Death Penalty May Be Asked in Torture Slaying Trial Under Way at Shoshone for Three Charged With Death

SHOSHONE, Jan. 27 (Special)—Through questioning of prospective jurors, C. C. Shaw, county prosecutor, today in district court indicated that he may ask the death penalty against three persons charged with the desert torture slaying of their 48-year-old father.

The murder trial got underway here this morning with Judge D. H. Suran on the bench. Charged with the crime are George Sanders, 18; Joseph Sanders, 20, and their mother, Mrs. Flossie Phillips, 48. Mrs. Phillips' husband, Chester, 22, is in the Blackfoot state hospital. He was not named in the murder charges filed.

Charged With Murder The trio is charged with the murder of Charles Sanders last July. It is alleged that the three, together with Mrs. Phillips' husband, took him from a house in Burley, transported him into the desert country in eastern Lincoln county, bound him with a rope and then left him to die under the broiling desert sun.

In court today the three defendants appeared calm and watched proceedings with apparent interest. They are being defended by Paul E. Haddock.

Of the panel of 60 jurors called by the judge, 18 were dismissed before names of the prospective jurors were taken from the box and they took their places. Up until noon today two of the original 60 had been called to the courtroom and they announced they had formed an opinion which could not be swayed. These two men were E. W. Wilson and Roy Piddis.

In the box when noon recess came were George Kempton, B. Peak, Joseph Sanders, Flossie Phillips, Frank Stoffer, Gustaf Larson, O. C. Jackson, O. H. Ryan, Henry Phillips, Frank Peterson, and Raymond Anderson. The names of the jurors called in the general way are listed in the nature of the case observers saw the possibility that none of the 18 men called to the courtroom would still be there when presentation of evidence starts after jury selection is completed.

The court room was crowded for this morning's session.

BRITISH FORCES PUSH AHEAD ON AFRICAN FRONTS

By HARRISON SALISBURY United Press Staff Correspondent British forces swept ahead on all African fronts today, and in the far east new trouble signs appeared.

Japan was the center of developments which raised new questions as to attitude of Soviet Russia in the far east.

The Tokyo press reported Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka had told parliamentarians Russia had agreed to negotiation of a new pact with Japan, presumably a non-aggression treaty.

Although Russia and China have emphasized repeatedly that their relations are unchanged and that Soviet aid to Gen. Chiang Kai-shek continued, observers speculated on the possible effect a Russo-Japanese pact would have on Russo-Chinese relations.

The Moscow newspaper Pravda today published what apparently was the first news to appear in the Soviet press concerning the outbreak of trouble between Chinese troops and the Communist fourth route army.

Could Weaken China Chungwa reported belief in some Chungwa circles that further conflict between regular Chinese army forces and Communist-led and trained troops was to be expected and would lead to development of "men spreading the will" which would finally weaken China.

Whether the fourth route army affairs had isolated instances of Communist-Chinese friction or the opening phase of a definite split was not certain. Chinese reports have insisted the affair is only an isolated case and the Pravda account appeared to indicate no Soviet reaction is to be expected.

A Russo-Japanese non-aggression pact would have serious significance in the general war situation if it enabled Japan to release herself from her deep involvement in China for her ambitious program of expansion southward.

"China Incident" It would make Japanese action under the obligations of their military alliance with Germany and Italy more feasible, it was felt. Matsuoka's parliament questions today that he is determined.

First day in his new post, Lord Halifax lost no time in starting to work, and the new British ambassador to the United States, left, is shown in conference with Cordell Hull, America's secretary of state.

YOUTHFUL CRIME RING BROKEN UP

Break-up of a juvenile crime ring by the Twin Falls police department and recovery of articles ranging from bicycles to pens and pencils were announced here this afternoon by Lee McCracken, acting chief of police.

Chief McCracken said that five youths were implicated in the thefts and that they would be turned over to juvenile authorities after police complete their investigation. Names of the juveniles involved were not made public.

Varied Places Part of the loot was found secreted in a cave which had been dug in a vacant lot, more was found where the youths lived and still more was discovered in possession of other youths who had purchased articles from the boys who committed the thefts. Police said the articles had been stolen from local stores, parked machines and from bicycle parking area on local streets.

Following is an incomplete list of articles recovered by the police: Two bicycles, one bicycle frame, two bicycle wheels, 60 feet of copper tubing, a sack of oranges, one pair of slacks, one pen, one pencil, one broken off, one auto fender parking fender, two cameras, one pair of shoes, one pocketbook, flashlight and gloves.

More Yet "And this isn't the complete list yet," McCracken said. The bicycles recovered were a combination of parts stolen from various other bicycles, the investigation showed. The "rings" had, evidently been operating for several weeks.

Meanwhile as officers checked over the loot recovered and also brought in additional articles, the police officer took on the appearance of a burly man at a side time.

Federal Government May Battle Clark's Reorganization Plan

By LLOYD RUMBLE BOISE, Jan. 27 (UP)—Reports the federal government was opposed to portions of Gov. Chase A. Clark's legislative program today highlighted sessions of the Idaho legislature.

A source close to the governor disclosed the federal government has been probing Gov. Clark's legislation and has reportedly threatened to withdraw federal funds for public assistance unless the measures, now in the house of representatives, are revised.

Harold Wilson, regional representative of the federal department of public assistance, conferred with state relief officials and admitted there were "certain phases" of the bill to abolish the public welfare board which federal authorities "do not concur."

"Someone always says the legislation is going to withdraw funds whenever we investigate state legislation, but there has been no threat of withdrawal in this case," Wilson declared.

Clark, however, admitted "a fight is in the offing" and said "I intend to continue my fight to get this bill through."

"If I am responsible for relief and public assistance in Idaho I am going to be in a position to direct it," he said.

The measure calls for elimination of the public welfare board and appointment of a director who will serve at the pleasure of the governor.

Expected on Floor The objections of the federal government were expected to be brought up on the floor of the house of representatives after a Democratic caucus.

The house met briefly in the forenoon and three minor bills were introduced. They would grant an appropriation of $1,500 for a pioneer museum at Franklin, provide for the issuing of non-assessable insurance policies, and regulate disclosure of vital statistics department information.

Hit Subversive Elements Two bills aimed at control of subversive elements were introduced in the house. Rep. Arthur Peck, D., Bannock, said he would sponsor a measure barring from the ballot those political party candidates "advocate or teach a program of sabotage, force and violence against the United States government or are directly or indirectly affiliated with any foreign agency, political party or government."

New political parties would be required to file an affidavit stating that it does not advocate the overthrow of government.

The other proposal would require all persons to register firearms and would prohibit all aliens from possessing firearms.

Not Tax Deductible The senate passed without a dissenting vote a bill to prohibit real estate dealers from deducting from their income taxes the one-half tax liability for purchase of the Twin Falls-Burley bridge.

Meets Churchill And Visits Ruins On Initial Tour

By BRAYTON TAVES LONDON, Jan. 27 (UP)—Wendell L. Wilkie revealed today he plans to study British airplane production with a view of coordinating it with United States production and then had lunch with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

It was his first detailed statement of the specific considerations which brought him to Britain for a "personal inspection" of Britain's war effort, and served to revive reports that he might accept a post in President Roosevelt's official family having to do with defense production. Britain's pressing need is planes; she depends heavily on American production.

"I want to see where your short-ages and strengths are and study your methods and see how they can best be combined with American methods," he told more than 300 local and foreign correspondents at a press conference at the ministry of information.

After the conference he had a long talk with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, then met Churchill for luncheon. He handed the prime minister the personal letter of introduction which President Roosevelt had entrusted to him. Wilkie in London, the British address was prime minister, as "a certain national person."

Churchill received him at his private residence, No. 10 Downing street.

"Terrible Mess" After his first visit, Wilkie was taken in a government Rolls Royce to the "terrible mess" which he saw in the ruins of the city of Coventry. He was accompanied by a German film crew. He also visited the ruins of the cathedral, passed police barriers, and picked his way through the rubble of the Guildhall banqueting hall. Shown the burned remains of his historic relics and the ruins of the city.

"My God, what a terrible mess they made here . . . Gen. Sir, it's awful." Accompanied by John Cowley, one of two American friends who accompanied him here and Churchill, Wilkie said he was "impressed by the scale of the damage."

"I hope no one will lose his temper because these monuments are destroyed," he said. "These are the things that we have to live with."

"During the last eight years we have gone far down the road toward one-man government. We have passed the point where we cannot go back over our heads to any peace-time president."

"But you know American people are asked by H. R. 1776 to give effect to the President the power to be undeciphered war—not in the name of our government, but in defense of our independence—but in defense of foreign powers."

Wilkie then returned to Downing street for luncheon with Churchill. At his press conference, he said he planned to go to the public welfare board with Prime Minister Damon de Valera if he could. British urgently needs naval bases in the Atlantic. The American government has offered to lease bases to persuade the U.S. to let have them.

No Plans With Hopkins Wilkie said he had no plan to meet Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's economic advisor in Britain. He also had no plan to visit continental countries.

Wilkie spent the night in a suite in the Grosvenor hotel, which was formerly occupied by Lord Halifax, the new ambassador to the United States, and he had lunch with members of the American embassy staff.

Wilkie said he did not plan to make any formal report to the President or to the Republican party. "But I shall certainly make some speeches, and I hope they read them."

FIRE INVESTIGATED NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 27 (UP)—A navy board of inquiry today investigated a fire at the naval base administration building here Sunday night which destroyed $275,000 damage and left the base cut off from communication for more than five hours. The fire started in the radio room at communication headquarters.

SNOW BLANKETS NORTHERN AREA

By United Press Snow blanketed the northern tier of states from the Mississippi river valley to southern New England today, so thick in some areas that traffic was impeded. A fresh cold wave was reported forming on the Canadian border in Montana.

Temperatures along the northern border as the first cold wave of the past week moved eastward toward the Atlantic coast. The effect of that frigid blast was tempered somewhat by a storm that moved northward out of Texas and into the middle west and blocked the movement of the cold on the south.

Some sections of Missouri and Illinois followed in the wake of the snow over the week-end. Five inches was reported in Illinois. Throughout the north, snow fell three to six inches fell. Colder weather and perhaps four to six inches of snow were forecast in New England.

Snow was forecast at least as far south as Washington on the Atlantic coast and perhaps rain further south. New York was blanketed by snow with no let-up in sight.

Cloudy and warmer weather was forecast for the Florida region in regions where temperatures ranged from 50 to at Haver, Mont. to 61 degrees at Rowell, N. M.

MISSING ELMORE FARMER RETURNS

OLENSKY FERRY, Jan. 27 (Special)—Local police today reported that Roy C. Barnes, 40, a King Hill farmer who disappeared from here last Thursday night, walked into town today at 1:30 a. m. and was found near the railroad station.

Police reported that apparently the man had been wandering around in the hills not more than three miles from town at any time since his disappearance. Evidence was found that he had spent at least one night in a hay stack.

A physician who examined the man said that he was weak but otherwise in good condition. Police said that it is believed he had been blindfolded with a man in a heavy coat being found on his person. Barnes told officers that he remembered nothing that had happened since he came into Olemsky Ferry last Thursday.

BRITONS HAMMER NAZIS AT NARVIK

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 27 (UP)—Swedish press sources reported today that royal air force planes have attacked Narvik in far northern Norway for the third time this month.

No RAF attacks on Narvik have been reported by British air military communications in London this month.

The latest attack was said to have been made last night, and heavy damage was reported to the Narvik docks which had been built by the Germans.

Mayor Seeks Bill for Return Of Cash in Airport Purchase

Mayor Joe Koehler this afternoon announced he would attempt to have a bill sponsored in the present legislature which would order the state land to return $4,600 to the city of Twin Falls. The bill would be introduced in the legislature which was passed in 1937.

The mayor said that he was seeking to have that amount returned to the city because he found, during a recent trip to Boise, that the city never had to pay for the airport in the first place and that the purchase was illegal. The bill would require legislation which was enacted in 1937.

He Verifies Mayor Koehler declared that in 1937 legislation was passed which would allow the state to purchase any firm, municipality, corporation or individual in any one year, and no more than 250 acres of state land during the same time.

Records show that the purchase made here was of school land and the amount $46,000, the city paid for the airport. The city official declared that while at Boise he received an opinion from a lawyer general in Boise which the latter stated that the purchase was not according to existing law and that the land had "overstepped themselves" in making the purchase of the airport.

Koehler said that the airport purchase could be obtained on a 99-year lease basis and that the city could own an acre per year, making the whole term payment less than $3,000.

To Boise Wednesday Koehler will return to the city on Wednesday and make preparations for getting the bill to return the purchase money to the city.

SENTRY WOUNDS BOXCAR BREAKER

PORT ORGD, Calif., Jan. 27 (UP)—A sentry shot and wounded a civilian who attempted to break into a boxcar loaded with army supplies, it was disclosed today.

Military authorities said the wounded man was a WPA worker carrying both American and German passports.

The shooting occurred Saturday night. Officers said the man carried a passport, made out by the United States government of state to "John Gallagher."

Shot in the left breast by the sentry, he was taken to the Field Hospital of Monterey hospital where he was lying in a coma. The surgeon general's office said the man would probably die.

The wounded man appeared to be about 30 years of age. He was wearing a military uniform and FBI agents were ready to question the man when he recovered consciousness. The army spokesman said the man was carrying a suitcase concealed in a case of soap.

"This box car was on a siding about 100 yards within Port Ord reservation."

SHIP BUILDING STRIKES HAMPER U. S. DEFENSE PROGRAM

DISPUTE ENDS AS UNIONS SIGN NEW AGREEMENT

By United Press
One major labor dispute in defense industries was settled today and federal conciliators strove to reach agreements to end strikes in shipbuilding, heavy machinery and steel plants that threatened to hamper production of war materials.

International Harvester company announced a strike of 1,600 workers at East Moline, Ill., plant had ended when members of two rival unions agreed to resume production while negotiating their differences with the firm. Harvester had offered new contracts totaling $10,000,000 and workers had threatened to spread the strike through the firm's eight Midwest plants.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced in radio address from Washington that the AFL had "ended for the duration of the emergency" and would not be a factor in reason for the defense program when called upon by the President.

Skilled Labor Struggle
The National Association of Manufacturers announced at New York that a national survey showed industry would deliver 95 per cent of all defense materials on the contracts specified by government contract but said 45 per cent of the firms cooperating in the survey had reported shortage of skilled labor.

President R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile Workers (UAW) union charged in Chicago that leading automobile industries were attempting to "crush industrial democracy" under guise of emergency operations. He spoke at a meeting of 1,000 UAW-CIO workers who today began a campaign to organize 200,000 workers in automotive industries in the Chicago area.

Allis-Chalmers Fight
A third federal conciliator entered discussions attempting to settle a strike at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company in Milwaukee, Wis., plant where defense contracts valued at $25,000,000 have been tied up by a strike of United Automobile Workers (UAW) who demand higher wages, union recognition and "union security."

A true in the strike of 3,400 CIO workers at the Allis-Chalmers plant in Milwaukee, Wis., where the workers of the Alabama Drydock and Shipbuilding Co. was sought in conferences arranged between the union and company.

Conciliators said "every effort" would be made to settle a dispute that resulted in disturbance at the Johnson and Bethlehem units of the Bethlehem Steel company which have defense contracts worth $18,000,000.

Workers at the Babcock and Wilcox boiler factory at Bayonne, N. J., called an agreement which granted them wage increases.

SENATE COMMITTEE HEARS HULL IN SECRET SESSION

SECRETARY ASKS 'PROMPT ACTION' TO HELP BRITAIN

By JOHN R. BEAL
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (UP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, explaining he could not speak publicly without injury to "our own national security and defense," today testified on the administration's "all-out" effort to help Britain.

Hull, the lead-off witness at the senate committee's hearing on the measure, originally had been expected to testify at an open session. However, he was on the stand in an open session for only 11 minutes before the committee, on motion of Sen. Pat Harrison, D., Miss., and Hiram Johnson, R., Calif., went into executive session to receive confidential state department reports on the international situation.

Asks Prompt Action
 Hull previously had told the committee that "gradually increasing state of danger to this hemisphere and hence to this country" made necessary prompt action by the United States.

When the committee went into executive session, Hull announced public hearings would be resumed later in the day.

The close senate hearing coincided with a secret session of the house foreign affairs committee to hear expert testimony from Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and Gen. George H. Brett, acting chief of the army air corps.

Speaks Tonight

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., whose personal acquaintance with the famous figures of the world probably is unrivaled by that of any other American, talks to the Twin Falls Town Hall club at 8 p. m. today at the high school auditorium. He will discuss the 13 most important personalities he has interviewed—and they'll include all the leaders now playing crucial roles on the world stage.

APPEAL WILL HIT AWARD FOR PAY

Appeal will be taken to district court against judgment for $226.87 awarded to Roscoe Brown for unpaid sorting wages alleged due him from Western Fruit Growers, Inc. Judge C. A. Bailey decided in favor of Brown after a two-day trial, finding only 40 cents off the sum the plaintiff had asked. Western Fruit Growers, in a counter-claim, had requested $175 from Brown. That amount included $76 damages the defendant claimed Brown did to 3,600 sacks.

Roy E. Smith was counsel for the plaintiff; Chapman and Chapman and James T. Murphy represent the fruit concern.

NAMES in the NEWS

By United Press
 Count Fernand de Brion, envoy of the Vichy government to German occupation authorities, is back in Paris after visiting Berlin. . . . Reliable quarters say he may be bringing to Adolf Hitler the text of a statement in German-French relations.

Senators Burton Wheeler and Gerald Nye want President Roosevelt to demand a statement of war aims by Europe's warring nations. The senators said that "most historians agree that the treaty of Versailles precipitated the present war."

Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany observed his 82nd birthday today at his exile in Dorn, Netherlands. . . . He objected to his regular procedure only by omitting his usual woodchopping and sawing.

Paul McCarthy—former stenographer to Dorothy Lamour—is in the movies now herself. . . . She signed—and artistically—100 lead-lives found she screened as well as she could type. . . . Casky, 47, Hungarian foreign minister, died today in Budapest. . . . His friendliness toward Germany and Italy has much to do with Hungary's adherence to the axis.

Professor Walter Angerer, head of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, reports that voting has already started on who will receive this year's "Oscar" award. . . . The nominations close Feb. 8.

Sever L. Fleisher, president-elect of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, says this country must immediately begin to consider the safety of civilians in case of war. . . . He recommends construction of above-ground bomb shelters which could also be utilized economically in peacetime.

Louis Bousquet, author of the famous song "La Marseillaise" which was as popular as the Marseillaise with the French army in the last war, has died. . . .

Brenda Marshall and Bill Holden are postponing their marriage because of the possibility that Holden will receive this year's "Oscar" award for a mystery flight into the U. S. to give him the same award as England.

Of the other, Douglas Corrigan, I will say only this, he too crossed the Atlantic, the same as Lindbergh, with this difference, he used a nine-year-old second hand plane, no instruments, no weather reports, even a press agent, a truly remarkable feat. His idea he said was to get enough publicity to land himself a job in his chosen profession, which he accomplished, and after appearing on the radio a few times and in a picture or two, he retired to that job and was being working at it ever since.

I say hats off to Corrigan, who succeeded in avoiding publicity, even without a press agent. His modesty is the kind we Americans truly like. If any question my Americanism, in criticizing Col. Lindbergh, please remember this, I have one son who is an officer in the U. S. army, another in the army reserve and two younger sons, who I expect will also serve in the army. I don't want war, but no one ever avoided a fight, by being a weakling.

AROUND the WORLD

(By United Press)
 LONDON—Two hundred Italian soldiers have been killed or captured in a two day fight with revolting Ethiopian warriors on the important Debra Taba-Dessay road east of Lake Tana, it was reported today.

BERLIN—Five civilians were killed and six wounded by British airplane bombs in western and central Germany during the night, the high command said today, but damage was slight.

ROME—Giuseppe Tassinari, agriculture minister decreed today that effective Feb. 1 no spaghetti, rice or other rationed food will be served in any restaurant in Italy except on presentation of a ration card.

SHANGHAI—A Domei (Japanese) news agency dispatch from Hanoi, Indo-China, reported today that the Japanese would be starting Wednesday between Indo-China and Thailand with Japan as the mediator.

TOKYO—Newspapers, which are frequently inspired by the government, are today showing great eagerness to negotiate an important treaty, presumably a non-aggression treaty with Japan.

ATHENS—General Ugo Cavallero, new Italian commander-in-chief in Albania, is throwing great masses of men against almost impregnable Greek positions without regard for losses, a Greek spokesman said today. He alleged Cavallero desperately sought quick success to show Premier Benito Mussolini.

ROME—High Italian quarters today report that German troops were pouring into Italy and that there had been serious rioting at Milan and Turin in the industrial north. Italian informants at Milan and Turin joined in a denial there had been disorders.

BERLIN—United States foreign policy is based on "false impressions and artificialities—exaggerated threats," an authorized Nazi informant said today, and "tall-tale" nations are wondering "where does the United States western hemisphere really end."

HONOLULU, T. H.—Seven Australian aviators today prepared their long-range consolidated PBY patrol number for a mystery flight into the south Pacific, possibly to hunt German sea raiders.

The big seaplane was flown away from the Consolidated plant in San Diego over the week-end.

FBI INVESTIGATES THEFT OF FILES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (UP)—The federal bureau of investigation sought to determine today whether foreign agents were involved in the theft of confidential personnel files from the civil service commission.

G-men, already have in custody here Hazel G. Carradell, 29-year-old civil service commission employee, and Lawrence Hayes, whom they identified as an official of an establishment which furnishes mailing lists, presumably to private firms seeking prospective customers.

An FBI official said one serious aspect of the theft was the fact that questionnaires filled out by G-men were among the stolen files. "We are concerned," he added, "over possibility that these stolen files might reveal to foreign agents the identity of special agents assigned to investigate their work."

Meantime, it was indicated U. S. District Attorney Edward S. Curran may seek the arrangement of Carradell and Hayes on either petit or grand larceny charges, pending an inquiry into possible foreign angles.

Engineer, Firemen Credited With Saving Lives of Fifty

QUINCY, Calif., Jan. 27 (UP)—An engineer and fireman who clung to the airbrakes even as their locomotive plunged down a 250-foot embankment in Feather river canyon were credited today with saving the lives of 50 passengers on the Western Pacific Exposition Flyer when it hit a landslide on the tracks yesterday.

The only fatality was James E. Curry, 61, San Rafael, Calif., an American Railway Express clerk who was drowned in the baggage car which rolled into the river. All passengers stayed on the track.

The locomotive slid halfway down the steep bank and jammed its nose into a narrow ledge of broken rock. Engineer Fred G. Loucks and Fireman Eric C. Hecker, who refused to jump, were only slightly injured.

The 16-car train, westbound from Chicago, was rolling down the rocky canyon 35 miles from Quincy. Loucks saw the slide blocking the track about 1,000 feet away—a pile of earth, rock and a 500-ton boulder. He braked hard three times and the train was nearly stopped when the locomotive reacted the twisted rails.

The huge boulder had pointed the rails out over the bank. The locomotive toppled over, pulling the baggage car with it. The coupling broke behind the baggage car, which spun down the bank, twisting away from the locomotive.

Two day coaches immediately behind the baggage car came perilously close to going over, but the brakes and the weight of the seven Pullmans behind kept them on the track.

MINERS SELECT A. H. BURROUGHS

BOISE, Ida., Jan. 27 (UP)—The Idaho mining association Saturday elected A. H. Burroughs, Jr., Boise as president before concluding a three-day convention.

Burroughs, head of the Telahco mine at Atlantic, one of Idaho's largest gold producers, succeeds Lewis E. Rockwell, Bellevue.

E. M. Norris, Caribou county, was named vice-president to replace B. Eldridge, Boise, and head the executive committee as chairman.

Other members of the new executive committee are Stanley A. Easton, L. E. Hanley and H. S. Washburn, all Owyhee county; L. S. Baumhoff, Boise county; L. S. Bequa, Washington; Howard Sims, Lemhi, and H. D. Henderson, Idaho county.

The Public Forum

RAPS LINDBERGH FOR HIS PRESUMPTUOUS ADVICE
 Editor Evening Times:
 When the committee was in its midst two outstanding examples of modern day "outing" are the "Command" and the "U. S. Army" articles, namely Col. Lindbergh and Douglas Corrigan. Mr. Lindbergh because he has told us so thousands of times in the past several years. He even disliked publicly so much, he hired a press agent to keep him in the background?

At the time he flew the Atlantic, he was supposed to be a good mechanic and pilot. His flight was made in a specially built plane, with every then available instrument. For any kind of flying, at the time, Lindbergh was a "hot" pilot. He also wanted to take off until the weather bureau advised him that weather conditions were perfect.

In itself the flight was a feat of which any man might be proud, but it stopped there. Since then we have had to listen to Col. Lindbergh's advice, as an authority on international policy and affairs of state. . . . He has advised us on the atomic bomb, and every other question that has arisen in the past 13 years, including economic in which he has qualified to speak. About the only subject he has missed so far is American cookery, and I expect he is writing a cookbook for us in his spare time.

While living in England and visiting in Germany, Lindbergh made statements to high German officials which caused the English to advise him that England would be just as happy should he, the colonel, decide to return to his native land.

In view of the state of affairs in the U. S. at the present time, and considering the praise he was given today in the German press, I think the colonel should come to this country to subjects on which he is qualified to speak, namely, flying or it might be to the advantage of the U. S. to give him the same award as England did.

Of the other, Douglas Corrigan, I will say only this, he too crossed the Atlantic, the same as Lindbergh, with this difference, he used a nine-year-old second hand plane, no instruments, no weather reports, even a press agent, a truly remarkable feat. His idea he said was to get enough publicity to land himself a job in his chosen profession, which he accomplished, and after appearing on the radio a few times and in a picture or two, he retired to that job and was being working at it ever since.

POT SHOTS WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

SERIAL STORY CONSCRIPT'S WIFE BY BETTY WALLACE

Bruce Catton in Washington BY BRUCE CATTON Evening Times Washington Correspondent

The March of America Why work? Because there is something in man that makes him not content to live like the beasts of the field.

The work system, the economic system, that we have developed here in America during the past 300 years has come in for heavy criticism of late years, for it has developed grave defects.

But it also has shown remarkable achievements, and we scarcely wish to concentrate so fixedly on the defects as to overlook entirely, and take for granted, achievements, some of which were recently summarized by the New York Sun:

In 1900, for instance, there were 8,000 automobiles in use; in 1941 there are 25,000,000.

In 1900 there were 1,000,000 telephones; in 1941 there are 20,400,000.

In 1900 about 4,400,000 people owned securities; in 1941 there are more than 16,000,000 such owners.

In 1910 there were 16,372,000 savings accounts; in 1941 there are 46,000,000.

In 1920 some 10,581,700 Americans owned their own homes; in 1941 there are 14,000,000 home-owners.

In 1920 there were only 1,000 radio sets; in 1941 there are 43,000,000.

In 1920 there were 10,000 electric refrigerators; in 1941 there are more than 14,000,000.

In 1920 there were estimated to be 1,800,000 electrical servants in homes, outside of radios and refrigerators; in 1941 there are 117,000,000.

If the purpose of an economy is to produce goods and get them into the hands of people who can use them, then this is a record without parallel. True, we have had a virgin continent to exploit, and many natural advantages. But when one thinks that material achievements of this magnitude have been attained by free men living under a system of free government and economy, he is less likely to be impressed by what dictator-ridden governments promise.

The Germans are still waiting for the Volkstaat. It seems that the dictator had to have a war; the car can wait.

An economy which has produced these fabulous floods of goods and distributed them so widely has something more substantial than the promises of dictators.

We have not come far enough. But having come so far, we can't be on the wrong road entirely. The future course of that road may not be straight ahead on the line of the past. It may have curves and dips. But it has carried us too far through too green a country to encourage indiscriminate straying into bypaths.

Twenty-seven Years—Two Stars No army can be a thoroughly democratic institution. Military discipline will not permit the freedoms and levellings of pure democracy. We found that out years ago when troops used to elect their own officers—it didn't work.

Russia found that out just recently when it threw the guardhouse lawyers (political commissars) out of its army organization. That hadn't worked, either.

But there are degrees in army democracy. Ours is the most democratic. Distinctions between high and low are only such as seem necessary to promote effectiveness and discipline; the opportunity to rise is always open. Maj. Gen. Clifford R. Powell added one more to a long list of examples the other day in announcing the sending of two companies of New Jersey National Guard Infantry to the inauguration.

Twenty-seven years ago Powell was marching in the Woodrow Wilson Inaugural, a private with a gun on his shoulder. Today he wears the twin stars of a major general.

WARS, DRAFTS AND PATRIOTS My name is Maggie the Mouse. I live in oak. Of the best houses in town.

The other night I heard The Mister and The Missus Talking about Something they called the draft.

The mister said He thought it was fine And everybody owed A little bit of patriotism. To see that our nation Is well prepared.

The missus said Yes Nobody should shirk His duties In such times As these are.

Then they started To talk about The mister Edward, Who comes within The draft age.

They got pretty fussed Because Edward Didn't have sense enough To get married.

Which causes something Called deferment For the fellow Who commits it.

The mister and The Missus Finally decided They didn't have a talk With Edward's aunt And see if Edward Couldn't be induced To marry a nice girl.

He goes with Because, they said, Ditching Edward now Would ruin the state Guard Of a promising career.

All of which seems mouse to a mere mouse. A very funny way To look at doing Your duty.

To prepare your country. I've glad we're duty Among mice.

Maggie the Mouse

IDEA OFFERED FREE Dear The Mister and The Missus: Judge Bill Daley and his cohorts have missed one important bit in their membership drive for the revised and improved club in these parts. They ought to be strengthening the national defense angle.

Everybody else does, and anything labeled "national defense" is automatically quite some pumpkin. Can't you see the fact that practicing on about target, like pigeons, etc., in gunna make a gunner a cinch to pop off dozens of parachute soldiers drifting downward?

Yours truly, The Defender

WHAT'S AROUND THE CORNER? Of Hiller thought he'd overdone it. John Bull in just a month or so, but so far he has fought in vain. With gun and ship and aeroplane.

Ho Hum Dept. "Washing Morkan Jumping from Ship's Masthead"—Hollywood weekly. Somebody with St. Vitus dance should be able to cure all the weak curbs in the country.

MARSHA ran out. The baby carriage was asked going the steps. A very astonished, fat baby sat on the pavement, while a frightened little girl tried to drag him to a-spill him. "I didn't mean to spill him!" she sobbed.

MARSHA scooped him up. "Never mind, Sis," the baby caught his breath and now that he was safe, let out a protesting howl. His aunt said, "I'll carry him into the house, Sis. Sit him on the sofa beside Paul. She unclipped his cap and sweater with newly-dett fingers. She could sense Paul staring at the baby; he could feel the way his eyes took in the picture she made, bending there over the child.

"So you think I look terrible?" she said, and her tone was almost gay. "I don't blame you. I fear terrible."

"He couldn't stop to stop starting at her. "You must have lost 10 pounds! Haven't you been sleeping? Good grief, what's been going on here?"

"Heisen's in the hospital, and I'm merely doing the housework and looking after the children from the front. The kind Heisen's always done."

"You mean, you're doing slavey work?" work you're accustomed to—work for which your brother-in-law should hire someone?" He was very direct.

"For a moment, the fact of Paul's anger came as an inexplicable surprise. Why should he take this attitude?"

"But as she stood there, seeing the way Paul's big hand fumbled for his pipe, her resentment died. She said softly, "After all, Paul, Heisen's my only sister. I'd do more than this. Why, this is nothing! A little cooking, caring for my own niece and nephews."

"My health is perfectly all right," she said, and she looked at her wrist. "You're the one who's ridiculous."

"Just then the door burst open. Gene rushed in. His face was like the moon. "What's up, Sis?"

"The baby's sick," she said, and he was screaming. "Sis upset the baby! Sis upset the baby!"

MARSHA ran out. The baby carriage was asked going the steps. A very astonished, fat baby sat on the pavement, while a frightened little girl tried to drag him to a-spill him. "I didn't mean to spill him!" she sobbed.

MARSHA scooped him up. "Never mind, Sis," the baby caught his breath and now that he was safe, let out a protesting howl. His aunt said, "I'll carry him into the house, Sis. Sit him on the sofa beside Paul. She unclipped his cap and sweater with newly-dett fingers. She could sense Paul staring at the baby; he could feel the way his eyes took in the picture she made, bending there over the child.

"So you think I look terrible?" she said, and her tone was almost gay. "I don't blame you. I fear terrible."

"He couldn't stop to stop starting at her. "You must have lost 10 pounds! Haven't you been sleeping? Good grief, what's been going on here?"

"Heisen's in the hospital, and I'm merely doing the housework and looking after the children from the front. The kind Heisen's always done."

"You mean, you're doing slavey work?" work you're accustomed to—work for which your brother-in-law should hire someone?" He was very direct.

"For a moment, the fact of Paul's anger came as an inexplicable surprise. Why should he take this attitude?"

"But as she stood there, seeing the way Paul's big hand fumbled for his pipe, her resentment died. She said softly, "After all, Paul, Heisen's my only sister. I'd do more than this. Why, this is nothing! A little cooking, caring for my own niece and nephews."

"My health is perfectly all right," she said, and she looked at her wrist. "You're the one who's ridiculous."

"Just then the door burst open. Gene rushed in. His face was like the moon. "What's up, Sis?"

2 SPORTSMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS CONSOLIDATE

Southern Idaho, B-Club Groups Banded Together

Pooling their membership and resources in order to work more effectively their program of game and fish conservation, the B-Club of Sportsmen and the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association had consolidated today.

The consolidation took place at a special session which was held at the city hall Sunday night and at which resignations of three members of the Southern Idaho board of directors were accepted and three B-Club members were named to fill their unexpired terms.

Announcement was made at the session that all paid up members of the B-Club will receive membership cards in the Southern Idaho unit as soon as the lists could be checked and the cards sent out.

Designing as directors of the Southern Idaho were Bob Whitel, Rex Warren and Mike Throckmorton. Selection by members of the B-Club to fill these vacancies, as a part of the agreement leading to the consolidation, were Dr. G. O. George who recently resigned as president of the B-Club; Lawrence Murphy, B-Club director, and Earl Davidson, secretary.

Coleman named President

After the consolidation was completed the board, with the three new members, organized immediately with the following:

O. H. Coleman, president; Dr. Scholer, vice-president; Larry Basset, secretary; Mr. Davidson, treasurer; Lee Leitchler, R. F. Bailey, Mr. Murphy and Earl Davidson, directors.

Scholer and Davidson will fill unexpired terms of two years each while Murphy will serve a one-year term.

Vandals Ready For 1st Tilt With WSC Club

MOSCOW, Jan. 27 (Special)—Coach Forrest Twoogood sent his Vandal basketball players through workouts again today as they prepared for one more of the "big" games on the Idaho schedule—against Washington State college at Pullman on Saturday night.

The local fans are still talking today about the thrilling victory scored by the Vandals speedsters on Saturday night—a 39-38 victory over University of Oregon in the final 20 minutes of play on a free throw by Ray Turner, former Twin Falls high school star.

With the count tied at 38-38, Turner and two girls stood at the basket. He missed the first one, but came through in the deadly silence to sink the winning shot.

Scoring honors went to Olla Hinton, giant center, who got 12 points for the Vandals.

Yeager Picked As New Coach At Colorado

BOULDER, Colo., Jan. 27 (U.P.)—University of Colorado today prepared to name a new football coach in as many years as James Yeager, 31-year-old mentor at Iowa State college for the last four years.

Yeager was selected by the university regents over the week-end to succeed Frank Foltz, who is voluntarily returning to his regular job of head track coach and assistant football mentor.

Foltz coached the 1940 Buffaloes after Bernard "Bunny" Oakes was dismissed at the climax of a controversy that included charges by players that Oakes had violated several Big Seven conference rules.

Yeager was signed to a three-year contract. He will receive $10,000 a year—$500 more than he received at Iowa State—and will be listed as a full professor at the university.

University officials said Yeager planned to arrive at Boulder Friday. His contract starts officially Monday.

Yeager was graduated in 1921 from Kansas State university, where he played football and track. He coached Fort Hays State college before going to Iowa State.

Local State officials selected Ray Donis, freshman coach, as new head coach when Yeager's resignation was announced.

Redykins Hold Leadership in Big Seven Race

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 27 (U.P.)—University of Utah's Redykins today all topped the Big Seven conference basketball race with an unblemished record, but the race was wide open, as well as all mixed up.

Utah is the only team in the conference to win away from home.

Wyoming is in second place, with one win against one loss. All of the other five teams in the circuit have lost at least two games.

Saturday night Utah entertained Denver at Salt Lake—and won, 37 to 25. The night's only other game was at Fort Collins, where Colorado State trounced Utah State, 40 to 20.

Only three games are scheduled this week-end. Friday night, Colorado goes to Laramie to play Wyoming. Saturday night, Colorado goes to Denver to tangle with the Pioneer. Saturday, Utah and Utah State have their annual battle at Logan.

The standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Utah	3	0	1.000
Wyoming	2	1	.667
Colorado	2	2	.500
Denver	2	2	.500
Utah State	1	3	.250

Leonard Dodson Becomes Golfers' Paul Bunyan

BY HENRY McLEMORE
RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 27 (U.P.)—This concerns John Leonard Dodson, a golfing hobbyist from the Ozarks.

Two weeks ago he won the Oakland tournament and yesterday, paired with Ray Watson of Stanford, he came in first in the professional section of the Bing Crosby with 124, the lowest score ever recorded in an event.

Dodson, 27, already is a legendary figure. Just as woodmen spin tales of Paul Bunyan, so do golfers one of the slim, swishy happy boy from the hills of Springfield, Mo.

He led his golf as a member of Titanic Thompson's golf caravan. You remember Titanic. He belonged to the Arnold Rothstein club in New York. He was invited by the New York country grand jury to tell what he knew, and he did. He told the grand jury that he had been at the Manhattan party which ended with Rothstein getting a direct, and fatal, hit from a 44 bullet.

Dodson teamed with Titanic in a golfing tour. He was his business to wrap himself in a wheelchairs, ride around in a wheel chair, and pose as a derelict.

The fact that Dodson had mastered the technique of playing golf while seated in a wheel chair is a fact. Titanic was a member of the Philadelphia Athletic club. He had a "cripple" should have been rolled to the starting line by his caddy and a pro to shoot a gross 85 and a net 70.

This was known to the train as "Paul Bunyan" because of his "post" posture. Leonard became a master at it. So much of a master, in fact, that he actually "put" the wheel Titanic himself. It happened this way:

Leonard knew Thompson would be on his way to Los Angeles before leaving for the West. He called on "Tommy" Thompson, who was in Tallahassee, Fla. one day, Leonard called the manager of the Busy Bee and asked him to weigh all the waitresses in his shop, then call him back and give him the total. The manager, with a promise of a $50 fee, put the girls on the scales.

There were five of them and their total weight was 68 pounds.

When Thompson, Dodson and troupe hit Tallahassee, Dodson decided a bite to eat at the Busy Bee.

"Lovely place," he told Titanic, "and the best food in Florida."

During the meal Dodson managed to bring up the subject of guessing the weights of strangers.

Nampa's Rally Edges Burley In Close Game

BURLEY, Jan. 27 (Special)—South Idaho basketball fans today had seen just about enough of the touring Nampa Bulldogs.

The southeast club came through this territory during the past week and knocked over Mountain Home, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Gooding and Burley on successive nights and looked like possibly the class of the state.

However, they got their severest test here on Saturday night when Coach Fulton Budget's Burley Bulldogs gave them all they could handle for all but two minutes of the game—with the Nampans' sinking the winning shots in the last three minutes of the game to capture a 26-22 contest.

The speedy home club, showing improvement with every game, held a 14-12 lead at the half-time and was still in front 20-19 with only four minutes to play.

Nampa went ahead on the next shot, 21-20, but the Bulldogs made it 22-20 before the Bulldogs moved ahead to stay.

Scoring honors for the evening went to Sites, with 12 counters, followed by Taylor with nine, both of Nampa. Bradshaw topped the home quintet with four.

Preliminary saw the speedy Class B Paul quintet soundly trim the Burley seconds by a score of 38-15.

Joe Platt topped the home quintet with 12 points.

Alf Engen Wins Ski Jumping At Ecker Hill

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 27 (U.P.)—Alf Engen, flying the colors of Idaho's Sun Valley, Sunday won the Class J jumping championship in the annual Ecker hill ski jumping tournament.

Engen picked up 229.9 points for his best jump of 217 and 218 feet far outclass all other competitors.

Elmer Fredro, Utah Ski club was the official second place with jumps of 188 and 173 feet. Gordon Wren of Colorado had jumped 188 and 189 feet but failed to register in time and was ruled out of official competition.

In third place was Ivan Hill, Utah Ski club with jumps of 149 and 158 feet, while Tom Larson, also Utah ski club, was fourth with 123 and 119.

In the seeded Class B section, first place went to Jimmy Howell, Utah Ski club, with two jumps of 116 feet each. Dick Eastmond, Bille Knudsen, Utah ski club, was tops in the unseeded Class B section with jumps of 110 and 98 feet. Jack Reddick, Utah Ski club, took first place in the Class C group with jumps of 109 and 89 feet.

In fact, no sport—has a more colorful character than Dodson.

American Loop Ball Race Opens April 14

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (U.P.)—What may well prove to be the most brutal baseball race in the country, the American League history begins April 14 when the New York Yankees invade the first game of the 1941 season in Philadelphia.

The second time in baseball history the two teams, in a series of annuals, war will be on the field on the same field. In 1918, approximately 30 game a week were played on the schedule because of the World War. This year the selective service act has halted among the ranks of the American League several prominent batters including Bobby Feiler of Cleveland and Hank Greenberg of Detroit.

The Yankees' season prologue will be followed by a full schedule on April 15, the Senators appearing in Boston, the Tigers meeting the Browns at St. Louis, the Chicago White Sox playing the Indians at Cleveland and the Philadelphia Athletics meeting the Yankees at New York.

On April 16, all of the clubs will swing into action for the opening set of inaugurals with the Red Sox appearing in Philadelphia, the Boston Braves at Detroit, the Detroit Tigers at Detroit, and the Washington Senators at Washington.

Washington joins the list of clubs sponsoring night ball as being in 1941 only of aro-light games to 35. Only clubs to frown on the nocturnal version are Detroit, New York and Boston.

There will be a three-day intermission for the all-star game at Detroit on July 6. No games have been scheduled for July 7 and 8. The season will close on Sept. 30.

Slammin' Sammy Sets New Record; Dodson, Watson Win Pair Event

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 27 (U.P.)—Bing Crosby's annual golfing party broke up today, and for the third time in five years the man who took away the biggest chunk of the $3,000 prize money was Slammin' Sammy Snead.

Winner here in 1937 and 1938, the West Valley marksman trimmed eight strokes off for 36 holes around the rolling Rancho Santa Fe course and turned back 120 rival finalists with an aggregate of 136. The score was the best he had posted in three triumphs and it earned him $500.

One stroke behind Ed Olyer, the defending champion, at start of the first round, Snead had a slightly soggy course in 90 to finish one stroke ahead of the perennial also-ran, Craig Wood of Manhattan, N. Y., who had to be content with second at 137.

For Wood, however, the tournament meant another long line of heartbreaks. He came up to the final green with a chance to tie for first but his sudden rain storm broke and Wood's 12-foot putt stopped two inches short of the cup and cut him out of a possible playoff.

The second section of the tournament—the lowball team competition—was captured by Leonard Dodson and Ray Watson, of Kansas City, with a score of 124, lowest ever recorded.

DIETRICH, Jan. 27 (Special)—Dietrich basketball teams scored victories here Saturday night over invading boys' and girls' clubs from Richfield.

The home boys won by a score of 30-23 after trailing 13-9 at the half. However, they knotted the count at 18-18 and then threw on in their own advantage. Sanford led the winning team with 12 points, while Hendry led Richfield with nine. The home girls won their contest 30 to 15 as Ballard scored 16 points. Shookley topped Richfield with eight counters.

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS SCORE VICTORIES

PARTY LINES ARE HELD INTACT ON CLARK MEASURES

BOISE, Jan. 27 (AP)—The first batch of administration bills has passed its tests in the Idaho legislature but tougher scheduling was predicted when the tax and revenue measures come before Gen. state law-makers.

Victories were scored for the administration's program to abolish the state tax commissioner's position and re-allocate his duties to the state auditor, commissioner of finance and the department of law enforcement. The bills, which went through both the House and Senate, were first introduced by Gov. Chase A. Clark to abolish state commissions.

The house approved proposals to eliminate the state liquor commission, the state insurance fund commission and the noxious weed commission.

Follow Party Lines

All the administration bills presented thus far have passed on a strictly party-line basis. Democratic ranks in both house and senate have held solidly on administration measures and the three per cent four Bourbons threatened to bolt when the bill came up to abolish the insurance fund commission. This was the group that organized the state workers' compensation fund, and several members feared inefficiency might result if the new administration created by the new law.

The major problem of the 26th legislative session is to raise $6,000,000 in new state revenue to replace the amount which the government is withholding from the state. The valorem—has not yet been presented. Several tax measures have been discussed by administration legislative leaders but the details of the program had not been completed at the end of the session's third week.

New Tax Proposals

New tax proposals include a two-cent per package tax on cigarettes, a three per cent tax on luxury items, an increase in state beer license tax and a three per cent privilege tax. The latter would be a special levy against property in the state but are organized under the laws of other states.

It was not known definitely yet whether the valorem would be necessary to ask for passage of a law to abolish the real and personal property tax. This was one of the points on which he had been but the tax could be eliminated by other means.

It was pointed out that the valorem would be unnecessary if revenue from excise taxes were increased sufficiently to meet all state expenses. The same reason for the valorem—could be obtained by paring down the cost of state government.

Reason for the valorem tax on real and personal property is to provide the state with a source of revenue from items over and above the amount which can be raised from excise taxes. Therefore, if costs were cut or excise revenues increased, the legislature would not have to consider the valorem as a means of raising revenue.

Governor Clark would then have accomplished his campaign objective without necessitating a legislative battle, the outcome of which could not be predicted.

School Battle

Besides the battle over tax measures, another battle has been fought which was expected to break down party lines completely. It is over the plan to establish the university center at Pocatello as a state university. Biennially, this proposal draws the wrath of north Idaho lawmakers, and they have Democratic and Republican job forces to prevent the move to retain higher educational funds for the benefit of the University of Idaho at Moscow.

This year the sectional battle is expected to follow the same general pattern, with northern and southern legislative strategists jockeying for lead position by whatever means necessary.

Investigation Set on Highway Death

BOISE, Jan. 27 (AP)—State highway officers today investigated an automobile collision on the highway south of here which resulted in the death of Trappe W. Horton, 40, and injury of Mrs. Edith Bracker, 34, of Boise.

Horton, who was driving a light coupe, was believed to have fallen asleep and side-swiped a truck.

Buhl's Mural Drawing Gets 1st Approval

BUHL, Jan. 27 (Special)—Richard Guy Walton, Reno, prominent young artist who will do the mural for the new $75,000 federal postoffice building in Buhl, has received instructions from the section of fine arts in Washington, D. C. (under the head of public buildings administration) to go ahead with the full drawing depicting the early pioneering days of the local which he sketches in pencil and sent the department for approval earlier this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton spent several days, including Christmas, in the west end gathering ideas and local color for the mural. They visited several scenes in the Snake river that are prominent in the minds of pioneers of this section, and gathered important information from the earliest settlers regarding operations of the old river ferry and the stage coach.

Part of Fruit Cargo Damaged

Only a small amount of a six ton cargo of grapefruit was damaged when a large truck left the highway near the Black Bear service station west of Buhl on highway 30 the latter part of last week.

The body and frame of the vehicle was twisted, according to V. K. Barton, state patrolman, who said that the mishap occurred when the operator drove too close to a soft shoulder and slid from the road.

In artillery sponsored recently by the government.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton plan to return to Buhl in May to install the mural above the entrance to Postmaster L. P. Runyon's office, which is the largest space in the front of the building.

Abraham Lincoln was shot on April 14, 1865.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? IDEAS FOR INTERESTING HOBBIES

GOODINO, Jan. 27 (Special)—A unique hobby which is so fittingly her own is being carried on by Miss Williamina Lamb of the state school staff. Miss Lamb collects "lamb's." At the present time 80 miniature models of assorted materials and ranging in size from one-half inch to nearly a foot in height, make up her collection.

A miniature lamb given to Miss Lamb by her mother at Christmas time eight years ago became the nucleus of this interesting hobby. Most of the lambs have been gifts from friends.

Included are lambs of porcelain and of china; lambs of redwood and of bronze; lambs of pipeclay and velvet covered lamb; wooly lambs and even one carved from soap.

Oldest of Ferry Business Houses Ends on Feb. 1st

GLENN'S FERRY, Jan. 27 (Special)—The first day of February will mark the end of Glenna Ferry's oldest business establishment. On that day the stock of the Glenna Ferry Lumber Co. will be combined with that of the Barstow cash grocery to form the Barstow food market. The new business is owned by J. A. Barstow.

The Glenna Ferry Mercantile Co. was started in 1902 by Herman and Sam Jacobson, who purchased the stock of William Stocton. Since that time the store has changed managers and locations many times but has operated continuously under the same name. George Baker has been manager of the firm since July, 1921.

Seven-attended fliers from this section of Idaho—two from Twin Falls and five at Burley—today had successfully passed examinations for pilots' licenses. It was announced by Inspector William T. Lovelace, civil aeronautics authority with headquarters at Boise.

Elmer Hahn, Twin Falls, successfully passed a stiff flight test to receive one of the highest ratings given airmen, the flight instructor's rating.

Elmer John Sommer, also of Twin Falls, passed his flight test under Flight Examiner E. A. Phillips and was given a private pilot's license.

The five Burley students who received private licenses after instruction under Pole Hill, Jr., and E. A. (Glen) Phillips are Ray Thron, Jacobus, DeLo; Talbot B. Hellig, Heyburn; George Duncan Caspar, Vern C. Flynn and Dick Gudmundson, all of Burley.

Inspector Lovelace said that the remainder of the CPT quota at Burley will go up for flight examinations in the near future.

Lovelace also reported that the nine CPT students at Albion State Normal took their written examinations Jan. 18 and all passed successfully. Instructor of the group was George Greenwell.

Dr. Shott Gives Colleagues Use Of Ewe Formula

BOISE, Jan. 27 (Special)—Dr. E. K. Shott, Buhl veterinarian, gave his recently perfected formula for the treatment of lamb sickness, a preliminary diagnosis of ewes, to his fellow practitioners from various sections of the west at a special open meeting held during the International Livestock Sanitary association convention in Salt Lake City.

Because a successful formula should not be kept secret, he has allowed practitioners from various sections of the west at a special open meeting held during the International Livestock Sanitary association convention in Salt Lake City.

Dr. Shott has experimented in an effort to improve the formula for treatment of the strange disease for several years but perfected it only since the recent occurrence of the ailment in west end flocks. A few of the first victims of the disease were brought to his hospital where injections of the formula were transmitted into the jugular vein. Immediate improvement was shown.

The treatment for the disease in west end flocks has to date been particularly successful. In some cases this ailment has depleted a flock as much as 25 per cent. Approximately 95 per cent of the ewes which are carrying twins or triplets.

To the sheepmen both in Idaho and throughout the country the new discovery is believed to be a boon for its saving in life and money to sheep growers.

Dr. Shott has charge of the practical ewe group meetings during the convention in Salt Lake. He left Sunday for Boise to attend the state veterinary convention in Boise today and Tuesday. He will give the formula to the men at this meeting who are believed to attend the convention in Salt Lake.
