduced by Sup. L. A. Bruins Pound out 27-6 Win Over Fighting Filer Team

Flashing a brand of football entirely new to the 1940 model Twin Falls eleven, Coach Hank Powers' Bruins knocked over the Wildcatters of Filer high school by a 27-6 count at Lincoln field last night.

Cutting loose with surprising power and snap, Twin Falls featured a revamped backfield combination that functioned, with telling effect throughout the tussle.

The defending champions of the Southern Idaho Big Six conference, still facing their next test this year in league competition, operated as a powerful unit to rack up a touchdown in the first quarter, and a pair in the second and make it a big triumph with one more counter in the third frame.

Statist's Even The result was all the more remarkable because of Filer's high rating and dangerous offense. Statistics showed the Wildcatters to be as good as the Bruins when it came to pulling up yardage, but the visitors' confined most of their ground-gaining activities to the middle section of the field.

High Patton and Chuck Thomas, veteran studs, received a large portion of help in the form of excellent blocking by new backfield teammates, young Glenn Terry, whose hard-hitting play highlighted Twin Falls' prospects for the remainder of the season.

Power Hitters Come Through With Home Runs in Third Game

DETROIT, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds called upon a young player named Junior Thompson today to risk life and limb by striding into the Tiger's lair and attempting to twist his tail.

Leading two games to one in the world series, playing on their home grounds before a friendly crowd and banking baseballs against familiar fences the Detroit Tigers predict they will chew Thompson and the Reds to pieces and sew up the championship of baseball (today and tomorrow).

"We don't want to go back to Cincinnati to play any more ball games," said Ed Baker, manager of second year who we are going to finish it quick."

Thompson, a young right hander who got a passing from the New York Yankees in the world series last year, was on the spot. He not only had to face the awesome array of Detroit hitters but he didn't know who would be out there pitching against him. Going in for a bit of psychology, Baker refused to show his starting pitcher although he did say it would be either Buck Newcom, victor in the first game, or Dizzy Trout, a talkative young man who can pitch inspired baseball when he thinks the stars are right.

Newcom, if he goes, will be carrying a heavy burden. His father died Thursday in Cincinnati just after watching Buck pitch the Tigers to victory. Dizzy Trout, who held Cincinnati Thursday and Newcom came to continue in the series. The Tigers are in a position to gamble now and they will really be taking a gamble if they start Trout. He can be very good but he also can be very bad and it is possible for him to lose a ball game before another pitcher can be warmed up.

A crowd of the social series so far is that you can ban the power hitters temporarily—as Bucky Walters did in the second game—but sooner or later they will knock the brains out of a pitcher. Detroit is loaded with power hitters and yesterday the Detroit boys were working on their side. They hit for everything in the book—singles, doubles, a triple and two home runs.

Three pitchers worked for Cincinnati—Jim Turner, Whitley Moore and Joe Begg—and the Tigers plattered them all with a fine and reckless impartiality.

Dodgers Climb In National Gridiron Race

(By United Press) The Brooklyn Dodgers moved into second place in the national professional football race last night with a 30-17 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The crowd of 24,000 cheered the Dodgers in their debut under new coach, Jack Sutherland. A 40-yard field goal gave the Eagles a brief lead in the first period but 67 and 55-yard touchdowns in the second period put Brooklyn in front to stay.

The Chicago Cardinals met the Detroit Lions tonight, tomorrow Washington takes on the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Bears meet Cleveland.

For every man flying a plane today, there are 17 men backing him on the ground.
