WALTERS SHUTS OUT TIGERS AS REDS EVEN SERIES

CINCINNATI STAR HITS HOMER AS TEAM WINS, 4-0

By HARRY FERGUSON CROSLY FIELD, CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 7 (UP)—Hitting a towering home run over the left field wall and pitching a superb shutout, Bucky Walters became a one-man ball team today to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 0 and square the world series for the Cincinnati Reds.

The big, bow-legged pitcher was the whole show on this cool and quiet afternoon as he brought the Reds out of the shadow of defeat and sent them into the seventh and final game tomorrow with an even chance for the championship of baseball.

His stinker ball dropped and carried a slow one over the fence as the first time he was hit, Walters, receiving another bitter lesson in the school of hard knocks, was taken out when he had only been able to get one man out.

Johnny Goralski finished the first inning for the Tigers, and pitcher after pitcher, but Walters was sweeping his stuff across the plate, Detroit never had a chance after the first inning.

Bill Werber, a painful thorn in the flank of the Tigers in this series, pulled a double against the left field wall in the first inning and went down to third on McCormick's sacrifice. He was then hit by a single down the first base line, scoring Werber. Frank McCormick picked out one of the schoolboy's errors and came in to pitch.

Walters' home run came in the eighth inning with Freddie Hutchinson on the bases in place of Gordon, who had been runner for a pinch hitter. The ball came in straight and fast and Walters leaped and gave it all of his 187 pounds. It shot high and straight for the left field fence and Hank Greenberg alone in the air, as the ball dropped over into the street.

WILKIE BLASTS HAGUE IN SPEECH AT JERSEY CITY

APPLAUSE, BOOS GREET NOMINEE ON EASTERN TRIP

BY WILLIAM H. LAWRENCE
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 7 (UP)—Wendell L. Wilkie came to Democratic Jersey City today and said Mayor Frank Hague was "a puny little fellow."

Wilkie spoke in formal square, heart of Hague's political stronghold, denouncing "boss rule" by any person that deprives you of the exercise of civil liberties and that "should be treated like the enemy."

"The Hagies must have forgotten all about American principles," the Republican presidential candidate said.

Some of the crowd boomed "Frank Hague—Frank Hague," and others "Wendell Wilkie—Wendell Wilkie," as he walked through the city.

At a part of the speech, the crowd applauded. A few boos were intermingled.

Hague, Wilkie said, tried to tell Jersey City people who could speak in Jersey square and who could not.

Appealing for votes, Wilkie promised to rebuild domestic economy, establish adequate defense, promote national unity, continue relief until all unemployed get jobs.

The Jersey City speech was the first of a tour through northern New Jersey in search of the 15 electoral votes.

When the crowd quieted, Wilkie began talking about Hague. The crowd applauded. A few boos were intermingled.

The printer, as conveyed to us by the press, yields an influence of tremendous importance, penetrating every family in the community.

"The people of the Twin Falls empire are especially blessed by the Evening Times and the Twin Falls press, which are the most important of the news, fresh, clean and undistorted."

Rev. N. H. Zaehl, Immanuel Lutheran church—"The better equipped a community with the inner mechanism of its newspaper, the greater will be its interest in the important institution. A live public interest in a vital institution will insure both the welfare of the public and the institution as well."

Rev. L. D. Smith, Church of the Nazarene (Rev. Smith's message was read from the pulpit in his absence)—"In these dark days of war, aggression and dictatorship, we thank God for the United States of America and the constitution. We are very thankful for the things our democracy guarantees us, freedom of speech and press. Therefore we are very happy to observe National Newspaper week and trust that we shall have freedom of press."

"We also wish to thank the Twin Falls newspapers, the Times and News, for their service to our people and the people of Idaho."

Rev. Claude Pratt, Church of God—"My business calls me away from home a good many times and I am always glad to return and again take up my reading of the Times and News. We take both papers. It just seems that the news is gotten up in a compact form and I feel like I can enlighten myself as to what is going on without reading too much unnecessary bulky reading and from an advertising standpoint we don't feel that we could get along without the Times and News. They are our greatest asset in a business way. We believe in the newspaper advertising over handbills and circular letters. They bring us greater results."

CONGRESS LAYOFF LOCOMS TUESDAY OR WEDNESDAY

RECESS SET TO LAST UNTIL FALL ELECTION NOV. 5

By LYLE C. WILSON
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (UP)—The third session of the 76th congress—the national defense congress—is in recess for its campaign layoff and probably will go home tomorrow or next day.

Democratic leaders propose a recess until Nov. 18. Republicans want a series of three-day recesses beyond election day during which a skeleton new would go through momentary noon-time motions of meeting and recessing a couple of times a week.

Work Still to Be Done

Before taking a vacation, the House must act on conference report on the Ranspeck civil service bill which would allow the President to extend the civil service status to several thousand federal workers, and the Senate and House must act on conference reports on a rivers and harbors authorization and on a bill to ease installment payments, care for the insurance premiums and present eviction of men conscripted for military training.

This session refused to adjourn last spring when President Roosevelt suggested that little remained for it to do. Since then it has voted new bills for national defense, approved new tax schedules, imposed new time conservation and approved the mobilization of the national guard.

Got What He Wanted

Mr. Roosevelt got substantially what he wanted. He was able to protect the national labor relations act and the wage-hours act from amendment. It is expected in three years Mr. Roosevelt's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements, required the registration and filing of minutes of all executive orders. Mr. Roosevelt's authority to place water carriers on the inland waterways barge lines—under the interstate commerce commission.

Sen. William E. Borah, R., Senate dean, and Speaker William B. Bankhead, D., Ala., died. Sen. Ernest Lindbergh, Farmer-Laborite, Minn., was killed in an airplane crash.

Approximately $12,000,000,000 was appropriated or estimated in contracts authorized for defense spending. Congress first authorized an 11 per cent increase in the navy and then a 70 per cent increase.

RUMANIAN MOVE FIRST BRENNER MEET RESULT

By J. W. T. MASON
 United Press War Expert

Reports from Bucharest of the arrival in Rumania of heavily armed German troops, who may be followed by an Italian force, are the first revelation of new action by the totalitarian dictators since their meeting at Brenner last week. Axis military concentration in Rumania would be aimed at strengthening the entrenchment of Rumania, whose strategic position is menaced by the new triple alliance.

Berlin and Rome deny troops have gone to Rumania and Germany brought pressure to bear on the Rumanian leader today to repudiate his earlier confirmation of the Bucharest reports. It seems apparent from this confusion that Hitler and Mussolini want to conceal as far as possible their new Danubian action, which is tantamount to assuming military control of Rumania, while the Rumanians wish to call world attention to the sudden move.

Reports the Germans intend to take over training of the Rumanian army and undoubtedly the Rumanian fighting force has been demobilized and is in very poor condition. Its reorganization by German specialists, in conjunction with establishment of German divisional garrisons in Rumania, would strengthen considerably the axis position in southeastern Europe against Russia.

Too, German domination of the Rumanian army with the introduction of German military discipline would check possibilities of conspiring against the recent partitioning of Rumania on German and Italian orders. Rumors of impending civil strife in Rumania have been circulated ever since the territorial grants to Hungary and Bulgaria.

Statements that German military action in Rumania is simply to protect oil wells against sabotage show anxiety to camouflage the real axis purpose. The Rumanians, themselves, have been able to safeguard the wells from local interference. But, Russia's new military bases in Bessarabia, put the Slav air bombers within half an hour's flying time of the Rumanian air fields, and that is a matter of grave importance for the totalitarian states.

CANYON VICTIM'S FAMILY SOUGHT

Local police today redoubled their efforts to find relatives of a man found dead in Rock creek canyon Saturday during the noon hour and also enlisted the aid of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in establishing positive identification.

The man, about 45 years old, was tentatively identified as Louis Arthur Cummings, Nampa, but police there said they knew nothing of the man. A check at an address found on his person, in which he had written that Rose Cummings, Nampa, there said they knew nothing of the man. Neighbors, likewise, did not know of the man.

Coroner A. A. Newberry said today that the man suffered a "terrible" skull fracture which would have caused death immediately. He was also injured internally. He had fallen or been pushed from the rim of the body was found nearly 100 feet below at the edge of the canyon.

Local police closely questioned many transients but could learn nothing of the man. If he had a bedroll with him someone had taken it, they said.

Coroner Newberry said that it would be next to impossible to determine if the fracture had been caused by a blow on the head or entirely by the fall. He said no inquiry would be held unless police investigation brings something to light along the criminal line.

Meanwhile the body rests at the Reynolds funeral home. Fingerprinters of the dead man's hands will be taken by police Sunday and mailed to Washington, D. C., by airmail.

WIDENED OUTLET GOAL FOR SPUDS

Local dealers this afternoon reported that the Idaho Advertising Association, through its chairman E. N. Pettigrove, today reiterated its purpose of securing wider distribution for Idaho products in terminal markets. "The commission's advertising agencies and its dealer-service field men are working to that end."

Greater Results Now

Pettigrove also pointed to the greater productivity of the advertising dollar secured from the one-half-cent-per-hundred-weight tax on potatoes and onions. "Greater work for advertising of potatoes and onions in the best markets of the nation was laid in 1939 and 1938," Pettigrove wrote. "That now means that every dollar expended today goes further toward the actual merchandising of the two Idaho products."

Starting from scratch in 1938 when the commission was given the "go ahead" signal after more than a year of litigation, it was forced by necessity of expending efforts and cash in studying and assembling needed data for actual merchandising campaigns on a sure footing.

"Now that work has been accomplished, it can easily be understood that the monies available from the advertising fund are put to work for the greatest good."

Reduction by the 1939 legislature of the advertising tax from one cent to one-half cent cut the budget in half. The cut had the effect of curtailing not the quality and effectiveness of the advertising, but the Idaho product which would be advertised this season in newspapers in 27 key markets of the east and the middle west. There are 50 to 100 other important markets in which advertising would aid in the sale and distribution of Idaho's famed russets.

If the money were available, we would be advertising in some 80 markets instead of in 27," Pettigrove concluded.

Here's Why Times-News Commercial Printing Is Tops

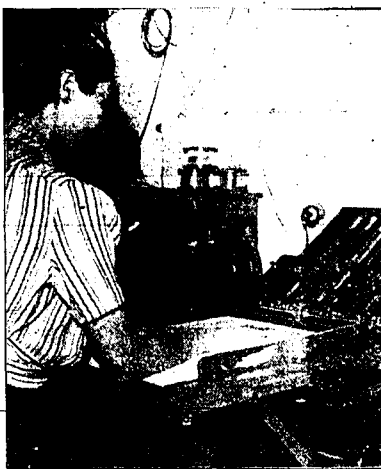

Here the typewriter "locks" the form for a job, making it ready for proofing and printing.

While the apprentice cuts the paper the desired size on the electric power cutter.

The pressman receives the form after it has been properly proofed and starts the Miehle vertical automatic press, cylinder type, which will print the placards at the rate of 3,600 to 4,800 copies an hour.

And for booklets and folders, the department assistant "feeds" the sheets of paper through the Baum spread automatic folder at the rate of 2,800 copies per hour.

A passing tourist eagerly reads an attractive pamphlet describing points of interest in southern Idaho... a bookkeeper works diligently... a group of students fills out dance programs before all the dances are gone... off in Indiana a woman opens her mail and finds a clever announcement of her daughter's first born... the woman "next door" makes a formal call on a new resident... But very few stop to wonder how the pamphlet, the ruled forms, the dance programs, the announcements, the calling cards, the stationery, or any of hundreds of similar items were made.

pressmen, a series of hand and mechanical presses, a variety of type fonts and a large supply of "job" paper and inks on hand to complete a job in the shortest time possible at the least cost possible. There's glamor in the job department... even if the first glance at the type cases, paper cutters, presses, binders, metal saws, paper, inks, punchers, perforators, round-corner cutters, stapling machines and stencils isn't especially beautiful or alluring.

Jenny Jones has been named by the Boosters' club at the City school to see that programs are ready for the annual spring formal. The club wants them printed in their colors, red and blue, on a satiny white background with a particular kind of white cover. Let's go with Jenny to see how she gets the job done. First, she talks with the job man, telling him approximately what she wants and the quantity she needs. He brings out samples which answer her description of paper desired. They determine the size the finished programs will be. How many pages they'll contain, the kind of type with which she wants them printed... there are 100 different fonts for her to choose from, but only a certain portion would be suitable for the type of work she wishes done... and when she wants them delivered.

the final O.K. from her and proceeds to print the desired number of programs. If there's more than one page to the program, the printed pages go to a bindery girl who assembles them in the proper order and staples or ties them together... after the ink has dried... and they are already ready for the Boosters' club's dance. And there's your "glamor" in the commercial printing business. In keeping with their policy of doing all they can toward the progress of newspapers and work associated with newspapers, the Times-News has an excellent equipped job shop. Included in the equipment are two Chandler and Price hand-fed copy presses, one with a 10-inch by 15-inch bed and another 12-inch by 18-inch bed... On this press it is possible to print sixteen 6 by 9 inch pages at one operation... which would mean a total of thirty-two thousand copies of a page that size in one hour. The department carries $2,000 worth of job stock on hand at all times... which means an exceptionally wide variety of kinds, colors, texture and grade of paper. And soon to be added... it is expected that it will arrive the first of the week... an offset spray gun, which will enable the job men to cover the paper with a chemical to prevent the type from blurring as one sheet touches another immediately after coming off the press. So far as is known, there are only two or three such spray guns in use in Idaho. As improved methods of printing are made available, the Times-News secures these to enable them to serve the public in the fastest and most economical manner possible.

Indestructible Bob Hope Busiest Actor in World

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—I hope Bob Hope is hobnobbing around when you read this, because I want to write little tribute to the saddle-nosed, lean, amiable Iron Man of the Movies.

Last time I saw him was at the end of the aerial excursion for "The Warner" premiere in Texas. As about 30 of us left our planes to go home and do a Rip Van Winkle for a week, Mr. Hope breezed away amid gay quips to keep a golf date and then to work on a new script. Of course, he may have fallen to pieces as soon as he got around the first corner.

Unquestionably, Bob Hope is the busiest master-of-ceremonies, personal-appearance maker, screen actor, radio performer and beneficiary who ever lived. His immediate schedule includes a week at the San Francisco Auto Show and five days with the Warner Brothers' expedition to South Bend, Ind., for the "Katie Rocknes" premiere. Those chores will brighten him up for his role, "with Blug Crosby, in 'The Road to Zanibar'.

The comedian does all such things, effortlessly, and loves to do 'em. If nobody would pay him thousands of dollars a week, he'd do them for fun. He now has to turn down lots of big offers, but he'll still play a charity benefit at the drop of a hat.

No Brush-Off for Fans
On this "Wreath"er trip to Fort Worth and Dallas, Hope landed after a sleepless night and for two days and nights manialed every ceremony in an event-filled marathon. He played four theaters, preceded showings of the picture, officiated at five broadcasts, took over the microphone at two thousand-one dinner, five assorted parties and balls, and a big charity show.

He autographed every hat, program, button and scrap paper he could touch, and even a few that were handed into his bathroom at one of the hotels. Convinced by a crowd in a lobby or on a street, he'd trade wisecracks with admirers until recalled by police, he never tried to brush off the fans.

If he had anything to say, it was on the second morning, with breakfast in his room. I have never heard Bob Hope utter one complaining or ill-humored word, even to those to whom he doesn't need to impress. Of course, he's a mercenary rascal and a ruthless stealer of scenes. After some joking introduction by Charley Ruggles, Hope said, "Well, Charley, you and I are over, I'd like to tell you."

At one of the theaters, he deliberately ignored the fact that he was at an anxious Edward Arnold who could be seen waving from the wings. In retaliation, Arnold introduced Sam Goldwyn and Bruce Cabot to walk with him across the stage behind Hope, chatting together and never glancing at the audience. Hope didn't even look around to see who was trying to break up his act. He merely glared and told his audience: "That's a new act, breaking in for the show next week."

Goldwyn Scuffed
During the last show in Dallas, the comedian actually had Dallas rolling around on the floor of the house. The banding producer had been standing at Hope's side awaiting an introduction. Hope kept on

PATRIOTISM HIGH IN NEW ZEALAND

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (U.P.)—The tiny dominion of New Zealand is now leading a war effort surpassing its record of 1914-1918.

In the World War, New Zealand gave up $9,000 volunteers in the first 15 months of the conflict. With the present European battle barely a year old this dominion in the Pacific has produced 80,000 volunteers. A total of approximately 100,000 went overseas in the four years of the World War. A year ago the Third Expedition of New Zealand's modern expeditionary force, the last contingent of a 20,000-man division, sailed for duty abroad.

New contingents are being mustered daily, volunteer service rendered by the navy, and the production of war effort seems more significant in view of the fact that New Zealand is more acute than in 1914-18. In the last war when the Anzacs went abroad to fight they had little fear for the immediate safety of their homes. Today their picturesque, up-brimmed "diggers" hats there is the ever-present thought that invasion "from the north" is not an impossibility.

Alert to Home Threat

New Zealanders are alert to the threat of invasion. One veteran army captain explained the situation like this:

"At present we are doing everything in our power to give Great Britain men and material aid. Our immediate fate lies in the Battle of Britain, Germany and Italy can see that we are here but we are not mass attack from them. Our chief concern is the possibility of a war in the Pacific. In that event New Zealand would be an invaluable base for any power. Our huge harbors at Auckland and Wellington are large enough for any warship afloat."

"For its home defense New Zealand hopes to have at least three divisions. Approximately half of this number has been equipped thus far. Their equipment, however, consists only of rifles, machine field guns and some anti-aircraft pieces. At Auckland and Wellington there are coastal batteries.

Planes Second Class

In its air force, New Zealand has Airspeed Oxford reconnaissance bombers. They are far from what might be desired, but officers believe they would be a match for fighter planes an enemy force could bring to these shores.

There has been more than 15,000 recruits for the air force. Nearly 800 pilots have gone to Britain. When the war began New Zealand undertook to provide 1,000 pilots a year for the empire. That figure subsequently was increased to 1,500 and now has been raised to 2,000. Some of them will receive their final training in Canada under the empire air training scheme.

In addition to planes now on hand, New Zealand has an order with delivery expected shortly for 140 more Airspeed Oxfords, 105 biplanes, probably 250 bombers and 90 Tiger motors.

New Zealand has more coastline than England, but its navy has never been developed beyond a precautionary stage. Before the war the navy personnel was only 88 officers and 1,200 men. This has now been increased to 211 officers and 2,429 men. It has only two light cruisers—the Achilles, which participated in the Great Spite battle, and the Leander. These are supplemented by some mine sweepers and auxiliary craft.

The Harmony circle, which is composed of the music pupils of Mrs. Roy Parsons met Saturday at the home of Mrs. Vera Lott, with Mrs. Jack Woodhead acting hostess. An interesting clipping on "Mozart" was read by Mrs. Lott. Mrs. Lott read a paper on "Mozart" and Miss Ruth Reed gave an interesting talk on her trip to Kentucky.

Mrs. Don Stone and Mrs. Maryon (Hibbs) were hostesses to Methodist Ladies' Aid Wednesday. Rev. and Mrs. Dallas McNeil, Wendell, were present. Rev. McNeil spoke on the changing of the society which will now be known as "The Society for Christian Service," and the duties of the society. There were 32 members present.

Captain Harold C. Parsons, who is with the Army Reserve, has been called to Fort Knox, Kent., where he will teach in the mechanized division. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons and Mary Joe, who have been at Salt Lake City, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parsons, before leaving for Kentucky on Tuesday.

Hugh Atterburn left Thursday for McMill, Nev., where he will visit Norman Atterburn and Mr. and Mrs. Denton Atterburn.

Miss Beale Sande of Lava Hot Springs is visiting at the Ralph Peltin home.

Thinking of You

Press agents being notorious practitioners of the old army game, it's no surprise that because Marie Hart, burlesque queen, was "worried" that national guardsmen might get lonely during her active duty, she sent Maj. Gen. William Haskell, New York commandant, 5,000 addressed copies of her photo, above, asked him to distribute them to his troops. She specified "bachelors only."

OLD WEST LOSES PIONEER SMITHY

AMARILLO, Tex., (U.P.)—The rooming house on the Fortanillo Plaza came closer to its passing with the closing of the city's oldest business institution—the blacksmith shop of John Ridings, pioneer Amarillo resident, closed his shop and sold his buildings and equipment at auction.

The saga of Ridings and his 50 years of unflinching parallels the story of the development of the cattle and sheep country of the Panhandle. His is a story forged as indelibly into the history of the state as the marks of the hour he hammered to the "whitefaces" of the cattle country.

Shop Opened in 1860

Ridings' shop is a small boy to Amarillo with his father, A. L. Ridings. In 1860 his father opened a blacksmith shop and it has continued in operation by the family through the years that saw the horse, the boot, the branding iron dominant in the life of the range.

The smithy shop moved several times. The first building, Ridings said, was an extremely fragile structure.

"When the wind blew right hard, I never knew which side of the street that building was going to end up on. The roof would whip up and down and the side boards would push in and out."

John Ridings entered the blacksmithing business against the wishes of his father.

"Father never wanted me to get started in smithing," he said, "and as a young fellow I tried by hand at being a cowboy. Worked for the old CTR and then the Ridings moved out to New Mexico and worked on the old Circle B ranch."

Gave up the Ridings

He soon got his fill of that and returned to Amarillo to enter partnership with his father. The father and son worked together until about 15 years ago when the elderly man dropped out of business affairs.

Ridings' forge created many of the famous brands of the cattle country.

"Out of the shops," he related, "have come the brands which led the flanks of cows belonging to the XIT, the T-Anchor, the LX, the Bivins, the James Brothers, and the Coots Brothers and a lot of others."

Now Ridings will retire. He will keep his hand in iron work, however, by setting up a portable forge at his home and making fancy wrought work.

Decision Widens Scope

Need for the proposed regulation arose from a recent decision of the U. S. supreme court in the Berwind-White case. The court held that the New York City sales tax could be applied to Pennsylvania coal shipped into the city on order from a New York branch office of the Pennsylvania firm. This decision widened the scope of state taxation of interstate sales.

The proposed regulation was adopted after an extensive study by a committee made up of representatives of Iowa, Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri sales tax departments. It has been recommended to the states for legislative action by the National Association of Tax Administrators.

The committee is studying other instances where uniformity of tax regulations would simplify the administration of sales tax law and reduce the taxpayer's cost in complying with them.

Speaker Discusses Opium Problem

FILER, Oct. 7 (Special)—Filer Kiwanis club was addressed at their Tuesday luncheon meeting by Henry B. Hall, executive secretary of the Anti-Narcotic League of California; he addressed members on the subject of opium production.

He also spoke in the Nazarene church Monday night and at an assembly of the rural high school students Tuesday morning.

Quoting chief O-Man J. Edgar Hoover, Hall said more 19 year olds were finger printed in 1939 than any other age group and 18 years was the next highest. Among the 16 year and 24 year groups, 200,000 were finger printed in 1939 for the first time.

At a recent international conference on opium, refusal of nations to cooperate in control of the drug was made because of huge taxes on its production proved a stumbling block.

HARMONY CAUGHT BY NEW DEVICE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., (U.P.)—Lovebirds beware! The machine age is catching up with you.

Dr. E. D. Shapley, Harvard anthropologist, has invented and perfected a mechanical device for measuring human relations.

Subjected to its analysis, you might be told that, as a couple, you were emotionally incompatible and that your marriage more likely than not would end on the rocks.

Equally as likely, this innocuous appearing machine might report that a couple fairly brimming with harmony at any rate, it is destined as a true-saving instrument that will discover in a few minutes what it takes some people years — and years — to discover. Namely, that they just can't get along.

Here is a way of scientifically measuring the emotional interactions of people in other words, a yardstick has been whittled out of exact applied science which may be laid on the hither indelible way one person adjusts himself to another in harmony, or discord. The clash of personalities tells the story.

This entirely new technique of measuring the personality of individuals is based on the recordings of an apparatus which bears a strong resemblance to an adding machine.

The couple submitting to the analysis are placed in a small room where they sit and converse. Hidden by a one-way screen, Dr. Shapley records their physical reactions by pressing the keys of his instrument, crystallizing them in jagged ink-lines on a slowly moving tape. When the test is over these markings can be analyzed with mathematical precision, and with stop formulas are interpreted in terms of human and social behavior.

COAL THIEVES METHODOICAL

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (U.P.)—Famous coal to fill two railroad cars is stolen every month from the New York Central's engine refusing siding along Black street here. The coal disappears into bushel baskets, sacks, pail carts, or whatever the thieves bring along to carry their loot home.

WHAT EFFECT your printed material will have always depends on the care and skill used in its preparation . . . for an experienced craftsman with an eye for effective presentation and a knack for judicious typography can make all printing distinctive.

As in everything else, hit-and-miss printing no longer measures up to modern standards. Reproduction must be perfect, illustrations must radiate every detail, colors must be carefully blended and registered exactly.

Workmen in the Times and News commercial printing department pride themselves in their artistry and perfection. ### ROSE BOWL NOMINEES TAKE BEATINGS IN PACIFIC UPSETS

Ace Tiger Pitcher Limits Cincinnati To Three Bingles

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 7 (AP)—A bowlegged, right hand pitcher standing in the breach for the Cincinnati Reds, is the only obstacle blocking the path of the Detroit Tigers today to their first world championship of baseball since the great era of Mickey Cochrane.

Leading three games to two and needing only one more victory to win the series, the Detroit Tigers swaggered into town with their big bats last night.

Talk on trains that rattled all night between Detroit and Cincinnati was about Buck Newsom and the courageous, glittering game he pitched yesterday to win an 8 to 0 victory and send Detroit out in front. Buck not only threw a three-run game and the first shutout of the series, but he did it at a time when his heart was heavy with grief and his usually lustrous tongue was stilled by sorrow. His father died in Cincinnati on Thursday morning after watching Buck win the first world series game and one of the last wishes expressed on his death bed was that his boy should go out and win another one.

Falls to Smile Grim faced, and for the first time in his life, indifferent to the request of photographers for a smile, Buck went out and made good on that promise.

Taking a windup like a Dutch windmill, and kicking his leg high in the air, Newsom took command of the ball game from the time he faced the first hitter. Meanwhile, the bats of the Tigers volved and splintered and in the third inning Hank Greenberg's towering home run high up in the left field stand scored Barney McCosky and Charley Gehring ahead of him for enough runs to win the game.

Give of Buck a lead like that and the reaction of his pitcher, his father, and he is unbeatable. That's the way he was in Briggs stadium yesterday and toward the end of the game he was toying with the Reds, feeding them slow balls and then driving them back with high, hard ones when they got reckless and crowded the plate.

Junior Thompson, a right hander who is completing his second season as the major league victim of the Tigers' wrath. After Greenberg hit his homer and three runs poured across in the third, Thompson thought the worst had happened to him. Little did he know of the misery all ahead. In the fourth he was again against the batter, Dick Bartel whammed a double down the left field foul line scoring Billy Sullivan who had walked. When Thompson got rattled and balked McCosky, he was walked and Whitley Moore came in to try to stem the tide for the Reds. He didn't improve the situation and by walking Gehring and Rudy York and allowing Bruce Campbell to single, before the inning was over, four more runs had scored and the Reds were out of the game.

Albion Normal Gridders Work On Defenses

ALBION, Oct. 7 (Special) Coach Orville Hill and his Panther gridders of Albion Normal college are down to the business of defensive play today after the home team secured a 22-20 beating from the College of Idaho Coyotes on Saturday afternoon.

Next game on the Albion schedule is against the ball up Hoop Jitters college and if he can possibly do it, Coach Hill plans on a better defense.

The senior pitcher stated before Saturday's game that his defense was weak and the only Albion pitcher was to make the difference. That prediction proved to be correct.

The two clubs battled to a 7-7 deadlock in the first quarter, with the Hoop Jitters leading at the half. The victors scored twice in the third frame, to snap by the Panthers, and ending the game with a 22-20 final score.

Standout performers were Dutch Sherman for the invaders and Don DeLoe, Panther quarterback. DeLoe did some fine passing and kicking.

Vandals Take 21-0 Beating From Huskies

SEATTLE, Oct. 7 (AP)—Idaho Vandals today had returned to Seattle after a crushing defeat from the local field with a 21-0 defeat plastered on them by the University of Washington Huskies.

Coach Alvin Frelan used three full teams and many other substitutes again the Idaho aggregation and the home team piled up a 21-0 advantage in the first half and then coasted through the last two frames.

First score came on the fifth play of the game when Jack Stackpool went through center for 32 yards and a touchdown. Two more touchdowns came in the second period and were scored by the reserves.

Only Idaho thrust was against the Husky first string team in the opening quarter after the Washington score. Led by George Nixon, the Vandals ploughed ahead to the Husky five-yard strip, only to be held by the Husky line on the four-yard line.

Here Are Deer Shot in Open Hunt

Reds in Favored Position With Walters, Derringer Ready to Hurl

Pitching Edge Goes to Ohio In Last Tilt

By LAST KIRSEY CINCINNATI, Oct. 7 (AP)—The National league champions finally have arrived at the desert course. The first game in the four-game series they've gotten down to the sixth game.

And in the other two it didn't do them any good because they had played all their acts getting that far. In 1936 the Giants had to go with Fred Fitzsimmons in the sixth spot and he was killed by the Yanks. The year before the Cubs came down to the sixth game and he was killed by the Yankees.

The Reds in 1934 the Catalans came down to the sixth game with the brothers Dean ready to go to the firing line. That year's stretch exactly as this one does today, the Tigers leading by three games to two.

The two Area Available. The Reds in 1934, are coming into the stretch with their two aces, Buck Walters and Paul Derringer, ready for duty.

Considering everything that has happened in the series the Reds can consider themselves fortunate to have come this far. They're ready playing without the services of two regulars—E. F. Larnach, who played the last part of the season, and Louie Frawley, and they have a call end of the batting order that has been so much deadweight.

Heavy hitters. Pukky Higgins, No. 7 hitter in the Tigers lineup, has tipped that he himself, scoring two and driving in six runs. Or add Bruce Campbell, Detroit's No. 8 hitter, to Higgins and they've accounted for more runs than the combined efforts of the entire Cincinnati team.

But from here in there are going to have to swing against the bats of the Hoop Jitters, a pitcher, Derringer. There aren't going to be any more Turners, Thompsons, Moores, Bergases, etcetera, that will be the Hoop Jitters' call for the rest of the day or 'till Paul' falls up tomorrow.

Somebody Mixed up on Hunting Season; 4 Elk Killed Saturday

HAILLEY, Oct. 7 (Special)—Somebody is mixed up in the territory covered by open season on elk hunting in Idaho—and when that somebody is caught it is going to go hard with him—or her.

Four elk were killed Saturday by Greenhorn guides and today a posse headed by Sheriff D. J. Howe, Tom Mixer, conservation officer, and Deputy Sheriff Ward Breck were scouring the country for the killers—as they did all day Sunday and part of Saturday.

It was announced here that the so-called "sportsmen" had been identified by a local party and will face severe penalties when apprehended by local authorities.

Harvest festival and open play before a big crowd on the high school field. After the two teams had battled an even tussle for the first half, the Perry club went to work in the third frame and some nice blocking shook Hedford, Perry halfback, loose and he advanced 40 yards on end-around plays. Then, with the ball on the seven yard line, Hedford fired a pass to Crane, end, in the end zone that was good for the lone score of the game.

Burley Loses To Boise Club, 19-13

BOISE, Oct. 7 (Special)—Some expert punting work by Bob Jackson, Burley halfback, spelled defeat for the invading Boise Bobcats in a high school football game here Saturday afternoon.

After the visitors from Coosha county had won a 7-0 advantage in the first half, the Boise club went to work in the third period and counted twice on Thursday's lead, and they added another in the final frame via the same route.

The final Burley counter came in the last minute of play when Lester Nelson passed to Lester Ganser in the end zone to make the final count 19-13.

USC Eliminated With Tie Against Oregon State; Stanford Wins

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7 (AP)—A recapitulation of pre-season nominees for the Rose bowl seems in order today. Washington and Southern California—remember?—Washington, despite its defeat by Minnesota, still games the best bet but Southern California, with two games within the conference ranks, can almost be counted out. But coming up on the outside is Stanford university, the team that failed to win a conference game last season.

USC's Bruins, highly regarded in the past, are being edged by the Indians who have many tough hurries to top and he figures he might lose a couple of them. But the 13 to 0 drubbing Stanford gave Oregon Saturday was just what the doctor ordered to put the well-known rim, vigor and vitality into the Indian attack.

Southern California found itself with only a scoreless tie to show for its efforts against Oregon State, and Coach Howard Jones no doubt is wishing today for some players like Ambrose Schneider and Doyle Nave when he contemplates next Saturday's game with Illinois.

It was believed that the killers of the season at the hands of Santa Clara, by a score of 9 to 6. It was a heart-breaker for the Bruins to lose, and it was by the same margin that Southern Methodist won the previous week.

California, soundly thrumped by Tommy Harmon and Co. of Ann Arbor, bounced back with a 9 to 0 upset that spoiled the coaching debut of Red Bieder at St. Mary's. Washington State had comparatively little trouble in beating Montana 13 to 0 and Washington looked 2 to 0 to win over Idaho.

Yale, Dartmouth, New York U. and Michigan were victims of upsets, and Army escaped by a 14-0 victory over Colgate. Northwestern issued storm warnings by starting the season with a 40-0 victory over Syracuse, while Ohio State won a 17-14 struggle from Purdue. Notre Dame made its debut, beating College of the Pacific team, 25-7.

Reds Were Hot Here—But They Wilted

When this picture was snapped at Detroit, it looked as though Cincinnati might start in third World series game—then came the seventh inning and the Tigers were loose. In this second inning show, Ernie Lombardi, Cincy catcher, slides into second after hitting a double. Lombardi is guarding his injured ankle. Dick Bartlett, Tiger shortstop, stretches as he takes the throw from Gehring. The Tigers won, 5-3.

You Can't Convince Mac: He Still Picks Cincinnati

By HENRY McLEMORE CINCINNATI, Oct. 7 (UP)—Darwin must have been right insofar as my own branch of the human family was concerned, else how could I be so at home out on a limb? I up-toed lightly out on a limb when I picked Cincinnati to win the world series days before the thing started. This was monkey business of the first order, because the National League hasn't won a series since the Red Coats burned the White House in 1861. (Note to purists: I know, I know, it wasn't known as the White House until a few years after that burning.)

Now, with Cincinnati behind two games to three, I am going to scamper farther out on the same limb and re-pick the Reds to beat the Detroit Tigers. In seven games, Detroit has done all the winning that it is going to do. I am not entirely alone in this confidence in the Reds, because the bookmakers have named the Reds even money favorites to take the series. If you want to know why this state of affairs exists, I'll tell you. To start with, Bucky Walters goes today for the Reds. Bucky, the handsome boy who turned from third-basing to become one of the greatest pitchers in the game, he domesticated the Tigers in the second game of the series, giving them just three hits. Nobody hit the ball very hard that day, the Cincinnati pitcher, the Reds and the Gehringers don't run wild then they have to look at pitching.

So, we give the Reds today's game. In other words, we allow as how Walters holds the Tigers while the Reds work on Schulz and Rook. The Schoolboy is not the pitcher he was a few years ago. He made a comeback, all right, and mowed over to him, but his fast one's gone. Now, giving today's game to the Reds, which were the series, who must you ride with in the next seventh? Detroit will have no one to pitch. No fresh hurler, that's sure. Newsom has done his job.

Redskins Keep Perfect Grid Record

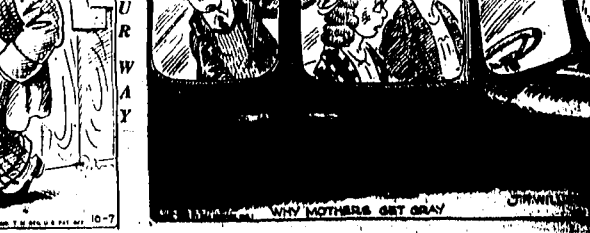

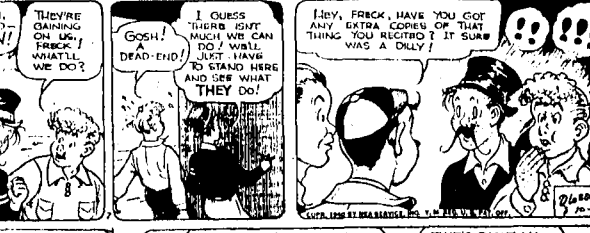

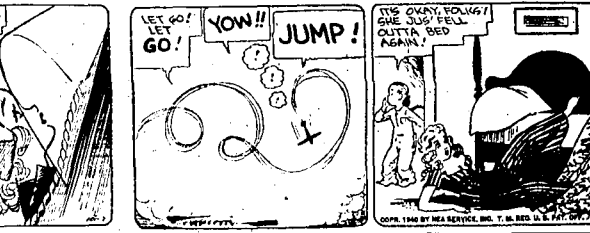

(By United Press) The only perfect record in the national professional football league belongs to the Washington Redskins today. Washington, runner-up to the New York Giants for the eastern title last year, defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers, 40-10 before a crowd of 22,813 fans Sunday to remain at the head of their division with three victories in three starts. With Sammy Baugh as trigger-man, in their forward passing attack and Jimmy Johnson, formerly of the University of Washington, showing the way along the ground, the Redskins pushed over six touchdowns to hand the Steelers their second loss of the season. The Redskins' bulky Beers defeated the Cleveland Rams, 21-14 in the only other Sunday game. Detroit, defeating the Chicago Cardinals, 43-14 Saturday night in a game pushed back because of the world series.
