VICTIM OF CRASH DIES IN HOSPITAL

Death of Homer O'Quinn, 60, route three, Buhl, in the county general hospital at 2:15 a. m. today brought to eight the number of persons killed in Twin Falls county as a result of motor accidents since the first of the year.

O'Quinn was injured Monday afternoon when the car in which he was riding, and which was being operated by his nephew, Pat Lee O'Quinn, 22, crashed with a loaded grain truck being operated by Ted Lee, 28, Twin Falls. The grain truck was said by investigating state police officers to be the property of the Hoxon Construction company. The crash scene was eight miles northwest of Buhl.

Falls to Rally

Officials at the hospital here said that the elder O'Quinn suffered a ruptured liver as a result of the mishap. He underwent a major operation at the hospital but failed to rally and died this morning.

The death was the first in the county as a result of a motor accident since July 17, state records show.

The mishap occurred on a "blimping" road near the Larence school, state police reported.

Others Hurt Slightly

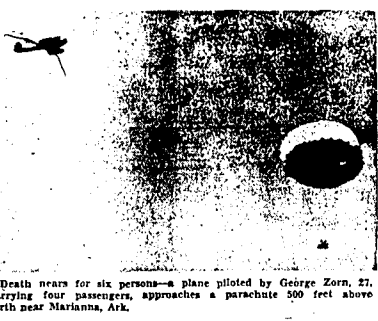

The truck driver was slightly injured and young O'Quinn was treated for a fractured ankle as a result of the crash.

O'Quinn's sister, Cora Mae, 60, the elder O'Quinn had been employed for the past 10 or 15 years at the hospital here.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna O'Quinn; a son and daughter, Donald Lee and Doris Maughan O'Quinn; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. O'Quinn, and four brothers and two sisters, all of Missouri.

The body, now at the White mortuary, will be sent to Lebanon, for funeral services and burial.

Men Conscripted Will Be Divided In Three Classes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (UP)—Draft Director Clarence A. Dykstra promulgated physical standards for men to be inducted into the army today and gave special advice to medical examiners for detecting malingerers who simulate ailment to dodge the draft.

The requirements are more lenient than those maintained for regular army personnel but more stringent than those applying under the World War draft. They are part of the elaborate classification process which will determine the 800,000 men to be called for military service and which will follow next Tuesday's lottery.

Men who are not placed in deferred status at all because of dependency, essential job, etc., will be given thorough physical examinations and placed in one of three classes:

- Class I—Those available for general military service.
- Class II—Those available for limited military service.
- Class III—Physically, mentally and morally unfit.

A person classified with the local board's ruling and anyone who later classification may appeal within five days.

Taylor Offers To Debate With Senator Thomas

By United Press

A challenge for Sen. John Thomas to meet him in public debate was delivered by Democratic Senate No. 10 on the floor today, adding new fuel to the Idaho campaign.

Taylor's challenge came as opposing candidates unloaded new charges and counter-charges and as state Republican chiefs began official campaign.

Taylor's challenge came as opposing candidates unloaded new charges and counter-charges and as state Republican chiefs began official campaign.

Asks Economic Change

"If John Thomas cares to meet me in open debate," Taylor declared, "I would be most happy. As a suggestion, he may have any number of advisers on the platform with him and I promise to handle the whole outfit single-handed. I have never advanced, changed or proposed any government. However, I have advocated changes in our economic structure which will benefit our people."

Sen. Thomas declared he was "not interested in Taylor's proposal for debate."

Sen. Thomas, meanwhile, took a thrust at New Deal farm policies in a speech at the Idaho State Fair.

"After seven and one-half years of experimentation the farm problem has not been solved," Thomas declared. "Farm income was lower last year than in 1935 and 1937. Farm income must be increased so that the farmer can have equality with industry and other income groups."

2 MORE ARRESTS IN BUTTE KILLING

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 23 (UP)—Four persons were held for questioning today concerning the brutal kidnap-murder of George C. Kilmer, Butte killing station victim.

Two Butte youths booked as Bud Volght and Julius Remark were released last night and were to be questioned by Sheriff Al McLeod and County Attorney W. E. Coyle during the day. Volght and Remark were arrested in Helena Oct. 15—three days after Kilmer disappeared—for questioning regarding the holdup of a hamburger stand here, but were released on bond.

Following the discovery of Kilmer's body near Helena yesterday, they were taken into custody again. Officers declined to disclose what led to their arrest in connection with the Kilmer murder except to say "a chance remark" directed suspicion toward them.

Woman Still Held

Still held in the county jail, unable to furnish bond, were Pete Troy and his woman companion, Jean Terry. They were charged in justice court with robbing Kilmer of $40. The pair, Butte police characters, pleaded innocent and demanded preliminary hearings.

Meantime, an autopsy on Kilmer's body here disclosed that he had been murdered so brutally as to shock even hard-boiled police officers. The autopsy showed he had been shot in the back twice with one gun, and then, while he lay on the ground, was shot again through the head by a slayer who stood over him and deliberately fired a heavy slug into his right eye.

Ordered Out of Car

Helena authorities and Butte officers said they believed Kilmer was ordered out of the kidnap car, told to run, and then killed as he fled. His body was found in a shallow gully some distance off a county road southeast of Helena, and just over the Jefferson county line. Ties on an automobile used in Helena by Volght and Remark were being checked against tracks found near the body.

Because of Kilmer's popularity here, feeling ran high, although there was no talk of violence. Two Butte theater men, E. E. Harris and William Woolfall, offered a $100 reward for the arrest and conviction of Kilmer's slayer or slayers, and it was understood additional rewards were to be offered by other Butte businessmen.

Candidate Makes an Error; Campaigns in Wrong State

DENVER, Oct. 23 (UP)—The question of whether Gov. Ralph L. Carr, Republican nominee for reelection, made a campaign speech to Nebraska voters still was debatable today but the consensus of opinion was that a Nebraska newspaperman used too much imagination and not enough accuracy.

Phillips county Democrats at Holyoke, Colo.—and a few state-house ones in Denver—passed around copies of the Oct. 11 issue of the Benkelman, Neb., Post and News-Chronicle reporting an incident which—if true—would embarrass Gov. Carr in his campaign for a second term.

Gov. Carr, en route from Wray, Colo., to Holyoke on Oct. 9, the paper said, rode into Benkelman in a caravan headed by a sound truck, the driver of which "was not too well versed in geography."

"As the governor was about to make a speech," the paper continued, a man asked him if he hadn't gotten out of his territory "for instead of being in Holyoke he was in Benkelman."

Gov. Carr and his party then headed west in high gear to find a more "fertile spot," declared the paper.

Gov. Carr denied the story last night in Lamar, Colo. "That's a good story and I hope they have fun with it, but it didn't happen," he said.

BULL, STUD PLAN GIVEN RANCHERS

BURLEY, Oct. 23 (Special)—Farmers in Cassia county who do not have access to purebred dairy sires on an individual basis, can now form dairybull studs under the provisions of the community and cooperative service program of farm security administration, according to Cyril Allen, county RR supervisor, Burley.

Services of bulls, with proven ability to transmit high butterfat production can be made available to several dairy herds on a stud bull basis cheaper than an individual can maintain a grade or scrub sire.

Stud bull services have been established in Canyon, Twin Falls, Mindoka, Jefferson, Madison and Fremont counties, stated Mr. Allen. Seventy-five farmers owning 315 cows in Ucon, Ida., now have access to five good bulls. In all these services now established the bull is brought to the patron's farm whenever bull service is needed.

Precautions are taken after each service to see that disease is not spread from herd to herd. Mr. Allen explained agreements governing the sire services provide for creating a reserve fund for unforeseen veterinary fees or other contingencies, and turning back to participating farmers on the basis of use any surplus funds that may accrue. Detailed information regarding procedure for setting up a bull stud service may be secured from the county agent, W. W. Palmer, or at the farm security administration office.

TRAINMEN WILL SUPPORT TAYLOR

By United Press
A claim of new support for Democratic Senate Nominee Glen Taylor and an attack on New Deal farm policies as a "mistaken program" held the spotlight in Idaho's political arena.

In Pocatello, W. B. Harris, representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the state railroad workers organization has endorsed candidacy of Glen H. Taylor for the U. S. senate.

"The trainmen's organization is unable to understand reports to the effect that all standard railroad labor organizations have advocated reelection of Sen. John Thomas," Harris declared.

The administration's farm program is a "fallacious policy," Albert S. Goswami, former Washington state Grants master stated in a Boise address.

The administration concluded that the way to get a good price would be to curtail production so we would have no crops to export. The policy of forcing prices up through creating scarcity is nothing but a policy of monopoly.

Goss called for election of Wendell L. Wilkie and Sen. Charles McNary "for salvation of the nation's farmers."

Meanwhile, State Republican Chairman Thomas Hesch called on "every citizen to vote for the week from next Tuesday."

"Any person who does not do so is not a good American," Hesch continued. "I care not how or for whom the vote is cast, the important thing is the vote itself."

Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen carried his campaign for reelection into north Idaho with a pledge for development of Idaho's mineral resources.

Big Bomber Will Bring Elks Speaker to Burley Thursday

BURLEY, Oct. 23 (Special)—Of outstanding interest to people of this and surrounding communities is the announcement by the Americanization committee of the Burley Elks lodge of the coming of Major Elmer Adler, Post Douglas, Utah, with Captain J. H. Wallace, co-pilot, and a crew of five enlisted men at 4 p. m. Thursday evening to Burley airport. A B-18 bomber, one of the second largest bombers in the U. S. air corps. The plane is seen in the only to the four-motor "flying fortresses."

Major Adler will address a public meeting at the Elks hall at 8 o'clock Thursday to which all people of this and surrounding communities are invited. The sixth member of the ship's crew will be Private J. E. Larson, a soldier, who is a musician of note. He will also appear on the program.

In Charge
Arrangements for the program are under the direction of Prof. H. E. Wadell, of Albion Normal and Major Pence, both members of the Americanization and Preparedness committee. The bomber and crew are returning from Los Angeles where they have engaged in bombing maneuvers, each ship requiring a crew of five men besides the captain and major. The men will remain in Burley overnight and it is hoped that early Friday morning the ship may be open for public inspection.

The week of Oct. 21 has been unofficially designated as Americanization and Preparedness week, and the program is to further those principles.

The program Thursday evening will include the invocation by Dr. Raymond B. Rees, of the Burley Methodist church, and benediction by Father Kunkel, of the Catholic church. Horace O. Hall will lead the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and after which the heads of the civic and veterans organizations, all of whose members will attend, will be introduced. Also any state officials present will be introduced.

George Catmull, Rupert, will sing "I Am An American," and Private Larson will present an instrumental solo. Other musical numbers will be furnished by an orchestra and the Albion Normal glee club.

GROCCER ATTACKS TRADE BARRIERS

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 23 (Special)—Trade barriers created by state legislatures throughout the nation tend to destroy home markets. W. D. Hadeler, San Francisco, told more than 200 grocers assembled here for the annual state convention of the Idaho Grocers' association.

Hadeler, retail manager of the California Retail Grocers and Merchants association said state legislatures are continually imposing tariffs which break down interstate markets. He asked Idaho grocers to cooperate in the program opposing trade barrier legislation and assailed the Idaho unfair practices act which prohibits sale of "loss leaders" and price fixing.

The association studied resolutions favoring these Sunday morning and opposing shorter hours and increased wages, and seeking creation of a state public relations committee.

COURT RULES ON WORKMAN'S PAY

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 23 (Special)—The Idaho supreme court held that injured workers should obtain benefit payments amounting only to the total provided by law and that payments should not be made progressively if injuries become worse.

The decision came in the suit of C. C. Close, a worker injured on a Nez Perce highway project, against the General Construction company and the state insurance fund.

Close suffered a fractured leg and was compensated for the injury. Later his condition became worse and his leg was amputated below the knee. He sought full payment for loss of the limb in addition to the original compensation.

The court upheld the action of the state industrial accident board in deducting from the final payment the amount paid for Close's first injury.

GOV. C. A. BOTTOLFSEN

LET'S KEEP "BOTT" FOR ANOTHER TERM

Outstanding of all his accomplishments during his first term as chief executive, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen has administered the affairs of state with an efficiency and dignity in keeping with that high office, an achievement that has won him general respect.

Much to his credit, he has kept faith with the people of Idaho by fulfilling all the pledges he made in his first campaign for governor.

South central Idaho will never forget that he fulfilled during his administration an outstanding promise that several of his predecessors had made but never kept—state purchase of the Twin Falls-Jerome Intercounty bridge for the purpose of making it toll free. The thousands who use this bridge have been relieved of the tolls which formerly amounted to $75,000 a year.

The $5 auto license fee likewise has saved the people of Idaho additional thousands of dollars, and taxes as a whole, under his administration, have reflected careful management despite the unprecedented public relief load which has been saddled upon the state. Careful analysis of the entire tax picture can only reflect to his credit.

Governor Bottolfsen's administration has been quite in contrast to the machine controlled methods and political turmoil that characterized the Democratic governors whom he succeeded.

Other than those who would be expected to criticize for political reasons, there are few who can find fault with Governor Bottolfsen. He is a governor of whom all the state can be justly proud. Judging from his record, it is only fair that he should be given another term as chief executive. The people can rest assured that he'll serve them well.

Idaho Has a GOVERNOR of whom all the state can be proud...

EXTRA TIME PAY FOR OVER 40 HOURS WORK STARTS THURSDAY

2,650,000 WILL GET CASH BOOST BY NEW RULING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (UP)—Overtime pay for work in excess of 40 hours a week in interstate industries becomes mandatory tomorrow as the wage-hour law begins its third year of operation.

At midnight tonight the statutory work-week for interstate industries drops from 42 hours to 40. Hours worked in excess of the latter figure must be paid for at the rate of time-and-a-half.

Labor statistics show that of 12,617,000 workers in interstate industries 2,650,000 are paid for more than 40 hours a week. Of that number, more than 700,000 through union contracts and other agreements, already received time-and-a-half for work exceeding 40 hours.

The change from the 42-hour week which was in force one year ago every establishment in interstate commerce except railroads, bus and truck line, retail stores and service establishments, which have special exemptions. The law also exempts certain classes of "white collar" workers—executives, administrators, employees, professional workers, local retail employees and "outside" salesmen. All other persons must be paid overtime wages at a time-and-a-half rate for work in excess of 40 hours.

No Extra Demands

There is some controversy over its possible effect on the new regulations enacted in production for the national defense program. However, Col. Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the wage and hours division said "there has been no demand from industry for a longer standard work week." He explained although industry has been invited to bring its difficulties to his attention, only four letters have been received protesting against the time-and-a-half rule. These, he said, were from small establishments.

Although the act's hours provision is reduced at this time, no change is made in minimum wage requirements. The wage scale will remain at 30 cents an hour until 1946, at which time a 40-cent minimum will be mandatory for all workers in industries engaged in commerce between the states. Last year the rate was increased from 25 to 30 cents an hour and the time provision reduced from 44 to 42 hours per week.

Here's Exterior View of Impressive New Store

Outside view of the new J. J. Newberry store which opens in Twin Falls Thursday shows the impressive nature of the building reconstruction which preceded the grand opening. The front adds another modernistic note to a Twin Falls business district which is rapidly becoming one of the most "streamlined" in the intermountain area. (Times Photo and Engraving)

Interior of Store Offers Latest in Modern Equipment

With 27 departments offering a wide variety of merchandise, the J. J. Newberry store in Twin Falls has installed the latest types in fixtures and equipment. Here's an interior view taken today as final plans were rushed for the grand opening Thursday. (Times Photo and Engraving)

New in All Details, Newberry Store Starts Grand Opening Here Thursday

New in every detail, from the smallest display sign to the entire building, which was practically rebuilt at a cost of over $500,000, the J. J. Newberry store in Twin Falls will open its doors for the first time tomorrow morning. The remodeling cost does not include property taxes.

The grand opening of the store, located in the 100 block on Main avenue south, will continue through Saturday and this afternoon the management extends an invitation to residents all over the Magic Valley to "come in and visit whether you purchase anything or not."

Local labor was used exclusively, with exception of the general contractor, during the construction of the building which has 75-foot frontage and a depth of 125 feet. Aside from the main floor where the sales departments are located, there is a second floor storage room which is just as large as the main floor, with the exception of three office spaces, two now occupied by physicians, at the front of the building.

During the past three weeks between 30 and 50 local persons have been employed laying out counters, unloading equipment and stock and doing the necessary and other duties necessary before the store opens tomorrow morning. No less than $30,000 has been spent in equipment, not including the stock.

During the three-day grand opening period, approximately 70 local employees will be on hand while the regular force will number 30 persons, all excepting the manager and assistant manager being from Twin Falls. Families of both the manager and assistant have established homes in this city.

Latest Type

The local Newberry store is the latest type of fixture store in the west. Counters are all new and so is the equipment in the store. The counters being of bird's-eye maple trimmed in walnut. Fixtures are chromium including lights, sign fixtures, department designations and other items.

One feature of the new store here will be the restaurant which features a stainless steel kitchen that is completely electrified. Restaurant fixtures are also of stainless steel and the counter is a part of the fixtures point out that it is really a "mountain, lunch counter, restaurant combined, with officers being featured and service available at all hours during which the store is open."

TROOPERS DRILL ON RIFLE WORK

By PRV. JOHN DIENER
CAMP MURRAY, Wash., Oct. 23 (Special)—Well, here goes for the third installment of news of the southern Idaho national guard, now in U. S. army training here.

Our training has been varied slightly for this week—we are learning the lifting of rifles and are engaging in actual firing under the watchful eyes of our of our instructors.

Discharged

As many of you probably already know, the following officers have been discharged from this regiment because of physical disabilities—Col. F. C. Hummel, Dolse; Major George Halley, Twin Falls; Capt. Ross Youngman, Butley; Lieut. Stockman, Pocatello; Lieut. Price, Rigby; Lieut. Carter, Twin Falls, and Capt. Joseph H. Spaver, Jr., Twin Falls.

The leaving of these men leaves a number of openings for promotion, and these will be filled as soon as possible. A regimental parade was held for Captain Spaver and Major Halley of Twin Falls. The parade showed that the entire regiment could miss the men and was also a tribute to their fine service to the regiment.

Promotions

The following promotions have been made in this regiment, Company "I": These men have been appointed: Corporal: O. A. Lyons, Charles M. Ramsay, Harry M. Reinfro.

The following have been appointed privates first class: Phillip Axtell, Herman Bortz, Keith Bulky, Clarence T. Bullock, Albert W. Dunn, Gene C. Burns, Clarence R. Bull, John R. Clark, Frank R. RECALLS RESULT OF OTHER AID TO BRITAIN

Editor, Times:

Your editorial in the issue of Oct. 18, "Axis Invitation Declined," seems contradictory.

You state: "We've been shouting chery words to the Britons," and in the last paragraph you do mention the declaration of independence.

This country fought four years to shake off the British yoke and now we are shouting chery words to the same Britons to put and keep the yoke on other nations.

In 1812 they burned the capitol in Washington, D. C. During the civil war they worked hard to break up the union. After the World war they called us Uncle Snylock and told us we did not need your help, we would have won the war without you. And still owe us five billion dollars.

Do we want to send our brave young men over there again to make the world safe for democracy? Do we want to make millionaires again? We made over a hundred during the World war through war profits. Do we want to buy liberty bonds again and pay hundred cents on the dollar and then sell them afterwards to Wall Street at 85 cents? Americans, think this over. G. H. ERDMANN, Jerome, Oct. 21.

Wayne York Heads Blaine Teachers

KETCHUM, Oct. 23 (Special)—At a dinner party held at Sun Valley's Trail Creek lodge the County Teachers' association of Blaine County met and enjoyed a splendid evening. A program of vocal numbers and dances was presented by the Sun Valley Professionals.

Supt. G. C. Sullivan discussed the matter of the new amendment to stop the loaning of school money to farmers.

New officers were selected as follows: President, Wayne York, Carey; vice-president, H. E. Cully, Ketchum; treasurer, Inez O'Connell, Halley.

Delegates to the Idaho Educational association at Boise were also chosen, including Mr. Howell, Bellevue; H. E. Cully, Ketchum; Harold Nelson, Halley.

The next meeting is scheduled to be in Halley with the Halley teachers furnishing the program and the refreshments. Discussion of work to be done at the state meet will take place here.

J. T. HARMON AT NEWBERRY HELM

One of the younger men in company service will manage the new J. Newberry store at Twin Falls which opens Thursday morning for the first time, company officials announced this afternoon.

The manager here is J. T. Harmon, who came to Twin Falls from Everett, Wash., where he managed the company store at that point. The transfer to Twin Falls is a "step up" for Mr. Harmon. Before he took over the Everett store he had formerly managed the store at Medford, Ore.

Accompanying the new manager to Twin Falls is his wife, and the couple will make their home here. Harmon has been with the Newberry company for nine years. Although he has been in Twin Falls only a few days, Mr. Harmon declared this afternoon that he was "much impressed" with the business outlook in Twin Falls.

"Twin Falls looks like a fine community," he said. "I am sure that business will be brisk."

Assistant manager of the new store will be Floyd Packrell, who was assistant manager at Boise before coming to Twin Falls. His wife and child have joined him here. He has been with the Newberry company for four years.

Mr. Harmon and Mr. Packrell are the only outside employees at the store. All other workers are hired locally. During the opening to be observed Thursday morning and Saturday, many outside experts will be on hand but they will leave within a week to return to their respective homes.

700 CROWD DEMO MEET AT HAILEY

HAILEY, Oct. 23 (Special)—Approximately 700 persons thronged the Hailey opera house Monday at the presentation of Chase A. Clark, Democratic candidate for governor, and C. E. Roberts, Bourbon candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

Citizens from all parts of the county attended the session, sponsored by Blaine county Democratic central committee. Mr. Clark was touched briefly on his subjects due to having another speaking date the same evening at Richfield. The high spot of his talk was on the political machine built up by the Republican party during the present administration, the rise in taxation and the expenditure of state funds for too many state employees.

Mr. Roberts spoke briefly on the necessity of good schooling and how the schools had been benefited by federal appropriation and by the Idaho state equalization law. Ira Masters came in unexpectedly and made a brief talk on the record of his opponent.

This formal program was followed by an introduction of county candidates and refreshments were served to all present. Musical numbers were given and the Hailey high school band offered several selections. Refreshments were served by the Democratic ladies.

HANEL RECEIVES PRISON SENTENCE

JEROME, Oct. 23 (Special)—Charles Hanel, returned recently by Jerome county police authorities to face charges of embezzlement of funds from the Union Oil station, Jerome, a Twin Falls owned company, was taken Monday to Burley to be sentenced by District Senior Judge T. Bailey Lee. Hanel was sentenced to serve a one to 14-year prison term in the state penitentiary at Boise.

He is alleged to have embezzled some $175 from the local service station. During Jerome county's fair, Hanel reported to police that an unknown assailant had knocked him unconscious and stolen approximately $40 from the station's till. Hanel told police he was alone at the time and was counting the day's receipts. The robbery occurred about 11 p. m., Hanel said.

Mac Expresses a Few Private Opinions—For Public Consumption

By HENRY McLEMORE — A few private opinions made public. Football is supposed to be a team game in which the players, like suspender buttons, are equally important. But you'd never guess this from reading the literature concerning the coming battle between Michigan and Pennsylvania. The other 20 men on the starting eleven have been as forgotten as Charles McNary in the excitement over the duel between Tommy Harmon and Frank Reagan. A few more days of reading about how this duel is all that matters, and I would be surprised if the other players said to hell with the game, let's get seats on the 80-yard line where we can see it.

You don't have to be a tree lover to shudder at the thought of the thousands of stately pines which have been felled to furnish paper for the non-stop saturation news that you publish and circulate their ratings of the country's football teams. None of them make any sense whatsoever. They throw a jumble of decimal points at you, dress them up with a mess of meaningless words and numbers, and then dare them to compare with the whole darn thing out with inadequate postage. To prove I'm not biased allow me to quote you a few lines from one of the most respected of these gridiron Einsteinians:

Defeat of a team may not cause loss of points in the ranking unless it reveals basic weaknesses which will have bearing on future contests. . . . The rating numbers are not percentages but terse indicators of relative strength. . . . One had pass from center can apoll all the statistics this side of heaven.

Crayons SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
North Philadelphia is still whooping it up.
Walters and Wilson. . . how about that? And Bucky Walters, throwing to the old bloke who transformed him from a mediocre third baseman, giving the terrible Tigers only three hits.

Walters was 13 years old when he became Jimmie Wilson of the Phillies became his idol.

Walters got into old Baker bowl the best way he could to see his favorite pro. Finally he, too, broke into professional baseball in 1922, but waited five seasons as an ordinary infielder before winding up with the Phillies as a pitcher ready to die for the Red Birds.

Wilson, world series luminary of the Cardinals in '38, '39 and '41, could no longer hit it off with his roommate, Frank Frisch, when the one-time Fordham Plax was named manager of the Red Birds.

It was about time he managed a club himself, he figured, and what was natural then for him to return to Philadelphia.

Shortly thereafter Walters, the kid from down the street, came to the Phillies from the Sea via the waiver route.

Wilson quickly saw that Walters would hit consistently enough to play third, but was impressed by the way he burned the ball across the diamond.

The Phillies needed pitching. Wilson talked the youngster into trying his hand.

But even in the spring of '35, Bucky was arguing against making the switch. "But I know he had the arm and speed and that he was enough all-round ball player to make the change. . . adjust himself to the box."

Walters made such rapid strides with the wretched Phillies that on June 13, 1938, he was sold to the Reds for $45,000, and Cincinnati was glad to see it.

In Cincinnati, with Wilson to advise him, Walters ledched the Reds to their first flag in 20 years with 27 victories and the lowest earned run average in the National League since 1903.

Walters came back this season as one of the highest salaried athletes in the game, and earned his pay by bagging 72 games.

When poor Willard Herberberger came to the top of the heap this summer, Wilson went to work. It was well he did, for had he not quickly shipped himself into shape, with a fledgling would have entered the world series without satisfactory catching. The loss of Ernie Lombardi, a man with a sprained ankle, would have been a terrible blow had not Wilson been in shape.

What about having the first man drawn in the draft lottery named as manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball club? This would work a two-way benefit. It would eliminate the boring discussion of whether Oscar Vitt is going to be re-hired or succeeded by Ruck Harris, Steve O'Neill, Babe Ruth, Mike Coclear, Rogers Hornsby, Mel Harder, Hollie Hames, Luke Sewell, Kiki Cuyler, Bill Terry, Colonel Hubert Julian, Noel Coward, John Barrymore or the Howell sisters.

Such a plan would also make every other draftee so content with his lot that he would pay his own way to camp, get his top sergeant with a red apple and volunteer for kitchen police.

The sports name of the year is that of the University of Georgia athlete opponent photographer—Hester Birdsong.

Speaking of Hester Birdsong, it was his truly who revealed that the lateral pass with which Columbia defeated Georgia last Saturday was really an illegal forward pass. Birdsong now goes down in history with the confederate statesman who announced in 1862 that Sherman had to stop for holding while marching through Georgia.

Got Any Shoes? Nursery School Tots Need Them

They're the envy and admiration of the nursery school—those lucky boys and girls who have boots to wear to school.

Know how to get them? Because they're the first ones to get their shoes and stockings off before they take their naps on the rug.

Know how to get them? Because they're the first ones to get their shoes and stockings off before they take their naps on the rug.

Some Need Shoes

Of course, all the 25 children attending the Twin Falls nursery school won't have boots to wear this winter, but some of them will. The need of sturdy shoes of any kind, especially now that the hint of winter is in the air.

Know how to get them? Because they're the first ones to get their shoes and stockings off before they take their naps on the rug.

They are undoubtedly dozens of pairs of shoes, discarded in the bottom of clothes closets, in the attic and in the trunk about town, that could be worn by these two-to-five-year-olds.

Mrs. John Johnston, supervisor of the school, announced today that both coats and shoes are needed for these youngsters who are learning early in life how to take care of themselves. Taking care of their clothes, dressing and undressing and careful grooming are among the first things they are taught at nursery school.

CLASSES INSPECT HEALTH PROGRAM

Among the agencies visited were the county health unit, the county hospital and the fire department. Sincere cooperation was given the interviewees, according to the inspectors.

COURT UPHOLDS TAX EXEMPTION

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Exemption of Idaho constitutional officers from payment of state income taxes was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The decision affirmed judgment of Ada county District Judge C. F. Koschik, who ruled that Franklin Girard, former secretary of state, need not pay income taxes of his state salary received in 1935 and 1936.

Under the court's ruling all state elective officers, district attorneys, district court judges and supreme court justices would be exempt from the state tax. The Idaho law was copied from the federal tax statute, the court pointed out, but the state law does not require salaries of constitutional officers to be taxed.

In another decision the supreme court decided reclamation homesteads are taxable by the state and their political subdivisions prior to the issue of patents, regardless of when entries are made. The court affirmed a Minidoka county district court order in the suit of Mrs. Helen M. Jolley, homesteader.

The first sale of Christmas seals in the United States occurred at Wilmington, Del., in 1907.

Signup at Wells Totals 180 Men

WELLS, Oct. 23 (Special)—At the close of registration, 180 young men had signed up for the draft in the Wells precinct. All business houses were closed during the day set aside for registration for the nation's first peacetime draft army. Stores, restaurants and other business firms closed their doors in response to the declaration by Governor Cavell that the day would be a holiday throughout the state of Nevada.

Miss Margaret Gray, Mrs. Ruth Crump, William R. Keegan, Fred McElroy and E. Dolchweiler acted on the registration board in this district. Registration was held in the city office. According to members of the board, the supply of questionnaire cards was exhausted shortly before noon. Communication with Elko established the fact that the same condition existed in that city. It was necessary to wait for a new supply to be sent up from the coast before registration could be resumed.

It was reported that other towns had a shortage of registration cards. Among these were Death and Condit.

It was estimated that approximately 50 of the 180 registered in Wells were transients.

Originally called Cross Creek Town, Fayetteville, N. C., was renamed for General Lafayette.
