

FLYING FORTRESS BOMBERS MAY BE SENT TO BRITAIN

TRANSFER TO BE MADE IN MONTH, REPORTS ASSERT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (U.P.)—Transfer of some of the army's flying fortress bombers to Great Britain and strengthening of ties with Canada were reported by authoritative sources today to be "the logical next step" in the military defense program reaffirmed by President Roosevelt Saturday night.

One source said transfer of bombers was "on the file," needing only President Roosevelt's approval. He said high administration officials were prepared to recommend the transfer, though it may be a month or so before it goes through.

Mr. Roosevelt returned to the defense theme in a radio address last night opening the annual mobilization for human needs. Inferentially, he stressed the dictatorial strength of the American's spiritual fortifications and asserted that a few people did not need to be cured in order to be tough.

Widgers Total Defense
In his address at Dayton, O., Saturday night in which he pledged a total defense of all the Americas, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that no communication of dictators could prevent the United States from continuing its aid to Britain.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement was also interpreted as an arrangement with Canada was seen by administration officials who feel that a remarkable degree of solidarity has been achieved among the 21 American republics and that stronger bonds between them and Canada are desirable.

Some sources predicted that there would be further meetings soon between high Canadian and American officials.

GILLETTE WARNS TRANSIENT LABOR

In so many words, Chief of Police H. Gillette this afternoon announced that transients who were coming into Twin Falls to engage in harvest work, and then "hang around" local streets with nothing to do and in many cases in an intoxicated condition, have been getting and will continue to get "the hard rap."

Gillette pointed out that at the present time there is a farm with all able bodied men who want it and that there is no excuse for transients "hanging around drunk on our streets."

"This department will have little patience with able bodied men who insist on idling around and the town serving no good purpose to themselves and to anyone else," Gillette said.

Records show that many arrests are being made and that the men are then given the opportunity to leave the city.

"We're sending them out at the rate of about a carload a day," the chief said.

William Trotter, 76, pioneer Idaho state driver and cowboy, will be paid final tribute Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the White mortuary chapel, 207 E. Clark, pastor, of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be in Rock creek cemetery, final resting place of many of southern Idaho's most colorful pioneers.

Mr. Trotter, a nephew of Mrs. Lucy Stricker, Rock creek pioneer matriarch, died Saturday afternoon at the Twin Falls county general hospital. He had been a resident of Twin Falls county for the past 70 years, coming to Idaho as a small boy.

After surviving as a brother, Best Trotter, Butte, Mont., Mr. Trotter was unmarried. For the past six years he had lived at the county farm.

Mr. Trotter was born Feb. 6, 1864, in Birmingham, Ia. For many years he was associated with the Hen-Holly Stage company, as were his father and uncle, Charles and William Trotter, who established frontier stage stations, as well as driving stage.

The Trotter brothers at one time operated stations at the City of Rocks and the Rock Creek station, where the present Stricker ranch is located.

Mr. Trotter was a horseman of unusual ability, driving a stage on the Boise-Kelton line when about 16 years of age. He was John E. Hayes' driver for several years during the engineering and construction period on the Twin Falls south side tract.

Later, after the establishment of the railroad through this section, he was employed as a cowboy in the area south of the Snake river and in Nevada.

It's OPEN SEASON

....for good sportsmanship and a wealth of good living

Wednesday morning will find hundreds of Magic Valley hunters hidden in their blinds, eagerly awaiting the hour of 7:01 when the duck hunting season officially gets under way. It's the time of year when sportsmen go into action... when fresh air, azure skies and foliage of gorgeous hues remind us that ours is a wonderful country, that our American freedom is truly a life worth living. The rustle of wild game on the wing, the complacency of a lazy afternoon, the harvests stored away—all these assure us that as another year draws toward a close, we are still blessed with a wealth of good living.

...a Season that Adds Zest to Appetites, Too!

Each year, the return of the hunting season brings added delight not only to those who enjoy hunting, but to those whose appetites relish wild game. And whether it's in the hunter's lunch kit, a part of well-seasoned dressing, or an item on the game dinner menu, BUTTER-KRUST Bread makes the "open season" picture all the more delightful.

Searchers Locate Lost Boy Asleep

GLENN'S PERLU, Oct. 14 (Special)—No little excitement was caused at King Hill Wednesday evening, when Kent, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Perlu, wandered away from home and was found asleep two hours later nearly two miles from home.

When Mr. Perlu returned home from school, where he is a member of the faculty, the lad was sleeping in the yard. About 6 o'clock, when they went to call the boy for dinner he was not there. It was thought he had gone to a neighbor's, but when not located there a search was started, in which neighbors joined.

Shortly after 7 o'clock, nearly two miles from town, Russ McMillan, one of the searching party, heard the child crying, but could not determine his whereabouts. After a time he lost the sound, but about that time a pup, companion of the boy, came to McMillan. He was sent back and led the way to where the little tot had fallen asleep. From exhaustion, beside an irrigation ditch, Kent was taken home and apparently has suffered no ill effects from his experience.

THOUSANDS EXEMPTED FROM WAGE-HOURS PROVISION

NEW RULINGS TO EXCLUDE "WHITE COLLAR" WORKER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (UP)—Several hundred thousand white collar workers will be exempted from the work-week limitations and overtime provisions of the wage-hour act after Oct. 24.

Wage-Hour Administrator Philip B. Fleming announced today that the statutory work week is reduced from 40 to 38 hours on that date, new definitions of five classes of white collar workers will become effective.

Of these employees work at non-manual assignments which require the exercise of discretion and independent judgment, and if they receive $20 a month or more, they need not record their hours or be paid overtime under the law, Fleming said.

The new ruling by the wage-hour administration redefined five classes of employees hitherto exempt to some degree from provisions of the law—executives, administrative employees, professional workers, local retail employees and "outside" salesmen.

"Driver" Salesmen

Rules exempting outside salesmen were revised principally to include "driver-salesmen" salesmen who drive a truck and make deliveries. The latter provision, wage-hour officials said, also will exempt advertising solicitors selling space on newspapers, magazines, radio stations or networks and freight solicitors.

Officials emphasized that in most cases the application of the new definitions would have to be decided on the basis of individual circumstances.

The new regulations provide that an executive in one whose primary duty consists of management of an enterprise or a "subdivision," at a salary of at least $20 a week. He must also have direct or indirect power to "hire and fire."

An executive also must be a person whose "total" compensation as determined by non-exempt employees does not exceed 20 per cent of the number of hours worked in the work week by his non-exempt employees under his direction. That provision does not apply to a person in charge of an enterprise or a branch.

Fleming said the new definitions of administrative employees comprise such persons as bank tellers, personnel managers, credit managers, buyers, supervisors of machine tools, safety directors, claim agents, auditors, wage rate analysts, tax experts.

Must Make $20 Monthly

Three types of administrative workers are exempt. All must be paid $200 a month or more for their work. The first type exempted is one who regularly and directly assists an executive or another exempt administrative employee; the second is one who performs duties directly related to management policies or general business operations along specialized or technical lines requiring special training, experience or knowledge. The third type is one whose work consists of directed tasks related to management policies or general business operations.

In the professional category, aside from a general exemption of doctors, lawyers and dentists, are persons whose work is "predominantly intellectual and varied in character as opposed to routine mental, manual, mechanical or physical work, and requiring the consistent exercise of discretion and judgment in its performance."

In this class are certain types of writers, photographers, motion picture actors, musicians, painters, like the exempt administrative employees they must receive not less than $200 a month.

It was explained that cases involving newspaper reporters, for instance, must be decided on individual circumstances: Is the work original and creative? Does it depend primarily on the "invention, imagination or talent of the employee?" Does the employee get $200 monthly or more?

Picture Prizes

Awarded by PTA Following Drive

JEROME, Oct. 15 (Special)—Following the week's successful membership drive for Parent-Teacher associations, and the ticket-selling contest, sponsored by the organization, and participated in by all the elementary grade school children in Jerome, the committees in charge announced that the special prize picture offered to the school selling the greatest number of tickets was won by the Washington building.

In addition, prize pictures will be awarded to the "A" room, taught by Miss Patterson, for the highest number of points won by any single room; to the "B" room, taught by Miss Eleanor Freeman, and to the primary grade taught by Miss Brown, also of the Lincoln grade school.

In the Washington elementary school, a most exciting race resulted in a tie between the rooms of Miss Phillips and A. R. Chastain, principally because both rooms will receive pictures.

Because there was such a close margin, the committee in charge decided that the effort be given to the children during the contest and membership drive.

The committee to select pictures will place orders to meet pictures for reproductions of masterpieces.
