IRAQI TROOPERS FIRE ON BRITISH AT BIG AIRPORT

LONDON, May 2 (UP)—Official circles announced tonight that fighting between Iraqi troops and British forces in Iraq had been in progress all day and was believed continuing. The official statement said Iraqi troops opened fire upon the British at Habhaniyah air-drome, 65 miles west of Baghdad, on the Euphrates river this morning. The British garrison and royal air force units at the station returned the fire and the battle was believed here to be still raging. LONDON, May 2 (UP)—Increasing tension between British and Iraqi forces was reported authoritatively here today after Iraqi troops failed to comply with a British demand that they withdraw from the Habhaniyah royal air-drome, 65 miles west of Baghdad. "A critical situation has arisen in Iraq," authoritative quarters said. "Tension has risen in the past few hours as Iraqi authorities massed a considerable number of troops at Habhaniyah. Whether the British had fixed a time limit for the withdrawal of Iraqi troops from the air-drome, a vitally strategic position for the protection of the Mosul oil fields, and the British pipe line to Haifa, on the Mediterranean, was not known."

NEW YORK, May 2 (UP)—The Columbia Broadcasting system today heard the British Broadcasting company report that "Iraqi troops were being sent to the Habhaniyah air-drome in Iraq." The broadcast by BBC was reported to have said that the "British forces were compelled to take counter-action."

Idaho's Dairymen See Competition Today, May 2 (UP)—The Idaho Dairymen's association today forecast a threat of competition from development of 1,200,000 acres of land under the Grand Coulee reclamation project. Experts who conducted a survey of the experiment in dairymen around the new dam said a dairy industry as large as Idaho's might develop. Threat of competition was several years away.

U.S. Mobilizes Ships, Planes for Britain 24-Hour Day At Factories

WASHINGTON, May 2 (UP)—President Roosevelt, asserting that America is confronted by a "critical situation," ordered the office of production management today to put operations of defense machines and machine tools on a 24-hour day, 7-day week.

In a letter to William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, directors of OPM, Mr. Roosevelt requested a triple program: 1. Pool every useful or potentially useful machine tool and machine in the country for use in the defense program. 2. Utilize these machines and tools where they are, or transport them to a point where they can be used.

Re-canvas the entire nation, including the armed forces, for skilled workers to operate the machines in an all-out basis. Mr. Roosevelt expressed confidence that sufficient workers could be found to meet the need for continuous operation without inordinately long hours.

"The ever increasing demands for munitions, planes and ships caused by the attack on our country requires that they be produced in even larger quantities and at a faster rate than ever before," Mr. Roosevelt said.

The Purgeatoric normally a plain stream which empties into the majority of the rivers and streams of the area, about 100 miles northeast of Trinidad, was reported to be about 100 feet wide at places that are about 20 feet deep. Trinidad, a hill community, was reported to be relatively safe. The Purgeatoric has been through the center of the city, but it would take a flood of major proportions to menace the majority of the homes and residences, which are perched high on hummocks and slopes.

COLORADO HIT BY NEAR-CLOUDBURST

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 2 (UP)—Rains of near-cloudburst proportions fell down numerous dry creeks, gullies and small "dry creeks," choked the Purgeatoric river bank-fall today in several places in a narrow range in this southern Colorado area, interrupting railroad traffic to a minor degree. DELIVERIES TO START AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, May 2 (UP)—The government mobilized fleets of tankers and transport planes today, responding to urgent British requests for more help in the battle of the Atlantic.

Deliveries of about half the fleets begin at once. Stepping up aid to Britain in every way possible, the administration worked on almost an hour-to-hour basis. The navy's extended Atlantic patrol was understood to be getting into full operation.

The oil industry, called on for 50 tankers, promised 25 immediately. A committee of six executives worked with the companies concerned. More will follow later.

From private industrial firms and air lines the government arranged to get 20 to 30 large transport planes within 48 hours and more later, probably 50 or 75 in all.

Fly American Flag The tankers, remaining under the American flag, will be used to transport oil to Great Britain from Venezuela and Trinidad to North American ports for transfer to British or other tanks which will carry it into the combat zone.

The planes, it was understood, will be used by the British to enlarge their aerial patrol of the waters around the British Isles. They will be sent to Britain under the lend-lease act. These actions were in line, with indications that Britain's Atlantic fleet now will concentrate on protecting the "supply route, which the United States patrols the western part of it. Back-home of the patrol are the warships and planes of the Atlantic fleet, plus converted private yachts and auxiliaries the navy has acquired and armed in recent months.

Jones Fears German Win Will Lower U.S. Standard of Living

By MERRIMAN SMITH WASHINGTON, May 2 (UP)—Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones told a national defense conference of food and clothing producers today: "I do not know how long England can take the punishment it is taking now, but I am not afraid that any power on earth can invade the United States."

"I do know, however, that the powers opposed to democracy can give us a lot of trouble. They can reduce our living standards, for we cannot compete with slave labor."

Jones also told the gathering that "Hans Stoen" had gained a foothold in Latin America by the hundreds of thousands. "This is a serious news," he said, "and I want you to go back to your businesses and try to spread the feeling that the whole world situation is very serious."

Robert Amory, textile executive and president of the Nashua Manufacturing Co., said that the operation by the textile industry with the national defense effort. Federal Price Control Administrator John Henderson said a ceiling would be placed on retail prices of consumer goods, if necessary, to prevent unjust unwarranted price increase of living. He conceded, however, that such a step would be difficult.

"We are not afraid of the tank," Henderson said. "It can be done any time it is more important to require retail prices than to suffer the consequences."

"Killer" for "Burglar" He said unwarranted advances in living costs "feed the demand for wage increases and force prices up further."

That particular act brings chasing its tail around the circle, he added, "the only way to stop him is to cut his tail off. A price ceiling is a blunt instrument. It is an admirable knife for such an operation although I do not want to see the surgeon unless I am forced to do so."

Other government officials warned the producers of food and clothing that unwarranted price increases and criticized those of them for maintaining stable prices at the expense of quality.

RETAIL TRADING BEST SINCE '29

NEW YORK, May 2 (UP)—Retail trading was estimated to be at the best level for the time of the year since 1929 by a "record-breaking" pace in consumer spending, said a trade survey, reported today. The week's dollar volume of retail sales was estimated to be 10 to 20 per cent above the corresponding 1940 period compared with 1941. The week of 24 to 11 per cent in the previous week.

Beaverbrook Elevated to Higher Rank

LONDON, May 2 (UP)—A cabinet shake-up elevating Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher and industrial wizard, to the job of "assistant prime minister," was taken as an indication today that Britain was keying herself for the crucial phase of the battle of the Atlantic.

Beaverbrook took the title minister of state (without portfolio), and the task of helping Prime Minister Winston Churchill direct war policy. Already he was being referred to as the "officer commanding the home front."

His appointment was believed intended, at least partly, to convince the United States, over whose war tool shipments the battle of the Atlantic rages, that the right men are being put in the right jobs here to receive those tools.

It was believed that Beaverbrook would take over many of the important "machinery" tasks and home government problems which Churchill had been handling, enabling Churchill to throw all his energies into supreme direction of the war. He has said the battle of the Atlantic is vital to the British cause.

At releasing Beaverbrook from the ministry of aircraft production, the shake-up made him available for any kind of production that developed a weak spot. He is a "go-getter" who made the production of the most successful units of the home front.

It was believed that Americans would favorably regard the promotion of Beaverbrook, who was born and reared Max Aitken, of Newcastle N. B., son of a Presbyterian minister, and who had accumulated a fortune of $5,000,000 by the time he was 31 from financial organization work at Montreal.

Headline Production Lieut. Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabson, minister of transport, the first man to fly an airplane, was appointed minister for aircraft production.

Frederick James Leathers, coal adviser in the ministry of shipping, an important industrialist who is a director of the firm, was appointed to the public and not mentioned in "Who's Who" was put in charge of both the shipping and transport ministries, which were consolidated into a ministry of wartime communications. He was made a baron at the same time.

AXIS BLASTS AT BRITISH TROOPS

BERLIN, May 2 (UP)—Axis forces are hammering at the British in north Africa, the high command said today, after counseling the occupation of the Peloponnese, ending all British resistance in Greece and that war products would be made under a similar general policy.

German and Italian bomber forces reportedly have attacked enemy fortifications under the command of Gen. Bernard Montgomery, the British commander in north Africa, the high command said today, after counseling the occupation of the Peloponnese, ending all British resistance in Greece and that war products would be made under a similar general policy.

ENGLISH ASSERT PRO-AXIS GROUP HAS OPENED FIRE

By JOE ALEX MORRIS United Press Foreign News Editor British empire forces were reported in action on a new war front in fields of the rich near east of the Nile today after artillery of the pro-axis government in Iraq opened fire on the British air base at Habhaniyah.

The Iraq attack, which the British described as directed and paid for by the German government, resulted in immediate counter-attack by the British troops recently withdrawn from the area, according to reliable sources in London.

Radios Berlin also were heard in London, which said that British troops had placed a strong guard over the port of Basra (where the British had been landing forces), that British troops had been at other strategic positions in the country. The class of 1918 and all special railway units were called up by the Iraq government.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald of the British government said that the British saw an attempt by the axis powers to stir up the Moslem world against Britain and to seize the Iraq oil fields.

The Iraq operations were an integral part of the battle of the Mediterranean, which was a vital counter-attack in the area, drove the enemy back with loss of 11 tanks and many casualties.

Following the meeting the assemblage went to the dining room in the basement of the church for refreshments of cake and coffee in honor of Miss Cline, who expects to leave Glenn Ferry soon. After a time spent in visiting, she was presented with a traveling bag by Rev. Moore on behalf of her friends as an appreciation of her excellent work as treasurer of the church for the past nine years.

For the past 20 years Miss Cline was bookkeeper for the Rosevear Hardware company here and where she is succeeded by Miss Rebecca Moore.

GERMANS "DIG IN" AROUND TOBRUK DEFENSES FOR ATTACK

WITNESS TELLS OF SKY BATTLES AT AFRICA PORT

Editor's note: It was announced yesterday that German and Italian forces had broken through the British empire outer defenses at Tobruk. In the following dispatch, Jan Vindrich, United Press staff correspondent with the besieged imperial garrison, describes graphically the air preparations for what is evidently the biggest attack. Apparently the zero hour came at dawn Wednesday.

By J. H. VINDRICH
With the besieged British garrison at Tobruk, April 22—(AP)—The German and Italian infantrymen are digging in around the perimeter of the defenses of Tobruk. This time in advance of their tanks.

As I write 10 German planes are bombing the anti-aircraft guns and other objectives by the light line. The air is filled with the thunder of guns and bombs and the sky is dotted with black and white puffs from bursting shells.

Apparently the German and Italian commands are either awaiting the arrival of reinforcements of armored cars, tanks and planes before starting a smashing attack or have decided to lighten the siege by land while the German planes bomb supply-ships and now magnetic and acoustic mines to make the harbor and its approaches unusable.

Must Wear Helmets
Every man has to wear his steel helmet constantly as protection against the shrapnel fragments of the guns firing at raising planes.

The troops dive for trenches and other objectives in air shelters when the alarms sound and there are a few casualties.

The anti-aircraft guns are maintaining a terrific fire even during the height of raids when German planes dive on them. A little while ago I was watching, with a royal air force officer, the puffs of exploding shells around three fleeing dive bombers.

"I would not like to be among that," the officer commented.

As he spoke a shell exploded under one plane and it blazed bonfire three feet in the air. It escaped, but it must have been riddled by shrapnel.

Naval Losses Heavy
German plane losses have been heavy. Toting them to change their tactics and send out more fighter planes than bombers.

In one recent raid there were 24 fighters, mainly Messerschmitts, to protect 21 dive bombers, mainly Junkers-87s and Junkers-88s.

They kept this up until royal air force planes and anti-aircraft guns shot down an average of 10 planes a day for several days.

After the British shot down 20 planes in a single day, the Germans changed their tactics again and now they send out smaller formations.

Economic Conditions Hit at Home Life, Townsendite Says

National economic conditions are depressing the "home life of America" and striking at the "very foundation of our nation," Miss Roberta Schmale, Omaha, Neb., told an audience at the high school auditorium last night.

Miss Schmale spoke here under auspices of the Townsend organization. She speaks at Buhl tonight and from there to Idaho Falls where she fills an engagement Sunday.

Migrant Problem
"One of the greatest problems facing the people of America today is the migrant problem," Miss Schmale said. "At the present time there are 7,000,000 migrant people on the highways. One-third of this number is children so you can see what kind of a home life we can expect them to establish themselves."

"The speaker called for an 'about face' in the matter of sending the people from the land. She called for a program which, instead of placing people of this nature in farm camps, would return them to their homes and to producing on their own land.

"It has come to the point where the landlord is leaving much of his land idle in order to receive government checks while at the same time, in order to assure his land being worked, he kicks out the tenants," Miss Schmale declared.

Says Churches Decline
Speaking of the decline in church membership—from 85 million to 60 million—the speaker said churches "are coming to be all dress and show and not character."

"Christianity is not being put into practice in our nation," she said. "The churches are not being made attractive to the average person."

Concerning schools, she said there is a great need for vocational education.

"Straight book learning is no good. In schools now all the majors and minors are required, but when a student gets out into life he finds he doesn't need them. Rather, he needs good vocational experience in some trade which he can follow."

She declared that 60 per cent of the young people reach the ninth grade and then quit. That 20 per cent never get beyond the elementary school.

No Opportunity
"Millions do not have the opportunity for an education and the great majority of this number are among the migrant children," Miss Schmale said.

The speaker discussed the "Townsend national recovery plan" and showed how it would rebuild the foundation of the home, church and school. She declared that the plan would work on a "pay as you go" basis and that it would raise revenue would enable senior citizens to receive up to $200 a month under

German Consulate Telescope Keeps Tabs on Golden Gate, Official Says

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2 (AP)—The German consulate has installed a six-inch telescope in its rear quarters "to keep an eye on everything that goes on in the Golden Gate," W. W. Chaplin, chairman of the San Francisco planning commission, said today. Capt. Fritz Wiedenmann, German consul-general, and his staff, moved Wednesday to an old $44,000 mansion on Pacific Heights, which overlooks the fort and army posts flanking the entrance to San Francisco bay.

Chaplin said the telescope would make even the army's gun batteries at Fort Baker, Fort Barry and Fort Miley "appear" just across the street.

The Nazi consulate moved into the exclusive Jackson street "vicinal" district over the protests of neighbors who contended a "business enterprise" was forbidden in the area.

The youth, returning to his home from the airport where he is taking flight instruction in the CPTP was on a motorcycle which was involved in a crash with a car operated by Hugh Crawford, Bartley, Dunn, officers said, occurred east of the city about 7:30 a. m.

FIVE CHOSEN ON CAMP'S COUNCIL

Residents of the farm labor camp south of the city, at a session held in the community hall, elected five camp residents to serve on the camp council for the next six months.

Two women were among the five selected. Three of the new councilmen come from the shelters and two from the labor homes. Members of the council will meet later to elect a chairman.

Elected last night were the following: Walter James Casper, Wyo.; Charles H. East, Rushville, Neb.; Mrs. Clifford Maloy, Tollico Plains, Tenn.; Curtis Fry, Rawlins, Wyo.; and Mrs. Homer Shephard, North Platte, Neb.

Announcement was made at the session that a Red Cross first aid class will get underway at the camp next week.

YOUTH INJURED IN CAR-CYCLE CRASH

BURLEY, May 2 (Special)—Ronald Dunn, 23, injured yesterday morning in a motorcycle-car crash near here, was recovering at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dunn, Burley, today, friends said.

The youth, returning to his home from the airport where he is taking flight instruction in the CPTP was on a motorcycle which was involved in a crash with a car operated by Hugh Crawford, Bartley, Dunn, officers said, occurred east of the city about 7:30 a. m.

VEIS' DEATH RATE PROVIDES PROBLEM IN CHILD WELFARE

Twenty-five per cent of the children in the United States are veterans' children, and these veterans are dying at a 12 1/2 per cent faster rate than the average American citizen.

"That is why child welfare is a major part of the American Legion and auxiliary program," explained Mrs. Larsen, fifth district president of the American Legion auxiliary.

A large part of the welfare money is received through the sale of the little red paper poppies sold each year in Mrs. Larsen's district.

Patients at the veterans' hospital in Boise have been among the 73,000 veterans in hospitals throughout the United States who have been working on these poppies since January.

"The veterans enjoy this work quite as much as the children who are doing it to help some needy child," Mrs. Larsen commented.

She called attention to the fact that only 10 per cent of the proceeds of the sale of these poppies go to the local auxiliary units.

Aurillians "Keep Faith" Each unit "keeps faith" with these veterans by placing this money in a special fund to be used for welfare only.

The crepe paper poppies will be offered for sale tomorrow at the downtown section of Twin Falls. Mrs. W. J. Johnson, local unit president, is directing the Twin Falls sales.

The special delicacies and favors were sent from Chinatown by Mrs. Beatrice Senechal, West Los Angeles, grandmother of Shirley, and a former resident of Twin Falls.

Girls were divided into groups for stunts, the "blue lips," or sing-song girls giving a clever dance interpretation. Muriel Pughman and Catherine Bolton gave the cleverest interpretations of "translations" from a Chinese newspaper.

Salt Lake Plays At Ogden; Cards Tackle Russets

The six teams of the Pioneer Baseball league go into action tonight in three Utah and Idaho cities. Favorable weather is expected to bring more than 10,000 customers into the Ogden, Twin Falls and Idaho Falls parks for the initial encounters.

The Ogden Reds, meet the Salt Lake City Bees, defending champions, at Ogden; Twin Pocatello opens at Idaho Falls. The Salt Lake-Ogden game highlights the opening day sessions, since it probably will give the other clubs the relative strength of the Bees, compared to their last championship year.

Manager Bill McCurry has selected a portlander, Ken Polivka, to open on the mound for Ogden. He will be opposed by Salt Lake's Al (Big) Tule.

However, a good deal of interest attaches to Pocatello's first appearance under the management of Bill Delaney the former Big Paul catcher. Delaney has chosen Paul Cash for mound duty, and he will match pitches with Elmer Singleton. Jim Keeley, the ex-Coast leaguer now in charge at Boise, has named Larry Sisco to perform in the pitcher's box against Twin Falls. Paul Pischow, with the Salt Lake Bees last year, is elected to chuck for the Cowboys.

By HARRY FERGUSON United Press Sports Editor NEW YORK, May 2 (UP)—William Henry Walters, showing his customary good judgment, got out today. He scanned all the way to Boston, but it remains to be seen whether he is strong enough today to save him from the wrath of the Brooklyn Dodgers fans. William Henry Walters, better known as "Doc," is a lanky, bow-legged pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds and yesterday before dusk he gave the Dodgers the toughest battle good he let them down with seven at-bats hits in 11 innings, scored the winning run and snuffed the Brooklyn winning streak which had reached nine games. Far into the night Brooklyn fans, large and small, made and fanned Walters, but the stock market, set on the stoops of their homes and called down maliciously on Walters by William Henry Walters. For he now is established solely as the enemy agent who comes along and puts out the fire every time the Dodgers get hot. It was exactly a year ago today that the Dodgers, riding a winning streak of nine games walked into Crosley field in an attempt to make it 10 straight. They were a pennant curved like a rainbow over the Cohanawana canal. Hot arguments were raging in Flatbush over whether the Dodgers should play their part of the world series in Ebbets field or rent the Yankee stadium, which has room for more than twice as many of the faithful. Children's banks were being worked by fathers who were to go to the ballpark for world series tickets in early. And then out to the mound for Walters to pitch to William Henry Walters. The Brooklyn faithful didn't even bother to boo him. It was taken for granted that the Dodgers would beat the Yankees out of Walters and make it 10 straight. An argument broke

Beavers Dump Sacs; Rainers Defeat Padres

Portland dumped the league-leading Sacramento Solons, 7-1, last night to square the series, but the Sacs are still breeding along five games ahead of San Diego and Seattle, led for second. Ad Laska of Portland blanked Sacramento for eight innings while his team gave him two runs to work on. The Sacs got three hits and one run in the ninth but Laska stopped the rally.

Venerable El Johnson pitched Seattle to a 7-2 win over San Diego. Johnson allowed 12 hits but kept them mated except in the fourth inning when Bar Diego got both his runs on four singles. San Francisco evened the count on Los Angeles with a 11-5 win. Most of the Bees runs came on two four-run blasts in the third and eighth inning and were never headed, collecting 17 hits off Flores, Corbin, Berry and Tolado. Oakland made it two in a row over Hollywood with a 6-4 victory. The Oaks got 11 hits off Frank Daxas and Hiram Bithors while Henry Plippen went on eight blows.

Dietrich Ball Club Downs Burley, 9-6

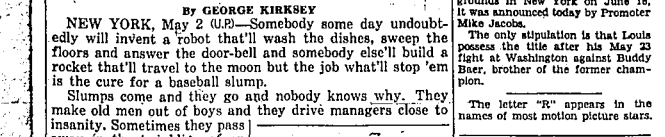

DIETRICH, May 2 (Special)—The popular Dietrich high school baseball team, riding a nine-game winning streak, today took things easy today downing the invading Burley club by a 9-6 count. Only one more victory is now needed to clinch the Class B crown, it was announced by officials here. Dietrich will play its home game on May 13 when the home club tackles Fairfield on the late afternoon. Burley scored six runs off five hits yesterday as Dick Bartholomew handed the hurling chore for the first time. A streak dinner to the two or three Cowboys completing the first double play. Negro Sprinter Works out for Comeback Race

COLUMBUS, O., May 2 (UP)—A little, slightly-built sprinter who classified the track work in 1938 with three individual Olympic triumphs, is again spending over the clubhouse, preparing for a "final" comeback. Running in the familiar confines of Ohio stadium, scene of his earlier glory, he has been coached by Owens, now 28 and father of three daughters, and his mind set on establishing a new world quarter-mile record. If and when that is done, "the most famous Ohio State track alumnus says he will be satisfied to settle down to a coaching career. The former Buckeye bullet, who aped to four Olympic victories, in Berlin five years ago, now does not have much to show for three years of professional training so he's back at Ohio State to finish his schooling. Owens will make his first comeback appearance tomorrow when he runs in the Newark, O., relay in the afternoon and repeats at the Dayton, O., relay the same night. The former Ohio State sensation will run the 100-yard dash and the 200-yard dash. He will also run the 400-yard dash at Dayton.

Fatherly Advice What did Manager McKeechle do to bring the Reds out of their slump? Almost nothing but exert the kind of sympathetic patience a father would lavish on a stumbling baby trying to learn to walk. He held no hell fire meetings. He railed at none of his players. He talked quietly to them about their mistakes. Once when a Cincinnati player yelled at pitcher Gene Thompson about a mistake, McKeechle cautioned the player. "Don't say anything else to Gene, please. He's trying as hard as he can and having enough trouble." Walters in winning his third straight, allowed only seven hits and fanned Coscarart with the bases loaded in the ninth and pinch-runner Pete Reiser and Babe Phelps with three on in the eleventh. He scored the winning run on Eddie Joost's single after he had doubted in the eleventh. The Cards kept up their fiery dash by knocking off the Giants, 5-0, behind Lon Warneke's 9-hit pitching. Jimmy Brown and Elmer Marion each homered with a mate on. Pirates swung Phils Pittsburgh slugged out 23 hits to sweep the Phils, 15-2, and snap a 5-game losing streak. Cleveland made it seven in a row behind Bob Feller, beating the Athletics, 13-8. Feller fanned seven, passing the 1,000-mark in strikeouts. He now has 1,002 for his career started in 1925. He allowed only four hits until the ninth when Bob Johnson homered with the bases jammed. Feller hit a homer with two on. The Yanks moved into second place by clipping the Browns, 14-5. Ernie Bonning won his third straight. Charlie Greer drove in
