House Approves Funds for State Institutions, Offices

$13,433,265 FOR EXPENSES ASKED IN IDAHO BUDGET

By LEON TUPPING
BOISE, March 4 (U.P.)—The Idaho house of representatives, its rules suspended, today stamped approval on bills to provide appropriations for state offices in institutions.

The bills were the first to come before the house, granting funds approved by the joint house senate appropriations committee. Rep. S. Reed Andrus, D., Bonneville, chairman of the committee, disclosed approval has been granted to appropriations aggregating $13,433,265 from the general fund. He said the school equalization fund would receive $2,600,000; relief program, $3,930,000; other state functions, $6,844,865; and special services and detention, $15,170.

The total, he said, would be about $10,000 more than estimated general fund revenues for the next two years. Excise taxes and other revenues were expected to bring $7,615,114, and the state bond fund $4,800,000 for a total of $12,415,114 in revenue.

Rep. William Detweiler, R., Jerome, said the $13,433,265 increase in appropriations over those granted two years ago resulted from "small items" throughout the list of departments.

Rep. Jennings Randolph, D., Tex., author of a resolution for an interstate commerce committee inquiry into the recent Atlanta crash and others that have occurred since the civil aeronautics authority was abolished as an independent body, urged an investigation of the commerce department's civil aeronautics board is not sufficient because it is the agency that promulgated regulations.

SENATE PASSES NEW MINES TAX
BOISE, March 4 (U.P.)—Amendments to the mines license tax, making the tax payable in the year in which the property is established, a new basis for computing the tax, were contained in a bill which passed the Idaho senate late yesterday.

THE BILL originated in the house and passed by the governor's signature to become a law.

Sen. T. R. Mason, D., Shoshone, spoke in favor of the bill, declaring that it would provide relief needed by Idaho's mining industry.

OTHER INTERESTS
"A few years ago special tax on the mining industry was enacted," he declared. "Since that time there have been other increases. Now the burden is becoming so heavy that it will force mines to cease operations and throw men out of work if some relief is not granted."

SEN. B. L. THORPE, R., Jerome, said the measure would give the state more equitable by spreading it over the entire industry and taxing operators who had evaded the law by taking down operations and reopening later. He said it was difficult to determine whether the bill would reduce revenue to the state.

SENATE APPROVAL
The senate passed a bill to amend the Idaho state constitution to provide for a special tax on the mining industry. The bill was passed by a vote of 19 to 10.

RUMOR ASSERTS GREEKS PONDER PLAN FOR PEACE

By HUGO SPECK
SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 4 (U.P.)—A high neutral diplomat reported today the Greek government and King George of Greece might retire to the island of Crete and maintain relations with the British while a new government made the best terms possible with Germany.

The diplomat assumed it was hopeless for Greece to fight Germany and Italy, especially because British aid commitments could not arrive in time to counter a German army attacking from Bulgaria and that Greece could not hold out for more than a few weeks.

It was suggested that Turkey was certain to remain on the defensive.

But a military informant asserted Turkey had 500,000 men in Thrace, its European area, to meet a possible military invasion.

It was indicated that 200,000 reinforcements had been quietly concentrated in Thrace within the last few weeks to strengthen the 300,000 who had been there for months.

Six German divisions, totaling upwards of 80,000 men, have already taken their positions in Bulgaria. It was reported in reliable quarters, and it more, to make a total of 300,000, are following them.

SEN. WAGNER ASKS FULL SUPPORT FOR AID MEASURE

LEND-LEASE BILL BACKERS ASK FOR EARLY APPROVAL

By WILLIAM H. LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D. N. Y., said today the British aid bill needs the full support of all who want to aid Britain effectively and that speed in enacting it is vital.

The veteran New York administration leader made his first comment on the controversial measure in a formal statement as a bill supporter, Sen. H. H. Schwartz, D. Wyo., charged on the senate floor "we are now killing time while the Germans are killing English women and children and the aged and infirm."

The 14th day of debate on the measure opened an hour early in the senate amid reports Secretary of State Cordell Hull and President Roosevelt's senate leaders are interested in a compromise amendment which would publicly and naval forces outside the western hemisphere without congressional consent.

Basis for Agreement

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., a friend of the bill, suggested the amendment as a basis for agreement forestall a long fight over the Ellender amendment against use of American armed forces outside the western hemisphere and U. S. possessions, and another amendment banning U. S. control of merchant ships.

Wagner's statement asserted the real issue before the senate is the relative extent, the flexibility and the speed of the help to be given Britain.

"From the vital standpoint, the lend-lease plan meets the full support of all who want really effective material aid—all possible material aid—now to go to Britain," Wagner said.

Blames Britain

He said that disagreement in congress turned on the method rather than the policy of British aid. He traced results of the warring policies of the European democracies before the war and added:

"The half-hearted, inconsistent policies... had not saved them from the horrors of war—they made inevitable the war which could have been avoided if peaceful but vigorous action had been taken in 1937."

"The United States and Britain between them now have superiority in sea power, the most decisive force in modern military history and still free, therefore, to choose the defense most economical to our own resources and to the least risk of shedding American blood."

Britain Our Defense

"That defense is afforded us by the embattled British people, as long as they continue their defiant resistance, the powerful British fleet commands the sea approaches to this hemisphere and forestalls any aggression in our direction. The President's preparedness and tenderness regarding the British are out of our defense and gives reasonable promise of ultimate British victory."

Wagner's secretary explained the statement was issued because the senator, who was born in Germany, was unable to appear in the senate to speak for the bill. Wagner has been ill several weeks and is recuperating in Florida.

Schwartz led off today for the administration side in the senate debate which leaders hoped to conclude in time to permit a final vote late this week or early next.

509 Arrested for Violations of 200-Year-Old Delaware Law

WILMINGTON, Del., March 4 (AP)—Violators of Delaware's 200-year-old Sabbath law were given reprieves today from thirty days to 60 or 90 hours in jail in a mass arraignment of 509 defendants in Wilmington's municipal courtroom.

The judge grouped the continuances according to the occupation of those arrested. All waitresses accused of violating the law were ordered to appear a certain day, liquor station operators another, and so on down the line.

Five hundred and nine persons were arrested Sunday in the opening Sunday drive to enforce the law.

No Snow Shoveling

New vendors, gasoline station attendants, restaurant workers, milkmen, taxi drivers, street car motormen, radio station employes, and a man caught shoveling snow off his sidewalk were among the accused.

The prisoners were caught in the sudden enforcement of a law passed by the Dutch and Swedish settlers in 1740, branding as lawless

"Whoever shall perform any worldly employment, labor or business on the Sabbath day (works of necessity and charity excepted) shall be guilty of fighting, wrestling, horse racing, cock fighting or hunting game, any carrier, peddler or driver any public stage, any retailer of goods who shall expose same to sale."

Attorney General James H. Morford ordered the enforcement. Morford said he would prosecute for three or four more Sundays to determine whether the law is practical. He began his test after Democrats in the house of the legislature prevented repeal of the blue law last week. Republicans have a majority in the house but not the two-thirds majority necessary. To repeal laws the Democrats balked because some state appointments of the Democratic administration voted out of office last November. The repeal measure comes up for reconsideration today.

Enforcement was through Sunday even though it accompanied little, the prisoners returning to their lawlessness as soon as they were released on bond. No offender was arrested more than once.

EVENLY-MATCHED TEAMS FOR "A" CROWN

8 Quintets Start Tournament Play Here Wednesday

Eight outstanding Class A high school basketball quintets today were poised for the annual district tournament to be staged here Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday—with every one of the clubs accorded some kind of a chance and not a "soft spot" in the entire draw.

With the opening game set for 3:30 tomorrow—Twin Falls vs. Gooding—the meet will be featured by games Wednesday afternoon and evening; Thursday afternoon and evening; Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday morning and evening.

Tournament Manager Ed Rogel today announced that 10 players would represent each of the eight teams in the district play. Each team manager and the coach, bands from the various high schools and a total of 25 members will be admitted free only when that school's team is playing at any particular session.

Opening Day's Program
Program for the opening day lists Twin Falls vs. Gooding at 3:30; Rupert vs. Filer at 4:30; Jerome vs. Oakley at 7:30 and Burley vs. Buhl at 8:30. The following day winners meet and losers play a meet here.

With one of the most evenly-matched tournaments in recent history again slated for action, another team making a tentative long haul in the district play is the home team. Every club in the meet has turned in "upset" victories over other teams as Burley Bobcats, defending champions in a close contest, and then clinching the crown last night with the spectacular victory.

The Carey club in the championship game was Briggs, ace forward, who scored 15 points for his club. The strong Carey defense held the home quintet to five points in the first three quarters, before relaxing enough to allow the Wolverines to count 10 points in the final frame. Carey led 12-5 at the half.

Following the contest, champion Carey beat team and Halley girls sextet were awarded trophies.

Lineup for last night's battles:
CAREY: W. L. (1) J. (2) Young
Rupert (15) (1) (2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9) (10) (11) (12) (13) (14) (15)

RUPERT PICKED TO WIN CLASS A DISTRICT CAGE TOURNEY...
RACE SEEN AS TIGHTEST IN HISTORY... ALL HAVE CHANCE

Probably never before in the history of the south central Idaho Class A basketball conference has there been such a tight scramble as the concluded regular season has just witnessed.

Without a clearly No. 1 quintet in the eight counties—and at the same time without an exceptionally weak club—the prospects for the district tourney, which starts here Wednesday, are just about 80 per cent that any one going to name a team as champion will pick the wrong club.

For the last couple of days we've been mulling over the prospects and the back statistics, the coaching records, how the teams have been acting in the way of late season improvement—and how they stand for the seasonal play.

And we've yet to come to anything that would point one team above another—at least in seven of the contestants.

Before the season started, the Oakley Hornets were regarded in many circles as the team to beat for the district crown. Then after they got underway, it looked like nobody would be able to stop the Burley Bobcats, defending champions.

Repett has looked threatening all season—and has turned in good games the past three weeks. The name can be said for the Twin Falls Bruins, who emerged from a mid-season slump to score victories over Filer, Oakley and Burley.

The team that is most feared right now by other coaches around the conference is the one that came back in their next 115 for the Filer Wildcats with a scoring average that was the highest made in the district.

Boxers of Jerome and Kimberly high school this afternoon treated for the night's match. The boys that will be seen here tonight before what is expected to be a record-breaking north side fight crowd.

With nine bouts scheduled and the first one set to commence at 8 p. m., the gymnasium is expected to be packed before the opening bout is sounded.

Probable lineups for the bouts follow:
Keith Henry, 101, Kimberly, vs. Milton, 103, Jerome.
Quessell, 115, Kimberly, vs. Kincaid, 110, Jerome.
A. Henry, 122, Kimberly, vs. Hurt, 120, Jerome.
Jack, 132, Kimberly, vs. V. Hall, 131, Jerome.
Bean, 128, Kimberly, vs. Barnes, 127, Jerome.
Ray Butler, 148, Kimberly, vs. Bishop, 150, Jerome.
H. H. Jones, 151, Kimberly, vs. Taylor, 154, Jerome.
W. Butler, 141, Kimberly, vs. G. Hall, 142, Jerome.
H. H. Jones, 151, Kimberly, vs. Holway, 132, Jerome.

8 Advance in 4-Ball Meet

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Eight of the country's best bowlers followed the final of the semi-finals of the annual Miami-Biltmore $5,000 International four-ball championship.

It's an open secret that the supply of maple for bowling pins is definitely limited; pins of top quality are now carefully made and sold for tournament use.

Experiments have been under way for 25 years—extensively for five of the last—over the material used in the manufacture of bowling balls. The result is a ball that is too lively, a third will shatter under constant use.

SOVIET REBUKE TO BILGARS TERMED THREAT TO NAZIS

REDS CHALLENGE HITLER ADVANCE IN BALKAN AREAS

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press Wire Service
Russia's rebuke to Berlin for allowing entrance of German troops into Bulgaria can only be interpreted by Hitler as a preliminary Slav challenge in the Balkans. Relations between Moscow and Berlin now point to revival of Russo-German antagonism in southeastern Europe which existed between the Hohenzollerns and Romanoffs.

Sooner or later Hitler's ambition to dominate the European continent was bound to run against Russian opposition in the southern part of the world. But the feehler has now done so openly and the feehler has added another complication of his uncertainties regarding the future.

It was to have been expected Stalin would allow his displeasure at German expansion plans to be known to the Bulgarian government, but rather by a secret diplomatic note than by a public protest. The fact that Stalin has given his public rebuke to the German invasion of Bulgaria is a question of Russia's objection to spread of the war.

Stalin's protest to Bulgaria is based on Berlin's objection to spread of the war. But there was no open criticism by Russia when the German army was extended to Greece and Africa or when the Germans invaded Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium.

What Stalin dislikes is expansion of the conflict in an area that Russia considers her own sphere of influence. Russia is preparing to protect her own power and seems especially to be thinking of Asia Minor as well as the Balkans.

Can't Inevit Conflict
It generally has been assumed Russia is in a military position to invite a conflict with Germany now. If the war continues another year, however, that situation may change.

Such a change in the war cannot be considered impossible or even improbable. The possibility may affect the disposition of Germany's own air forces.

Must Spread Plans
Last summer the fuhrer did not have taken into consideration the possible Russian defection. He was able to concentrate most of his air squadrons over Britain in seeking to knock out the royal air force.

Since it would be foolhardy to attempt an invasion of Britain before obtaining mastery over the royal air forces, the Russian protest to Bulgaria must have an effect on Hitler's invasion plans.

GUARD FREEDOM, STUDENTS URGED

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, March 4 (Special).—The American people must hold onto ideologies of freedom and democracy or they will go down to defeat like the weaker European nations, Pierre van Paassen, father of "Days of Our Years," told University of Idaho students Friday.

"Our world society is going under," van Paassen said. "The world established on the basis of separate political entities is a thing of the past. One world economy and one world political entity will be the result of the present war. The tragedy of the third democracy is resisting the world economy instead of trying to establish it on a democratic basis. Democracy had its chance, but for 20 years ago it did was talk of the League of Nations. Now it is the totalitarian chance."

COUNCILMAN HITS AT HOUSING UNIT

City Councilman Lionel A. Dean today had flayed the Twin Falls housing authority and had declared it "just what it is not."

Dean's statements were made during the regular council session last night after city engineer and fire department inspector, had announced the authority was selling the shacks which they were removing from block 121 in the present "slum" area. These shacks, Smith said, were being moved, many of them to other sections of the city.

One Method
Ritchey said that his suggestion was made "after careful consideration." Under laws pertaining to cities of the first class (Twin Falls is of the second class) a three-man board handles examinations and other details under the civil service setup. Members of these boards have no connection with city government and their services are usually donated.

After looking up the law, Benoit made the statement that the possibility existed that for Twin Falls the council could probably either have an ordinance setting up civil service action for the two departments or could do it by referendum vote. He said, however, that he wanted to study the matter further before making any concrete statement.

Others Agree
Mayor Joe Koehler and other members of the council were in agreement with Ritchey's proposal. During the evening Ritchey also nominated Fred A. Zimmerman as a patrolman to take the place of Claude Wiley, who resigned to enter private business. Zimmerman is no relation to H. W. Ulrich, Zimmerman, who is also a patrolman.

DAY OF PRAYER SERVICE

JEROME, March 4 (Special).—Large representations were present Friday when members of the local protestant churches observed the annual World Day of Prayer, Feb. 28. The group recessed at the noon hour for a pot-luck dinner. Various women of the different church organizations had a part in the program.

Police, Fire Merit System Advised Here

Declaring that "the way matters stand the departments are little more than political footballs," Councilman Carl E. Ritchey today had urged that the police and fire departments of Twin Falls be placed under civil service.

As a result of Ritchey's request, made during the regular council session last night, City Attorney Harry Benoit was instructed to investigate the possibilities thoroughly and to report back at the next session.
