HITLER SAYS NAZIS WILL TORPEDO ALL U. S. HELP TO GREAT BRITAIN

Foreign Affairs Committee Approves British Aid Bill

MEASURE PASSES BY 17-8 BALLOT TO END DEBATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (UP)—The house foreign affairs committee today approved the administration's momentous British aid bill with minor amendments and ordered it reported to the chamber for debate, possibly starting next Monday.

The vote was reported to be 17 to 8.

Committee approval of the measure came 20 days after the bill was introduced in congress and a few hours after German Chancellor Adolf Hitler had warned that American supplies for Britain would be "torpedoed."

Most members of the committee were working on the measure in closed session at the time of this speech and were unaware of his words.

Pending comment on his threat, the President's speech, in his message to congress asking for adoption of the British aid measure, he said that the United States would not be deterred by German or Italian threats.

It also was pointed out that under present neutrality regulations American ships are forbidden to carry supplies to Britain, and that they must be carried there by British or other neutral nations allied with Britain.

Mr. Clegg said that the bill is "neutral and impartial" and "neutral in spirit" and "neutral in effect."

The bill, as finally approved by the committee, gives authority for the U. S. navy to be used to convey supplies to Britain, but neither does it interfere with power of the President which has to control use of the navy in his capacity as commander-in-chief.

The President has made no direct public statement on the convey matter. He has been represented by White House sources as opposing conveyance on the grounds that there are convoys there is likely to be shooting, and then the nation would be in the midst of a war.

Amendment rejected.

Hitler's speech today declared there would be shooting—with torpedoes.

Prior to approving the measure, the house committee today rejected an amendment by Rep. Hamilton Fish-R. N. Y. which would have restricted spending for British aid to $2,000,000.

President Imposes "Business as Usual" Rule at Celebration of 59th Birthday

By RONALD G. VAN TINE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (UP)—President Roosevelt celebrates his 59th birthday today under a self-imposed rule of "business as usual."

Tonight, he will broadcast a five-minute "thank you" message to the nation for making his birthday the occasion for contributions to the annual drive for funds to combat infantile paralysis.

Hollywood stars and celebrities from sports, opera, and the stage continued to flock into the capital for the round of birthday balls that will celebrate Mr. Roosevelt's birthday and further the drive against paralysis.

Although the list included such notable names as Deanna Durbin, Wallace Beery, Lana Turner, George Raft, Tommy Harmon, and Lauris Melchior, a modern Cinderella girl—Ann Skeltonich, Gary W. Z. high school girl who turns 14 today—will share the spotlight.

From a Washington coal-mining town and a night in the women's bureau of the Washington police department, to the White House and tonight as a special guest of the President's birthday balls—that was Ann's busy day.

Ann's visit resulted from her decision to send Mr. Roosevelt greetings on his birthday anniversary, but before the President's letter came she had been invited to attend the ball.

News of her plight reached Allen and he promptly invited her to attend the ball celebrations as his special guest.

Mr. Roosevelt also heard about Ann and sent word that he wished to see her. She called at the White House yesterday.

Ann's visit resulted from her decision to send Mr. Roosevelt greetings on his birthday anniversary, but before the President's letter came she had been invited to attend the ball.

President Roosevelt beams as A. F. of L. Gives Him Cake

Seemingly very happy about the whole thing, President Roosevelt is shown as he received a birthday cake from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. The cake was dedicated by the A. F. of L. on the celebration today.

ACTION WITHHELD ON PLAN TO END WELFARE BOARD

By LLOYD TUFING
BOISE, Jan. 30 (UP)—The Idaho legislature today worked through a cull calendar of minor bills after debate on a measure to abolish the state welfare board was averted by postponing action until Monday.

Seven new bills were introduced in the house of representatives and two measures were approved during the forenoon session.

The senate sent to Gov. Chase A. F. 12 a house bill which would make federal and state employers liable for income tax payments.

Consideration of the governor's bill on the subject of the welfare board was delayed after federal officers rejected proposed amendments which would have made Clark executive committee of public welfare. Rep. Arthur Peck, D., Bankwood, was advised of the federal government's position on the withdrawal of $400,000 in federal relief funds was threatened if the bill passed in its present version.

Another bill setting the time for school sessions for 1 to 8 in and prohibiting records of annual school district meetings was approved by the house.

Rep. William J. Detweiler, R., Jerome, introduced a bill which would make state public utility commissions elective instead of appointive. According to the bill, the board would be elected from the state at large.

Three at Next Election

At the 1941 general election, however, three members would be elected for four, and one for six. One member would be elected in 1942, and the other two members would be elected every two years as the terms expired.

Other bills introduced provided for the same purpose by the department of weights and measures of fuel storage tanks; provide police pension fund created by contributions from the state; regulate and license itinerant merchants; provide fees for services to be rendered by the department in making out records pertaining to motor vehicles; provide for regulation of auto dealers and other auto dealers; provide for the department of books and accounts of cities of government requiring publication.

BUILDING TOTALS QUADRUPLE HERE

Building operations in Twin Falls during January of this year were nearly four and one-half times greater than during the same month of 1940, according to figures released this afternoon by W. H. Edinger, city clerk.

Construction completed or started during January of this year totaled $75,478 against the figure of $17,187 which was checked up for the same month of 1940.

Fuehrer's Threat Lashes American Assistance Plans

By FREDERICK C. OECHEMER
BERLIN, Jan. 30 (UP)—Adolf Hitler said today American help for Britain "will be torpedoed."

Hitler, speaking to a cheering throng of 20,000 in the Berlin sports palace, declared "Germany from the start has taken into calculation possibility of American aid to Britain."

"Whoever believes they will be able to help England," he said, "must know that in any case every ship with or without convoy that comes to their help will be torpedoed."

"When the hour comes," Hitler declared, "we will strike decisively and the gentlemen (of Britain) will learn this year as an historical fact that we have used our time well."

"What do they hope for? For foreign help from America?" "I can only say," Hitler declared, "that we have from the beginning included every possibility in our calculation."

He said the German people had no issue against the American people.

"Everybody knows this who does not wish to falsify facts," he said. "Germany has never been against American interests. It has fought with them for the liberty of the continent."

He promised Germany would spring great surprises upon its enemies and that Germany had fully armed—to an extent which even the people of Germany do not realize.

"We are in a war which we did not want," he declared. "Our opponents will have their 'blue wonder' (colloquial German for 'big surprise')."

"Victory," Hitler said as the masses in the sports palace cheered, "is at the end of our road."

"It can assure you every possibility that can be thought of has been weighed here and accounted for," he said.

"I have armed, and armed, and armed."

"This time they face not a fatigued Germany but one ready to fight. If there are other hopes I can only say I did not understand you."

ERRORS

BERLIN, Jan. 30 (UP)—Adolf Hitler in his speech today said he had made 724 mistakes.

"I do not speak of my mistakes," he said. "Who does not make mistakes? Some Englishmen in the paper today have calculated that I made seven mistakes. He is wrong. I calculated I made 724 mistakes, but I also figure my opponents made 4,000,000. I have figured, probably that if I make the same number of mistakes this year as last year, I will have lost. You know that I made only seven. And when my opponents make the same number I shall be satisfied."

Clark Orders All State Offices in Capitol Building

BOISE, Jan. 30 (UP)—Gov. Chase A. Clark announced today he had ordered heads of state departments which are operating offices outside the statehouse to prepare to take available office space in the capitol building.

Clark said the state was paying $300,000 per year in rent for state offices, with perhaps 4,000,000 men intended to eliminate all rental of office space.

Hitler Faces Defeat for 1st Time in 8 Years, Says Expert

By J. W. T. MASON
By the New York Express

On this eighth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's seizure of power in Germany, the fuhrer is facing his first real possibility of defeat. He is engaged in a hopeless battle in north Africa, while German troops cannot cross the Mediterranean to give battle. Not even his German planes are flying in Libya to challenge the British advance. The fuhrer can find no satisfactory explanation for the German people for their immobilization in the east, while Moscow's army is crumbling.

State Rests at Patricia Trial; Defense Blames Youth in Asylum

SHOSHONE, Jan. 30 (Special)—Charles C. Shaw, prosecutor for Lincoln county, this morning rested the state's case against three youths charged with patricide, and the defense attorney, Paul Hudlock, told members of the jury that he would prove that a fourth person, adjudged insane and now at the Blackfoot asylum, had plotted the desert torture slaying last summer.

The three on trial here are charged with murdering their father, Charles Sanders, by taking him into a remote desert section of this county, binding him with a rope, and then rolling him into a dry wash where he died three or four days later from exposure and thirst.

The defendants are Mrs. Flossie Phillips, 37, George, 17, and Joseph Sanders, 20, her two brothers. Her husband, Chester Phillips, 20, is in the asylum. He was adjudged insane in 1940, but was not listed on the information filed in district court here.

By United Press

Strikes held up production at six industrial plants and defense projects today as workers attempted to enforce demands for higher wages and union recognition.

The strikers, 15,000 workmen participating in the walkouts represented only a small proportion of the nation's more than 40,000,000 employed, however, and industrial production maintained a record pace.

British Take Derna; Open Western Drive

CAIRO, Jan. 30 (UP)—British general headquarters reported today the capture of Derna was completed this morning.

The capture of Derna, 150 miles west of Tobruk which was taken with 25,000 prisoners by the British last week at Benghazi was the only major port in eastern Libya still in the hands of the Italians. British troops already are well on their way to the attack of Benghazi, beyond which the Italian force only desert between Cyrenaica and Tripolitania.

The communiqué said in Eritrea the concentration of British forces in the Agordat-Barents sector was proceeding rapidly. It was said that a British intensive patrolling continues east of Matemma.

Early Attack Expected

The new British objective, Benghazi, will be attacked as soon as possible, it was believed. Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, British middle east commander-in-chief, was reported yesterday as saying a capture of Benghazi before German dive bombers could support Italians in Libya.

CASSIA BREEDERS NAME DIRECTORS

BURLEY, Jan. 30 (Special).—Approximately 50 directors attended the joint annual meeting of the Burley-Declo Holstein Bull association and Cassia Holstein Breeders' association at Burley Jan. 24, when three new directors were elected to the bull association.

The bull association meeting convened in the morning at 10:30 until noon, and following lunch, the Holstein breeders' association meeting was held.

Directors elected for the bull association were Hyrum Martin, block 4, Wolfe, block 2, and L. A. Gillett, block 6. The accounts of the association, which is now functioning in its 12th year with eight Holstein bulls, showed the organization to be in good financial standing. Ivan H. Loughran, extension district, advised members to hold tightly to their association even though a bull stud organization may be established in the future.

Pres. Charles H. Hager, Rupert, was chairman of the afternoon. Discussion involved various state and national matters, and the attendance passed three resolutions pertaining to state matters which were sent to state representatives and the governor.

"The dairymen passed one resolution calling for $50,000 appropriation for the next biennium to control Bang's disease. For the past biennium $40,000 was appropriated, but insufficient to carry the program throughout the two years.

The group also passed a resolution supporting the creation of state funds to build a new dairy building to house laboratories, dairy offices and dairy manufacturing work at the University of Idaho.

Also the group went on record as wanting the immediate appointment of a deputy state veterinarian for Cassia county. Such office was nullified for Cassia county, and daily there is need for a deputy in connection with inspection and investigational work.

Breed Improvements
M. B. Nichols, western representative of the Holstein-Friesian association, addressed the meeting on improvement of the breed, involving requirements for registration and a large amount of pictures of leading Holstein dairy herds in the western United States.

Boise Newspapermen Assert Reinke Common Sense Solon

Rep. H. Chris Reinke, Twin Falls, is a lawmaker who personifies common sense—that's the evaluation accorded the local rancher-solon by a Boise newspaper in its series of articles regarding legislators.

Here's what the Idaho Statesman has to say about Reinke:

"Any member of the legislature who becomes started with his own importance should sit down and have a little talk with H. Chris Reinke, the very large gentleman from Twin Falls. Reinke is, by a comfortable majority of pounds and inches, the largest man in the lower house. His estimate of the legislature is so frank and refreshing it contrasts to a large extent with public opinion.

"Most of us," he said recently in a talk on an administration bill which he opposed, "are just average farmers. And the rest of us are small town staff. We are not politicians. We are part of the people."

Being a representative of the people, he admits, is something of a job, but the frills and pomp should be put away after the inaugural. It's business from then on. The title of representative or senator, he believes, does not transform a beef farmer suddenly into a

LEGISLATIVE ACTION COMPLETED ON LIQUOR BOARD BILL

SOLONS APPROVE COMMISSION END BY 21-19 BALLOT

BOISE, Jan. 30 (AP)—Legislative action was completed late yesterday on Gov. Chase A. Clark's second proposal to abolish state boards—a bill eliminating the Idaho liquor commission and placing direction of the state's liquor monopoly under supervision of a manager.

The bill passed the senate on a straight party vote. The count was 21 to 19 with six votes paired.

Opponents opposed the measure on the grounds that the superintendent provided for in the bill would have complete power to set wages and hire employees. Former personnel problems were referred to the state liquor board.

The senate passed a second house bill later in the day. The measure, which was approved without opposition, would make state and general employees and officials liable for state income taxes.

Meanwhile, in the house the battle between Gov. Clark and federal social security board officials over a bill to abolish the state public welfare board continued. Gov. Clark said he would not give in to "dictatorial" demands of the federal government which had, he said, threatened to cut off $400,000 in relief funds if the board was abolished without revision.

The battle was expected to end tomorrow when the bill comes to the house floor for consideration.

Object to Clause

Social security board members objected to clause of the bill which would give Clark full control of the Idaho relief program. They asked for amendments providing a full-time commissioner of welfare and additional explanation of the duties of the directors of public assistance, public health and charitable institutions.

Rep. F. M. Bastine, speaker of the house, indicated today he would leave in committee a bill to set up the University of Idaho branch at Pocatello as a free-fledged university until "the time was ripe" for its passage. It was believed the bill would come up for consideration some time next week.

Handicaps Don't Bother St. Edward's School Hot Lunch Program

All Twin Falls schools now have hot lunch programs—but the project at St. Edward's parochial school operates under handicaps that make it different from the others. Lacking any space at the building to prepare the lunches, the St. Edward's Parent-Teacher association is forced to cook the food at the home of its hot lunch chairman, Mrs. Harley Gambrel, and then carry the food to the school. Above, left, four parochial students carry the cooked food into the school. Student 'Boycott' Crowd Scattered Twice by Police at Ice Cream Shop

Local police—not once, but twice—scattered a crowd of students at an ice cream and food store last night to quell a student demonstration which threatened to assume riot proportions as an estimated 150 youths, both boys and girls, gathered in front of the establishment in downtown Twin Falls following the basketball game.

Lee McCracken, acting chief of police, said this afternoon the demonstration probably was made in an attempt to get other students to boycott the place. The asserted boycott is said to have taken place after Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sibley, owners, had asked several young persons to leave earlier in the week because they started a noisy "jam" session in the rear of the soft drink place.

The officers were called to the scene the first time about 30 minutes after the game ended. They succeeded in breaking up the mob, and then returned to their beats. Later, however, the crowd gathered again and officers were forced to make a return visit.

The estimated 150 students gathered directly in front of the store entrance, refusing to allow anyone to enter. Chief McCracken today said that such action leads to mob violence and that the chances "are good in such cases that somebody is going to get hurt." There was danger, he said, that some of the students would be pushed through the plate glass windows of the store.

Carried Signs

Some students carried signs declaring the Peter Pan was "unfair." Others painted signs on the pavement.

McCracken today warned students that such demonstrations in the future would not be tolerated and asked cooperation of parents to prevent upon their children to cease such practice. He pointed out the demonstration last night was participated in by students from grade schools as well as the junior and senior high schools.

The final demonstration was broken up by the police in a peaceful manner shortly after 11 p. m.

WILLKIE DISREGARDS AIR RAID ALARM; VISITS PUB

GOP CHIEF STILL UNCERTAIN ABOUT DATE OF RETURN

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie finished off repeated air raid alarms in the London area today and strode down quiet Shepherd's market in London, Greenwich village—and had a gay time in a saloon buying beer for soldiers while German planes droned high overhead.

Willkie played darts with a construction laborer, drew his own beer and talked with a pretty bar maid as German planes resumed repeated alarms against the British Isles.

He was unconcerned when he entered a pub ordered a pint of beer. But soon he made himself known with the offer: "Have one on me, boys." A group of soldiers en route to home leave immediately gathered around the visiting American.

Glasses filled with foaming glass bought by Willkie, were raised with cries of "best wishes to you, sir" to you, ladies," Willkie responded.

On invitation of the proprietor, Willkie went behind the bar and drew himself a glass.

"This is where we get one on the house," he laughed. The proprietor, Harry Phillips, said:

"You want... How much do you want per week?"

Willkie and the pub keeper exchanged a look and the latter pointed to a sign on the wall which read: "I have not finally decided when to go back home." Willkie told him he was a newspaper man. "It will probably be next Thursday. I have certain things to do back in the States."

Willkie was characterized in newspapers today as a tough guy who almost wept during his first contact with the air raid shelter crowds.

With a gas mask swinging from his shoulder and a white tin helmet around his neck, Willkie sat on a warden sitting on top of his head, while Willkie spent almost three hours in the shelter during an air raid alarm.

He saw thousands of homeless and impoverished men, women, children and babies, some of whom in the only habit they had known since the aerial blitzkrieg started.

He stands with hundreds of them, asked them what they thought of the war, and was made distraught by some of their responses.

"It is a terrible experience. Several times I honestly felt I could hardly keep from crying."

Demaret, Snead Top Entries in Arizona Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 30 (U.P.)—Defending champion Jimmy Demaret and 1939-driving Sam Snead today topped a list of the nation's leading golfers scheduled to take part in the 72-hole $5,000 western open.

The first major tourney for the touring professionals on their eastward swing after a month of competition on the Pacific coast begins tomorrow.

Two dampened par 71 courses proved no hazard to Demaret and Snead, who established themselves as co-favorites for the western yesterday by turning in the best individual scores in the pro-amateur best ball tournament at the Phoenix country club. Demaret carded 63 and Snead a 65.
