Talley said the two convicts and the guard were working in the prison lumber camp. When they failed to return on schedule, Talley went to the camp. There, he said, he found the prisoners were drunk and the guard "had been drinking." The guard told Talley a passing motorist gave them the liquor.

POT SHOTS WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row. One Simoleon For Somebody. Pot Shots would hate to start any kind of a run in the general direction of Judge E. M. Holler, but the judge made a remark to us that we think 4,001 Twin Falls voters ought to hear.

Queer Chicks Hatch Under Hatch Act. The Hatch act, aimed at producing pure-bred elections, has hatched its first electoral brood, but some very mongrel chicks have come toddling out of the nest.

More, the Hatch act provides that no party may spend more than $500,000 on a presidential campaign. Apparently both parties kept officially within those limits, for up to Oct. 30, the Democratic National committee reported having spent $1,848,727; the Republican, $2,312,400. No one knows, and no one probably ever will know, how much was spent by temporary political organizations, all nominally "independent."

Under the act, no man may give more than $5000 to the national campaign. But some big contributors appear also to have given to various state, county, and independent organizations as well.

Congress would probably do well to appoint a committee to make a laboratory study of the act and its workings in its first national election. Tightening the loopholes will not be easy. To restrict all political activity to the official party committees might infringe on the right of voters to political activity.

No Gifts to Bethlehem. It is not too early, the postoffice warns, to begin getting Christmas packages ready for mailing abroad to those few countries to which it is still possible to mail gifts.

Campaign Buttons and Tin Reserves. The presidential campaign is over. There is no longer any use for campaign buttons, except for a few that will be saved as souvenirs or gravitate into historical museums.

As they were melting in the furnaces of some great armory or shell plant, they would make a good symbol of the manner in which partisanship must fuse into one united purpose to be strong.

ATTORNEY TELLS PEACE MEANING

BUHL, Nov. 13 (Special) — An Armistice day program for Buhl and the rest of the community was presented at the Buhl high school auditorium by the Clark G. Cox post of the American Legion and auxiliary. Buhl stores were closed throughout the day in observance of the national holiday.

The program presented before the high school student body and the many visitors was under the direction of post commander, C. F. Wilson. Mrs. Chris Hesselholt, chairman of the American committee, assisted in the arrangement of the program.

J. H. Blandford, Twin Falls attorney, gave the principal address. He said, "We pause to pay tribute to those who died in the last war" and, "We should continue to observe Armistice day in order that we may not forget the cost in terms of lives, money and materials that was lost in the last World War. Armistice day means more to us than it does to any other nation. To the rest of the nations of the world Armistice means only a temporary peace while to us we hope it lasts forever. The Legionnaires who celebrate Armistice day are the voice of experience, and the youth of today should remember these past experiences."

He told of the horrors of the war and the things that have happened in Europe during the past year, adding, "We in the United States are the envy of all the other nations. Here we have no disputes over international boundaries or territorial possessions. Here our defense should be confined to the defense of our own shores."

Other numbers on the program were selections by the Buhl high school band and the high school club. Two vocal numbers by Mrs. E. B. Johnson, "Oh My America," and "The Story of Old Glory." Father Verhoeven led the devotional service. L. G. Nelson, vice-commander of the Idaho American Legion, spoke briefly, bringing greetings from the state organization. He stated "The American Legion has the largest membership this year of any year during its existence." At the close of the program taps were sounded by Howell Johnson.

In HOLLYWOOD Today

By United Press
A crowd of 50,000 is expected to gather before the Carthay Circle theater for the members' Friday night of Charlie Chaplin's "The Great Dictator." Bleachers, which will seat 10,000, were being considered today.

Already previewed in New York and other eastern cities, "The Great Dictator," a burlesque on recent events in Europe, will be shown for the first time here at two theaters. Chaplin is expected to be present.

Johnny Weismuller, who says he hasn't spoken more than 100 words in all his Tarzan films, will engage in conversation in the next one.

A possible "romance" between W. C. Fields, noisy screen comedian, and Actress Carole Lombard, his one-time secretary, was hinted before the court today, but the justices looked a bit perturbed when they were informed Fields had paid $2,000 to his sweetie for beating her up.

Miss Lombard, however, received only $500 of the sum for her injuries, and, puzzled over the mathematics of the deal, went to the state bar which recommended disbarment of her attorney, Clifford A. Howe, for holding out on the lasso.

Marshall Neilan, who once directed such stars as Jean Harlow and Norma Shearer at the rate of $150,000 per picture, was sought today for failure to answer a drunk charge. Municipal Judge Arthur S. Gorran issued a bench warrant because Neilan had paid $2,000 to appear. He was at liberty on $25 bail and on probation on a drunk driving charge of several months ago.

Louis B. Mayer, film executive and sportsman, announced he has purchased Hunter's Moon VI, winner of the recent Cesarewitch stakes in England, and that the horse will be shipped to Santa Anita park in a few weeks.

16 SAILORS DROWN AS STORM LASHES LAKE MICHIGAN

TOLL OF VICTIMS GAINS AS BOATS CRASH ON ROCKS

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP)—Sixteen sailors were known today to have been killed when pairs lashed the waters of Lake Michigan into treacherous, choppy waves that sent five ships to the bottom and grounded six others.

Toll of victims mounted steadily as coast guardsmen and civilian conservation corps workers patrolled the Michigan shore of the lake. Twelve bodies were recovered at Ludington, Mich., where rescue workers reported several more sighted in the water. Four more, believed to be members of a Canadian freighter, were recovered at Pentwater, Mich., about 19 miles south of Ludington.

The 7,200-ton freighter William B. Davock was smashed to pieces and the wreckage strewn several miles along the beach five miles south of Pentwater. The Anna March, 4,200-ton freighter, and the Canadian freighter, also was reported sunk and the coast guard at Pentwater said wreckage was washed ashore along a strip more than six miles long.

The wood pulp carrier Novadoc out of Port William, Ont., was aground on the north shore and was scattered by the pounding waves. Coast guardsmen were unable to reach the Novadoc, but reported only two members of its crew of about 16 were sighted. Many other boats were smashed or missing.

The Michigan office at Ludington reported 17 members of the crew of the Davock still were missing and a search party was held they would be found alive.

"Suicide Fight" of British Cruiser Told by Survivors

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Nov. 13 (AP)—The suicide of the British merchant cruiser, Jervis Bay, in battle with a German pocket battleship, was described by surviving members of her crew today.

As the sea closed over her decks, she was aflame from stern to bow under the pounding fire of the 11-inch guns of her adversary. Then there was silence for a few days, until the German high command announced a "surface raider" had destroyed a "entire British convoy" of over 80,000 tons.

Yesterday, the British admiralty announced 20 of the 38 ships of the convoy, including the Hawaiian and the Cornish City, had arrived in British ports, and many of the still missing nine vessels might be safe thanks to the heroism of Captain Feagan and the crew of the Jervis Bay.

Rev. John Basil Long, noted evangelist who is here to conduct meetings during the next two weeks, spoke briefly and sang a beautiful solo number, "Stand By America." The congregation stood to sing "God Bless America" and the service was sung by Rev. Long.

How Winter OIL-PLATING maintains needed lubricant in advance—for Safe Quick Starts

The fastest runners in the world don't come anywhere near the finish as soon as the fellow who's clocking. Sure, he's there in advance. And that's the big idea for Winter starting... having lubricant far up the cylinders in advance—"faster than fast"—by having your engine OIL-PLATED.

It takes Conoco Germ Processed oil to give your engine OIL-PLATING. The change to this patented oil is economical. It's done in the ordinary way, but the extraordinary man-made substance in Germ Processed oil at once begins to clothe engine parts in sleek, rich OIL-PLATING. Firm-fastened to cylinder walls, piston rings and the like—as if magnetized!—this steadfast OIL-PLATING can't all drain down during all the cold hours you park. Rather, OIL-PLATING stays plated up to its topmost point in your engine—remains ready in advance to thwart the grid of un-odded starting.

Change today—to Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station for your Germ Processed oil that OIL-PLATES, and keeps Winter from turning your engine into an "oil-eater." Continental Oil Company

GUILTY ADMITTED IN MANSLAUGHTER

Nineteen-year-old Warren Vinson pleaded guilty to manslaughter here yesterday and will be sentenced this afternoon for the slaying of Joe Provoost in north Idaho's "hogman murder" mystery of 1935.

Vinson changed his plea from not guilty to guilty after attorneys agreed to reduce a first degree murder charge to manslaughter.

Vinson allegedly confessed he struck and killed Provoost with a revolver built on the streets of St. Maries Nov. 3, 1935.

A year later, a farmer near Kendrick, 150 miles away, stumbled over a shallow grave in a thick grove of pines. Identity of the body remained a mystery until Vinson's arrest, early this year.

Officers at one time believed the body, wrapped in a log's gut or "hogman's" was that of a labor agitator killed during labor troubles in the lumber industry near Kendrick. Sheriff C. E. Nelson at St. Maries said false teeth had led to Provoost's identification, and his subsequent to Vinson's arrest for his murder.

Youngsters Personify "Education for Common Defense"

First place for the Twin Falls Junior high school parade staged yesterday on the streets of Twin Falls was awarded to Mrs. Pearl McKean's class for its portrayal of a covered wagon.

The $2 prize money was used to treat the students in the winning group.

The judges, Homer W. Davis, superintendent of schools; Miss M. Itein McCoy, state president of the Business and Professions Women's club, and Loyd J. Perry, former Junior high school instructor and now assistant principal of the fidelity National bank, commended the students and faculty for their outstanding work and said they found it "difficult" to reach a decision.

Judging was based on the general appearance of each group and portrayal of theme or department and general conduct.

Honorable Mention
Selected for honorable mention were the following groups:

Hand, science, shop, exploration, happy family, Idaho's market all time, characteristics, girls' health and physical education, book seats and safety patrol.

The Junior high youngsters "pulled a fast one" not only on the public at large but on their own faculty members by presenting a parade entered by an editor, "five times better than we'd looked for." The students displayed vim and originality and the result focused attention on the current observance of American Education week.

Just One Instructor!
Miss McCoy, one of the three judges, offered this comment after announcement of awards: "I was really something to see that multiple-division parade with only one solitary teacher in sight—the director of the band. The students clipped it off at a good marching speed and had a fine show."

U. I. VOTING WON BY INDEPENDENTS

Horse Show Favors Military Motif; Furs Replace Jewels as Fashion Hit

NEW YORK (Special)—The unfamiliar rumble of 10-ton tanks and armored scout cars — a parade of the U. S. Army's mechanized units — was heard as a prelude to the annual National Horse Show. A distinctly military motif was prevalent in Madison Square Garden which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The soldiers of the United States army wore sombre khaki instead of brilliant dress parade uniforms. Traditionally seen at the National Horse Show, the flags of the military jumping teams of Canada, France and Great Britain were on display at the course. Even the socially prominent spectators presented a more serious front. They wore not only the gowned as always, but they were no longer so warmly as elaborately dressed as they have been at other Horse Show openings.

a black dinner gown with pearls and a pendant pair of pearls and diamonds which she was wearing. It appeared in black silk, embroidered all over with electric blue sequins and a gold chain. Elizabeth Arden's jacket was "shocking pink," Mrs. Emmott Martin, the former Edwina Atwell, being in a black gown and a gold chabolaire brooch. So far, society has not adopted slim sheaths with all. The vast majority of the skirts were black. Sequins were evident but not so prominently so. There were more dinner dresses and evening gowns more matching jackets, extremely low-cut sateen silks. The newest note in wraps is long, flowing cape-sleeves with fringed apertures. Crawford wore Taffeta. Mrs. Wales Latham, chairman of the Bundles for Britain ball, came to the horse show before the ball in a buff gown of black, buff and white satin and a full-length, black cape. A white crape jacket which Mrs. Robert Schey wore over green chiffon, gown was embroidered in fireworks pattern with brilliant green sequins. Mrs. G. W. Foster presented a cup to one of the winners of a jumping contest, and on a black gown of heavy tulle with a gold and silver mesh on the front of the skirt which flared from just below the hips. With it, Mrs. Crawford wore a matching jacket, with sequins and diamonds and matching bracelet.

YOUTH GROUP IS AIM OF KANSANS

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Frank Rickett, 21, and Merrill Peterson, 19, students at Kansas State college, here are planning a nation-wide youth organization for the preservation of democracy. The group, to be known as "Democracy's Volunteers," has been endorsed by prominent educators and writers including Louis Mumford, lecturer and author; Freds Kirchway, editor of Nation; and Reinhold Niebuhr, author-professor of the Union Theological Seminary at New York City. The five-point general program of the organization, as announced by Rickett and Peterson, follows: (1) Belief in democracy as the best expression of human dignity and integrity and the pledge to work unflinchingly for it. (2) Recognition of democracy's faults and belief that these can be corrected by intelligent opinion and determined action. (3) Belief that autocracy and despotism cannot be appeased and that free people must stand together when their liberties are threatened. (4) Contemplation of youth's inaction and recognition of the necessity of accompanying education with action. (5) Determination to lay down the foundations for a just and permanent peace under the influence of democracy. The group favors government sponsored work-camps where youth can work and exchange ideas with young people from other parts of the country, "all aid to Britain," an aggressive stand in the Far East and forums in schools and between schools.

Crayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

Frank Howard of Clemson can't understand how a team with an offense like that of Tulane lost its first three games. "Red Dawson's men had more drive than any we faced this season," says the top Tiger. "They just wore us out." Dawson attributes the Greenies' slow start to greenness and bad breaks. Tulane still had plenty left when 11 of 39 regulars were lost by graduation. But its co-captains were out during its slump with injuries and a death in the family.

In the Temple engagement, Ed Abdo, Michigan State's senior guard, intercepted a forward pass and found himself running with the ball for the first time in his high school and college career. When opponents leaped upon him from all sides, Abdo, believing the stadium had suddenly caved in on him, went down and out. When the trainer finally brought him around, he sat up and announced: "Fellow, that's the last time you will ever see Ed Abdo as a ball carrier. 'It' that's what happens to people who carry those things around, I'm through."

Carl Shavely of Cornell and Dick Harlow of Harvard are close personal friends. They exchange strategic formations once a week during the season. But the Big Red plays the Crimson next fall, and there will be no more reciprocity, it may be the end of a beautiful friendship. Lynn Waldorf calls Wes Fry, Northwestern's backfield coach, a football technician. Wildcat backs are polished handlers of the ball. Fry studies each man, tries him on handling the ball with his left hand and then his right. He checks on how their feet are placed... keeps switching, changing and experimenting until he has the right formula.

Steve Juszwik, Notre Dame's biggest ground gainer, has ample leg drive and can shake his hips. Three Cadets had their hands on Juszwik at various stages of his 80-yard touchdown dash against Army, but the Slovak got rid of them by swiveling his hips, straight-arming, feinting and stopping dead as the prelude to a quick cut.

BURLINGTON, Colo. (AP)—Suits have been filed in district court here to prevent a farmer from farming his own land. RENT PLAN SET FOR AUDITORIUM

Because Twin Falls has an extreme shortage of auditoriums, the Bickel school auditorium was made available today to non-school groups at a rental fee sufficient to cover cost of janitor service, heat and light.

The Twin Falls school board took that action last night and approved a set of rules to govern usage. The move followed requests by the Twin Falls Community Theater association, which advised the board it cannot find any other location to stage its "little theater" offerings.

- H. S. Too Busy
- The high school auditorium is seldom available because it is almost always in use by school organizations.
- Rules approved by trustees for the Bickel:
1. The Bickel auditorium will not be rented unless the individual represents a good reliable sponsoring group.
 2. This group must be organized and have a business manager.
 3. This manager must pay for the use of the auditorium in advance. He must come to the office of the city superintendent of schools during regular hours and pay the secretary who will give him a receipt and an order which will be presented to the janitor. This order will state the time when the building will be open for either dress rehearsal or the night of the performance.
 4. The charge will be $7.50 for a dress rehearsal and $15 for the night of a play.
 5. The auditorium cannot be opened before 6:30 o'clock.
 6. No Smoking or Drinking
 7. It is understood that there will not be any smoking or drinking in the building. If an organization will not cooperate in this way the school board will not be available for their use in the future.
 8. It is understood that all school activities will be cared for first, and the auditorium will be available for outside groups only when it fits into the school program.
 9. The hall will not be available on either Saturday or Sundays. In that it will be impossible to heat the building for a special program.
 10. It will be clearly understood that scenery and other equipment cannot be brought in to the auditorium until after 6:30 in the afternoon and the stage must be cleared so it can be used by the school during the daytime. All equipment and scenery must be removed by the end of the day following the final performance.
 11. Failure to comply with the above regulations will mean the forfeiture of the right of the group to use the building in the future.

Crippling of Italy Navy Called Top War Victory

BY J. W. T. MARSON
United Press War Expert

Crippling of at least one-third of Italy's first line battle fleet with damage to other Fascist war vessels at Tarento by British bombers yesterday is the most important naval success of Europe's war. The British victory is a direct result of Italy's invasion of Greece, which allows Britain for the first time use of offensive bases within easy striking range of Italian ports.

The serious reduction of Italian sea power, coupled with the added strategic value of the new British naval stations at Crete, now gives Britain overwhelming predominance in the Mediterranean. Far-reaching results are certain to accrue to Britain's advantage, in addition to added security for British transports passing through the Mediterranean.

War on Raiders

Detachments from the Mediterranean fleet can now be made. If the London admiralty desires for running down armored German raiders in the Atlantic. Too great a protection can be given supply ships approaching British coastal waters, and it is possible the blockade of the French and Spanish Atlantic coast may be tightened.

The Tarento victory is the war's first major success of planes over heavily armored naval vessels. It shows warships at anchor are vulnerable to large bombs aimed effectively. If the attacking planes are allowed to reach their targets.

The British success, however, might be attributed primarily to the apparent lack of efficiently operated Italian fighting planes. The Tarento engagement shows the necessity of protecting naval bases with defense planes capable of driving off attacking squadrons or keeping them so high in the air that the targets become confused.

Official Report

Simultaneously with announcement of the British success in the Mediterranean comes the official British report of the attack in mid-Atlantic by the armed British merchantman Jervis Bay against an armored German raider, allowing 22 British ships out of a total convoy of 37 to escape. The courage of the Jervis Bay, not protected by armor, but engaging a German warship at close range and fighting until she sank in flames shows the morale of British seamen is fully the equal of British aviators.

Safe arrival in British ports of 80 per cent of the convoy disproves the German claim of last week the entire convoy had been destroyed. There is every reason to accept the British version rather than the German. Past experience has shown that though the British admiralty sometimes conceals facts for strategic reasons it does not falsify its public announcements.

Thirty million bacteria have been counted on the hands and arms of a normal individual during a single inspection.

BOMBSIGHT GOES TO BRITAIN'S AID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (U.P.)—The United States has released to Britain an outmoded type of airplane bombsight which is considered highly effective but not as accurate as the secret sight now used by U. S. army and navy planes. It was learned today.

The bombsight was handed to the British for experimental purposes and the royal air force. If satisfied with its performance, may apply for its release for production.

Embodiment of the bombsight is not the much-publicized secret device now used by American armed forces, officials said, however. It incorporated many of the features of the regular sight.
