Witness Charges Aid Bill Supporters Would Put U. S. in War

University President Asks Full Rejection Of Present Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (U.P.)—Dr. Alan Valentine, Rochester university president, charged today that supporters of the pending British aid bill actually would have the United States go to war.

Testifying before the senate foreign relations committee, Valentine asked complete rejection of the present bill and proposed a substitute which would:

- 1. Further implement and speed national defense while ensuring the continuance of the American tradition of government and the American way of life.
2. Give financial and material assistance to Great Britain, provided such aid in each instance formally approved by congress, thus preserving the right of the people through congress to determine whether or not the United States is to go to war in Europe.

Death an 'Accident'

Valentine expressed hope that "if this war can be won by anyone, it will be won by the forces opposing Germany." He added this "does not mean I think it is the paramount national interest of this country to go to war in Europe."

Asked Rejection "I believe the defense of America and of the American way of life demands the rejection of the bill as it now stands," he said.

Those who support this bill have done their utmost, by every form of propaganda, to convince you that the American people that are watching the American legislative process are to be misled by the British, they have tried to mislead you, they have tried to mislead you, they have tried to mislead you.

C. of C. OPPOSES BRITISH AID BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (U.P.)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States today opposed the all-out British aid bill on grounds that it would give congress a check which army, navy and air force to foreign powers without advising congress and might be able to seize private property for delivery to foreign governments.

Sen. Wheeler "Honored" by Regular Mention From FDR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (U.P.)—An offer by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., to match his participation against that of President Roosevelt's "closest advisers" was the latest development in their feud over the British-aid bill.

ROYAL AIR FORCE BLASTS INVASION BASES IN FRANCE

By HARRISON SALISBURY United Press Staff Correspondent The royal air force today made a great daylight sweep of the French invasion coast while cities located in France, the Balkans and the far east.

The RAF attack upon the French channel coast followed a smashing night raid by British planes as deep into Germany as Dusseldorf.

The daylight attack was made by bombers operating with a cloud of fighters to protect them against German interceptors. Bombers of the Dover coast heard heavy explosions from vicinity of Calais and saw clouds of smoke roll over a channel.

An unofficial report said the Germans lost three planes in an attempted attack on a British convoy off the southeast coast. Another German bomber crashed on the far southwestern tip of the Iberian peninsula.

The British in east Africa were reported by Jan Yindrich, United Press staff correspondent, with the column public across the Sahara.

At home the British were troubled by reports from Scotland that the "Scottish" was being used for spreading, drastic measures were being invoked to curb the "Scottish" movement.

The German high command admitted damage was suffered at the present bill would not only give congress a check which army, navy and air force to foreign powers without advising congress and might be able to seize private property for delivery to foreign governments.

Need Naval Defeat "If a negotiated peace is ruled out, the only alternative is a German defeat. It is almost impossible to see how a negotiated peace could be achieved only by an invasion of the continent.

Power of Approval The chamber feels, he said, that instead of the pending measure congress should draft legislation which would give congress a check which army, navy and air force to foreign powers without advising congress and might be able to seize private property for delivery to foreign governments.

Bill Not Clear Krepper said the administration bill is not clear, "but it is fairly certain that the president can sign it regardless of law, since the private property of a military character, or the private property of any individual firm or corporation, regardless of the wishes and welfare of the owner, regardless of the knowledge of the congress, and regardless of the views of our own military experts, and turn such property over to unnamed countries."

of the extent of American aircraft aid to Britain, provided the president has the authority to do so.

"Well," Wheeler said later, "you can say I've been highly honored that the president should mention my name in his press conference, but I don't think I've been honored by the president's mention of my name in his press conference."

Mr. Roosevelt said a press conference yesterday Wheeler's charge that Britain received five-tenths of American war plane production in 1940 was a false statement.

The president apparently means Hitler would welcome disclosure of the extent of American aircraft aid to Britain, provided the president has the authority to do so.

U. S. FILES CRIMINAL ANTI-TRUST SUIT AGAINST ASCAP

GROUP CHARGED WITH DEPRIVING PUBLIC OF MUSIC

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 5 (UP)—The government filed a criminal anti-trust suit in the federal district court today charging the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers with an unlawful conspiracy that deprived the radio public of its music.

Broadcast Music, Inc. ASCAP's rival in the current music war, had negotiated an agreement with the government to desist from practices the government considered anti-trust law violations. As a result, the government dropped a suit against BMI, the National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting system.

"Deprived Radio Public" The government charged ASCAP and its members—including some of the most famous names in Tin Pan Alley—conspired to withdraw on Jan. 1 the right to broadcast music that deprived the radio public of approximately 688 radio stations which had not renewed their licenses for ASCAP music. The government asserted that "deprived the radio public of the privilege of hearing and enjoying" ASCAP music.

The government also alleged the defendants conspired to control use of its music in radio broadcasting, sheet music, motion pictures and electrical transmissions in violation of the antitrust statutes.

"Broadcasting stations affiliated with radio networks have had to accept a license from defendant society upon any terms and conditions imposed by defendant society, or subject themselves to numerous infringement suits in which they would be compelled to pay not less than $250 each for copyright infringement," the complaint stated.

"The government asserted that ASCAP music is a non-ASCAP music. A radio station or other music user, the government said, naturally would want to incur additional license fees for the right to play non-ASCAP music when it was paying a blanket license fee for the entire ASCAP repertoire.

Trustee Unit Favors State Equalization

Organization of the South Central Idaho District Trustees' association had been completed here today and members had urged that the state meet its share of expense under the equalization law.

As announced in yesterday's Evening Times, new officers are B. Noel Bailey, Filer, president; C. A. Hawley, Jerome, vice-president; and J. L. Ruch, Rupert, secretary-treasurer. Sessions, both in the morning and afternoon, were held at the Idaho Power company auditorium.

The resolution regarding the equalization law, sent to house and senate educational meeting heads, follows:

"Be it resolved that the legislature of the state of Idaho do everything within its power to provide necessary funds to complete the state's share of the equalization law."

Drafting of a constitution and by-laws of the new organization will take place at a session which has been called for Tuesday, Feb. 25 at Burley.

Although members yesterday did not take any record of the action, general discussion indicated that they were in favor of the establishment of a four-year school at Pocatello where the two-year University of Idaho, southern branch, is now located.

96 MEASURES INTRODUCED INTO IDAHO LEGISLATURE

FIGHT BREWS ON TEACHER PENSION FUNDS PROPOSAL

BOISE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Sessions of the Idaho legislature yesterday brought forth 96 new measures, among them bills to revise the state's legislative process and establish pension funds for school teachers.

The flood of new legislation was the result of a series of preliminary introductions by individual members after the 30th legislative day.

Sen. R. G. Bailey, No. 10, introduced a series of joint resolutions which would amend the constitution and permit revision of meetings of the legislature. Under Bailey's plan, the legislature would meet at split sessions. The first 30 days would be devoted to introduction of bills, resolutions and memorials.

Recall of 30 Days

The members would then recess for 30 days during which they would study the bills and the attorney general would determine the report on constitutionality of pending measures. After the vacation, legislators would reconvene for 30 days to consider and act upon the legislation. No other bills could be introduced after the 30th legislative day, unless the governor, president of the senate and speaker of the house declared an emergency to exist.

The north Idaho senator's proposal would also increase legislators' pay from $5 per day to $7.50. Both house and senate would have to approve the changes before they could be introduced.

Sen. Scott Hall, R., Onida, introduced a companion resolution to make the office of state auditor an appointive position, and to designate the auditor as chief accounting officer of the state and secretary of the board of examiners. The auditor, now elective, would be appointed by the governor with approval of the senate.

Pension Bill

The controversial teachers' pension bill was introduced by the state senate committee. It would provide pensions for all teachers after they reach the age of 50, and for disabled teachers who had served at least five years.

An appropriation of about $700,000 was asked to set up the fund. The rate by which teachers would contribute to the fund would be determined later after a survey.

Loan Shark

Saturday house of representatives approved the so-called loan shark bill which would prohibit an interest rate of more than three per cent on loans of $300 or less.

The vote was 51 to 7 with six paired.

The bill would force loan agencies to secure a license, at a cost of $100 annually, from the state and would place them under supervision of the state commissioner of finance.

In addition to the three per cent maximum interest rate, the companies could assess a service charge of not more than $1 per loan. All agencies could not carry more than one contract with a person at a time.

IOWA LEADS IN FARM VALUATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The census bureau today reported Iowa led all states in the 1940 census in the value of farm lands and buildings with a total of $2,000,744,215.

The bureau noted a reduction of 3.1 per cent in the number of farms during the past decade. There was an increase of 75 per cent in total farm acreages, indicating an increase in the average size of farms.

The total valuation of farms—both land and buildings—was well below the 1930 figure. The valuation was reported at $3,444,263,274 in 1940 and $47,879,838,358 in 1930.

Farmer Injured By Feed Grinder

Favors War Against Nazis

(NEA Telephone)

James W. Gerard, former United States ambassador to Germany, favors a declaration of war against Germany but "sees no necessity for it" he told the senate foreign relations committee testifying in favor of the British lend-lease bill. He said America had committed enough unneutral acts to justify a declaration of war by the Nazis.

Sabotage Blamed for Explosion of Engine

DENVER, Feb. 5 (AP)—Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad officials suspected today that a giant locomotive, which exploded and injured 25 persons, was sabotaged.

While it is too early to announce any definite conclusions, it appears the accident may have been caused by sabotage or low water pressure, Judge Wilson McCarthy, trustee of the railroad, said.

He would not elaborate on his suspicion that other officials discounted the low water theory.

"The locomotive had plenty of water," William H. Baggett, chief mechanical officer, said. "It took on water at Pueblo and Colorado Springs 133 miles from Denver." The tank was half full.

George E. Hall, 40, a hostler helper who was at the controls, bringing the locomotive to the shops when it exploded, said, "The instruments showed everything in order" less than two blocks from the scene of the accident.

Judge McCarthy said the explosion was being "thoroughly" investigated by railroad and interstate commerce commission agents.

The $100,000 locomotive, weighing

400,000 pounds, exploded yesterday morning during the rush hour in a factory district. Windows were shattered, automobiles waiting for it to pass were wrecked, and the joint scalded from them. Most of the injured were motorists, or pedestrians. They were peppered by flying fragments of steel and hot cinders.

The locomotive was pulling another engine and five empty coaches.

GOODING

Strike, Boise, general manager of the Idaho Power company give a talk on the power company's plants, lines and production possibilities. His talk was illustrated with charts and pictures. Other visitors were Ralph Carpenter, Twin Falls; Ferguson Briggs, Pocatello; El Bryan, Boise, and William Bryan, Gooding.

BOREALIS GLOWS AT LABORATORY

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Science can produce in the laboratory an Aurora Borealis just as satisfying and as good for all practical purposes as those produced by nature in the Arctic regions, the University of California has announced.

The first home-made Aurora Borealis, produced here, was the work of Dr. Joseph Kaplan, professor of physics and Dr. Sidney Rubens, research associate.

Their first great problem to solve, they explained, was that of producing both the nitrogen and oxygen lines of the upper atmosphere, where an Aurora Borealis loves above all places to display itself, on a single plate. Heretofore, only one or the other had been reproduced singly, but never before to give a complete picture of the spectrum of a real Aurora Borealis.

Low Pressure Area

The part of the upper atmosphere in which the Aurora Borealis, or "Northern Lights," occurs, Dr. Kaplan explained, lies from 40 to 600 miles above the earth. This is a low pressure atmosphere, illuminated by the sun.

The Aurora Borealis is produced in the laboratory, he said, by filling quartz tubes with oxygen and nitrogen gas (the chief components of the upper atmosphere) and then running an electrical discharge through them. The afterglow constitutes a miniature Aurora Borealis and is measured by a spectroscopic which produces the necessary characteristic lines on a photographic plate.

Dr. Kaplan has been investigating the upper atmosphere for the past 15 years. While working as a National Research Fellow at Princeton university in 1925, he first reproduced the green oxygen line which is found in the Aurora Borealis, and in 1935 announced an improvement of the technique after several years of experimentation on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

New Vista Opened

"Now we have a starting point," Dr. Kaplan declared, "for really understanding what goes on in the upper atmosphere and it is hoped that many problems of the upper air can now be investigated."

Practical application of Dr. Kaplan's work is three-fold:

Knowledge of the upper atmosphere may help solve radio transmission problems.

Knowledge of radiation from the sun—which some scientists think may become an important source of power.

Study of the atmosphere may help astronomers understand better the atmosphere surrounding distant stars.

LINDY PRAISED FOR GIVING HIS ACTUAL OPINION

Editor, Evening Times:

In commenting on the testimony of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh before the house foreign affairs committee (I assume that is what he particularly refers to), I believe Mr. R. T. Henage of Jerome, Ida., is doing the colonel an injustice. Anyone who is called (or perhaps subpoenaed) to appear before an investigating committee composed of legally elected legislators is expected to give the best kind of answer he can, to every question asked of him, regardless of the nature of the question or questions.

In other words, a witness is supposed to speak his convictions, speak the truth as he knows it, not say what someone else wants him to say. If a witness says anything but the truth, others have good reason to consider him dishonest, perhaps even cowardly. If he speaks the truth as he sees it, he shows courage, wisdom, good judgment, even though his testimony is not exactly what others think it should have been.

Mr. Henage believes in democracy, and I believe he certainly does, then he should readily concede that speaking one's honest and firm conviction before a public hearing committee is a very important element of democracy.

Sincerely yours,

JOE SCHORZMAN,
Paul, Feb. 1.

Miller Urges Clarifying Of Teachers' Contracts

BOISE, Feb. 5 (UPI)—Attorney General Bert H. Miller today had a meeting with representatives of proposed teachers' contracts for Twin Falls county independent school district No. 1.

Miller, in an opinion delivered to State Superintendent C. E. Roberts, said provisions regarding forfeiture of teachers' contracts should appear to be sufficiently certain.

He said no specific provisions for forfeiture of payments nor definition of rate of pay were included in the contracts. He suggested that teachers be "paid—if removed for cause or as a result of resignation only that portion of the annual salary which the number of days taught bears to the total number of school days and shall forfeit all other payments as liquidated damages and not as a penalty."

He also questioned a clause which would permit the state board of education to remove teachers on grounds they failed to carry out or fulfill their contracts. There was no statutory basis for such removal, he said, since the board can only revoke a teaching certificate for cause or as a result of resignation. He said ordinary legal remedies for breach of contract are available and penalty for breaking the contract should not be so severe as to call for revocation of a professional certificate.

LANDIS RULING BRINGS BLAST FROM OWNERS

National League Season Set to Open April 15th

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (UP)—Evidence of distinct opposition to baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis' latest ruling, affecting major-minor league relations involving the option of players, gathered force on all sides today.

Under the new restriction, an official "secret" under the National League 1941 schedule meeting began yesterday, a minor league club from a major league outfit cannot be optioned back to the minors unless waivers are obtained from all the other big league clubs.

Formerly the major league system was subject to the option to abolish in interests of young players, was to purchase a rookie from the minors, inspect his playing potentialities and if it were believed the newcomer needed more seasoning, return him to the minors on option as many as three times.

Discourages Gamble
President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals believed the new rule would discourage heavy major league investments in expensive minor league players because few big league clubs could afford to gamble $25,000 or so on a likely-looking player and, if it were necessary to return him to the minors, losing the rookie to another big league club for the $7,500 waiver price.

Advises from the upsurge occasioned by the new ruling, the 1941 game schedule was rattled and the National League will reach its season Tuesday, April 15, when St. Louis invades Cincinnati, New York's Giants play at Brooklyn, Philadelphia opens at Chicago and Boston goes to Philadelphia.

Seven Night Games Each
Six clubs have scheduled seven night games each, namely Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and St. Louis. Only Boston and Chicago have not installed lights but will play night games on the rotation.

All-star game is scheduled for Detroit July 8 with a one-day recess before and after the classic. The game will be held at the Polo Grounds in New York. The game will be a 15-inning game with the winner to play exhibition games this year with military camp teams adjacent to home cities.

Kimberly closed the margin to two points in the last 30 seconds of play, but a late basket by Hansen tied the game and he clinched the contest for the Hunky quintet. Scoring honors went to Murray in 12 points, while Hull topped Hansen with 12. The preliminary tip found the home club on the long end 22-14 score, Robinson and Farnsworth each got six points for Hansen, while Hansen and Fiddinson each got three for Kimberly.

Chicago Cubs Reject 'Feeler' On Tie-up Here

About the only thing the Twin Falls Cowboys had definite odds in the line of a tie-up was that they would get to get one with the Chicago Cubs.

Manager Andy Harrington, who has been corresponding with several of the big league owners had responses to an inquiry as to the possibilities—and the short-and-to-the-point answer was that they were unlikely that the Cubs would be interested in participating in the Pioneer league, although they at one time had offered some assurance to the Denver entry if that club was accepted in the loop.

In the meantime, President Frank Magel announces that R. C. (Torchy) Torrance, vice-president of the Seattle Rainiers, will be in a near future to consider a tie-up with the Cowboys. Hiring of Bill Sliff yesterday as manager of the Seattle club, and uncertainties there caused by the death of Jack Leirik and it is probable that some sort of an agreement will be made with the Rainiers at the session here.

Yesterday saw the Cowboy bosses get into a whirlwind of activity that included discussion of the local city council regarding the lease on Jayce park. The owners also discussed the concrete overbase to be laid with Owen Watson of Boise, but still no announcement has been made of an agreement being signed. However, Watson is reported slated to take over the concession.

It was announced that Business Manager Carl Anderson and President Frank Magel will attend the league session at Ogden on Sunday.

With Layden himself sitting in, Notre Dame's faculty board meets Friday to consider an almost endless list of men who had their first important football schooling under the late Knute Rockne.

Mac Finds Coast Candidates for Notre Dame Post on Every Corner

By HENRY McLEMORE
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5 (UP)—Not since Edward quit the throne of England has an abdication created as much comment and speculation as the resignation of Eamon Laidy as head football coach of Notre Dame.

This town is some 2,000 miles from South Bend, but Laidy's decision to leave the fighting Irish for a job as czar of professional football was on all the front pages and everyone's lips. Never was there better proof that Notre Dame, insofar as football is concerned, belongs to the American public.

Notre Dame has its subway alumni in New York, its horse-and-buggy old grads in the south, its cowboy rooters in the west, and its cracker barrel supporters in New England. These strictly home-grown alumni never saw the golden dome at South Bend, but they'll polish off the dome of any dissenter who doesn't play the Irish first in football.

Notre Dame athletic officials might just as well abandon any idea they might have of naming a successor to Laidy who will please all of the self-appointed graduates. I have only a list of 15 or 20 of them since Laidy quit, and yet have heard half a dozen suggestions. The Blue Shaw brigade will ask you to step out on the sidewalk and settle if you don't agree the Santa Clara coach is the only man for the job. The Jimmy Phelan phalanx starts rolling up its collective sleeves when anyone mentions a man other than the Washington coach, and the Slip Madigan, Marchy Schwartz and Marty Brill marching clubs are just as determined.

This debate is going on out here in regard to western coaches, who when anyone mentions are still going for the job, so it must be going on all over the country. In the Midwest there are probably forming Eddie Anderson's clubs, Gus Dorais groups, and Harry Stuhldreher clubs. Down south you can bet that Tom Lieb, Harry Mehr, and Frank Thomas have their backers, and that in the east Frank Layden and Jimmy Crowley are not without supporters.

All the groups in all parts of the country are right. Notre Dame's problem is not to find a good coach, but to choose one from among all of the good Notre Dame trained coaches available in the country. Rocks turned 'em out as Ford does automobiles. Three years of playing under him and the men came out not only equipped with football skills, but with all of the other requisites of a successful coach. They all have brains, assurance, imagination, and drive.

Following Laidy at Notre Dame don't going to be as difficult as following Rocks, because, after all, the Norwegian was a man apart. But following Laidy isn't going to be easy. He was a sound football coach. You don't win 47 games while losing only 13 just because you part your hair in the middle, like wheatcakes, and dabble in flower arranging. But Elmer was much more than just a coach. He gave a lot more to his boys than off-tackle plays and 6-3-2-1 stuf.

It'll make the pros a benevolent despot.

Semi-Pro Ball Congress to Aid Defense

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (UP)—The National Semi-Pro baseball congress announced today a "baseball-for-Britain" plan and an intention to cooperate with the U. S. army in national defense.

Directors attending their annual winter meeting approved the plan of President Ray Diamond to auction to spectators the first ball pitched at the 40,000 sandlot games May 5, the proceeds to go to aid the British defense. The balls first would be autographed by the ranking celebrity among the spectators—former baseball stars, city, state or national officials of importance.

The directors said they would cooperate with the federal government by sponsoring 16,500 sandlot teams in the U. S. army camps. Zone commissioners were appointed to head organization of leagues in their respective districts over the district and state territories. They included Ray Brooks, Portland, Ore., far west zone.

The Empire State league, composed of teams from Montana and Wyoming, was pronounced the model league in the National association of leagues for 1940.

SIDE GLANCES

HOLD EVERYTHING

THE SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

Owners of 14 other major league clubs and Ave Bradley and Walter Briggs had kept their mouths shut. The fabulous Bob Feller is worth whatever the Cleveland club is giving him. . . and then some. Old Bo-Bo Newsum is a work-horse and a whale of a pitcher for Detroit, but all while asking more can be depended upon not to underestimate his worth.

There are other stars, including pitchers to be signed, and famous boats that both young Feller and Newsum will collect more than $100,000 five the highest scale something to go by in the way of a highly satisfactory scale.

Until Bradley and Briggs started the controversy in Chicago, who is the highest paid pitcher, Feller or Newsum, the owners' song and nine-to-be-declared was to have been that expenses had to be curtailed because of unsettled conditions.

The magnates' problem doesn't seem so serious when a couple of big shots plume themselves on their generosity to combatants who really deserve it.

There is not a peep about pitchers who get the money, which is precisely what the other owners would prefer that Bradley and Briggs popped off about.

Joe M. Maguire is in the Yankee fold, and will start at $40,000. Schmozie Lombardi asks Cincinnati to restore the $5,000 he was paid for the rap on the plate which brought the 1939 world series to a close. Eddie Jones wants more than a $2,000 boost for being the Red's regular shortstop. Joe Beggs tells Warren Giles that he is a relief worker and not on reserve.

Rip Radloff insists the Browns pay him in proportion to a 342 batting average.

Even the Los Angeles recruits, Lou-Lou-Novikoff and Biringier—advise the Cubs that they do not want to get off on the wrong foot . . . either on the field or at the catcher's window.

In returning his contract unsigned, which has become a habit with him, Harry Danning, the able catcher of the Giants, advises Eddie Brannock that he is leaving his Los Angeles home for Miami, where the Polo Grounders train. He will be much obliged if the secretary makes housing arrangements for himself and the missus and looks after the trunk, etc.

That's no way to get a raise.

WRECKED BOMBER HIT PEAK ONLY 20 FEET FROM TOP

7 BODIES BADLY BURNED IN CRASH OF ARMY CRAFT

MORTON, Wash., Feb. 5 (AP)—The plane hit the mountain top between life and death for seven men in an army bomber and "two" were killed with them.

The plane first light night through seven bodies out of the remote, snow-covered mountains, where they crashed Jan. 18 just a bombing operation of Deschutes peak. The bodies were burned and mutilated until they were hardly recognizable.

The pilot (First Lieut. R. M. Krumm) was apparently flying blind and was just coming out of low clouds when the plane hit the peak.

Col. Walter Peck, McCord field operations officer, said after an inspection of the wreckage:

"The plane hit only 20 or 25 feet from the summit and made it as it slid down a rocky cliff into a clump of trees.

"The gas tanks in the wings had been burned. The fuselage fell nose first into a rocky ravine. The tail lay about 700 yards below. One wing struck on a protrusion in the air from the side of the cliff, and the other, broken off, lay flat on the ground. Both motors were on the ground.

"The wreck was so complete that officers did not dynamite it, as they usually have to do when plane crash in remote places. One body was hurled to the top of the peak. The others were scattered down the side of the cliff, some 100 yards from where the plane crashed.

"Discover Wreck

Two lumberjacks discovered the wreck through binoculars. They led a searching party to it yesterday, and members of the party had to be lowered down the cliff by ropes. The bodies and part of the plane's equipment—possibly secret bombights—was brought out the same way.

The twin-engine, Douglas B-18-A bomber took off from McCord field, Tacoma, to practice bombing over Muroc dry lake, in southern California. It crashed 70 miles south of McCord field.

HARDER RETAINED ON DAIRY BOARD

Carl Harder, Buhl, today had been selected as a director of the Twin Falls County Dairyman's association following annual session here yesterday at the Methodist church.

The election of Mr. Harder took place late in the afternoon. An estimated 400 persons attended the event at which several speakers were heard and officials of the Jerome Cooperative Creamery gave yearly reports.

Speaker during the late afternoon session was E. B. Trank, manager of the Upper Snake River Valley Cooperative Dairyman's association. He reviewed the cooperative movement.

"Cooperatives, to be successful, must be quality-minded," Trank said. "This means that they must carefully guard the products put into their branded packages."

He said that "70 or 25 years hence competition will be even more keen. If we are going to hold or improve our relative position in agriculture we must have organization with organization or be lost in the shuffle resulting from relative discrepancy between the price of supply and buy as compared to the price of the products we sell."

Hailey Duckpin Ace's 230 Tops Old U. S. Mark

HAILEY, Feb. 4 (Special)—If Alva Jackson had "cut loose" on the duck pin bowling alleys here just two weeks earlier, he would have set the world's record.

As it is, the ace Hailey bowler is believed to have broken the second highest score ever posted by a duck pin enthusiast in the United States.

He rolled an impressive 230 Monday night in non-league play, thereby shattering the former world record of 224. The present record, however, is 239 and was set a fortnight ago by Eddie Fumero, New Haven, Conn.

3 States Join Lava Move for Regional 'Polio' Sanatorium

Governors of the states of Idaho, Utah and Wyoming will appoint special committees to investigate possibility of establishing an infantile paralysis sanatorium at Lava Hot Springs, equal to that at Warm Springs, Ga. It was announced here today by E. W. Nye, member of the Lava city council and also a member of the Lava interstate commission.

Nye, together with W. B. Hunt, manager of the state pool at Lava; Ned B. Grossman, Pocatello civic leader, and E. A. McDewitt, visited here today for E. W. Nye, member of the Lava city council and also a member of the Lava interstate commission.

In all probability a bill asking for state aid in the setup will be introduced before the legislature ends its present session.

Mr. Hunt said "we'll open the sanatorium this year if we have to start on a shoestring." He added that all over the state he and other members of the committee had been favorably received.

Mr. Nye pointed out that the Lava Hot Springs board has agreed to turn over developed property consisting of a 50-bed hospital and the municipal spa, a few feet away, all of which represents an outlay of $100,000.

"The proposal is to turn it over in trust to the state or any organization that will develop it when it becomes available for health purposes in building a state or national foundation. The property can be made available immediately."

Mr. Grossman said it is hoped the state appropriation will be forthcoming and will allow the foundation work to proceed through tying the two buildings together as a sanatorium.

In-level flight, the fastest speed ever attained by an airplane was 472 miles an hour. This was done by German pilot in a special Messerschmitt plane.
