PETAUN OFFERS LAVAL NEW PLANS FOR COMPROMISE

FRENCH LEADER TO KEEP DARLAN AS NAVY'S HEAD

BY RALPH HEINZEN
 VICHY, France, Feb. 5 (UP)—Admiral Francois Darlan left for Paris by special train today with compromise cabinet proposals under which he would become premier and Pierre Laval would be made premier of the French government.

Darlan arranged to confer with Laval tomorrow and submit to him the new compromise plan which, it was hoped, might provide basis for return of Laval to Vichy and resumption of relations with Germany.

Darlan would get control of foreign affairs, as well as remaining navy minister with control of the fleet, and Laval would be given the ministry of interior, thus retaining control over police and provincial police.

Gen. Charles Huntziger would remain war minister and he, Laval, Darlan and Paul Baudoin, former foreign minister, would form a four-man inner cabinet.

Marshall Philippe Petain worked out this compromise plan last night in consultation with military ministers in hope of ending the long deadlock which resulted from his dismissal of Laval in mid-December. It was expected Darlan would confer at length with Laval in Paris tomorrow and return to Vichy Saturday with a definite decision could be taken.

Congressman Plan
 Petain under his compromise plan would give up the complete control he has had over the cabinet, for he has had no premier and each minister has been responsible to him personally.

But he would have as premier in Darlan's own right hand man, in whom he reposes complete confidence, and Darlan, as well as retaining control of the navy, would take charge of foreign affairs.

The pro-German Laval had sought to make himself premier and to choose his own cabinet. He would have taken control of foreign affairs, interior affairs and propaganda. This cabinet meeting was controlled by the conserved French press. Under the compromise plan, propaganda control remained to be allowed.

Orson Welles Spreads Panic Again-- Film Industry Fears Hearst Reprisals

BY PAUL HARRISON
 HOLLYWOOD — It looks as if Man-from-Mars Orson Welles has struck again, this time spreading panic among the nervous, humiliated citizens of Hollywood.

The movie colony might have suspected that the next few days would be an ominously quiet period in the normally eventful life of Orson Welles, even with all the pre-announcements which have buzzed around him and his long-delayed picture, "Citizen Kane."

It may not sound exactly momentous when it is explained that a publisher named William Randolph Hearst seems to have taken a notion that Orson Welles has been impersonating him in a movie.

But there's more to it than that. Plainly it may mean Orson Welles' career.

A Chilly Atmosphere
 It is likely to put quite a strain on the collective courage of the movie picture industry, several executives of which already are hiding in bomb-proof shelters or behind the scenes of their studios.

It is likely to bring Welles, through his familiar medium of the radio, to a bitter opposition and a bitter array of Hearst's media.

Recently, when a national magazine came out with a story and pictures which allegedly were identical with the story of Citizen Kane and the career of W. R. Hearst, Orson Welles, who is an officer in the Hearst corporation, appeared in the Hearst studios and was allowed to view the Hearst picture.

The atmosphere in the projection rooms during the showing was grim enough to have given an attack of the bends to ordinary people.

Orson Welles as Citizen Kane — only an American type?

representatives of Mr. Hearst sprang into action and began pulling wires with the speed of a troupe of carillon players.

It was soon clear that every important figure in the industry was being asked to aid in the squelching of the picture.

That was why, quite a few of the boys went home with chills and fever or sped to hideouts in the desert.

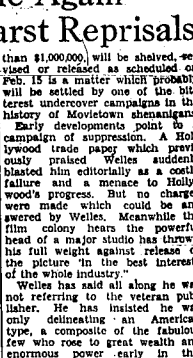

Campaign of suppression?
 Whether the picture, "Citizen Kane" has an investment of more than $1,000,000, will be shared, released as scheduled on Feb. 15 is a matter which probably will be settled by one of the big news organizations in the history of movie-town chicanery.

Early developments point to a campaign of suppression. A Hollywood insider, who has previously praised Welles suddenly blasted him editorially as a costly failure and a menace to Hollywood's progress.

But no charges were made which could be answered by Welles. Meanwhile the film colony hears the powerful head of a major studio has thrown his full weight against release of the picture in the best interests of the whole industry.

Welles has said all along he was not referring to the veteran publisher. He has insisted he was only delineating an American type, a composite of the fabulous wealth and great wealth and enormous power early in the picture.

BUILDING OF U. S. TANKS ADVANCES

WASHINGTON (UP)—The armored force of the U. S. army — counterpart of German panzer divisions — is meeting its vast expansion program without the complaints sometimes heard from civilians that it should have been built and equipped long ago.

Officers say that as early as 1923 plans to use the intense striking power of the fast tank and its related units were developed by the army and kept up to date on paper in the meantime.

Impressively staged was the original production, "Abrams Lincoln-Walks at Midnight," presented by the Twin Falls Community Theater association last night following a pot-luck dinner of American Legion and auxiliary members, ex-service men and their wives, at American Legion Memorial hall. Separate meetings of the post and auxiliary followed the program, which was open to the public.

Door prize went to Mrs. Cecil Jones.

Bird-Lovers Campaign Against Hat Feathers

The Audubon society is off to the wars again—battling for the birds! Miss Fannie Amey, Twin Falls junior high school teacher, and authority on bird life, was spokesman for that organization when she addressed the Twin Falls Garden club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hanley Payne.

"Keep feathers off your hats," she admonished the women.

Quoting Robert Cushman Murphy, president of the National Audubon society, and Richard H. Pough, in a recent Reader's Digest article, "Massacre for Millinery," Miss Amey said:

"A recent survey of millinery establishments in New York and Philadelphia revealed that the plumage of more than 40 species of wild birds was on sale, including native American species which were supposed to be on the completely protected list in both states."

"Bird life faces the worst threat in three decades," she declared, commencing in the volume of plumage of wild birds being used in connection with the renewed popularity of feathers for millinery and decorative purposes.

Again quoting Murphy, she said: "Any purchaser of bird plumage has a right to demand proof that feathers on her hat are within the law. The National Audubon society will cooperate in reporting violations. The most potent weapon is an aroused public opinion. If people do not buy hats trimmed with plumage, there would be no market for the feathers."

Miss Amey also outlined other ways in which Garden club members, and other persons interested in wild life, could protect the birds.

"Keep your cat shut up during the nesting season. Don't carry cats away from home and drop them to starve on bird life. Kill them for no reason. If you don't want them."

Watch eggs shooting birds' with all rifles. There are state and federal laws against such practices. Report these misdemeanors to your local officers.

Don't kill jays and owls. Southern Idaho needs them to help keep under control the mice, gophers, ground squirrels, rabbits, grasshoppers and crickets."

She urged her audience to become better acquainted with the bird life to be found at Mary Alice park and Blue Lakes.

To attract birds to the garden she recommended:

"Plant such trees as the ash and the mountain ash, shrubs and vines that provide food and shelter for birds."

Other speaker on the program was Mrs. O. W. Barnett, who discussed different types of fertilizer and garden pests, and their control.

Mrs. J. S. Robinson conducted a brief business session. Tentative plans were made for the annual spring flower show.

Twenty-four women were present at the session. Twin Falls Garden club is a civic organization with no definite membership and no dues. Anyone interested in any program as announced through the papers is invited to attend, club officials emphasized today.

FOOTWEAR FASHION FUTURES

IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE

LADIES' MODES

Patriotism . . . as manifested even in shoe styles . . . was only exceeded by the spirit of optimism in Chicago this spring.

One thought pervaded the entire showing: "How can we make shoes more attractive — yet retain prices the public wants to pay?" And it's been done, too!

The styles which received outstanding attention were those shown in pumps . . . both open and closed toes . . . step-ins and spectators . . . sport shoes and casual low heel types. Heel heights went up with the "sky-scraper" heel showing the way to the more usual low and medium heel.

Black was of first importance in colors shown . . . then came brown and beige. Blue is featured moderately for spring but will gain in favor as Easter approaches. "Saddle tan," a new shade was featured in every type of shoe. And this is the shade that can be worn "shined" to a metallic hue.

The patriotic idea led with a new showing of red, a true navy and a military blue.

For dress wear you'll want gaberdine trimmed with patent, snake or alligator. In the spectator type smooth and crushed leathers were shown with a high interest in alligator and grained calf.

Wedges? You'll want them again this season in walled last — many with rubber soles — and all for sports wear.

If the manufacturers were optimistic about 1941 creations — we're more so! Our selections were made with you in mind. Come in — we'll show you we remembered YOU!

POWER QUESTION AILED AT JEROME

JEROME, Feb. 6 (Special) — A newspaper man from Wendell and a Jerome county farmer save their personal viewpoints favoring and opposing the plan of the Idaho Power company to develop various sites on the Snake river, at the noon luncheon meeting of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

At last week's meeting President R. G. Freeman had been asked to obtain two speakers who would present the two sides, pro and con, at this week's meeting. It was also made clear that the chamber would not make any statement whether or not it favored or opposed the proposition of the Idaho Power company.

Al Reading, business man and publisher of the Wendell Tri-Weekly, weekly paper, and William Snyder, farmer of the Canyonside district, were the speakers at the meeting.

Mr. Reading spoke in opposition, his main objection being the fact that such development of the power company would tend to ruin and destroy the scenic beauty and attractiveness of these primeval and rugged areas which belong to posterity and should be preserved.

15,000 Catalogs Of Seed Conception Near Completion

Prized thousand copies of the 1941 Dinkel and Smith Seed company catalogs were being bound today by workers in the Times-News commercial printing department following completion of the press run for the 40-page booklet.

The Times-News department has printed the Dinkel and Smith catalogs for the past nine years and this year's book is the second to bear covers in color.

The books are distributed throughout the United States and include pictures and descriptions of all types of seeds available for planting as well as special information data including a field seed table showing weight of seed, field seeds and also a table of the amount of seed and time to sow.

Film Critic Provides His Own '40 Tributes

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service

HOLLYWOOD—Highlights of the year:

Most logical protest by a censor (against some native dancing girl shots in "The Road to Singapore"): "There must be something wrong with the scene, or I wouldn't have wanted to see it three times."

Most lasting impression—made by an actor in the imprinting of John Barrymore's profile in the cement forehead of the Chinese theater.

Best evidence of the progressive attitude of labor: The night picketing of the National Broadcasting company's studio by striking janitors carrying neon signs.

Most awkward tribute: The staging, for a film short, of David Selznick's Academy banquet speech.

On the original occasion, with awards and oratory centering about "Gone with the Wind" nobody even mentioned the name of author Margaret Mitchell.

Bitternest pill: Eastern flowers. Most flattering estimate of gladiator: The winning bid of $1005 by an eastern visitor at a British War Relief party for a kiss from Marlene Dietrich.

Most appropriate display of temperament: The annoyance of Miss Blanche Yurka, who ripped off her hair and heaved it over the scenery during a dispute on the set of "The Woman From Hell."

Bitternest pill for Southern California: The shipment from the east by airplane of many of the flowers used on the floats in the famed Tournament of Roses.

Most precedent-shattering battle of the screen: The defeat of Gene Autry in a fair fight in "Melody Ranch."

Neatest completion of a cycle: The entrance of Spectacle-Specialist Cecil B. De Mille, producer of the post-show acts, into the field of nickel-in-the-slot movies—together with his bid for the bubble-dancing services of Betty Hutton.

Most fortuitous coincidence: The rocking of a theater by a sharp earthquake at the same moment patrons watched the spectacular dynamite blowing of the dam in "Moon Over Burma." Customers thought the shaking was some sort of trick effect, and there was no panic.

Most typically Hollywood attitude toward romance: The suggestion by Earl Carroll that Tommy Manville advertise for a fifth wife and allow him (Carroll) to judge the applicants and select the bride.

Shortest quest: Mae West's most disillusioning experience of an actress: When a lighted cake was borne onto the Metro set for Vivien Leigh, she wanted to cut and pass it around; but she was told it was a prop cake intended only for publicity pictures.

Best summation of Melvyn Douglas' roles for the year: South of the Border.

Most appropriate double-billing: "Brighton Young" — "Too Many Girls."

Best example of movie-star naïveté and innocence: The awfully of Lupe Velez by a gypsy employing the old package-travel.

Shortest quest for inspiration: Mae West's announcement that she would go to bed and there write a new screen play for herself. The title: "Not Bad."

Most fantastic international incident: The protest by Japan that ordinary bombing-practice targets used in "Wings Over the Navy" too closely resembled Japanese flags.

Most wistful remark by a moppet (Shirley Temple): "They say 'The Blue Bird' laid an egg."

Most startling evidence of the in-

Cites Tax Benefit

Reading mentioned the benefits in the way of taxation to Gooding county and cited the expenditures of the Idaho Power company in developing these sites. Additional tax revenue alone would be $26,000 a year.

He also pointed out the fact that from the standpoint of destroying scenery, the power company had done a great deal in order to preserve and maintain the rugged attractiveness of the various power sites, adding as much as 80 to 90 per cent to their appearance.

Mr. Reading explained that the development of these points goes along in the line of progress as much as raising and propagation of farm produce or any other product which we market.

It was pointed out at the meeting that officials of the Idaho Power company have made the statement that at some future period, the Thousand Springs plant and the other proposed plants would be dismantled and these scenic areas will be restored to their original attractiveness.

Sees Beauty Lost

In opposition to the plan of development, Snyder stated that he believed the development would destroy the beauty of the sites and that they should be left for others to enjoy.

Mr. Snyder stated that there were other places along the river which could be utilized for the points in question, and the principal one he named was a point just below Bliss.

PENNSYLVANIA CITY SETTLES AS MINE WORKINGS GIVE WAY

3-BLOCK REGION IN DAMAGE PATH; BUILDINGS RUINED

WEST PITTSBURGH, Penn., Feb. 6 (AP)—A three-block area in the heart of West Pittsburg, a community of 700 in Pennsylvania's anthracite belt, settled today as underground mine workings gave way.

Buildings 20 and 30 business establishments and residences were affected. Windows were shattered, plaster cracked and fissures 20 inches deep opened up in the streets, causing water and gas mains to burst.

The West Pittsburg high school was ordered closed as a precautionary measure.

No casualties were reported, although at least 20 families were driven from their homes.

The subsidence was first noted a week ago but it was so gradual that the shock was not apparent. Early today a two-block stretch on Luzerne avenue, the town's principal thoroughfare, subsided three feet and then spread.

The police and fire departments were ordered to make an inspection of all structures in the area.

Electric power was affected, but soon restored.

Volunteer workers aided authorities in making sure all persons living in the area were removed.

It was the second major subsidence in the hard coal region within a year. Last March more than 600 dwellings and other structures were damaged in a cave-in at Shenandoah, 40 miles from here.

No. 1 Lion

Carl M. Sorrick, president of Lions Erlers-Lionel, who attend two Idaho meetings at Boise and at Idaho Falls next Monday and Tuesday. Magic Valley Lions will be among those who greet him.

LIONS PREPARING TO MEET LEADER

Although plans for a motorcade were dropped today, Magic Valley Lions clubs will be well represented at one or the other of the two Idaho meetings at which Carl M. Sorrick, president of Lions International, will be a guest Monday and Tuesday.

Ronald Graves, district governor, said today the motorcade idea was abandoned because some south central clubs wish to be represented at the Boise luncheon and dinner-dance sessions Monday while others will send delegates to the Idaho Falls banquet-dance affair the next evening.

District Meet

The Lions conclave at Hotel Boise in the capital city will form the western district meeting. Gov. Charles A. Clark will be a guest at the evening banquet, and Mr. Sorrick will attend both the luncheon and the banquet.

At Idaho Falls, where the gathering is scheduled for the big armory building, the festivities will be in the evening only and will start with the dinner honoring Mr. Sorrick at 7:30 p. m.

Michigan Man

President Sorrick, according to Mr. Graves, is old monarch and charter member of the Lions club of Jackson, Mich., formed in 1925. He has held numerous club, district and international offices. In 1927 he was elected third vice-president of Lions International and advanced each year, finally becoming president by unanimous vote at the 1940 convention in Havana, Cuba.

Sorrick is president and general manager of Oxidormo Products, Inc., Springfield, Mich., manufacturers of polio, measles and diphtheria and other vaccines are selling, hunting, photography and quackling fishing. He also operates a 40-acre mixed farm near Jackson.

BOY, 16, HELD FOR SECOND MURDER

TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 6 (AP)—Tipton, a mild-mannered, 16-year-old farm boy, was charged today with his second slaying.

He killed a man and a woman and another with a shotgun in Scottsboro, Ala., when he was 12. He slugged John Dale Hilliard, his 15-year-old schoolmate, with a pop bottle in Fayette, Ark., Tuesday night. Hilliard died.

Tipton, after admitting he hit Hilliard, said:

"I'm sorry. But that's a bunch of tough boys out there, and you've got to stand up for yourself."

Cursed Him

He accused Hilliard of cursing him at a basketball game in the Fayette high school gymnasium "in front of a bunch of girls," and of telling that he had obtained the keys to the Fayette general store and intended to raid it as soon as the game was over.

They began to call each other names and Hilliard invited him outside.

"I picked up the bottle when I saw he had a club and caught him on the head," he told Sheriff W. E. Davis.

Paroled to Uncle

Tipton was paroled to his uncle, Frank Eaton, after the Scottsboro killing.

Richard Hul, prosecutor of the eighth Arkansas district, said he was not certain whether the boy would be prosecuted as a murderer or a juvenile. He was held, however, on murder charges and will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Hagerman Grange Asks Sales Levy

BOISE, Feb. 6 (AP)—Alice Marks, secretary of the Hagerman valley Grange, said today the Grange in her district had adopted a resolution asking the legislature to enact a sales tax in order to exempt low-valued property from the ad valorem levy.

She said the proposal would exempt property valued up to $1,000 and occupied by the owners—from the ad valorem tax.

The Grangers felt that the sales tax would supply the loss in property revenue.

STRIKES REMAIN IN FIVE PLANTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—There were strikes at five plants engaged in national defense production today with negotiations in the two largest, walkouts still deadlocked. Higher wages and bargaining rights were demanded in each of the disputes in progress.

Most important of the strikes were the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company walkout at Milwaukee, Wis., where 7,800 members of the International Union of Machinery and Electrical Workers (IUEW) union were out and the International Harvester company dispute at Chicago involving about 800 farm equipment workers organizing committee (CIO) members.

Defense production on the whole was proceeding normally.

Modern Youth No Worse Than Other Days, Says Expert

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., Feb. 6 (AP)—If you listen to Dr. Viktor Pokoket of the University of Idaho, modern youth today is no worse than modern youth of one, two or even three generations ago.

Pokoket, instructor in political science, says, however, the modern child comes into an adult world, and it is sometimes difficult for him to find a place for himself.

Pokoket says he calls this an adult world because the ratio of adults to children has increased threefold in the last few generations.

THE SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NBA Service Sports Editor

His own business being what it is, the wrestling trial attempted to make in on college football.

But the Michigan Daily, seeking to protect Tom Harmon, launched an investigation, which sent the game most certainly would not have been in the best interest of the sport.

And as things turned out, the production was not going to be staged for sweet charity, as purportedly solely for the benefit of the wrestling combination.

The Michigan Daily disclosed that the man who obtained the acquiescence of Harmon and the Wolverine lineups of college sports, was Edward Rigby, who because of unethical tactics lost his promotion license in Pittsburgh in 1937.

In regard to what was suspected, there is such a thing as unethical tactics in professional boxing and wrestling—rubber gloves, among other items.

Rigby is now associated with Joe Mondt in the promotion of wrestling in Los Angeles. Toos Mondt long has been a head man on the wrestling ring.

Rigby claimed the game was suggested by Miami business men and that he was negotiating in the Florida resort, where he promoted a wrestling show during the boom through Jack Bell, sports editor of the Miami Daily News.

Quoted about the venture, Bell replied that all he knew was that Rigby telephoned him from Los Angeles and that the promoter talked to Arthur Ungar, chairman of the stadium committee, who requested a more detailed plan.

Bell also asked how 50 college boys could get away from classes long enough to play a football game amid sheltering pains in late February.

Harmon, Fritz and Pruitt withdrew from the proposed squawk as quickly as they learned of the scheme.

If the mystery bowl had been carried out successfully, there is no telling where the thing would have stopped.

There already is too much commercialism attached to professional games for the good health of college football.

Even professional football people see the danger in prolonging the campaign.

That is one of the reasons why the National league magnates votes to

SIDE GLANCES

Football will be football only as long as the season begins in September and ends on New Year's day.

And there are enough professional clubs for college luminaries to turn to without the wrestling fraternity building in.

Let's confine the airplane spin, Indian deathlike and such and the grunts, groans and grinning to wrestling mats.
