YEARBOOK EARNS HIGH U. S. RANK

Miss Gladys White, adviser for the Coyote, Twin Falls high school annual, has received word that the 1940 Coyote was rated a superior first class by the National Scholastic Press association headquarters at Minneapolis, Minn.

The Coyote fell just 25 points short of the 950 necessary to rate All-American or the 1000 mark. This is an exceptional rating for the first year of compilation.

Standard of judging was the average score for the local high schools as to the kind of book, type and enrollment of the school. Classification for Twin Falls was a public-coded high school with an enrollment of annual 500 and 899.

There were just 13 All-American ratings and 45 first class ratings issued in all classes, including entries from the United States, Philippine and Hawaiian Islands.

A certificate of award will be presented to the local high school within the next six weeks, at which time it will be officially presented to the schools.

Plans are already underway for the 1941 year book and the staff has set All-American rating as their goal. Contracts for the engraving, photography, printing and binding will be let soon.

Editor for the 1941 Coyote is Lillian Laubenstein and business manager is George Thometz.

Joe the Cook Is Kingpin up Carey Way Where Men Cut Mountain Side

By HAY BURKHART
CAREY, Oct. 18 (Special)—If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, then Joe Sabala is by far the most popular man at the Little Wood river dam which is now nearing completion.

For Joe is the cook, and WHAT a cook!

Class by himself!

All the delicious doughnuts, cakes, pies, biscuits and bread that Joe bakes are as nothing before the galleons and gallons of rich soups, the beans and the eggs, the roasts and everything else that Joe can and does cook to coax back to normal the faded (?) appetites of the 40 to 50 workers who board up there at the cook shanty and eat Joe's cooking. The amount of food he cooks is almost unlimited, but Joe is a class almost by himself.

Joe is a Basque who came from Eslanovo, pronounced by Joe as yre-lon-cho-oo. Born in 1890, he is like many Spaniards, he is about five feet 3 or 4 inches tall and weighs 160 or 170 pounds. He has dark eyes. The day he walked into his grey hair under his cook's cap was damp with perspiration—as was his face, for Joe, wearing a bushy beard, the huge cook stove, red-hot in places, proved a warm companion in his long kitchen.

Washub of Doughnuts

Besides, Joe had just finished trying a whole washub full of

ADVANCED FLIGHT CHANGE DELAYED

Because Bols's airport will no longer be available for student training now that the United States army is to station a bomber squadron there, advanced flight instruction for CAA graduates from Twin Falls will not be possible this winter.

That was the word received here today by Milton L. Powell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee.

Powell was advised by CAA, however, that the training probably will be available next spring. Twin Falls was asked to submit the names of eligible students who have completed the CAA flying instruction. Five out of each class of 10 scholarship winners are eligible for the advanced training.

Mr. Powell said that since students can't use the Bols airport when it becomes the base for the army bombing squadron, there will be a shift in location of the CAA advanced training. As a result, Twin Falls intends to submit a bid for designation as the site. Ponnello is also expected to enter a bid, with probability that the Gate city will be chosen.

Lincoln P.-T. A. Skit Has Statehood Theme

Hilarious feature of the Lincoln Parent-Teacher association's first open house meeting of the year, last evening at the school building, was a skit, "Sagebrush School, 1890-1940," produced and acted by a group of parents and teachers to celebrate 50 years of statehood. Approximately 250 parents and faculty members were present.

The first act of the skit showed Garth Reid as the spinsterish school teacher of the '90s conducting a class of Idaho history in Sagebrush school, where dust, tumbleweeds and sagebrush added local color.

The troupe of pupils in this act were Miss Lois Shotwell, William Beasley, Miss Ida Allen, Neale Hazard, Mrs. Isabel Hazard, Gus Williams, Miss LaVon Harrison, Miss Ruth McClusky, Miss Sara McClusky, Mrs. Jean Dix.
Exciting interlude was the arrival of the teacher's cowboy beau, played by Mrs. Mary Lou DeAtley.

Second act was a modern school where the pupils bring exhibits for an Idaho fair. Clyde Rosa was the uncle in the act. The play was well-received by the audience.

Teachers, Room Mothers
First grade, Miss Ida Allen, Mrs. Clarence Lee, Mrs. Helen Taylor, Mrs. Frederick Church, Miss Blanch Jacobs, Mrs. C. T. Qualls.

Roosevelt Claims Wilkie Falsifies Issues

"TRUE FACTS" TO BE REVEALED IN EXECUTIVE TOUR

By THOMAS F. REYNOLDS
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt, charged today that his Republican opponent, Wendell L. Wilkie, is systematically falsifying the issues in the Presidential campaign.

Without mentioning Wilkie by name, Mr. Roosevelt asserted at a press conference that his opponent is falsifying major issues in a manner which is deliberate rather than unwitting.

Because of this, Mr. Roosevelt said, he has been forced to abandon his silence in the campaign and schedule the first major address between Oct. 23 and the election day which will present the "true facts" to the American people.

He recalled that in his July 10 address accepting the third term nomination, he told the Democratic convention that he would have "rather the time nor the inclination" to engage in political activities but in that same address, he recalled, he promised to reply to any "deliberate or unwitting falsification of fact."

A "systematic program" of such falsifications now has developed, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Mr. Roosevelt's major addresses will be delivered Oct. 23 at Philadelphia, Oct. 28 at New York City, Oct. 30 at Washington or Baltimore, Nov. 2 at Cleveland and Nov. 4 at H. de Park, N. Y. In each instance, the speech will be broadcast on network radio time purchased by the Democratic national committee.

His trips to make the address, Mr. Roosevelt said, will include inspection tours of defense projects. He said that despite the semi-official character of such trips, he will have the Democratic committee pay the travel costs as a matter of "ethics."

Baltimore on Same Day?

Presumably since both he and Wilkie may appear in Baltimore on the same night—Oct. 30, he said that the Baltimore date is a possibility, and he let that statement stand after he was reminded that Wilkie will be speaking in Baltimore that same day.

Mr. Roosevelt declined to discuss now the nature of the alleged falsifications.

He said there were no political implications in his conference yesterday with President Hoover and Lewis of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Lewis came to the White House to discuss two strike conditions, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt leaves tonight for Hyde Park, N. Y., beginning the second of his trips which will keep him on the move until election day. Over the week-end at Hyde Park, he will entertain Gen. Canadian, governor of the state of Ontario, uncle of King George VI.

Deft, Able Portrayal by Young Cast Wins Praise

By FRANK ELLSWORTH

Present one of the most original and strikingly different productions ever to be offered on the Twin Falls high school stage, "Our Town" school play, "Fuller prize drama by Thornton Wilder, was given in the first of two performances last night in the Twin Falls high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Florence M. Rees.

Second performance, with a different cast, goes on the boards at 8:15 p. m. today.

A realistic enactment that could easily have taken place in any small town of the early 1900 period, the play dealt with romance, sadness, reality and touches of humor ably presented by a well-cast group.

With practically no scenery throughout the entire production, the scenes were portrayed so perfectly that the lack of it was scarcely realized by the audience.

Plays Triple Part

Outstanding in this triple role. Bob Jensen as narrator, carried the audience with him as he generally outlined the history of the town, Grover's corner, N. B. during the first act; then he explained something of the character of the citizens before letting them speak for themselves.

Following the production of the town and its citizens, he took the audience into the homes of the Gibbs family, who were the main characters in the rest of the drama.

For the remaining two acts the audience followed along with him as he acquainted and kept them informed of the happenings. His vivid descriptions of the town and the absence of scenery and the stimulation of the imagination of the audience were factors in the success of the play.

DEWEY ATTACKS ALBERTSON TOPS KIMBERLY I. E. A.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Oct. 18 (AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey charged last night that President Roosevelt is deliberately leading the United States into a system of "state socialism."

Calling on the nation to "initiate an administration which believes in the fundamental principles by which this country 'grew great' Dewey accused the New Deal of strangling industry.

"The New Deal has deliberately destroyed private capital with which to build heavy industry," he asserted. "The only conclusion is that this administration is wanted them built by the government and that is state socialism. It is state socialism whether it be the Marxian socialism of the Communists or the national socialism of the Nazis."

Addressing a Republican party rally he criticized Mr. Roosevelt's administration of the defense program.

TAYLOR REFUSES TO SIGN PAPERS

BOISE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Attorney General J. W. Taylor backed up his feud with the state industrial accident board today with a refusal to sign forms required by federal rules.

Taylor said he refused to sign the papers necessary to legalize operations of the board because board members have "taken the position that the matter of legal service is in their hands and not under jurisdiction of the attorney general."

The feud started when Taylor dismissed Vestal P. Coffin, attorney for the board, on grounds it was his constitutional duty to appoint state legal advisors. The board refused to comply with Taylor's order of dismissal.

Dr. Hewitt Johnson, dean of the Canterbury cathedral, charged today that German aviators made a deliberate attempt to demolish the historical cathedral.

Cedric Sailer, London, Hill correspondent recently kicked out of Rumania, reports that the real power in Rumania actually is being wielded by Carol Kourou, head of the secret, German-trained Iron Guard police, a wily clan of ringleaders who specialize in torture.

King Michael, who succeeded his father as monarch of Rumania, was reported by Sailer to have retired to a castle at Sibiu and refused to transact state business for the Nazi intruders.

Donald Nelson, coordinator of national defense purchases, announced that Col. Robert A. Ross, assistant coordinator and in civilian life president of a San Francisco clothing store, has been assigned to active duty as commanding officer of a mobilization unit of the 9th corps area.

Roger W. Babson, statistician and prohibitionist presidential candidate, believes the nation's "general business should be better" while the war lasts but that afterward will come official economic and social changes.

All in a Day's Work--Former Champion Prepares for Daily Battle

Wonder what a boxer thinks about? Here's James J. Braddock, former heavyweight champion of the world as he prepared for his exhibition bout at Burley last night--with the Times cameraman camping on his trail. He has to dress and undress just like the lowliest prelin boy and here's the first step.

Next comes the hand taping and Jim studies his own art work--a job usually handled by trainers. But here Jim is doing the work himself as Marry McGann, his trainer, is called elsewhere and there's nothing else to do, so the champ just passes the time and will probably end up all wound up in tape--if left alone long enough.

It's in the ring now and wondering "what in 'ell' those guys are hauling about up in the balcony. That's McGann taping the strings on his gloves. Note tattoo on Jim's arm--a hodge-podge of this and that. Little rolls of fat are creeping around the veteran's midriff and if he had thought of it, he probably wouldn't have been caught in a pose like this.

And so to work--even as you and I. Here he is intent on the business at hand as he spars with Jack League--a heavyweight who has fought them all and is pretty well battered up when you compare him with the champ. Braddock still is fast for a big fellow and he left the impression he could take care of himself in a ring with any man. Note the Irish shamrock on trunk.

BRADDOCK HOPES TO REGAIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Former Ruler of Heavies Ruler of Boxes On Burley Card

BURLEY, Oct. 18 (Special)—James J. Braddock, still looking in good fighting trim despite some 16 years of ring warfare, displayed his wares to some 500 stout central Idaho fight fans here last night at the Burley Athletic club and announced, through his manager, Jim Downing, that he would be the next heavyweight champion of the world.

While most of the assembled throng doubted that statement, they gave him a good round of applause as he completed four rounds of exhibition with Jack League, a good heavyweight himself who helped the Cinderella man put on a good show.

The exhibition was the highlight of a card that included two wrestling bouts and two other boxing events.

Braddock's official weight was listed at 200, but most of the ring-fighters were of the opinion that he would probably tip the scales closer to 215 or 220.

Wall Wins Close Decision
Feature event on the fight program was Ray Wall's close decision over Jack Mason of Salt Lake City. Wall, a Rupert youngster, nailed the Utahn with everything he had in the first round. The second round the brawler southern led returning to the same medicine, and Wall came back to take out a close margin in the third. Wall weighed 192 and Mason 170.

Marvin McIntosh, Rupert, billed as the former heavyweight champion of the Pacific Islands, blundered out on his way. A first-round decision over Kid Scott, 113, Jersey City youngster from the CCC camp at Kamuela.

Wrestle to Draw
In the wrestling end of the program, Don Hawks and Dean Anderson, both Salt Lake City, went 15 minutes to a draw in a sword bout that showed lots of action.

The wind-up on the night's card pitted Ed McMillan, Cheyenne, 190, in the role of "heavy" against Marty Hitt, 185, Salt Lake City. After 27 minutes of grunting and growling, Hitt was declared the winner with a "Boston crab" hold. The bout had been scheduled for a 20-minute limit.

The card was promoted by Al Hanks and sponsored by the Burley Athletic club.

SPORT Spuibs by Hal Wood BRADDOCK SLIPS IN RING RATING

We watched Jim Braddock, the former heavyweight champion of the world display his wares before some 500 fans at Burley last night and it brought us to thinking just how far the famed Cinderella man had slipped in the boxing game.

While there's all this ballyhoo about Braddock hoping to regain the heavyweight championship and that has been matched to meet Max Baer in Miami, Fla., during the winter months, we paused to consider the fact that here was Braddock, playing to a crowd of 500 at an average price of about 75 cents--while a few years back he was kingpin of the world--playing to 50,000 at a track and those tickets averaged close to $5 each.

That's quite a decline and we doubt very much if the quiet New Jersey veteran can reclaim the title he once did when he came off the docks to climb to the highest throne.

The difference is that Braddock is now on the down-grade brought on by the years and the changes are, that while he could hit most of the current dependable crop of heavyweights, he would be just wasting his time in these against the Louis.

However, there's one thing that can be said in his favor. He's not afraid of Louis. He was really counted out in the fight in which he lost the crown to the Negro brawler. He stood in there and shugged and never went down--something more than that can be said for many another Louis foe.

That something more that can be said for Braddock is that after all these years of campaigning he shows little in the way of battle scars. His face is not at all battered up, his ears are in fairly good condition and his chest has not at all "slipped"--as the saying goes.

Most of his excess weight, strange as it may seem, is carried around the middle and upper portions of his back.

In talking on these one-night

Southern Grid Teams Renew Feuds With Top U. S. Attractions

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (U.P.)--For the first time since the football season began, conference competition and regional rivalry force inter-sectional play to take a back seat this week-end.

Highlighting the fourth big Saturday program is a re-novation of the Tennessee-Alabama feud at Birmingham, where all the 25,000 seats have been sold out and there's a demand for many more.

This Dixie classic not only will have an important bearing on the Southeastern conference race, but will very likely decide one of the big bowl bids.

Competing with this encounter for attention, however, are a half dozen other such sectional struggles as Minnesota-Ohio State, Fordham-Pittsburgh, Stanford-Washington State, Washington-Oregon State, Texas A. & M.-Texas Christian and North Carolina-North Carolina State.

There's not a keener rivalry in football than that between chunky Frank Thomas at Alabama and Mel Boyd Neyland at Tennessee. The Alabama-Tennessee feud began back in the days when Wallace Wade headed the Tuscaloosa coaching staff, and if anything, the coming of Thomas intensified it.

Wade is still carrying on his personal feud with Neyland from the Duke campus--but with little success.

Since Alabama and Tennessee began their football fight in 1901, the Crimson Tide has won 12 out of 22 games played, while the Tennesseeans have won eight and two ended in ties. But since Thomas started at Alabama, Neyland's Vols have held him even. Their nine games are all square with four victories.

Unleashed, Alabama will be the favorite. Braddock is picking up only small change and he can't be making more than a few dollars per night after he takes out expenses for a couple of managers, a sporting partner or two, a trainer, chauffeur, etc. His share of the gate at Burley was probably under $150 and after paying transportation and expenses for five men, he can't have much left.

But, as Jim would probably explain, it's better than going on relief, as he did in the dark days before he bounced back to win the championship.

McCoy to Test Billy Conn in N. Y. Tonight

BOSTON, Oct. 18 (U.P.)--Handsome Billy Conn is the 3-3 favorite to beat 26-year-old McCoy in this 10-round fight toward the world heavyweight title.

McCoy, who already holds the light heavyweight crown, is favored over Conn because he is a slow starter; because it is only a 10-round affair, and because McCoy is a busy, hard-hitting mauler from going to camp, whose early efforts might easily offset Conn's surge.

Handsome Billy, only 21, will be making his first ring appearance since he stopped Bob Pastor in the 13th round at New York on Sept. 6, after landing several low blows.

McCoy has been fighting for 10 years. And he was good enough in 1940 to knock out Nolan Martin and outpoint Mello Bettina, the south-paw from whom Conn won the light heavy title.

High School Boy, 14, Dies After Grid Scrimmage
MPT. AVE., Pa., Oct. 18 (U.P.)--Merle Bulley, 14, freshman quarterback of the Mt. Airy high school team, was believed today to be the nation's first 1400 football fatality when he died on the field after an injury during scrimmage.

Bulley slumped to the ground at the end of a run yesterday and died before a doctor could reach him. Dr. J. W. Hill said after a thorough examination of the body that it was impossible to tell whether the boy died of a heart injury or a heart attack.

"Jinx of Palouse" May Bring Washington State Cougars Victory Over Stanford

BY JAMES A. MULLIVAN
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17 (U.P.)--Many folks who have been turning up their noses at that "Jinx of Palouse" business are going to become believers if Washington State beats Stanford at Pullman, Wash., in the Pacific coast's top football game tomorrow.

The "Jinx of Palouse" in case you haven't read it, is that in the 10 years since the Washington State Cougars won their first home football game, they have won 10 of 11 home games. It might be the weather, it might be the field, or it might be the home town encouragement the Cougars, usually on the road, get in the Pullman stadium. But the record does seem to indicate that the boys will have a good surprise on the home grounds.

handly and at the same time it, except the wholesale injuries which usually mark early games of the season. Oregon State goes into battle with a record of 4-1-1 with U.S.C. the defending champion. Anything can happen.

The other conference games are being played on California soil with U.C.L.A. beaten by three outside teams, opening its campaign against California at Berkeley and with twice-beaten Oregon being left again to almost certain defeat against U. S. C. at Los Angeles. U.C.L.A. and Arizona enter into the fray. Oregon's fate is far less inevitable than that facing conference coast Idaho which journeyed to Boston to play Boston college. Idaho has lost three starts by big scores so far.
