Legislation Looms for Changing $5 Car License Fee Soon to Introduce Bill Seeking Boost To Aid County Fund

BOISE, Jan. 14 (UP)—Legislation to revise Idaho's flat $5 auto license fee will be introduced in the state house of representatives today, Rep. Arthur Peck, D., Bannock, announced today.

Peck's announcement followed a brief session of the house at which a resolution was adopted to investigate the phosphate industry. Peck said the auto license law change was necessary so that road funds could be allocated to counties. At the 1933 legislature, $1,000,000 was appropriated for county roads out of the gas tax fund but under a constitutional amendment adopted at the last election diversion of gas tax revenue for county road work was prohibited.

One Per Cent of Value A group of legislators has been working on the new auto license law, Peck declared. It would provide a flat $5 license fee for automobiles five years old or older. Models one to five years old would be taxed at flat $5 license fee and an additional one per cent of the total sale price would be made. This, a 10 per cent charge in addition to the $5 license if a car was valued at $1,000, Peck explained. He said he believed the new law would provide adequate funds for carrying out the state's portion of the county road program.

The resolution for appointment of a six-man joint house and senate committee to study use of phosphate on Idaho farms and report information as a basis for enacting laws on the industry was introduced by Rep. A. W. Brown, D., Bonneville, and Sen. E. Brown, D., Bannock. The resolution said that 50 per cent of all known phosphate in the world is found in Idaho, and that the industry is worth $25,000,000. The bill would set up laws to aid it. Industry officials expressed dissatisfaction with the progress made at the session this far.

Sen. K. C. Barlow, R., Cassia, called attention to the lack of progress before adjournment was called. He would like to see the bill when this house is going to get down to business, Barlow said. This is the ninth legislative day and even details of organization have not been accomplished. If we don't get busy there will be a jam at the end of the session that will cost taxpayers much in hasty legislation. Perry W. Mitchell, D., Lewis, replied he was of the opinion that "the less legislation introduced the better" and reminded Barlow that individual bills cannot be introduced after the 30th day of the session. W. Beckwith, assistant attorney general under J. W. Taylor, was chosen senate attorney for the session at a fee of $500.

SLICED TONNAGE SETS BEET MARK

Records of the Amalgamated Sugar company this afternoon showed that the processing run at the Twin Falls facility closed Sunday was the greatest on record so far as number of tons of beets and sugar was concerned. It was announced by Henry Eiseck, Idaho manager.

Eiseck, in making the announcement, stated that 130,000 tons of sugar beets went "through the mill" during the processing period, this being a new all-time record. The length of the processing period, 96 days, was the second longest run record, he said.

Reports of the sugar company also show that nearly one million dollars—$900,000—was paid to growers for beets delivered at the factory or at receiving stations for this factory. Men working in the factory during the utilization of the beet, which includes the county of Twin Falls, Jerome, Lincoln and Gooding, amounted to 1753 tons.

GREENWICH, Conn., Jan. 14 (UP)—Greenwich Times said today in a copyrighted interview that Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate, was going to London in an effort to get a "clear definition" of Great Britain's war aims. The newspaper quoted Samuel S. Poyer, according to the newspaper, understood Willkie would leave by Pan-American clipper during week of Jan. 19 and expects to be abroad "about two weeks."

LONDON, Jan. 14 (UP)—The Admiralty reported today German U-boat bombers inflicted damage and casualties on the crack 2300-ton aircraft carrier Humberston and the 9100-ton cruiser Southampton off the west coast of Portugal in one of the war's greatest tests of air against sea power.

LATE FLASHES

PLMOUTH, England, Jan. 14 (UP)—Fifteen German planes flew in a wide anti-aircraft fire tonight dropping 18,000 fire bombs, to start the worst raid the city has suffered since the war started. Men, women and even young children had panicked on the bombs when they fell over each other in confusion. However, many houses and business premises were demolished and a church was wrecked. All fires were put under control before midnight.

FEDERAL POWER DEMANDED OVER INDUSTRY, LABOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (UP)—Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore aircraft manufacturer, told the House naval affairs committee today he believed it may become necessary for the federal government to "draft" industry and labor to overcome defense production lags. Martin's suggestion was made at a committee hearing on production problems. He also said establishment of the six-day work week in defense industries is essential and it would increase production 2 or 15 per cent.

Martin said he did not know what laws should be passed to speed production but declared the following objectives should be accomplished: "There should be national coordination of all industry, both defense and commercial." This would be accomplished by creation of a government agency with special powers, or the lack of such authority in some existing agency.

The coordinating agency should have power to "draft" idle machine tools and put them to work on defense material. It should have authority to curtail non-military production in commercial plants, and turn the increased capacity to defense work. Martin said the granting of "draft" powers to the government would prevent labor organizations from taking a line into a bigger and bigger manufacturer and trying to "put the manufacturer in a jam" through the labor union.

Draft of labor and industry, he said, "would settle all questions as to who was going to do what." He noted the power to draft industry already existed in recently enacted legislation and the same power would be given to labor. "Labor should be given its fair wage and its social security, but it really should not be permitted to take advantage of national defense," he said.

Asked about labor conditions in his plant, Martin said his workers were "very much in sympathy with what the manufacturers are doing." He said he was non-union and his labor relations are "satisfactory."

MRS. ROOSEVELT ABANDONS TOUR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, America's No. 1 traveler, today reluctantly abandoned a tour to visit Latin America this winter.

She had planned to tour several countries by plane in March and April. She was accompanied by several officials of the state department apparently hesitated to urge that she make the unprecedented trip, according to reliable sources outside the White House.

Princess "Hysterical" U. S. Order for Deportation

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 14 (UP)—Princess Stefania Hohenlohe of Hungary, "nearly hysterical" over her arrest for deportation proceedings as a Nazi agent, locked herself in her room at the Waldorf Astoria today with her 82-year-old mother and a friend. She said she was anti-Nazi, pro-British and pro-American and would fight deportation.

Axis and British Open Battle for Sea's Domination

Great Britain threw royal air force planes into the battle for Mediterranean sea control today as new rumors ran through the Balkans of an imminent German move in that area.

British air power was applied at the critical Mediterranean narrows between Sicily and Africa where new German dive-bombing squadrons, aided by Italian warplanes, have sought to snip British communications between the eastern and western portions of the inland sea. RAF planes attacked Catania, Sicily, where it is believed Nazi air-plant reinforcements have been based. In an attack Sunday night they reported they probably had destroyed nine German Junkers 87's.

Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who fled to Sicily from Mussolini, emphasized importance of the new air versus sea power struggle in the Mediterranean. He claimed the joint German-Italian air attacks on the British fleet were designed to prevent the British from moving heavy reinforcements of supplies and troops to Greece.

The RAF attacks on Sicily were only part of a long series of actions in which British planes attacked their foes in Albania, Italian-held Greece and western Libya. From The Netherlands came indications of increasing Dutch opposition to Nazi rule. The German authorities announced sweeping reprisals would be taken unless they were described as "minority" Dutch leaders in the Netherlands.

German bombers picked Plymouth as the chief point of their attack on Britain last night. Damage was great but casualties were reported light. Some 1000 fire bombs were estimated to have been dropped on the city.

Barnhart, 70, who had served Twin Falls county as assessor for six years and who was a leader in Democratic party circles, died here early this afternoon of a heart ailment at the county general hospital. Mr. Barnhart came to Twin Falls in 1915 and engaged in the occupation of farming. At the time of his death he still continued to follow this endeavor and owned a farm east of the city. For the past five years, however, he had resided at 122 North avenue east.

WILLKIE MAY TESTIFY ON AID-TO-BRITAIN MEASURE

MORGENTHAU AND HULL COME FIRST WITH ARGUMENTS

By JOHN R. BEAL
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Members of the house foreign affairs committee hinted today that Wendell Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate, might be invited to testify at hearings on President Roosevelt's arms lending bill.

House hearings, originally scheduled to begin today, were postponed until tomorrow to allow Secretary of State Cordell Hull or Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to present the administration's arguments first.

President Roosevelt returned from a week-end at Hyde Park today to survey with congressional leaders reaction to the bill that would give unprecedented peace-time powers to make the United States the great "arsenal of democracy."

FDR Confident
Sources close to the White House indicated Mr. Roosevelt was confident the administration has enough votes to pass the bill without his intervention. They believed he would remain aloof from the controversy and cited the fact he had declined to comment on the administration's endorsement of the bill's objectives.

Congressional leaders are expected to go to the White House today to discuss proposals advanced by many sources for modification of the aid-to-Britain measure. There have been indications the administration would compromise on some features, but they have met sharp rebuffs from opposition leaders who seek complete defeat of the bill.

Chairman Sol Bloom of the House foreign affairs committee said he would be "overjoyed" to have Willkie as a witness if the committee desired. Other members indicated they would like to see Willkie but provided it included a time limit on the powers to be granted the President, that they were considering inviting him to testify probably before he leaves for his trip to England.

May Call Envoys
The senate foreign relations committee, which meets tomorrow to plan procedure on the bill, may be confronted with several attempts to call Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, former ambassadors to Great Britain and France, respectively, to testify. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., proposed at the close of last week's hearing that no action was taken. Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D. Mo., was said to be ready to make a similar motion for calling both Kennedy and Bullitt.

Vigorous rebuffs to hints of the administration's willingness to modify its version of the bill came from Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D. Mont., co-leader of the oppositionists, and Sen. Robert A. Taft, R. O., who may be chosen to help him organize the fight. Both announced they would vote to defeat the bill and would not compromise.

Wheeler said he was "definitely and positively opposed to the United States buying an interest in this war."

$20,000,000 to Be Ready For Idaho Roads Building

BOISE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Idaho will have more than $20,000,000 available for highway construction during the next two years if gas and tax funds come in in the present rate.

During the biennium ended in December, the state collected $10,716,815 in motor fuel taxes. Byron Defenbach, former state tax commissioner reported. Since the Idaho electorate approved a constitutional amendment to prevent diversion of gas tax revenue for purposes other than highway work, the entire sum will be available for highway use.

Federal Help
Moreover, the federal government generally matches state funds for highway work. This may double the amount of money available for highway use in the next two years.

"Detailed figures covering the transactions are available to anyone on request," Defenbach said.

"It is equal to nearly one-third of the entire general property tax for purposes. Each year it (the gas tax) is approximately twice the celebrated ad valorem or state charge.

No Difficult Task
"The collection of this huge sum is not an especially difficult task. The tax is paid almost entirely by wholesale dealers in large amounts. We have so many adjoining states that we have to cover a long and complicated boundary line, but it is my opinion that very little real gasoline is escaping the tax.

"I am in favor of continuing the refund policy. I realize that the loss of revenue of around a half million dollars a year but as the gasoline tax is used entirely for the maintenance of the highway, I don't believe in collecting it from the farmer who uses gasoline in farm work on his own place."

Harrington Shows "Results" in Just Signing Contract

If the hiring of Andy Harrington as manager of the Twin Falls Cowboys in the Pioneer league never accomplished anything else, the directors of the local organization would still have proof that it did the morale of the club.

The proof was in the form of a letter received today from Verne Reynolds, 21-year-old outfielder of the last two Cowboy teams—one that won the championship, another that finished in the cellar.

Early after purchase of the franchise from Spokane interests, Reynolds wrote Business Manager Carl Anderson that he would like to get his release. Anderson, however, wrote Verne that the chances were good that Twin Falls would get Andy Harrington as manager for the 1941 season.

"The reply was heartening to any baseball club owner," wrote the youthful outfielder. "I'll be glad to return to Twin Falls to play under the management of Andy Harrington."

Harrington visits
So this is the story and today Harrington was waiting in Twin Falls and making initial arrangements for moving to this city in the very near immediate future.

He went from one place of another all day yesterday and today, visited baseball fans, members of the club directorship, newspaper men and all who would talk baseball.

In town of Mr. Anderson he spent a full and complete two days. He returned to Boise tonight to close his business there and then will move here permanently. As soon as he can find a place to live, he'll bring his wife and two small children, aged 11 and 8, here.

Meanwhile, the local directors looked forward to a regular season with President Jack Harrington of the Pioneer league who will be returning from New York to Boise.

Mr. Anderson stated today that he was expecting to confer with R. C. "Doc" Hogan, a local doctor today with President Jack Harrington of the Pioneer league who will be returning from New York to Boise.

While here, Harrington stated that he would have nothing to do with the ball players—one way or another—until spring training camp opened. Then, he said, will be plenty of time to look and talk over the weakness and strength of the various positions.

The girls' contest went to Hailey by a 22-19 count in another win-and-lick-out encounter. Richfield was again ahead at the quarter by a 9-6 count but Hailey recovered at Edna Frenzel led the winners with 17 points. Powell was high for the losers with six.

Christoforidis Wins Light-Heavyweight Title From Bettina

CLEVELAND, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—Anton Christoforidis, rugged Greek boxer, was recognized as light-heavyweight champion today in states under jurisdiction of the National Boxing association but was scheduled for a defense of his newly-won crown within 60 days against Gus Leavenich of New Jersey.

Christoforidis put on a closing rush last night to get a 15-round decision over Mello Bettina, Italian southpaw from Sicily. N. Y. former champion who lost the title to Billy Conn of Pittsburgh. The decision was unanimous.

Christoforidis started slowly and had difficulty in solving the Italian's unorthodox fighting stance. Bettina took three of the first four rounds and then the Greek found the range with hooking rights to the head. He caught his opponent with a beautiful left to the left eye that started it bleeding in the seventh.

The crowd of 8,449 which paid $20,462 was with Christoforidis when he began driving right hooks to the head and punching inside with both hands to the body.

pounds but Forte entered the ring a 1-2 underdog. Only inexperienced kept him from finishing a job that started efficiently in the first five heats.

Time and again he had the half-blooded champion in difficulty but Salica kept punching to earn a decision that at any other time would have been unpoplar.

Both fighters weighed 117 1/2 pounds but Forte entered the ring a 1-2 underdog. Only inexperienced kept him from finishing a job that started efficiently in the first five heats.

Stars of Entertainment World Play in Memorial Golf Tourney

By HENRY McLEMORE
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—Frank Condon, a 14-handicap player at golf, is search man in the game of life and of writing, is gone.

But the memory of him is as green as the fairways on Sunday afternoon many of his friends will pay him tribute at the club he loved so much, the San Gabriel, deep in the valley of that name.

Writers, boxers, coaches, actors, singers, players in drama and discotees. They all will gather to play in the Frank Condon memorial tournament. From all over the country—men almost every club at which Frank ever dug a divot, instead a putt or fluffed a tee shot—will come to play over three days here in their attire of three dollars. While they won't be here to play, they wanted to have a part in a memorial to a man who brought so much happiness to golfers with his golfing.

Frank Condon, who died in Hollywood, where he lived for 18 years, and whose life's work was golf, was a star of the entertainment world.

Condon was a star of the entertainment world. He was a writer, a boxer, a coach, an actor, a singer, a player in drama and discotees. They all will gather to play in the Frank Condon memorial tournament.

At first the tournament committee considered having Condon and Hope play the girls, but returning the spectators desired a full rout for their admission fee. So the officials decided to separate Patty and Jane so that the match would stand a better chance of going the full distance.

Another foursome will be Jimmie Walsmiller, Eric Pettie, Jimmy McFarland and Ford Palmer meeting at the head on a shot, and who still does.

The match I plan to follow, however, is the one that involves Frank Condon, a star of the entertainment world, and Hope, a star of the entertainment world.

Another foursome of men who finished and played with Oodson will include J. Cobb, Howard Jones and Bill Spaulding and Wilcox Vinco.
