COUNCIL ANNEXES MORE TERRITORY

Under suspension of rules, councilmen last night voted to annex more territory to the city and by placing another ordinance on first reading, made ready to acquire still more.

Territory annexed at the session last night consisted of blocks one and two of the Brewster addition and blocks one, two, three and four of the Suburban Park addition.

Passed on first reading was an ordinance annexing to the city the west half of the south half of lot two of the Senior-Seebeck addition; lots 11 to 20 inclusive of the Gordon Times subdivision; and the east half of lots 6 to 10, inclusive, of the Senior-Seebeck addition.

The property annexed last night came under the objection of Councilman Lionel A. Dean who expressed the opinion that it should be placed on second reading to give the residents favored coming into the city and the vote was four for passage and one (Dean) against passage.

Dean explained that he had no objection to the annexation other than the protest time should be made available.

The session last night was relatively long and discussion of the budget which will be presented at a meeting Thursday took up most of the time.

W. A. Van Engelen and Claude Deweller, representing the Chamber of Commerce, asked that provisions be made in the budget for construction of a public restroom in the downtown area for use of women and children.

Two Reappointed O. H. Coleman, police and fire commissioner, announced the resignation of Frank J. Healy as plumbing inspector, and W. Clay Smith as city building inspector and electrical inspector.

Both had served under previous administration. The vote to reappoint Healy was unanimous, but Councilman Dean voted "no" on the reappointing of Smith.

After a discussion on the subject, led by a local citizen on behalf of an aged couple, warning was issued that children who play in the street violate city law.

Announcement was made by Mayor Healy that he intended to plan to introduce an ordinance which would require competitive bids on all city purchases.

Planland Councilmen received a petition signed by 82 residents urging that the area diagonally across the intersection of Fifth avenue west and Sixth street west from Drury park be made into a playground.

Various reports for the month of April were received and filed. Included was the report of Municipal Judge J. O. Funnell which showed collections of $223 and the report of Healy which showed collections of $175.

POT SHOTS

WITH
The Gentleman in the Third Row

Unwilling though we be, Pot Shots figures he'd better pass this one along to you contributors.

A certain Twin Falls gent was scanning the book after many a year during which he hadn't looked at it.

A folded piece of paper caught his eye about midway in the book.

With his spectacles he puffed out the piece of paper and opened it.

His spouse looked over his shoulder.

The piece of paper was a receipted bill from a large department store back in Michigan.

It said: "Lady's pajama set, $19.95."

Said his spouse: "Him-m-m."

Said he, hastily: "That was for a gift I knew before I met you."

His spouse, even more so: "Him-m-m."

Who was the gent?
Saidly, we admit it was us. Pot Shots.

We are now advocating a movement for the abolition of all keepsakes 20 minutes after you decide to keep them.

SIGN OF THE TIMES—WE FEEL THE HOT TUNE!

Dear Potshots:

Could this be, I hope not, a sign of the changing times?
Two little boys were wandering down the sidewalk on Folk street. They were talking about their fathers. But they weren't bragging about how strong their respective dads are, nor how good at fighting their dads might be.

"Remember, Greeks, this, too, will pass!"

They cannot revolt, these hundred and fifty millions oppressed by eighty millions. The eighty millions have the tanks, and planes, and machine guns. But they can hate. And they can wait.

Some of them can even be forced by hunger to go to Germany and work to produce the fodder for the iron war-horse. Thousands of Italians, Poles, Czechs and Frenchmen are doing that.

Saucy Sally

Always there must be that overpowering sense that they are waiting, waiting for the time that must come. They feel that, the troops of occupation in a dozen scattered countries. They feel it in Berlin, where news of victory is accepted stolidly. They know that even if their legions win the Mediterranean, even if they crush England, the only result will be more millions of people waiting, hating.

Nobody has ever built anything very enduring on that kind of a foundation. Nobody ever will. Nobody is doing it now.

Who's to Arrest Whom?

When a country has a large army—and the United States is rapidly building one—there are always problems of the relations between soldier and civilian.

One of them is now being butted about by the American Municipal Association. It's this: When Private Jones goes to town and drives through a red light, who's going to arrest and punish him? The local police and courts, or the military authorities? In time of war, the association finds, military authorities have the first claim on Jones, except in the case of murder, when both the civil and military have concurrent jurisdiction. But this is peace time, and in the case of minor offenses, the local police still have precedence, which is not to say that Jones' company commander can't still have him on the carpet after he gets back to camp. Of course if Jones' offense is committed on a military reservation, it's up to the military authorities. If it's in town, it's up to the police.

In every city where many soldiers and sailors go when off duty, however, close cooperation should be undertaken between local and camp authorities, both to see that city laws and ordinances are kept, and that the soldier on pass gets a square deal.

And Nobody Knows

Ever since long before the present war began in Europe, many estimates have been tossed about relating to German airplane production. Five thousand a month. Ten thousand a month.

Now comes Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, saying: "We are very near the British and German production rates, which are estimated at about 1,500 a month each."

Who is right in this matter we don't pretend to know. But there is no reason to doubt that Jouett is right in saying that American production of military planes passed 1,200 a month in March. That means that American production is very close to the point where it is bound to be a real factor, no matter what the truth about the uncertain British and German

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Ken is not surprised when Carolyn calls him late last night. Ken loves her, she loves him. Carolyn is a dynamic girl, she has a magnetic appeal. She is a girl who can get you to do anything you want to do. She is a girl who can get you to do anything you want to do.

CHAPTER XVII

LEANA SOMMI came out of her office in time to see Robert being led away by the Tyler girl. She considered that, throwing today she hated Carolyn Tyler with a quiet, lethal fury.

Today today she had regarded Robert's secretary with only a certain contempt, tolerating Robert's praise of the girl's efficiency. But Carolyn Tyler was so exquisitely beautiful that even Leana was conscious of it. Beauty in one woman can be infuriating to another. Moreover, in the past few hours the new girl had completely wrecked the most important plan Leana had ever conceived. Carolyn Leana wasn't sure how it had done.

"She couldn't possibly have known the train would be robbed," she reflected. "I talked with only one man, remote from her. But even if her talking the shipment was just coincidental, Carolyn Leana promised herself to get at the bottom of Carolyn's interference, and then to repay her in kind.

YOU mean—Arizona? Where I—?

Bob was jabbing a finger at Carolyn, incredulous. He had slipped into a seat now.

"I do," Carolyn shouted back. "We are flying west and we won't stop until we get there." She had leaned close to talk above the rest of the crowd.

He looked around as if still unable to believe his senses. He gazed again at the box which, he knew, contained his priceless uranium derivative, the most potent and altogether valuable bit of substance ever produced since man's mind conceived the idea of transforming the whole course of civilization.

"Carolyn, I—But the danger! The X-999 can make dust of this plane and all of us! Dust, I tell me!"

Carolyn's heart leaped. She pressed her face to a window. Instantly Bob Hale was at her side. Carolyn was so excited that she actually let an arm around her shoulders as if to protect or steady the stender girl. She felt his hand on her shoulder. "That's all right," she said. "I'm not afraid."

The ship soon began to bounce ever so little. Then it bucked a bit more.

"I've got to get you out of here!" He almost growled.

"Please don't worry," she begged.

It was just the ship—he glanced significantly at the box on the floor, a parcel that really crowded the main cabin. "If it were just us, flying—"

"In 10 minutes more the ship was quite unsteady. Bob looked around desperately for a plan for private hire. Unlike the regulation air liners, it had parabolic wings, folded in racks above the seats.

"Put this on!" he ordered peremptorily, reaching for a "chute" which he had tucked away.

"But why, Bob? We are still flying." Secretly she was delighted that he should be concerned about her. She had been so delighted despite the increased threat of danger that surrounded them.

"Carolyn, I am responsible for all this. For you do as I say!" He stripped the "chute" on her. There was only time for a gasp to go. She noted the ring handle which, some obscure crumb of knowledge told her, was the gadget to pull if ever person did fall out. "It has begun to rain!"

So he had a roof! Carolyn moved up and down now, somewhat like a roller coaster car. "Thunder came crashing down. Carolyn cried: "We couldn't possibly land!"

"And the pilot doesn't know what he is doing!" Carolyn jumped. Carolyn jumped, pull that cord, and say your prayers!"

"That was for me!" Carolyn cried. "I'll tell the pilot, then follow you. Go on—I'll force the door open. It's our only chance! Or else we'll be crushed by the force of the wind, to force her into action, "or maybe you're afraid to jump?"

She struck home. Carolyn's eyes narrowed, she held her breath. The ship was tilting, weaving, and she felt the floor of the cabin floor began to move. Bob had unlatched the door.

"Hold on! Hold on! Hold on!" Carolyn called. "Hold on! Hold on! Hold on!"

Then she dropped out into the black, bright, and blue.

In Washington

BY PETER EDSON

Washington, May 6.—Not all the aid which has gone to the belligerent countries of the eastern hemisphere has been in the form of planes, guns and tanks purchased directly by those countries or leased, loaned or swapped by the United States government. John O'Hara and Joe Public have dug down in their jeans and come up with more than $5 million dollars to be passed along to the suffering countries for relief of their war victims.

Because of the neutrality law, it is now possible to check up on those contributions to see where this money came from and where it has gone. Every organization soliciting funds for foreign relief is required to register with the department of state. At least 100 monthly reports on their collections, disbursements and expenses.

The registration has done some good, too. In a few instances it has been found that the costs of collection run well over half the amount of the money. And all such cases are spotted as charity rackets and public opinion set of existence.

ANTI-SUCKER MACHINERY

Protection of the public is the main purpose of this registration. Every organization soliciting funds for charities which mulct big-hearted Americans out of so many millions of dollars a year, must be registered with the department of state.

A good report in New Haven, Conn., described for a contribution to aid the starving Armenians, seriously reached in his pocket and produced a cent. What? Was that all the fat kid could give? "That's all the Armenians would get anyway, even if I'd give you more," he snickered at the other five.

Nearly 500 charities for foreign relief are now registered with the department of state.

Perkins Calls for "Smooth Cooperation" Between Labor, Capital

WANTS DISPUTES SETTLED WITHOUT CALLING STRIKES

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 6 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins today called for "smooth cooperation" between labor and management and said that in the interest of national defense all labor disputes should be settled by conference methods rather than by the use of strike action.

"No group in this nation, knowing the needs of the hour, can or will attempt to take the responsibility of holding up vital production particularly since there is full assurance that all interests have ample protection through mediation agencies of government and the guarantees of collective bargaining," she said in an address before the St. Paul trades and labor assembly.

The mediation and conciliation machinery of the government was agreed and labor, she said, and the "prompt utilization of them by those concerned is called for where there is concern."

She said only one-tenth of one per cent of the workers throughout the country are involved in strikes at the end of last week and that industrial relations are better now than in many years.

U. S. Air Force Officers "Spread Thin" As Service Speeds up Expansion Program

By PAUL HARRISON

MAXWELL FIELD, Ala. — That tribute to the RAF by Whiston Churchill—about owing so much to so few—could be applied aptly well to our own air corps these days. Because it's a tremendous job that must be done by smaller and smaller groups of veteran flying officers and technicians in the swift expansion of aviation training.

This is headquarters of the southeastern training district, which will contain nine basic and advanced schools plus seven civilian-operated, army-supervised elementary schools. Nearly all are in some stage of operation, making this the busiest flight training region in the United States.

Usually there just aren't been enough Air Corps officers to staff the mushrooming program, nor enough veteran mechanics to carry on the normal schedule of maintenance.

No Compromises

But they all say promptly that there have been no compromises with safety and scarcely any with efficiency. Harder, longer work is the answer, with one man doing two or more jobs.

I talked with one squadron commander who was invited and figured he wouldn't possibly spare another officer or non-com. But he had just got an order to send almost half of his trained personnel as the nucleus of a new school being started in Georgia. And now he was grumpy about it.

Another officer, newly assigned to a field in Georgia, told me that he now has three official designations: engineering officer, technical inspector, operations officer, and adjutant to the commanding officer. Military intelligence and public relations officer.

At Gunter field, where a state hospital building has been made into a military headquarters, a captain with half a dozen different jobs finds it especially appropriate that his office is a former padded cell.

Bill Room for Red Tape

But they are first of all a little of the old army red tape. I was told of a lieutenant who, in the capacity of supply officer, wrote a formal report regarding the storage of some material. Then, in the role of engineering officer, he formally disapproved the report.

Nearby Gunter field, on another side of the city of Montgomery, is a basic school of about the same size and purpose as the Maxwell field in Texas. But this one isn't so fancy.

The first class was sent to Gunter on December 2, and had to be quartered in tents and fed in relay from a field kitchen. The site for the permanent buildings was a sort of mud; the field itself was a shallow lake half the time, and there were no houses for the cadets. But the class flew and graduated.

"In some ways it has been better

These stubby little planes, which look like something out of an amusement park, are the enormously intricate trainers by which instrument flying is taught at Maxwell field. Also for a student shut inside, they simulate every sort of maneuver and air condition.

for us than a more comfortable set-up," said Brig. Gen. W. R. Weaver, commanding the training center. "We have been under 'spray' wartime conditions—lacking fields out of farm lands and using small auxiliary fields that have produced more capable flyers. We've pretty well learned to lick the weather, and over at Gunter, you'll still see mechanics servicing their planes out of doors."

Officers From Other Services

Expansion of the cadet training system has gone ahead so rapidly that every officer-flyer has been needed on the line to supervise work of the newly commissioned instructors who regularly are being ploughed back into the schools as teachers as soon as they graduate.

Consequently officers from almost every branch of the reserve corps are being assigned to the air corps to do the purely military and administrative jobs at fields. During lunch at the officers' club here, I chatted with majors and captains and lieutenants of cavalry, coast artillery, engineers and infantry. But nobody at the table was wings.

It seemed here that each of these officers, realizing the vital importance of air corps expansion, seemed satisfied to be detached from his own branch of the service in order to relieve some flyer for technical duties. In the first World War, one told me, pilots were sent into combat after 25 hours of solo flying. Today, cadets at Maxwell field averbombardment squadrons will have received their specialized training in new schools just established.

In the same way, the ground crews soon will have been replaced by adequately trained mechanics who know how to do the double- and triple-checking so rigidly specified in the maintenance and repair of all ships.

Just now, though, it's pretty tough on the veteran sergeants and their crews, who'll work until dawn to keep their too-few training planes in service.

PAUL

Paul Grange met last week at the Orange hall with master, Fay Coon, in charge. It was decided to have one meeting a month during the summer months. A reading was given by Mrs. Philo Watson.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. George Zenne, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Coon, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rice, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Fridley. Mr. Fridley giving a talk and Mrs. Fridley a reading.

Debra and Dorothy Watson who attended the Baylor university third annual "Twelfthcent," held in Waco, Tex., April 25 and 26, were honored as the couple which came the longest distance, and also being the most intelligent set of twins. One hundred and 25 sets of twins attended.

GERMAN PLANES BOMB GLASGOW

BERLIN, May 6 (AP)—Several hundred bombers last night "received heavy blows" against "particularly important objectives" in Glasgow, other points on the north of Clyde and other English harbors, the German high command said today.

A communiqué said heavy destruction was caused to wharves, munitions factories, industrial and harbor works in the air raids in Clyde-side. Supply centers were said to have been set afire.

In day and night attacks against Britain Monday German bombers made low level raids on six airfields in southwestern England, firing four Hurricanes and damaging a large number of parked planes, the high command said.

The high command said that last night "weak" enemy forces dropped a small number of explosive and incendiary bombs at different points in southwest Germany.

Members of the mayor's advisory committee from Twin Falls, as well as members of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce, will confer with Gov. Chase A. Clark at a special dinner meeting which will be held in Buhl Wednesday at 6:45 p. m. It was announced here today.

The announcement was made by Mayor Joe Koehler at last night's council session after a long distance conversation with the governor.

Members of the mayor's committee will meet the chief executive at the Twin Falls end of the rim-to-rim bridge at 6 p. m. Wednesday and will form an escort to Buhl for the session there.

The meeting will be at the Mercer cafe. Because of the limited space, only members of the Twin Falls chamber and Buhl chamber members will attend.

The governor will be en route to the southern part of the state. Later he will be joined at Pocatello by Mayor Koehler and Harry Block, chief of the Buhl chamber of commerce, who will journey with him to Yellowstone park where he will participate in the annual meeting of the opening of the tourist season there.

Koehler also announced last night Gov. Clark informed him that work on the highway from the city limits to the rim-to-rim bridge would start "within three weeks." The road, he said, is in poor condition at the present time.

City Band, One of Oldest in Idaho, Opens Season June 5

With start of the municipal band concerts only a few weeks off, Dr. O. A. Fuller, director, today recalled that the organization is one of the oldest in this section of the country. Initial concert is set for June 5.

The "outfit," according to the director, was organized in 1908 and has been in continuous operation for 33 years. One of the first directors was J. T. Bainbridge, while a present member of the band is G. O. Thorp, directed for several years immediately after the war. During the war he directed the 14th field artillery band. The present director was elected leader in 1926. He joined the band for the first time in 1914 when he was a freshman in high school.

Best Obtainable

"Present personnel of the band consists of the best musicians obtainable in this immediate territory," Dr. Fuller said this afternoon. Several professional musicians are found in the band and many have played with noted orchestras in other communities before coming to Twin Falls. Every year the band absorbs two or three of the outstanding high school players when a vacancy occurs in the instrument section in which they play.

The band is limited to 30 men. Because of finances, a larger organization cannot be had at the present time but the compact group is capable of playing the best grades of music. A long waiting list is maintained.

Municipal in 1938

Dr. Fuller also pointed out that the band, in the early days, was financed by voluntary contributions, but in 1926 was reorganized and became a municipal band under the leadership of Dr. Fuller. The present key is one-quarter of a mill brought in enough revenue to finance the band through the summer concerts.

The band owns all the larger instruments and a "fine library of music" has been gathered through the years.

Each Thursday

Concerts again this year will be held each Thursday evening at the city park handball through June, July and August.

Some of the band members have been in the organization for more than 15 years and members range in age from 17 to 70 years.

She is truly TODAY'S MOTHER. Her child was born in one of the troubled months of 1940 or early 41.

She knew she would bring her child into an uncertain, insecure world even while she was deciding that she had a perfect right to do so. Never for a minute was she lulled into thinking that "everything would be all right" before it was that first cry.

Some of her friends and a number of older people said, "How foolish she is to bring a child into a world that is this way. Why didn't she wait to see how things will go? For all she knows her husband may be in the front lines in a few months and think how a baby will complicate her life if it becomes necessary for her to earn her own living."

They had all sorts of sensible reasons for thinking TODAY'S MOTHER was foolish. She could have answered them had she wished for one she herself had thought of every one of their reasons for waiting.

Then, too, she had faith in herself. She felt that she could do it because necessary, take care of both herself and her child, alone. Other women had done it--not only in war, but in peace.

Three-Fold Chic Awards Earned By PTA Council

A committee was appointed to secure information about travel facilities and lodging expenses for next year's convention at Nampa and compile a report to assist the members and all three lists accordingly. The committee will be Mrs. Lionel Dean, Mrs. J. E. Tompkins and Mrs. Groves.

More than 200 delegates, representing 172 P-T-A units in Idaho, attended the Pocatello convention. Mrs. John E. Hayes, Twin Falls, brought greetings from the National Congress of Parent and Teachers, which she has been a member since 1925.

With national defense the vital consideration of the day, Mrs. Hayes said that P-T-A program of defense participation was concerned with the preservation of our peace-time institutions essential for the growth and development of children; maintenance of discipline; opportunities to provide a full and effective public school program; extension of recreational advantages and health facilities, and making available to all children the possibility for spiritual growth.

"We deem it very vital to develop loyalty to the family to the community to the state and the nation," Mrs. Hayes said. "It is of tremendous importance to recognize fundamental loyalty to God."

Mrs. Hayes; Mrs. I. E. Joelyn, Boise, formerly of Twin Falls; Mrs. G. W. Ehlman, Twin Falls; and Mrs. Norma, representing various social and educational agencies, took part in a forum on education sponsored by the P-T-A.

Insistence of Ireland On Neutrality Noted

The Irish are absolutely determined to remain neutral in this present world conflict, maintaining, however, their right to fight among themselves, is the contention of Quentin Reynolds, author of "The Wounded Don't Cry," who has been an eye witness to the fall of France and the English blitzkrieg.

Review of the book was presented by Mrs. G. Martin Waters, who was a dinner meeting of the Book Review group of the American Association of University Women last evening at the country home of Mrs. E. J. Tolbert.

ROOSEVELT ASKS BIG INCREASE IN PRODUCTION OF BOMBERS

EVENTUAL GOAL IS SET AT 500 CRAFT MONTHLY

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP) — Rapid reinforcement of the total air force for all out bombing of Germany was judged today to be the objective of President Roosevelt's emergency order to step up long-range bomber production.

The program is reported to have an eventual goal of 500 bombers a month—long-range ships capable of striking the war in Germany and the Luftwaffe has carried it to the cities of Great Britain.

Automobile production, already reduced by 20 per cent, to make way for munitions, is expected to be curtailed again. The United Press was informed that facilities for engine manufacture were especially needed and that the automobile industry might be called on further for this purpose.

It is understood that Mr. Roosevelt's expanded bomber production program will be carried out in part at least in the new $1,500,000,000 munitions plant project being developed by the war department. It will provide for at least two new assembly plants for big bombers and four new engine assembly plants and facilities, for expansion of existing facilities.

Order Rerouted
The emergency bomber order was rerouted last night in a letter addressed by Mr. Roosevelt to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson requiring that defense of the United States and other domestic activities that there is a substantial increase in heavy bomber production.

Frank Estabrook
He submitted to Stimson, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox and to William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman of the office for production management a memorandum fixing the production rate to be achieved under the new program.

The letter also says a notification, quickly acclaimed in the war department, of a hard-failed priority system which will assure that the wants of civilian consumers do not hinder bomber production.

"I am fully aware," Mr. Roosevelt wrote to Stimson, "that increasing the number of our heavy bombers will mean a great deal upon our production effort. It will mean a large extension of plant facilities and the utilization of existing facilities not now engaged in making munitions. But command of the air by the democracies must and can be achieved. Every month the democracies are gaining in the relative strength of the air forces. We must see to it that the process is hastened and that the democratic superiority in the air be made absolute."

This emergency order recalled the recent formula developed by Chairman Emory S. Land of the maritime commission for dealing with Germany's blockade of Great Britain in the Atlantic.

Way to Fight
Land, who spoke at a White House conference, said the surest way to meet the submarine or raiding airplane menace was to bomb out of existence the bases from which those attackers operated. But aside from daily assaults on the so-called invasion ports, the United States must be able to maintain an offensive against the more distant bases of the great industrial areas of Germany proper.

Officials acquainted with production problems said Mr. Roosevelt's letter to Stimson actually was a mandate for a hard-failed priority program and that under those circumstances the augmented production schedules should be achieved.

AFL RAPS TEXAS ANTI-STRIKE LAW

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor said today that anti-strike legislation recently adopted by the Texas state legislature is an "invasion of the rights and liberties of workers" and should be declared unconstitutional.

In this day and age, after the United States supreme court has with such force and clarity defined the basic rights of workers, to find even the slightest of Texas attempting deprivation of them is astounding.

APL General Counsel Joseph A. Don Drummond was in charge of the United States supreme court in "Texas Repeals the Constitution."

He added that other states are considering enactment of similar laws which "smother and stifle language" deny workers the right to strike.

There is a wave of anti-strike propaganda in the United States at the present time, brought about by the enemies of labor "under the auspicious cloak of preventing interference with national defense," Padway said.

The Texas law makes it a felony and a misdemeanor for any person to prevent or attempt to prevent any person from pursuing his lawful vocation.

CONSTRUCTION IN KETCHUM BOOMS

KETCHUM, May 6 (Special)—While general commercial conditions at Ketchum are at normal during the spring season, a sudden spurt has been taken in building and construction along all lines that augurs well for the usual busy summer period of tourist trade. Carpenters are busy and other artisans are doing their best to keep that way.

One of the improvements to get under way during the next few days will be an extension of remodeling of the rear section of the Alpine club, an elimination of all floor ceiling and addition of a banquet room of good proportions, 33 by 34 feet, exclusive of the main building.

The most winter emphasized the need of it, as many large dining parties could not be accommodated in the present establishment, already the largest in town. The present case will remain. Throughout the entire plant, however, everything will be of the best and finest type available, and Luc Hill and George Merritt, the owners of both club and hotel, say this goes from top to bottom.

Frank Silver, contractor, expects to start work on the proposition within the next few days.

Another improvement for the summer will consist of an addition to the recreation building, a section 21 by 100 feet, and will provide three new school rooms. A two-bus garage is also to be built.

A planning mill is also in the state of completion, the plant having been installed and the house remaining to be finished.

Joe Reeve has finished the improvement of the Reeve Art store front, attractive show windows being the main scheme.

Otis Hobbs has started a basement for a new grocery store.

Cobin and other resort improvement throughout the district is to be observed, and all objectives lean toward making things comfortable for the traveling public during the season ahead. Car traffic is regularly increasing and highway 23 and all laterals are in fine condition, the road crews being busy with general improvement.

Reservations have been made for many people who expect to spend the summer in the Ketchum area, but the recreational bodies and conditions preparing for extended summer visits further emphasize the interest felt in the summer sports program at Sun Valley.

C. of C. BOOSTS WATER SESSIONS

Because reclamation offers Idaho farmers a federal fund, the state Chamber of Commerce today urged all C. of C. organizations to send representatives to the Idaho Reclamation association convention in Twin Falls.

The convention will be held Friday and Saturday of this week.

Floyd West, assistant secretary of the state chamber, sent letters to representatives to the Idaho Reclamation association convention in Twin Falls.

"Idaho has had little chance to participate in national defense funds since our activities are largely of an agricultural nature," West said. "In line with the agricultural program, however, we are in a position to make a contribution to the state on a vastly larger scale and a much more permanent basis through reclamation."

"The convention will be important, he pointed out, because 'all signs would indicate that now is the opportune time to advance our reclamation progress at a faster than normal rate.'"

Major speakers will include S. O. Harper, Denver, chief engineer of the U. S. bureau of reclamation; Mrs. Bandy Ogden, first vice-president of the National Reclamation association; R. B. Erb-Lawiston, state chairman of Commerce president, and T. L. Martin, treasurer of the state chamber.

Martin's views are expected to outline just what Idaho may expect in the way of federal funds, since he has just returned from Washington. He represented the state C. of C. there on reclamation matters.

GREAT FROM THE 11 SIP

A LAWYER TEACHES SIPPING!

As we talked in the club car, the lawyer suggested that I try his brand of whiskey. When the drinks came, he took a short sip. He seemed to enjoy it so much that, instead of gulping mine down as I usually do, I tried a first short sip.

Noting my pleased smile, he grinned and said, "I thought you'd like it. You see, Gibson's is too good to gulp. Sip it, and get that satisfying taste."

Try the sip test yourself, with Gibson's Bourbon. Learn why Gibson's is "Great from the First Sip."

Sacs Retain Wide Lead In Coast Play

By United Press Sacramento's highly placed Cardinals return to the lead in their home park this week to face Oakland's sixth place Acons, after increasing their Pacific Coast league leadership to six games over the champion Seattle Rainiers.

Pepper Martin's junior gashouse gang came home with a three to one edge over Portland in their abbreviated series to face the Acons who surprised even themselves by winning four of five from the Hollywood Padres in the north last week.

Seattle faces the third-place San Diego Padres in the border city in an eight-game series, including a double-header Wednesday night. Seattle took three out of four from the Padres in the north last week.

San Francisco, under Acting Manager Larry Woodall, returns to the home grounds for a series with the seventh-place Beavers. The Seals split last week's series with Los Angeles, three games each.

The Angels play host to the third-place Los Angeles Dodgers, but apparently won't climb far out of the cellar against the opposition provided by the Stars.

Piscovitch to Hurl Against Cards Tonight

After his eyes sharpened considerably after a long three-hour batting drill yesterday at Joyce park, the Twin Falls Cowboy were in Pocatello this afternoon in set to open the 1941 home season for Manager-Bill Delaney's Cardinals.

Boasting some of the finest pitching in the league, the Wranglers hope to be able to muffle the Cardinal big guns white at the same time, while at the same time extra-base hits for themselves.

Manager Andy Harrington today announced that Paul Piscovitch will hurl the opening-day victory for the Cowboys, will be on the mound tonight against Pocatello.

Expect a Good Year "Paul should have a good year—and I'm going to work him every fourth day come hell or high water," said Andy, "I'll experiment with some of the other boys in between times."

For tomorrow Andy plans to test out one of his lefties—possibly both—Merrill Reid and/or Phil Lens. Reid is probably set for the night club, unless he will be called in to relieve Piscovitch tonight.

The Cowboy boys will be satisfied to see the youngsters in their first series.

"Here I was worrying about our pitching staff—and now look at it. Every one of the boys who worked in the Boise series showed considerable stuff, and that included Rube Sandstrom," says Andy.

"Rube" tried to throw some of those high hard ones that the Pioneer league boys just try to on those, especially the Boise Pilots. And expected those hits if he resisted in throwing that way. Next time out you'll see Rube with some of his sweeping curves to mix with the fast ones.

"I can see we are going to need some added batting punch—but don't overlook the fact that the boys were really hitting the ball hard during that Pilot series, with many line drives and extra hits from the outfielders that would have been good for doubles if placed 10 to 20 feet from home plate."

Hal O'Banion will be behind the plate tonight for the opening Pocatello encounter.
