NAZIS CLAIM DESTRUCTION OF BRITISH AIRPLANE PLANTS

MILLION POUNDS OF BOMBS DROP ON FACTORY CITY

BERLIN, Nov. 15 (Special)—A fleet of more than 500 German warplanes attacking the historic English city of Coventry was reported by the high command today to have caused "terrible desolation and monstrous fires" in war factories and houses.

Nazi sources claimed the British airplane industry had been hit a crushing blow by the raid on Coventry.

All large and small airplane factories at Coventry were described here as "virtually wiped out."

"The Nazi planes attacking Coventry in what was said to be the greatest attack in the history of aerial warfare" were reported to have dropped more than 2,200 pounds of high explosives each, making a total of more than 1,000,000 pounds, in addition to 70,000 pounds of fire-bombs.

The attacks were directed, the high command said, against a number of motor works, airplane factory targets and other plants.

The fire "let on raw materials in warehouses," the communique said, and could be seen as far away as the English channel coast.

His Munitions Plants

The high command said the German air force attacked munitions plants and one royal air force supply depot, gas works and other plants in towns in the Midlands as well as scoring three hits on the Dover radio station.

Five planes were put at 20 planes of which 12 were shot down by German antiaircraft guns and one by naval artillery. Five German planes were listed as missing.

Private organizations, no matter how patriotic, should not be allowed to organize or support any such forces. They should be public forces, completely organized, trained, and controlled by the army, subject as the army is, to proper civilian authority.

In fact, it would not be a bad idea to raise any such force by the draft, just as the regular army is raised. That would insure that home defense, as well as national defense, be entrusted to a cross section of the nation's people, and not over-weighted by any single economic or political group.

Pettygrove hits federal action BOISE, Nov. 15 (AP)—State Agriculture Commissioner E. N. Pettygrove today charged the U. S. department of agriculture with using "outrageous tactics which killed the market for a new grain developed in Idaho."

It said Idaho farmers told thousands of dollars spent in developing Michigan's grass, a new plant which is a winter wheat, when the department issued a ruling that it was impossible to cross the seeds.

The plant was discovered by a farmer in Michigan, who crossed Michigan wheat and wild rye to obtain the mutant seed. An association of Idaho men started a great association and carried on an extensive advertising program. Farmers were urged to grow the seed, some of them investing as much as $100,000 in the new crop.

Without any investigation, one of the bureaus of the department came out and said it was impossible to cross the seeds and that the Idaho men were perpetrating something akin to fraud.

Eyesight Conservation Dance Set for Tonight

Annual benefit dance, sponsored by the Twin Falls Lions club on behalf of its eyesight conservation program, will be given this evening at the Elks hall. The Elks lodge has donated the hall for the evening.

Stanley Phillips, chairman of the eyesight conservation committee, stated that during the past five years the program has been in effect, 30 pairs of glasses, at an average cost of $15 each, and 10 operations to achieve eye corrections, have been provided for children.

These attentions have averted the threat of blindness and other eye conditions which would have been a lifetime handicap to children, Mr. Phillips pointed out.

Alton Young is in charge of the dance arrangements. Tickets have been sold at half-price to students.

Vital Topics to Be Discussed at P.-T. A. Session

Feature of the meeting next Monday evening for the Junior-Senior high school Parent-Teacher association will be a panel discussion on this question: "Twin Falls Junior-Senior high school filling the needs of your child?"

Fitting into the timely national P.-T. A. program theme, "Education for Defense," will be the discussion bearing on the needs of the child in the social and emotional needs as well as academic development? Why is it necessary to recognize a child's mental limitations when planning learning experience? What information do you want given on a report card?"

The program will be second in a series on "Know Your School," planned by Mrs. D. T. Bollnbroke, program chairman for the year. Heading the panel as leader will be Mrs. Palmier. Other participating will be Mrs. C. H. Kregel, Mrs. W. H. Herzog, George Ward, P. L. Lawrence, John D. Flint, Mrs. Dorothy Call, Mrs. Emma Jones and Michael Throckmorton.

Homer M. Davis, superintendent of schools, will participate in the panel and act as summater at the close of the discussion. Junior high school chorus will sing two numbers. Community singing will open the program at 7:45 o'clock.

HAPPY DAY BISCUITS

2-4 cups Snowdrift 3 cups baking powder
2 cups all-purpose flour 1 cup milk (about)
1 1/2 tsp salt

Sift four once. Measure, add baking powder, salt, and sift again into bowl. Cut in Churn-Fresh Snowdrift with pastry blender or tips of fingers until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in milk quickly until soft dough is formed. If necessary, use more or less milk than the quantity given so dough will be light and soft but not sticky. Turn out on lightly floured board; knead for 30 seconds until surface is smooth. Roll or pat lightly to 1/2 to 3/4 inch thickness. Cut with floured cutter. Place biscuits 1/4 inch apart on a greased baking sheet and bake in oven, 450° F., 12 to 15 minutes. To make biscuits with a crusty top, brush them with melted Snowdrift before placing in the oven.

You can always depend on Churn-Fresh Snowdrift. Because we are the largest producers of American vegetable oils, we can select the choicest and the purest for Snowdrift. And now, with the new Wesson creaming process, you'll find Snowdrift smoother, quicker-to-mix than ever.

STANFORD 2-1 FAVORITE OVER OREGON STATE

Indians Expected To Score Eighth Straight Victory

By JAMES A. SULLIVAN
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15 (U.P.)—The football world finally went all the way overboard on the Stanford Indians today and picked the unbeaten, untied miracle team to win its eighth straight 1940 game tomorrow over Oregon State.

And Oregon State happens to be just about the strongest team Frankie Albert and his mates have called upon to meet this year.

The 2 to 1 odds on Stanford and the unanimity of expert opinion was somewhat surprising in view of the season-long skepticism of the ability of the Stanfords, who failed to win a game on the coast last year.

It was more surprising in the light of Stanford's physical condition, which is not so good, and of the possible mental condition of over-confidence which might arise at this stage of the season.

Apparently everybody feels that having climbed over Washington last week, the Indians are going to coast to the title.

HOOPLES' HOT ONES

So the stage is set for a major upset in the Oregon State game tomorrow to do it. Its line is big, strong and fresh; its backfield fast and clever. Jim Kirschburgh is one of the coast's best fullbacks and his only rival for such honors, Norm Standlee of Stanford, will be out of action tomorrow.

California is 2 to 1 to beat Oregon which showed power in brushing off U. C. L. A. last week. California's surprise win over U. S. C. accounts for the odds.

Washington is 2 to 1 over U. S. C. Eastern rivals here favor U. S. C. A. which has yet to taste victory this year, over Washington State, which tied S. C. A. beat California. This game is in Los Angeles.

Idaho vs. Nevada.

Outside the conference tomorrow, Georgia and Detroit are favored and Idaho and Nevada at Moscow provide top fight attractions. Tonight's features include Loyola and Arizona at Los Angeles and Montana-San Diego Marines in San Diego.

Saturday night at Fresno, unbeaten but tied Fresno State faces the greatest obstacle to an unbeaten season in an San Jose State eleven which has won eight straight since dropping its opener.

Sunday another sectional title will be decided when St. Mary's and Santa Clara meet after an expected 50,000 in San Francisco.

Other times include: Saturday—Montana Mines-Whitworth at Butte; College of Idaho-College of Puget Sound at Caldwell; Oregon-Whitman at Tacoma; Utah-Corona State at Salt Lake City; New Mexico-Fresno at Fresno; Albuquerque; Denver-Utah at Denver, and Colorado-Brigham Young at Boulder.

Carlson Gains On Leaders In Pin Race

A new bowler moved up to threaten the supremacy of Roly Jones and Ray Preis in the Twin Falls Fells during the past week. He is Corby Carlson, one-time first baseman for the championship Twin Falls Cowboys of 1939 and no mean slouch of southpaw bowling. Rolling with the Twin Falls Coca Cola team, Corby boosted his average to 183 during the past week to tie for second place with Preis as Jones dropped down to 181—only four pins ahead.

Preis and Carlson are in the Commercial league, Jones in the City loop.

In the Merchants' league, Hayes played his first game with a 161 average—still six points ahead of Jim Mullen.

First 10 bowlers in each league follow:

City league—Jones 187, H. Boone 176, Wagner 175, N. Soren 175, M. O. Johnson 174, S. Soren 173, G. H. 172, Hanger 172, Bertson 171, Gish 171, 181, Statton 153, Wiley 151, J. J. Smith 151, Warner 150, M. Miller 148, Haskins 143.

Unbeaten Clubs Meet In Headliner for Saturday's Battles

By LESLIE AVERY
NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (U.P.)—One of the nation remaining undefeated and untied football teams in the nation is bound to fall tomorrow when Boston college and Georgetown put their perfect records on the line at Boston, but the loser of this headliner probably will be the only casualty of the select circle.

Boston college has been an 8-5 favorite to lick the Hoyas for the last week, but since yesterday there has been a gradual shift in sentiment that bids fair to cut the odds to 6-5 or even money by game time.

A closer look at the records shows Boston college's only good victory to be that 27-7 triumph over Tulane early in the season, and even that becomes less impressive in the light of Tulane's more recent defeats by Auburn, Fordham and Adabama. Centre, Temple, Idaho, St. Anselm's, Manhattan, and Boston U. hardly can be classified as major tests.

Schedule Not Tough
Georgetown's schedule is nothing to write home about, but in maintaining an undefeated record of three years, the Hoyas have disposed of Roanoke, Temple, Wake Forest, Virginia Tech, New York U., Syracuse and Maryland this season 27 points to zero.

Temple is their only common opponent and Temple pashed over three touchdowns on Boston college, finally losing 33-23. Georgetown held Temple scoreless to win 14-0.

All the remaining seven undefeated and untied teams are favored and of them, Stanford seems to have the most troublesome opponent in Oregon State, a good big team that has lost only to Washington.

Irish Mystery Team
Notre Dame is still the mystery of the 1940 season. Hailed as the greatest team since Rockne's 1950 club, the Irish showed only enough to beat one of Army's weaker teams and a fair Navy outfit by a touch-

Turkey Shoots Set at Wendell And Kimberly

With Thanksgiving tables yawning for turkey decorations, two south central Idaho organizations today announced turkey shoots to be held on Sunday, Nov. 17, in preparation for the Nov. 21 Thanksgiving.

At Kimberly the sixth annual shoot of the American Legion post No. 74, will be staged at the Harvey Wood ranch, one mile north and a half mile west of Kimberly. The shoot will get under way at 10 a. m. and the same class of birds as always will be presented to winners, according to Dean Shipley, public relations officer.

Leo Panzer will be in general charge of the shoot and proceeds will go to the memorial building fund for the Legion.

At Wendell the Wendell club sponsors a similar, posturing "all prime birds over 12 pounds."

Both shoots are scheduled to start at 10 a. m. and will draw expert scattergun shots from throughout their respective territories.

Pheasant Bags Small As Weather Reduces South Idaho Hunting

Generally speaking—from the hunters' standpoint—it's a danged poor pheasant year—this one of 1940.

For cold and wet and snow and wind have kept the wily chinks in hiding so well that the bag limit has come to be a thing of scarcity in this area. In fact so scarce, that many a hunter has given up the pheasant to take on the ducks.

With only five days of pheasant hunting left this year, it appears that the great slaughter of the upland game bird is going to be considerably less than it has been in recent years.

Conservation officers have been pointing to the blue-parrot weasel season being a "great thing" for pheasant hunting in Washington counties. The population should be considerably above that of any other year.

Reasons Ends
Today hunting for 1940 in Elmore, Ada, Adams, Blaine, Bonner, Boundary, Canyon, Cassia, Fremont, Owyhee, Payette and Washington counties. It had already ended Nov. 13 in Blaine and Owyhee counties and Nov. 10 in Power, Madison, Jefferson, Fremont, Franklin, Bonneville, Blighman and Bonanza.

Lasting until Nov. 20, the hunt will be continued in Blaine, Cassia, Owyhee, Jerome, Lincoln, Blighman, Lemhi, and Twin Falls counties. Part-time hunting for pheasants is allowed in other counties: Blaine, Wednesday, Fridays and legal holidays until Nov. 30 in Blaine, Clearwater, Idaho, Kootenai, Lewis and Nez Perce counties; and Sundays, Wednesdays and legal holidays in Latah county until Nov. 30.

Sunday Big Day
Sunday is expected to mark the climax to activity in this part with many hunters participating in drives through the mountains that always result in big kills. "There will be appreciable other hunting until Wednesday night.

Meanwhile, the duck population continues to grow in the Swan river flyway and hunters are now taking to the canyon when they can stand the unsavory cold.

When the pheasant season closes, there will be a big influx of sportsmen turning to the ducks and the hunting will therefore be expected to be much better for waterfowl.

Mac Is Burned Up-He Nearly Forgot to Give Gridiron Listings

By HENRY McEMORE
POPE WORTH, Tex., Nov. 15 (U.P.)—I was thinking on the lawn with my favorite pet, Antipathy, the other day when the thought struck me it was high time I quit being a sore thumb in the newspaper business. I am a ranking member of the nation's first football team. As you must have noticed, the best way to be conspicuous these days, the best way to stand out like a sore thumb, is not to be the country's gridiron star. No. 1 to No. 500. Everybody is doing it. You can't pick up a newspaper without seeing football. The order in which Philo T. Biltmore places the various elements, or why Cornelius M. Highower thinks Skipper Hook Teachers deserve a 254 rating and Long Island Dental must be content with 443.

The boys have made a mistake of it, and the fact that there isn't any celeb in the silly business counts as a bonus. In taking it as seriously as a normal man would a fractured leg or a burglar in the wine cellar, they throw themselves into the game personally to decimal points, talk and mingle with higher mathematics, and some budding geniuses are being trained on all covered with football statistics. They barely leave from Saturday night.

Boston College-Georgetown Winner Groomed for Bowl Bid

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)
BOSTON — The winner of the Boston college-Georgetown game at Fenway Park, Nov. 16, should tackle Texas A. & M. in one of the New Year's day bowl games.

The seniors of these great unbeaten and untied varieties are entitled to such a battle of gridiron giants.

It would settle the national collegiate championship as closely as it could be determined.

At Boston college, Frank Leahy led one of the most formidable machines of recent years. Frank Howard of Clemson can't understand how Tulane lost its first three engagements, but the Eagles crushed the Greenies in New Orleans. B. C. also trimmed Temple and smashed Manhattan.

Every one who sees the Boston college team is shaken by the size of Leahy's behemoths.

When Leahy attempts to ease the pressure... put in third and fourth stringers, the awe increases because they are bigger than the members of the first two teams.

Real Offense Saved
Boston college also has speed and deception. That couldn't even be concealed in the game against Manhattan. The charge of the Eagles' line is so fierce that deceptive plays of the opposition seldom get a chance to unfold. Offensively and defensively — when Leahy plays five men with Chet Gladuch, the center; George Kerr, a guard, and Mike Holovak, the fullback, backing up — the line is a terror.

Going into the Georgetown game, the belief is that Boston college, which leads the nation in scoring, hasn't opened its real offensive yet. It is saving it for the epic battle which looms with the Blue Hokies, who are undefeated in three years — 23 games.

Even with a repertoire of exactly eight plays, and attempting only one pass in a driving rain that mud the Eagles rolled up 13 first downs and 299 yards by rushing against Manhattan.

Unbelievably Good
In addition to unlimited material, swiftness and power, experts are struck with the smartness of Boston college plays and the peculiar astuteness of Henry the Hammer Toczykowski, the blocking quarterback.

Watching Charley O'Rourke, Toczykowski, Frank Mamick and Lightning Lou Montgomery, the expected backs, and Holovak and Mickey Connolly, sophomore amazons, observers are left speechless.

Supported by such linemen as Gladuch, Kerr, Gene Goodresult, a great end, and an unlimited number of athletes of almost equal ability, they comprise a team which can stand up against any of the country.

Boston college's 1940 rivalry is almost unbelievably good.

Gene Goodresult, left, catches passes and plays plenty of end, and Charley O'Rourke, right, is triple threat for Boston college.

Beaten by Girls' Team, Harvard Will Meet Yale

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 15 (AP)—After a loss to the girls' field hockey team of Wheaton college, Harvard university men's squad today had booked a game with Yale as a "bracket."

The Harvard team recently dropped a 1-0 decision to Wheaton college for girls and immediately were challenged by Yale as follows:

"Heard about your game with Wheaton. It coincides with games we have been playing with girls' schools around New Haven. Our team thinks it would be only good sport to have a field hockey tuck-away. We have enough sticks. Bring 11 men Friday afternoon."

Fran Simpson, Harvard captain, replied: "We suffered a humiliating defeat from Wheaton but we think we can beat Yale. Well be there."

BLACK JAWNS... NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks maintained their leadership of the national hockey league by one point Thursday night by tying the New York Americans 2-2. The tune-up Toronto Maple Leafs walloped the Montreal Canadiens, 6-2.

Jerome Pioneer Woman Tells Of Alaska Shipwreck Drama

By GEORGIA CHATBURN
JEROME, Nov. 15 (Special)—It is no fun to be rescued and find oneself among 278 passengers of a shipwrecked vessel, says Frank Bayer, Jerome pioneer woman, as she recounts the frightening experiences of the passengers who found themselves in such predicament on the stricken S.S. Alaska, which grounded Oct. 27.

The action in which Mrs. Bayer was a victim occurred on the beach of Elliott Island, 95 miles south of Ketchikan. The Seattle-bound liner struck a rock and was split in two, and her huge bows were thrust through the trees which lined the shore of the tiny wooded island by the force of the impact.

Sudden Heaving Sound
Mrs. Bayer, in their night clothes, states from her present home in Anchorage and had been fast asleep when she was suddenly awakened from the deep and in the sounds as the ship struck the heavy surface boulders underneath. Most of the passengers were in their beds at the time, while some were in the recreation rooms of the huge liner.

As the ship tilted and the passengers reeled from their bunks and the saloons they were evacuated immediately for fear the vessel would sink before they could get ashore. As a result of the collision with the jutting boulders, there was great loss of life and five feet of water from her hull.

Huddled Near Fires
Jumping from their beds, the passengers, some by their own efforts and some by the aid of the lifeboats. Oil from the Alaska's tanks spread over the icy waters. Several persons fell into the chilly water, but fortunately there were no casualties, Mrs. Bayer said.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. DeMay entered into the morning the passengers were taken back to the scene of the wreckage where baggage and mail were picked up and the passengers packed proper clothing.

Rescue Baggage
Transferring to the S. S. Yukon following morning the passengers were taken back to the scene of the wreckage where baggage and mail were picked up and the passengers packed proper clothing.

There was no explanation as to how the accident occurred. The night was pitch dark when the Alaska struck Elliott Island between 20 and 30 miles from Prince Rupert and there is no light on the island.

Unable to move under her own power in attempts to swing her great bulk loose from the jagged rocks, the Alaska's machinery was undamaged as was her power plant. Finally with the aid of powerful tugs she was freed from the rocks and was pulled into port.

Among the passengers were eight soldiers bound from the Haines barracks to Fort Lewis.

Mrs. Bayer said today that although she has sailed the seas many times, that one night of drama and pathos is etched permanently in her memory.
