FEDERAL "CONFUSION" BLAMED FOR AIRLINE CRASHES

McCARRAN ASKS BOARD POWERS FOR REGULATION

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 7 (AP)—Senator Patrick A. McCarran, D., Nev., said today that "chaos and confusion" in the civil aviation board was responsible for three recent airline crashes and that he would propose legislation to reestablish the authority of an independent agency.

In an interview McCarran said he would present the proposed legislation to congress soon after the start of the next congressional session in January.

McCarran pointed out that three major airline disasters had occurred since the CAA was placed under the department of commerce.

"Look back over the 14 months under the CAA when it was an independent agency in which the airlines flew 600,000,000 passenger miles without a fatality," the Nevada senator said, "in my judgment the abolition of the safety board, together with the chaos and confusion in the CAB and the absolute lack of control or regulation is directly responsible for the three crashes—one in Virginia, another near Salt Lake, and the last in Chicago."

McCarran is one of the authors of the bill establishing the CAA, led the fight to prevent a shift in the authority when it was an independent unit.

Four Vehicles Span Highway; Loss $30 in Strange Mishap

With no less than three trucks and one passenger car abreast simultaneously on the highway, the strangest accident of the year brought damage only $30 at 8:15 p. m. today one-fourth mile west of the town of Pocatello.

The four vehicles spanned the entire roadway and one borrow pit, but the only actual crash came as a big gasoline transport truck and semi-trailer scraped against a loaded potato truck on one side and a trailer on the other side.

The passenger car and trailer had taken to the turned pit to escape the oncoming gas transport, according to Deputy Sheriff Roy Miller, who investigated the odd mishap.

Earl Biehl, Twin Falls, was driving the gasoline tanker, owned by the Cowell freight and oil concern of Twin Falls.

The three other vehicles involved were:

1. Potato truck driven by Deibert T. Wright, 34 Hansen, and owned by E. C. Hansen.
2. Cowell freight lines truck, apparently disabled by mechanical trouble and left parked alongside the highway on the right side of the road.
3. A 1930 sedan, pulling a trailer. Driver was Ralph Donald Hollis, 2000, Ore. Warner in Henry Blinn, Uva, Wyo.
4. The four-way mishap, Fuller said, occurred as the potato truck was passing the parked Cowell vehicle. As Driver Deibert Wright pulled away with the machine at the side of the road, the Cowell gas tanker came abreast of the spud truck to drive it. Simultaneously, Hollis was approaching in the passenger car pressing it.

Hollis swore off the road to the right just in time to prevent head-on crash with the potato truck. The potato truck was scattered over both the trailer on the machine driven by Hollis and the spud truck operated by Wright. Potatoes were scattered over a part of the highway. Net result: $15 damage to the tanker and $15 to the trailer behind the sedan.

U.S., Japan Fight Topic of Sermon

Speaking at a special Saturday night service in the Bible tabernacle on Main avenue north, Evangelist M. Bennett of the Piner cemetery, today will tell the U. S. and Japan. He will talk Sunday night on "The Peace of the World."

At his Thursday evening service the evangelist offered a spirited analysis of the crime problem, asserting that the "peak age for crime in the United States is now between 13 and 31 years—with a major crime being committed every two seconds."

training, comes to 8975. Trainers at Mornington, N. W. Va., have secured her dog, an all college graduate. They must serve an apprenticeship of from three to five years before they are classed as trainers. The dogs are taken at the average age of 14 months and are trained for three months before their new masters and are trained with them for a period of four weeks. The personality of the dog and the master are taken into consideration before the two are placed together for the training period.

Tells Blind Aid

During his opening remarks, Dr. Berry, who presided, pointed out that 100,000 blind people in Idaho are blind to the blind of this state. Other costs, he said, cannot be figured in terms of loss of income and loss of position in addition to medical treatment.

He discussed the effects of a syphilis mother has on her offspring and said that if treatment started by the fifth month of pregnancy, the child had a 95 per cent chance of being a well baby. Each year, he said, 60,000 syphilitic babies are born in the United States.

During a later discussion on "Eyes in Industry," Dr. Berry declared that the eye industry is now placing on the conservation and the safeguarding of eyesight as well as protection, is resulting in great money. He said, however, he realized in more efficient work from the employees and also an insurance rate reduction. He asked the question, "Why do you pay for eye work?"

Preventive Methods

Speaking on "The Eye Care and Disease of the Eye During Childhood," Dr. Bond said that, to a large extent, preventive medicine is the solution to eye defects.

"The eye is really the youngest organ of the body and therefore is more vulnerable to disease, although able to adapt itself to changing conditions," Dr. Bond said.

During his discussion he asserted that 10,000 to 140,000 cases of eye disease are largely preventable.

Mr. Campbell told of the idea being given the blind by the federal, state and county funds now available. He said that in Idaho the young blind can go to the Gooding school for a special education program is maintained for the adult blind, fitting them for other occupations. Blind persons in Idaho are now being trained as typewriter operators, as musicians, legislators and stenographers, and as stand operators.

Driver, Staring At Beet Loader, Hits Locomotive

The beet-loader was such an interesting device to watch that 31-year-old Donald Mackay, 2127, ran into a freight engine while staring.

That was the explanation Mackay gave State Police Lieut. Harley W. Zimmerman last night after the Filer man's pickup truck hit the slowly-moving locomotive near Filer. Mackay suffered a cut on the forehead and was given treatment by a physician. Damage to truck and locomotive was minor.

E. E. Giles, Filer, was engineer of the train. Leonard Pocatello, was fireman.

SCHOOL LEADER AIDS SEAL DRIVE

Supl. Homer M. Davis will be in charge of the Christmas seal sale in the Twin Falls high school, Mrs. Frank J. Smith, public relations chairman for the seal sale in Twin Falls county, sponsored by the Twin Falls county Anti-Tuberculosis Association, announced today.

Larger quantities of Christmas seals of the United States are being received by the rural schools of the county.

Doris Stridley, county superintendent, advised of public instruction, informed Mrs. Smith.

She is in charge of the sale of seals in the rural sections of the county.

Returns from the mail sale in Twin Falls are "quite satisfactory," according to Mrs. R. P. Spaford. More than $250 has already been returned to her.

There were $850 worth of the seals mailed to residents of Twin Falls at the opening of the annual campaign.

WAGE LAW TEST DEMURRER LOSES

Demurrer by the defendant concern in Idaho's first court test of the wage and hour law had been overruled and denied today.

The demurrer was filed by Cosgriff Custom Advertising company in the suit begun Nov. 15 by Roy Wetherbee, former electrician for the signboard and neon firm. After hearing arguments in district court Friday morning Judge J. W. Porter overruled the demurrer and gave the defendants 20 days in which to file answer.

Wetherbee seeks $304.40 for assertedly unpaid overtime wages and asks an identical amount in the liquidated damages permitted under the wages-hour law.

Thomas M. Robertson, Jr., argued the demurrer for the defendants, and E. L. Rayborn, counsel for Wetherbee, presented arguments against the move.

The wages-hour test suit was instituted here by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

JEROME JAYCEES PLAN TOY DRIVE

Jerome residents today were asked to participate in the annual "Christmas party," sponsored by the Jerome Junior Chamber of Commerce, by donating used or discarded toys which can be repaired and distributed to needy youngsters Christmas eve.

The plea was made in Twin Falls today by Durward Martin, general chairman of the project. Martin said that Jaycees cars would tour Jerome Monday starting at 4 p. m. and that time members would pick up toys which are left on porches or in other conspicuous places.

Persons wishing to bring their toys in, rather than having Jaycees members call for them, can do so, Martin said. Toy collecting stations have been established at the Northside News office, the Idaho Power company, the Northside Auto company and the manual arts and home economics classes of the Jerome high school.

When the toys are distributed Christmas eve, candy and nuts will also be placed in the packages.

Encouraged by the enthusiastic reception accorded the two-night presentation of "What Every Woman Knows," members of the Twin Falls Community Theatre association today announced that several other attractions will be offered during the coming year.

Even better than the night before were the performances of the cast last night in the three-act melodrama "What Every Woman Knows." The play was produced by Bert Sweet, chairman of the committee.

Leading roles were played by Miss Kathryn Cliff and "Chic" Tom Tree, who portrayed the supporting cast. Mrs. Dorothy Alworth, Tom F. Alworth, Melvin Schubert, Roy Robinson, Howard Goff, Don Wark and John Day, Jr.

Those who assisted with the ticket sale, who have sold their tickets, their money and unsold tickets, are requested to check up at once with the ticket chairman of the "Theater" association, or John G. Adams, business manager, who can be located at Daynes Music company.

U.S., Japan Fight Topic of Sermon

Speaking at a special Saturday night service in the Bible tabernacle on Main avenue north, Evangelist M. Bennett of the Piner cemetery, today will tell the U. S. and Japan. He will talk Sunday night on "The Peace of the World."

At his Thursday evening service the evangelist offered a spirited analysis of the crime problem, asserting that the "peak age for crime in the United States is now between 13 and 31 years—with a major crime being committed every two seconds."

POT SHOTS

WITH
The Gentleman in the Third Row

Special Extrée!
Cop in Jug!

Dear Pot Shots:
Don't say I told ya but that dynamic Kinley martial, namely St. Givens, is at it again.
Patrolman Virg Borden, of the Twin Falls station, was the gait this time. Seems as though Virg was placing a drunk man in cell number two at the city jail. He carried him in the cell, looking around, heard a click. Givens had locked the cell door.
"Well, see you in Kimberly," said St. Givens as he cheerfully went out the door. He got into his car and drove away, grinning.
Time passed—along came Patrolman Virg Borden. A call came in and Borden needed help, so he finally released Borden.

SANTA SHOULD INVENT THIS BOON FOR MOTHERS!

Dear Pot Shots:
What I hope for Christmas— if you have any influence with Santa, please let him that I am longing for a special cold storage unit, which annual and noly children could be placed for a few hours or even days at a time for safe-keeping.
The children could be caught at the height of their mischievousness, popped into the unit, the controls set, and the little ones left to cool off in perfect safety.
Then when they were needed and fresh (heaven forbid) they were before.
—I Have Couda Them (Noly kids, not the cold storage units)

SLIGHT WORKOUT FOR YOUR VOCABULARY!

We give you below the classified advertisement that was never printed—along with the explanation thereof.

The ad:
INTRINSICALLY pristine pick-up advertising department for a gypously compartmented Chevrolet. Bargain.

The explanation:
Ernie Bordenick, who business-manages the Times and News, decided he'd stagger the classified advertising department and he wanted to run, so he brought it in to one of the gents in the editorial department. He asked this gent to slip the ad in the high-powered words that would cause the classified department to faint when it looked the thing down to front of it.
(All of this, incidentally, because you can now use as large and as long words as you want, since the number of lines isn't the basis of payment under the new classified policy.)
The only trouble with the result produced by the assiduous labor of the editorial department gent was that Mr. E. was staggered before the ad ever got to the classified department. Here's what Mr. E. had handed the editorial gent:

PRACTICALLY NEW Pick-up box attachment for Chevrolet coupe, Bargain.

FIRE TRUCK MEMO

Dear Third Row:
Strange stories of Friday:
"Twin Falls at night with only one gent aboard, then with only one spotlight on second street side of postoffice, then backing up to chry the tow."
He was headed for the city garage at city hall, for some reason or other.
—Bud

A Brave Man Meets Crisis

Of course, deputy Sheriff Roy Fuller growled that doggone us we been strugglin' with this here crisis as long as you want, but when such an authority as Roy's boss, Sheriff Doc Hawkins, promulgates the talk for he is it from Pot Shots to insult you by suppressing his narrative.
It seems (says Doc) that he and Roy went out to investigate a robbery in your town.
For some reason, Roy was given an infant to hold for a few minutes.
During the course of this time (says Doc), an emergency arose. Sheriff Doc called for the constable, Mr. Fuller—in expert and workmanlike fashion—changed diapers for the infant.

BRIDGES LIP-TO-LIP VARIETY!

Dear Third Row:
Battering your 100 item quiz about the kissing bug, but you ought to realize that a kiss is the most expensive toll bridge in the world!

SERIAL STORY

DUDE COLLEGE

BY OREN ARNOLD

SECRET OF RAINBOW CANYON

CHAPTER XVI
COLONEL McDAVID, a brusque but friendly enough man of almost 60 years, was explaining things to Andre Girardou. He had accepted Thomas Bailey's announcement that Andre was soon to be in the family both personally and financially.
"Terrible waste and inefficiency has been the concern of us all in studying bombing planes, Mr. Girardou," the colonel was saying. "Now take this ship itself—it is as fine a craft as ever entered the skies, an extremely powerful motor, maneuverability that is a dream, to any plane, long range fuel supply, all the best of modern invention in both aviation and military fields. Notice the gun mountings, even the new type armor, light but effective. Only thing lacking is a dependable method of aiming and dropping explosives. And that, sir, is precisely what we have now developed!"
"Excellent!" Andre nodded.
"Step into the ship with me, please," the colonel invited. When they were inside the big army plane Colonel McDavid pointed at once to the bombing controls. "This? See this odd-looking device?"
"Yes."
"All right. Now here is the eye piece, here the manual controls. In a matter of seconds, Mr. Girardou, the correction is made for exact range on any target—battle-ship, building, anything—and release his bomb with complete ease and assurance. Almost automatically, the correction is made for ship speed and wind. It is little short of phenomenal!"
Andre looked impressed. "Priced?"
"We expect to give it every rough test here in New Mexico where air currents are more variable and visibility different from the coastal plain, but here, everything is so great, higher. Any of you will need to be of infinite value in training our forces."

"That's all."
"I shows what you know about girls, I think. Rather, what you don't know. Wes, your binoculars are very strong. I could see that man's face and everything in detail, and I am certain love isn't the answer. For one thing, he was much older than Lona."
"And a more—well, rougher type. No, there's something about Wes. All I can say is that Lona picks strange places and times to meet her men."
"Why not? I think it's a good idea."

"It is. Notice that the device is in a scaled metal housing, largely for safety, but kept from the man who uses it."
"What of subversive activity, Colonel? Spies?"
"Oh, both. Our Intelligence Department is now asleep. But of course, every precaution is taken. For instance, we have two bomb sights with us here, and six men. We six will never let these plants out of our sight while these things are under way. That's why Mr. Bailey built hangars so near his residence for us. We even sleep in the planes."
"I see," Andre nodded. "Wide precaution."
He wondered just how much more comment he could make. He wanted to ask great many more questions, and to study the way the bomb sight was attached to the ship. But he decided not to press his good luck too hard for the time being.

"Where is Lona now?"
"On her horse again, riding back toward home."
Ronnie still bright interest and excitement suddenly grasped her companion's arm. "Wesley, let's go down there!"
"Where they were?"
"Yes! I'm trying to see if anything's there!"
"Come on!"
Adventure spirit engulfed them. They waited a long ground-ric concealed Lona from possible view of the cliff dwelling, then slid down the ladders and the steep slope to the canyon floor again. In a moment more they were on their horses.
They rode as quietly as they could even though there was no apparent need for silence, and presently came to the place where Lona had disappeared. They dismounted, making a sense of danger, real or otherwise.
"See—e—e, Wes, I'm all tingly, but—come on!"
They passed the sock enclosure they had seen from afar, and neared the boulders where Lona and the strange man had disappeared. No evidence of mankind was visible anywhere, no slight track or other sign that these two could see. But when Wes and Ronnie had crept past rocks higher than their heads, Wes in the lead—abruptly stopped. Ronnie alighted was holding his big hand, like a scared little girl.
"What is it?" she whispered.
"The dark crevice there—see? It's a cave!"
He squeezed her hand, sensing her alarm. Finally she understood that their danger was genuine.

By BRUCE CATTON
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A new campaign aimed at bringing recognition to the "Free France" regime Gen. Charles de Gaulle is about to get under way in Washington.
Under the surface, it has some extremely interesting possibilities.
De Gaulle is sending to Washington his personal representative, one Jacques de Sleyers, a former schoolmate of De Gaulle, has been in America some time and had a lengthy audience with the U. S. War Relocation Authority committee put together in the United States in the interests of the De Gaulle group.
De Sleyers is coming to Washington, however, more as the ambassador of De Gaulle than as a head of official recognition committee. His arrival will touch off a high-powered campaign, designed to front-page the De Gaulle movement with the American public. Beyond that, the real hope of the De Gaulle group is ultimately to gain recognition by the U. S. government as the actual, legal government of France.

HOW 'CHEERLEADERS' NOMINATED LINCOLN

"The Illinois" (Farrar and Rinehart; $2.50) by Newman James Gray, is the 11th in the new James Gray series of the history of America series and flows as smoothly, runs as high with excitement and sheer readability as the rest. Along the Illinois moved great characters and great events, Marquette, La Salle, Grant and Lincoln and the surge of empire. In the following rare bit of author Gray contributes a bit of the Illinois sharply remembered of 1940:
The boys of the old Eighth Circuit had their share in bringing about the unexpected result (nomination at Chicago of Lincoln over Beward). Judge Davis' unwearied efforts in committee rooms had been supported in a characteristically dramatic way by Ward Hill Lamon. The next day, before the balloting was to take place in the convention hall at Chicago, Lamon had had an extremely busy time. From the barroom to the balloting room, he had a small army of followers, strong young men with lusty lungs were likely to be found, he gathered about the small arms of the towers. For many hours, which they seem to have found refreshing rather than exhausting, Lamon instructed the high government officials in the hall at Chicago, Lamon had had an extremely busy time. Yankee Housecleaning Starts as Powell Is Shipped to 'Frisco

By GEORGE KIRKBEY
ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees' house-cleaning program was underway today—in a modest way. They unloaded outfielder Jake Powell on the San Francisco Pacific Coast league club as the minor leagues closed their annual convention.

Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, San Francisco manager, engineered the deal for Powell, and believed he could send the 31-year-old outfielder back to the majors after a season in the Coast loop. The Seals were said to have paid $10,000 for him.

It was the first Yankee transaction since they were stripped of their championship laurels last season. Others may follow at the end of the season, which ends next week. Several clubs have contacted the Yankees about some of the men who played prominent roles in New York's four-year championship reign.

Batted Only 185
Powell, a right-handed batter, had an obscure figure in the Yankees team last season, playing in only 12 games and batting .185. In a pre-season exhibition game between the Yankees and Boston, he suffered a fractured skull and did not return to the Yankees until after mid-season.

Crossett, Role Next
Disposal of other Yankees, possibly Frank Crossett and Red Hulse, is indicated. Crossett and Hulse have shown an interest in Crossett, although the shortest hit only .184 last season.

Carlson Ties Jones for Pin Leadership

Conky Carlson, southpaw bowling mainstay of the Twin Falls Coca Cola team, eliminated his drive for individual leadership of all leagues here by climbing into the top with Rolly Jones of the News-Times club in games played during the week, according to averages released today by Fred Stone, bowling association secretary.

Lafayette Tops Nation in Ground Gains

SEATTLE, Dec. 7 (AP)—While most of the nation's outstanding football teams wound up in bowl games, Lafayette's unbeaten and undefeated team finished second in the total ground gaining honors, final figures from the American Football Statistical Bureau showed today.

BOWLING Made Easy

By NED DAY
(This is the fourth of a series of bowling lessons by Ned Day of the Idaho Bowling Association.)
Generally speaking, alleys can be set so slow or fast. The slow alley is the hook ball bowler's paradise. An alley is considered fast when, because of its highly polished surface, the ball will not hook, or if it does, the bowler has little control over it.

Notre Dame Fans Amuse Veterans At Idaho Resort

KETCHICAN, Dec. 7 (Special)—The little thing that has made the great sports center of central Idaho, was cultivated this week when a special train of 20 cars arrived and unloaded 300 boys and their parents. The crowd was composed mostly of alumni and other football fans from the Notre Dame campus in California for the big winter sports camp.

Committee Rejects Nazi Bid for U. S. Boxers in Tourney

By CARL REICH
DENVER, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Amateur Athletic union's executive committee, after a five-hour secret session, early today announced that it would not permit American athletes to participate in Germany.

The statement apparently was prompted by an invitation extended by Dr. Karl Metzner, German boxing director, to American fighters to participate in a Berlin boxing carnival in Berlin. The invitation was included in a letter from Metzner to Ray Davis, chairman of the AAU boxing committee.

Three New Records
The records committee last night recommended acceptance of 23 new American and field records in the first of 322 to be passed upon. Three would surpass present world records. They are the 15-foot 12-inch pole vault of Cornelius Wardman, San Francisco Olympic club; the one-minute 468-second rowing race of John Woodruff in the 800 meter outdoor run, and the 226 second 200-meter hurdle mark set by Fred Woodruff of Rice, Woodruff and Wardman set their records at Fresno, Calif., last June 29; Woodruff established his at Compton, Calif., 22 days earlier.

Nazis Invite U. S. Boxers To Compete

DENVER, Dec. 7 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's sports director yesterday invited the United States to send a boxing team to Berlin to compete against the Germans.

Numbers May Run out if Colleges Keep On Retiring Jerseys of Star Players

The 88 made famous by Tom Harmon, center, goes in Michigan trophy room alongside immortal 47 of Bennie Oosterbaan. The 44 of Pilechin Paul Christman, left, of Missouri, and the 29 carried by John Kimbro, right, of Texas, A. & M. also may be retired.

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

The 88 made famous by Tom Harmon hangs in the Michigan trophy room alongside the 47 immortalized by Bennie Oosterbaan, All-American end of 1925-26-27.

Michigan wants to remember 88 and 47 as they sleep down the field, so has taken them out of circulation. Illinois did the same thing with the 77 worn by Red Harold Grange.

There is a movement now on at Missouri to retire the 44 which was passed to memory by Paul Christman, and Texas A. & M. men would like to see Big John Kimbro, N. E. B. 4811 etc.

Taking a number off a squad list for all time is a fine sentimental gesture, but suppose players were numbered and the practice of retiring them had been started when big football names first started to pop up in the 1920's? By this time, Yale, Harvard and Princeton, which monopolized All-American teams for so long, probably would be handing out automobile license plates on combatants—COVN, 2Q-4738, MABSI, 9554, N. E. B. 4811 etc.

There really would be quite a problem if all the lads who died for dear old Rutgers had their numbers put in cold storage.

Scored 100 Touchdowns

From Amos Alonzo Stagg, the fabulous Pudge Heffelfinger and Frank Hixley through Tom Sawyer, The Horse, Doc Coy and Cupid Black, and down to Larry Kelley and Clint Frank, Yale has had many who were worthy of having their numbers tucked away.

The same is true at Harvard with its Charles-Daly and Erickson, and Edlins—Mahan and Casey... a long line down to and through Barry Wood.

The numbers of Edgar Allan Poe, Snake Ames, Arthur Poole Eddie Hart and some more would be retired.

Ohio State Numbers

Harry Kipke was a fair sort of back and kicker who was numbered at Michigan but did not have his numerals placed in a vault. Benny Friedman wasn't half bad.

There was an agglutination at Ohio State a year ago to keep apart a number worn by Chic Harby, whose amazing ability took the Buckeyes into big-time football. The trouble was that no one could recall Harby's number, or numbers.

Coaches believed they were fooling someone in Harby's time when they deliberately withheld numbers. Numerals appeared on Ohio State players for the first time in Harby's senior year—1910.

Miss Harriet Davis, non-athletic director of Western Reserve of Cleveland introduced numbers in 1910 as a means of selling Pillsburgh programs, but really to avoid classed before the plan caught on in large way.

Coaches were afraid they were giving something away. One fall at Illinois, Bob Zupke came out with a four-numbered scheme. He had his backs numbered 7929, 8541, 9613, and 1098, or something like that.

At first the numbers were small and attached on only the front of the jersey. It was some time before numbers appeared both in the front and back and were big enough to aid materially in identifying athletes from the stand.

PAUL

Paul COC camp will hold a Yuletide dance at the camp Friday evening, Dec. 13, as a farewell to COC boys who will soon be leaving and as a courtesy to those remaining. The dance is invited to attend and transportation will be furnished in the usual manner to and from the dance. Refreshments will be served and a good orchestra will furnish the music.

Chinese Gagers to Play at Shoshone, Filer

The San Francisco Hong Wah Kuei, termed the world's greatest Chinese basketball team, will play at Filer and Shoshone this coming week, was announced here today. The speedy Asiatic team will take on the Filer Independents in the Filer gymnasium on Thursday, Dec. 12. The following night, the Wah Kuees open the season for the Shoshone Redskins at Shoshone. Both games are scheduled to commence at 8 p. m.

The strong San Francisco club is rated as one of the more clever traveling teams in the west, and plays college teams on a par in most cases. It is composed exclusively of Chinese players.

The Filer aggregation this year will be headed by Bill Powers and Pete Taylor, former college players, now coaches at Filer high school. Shoshone Redkins, one of the outstanding independent clubs in northern Idaho for the past three years, again expect to put out a good tough club. Such players as Bill Thompson, Lee and Tommy Bellis and Bob Haddock will again form the nucleus of this squad.

HE'S ASLEEP NOW, ORDERLY, BUT DR. SHARPE WANTS SOMEBODY TO GET WITH THIS PATIENT SO HE WON'T PUNCH HIS TIE OUT—THE MAN HAS A HEART LIKE A 1910 JALOPY, AND IF HE STARTS MISSING JUST SLIP HIM A SHOT OF THIS AMMONIA!

OKAY, NURSE, OKAY— BUT I GOTTA SPRINT ACROSS THE STREET WHEN THE FIFTH RACE AT HALLEBA COMES IN OVER THE RADIO, AND IF THIS BLIMP GOES FLAT THEN, IT'S HIS OWN FUNERAL!

THEY JUST GOT IN A BIG ORDER FROM THE GOVERNMENT WORK— PROBABLY WE'LL BE BUSY FOR YEARS.

WAR WORK! THAT MEANS BOMBING! I GO AS A SOLDIER IN THE FIRST WAR, WHEN THEY WAS KILLIN' SOLDIERS AN' NOW I'M A MACHINIST WHEN THEY'RE KILLIN' MACHINISTS! I'M JUST A HUNK OF IRON!

IF HE DON'T QUIT WORRYIN' HE'LL BE IN A HOSPITAL BY THE TIME THEY GET TO BOMBIN' US— AN' BOY HE'LL BE IN A SPOT! THEY'LL HAVE TO PUT HIM IN A HURRY TO CURE HIM!

WOULD YOU FEEL LUMPY IF I KNOCKED YOU?

ARE YOU GONNA STAY AWAY FROM HERE DO I HAVE TO GET TOUGH WITH YOU AND GET MY BLOCK KNOCKED OFF?

IT WON'T DO YOU ANY GOOD!

SCRAM— BEAT IT! I'VE GOT SOMETHING TO DO BEHINDS! LISTENING TO YOUR SILLY PRATTLE!

OH, WELL, TANGLING WITH THE HEADACHE THAT PLANE THAT FAILED DOESN'T CONCERN US.

WELL, HERE WE ARE IN THE LABORATORY. HMM! WE GOT COMPANY!

Composition Board Aids Those Yule Decorations

The houses can be rendered almost "life-like" and the white paint will do for the snow with a little dark grey to do the shadows and drizzle here and there.

Windows of the town church, stores, homes and other structures can be cut out through the composition board and then translucent fabric can be pasted over the hole, the pasting being done from the back. Squares can be painted on the fabric to give the appearance of window panes.

Light From Behind

Behind the scene lighting does the trick and the windows take on the appearance of belonging to real homes and buildings. Dimmed floodlights (very handy in case you get a blizzard) in the room at the point of the spectator looking at your display. A brighter "spot" can be made to focus on the "village square" portion of the display.

Building a miniature town on your board—on a sheet of translucent paper, or on a sheet of translucent paper, or on a sheet of translucent paper, or on a sheet of translucent paper.

It can be used also for smaller scenes such as the manger scene or light three wise men or in many other places.

Composition board, various colored light, paint and a good imagination will do the trick in making your Christmas decorative scheme. It's hard work but the completed picture is very often worth the labor.

ARMY AUTO-BUS CRASH KILLS 5

LANCASTER, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP)—The crash of an army auto-bus on a school bus and an army station wagon rose to five today with the death in Community hospital of 14-year-old Lowell McCall.

Young McCabe was the first to die of 14 students involved in the accident. The four other victims were inspectors attached to the army air corps at Riverside, Calif., and an enlisted army man. Two students in the school bus were injured.

The crash occurred on a desert highway northeast of Los Angeles as the school bus returned to March Field, Calif., from a trip to Murice field.

Killed were: Edwin Lombard, 48, and Neal Urlick, 49, both Riverside, inspectors; Clifford Rogers, Crestline, Calif., inspector; Willis Grant Scarth, 16, enlisted army man, the driver.
