German Troops Are Reported En Route To Assist in Drive

Great Britain and Greece fought off preliminary axis stabs into the Balkans today but heavy movement of German reinforcements threatened stronger blows in a general Mediterranean offensive that may extend from Suez to Gibraltar.

Late FLASHES

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN, ENROUTE TO BOSTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt will make an announcement of the extension of further aid to Great Britain in a major campaign against the Axis tonight, it was learned today.

The announcement, it was indicated, may make available to Great Britain additional fighting planes for its aerial defense against Nazi Germany. The planes, it was believed, would come through giving British orders greater priority at American air plants—thus clearing the way for acceleration of plane deliveries overseas.

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—A well informed Balkan legionist reported today that German troops were moving down the Danube river in barges from the Bratislava area of Slovakia.

It was believed, according to the report, the German troops were intended to reinforce German activities in Rumania. Advances here that Germany had not more than 12,000 troops in Rumania.

Denial of reports that German troops were being transported to the Balkans, based on dispatches from Albania said that German troops were fighting with the Italians.

Winter Offensive Depicted by a dozen European points indicated the Italian thrust into Greece was but one phase of a general winter offensive being inaugurated by the powers without interrupting the German-Italian bombing raids on the British Isles.

London heard 75,000 German troops were moving down the Danube river in barges, possibly to aid in the drive against Greece by attacking from the east (through Yugoslavia or Bulgaria) if the Pacific conflict still.

German Aid Ready Balkan sources said Germany had raised 16 divisions or perhaps 240,000 men in Slovakia and that the reinforcements en route down the Danube came from that zone.

British military sources said Germany had as many as 70 divisions (from 800,000 to 1,000,000 men) ready for action in the southwest of Europe if necessary.

The newspaper Current at Bucharest reported the German plan to drive against Greece and to seize the Buzek canal and the rest east of Italy. Turkey so far has not indicated any intention of aid of Greece unless more directly increased and Soviet Russia has confirmed reaction to the Greek war at generalities at Athens today's Red Star (army newspaper) remark that it would be a long struggle.

BOARD NAMED TO INVESTIGATE FIRE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The War Department today appointed a five-man board to investigate the fire which early today destroyed one new addition to the munitions building and damaged two others.

The board, headed by Brig. Gen. H. H. Arnold, said he had been advised by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson that evidence indicated the blaze was not a gas leak but a fire caused by a cigarette.

Britain Strikes Quickly to Strengthen Position at Suez

By J. W. T. MARON United Press War Report Great Britain has struck quickly in southern Greece to strengthen its position in the eastern Mediterranean and confine Italian military operations to the northern Aegean coast.

Even though the Italian successes to the north, the distance into northern Greece the larger gain will go to Britain if the British operations in the south are pushed to their logical conclusion.

London's announcement today that the Patras, Corinth and Aegina garrisons have been moved to the waters south of Athens and along the west coast, gives a clue to British strategy. The three garrisons form a constitutional waterway, which with the Corinth canal, near Athens, near the southern part of the Greek peninsula from the central and northern.

This southern part, called Peloponnese, comprises about one-fourth the area of Greece. The garrisons along the western seaboard are moving by motor transport to this area.

If that operation has been strong enough the British are now able to use Peloponnese as a naval and air base for attacking Italian reinforcements destined for north Africa, supplies for the Italian army in the north African base, 1,000 miles from Italy but occupation of Peloponnese reduces that distance to 300 miles, an easy flight for air operations.

By showing the waters south of Athens, the British are closing the southwestern entrance to the Aegean sea to the Italians, as well as protecting the Greek capital. This is an initial operation for British control of the Aegean, whose islands, under British possession, would make offensive against Turkey.

As far as it is possible to judge from the British action, the purpose seems to be to bottle up the Italian in the Aegean and prevent any increase the strength of the British navy in the eastern Mediterranean will depend on this plan which is a character of German aid to the Italian as well as the general attitude of the Balkans and Turkey.

Blaze Damages U. S. War Building in Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Fire destroyed one and damaged two other new additions to the war department's office building early today, but officials believed all valuable documents were safe.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, ordered an immediate investigation. He revealed that in recent weeks there had been unnumbered awning fires — as many as eight in one morning last week.

As a result of this morning's fire, more stringent rules for employees and visitors using the building will be put into effect. They were approved some time ago but officials were waiting an opportunity to announce them, Marshall said.

No Damage Estimate There was no immediate estimate of the amount of damage. Col. G. D. Maltby, executive officer of the munitions building, said he entered the building an hour after the fire and saw that lower floors were damaged by water. He said all valuable papers and equipment were in the new water proof fire.

The new addition are four floors to the three-story building built during the World War. They were completed, but the fire broke out in the wing housing the army's code room and spread quickly to two other wings.

All existing fire equipment in the city and many companies from nearby Maryland and Virginia were called on to help fight the fire. The fire broke out in the south wing of the building.

Near White House The building is on Constitution avenue, only a few blocks from the departmental auditorium where the last of the draft lottery numbers were being drawn. It is only two blocks from the south grounds of the White House.

The war department will operate an advance today drawing the first 100,000 employees in the building — not a hour's long time on the advance program, Marshall said.

Among the offices in the building are those of the Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, and his staff. They are in a wing away from the party tonight.

ARMY MAY TAKE 'DAYLIGHT BOMB'

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 30 (UP)—(Maj. George W. Goddard, United States army photographic research center here, today announced his studies of aerial photography. Major Goddard, in charge of recent army "flare bomb" tests conducted in Rochester, conferred recently with President Roosevelt on the results of the night tests at Wright Field, Dayton, O. He is expected to resume his research work with lightning-fast film, according to the Eastman-Kodak company, whose laboratories he uses.

Test Successful
Army officials said results of the Rochester test in which a twilight flare bomb, containing a secret chemical, and synchronized photographic equipment aboard the plane, actually took pictures of ground objectives were highly successful.

Major Goddard said the illumination given off by the flares was "equal to that which you get when the sun is on the horizon."

The bomb, dropped from the plane at a height of approximately 5,000 feet illuminated an area of about five square miles. Pictures taken from the bomber, Major Goddard said, "came out all right," especially an oblique-angle shot of Chicago harbor, a typical military objective.

Stops Acceptance
Major Goddard predicted an early acceptance by the army of the bomb and its synchronized photographic equipment.

"There have been times in the history of the world," Major Goddard said, "when an hour, more of daylight would have changed the tide of battle. We have done this with the 'daylight' in this bomb. I forecast this will mark the end of the day when military leaders prayed for darkness or, a few extra hours of daylight."

A distinct advantage of the flare bomb, he said, is that its light is so blinding it conceals the position of the reconnaissance plane from ground batteries.

Chest Advances To $7,528 Total

Total cash and pledge contributions to the Twin Falls Community Chest fund at noon today had reached $7,528.34. It was officially announced by Harold R. Harvey, campaign manager. Clean-up drive started this morning. The goal is $10,500.

NO DEBATE

Apparently the Democratic call to debate on the third term issue will go unchanged by the Republicans because the latter have a "full slate of meetings this week."

This was the announcement made today by L. H. Van Riper, Republican county chairman. Edward Babcock, Democratic chairman, had issued the debate challenge last week and yesterday had named Marshall Chapman, attorney, as the dealer for that party.

"Much as we'd like to have a member of our party meet Mr. Chapman in open debate," Van Riper said, "I'm afraid that it just can't be done. We have scheduled meetings every night from now on until election."

HUMAN 'BAIT' IN MOSQUITO TRAPS

MANILA (UP)—To help solve the unemployment problem and also study the habits of mosquitoes, Manila City Sanitary Engineer E. L. Ejercito has invented a "human mosquito bait."

The trap consists of a box with screened sides inside a large similarly constructed box. Mosquitoes will be lured through holes in the big box by the smell of "live" human bait inside the small box. The screen around the small box will protect the bait and enable department officials to capture the mosquito alive.

City health experts anticipate a flood of applicants for the $125 a day job inasmuch as all the bait has to do is lie inside the trap eight hours a day and attract mosquitoes. Health officials were silent on whether or not persons naturally attractive to mosquitoes will be given preference.

Four such traps are being constructed by the city health department. They will be installed in four sections of the city. The mosquito season begins in December and ends in May, just as the rains begin, and according to health authorities, failure to exterminate the mosquitoes is due to lack of knowledge on how to kill them.

According to traffic authorities, a combination of white and orange road stripes apparently are best to guide motorists through fog.

MEMO ABOUT A LADY AND HER SALUTE!

Amp. Third Row:
I'm not doing any political campaigning in this squib... merely reporting an actual occurrence that took place in front of a certain music store on Main avenue Tuesday.

A radio in front of this store was broadcasting Roosevelt's voice from the ship drawing at Washington. An elderly lady, who looked at least 60 years old, heard the voice and stopped on the sidewalk. She thumped her nose at the radio.

Then she walked away. But a few seconds later the folks inside the store saw the same lady return to the radio—and she did the noobthing all over again!

"B the truth, Pats, so help me... Here

Changing the Country's Shape

So many things are changing the physical aspect of the country today that we can scarcely comprehend them, and can scarcely keep pace with the rapid movement.

The great dams that create vast lakes which never existed before. The new auto highways, cutting in new ways through different routes. The new public buildings, the new airports, the newly planted forests and parks. Truly the country is being built over.

There are forces at work here that we scarcely realize as yet. The necessities of modern war sternly dictate that many new industries shall be located in positions where they would not otherwise go. While this should cause no loss to any present city, it may well bring new plants and industries to cities and localities which would not otherwise get them.

In general, for instance, it has not been felt wise to establish new production plants vital to defense closer than 300 miles to any border. The inmost center of the country, farthest from possible bombing attack, has an obvious advantage. The concentration of Britain's productive facilities in so small an area is one of that country's greatest handicaps, one that may yet be fatal. Britain, being so small in area, could scarcely avoid that. We can, and we should.

Those are general principles. In every case the particular situation must be considered. One airplane plant, for instance, about to build a huge addition, wants to build it adjoining its present seaboard plant. The government is urging that it be built inland.

Management experience and trained personnel are now concentrated at the present plant. To shift them and introduce new problems of shipping and assembly of materials might well cause delay in a program which now brooks no delay. But additional safety might outweigh all this.

To balance such factors off one against the other is at present one of the jobs of the National Defense committee. In one case the factor of uninterrupted production might be most important. In another the factor of later and permanent safety from attack might be paramount. But in any case the trend is to the interior for works vital to defense, so that even a landing and occupation of the coast would not immediately paralyze defense.

Here is a factor, scarcely bearing at all on the development of the country two years ago, which is now highly important. The defense effort is certain to introduce many decentralizing trends wished for by planners for years, but do it much faster than the planners could have hoped.

Step up and Be Counted

These are days when it is every man's time to step up and be counted. Sixteen million young men have just registered for military service if and when they are called upon. More than two million aliens have likewise checked in.

For many that means two registrations. All male aliens between 21 and 36 were required to register under the draft law.

Nearly a million and a half aliens remain to be counted before Dec. 28, the deadline, according to government estimates. It is especially noted that registration under the draft does not exempt aliens from also registering under the alien act. They must step up and be counted both ways. There are severe penalties for failure.

In these days of stress there is no excuse for failure to comply with those measures which a free people have freely decided are necessary to their own safety.

Bigger and—Costlier

The next battleship to slide down the ways for the American navy is going to set Uncle Sam back the tidy sum of $75,000,000. And the next two to follow will come at $90,000,000 each.

The cost of the North Carolina, now under construction, is around 250 per cent above the cost of the last similar ship built, the West Virginia, launched 20 years ago when a dollar was still a dollar and people thought you used billions only in measuring the distance to the moon.

The only thing us ordinary folks can do is to hope that the naval designers have fixed it so that the first $800 bomb to fall out of a plane won't take the whole $90,000,000 ship right down with it.

YESTERDAY, questioning Maria about the shadow on her forehead, Fred told her it was Adam. Maria tells him that, of Adam's long fight against the shadow, she has heard nothing. She attempts to prove himself cured. A sign of fever in Capetown is noted. Adam is offered to marry Adam. Adam offers to let her try to reach him. Adam believes Adam. Adam abandoned him. He married Pat.

PAT EXPLAINS A FIRE

CHAPTER XVIII

CLAD in an orange boucle suit and framed in the green shrubbery as she sat on a garden bench, Patricia Langdon looked like a tropical bird. Even Braitwood admitted she was attractive. He thought Pat selfish. Had she really loved Craig Garrison? She would not have married Adam. A professor's salary, while not comparable with a fortune such as Adam Langdon's, was still sufficient for two if real love were present.

For Adam, he did not believe she cared the least. Nor did he believe that Adam would have married any girl, knowing he was a drug addict, had not that addiction sapped his morale.

An air of relief characterized Pat. As Sidney dropped into a seat beside her, he guessed—rightly—that she had been thinking of the fortune she would soon inherit. The unpleasant notoriety would pass and her short month as Adam Langdon's bride would be but a dark memory.

"I shall live in Capetown when this is over," she told Braitwood. "The sooner an order separates me from this blood-stained floor, the sooner I shall forget the unpleasantness it has brought me."

"Your people are in Africa now, aren't they?" he asked.

"Yes," she replied. "What legal formalities must a wife go through before an estate is settled, Mr. Braitwood?"

For a few moments they discussed legal matters, then Sidney asked: "Did you know that the autopsy had revealed a considerable amount of morphine in Adam's system, Mrs. Langdon?"

"Oh—I feared that might happen," she admitted in a startled way. "Adam had the habit. Or did you know it?"

"Recently I learned of it," Sidney confessed. "I understand you had planned to send him to a sanitarium?"

"FOR the first time, Pat lost her poise. Her crimson lips quivered and her hands locked in an effort at self-control. She did not ask how Braitwood had obtained his knowledge. Probably she assumed that Adam himself had communicated it to his lawyer.

"You have not much sympathy with me, Mr. Braitwood," she said. "Don't pretend. I hardly believe you. You were Adam's friend. But if you would try to understand what marriage to a man who was all but a maniac meant, you would know I had little choice but to have him put away."

"You think there was more than an excessive use of drugs troubling him?"

"I don't know, really. I have never been associated with a person who used drugs. But I do know that more than half the time he was not rational. When deprived of the drug he was like a madman."

"Yesterday I had found his supply of narcotics and burned it. I upset his desk in my search. That explains the charred papers you and I found in the grate. He had tubes of the stuff in cardboard boxes. Craig says there may be some way of telling what was burned from the ash."

"You know where Adam got the drug? Such habits often lead to unpleasant associations. They may even have a bearing on the murder."

"I don't know, really. I've heard him telephone New York and ask for the 'doctor.' He says that he wanted his last prescription refilled and sent down. I remember the number."

"Did he know that you had burned his supply?"

"Yes, he knew. He looked himself in the jungle and refused to go for a drive. When Nella went down to catch him, there was a scene. I believe he struck her. When he realized where his fury had brought him, he became contrite and joined us. . . . That

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—The 4,000-odd Americans who are still marooned in the British Isles are going to have to stay there, except the few who get across on transatlantic planes. Efforts to get another American liner steamer over to bring them home have been given up.

Several months ago the liners Roosevelt and Washington, making "last chance" sailings and shortly after that there was still another sailing. The air offensive had not yet developed, and a large number of American residents in London had their families safely (as they supposed) quartered in remote villages and towns. Hence a good many stayed on.

Recently they've been calling frantically for transportation. "They can't come back on English steamships because the neutrality law forbids American citizens to travel through war zones on the ships of a belligerent."

A REPORTER WRITES INSIDE BIOGRAPHY OF FIRST LADY

Maybe you think, as do a lot of people, you know all there is to know about Eleanor Roosevelt. Well, you have some surprises coming in Ruby Black's lively, revealing biography of the First Lady, "Eleanor Roosevelt" (Duell, Sloan and Pierce; $2.75).

Miss Black, prominent Washington newspaperwoman, has "covered" the president's wife for the past several years. She knows whereof she speaks. She clears up a lot of controversies, including the question of Mrs. Roosevelt's earnings. The wife of the president gets a dollar a word for any magazine article requiring research and a few dollars for other articles of an editorial nature, but the money all goes to charity, as do broadcast and lecture fees.

According to Miss Black, the first lady is "first" at more places than the White House. She is an influence on the Capitol. Miss Black tells how she saved the life of one of the government's most popular publications, "The Consumers Guide," by a telephone call, and how she protested the slaughter of pigs and the plowing under of cotton to lessen surplus.

One of her friends said in this instance that "she raised unhitched hell." Miss Black shows further that the question of her earnings was sustained and are largely responsible for the use of surplus farm products to provide food and clothing for the poor.

In any case, however, it seems Mrs. Roosevelt has given advice only when it was asked for. Right now she is busy with her ideas about women's part in the picture. And when the president is in the White House, she is often away from the presidential office, it is Mrs. Roosevelt's own engaging personality that helps.

All things considered, the White House has never seen a woman who thinks nothing of completing a lecture shortly before midnight, in 1939, motorcycling 35 miles to Cleveland, catching a 2:55 a. m. plane and after both and breakfast starting right back to work in New York at 8:30 a. m. Such a woman, says Miss Black, "has a secure place in the history of the world, a place which will grow larger, and which will be a warmly lit peak in the years long after."

Betrothal Announced During Afternoon Tea

Ribbon-tied scrolls presented to guests attending the tea this afternoon, arranged by Mrs. Glen G. Jenkins at her home, 1826 Heyburn avenue, announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Thelma Jenkins, to John H. Wambaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wambaugh, Colorado Springs, Colo. Date of the wedding was not disclosed.

Decorating the tea table was an arrangement of pink roses, matching tapers burned in four containers, and all appointments for the table, covered with a cut-work cloth, were in silver. A clever bride and bridegroom design was arranged on the stairway, and about the rooms were bouquets of pink and white chrysanthemums.

Presiding at the silver service, the first half-hour, were Mrs. Alvin Casey and Mrs. Fred Harter, followed by Mrs. Guy Olin, Kimberly, and Mrs. C. C. Kinsbury.

Mrs. Charles Casey and Mrs. O. M. Hepler presided during the third period of the Italian Pizzetti, and Mrs. Robert Casey was at the service during the final half-hour.

Assisting in the dining room, Mrs. Olin Jenkins, sister-in-law of the honoree; Miss Wendolyn Hill, her cousin; Mrs. William Adams and Mrs. Jack Wise.

COMBINATION'S POINT

An extreme hat requires a chic outfit. Impossible to dress alone and other accessories. Unless you can live up to it, you're often better off with a smart but simple hat. Furthermore, it's better to decide on something you can be all of the time than a type you know you can't wear and then, better to be a little attractive, fresh-faced than a single day than to have a hat that looks like it was made for the other days of the month.

ROOSEVELT CONDEMNS "INJECTION OF FEAR" INTO CAMPAIGN

CROWDS IN NEW ENGLAND CHEER CHIEF EXECUTIVE

BY T. F. REYNOLDS

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO BOSTON, Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt opened his third term drive in New England today by condemning the injection of fear into the campaign and blasting at charges that the New Deal plans to "send American boys to Europe."

Bidding for the 45 electoral votes of Massachusetts and Connecticut, Mr. Roosevelt told a rain-drenched crowd of 5,000 at New Haven that "all this talk about sending American boys to Europe does not conform with the facts of the past or the facts of the future."

The President spoke from the rear platform of the special train carrying him up the industrial Connecticut valley to Boston, where tonight he delivers a major political address to the nation.

Despite driving, autumnal rain, a big crowd jammed the New Haven station to cheer him. Many in the crowd carried banners, proclaiming third term support, and pledging backing from labor organizations, including the International Ladies Garment Workers and the Shirt Workers.

"Injection of Fear"

Mr. Roosevelt hit out at dissemination of the "philosophy of fear" in the campaign, reiterating "the only thing America has to fear is fear itself."

"What a pity it is that there should be an injection of fear during this national campaign into the hearts of Americans," the President said.

Mr. Roosevelt said that despite the extending theater of war, the United States "has been able to keep clear."

But, he said, America now has started mustering its manpower in a new measure to show its determination to keep clear.

Traveling up the valley by special train from New Haven, he worked with a special crew of stenographers to complete the Boston speech which, he promised, will again attack what he terms the "deliberate fabrications" of his opposition.

Speeches—Day

Mr. Roosevelt was operating on a "speech-a-day" basis, although not all addresses could be classed as political. His voice will be on the national networks every night this week—and again on Monday night—election eve. He will be on the Columbia Broadcasting system and the N.B.C. Blue network from the Boston Garden tonight at 10:15 o'clock. Thursday, he speaks at 4:15 p. m. at National Cancer Institute ceremonies in Washington. He gives his campaign's final smash Friday night at the Brooklyn Academy of Music; Saturday night at the Walden Theatre; and Monday night in a 15th hour address from his Hyde Park, N. Y., home.

Mr. Roosevelt's train today takes him along the same general route along which, in 1936, he received the greatest acclaim of his political career. He will visit Wallingford, Meriden, New Britain Junction and Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Worcester, Framingham and Boston, Mass.

Mr. Roosevelt will have dinner with his son, John Roosevelt, and his wife, the former Ann Clark, at their Beacon street Boston home before his Garden address. After the speech, he will rebound his train immediately, returning to Washington Thursday forenoon.

"Nicks in the shins—he must have been a briskee player!"

NOMINEE CLAIMS SAVINGS ON TAX

Instead of state tax "increase" saddling an additional burden on Twin Falls county, the administration of Gov. C. A. Bottelboom in 1939 actually made a net saving of $788.02 plus $96,592.01 saved by auto owners under the $5 license.

Mrs. Leila D. Painter, C. O. P. candidate for state treasurer, told a Republican rally last night at Piler high school.

Mrs. Painter quoted figures which she said refuted Democratic claims that the 1939 increase in the state and valorem tax for this county represented a boost of $99,822.11. Admitting that the ad valorem went up by that much, she asserted that this amount was overbalanced by the following:

a) Saving of $37,209.07 in relief levy.

b) Saving of $37,438.82 by abolishing the state general fund levy.

c) Saving of $96,692.01 by auto owners.

Concerning Republican action in putting on the property tax $1,000,000 for schools and $1,400,000 for relief, Mrs. Painter said:

"This has meant a dependable and stable balance being returned to the counties for these two purposes."

Speakers will be Judge T. Bailey Lee, Burley, and Harry Benoit and Asher B. Wilson. They accepted invitation extended by F. C. Shenberger, president of the district bar association.

The services will be at 10 a. m.

Sportsmen Warned Against Hunting On Posted Lands

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

With one of the greatest crops of pheasants in the history of the state on hand for the opening of the season, southern Idaho nimrod today took a "dry off" from duck hunting as they rested for the heavy campaign that gets under way on Friday, Nov. 1, in counties of this sector.

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

SALT LAKE CITY— Utah Redskins scrimmage today as they prepared for next Saturday's mix with Colorado. The Redskins, coached by Dick Logan, the game that may decide the Big Seven conference championship. Coach Logan announced that he will break an eight-year jinx Colorado holds over the Utes.

LOGAN, Utah— Coach Dick Romney ran the Utah Aggies through a light scrimmage today and announced they would be in top condition for Saturday's game with Brigham Young university. Romney planned special drills for the Aggie reserves which were expected to see action in the week-end thriller.

PROVO, Utah— Brigham Young university today expected a capacity crowd for Saturday's mix with Utah Aggies. The Beehive state's major week-end football attraction. The Cougars drilled against Aggie players after a two-week hiatus.

FILLMORE— Washington State was expected to play a week-end game with Idaho's scoreless Vandals.

QUAIL SEASON CLOSED

He also pointed out that there is no open season on quail or Hungarian partridge in his district this year.

To avoid accidents, Mr. Davis asked hunters to be particularly careful in going through fences into farm fields. Along this line, he cited the "no trespassing" law, the text of which reads in part: "Whenever a tract of land shall have been enclosed by the owner with a fence and signs legibly erected or painted in the English language, warning persons not to trespass thereon, shall have been posted in a conspicuous manner on each side thereof, upon or near the boundaries, at intervals of not more than eighty rods, it shall be a misdemeanor for any person to enter upon said enclosed lands and discharge any firearms thereon or in the land for the purpose of hunting thereon without the consent of the owner or person in charge of said land."

CHAMPAIGN, Oct. 30 (UPI)—Michigan was running over Illinois, 49-0, in a football game today, as it was in a game against Ohio State when he beat the Big Ten on Saturday.

Mac Does Some Snooping—Finds Reason for New Rose Bowl Plan

By HENRY McLENDINE
CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (UPI)—A man who doesn't have a false toucan, a pair of goggles or a skeleton key in his pocket is in a pretty good way of snooping. Here I've been in Chicago fewer than 24 hours, and already I have snooped enough to form a pretty good idea on why the Pacific Coast conference is an anxious to make its Rose bowl game a closed affair between one of its members and a representative of the Big Ten.

BOYS' CLUB HAS 'GUESS' PROGRAM

A "Guess It" program was given at a meeting of the Boys' Club yesterday at the Twin Falls high school. Several of the club members were presented over a loud-speaker from behind a curtain and the rest of the boys wrote down the name of the person as they guessed.

Voices and instruments were heard during the program. After the program, the participants were shown to the group to check with their answers.

Those taking part and the roles they played were Gene Hill, master of ceremonies; Junior Farmer, fantease; Dick Comanna, Donald Duck; Milo Pearson, vocal solo; Bob Allen, "Professor Knowit"; Dick P. Lawrence, karkle; Bob Bayless and Bob Bradford, laugh; Bill Heston, "Old Time"; Archie Weber, radio announcer; Frank Lawrence "Our Leader"; Tom Cartney, "A Serious Thought"; Pat Wallace, treasurer's report; Gerald Wallace, sponsor of the club, announcements; and Ted Lake, Milo Pearson, Clarence Dingles and Jack Haffay, vocal quartet. Two phonograph records, a drum solo by Gene Krupa and a record by Paul Robeson, were also presented.

ENVOY PAYS FOR OWN BROADCAST

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, said today that his nationwide radio broadcast, co-sponsoring President Roosevelt's third term and outlining America's position in the war, had been paid for by his family and nobody had seen his speech in advance.

In his speech last night, Kennedy described "the world conditions as 'gloomy'" but said the United States could stay out of the war "if we remain fast enough." It is in Britain's interests that we stay out of the war and continue sending her supplies, he said, but he predicted that however the war ends, it will "gravely affect the destinies of every man, woman and child" in America; that "the impact of this conflict will be felt, even by our children's children."

Endorsing Mr. Roosevelt as best qualified to lead the country through the crisis, Kennedy said in normal times he might oppose a third term for a President. Without mentioning Roosevelt's Presidential Nominee Wendell L. Willkie by name, he said it would take two years to train a new national leader and that the German army was striking so suddenly "we do not have time to train a general even though he comes to us with all the good will and general capacity but lacking in the vital government experience."

IDAHO HUNTER'S BODY RECOVERED

ABERDEEN, Ida., Oct. 30 (AP)—Sheriff's officers today recovered the body of Jess Holt, 30, Aberdeen hunter who apparently was killed after falling from a 60-foot cliff.

Holt became separated from a hunting party during a snowstorm Sunday. His body was found at the base of the cliff by a searching party which had combed the rugged Markay area for nearly two days.

Get out the Soap, Kids: Cash Prizes Await You!

With the exception of marking off the windows in squares, everything was ready today for the annual Halloween soap drawing contest which will be held in the downtown section Thursday night under sponsorship of the merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. John Gardner, chairman, said this afternoon.

The contest starts at 7 p. m. and ends at 8:30 p. m. with four drawings after that hour. Cash prizes will be awarded the winners and "kiddie" from six to 16 years of age.

The Rules
Following are the complete rules, which are available from any merchant in the district included:
1—The contest will be confined to the downtown store windows two blocks each way from Shoshone street on Main avenue, and one block north of Main avenue and one block south of Main avenue.
2—Merchants in this district are requested to rule off their windows in squares, each one and one-half feet to be set. The sizes to be optional within those limitations. Have the squares so arranged that the youngsters will be able to reach them. All squares should be ruled off not later than 6 p. m. on Halloween, Thursday, Oct. 31.
3—Time of the contest is between the hours of 7 and 8:30 p. m. that evening.
4—Four judges selected by the merchants' bureau will determine the winners immediately following the close of the contest, and winning drawings will be identified. Winners may call for their prizes at the Chamber of Commerce the afternoon of the day following the contest.

5—There will be two classifications of ages, namely 6 to 12 and 13 to 16, both inclusive. The two age classifications will be confined to the two divisions (1) the group from 6 to 12 years is to make its drawings on the north side of the street on Main avenue and on Shoshone street north and (2) the group from 13 to 16 years is to make its drawings on the south side of the street on Main avenue and on Shoshone street south. Those who place drawings in both areas will be ruled out of the contest. A separate set of prizes will be awarded for each of these age groups.
6—Each contestant must select and confine his drawing to one square. There will be plenty of squares for everyone. To identify his drawing, each contestant must sign his name, address and age.

NAVY RUSHES AIR BASE ON ISLAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (NEA)—The U. S. navy is rushing the job of setting up an "air Gibraltar" on Puerto Rico, and expects to have its vast air base there ready for use next June, a whole year ahead of schedule.

The job is a big one, involving the filling of hundreds of acres of swamp at Isla Grande, near San Juan, and the dredging of an adjacent bay. Engineers had originally figured they could fill in the swamp with what they took out of the bottom of the bay, but when they got down to it they found out they couldn't — wrong kind of dirt, or something. So they've had to cut down a small mountain, whack it up into bits, and use that as a foundation.

Way Ahead
In spite of all of this, the job is way ahead of time. Right now the navy can keep only about a dozen planes at Isla Grande. Next year at this time it'll have more than 200 there.

The navy also has the throttle wide open on its shipbuilding program, although the results aren't so noticeable. Number of workers employed on this program in government and private shipyards was 72,000 at the end of last June. It had jumped to 82,000 by the end of August, and rose 7,000 more during September.

Eight Started
Eight of the 12 battleships which have been ordered are actually under construction, and two of the eight have been launched. Only one of the 12 airplane carriers contracted for is on the ways, and only six of the 48 cruisers. Twenty-seven of the cruiser contracts were signed in September. Incidentally, work is ahead of schedule on eight of the 12 submarines under construction. Orders have been placed for 166 destroyers, and work has started on 15; in six cases, work is anywhere from two weeks to three months ahead of schedule.

Lastly, navy recruiting is booming. In uniform now are 150,000 men. Nearly 40,000 are men who have enlisted since the first of this year. No special drive to get men is being carried on — they come without being asked for, 178,000 have applied so far this year.

The SPORTSMAN'S Favorite!

NOVEMBER FIRST is another big day on the sportsman's calendar... the opening of the season on that favorite of them all, ol' cock Pheasant, wildest and gamest thing that flies.

Throughout the West, "Magic Valley" is known for its abundance of Chinese Ringnecks. Not only does it afford a wealth of enjoyment for all hunters, but because of its widespread popularity it serves as a real test for good sportsmanship as well.

As we take to the fields for ol' cock Pheasant let's not forget for a moment the value of such sportsmanship. Let's show our appreciation for the important part the farmers are playing in making such an outstanding sport possible. Let's be considerate and courteous if we expect like treatment in return.

And as pheasant season opens once more, let's vow to make even more of this sportsmanship by being doubly careful in our use of guns and ammunition, and more respectful of game laws and regulations generally.

"Magic Valley" hunters are fortunate in being favored with such ideal hunting. Good sportsmanship on the part of everyone is our best assurance that such conditions will continue, year after year. First, let's bear that in mind. Then—

All hail to ol' cock Pheasant, the sportsman's favorite!

... and A FAVORITE WITH "MAGIC VALLEY"

In the spirit of true sportsmanship, the bakers of BUTTER-KRUST bread appreciate the fact that their product is another favorite, not only with the hunters, but with everyone in "Magic Valley." Housewives and grocers generally have given BUTTER-KRUST the type of endorsement that speaks most highly for its excellence, with the result that BUTTER-KRUST enjoys the greatest popularity of any bread sold in south central Idaho... a popularity that is growing daily. Whether it's in the hunter's lunch kit, an ingredient in a tasty dressing, or an important part of the regular daily menu, BUTTER-KRUST always makes eating an added pleasure. It, too, is an outstanding favorite!

GLEN TAYLOR, SEN. THOMAS HOLD POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT

200,000 VOTERS EXPECTED TO GO TO IDAHO POLLS

By LLOYD TUPLING
BOISE, Ida., Oct. 30 (UP)—The political campaign season in Idaho is expected to serve the two years remaining in the term of the late Sen. William E. Borah as an estimated 200,000 voters prepared to go to polls Nov. 2.

Support for other candidates on the Idaho general election ballot indicated races would be close but most speculation appeared to center on the race between Democratic nominee Glen H. Taylor and John Thomas, Republican incumbent. Much of the effort of headquarters for both parties has been devoted to an attempt to win support for their respective candidates.

Democratic State Chairman Robert Coulter claims Taylor will wrest the senatorship from Thomas by a wide margin. He bases his prediction on the claim that Taylor has spoken to more voters than any other candidate in the state.

Republican State Chairman Tom Heath feels sure Sen. Thomas will retain his seat because he believes the voters will repeat what he terms "traudville" tactics.

Expect 200,000 Voters
It was estimated that more than 200,000 voters will determine which candidate will win the senatorship. Ballot books will not close until Nov. 2 at 9 p. m. but state officials indicated about 350,000 persons will be eligible to cast their votes when the state's 752 precincts open at 8 a. m. Tuesday morning.

Another hot race was developing between Chase A. Clark, mayor of Idaho Falls who is the Democratic nominee for governor, and Gov. C. A. Holtzcler, the Republican incumbent campaigning for reelection. Candidates for nine other offices will also be on ballots throughout the state.

In the first congressional district, Rep. Compton I. White is seeking return to office for the fourth consecutive time on the Democratic ticket. He is opposed by Edward Gaffney, Republican nominee and Orofino bus line operator. The second district congressional battle is between Rep. Henry Dearnbach, Republican incumbent and Ira H. Masters, former Democratic secretary of state.

Legislative Governor Post
Candidates for lieutenant governor are Donald Whitehead, Republican, and Charles Gossett, Democrat. Both have served in the same capacity that year the Whitehead since 1938, and Gossett from 1937-39.

George H. Curtis, Democratic incumbent, is opposed by James W. Keating for secretary of state. Three other Democratic state officials are also seeking jobs. They are Calvin E. Wright, state auditor; Mrs. Myrtle P. Erking, treasurer; and Mrs. Camille E. Davis-Wicks, a former two-term state superintendent. D. opposing him on the Republican side.

Three amendments to the state constitution and two legislative measures seeking to change the state hour setup will also be on the ballot. Campaigning for support of the measures was almost negligible, although a last-minute battle over the "dry" measures was expected to develop.

HAZELTON
Spino auxiliary with their leader, Mrs. Babe Howard, held a Halloween party last week at the home of Mrs. Frank Howard.

Mrs. Frank Howard entertained four tables of bridge and luncheon recently at the Victor home in Twin Falls. Mrs. Louise Adams and Mrs. Leo Smith received prizes.

Suppl. and Mrs. W. W. Hokesberry have returned from a two weeks' stay at their farm near Caldwell.

Mrs. Erney Vandy entertained the Lead-a-Hand club Thursday at her newly remodeled home near Dixon.

Mrs. Mattie and Bobby Saunders entertained 12 small guests Saturday at a Halloween costume party.

Program Subject to Change Without Notice

NEW CURE FOUND FOR INFECTIONS

BOSTON (AP)—Gas gangrene, an infection that has proved fatal to about 60 per cent of the cases recorded, can be prevented and cured by a new method of X-ray treatment.

Dr. D. Arnold Dowell and Dr. James F. Kelly, both of Omaha, Neb., announced at a meeting here of the American Roentgen Ray society that the mortality rate for such cases has been reduced to less than 6 per cent in cases adequately treated.

The two scientists, who presented their statistics and case reports in a special scientific exhibit, declared that this type of treatment would also be valuable in curing acute pyelitis and other virulent infections.

"We believe that X-ray therapy, alone, without serum or surgery, is superior to all other methods for treatment of these diseases," they said, "and we have data to substantiate this belief."

Outspoken in their condemnation of surgical amputation to cure gas gangrene, they said that "amputation as a therapeutic measure during the acute toxic stage is a factor in increasing the mortality rate in gas bacillus infection."

It was emphasized that this type of treatment must be given early and consistently. During the World war, when amputation was the only treatment, roughly half of those whose wounds were invaded by the gas-producing microbe died—and it invaded almost a third of those wounded.

Green Quinine Odd Problem Of Red Cross

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (NEA)—Among the bizarre problems the Red Cross handled itself when it started that first load of medicines off to China via the Burma road was the matter of drying 40,000,000 quinine tablets green.

Green quinine doesn't taste any better than the other kind, but that's how the Chinese prefer it. Some years ago the Red Cross was passing out quinine to Chinese flood sufferers. Chinese druggists got to collecting them and selling them and to check this the Red Cross men on the spot got some veritable doses and colored his tablets green, telling all hands green tablets shouldn't be paid for.

All of which made a big hit and somehow save the Chinese the idea quinine had to be green to be good.

In that connection, Green or not, those quinine tablets may prove essential to the proper functioning of the Burma road supply train.

The road dips through a valley that is highly malarial. Medical men have reported that, unless there's plenty of quinine the travelers will repair cases wouldn't be able to keep going very long.

Medicines now being shipped including aspirin, sulfanilamide and other drugs, besides quinine have cost around $100,000. Red Cross plans to spend quite more in the same way, but wants to see first

STUDENTS FORM VOLUNTEER ROTC

BOULDER, Colo. (UP)—Seventy-five university of Colorado students, denied an ROTC unit, are voluntarily drilling daily under the direction of an assistant physics professor who holds a reserve officer's commission.

Assisting the professor, Major Malcolm Hyman, are 14 students who have studied military training.

The voluntary unit was established at the suggestion of the college newspaper, the Silver and Gold, after army authorities notified the university it would be unable to establish an ROTC unit at the school this fall because all qualified army instructors are engaged in active service.

The unit has the support of President Robert L. Stearns, who said that while the university's primary aim is "to prepare students to live smartly and intelligently," it must adopt a realistic policy and do everything possible to cooperate with the national defense program in a time of emergency.

The military courses include courses on map reading, military organization, infantry drill regulations, rifles and rifle marksmanship, sanitation and first aid; military courtesy, customs of the service, discipline and military callouts.

PARIS TO REMAIN FASHION CENTER

CHICAGO (AP)—America will become the fashion center of the world "when the Empire State building takes the place of the Versailles palace," a railway station takes the place of Westminster Abbey," according to Mme. Elsa Schiaparelli, who designed original costumes for the joy and despair of women the world over.

The Paris designer is filling in her lines giving lectures in America while the Nazis dictate costume styles in Paris. She plans to return and resume this awful night is over," she said.

"Nazis may come and Nazis may go, but Paris and fashion go on forever," said the married little woman who emerged from an obscure seamstress to a world famous designer 12 years ago.

"Something beautiful comes of all suffering," she said, "and even more beautiful fashions will come from the suffering of Paris. Designers returned to their work after 1870 and again after 1918."

American can never become the center of fashion design, she predicted, because it is handicapped by mass production methods.

"When I want a certain kind of button, a fantastic button for a particular costume, in Paris I see only a few yards. But that is too costly a procedure for American manufacturers."

"I fancy to myself a wonderful fabric," said the little designer, "I explain to the weaver what I want, it to look and feel like. He laughs at me. But he makes it. Perhaps only a few yards. But that is too costly a procedure for American manufacturers."

America gives the world its best dressed women, but the inspiration for their clothes will always come from Paris," the distinctive designer declared emphatically as she adjuged her tuban—a little number Daniel Boone would have recognized instantly, made of two coconuts with a bushy tail hanging over her left shoulder.

Student at Idaho University Seeks Legislative Seat

MOSCOW, Ida., Oct. 30 (UP)—Custer county's lone seat in the state house representative, is being sought this year by Bill Fox, English major at the University of Idaho.

Believed to be the youngest candidate for state office, Fox has provided up opportunities for speech-making because, he said, he is well acquainted with his constituents. The youthful candidate served the last two terms as deputy county assessor. Although he believes his county will go Democratic, Fox feels sure of victory because of his record. He is running on the Republican ticket and if elected may possibly be the youngest legislator in state history.

TRAVEL SLUMP IS BLAMED ON WAR

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (UP)—The troubled European situation and increased domestic business which kept business men at their desks turned a prospective banner year for railroad vacation travel into a poor season with less travel than a year ago, a United Press survey showed today.

Major transportation companies participating in the survey reported a loss of passenger traffic during the regular vacation season in contrast to an expected increase in pleasure and resort travel hauled last spring.

Passenger departments attributed the decline to the war, which not only increased domestic business but kept world business conditions in a turmoil, thus supplying two reasons why business men who ordinarily take a month's vacation for travel hesitated to leave their desks.

Without exception, all passenger representatives contacted by the United Press said inquiries early last spring indicated a banner year for travel could be expected, but that inquiries in August and previous reservations were cancelled after Hitler invaded the Low Countries in May. From May through the summer a majority of the roads reported sharp declines, despite the revival of the New York and San Francisco fair.

Three Roads Show Gains
Of the roads reporting, only three reported an increase this year over last in vacation travel. In each case the increases were slight. A. D. Martin, passenger traffic manager of the Rock Island Lines, reported an "extraordinary" increase over that of 1939. The Rock Island showed a marked increase in traffic to Colorado, Yellowstone National Park and to California. Martin attributed his road's increase to improved service offered by new electric-powered passenger trains.

Robert Thomson of the Chicago and Northwestern, reported an increase of 12 per cent over his road, with the department of tours, operated jointly with the Union Pacific railroad, experiencing the biggest gain in history. Thomson said there was a 100 per cent increase in travel to Yellowstone Park, and 50 per cent gain in the Utah-Arizona National Park tours.

Vacation traffic on the Northern Pacific was 1 per cent more according to E. E. Nelson, passenger traffic manager, with Yellowstone Park receiving approximately the same percentage last season. However, the crack train of the road, the North Coast Limited, was operated in two sections during June, July and August.

Yellowstone Business Good
With the exception of "The Hiawatha," operating between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis, the Milwaukee road showed a loss of traffic generally. The Hiawatha, one of the fastest trains in the country, carried 34,886 passengers in August, an increase of 480 over the same month last year. Business to Yellowstone Park was up 30 per cent, according to F. N. Hicks, passenger traffic manager.

Albert Colquhoun, Jr., of the Burlington Lines, said despite a decline of 8 per cent this summer over last, the road carried 21 extra sections of regular trains and 10 special trains the past summer. Yellowstone Park business of the Burlington was up 8 per cent, Colquhoun said.

The New York Central showed a decline of 20 per cent, according to J. W. Switzer, passenger traffic manager. The European situation affected the road more than western lines, as most European travelers, going or coming, landed at New York City, where the New York Central either delivered them, or picked them up for movement westward. All-expense tours in New York Central territory made a good showing, Switzer reported.

Travel to Mexico Increases
While general traffic on the Illinois Central was off 25 per cent, J. V. Lankin, passenger traffic manager, reported an increase of 125 per cent to Mexico and 33 per cent to Florida. The heavy increases here, however, failed to offset the general decline in other vacation territory on the line.

G. S. Baillinger of the Union Pacific said while passenger traffic was "slightly less" than last year, officials were gratified with the results, considering the war and general conditions.

Western Pacific lines showed a slight decrease also, though the new trains, The Noon Daylight, operating between Los Angeles and San Francisco, and The Harrier, between San Francisco and Portland, showed good patronage since their inauguration, according to F. S. McClint.

The Baltimore and Ohio showed a substantial loss over last year, due primarily to loss of interest in U. S. New York fair and the European situation, according to its passenger officials.

JAMES TRUSLOW ADAMS
THIRD TERM
FOR ANY PRESIDENT

I am utterly opposed to a third term, not simply now but for any President whatsoever. This is not because of the beliefs of the Founding Fathers, although they were probably the wisest group of statesmen ever assembled here. Times change and we ourselves are now Founding Fathers for the future.

Times change, as I said. The original Founding Fathers, in a hastily drawn clause in the last few days of the Constitutional Convention—trying to limit both the powers and the method of election of a President—never considered that some day he would have billions of men under his disposal, that he would have powers unfathomable and yet demand more and more with relinquishing more, that he would try to control both Congress and the Supreme Court; that there would be a million Federal employees and many more millions of voters receiving money from the government and the President's appointees. Yet these things have come to pass.

And now for the first time in a hundred and fifty years a President asks for twelve years of office on the ground of his indispensability and of a crisis. The evident action is enough to give us the measure of his self-opinion and political stature. What has happened to America—AND WHY?—if out of a population of 130,000,000 only one man can lead us?

Again, in this fast changing world it can always be said that there is a crisis. In four years, if this war is over, however it may be, there will probably be a crisis, social and economic, of the first magnitude. So, if a President on that ground now demands twelve years in office and more powers, why not, in 1944, sixteen years and yet half powers, or for life with all powers?

If this is allowed there is no more American Democracy, no more America. Now, and now only, is the time when possibly America can be saved by defeating the third term and the trend to government by one man and his satellites. Make no mistake. Practically all Europe, except Britain, has set the pattern and we have been following it step by step. The only chance left to save our way of life and the liberties of ourselves and your children and children's children is to vote against the permanent retention of office by any President, whatever name. The clock strikes for America, for its freedom and its Bill of Rights, as you cast your ballots on Election Day. God Bless America.

LETTER TO THE CLERGY

I am presuming to write to you and to my brethren of the ministry only because the subject at hand is of such grave importance. As ministers of the church we are vitally concerned with the present decision regarding the maintenance of the ancient third-term principle.

Religion gave birth to democracy and religion depends upon democracy for its strength in the future. The church has always been the cradle and citadel of democracy.

Now we face a threat to American Democracy. No man has ever before attempted to perpetuate himself and a vast political machine in power by seeking a third term. Back as being let down, forces are being set in motion which can result in dictatorship.

An American dictatorship would probably be more subtle and less crude than elsewhere, but more subtle and less crude than elsewhere, but more subtle and less crude than elsewhere, but more subtle and less crude than elsewhere.

Freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of worship, these cannot be tolerated by dictatorship, for their exercise would undermine their power. It is obvious why dictators cancel them. Regimented business, regimented labor, destroyed labor unions, regimented religion, dependence upon vast cynical city political machines in the name of idealism, all of these are in the picture of a developing American styled dictatorship.

When a President after eight years can improve well upon a hundred and fiftiethennially unwilling party chosen for his freedom of thought, it is in essence a dictatorship, as nations it is as well.

We are not approaching this matter as partisans. Ministers ought not to engage in partisan politics, most of us believe. Now is this an issue regarding the Executive as a man who would minister personally admits. We are dealing with a principle involving something far more fundamental than partisanship. The question is, "Shall we lower the bars and permit a venture that can lead this nation in the future, under unknown personalities who may be motivated not by our traditions of freedom but by the cynicism of power, to the abrogation of democratic and religious institutions?"

I personally feel so strongly that I would not vote for my own brother for a third term. No man or man in his humanity to the coronation of a man for a third term. No man or man should take a stand against a basic tradition of our democracy.

READ what
says about a
THIRD TERM

The third-term tradition is part of the armor of Freedom. It is a restraint against the abuse of power... as such it finds many forms, written or unwritten. Freedom has always sought means to prevent political machines from perpetuating themselves in office.

The chief value of constitutions, written or unwritten, aside from prescribing the jurisdiction of various officers, and so preventing conflict and chaos, is that they place limitations upon power.

Human liberty may be legally defined as a restraint upon government's power. When it is without restraint, there is no liberty, as witness Germany today.

The anti-third-term tradition is one of those restraints. Washington, Jefferson and Jackson formulated it, but the three or four hundred million Americans who have lived since 1789 have silently ratified it. It is like the common law. In not less than 34 states it is expressly written in their constitutions.

If there is any section of the country that has the obligation of history and party loyalty to oppose a third term for any President, it is the Southern states. Although most of the states of the Union have consulted and approved limiting the tenure in office of their chief executives, this principle was extended to the presidency by the various states of the Confederate States. They made it impossible, even in wartime, for President Jefferson Davis, or anyone else, to fasten himself upon the sovereign nation they were attempting to create. They intended to make it impossible for any man to obtain an unbreakable grip upon government.

It is not strange, therefore, that the Democrats of the South are especially concerned at the threatened violation of what they have always considered an important principle of Free government.

Not only is there this historical background to it, it is also the truth that the principle has been more powerfully by Democrats than by Republicans. No two men did more to establish it as the unwritten law of the whole country than the two greatest names in the Democratic Party, Jefferson and Jackson, both of whom had two terms and could easily have had a third. Both of them especially urged that the principle be expressly written into the Federal Constitution.

For a hundred and fifty years it has been the Democratic Party which has made the chief fight against building up too great power in the central government. As a party, it was the first to declare in its platform of 1890 that it is the "unwritten law of this Republic that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office." This principle was again asserted in the platform of 1912.

NEVER IN YOUR LIFETIME has your RIGHT to vote been so important to YOU. Never before in the history of this Nation has the citizens' freedom of choice been so imperiled as it is today. Elections are a farce in dictatorships. Germans, Italians and Russians have only one man to vote for. We have not reached that stage—yet.

But that stage is nearer than some of us think. Look at the Time-Table of Dictatorship at the left. Check each step. See how far we have already traveled down the road. See how little there is left to go. What are YOU going to do about it?

The first thing to be done is to close that road—NOW! Our fathers thought they closed it when, realizing that the Constitution did not specifically forbid a third term, they set up a no-third-term tradition. They could not foresee the vast powers that any President now holds. The power to use the executive political machine to keep himself in office three times—five times—or for life. If the no-third-term tradition goes by the board, the people's freedom, to choose their own government is gone. Only the no-third-term tradition stands between you and that menace today.

The principle of no-third-term-for-any-President is not a mossback tradition. Thirty-four states limit the tenure of their executives. So should the United States—and block the final step to permanent one-man rule.

The American people must amend the Constitution so that it forbids—definitely and finally—more than two consecutive terms (or more than one six-year term). Otherwise—sometimes, if not now—the last protection against the Man on Horseback will be gone.

- 1 MAKE your loyalty to your country and its form of government—in this critical year—a positive, affirmative force. The men who made it risked their lives and their property in the cause of free government. Is it not worth a few hours of your time and sacrifice of some of your earnings to save what they made? Go into action!
- 2 READ this page to your family, your friends and associates. Telephone ten friends! Urge them each to call ten more. Get ten or more copies of this page for your neighbors and members of your union and your church. Make yourself a committee of one to get as many citizens as possible to discuss the Third-Term issue. Have them read what James Truslow Adams, Rev. Norman Vincent Peale and Samuel B. Pettingill say on this page against a Third Term for any President.
- 3 ASK your party's candidates for the Senate and Congress to vote for a constitutional amendment that shall remove the Third-Term danger forever. Andrew Johnson urged Congress on two occasions to pass such an amendment which Andrew Jackson had sponsored.
- 4 DO your full duty as an American citizen on Election Day. Urge others to do likewise. Your own precious heritage of freedom and that of your children is at stake. Act while there is still time.
- 5 HELP to carry on the fight now and to work for a Constitutional Amendment to end the Third-Term menace forever as soon as Congress convenes in January. Unless this is a people's fight, it is lost. The growing nationwide response to the constitutional issue of no-third-term-for-any-President shows that the fight can be won.
